Chapter 1

1 In the beginning[a] God[b] created the heavens and the earth.[c] 2 Now the earth was formless and empty,[d] and darkness was over the surface of the deep, and the Spirit[e] of God was hovering[f] over the surface of the waters.
3 Then God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. 4 God saw the light, that it was good, and God separated between the light and the darkness. 5 God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning: day one.[g] 6 Then God said, "Let there be an expanse[h] in the middle of the waters, and let it separate between waters and waters." 7 So God made the expanse, and he separated between the waters that were under the expanse and the waters that were above the expanse. And it was so.[i] 8 God called the expanse Heavens. And there was evening and there was morning: a second day.
9 Then God said, "Let the waters under the heavens be gathered into one place,[j] and let the dry land appear." And it was so. 10 God named the dry ground Earth, and the collected waters he named Seas. God saw that this was good. 11 Then God said, "Let the earth sprout green growth: plants that yield seed, and fruit trees that bear fruit according to their kind, with their seed in it, on the earth." And it was so. 12 The earth brought forth green growth: plants that yield seed according to their kind, and trees that bear fruit with their seed in it, according to their kind. And God saw that it was good. 13 And there was evening and there was morning: a third day.
14 Then God said, "Let there be lights in the expanse of the heavens to separate between the day and the night, and let them serve as signs and for appointed times,[k] and for days and years. 15 Let them be lights in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth." And it was so. 16 God made the two great lights: the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night,[l] and also the stars. 17 God placed them in the expanse of the heavens to give light on the earth, 18 to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate between the light and the darkness. And God saw that it was good. 19 And there was evening and there was morning: a fourth day.

20 Then God said, "Let the waters swarm with teeming living creatures,[m] and let flying birds soar above the land, beneath the dome of the sky." 21 So God created the huge sea monsters[n] and all the living creatures that glide and swarm in the waters, each by its own species, and every winged bird by its species. God saw that it was good. 22 God blessed them, saying, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let the birds multiply on the earth." 23 And there was evening and there was morning: a fifth day.
24 Then God said, "Let the land produce living creatures by their species: tame animals, crawling creatures, and wild beasts, each by its species." And so it happened. 25 God made the wild beasts of the earth by their species, the tame animals by their species, and everything that crawls on the soil by its species. God saw that it was good. 26 Then God said, "Let us make humankind[o] in our image, to be like us. They will govern the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the tame animals, all the earth,[p] and every creature that crawls along the ground." 27 So God created humankind in his own image; in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.[q] 28 God blessed them, and God said to them, "Be fruitful and multiply; fill the earth and bring it under control. Rule over the fish of the sea, over the birds of the heavens, and over every living thing that creeps on the earth." 29 Then God said, "See, I give you every plant that yields seed, across the whole face of the earth, and every tree whose fruit holds its seed.
These will be your food. 30 To all the wild animals, to all the birds in the sky, and to every creature crawling on the earth that has the breath of life, I give every green plant for food." And so it happened.
31 God saw everything that he had made, and look, it was very good.
And there was evening and there was morning: the sixth day.[r]

Notes

- a (1:1) Hebrew bereshit. It can also be read as the start of a longer sentence: "When God began to create the heavens and the earth, the earth was formless…" The Septuagint (en archē, "in the beginning") supports the traditional reading kept here.
- b (1:1) Hebrew Elohim. The word is plural in form, but here it takes a singular verb (bara, "he created"), so it names the one God. Elohim is a title, not a personal name; this translation renders it "God" when it refers to the true God, and keeps the personal name Yahweh where the Hebrew has it (see the note on 2:4 and Conventions).
- c (1:1) "The heavens and the earth" pairs two opposites to mean everything that exists.
- d (1:2) Hebrew tohu wabohu, a rhyming pair: "a waste and a void," land not yet shaped or filled. Days 1 to 3 give it shape; days 4 to 6 fill it.
- e (1:2) Hebrew ruach means spirit, wind, or breath. Some render "a wind from God" or "a mighty wind."
- f (1:2) The same verb describes an eagle hovering over its young in Deuteronomy 32:11.
- g (1:5) Literally "one day." Hebrew uses the number one here, not "first." Days 2 to 5 have no article ("a second day"); day 6 has one (see 1:31).
- h (1:6) Hebrew raqia, from a verb meaning to hammer out or spread thin, as with metal. Septuagint stereōma, Latin firmamentum ("firmament"). Also called a vault or dome.
- i (1:7) The Septuagint places "And it was so" at the end of 1:6, and in 1:8 it adds "And God saw that it was good," which the Hebrew lacks for the second day.
- j (1:9) Masoretic Text maqom, "place." A Qumran fragment (4QGen-h) and the Septuagint reflect miqweh, "one gathering," which matches "gathering" in 1:10. The Septuagint also adds: "And the water under the heaven was gathered into its gatherings, and the dry land appeared." A Qumran fragment (4QGen-k) appears to support this added clause in Hebrew.
- k (1:14) Hebrew moadim, the word later used for Israel's appointed festivals. Also translated "seasons."
- l (1:16) The sun and moon are not named. Israel's neighbors worshiped them as gods; here they are lamps that God made and placed.
- m (1:20) Hebrew nefesh chayyah, "living being" or "living soul." The same phrase is used of the first human in 2:7. The Septuagint adds "And it was so" at the end of this verse.
- n (1:21) Hebrew tanninim, used elsewhere of sea monsters and serpents (Psalm 74:13; Isaiah 27:1). Even these are only creatures God made.
- o (1:26) Hebrew adam, here meaning the human race (note "let them rule"). "Us" and "our" have been read as a royal plural, a plural of self-deliberation, God speaking to his heavenly court, or, in Christian reading, a first hint of the Trinity.

- p (1:26) The Syriac Peshitta reads “over all the wild animals of the earth,” which matches the list in 1:25 and may preserve the original wording.
- q (1:27) “Humankind” is again Hebrew adam, the word that later becomes the name Adam. The Hebrew moves from “him” (singular) to “them” (plural): one human race, created male and female. The verse is written as a short three-line poem.
- r (1:31) This is the first day with the definite article in Hebrew (“the sixth day”), marking the high point of the account.

1 So the heavens and the earth were completed, and everything in them.[a] 2 On the seventh day[b] God brought to an end the work he had been doing, and on the seventh day he ceased[c] from all the work he had been doing. 3 God blessed the seventh day and made it holy, because on it he rested from all his work that God had created and made.[d]

4 This is the account[e] of the heavens and the earth when they were created, on the day that Yahweh[f] God made earth and heavens. 5 No bush of the field had yet appeared on the earth, and no grain of the field had yet sprouted, because Yahweh God had not caused rain to fall on the land, and there was no human[g] to farm the soil. 6 But a mist[h] used to rise from the ground and moisten the entire surface of the soil. 7 Then Yahweh God formed[i] Adam[j] from the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and Adam became a living being.[k]

8 Yahweh God planted a garden eastward, in Eden,[l] and there he set Adam, whom he had formed. 9 From the soil Yahweh God made grow every tree that was lovely in appearance and good to eat, and in the center of the garden stood the tree of life and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.[m] 10 A river flows out of Eden to water the garden, and from there it divides and becomes four headwaters. 11 The first is named Pishon. It circles through all the territory of Havilah, a land with gold. 12 The gold of that land is good; bdellium and onyx stone[n] are there. 13 The name of the second river is Gihon. It is the one that winds through the whole land of Cush.[o] 14 The third river is named Tigris;[p] it runs along the east side of Assyria. The fourth is the Euphrates.

15 Yahweh God took Adam and placed him in the garden of Eden to work it and to keep it.[q] 16 And Yahweh God commanded Adam, saying, "From every tree of the garden you may freely eat,[r] 17 but from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you must not eat, for on the day that you eat from it you will surely die."[s] 18 Then Yahweh God said, "It is not good for Adam to be alone. I will make a helper for him who corresponds to him."[t] 19 Now out of the ground Yahweh God had formed every animal of the field and every bird of the heavens, and he brought them to Adam to see what he would call each one. Whatever Adam called each living creature, that became its name. 20 Adam gave names to all the livestock, to the birds of the heavens, and to every animal of the field. But for Adam[u] no helper was found who corresponded to him. 21 So Yahweh God made Adam fall into a deep sleep, and while he slept, God removed one of his sides[v] and filled in the flesh where it had been. 22 Yahweh God built[w] the side that he had taken from Adam into a woman, and he brought her to Adam. 23 Then Adam said, "This one, at last, is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh. This one shall be called Woman, for from Man this one was taken."[x] 24 That is why a man leaves his father and his mother and holds fast to his wife, and they become one flesh.[y] 25 The two of them were naked,[z] Adam and his wife, and they were not ashamed.

Notes

- a (2:1) Literally "and all their host," that is, their whole array or army: everything that fills the sky and the land.
- b (2:2) The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and the Syriac read "on the sixth day," probably to avoid any hint that God worked on the seventh day. The Masoretic "seventh" is the harder reading and is kept here; the Hebrew verb can mean "had completed."
- c (2:2) Hebrew shavat, "ceased" or "stopped," the root of the word Sabbath (shabbat). It means stopping work, not recovering from tiredness.
- d (2:3) Literally "which God created to make."
- e (2:4) Hebrew toledot, "generations" or "family history." This is the first of the toledot headings that divide Genesis into its main parts.
- f (2:4) Here the personal name of God, YHWH, appears for the first time. In Exodus 3:14–15 the name is linked with the verb "to be": "I am who I am" (or "I will be what I will be"); many scholars also understand it as "he causes to be." Ancient Jews stopped saying the name aloud, so its original vowels were not written. "Yahweh" is the pronunciation reconstructed by scholars from early Greek transcriptions and from shortened forms in Hebrew names. The Masoretic Text points the name with the vowels of Adonai ("Lord"), and older English Bibles therefore print "the LORD." Some Dead Sea Scrolls write the name in the older paleo-Hebrew letters as a mark of reverence. The Septuagint usually renders it kyrios, "Lord." See Conventions.

- g (2:5) Hebrew adam, "human," sounds like adamah, "ground." The wordplay runs through chapters 2 and 3: the human (adam) comes from the ground (adamah), works the ground, and returns to it (3:19). English might echo it as "earthling" from "earth."
- h (2:6) Hebrew ed, a rare word. It may mean a spring or an underground stream (compare Akkadian edû, "flood"). The Septuagint reads pēgē, "spring."
- i (2:7) Hebrew yatsar, the word for a potter shaping clay (Jeremiah 18:4–6). This image of God as potter and people as clay vessels gives this translation its name.
- j (2:7) Hebrew ha-adam, literally "the human" or "the man." Adam sounds like adamah, "ground": the human is formed from the ground, works it, and returns to it (2:5; 3:19). Through most of chapters 2–3 the Hebrew has the article ("the human"), and the word is clearly used as a personal name only later (4:25; 5:1–5). This translation writes "Adam" from here on wherever the one man is meant; where adam means the human race (1:26–27; 5:1–2) it is rendered "humankind."
- k (2:7) Hebrew nefesh chayyah, the same phrase used of the animals in 1:20, 24. Older translations: "a living soul."
- l (2:8) Eden probably means "delight" or "abundance." The Septuagint calls the garden paradeisos, a park, from which comes the English word paradise.
- m (2:9) "Good and evil" may be a pair of opposites meaning knowledge of everything, or the claim to decide for oneself what is good and what is evil.
- n (2:12) Bdellium (Hebrew bedolach) is a fragrant tree resin. The stone (Hebrew shoham) is uncertain: onyx, carnelian, and lapis lazuli have all been proposed.
- o (2:13) Cush usually means the land south of Egypt (ancient Nubia). Some scholars connect it here with the Kassites of Mesopotamia.
- p (2:14) Hebrew Hiddeqel is the Tigris; Hebrew Perat is the Euphrates.
- q (2:15) Hebrew avad and shamar. Elsewhere the same pair describes the priests who serve and guard the sanctuary (Numbers 3:7–8), so the garden is pictured as a place of worship as well as work.
- r (2:16) Literally "eating you may eat." Hebrew doubles the verb for emphasis: the permission is generous.
- s (2:17) Literally "dying you will die." The serpent echoes and denies these exact words in 3:4.
- t (2:18) Hebrew ezer kenegdo. Ezer, "helper," is most often used of God helping his people (Exodus 18:4; Psalm 33:20; 121:1–2), so it does not imply lower rank. Kenegdo means "as in front of him": a partner who matches him. The Septuagint and Latin Vulgate read "Let us make."

- u (2:20) Here the Hebrew vowel pointing lacks the article, so even the Masoretic Text may read adam as the personal name Adam (compare 3:17, 21; 4:25). See the note on 2:7.
- v (2:21) Hebrew tsela, which usually means "side" (for example, the side of the tabernacle in Exodus 26:20). Traditionally "rib."
- w (2:22) Literally "built," the verb used for building a house or an altar.
- x (2:23) Hebrew ishshah, "woman," sounds like ish, "man." English "woman" and "man" keep the play. "At last" is literally "this time." The verse is a short poem, the first recorded human words.
- y (2:24) The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, the Syriac, and the Vulgate read "and the two of them will become one flesh." Jesus and Paul quote this longer form (Matthew 19:5; Mark 10:8; Ephesians 5:31).
- z (2:25) Hebrew arummim, "naked," sounds like arum, "crafty," in the very next verse (3:1).

Chapter 3

1 The serpent was more cunning[a] than any wild creature Yahweh God had made. He said to the woman, "So God has said,[b] 'You are not to eat from any tree in the garden'?" 2 The woman answered the serpent, "We are allowed to eat the fruit from the trees in the garden, 3 Only of the fruit of the tree in the center of the garden God said, 'Do not eat of it or even touch it, or you will die.'" 4 The serpent said to the woman, "You will not surely die. 5 God knows that when you eat of it, your eyes will open, and you will be like God,[c] knowing good and evil." 6 The woman saw that the tree was good to eat, that it delighted the eyes, and that it was to be desired for gaining wisdom.[d] So she took some of its fruit and ate it. She also gave some to her husband, who was beside her, and he ate it. 7 Then the eyes of both of them were opened, and they knew that they were naked. So they sewed fig leaves together and made coverings for themselves.
8 They heard the sound[e] of Yahweh God walking in the garden in the cool of the day,[f] and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence[g] of Yahweh God among the trees of the garden. 9 But Yahweh God called out to Adam, "Where are you?" 10 He answered, "I heard your sound in the garden, and I was afraid because I was naked, so I hid myself." 11 He said, "Who told you that you were naked? Have you eaten from the tree that I commanded you not to eat from?" 12

Adam said, “The woman whom you gave to be with me, she gave me fruit from the tree, and I ate.” 13 Then Yahweh God said to the woman, “What have you done?” The woman answered, “The serpent misled me,[h] and I ate.”
14 Yahweh God said to the serpent, “Since you have done this, you are cursed beyond all cattle and beyond every wild creature. You will go on your belly and eat dust as long as you live. 15 I will set enmity between you and the woman, and between your seed[i] and her seed.
He will crush[j] your head, and you will bruise his heel.” 16 To the woman he said, “I will multiply your suffering in pregnancy;[k] you will bear children in pain. Your longing[l] will be toward your husband, and he will have authority over you.” 17 And to Adam[m] he said, “You heeded your wife’s voice and ate from the tree I forbade you, when I said, ‘Do not eat of it.’ So the ground is cursed on your account. With painful toil[n] you will draw your food from it as long as you live. 18 Thorns and thistles it will grow for you, and you will eat the plants of the field. 19 With sweat on your face[o] you will eat bread until you go back to the ground, since from it you were taken. Dust is what you are, and to dust you will go back.” 20 Adam named his wife Eve,[p] because she became the mother of all the living. 21 Yahweh God made garments of skin for Adam and for his wife, and he clothed them.
22 Then Yahweh God said, “Look, Adam has become like one of us, knowing good and evil. And now, so that he does not reach out his hand and take also from the tree of life, and eat, and live forever…”[q] 23 So Yahweh God sent him out from the garden of Eden to work the ground from which he had been taken. 24 He drove out Adam,[r] and on the east side of the garden of Eden he stationed the cherubim[s] and the flame of a sword that turned every way,[t] to guard the way to the tree of life.

Notes

- a (3:1) Hebrew arum, “crafty” or “shrewd.” In Proverbs the word is a virtue (“prudent”). It plays on arummim, “naked,” in 2:25.
- b (3:1) Hebrew af ki, literally “Indeed, that God said…?” The serpent’s question twists God’s generous “every tree” (2:16) into “not any tree.”

- c (3:5) Hebrew elohim can mean “God,” “gods,” or “divine beings.” The word for “knowing” is plural, so “like gods” is possible; the Septuagint reads “like gods.”
- d (3:6) Hebrew lehaskil, “to make wise” or “to gain insight.” It may also mean “to look at”; the Septuagint has “beautiful to contemplate.”
- e (3:8) Hebrew qol, “sound” or “voice”; also in 3:10, 17.
- f (3:8) Thought for thought. Literally “at the wind (ruach) of the day,” most likely the breezy time of late afternoon or evening.
- g (3:8) Literally “from the face of.”
- h (3:13) Hebrew hishshiani, “led me astray” or “tricked me.” Paul alludes to this in 2 Corinthians 11:3 and 1 Timothy 2:14.
- i (3:15) Literally “seed.” The word is singular and can mean many descendants or one descendant. Hebrew then says “he” (hu). The Septuagint also uses “he” (autos), even though “seed” is a neuter word in Greek, which suggests early readers saw one person here. From the second century (Irenaeus) Christians have read this verse as the first announcement of the gospel.
- j (3:15) Hebrew shuf, a rare verb used in both halves of the line; it may mean “crush,” “bruise,” or “strike.” The Septuagint has “watch for”; the Vulgate has “crush.”
- k (3:16) Thought for thought. Literally “your pain and your conception,” two nouns joined to express one idea (pain connected with pregnancy).
- l (3:16) Hebrew teshuqah, used again in 4:7 (sin’s desire for Cain) and in Song of Songs 7:10. The Septuagint reads “your turning” (apostrophē), as if from Hebrew teshuvah.
- m (3:17) Here the Hebrew vowel pointing lacks the article, so the Masoretic Text itself reads the personal name Adam (see the notes on 2:7 and 2:20).
- n (3:17) Hebrew itstsavon, from the same root as the woman’s “pain” in 3:16. Man and woman share the same word of grief.
- o (3:19) Literally “of your nostrils” or “of your face.”
- p (3:20) Hebrew Chavvah, which sounds like chai, “living.”
- q (3:22) The Hebrew sentence breaks off without finishing. Verse 23 supplies the action.
- r (3:24) The Septuagint reads: “He drove out Adam and settled him opposite the garden of delight, and stationed the cherubim…”
- s (3:24) Cherubim is the Hebrew plural of cherub: winged guardian beings, later pictured over the ark of the covenant (Exodus 25:18–22).
- t (3:24) Literally “the flame of the sword that turns itself about,” that is, a flashing, whirling blade.

Chapter 4

1 Adam knew[a] Eve his wife. She conceived and bore Cain,[b] and she said, “With Yahweh’s help I have gained a man.”[c] 2 She later bore his brother Abel.[d] Abel tended flocks, while Cain farmed the soil.

3 In the course of time[e] Cain brought an offering to Yahweh from the fruit of the ground. 4 And Abel, for his part, brought some of the firstborn of his flock and some of their fat portions. Yahweh looked with favor on Abel and on his offering, 5 but on Cain and on his offering he did not look with favor. So Cain became very angry, and his face fell. 6 Yahweh asked Cain, "Why are you so angry? Why is your face cast down? 7 Do right, and will you not be lifted up?[f] But if you do not do right, sin lies crouching at your door.[g] It longs to have you, but you are to master it." 8 Cain spoke to Abel his brother.[h] And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against Abel his brother and killed him.
9 Yahweh asked Cain, "Where is your brother Abel?" "I have no idea," he replied. "Is it my job to guard my brother?"[i] 10 Yahweh said, "What have you done? Hear it: the blood[j] of your brother is crying to me out of the soil. 11 So now you are under a curse, driven from the soil that opened wide to take in your brother's blood from your hand. 12 When you till the soil, it will not yield its strength to you again. You will be a drifter and a wanderer[k] on the earth." 13 Cain said to Yahweh, "My punishment[l] is greater than I can bear. 14 Today you are driving me off the face of the land, and I must hide from your face. I will drift and wander on the earth, and anyone who comes upon me will kill me." 15 But Yahweh said to him, "Therefore[m] anyone who kills Cain will suffer sevenfold vengeance." Then Yahweh set a sign[n] upon Cain, so that none who met him would strike him dead. 16 Cain left Yahweh's presence and made his home in the land of Nod,[o] east of Eden.
17 Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bore Enoch.[p] Cain then built a city and called it Enoch, after his son. 18 Enoch had a son, Irad.
Irad became the father of Mehujael, Mehujael of Methushael, and Methushael of Lamech. 19 Lamech took two wives for himself. The name of the one was Adah, and the name of the other was Zillah. 20 Adah bore Jabal, the ancestor of those who dwell in tents and raise herds. 21 His brother's name was Jubal. He was the father of all who play the lyre and the pipe.[q] 22 Zillah also gave birth to Tubal-cain, who forged all kinds of tools of bronze and iron.[r] The sister of Tubal-cain was Naamah.

23 Lamech said to his wives:[s] “Adah and Zillah, hear me; wives of Lamech, give heed to my words. I killed a man for bruising me, a youth for a blow he gave me. 24 If sevenfold vengeance is for Cain, for Lamech it is seventy-sevenfold.”[t]
25 Once more Adam knew his wife. She bore a son and called him Seth,[u] “because,” she said, “God has granted me another child in Abel’s place, since Cain killed him.” 26 Seth too had a son, whom he called Enosh.[v] It was then that people first called on the name of Yahweh.[w]

Notes

- a (4:1) Hebrew yada, “knew,” a common idiom for sexual union.
- b (4:1) Cain (Hebrew Qayin) sounds like qaniti, “I have gained.” The name itself may also mean “metalworker” (compare Tubal-cain, 4:22).
- c (4:1) Literally “with Yahweh” (et-YHWH). The Septuagint reads “through God.” Other proposals: “I have created a man, as Yahweh did” or “I have gained a man, Yahweh.”
- d (4:2) Abel (Hebrew Hevel) means “breath” or “vapor,” the word translated “meaningless” or “vanity” in Ecclesiastes. It hints at his brief life.
- e (4:3) Literally “at the end of days.”
- f (4:7) Hebrew seet, literally “a lifting.” It may mean acceptance, forgiveness (sin “lifted”), or a lifted face, the opposite of the fallen face in 4:5–6. This is one of the hardest verses in Genesis.
- g (4:7) “Crouching” (rovets) pictures an animal lying in wait; it may echo the Akkadian rabisu, a demon thought to lurk at doorways. The next words, “its desire is for you, but you must rule over it,” repeat the wording of 3:16.
- h (4:8) Literally “Cain said to Abel his brother,” but the Masoretic Text gives no words, and some Hebrew manuscripts leave a gap here. The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint (“into the plain”), the Syriac, and the Vulgate add: “Let us go out to the field.” We keep the shorter Hebrew and render “said to” as “spoke to.”
- i (4:9) Hebrew shomer, from the same verb as “keep” in 2:15.
- j (4:10) “Blood” is plural in Hebrew (“bloods”). Jewish tradition (Mishnah Sanhedrin 4:5) took it to include the descendants Abel never had.
- k (4:12) Thought for thought. Hebrew na wanad, a rhyming pair meaning “wandering and drifting,” like tohu wabohu in 1:2. Nad anticipates the land of Nod (4:16). The Septuagint reads “groaning and trembling.”
- l (4:13) Hebrew avon means both guilt and its punishment. The verse can also be read, “My guilt is too great to be forgiven” (literally “to be lifted,” the same verb as in 4:7). The Septuagint reads “My crime is too great for me to be forgiven.”
- m (4:15) Hebrew lakhen, “therefore.” The Septuagint, the Syriac, and the Vulgate read “Not so!” (lo khen).

- n (4:15) Hebrew ot, the same word used for the "signs" in the sky (1:14) and the rainbow (9:12). Its nature is not described; it is a mark of protection, not of shame.
- o (4:16) Nod means "wandering," from the same root as "wanderer" in 4:12, 14.
- p (4:17) Enoch (Hebrew Chanokh) may mean "dedicated." This is Cain's son, not the Enoch of 5:18–24. The Hebrew can also be read to mean that Enoch built the city and named it after his own son.
- q (4:21) Hebrew kinnor, a stringed instrument, and ugav, probably a flute or pipe.
- r (4:22) Thought for thought. Literally "a sharpener of every cutting tool of bronze and iron." Hebrew nechoshet means copper or bronze.
- s (4:23) Lamech's words (4:23–24) are the first poem after Eden, a boast of revenge. The verbs can also be read as a threat: "I will kill a man for wounding me."
- t (4:24) Or "seventy times seven." Jesus seems to reverse this boast when he tells Peter to forgive "seventy-seven times" (Matthew 18:22).
- u (4:25) Seth (Hebrew Shet) sounds like shat, "he has appointed" or "granted."
- v (4:26) Enosh means "human" or "mortal," a synonym of adam (Psalm 8:4).
- w (4:26) Literally "then it was begun to call on the name of Yahweh." The Septuagint reads "he hoped to call on the name of the Lord God," reading the Hebrew verb differently.

Chapter 5

1 This is the book of the generations[a] of Adam. On the day that God created humankind,[b] he made him in the likeness of God. 2 He made them male and female. He blessed them, and on the day of their creation he gave them the name Humankind.[c]

3 At 130 years of age[d] Adam fathered a son like himself, in his own image, and called him Seth.[e] 4 After Seth's birth Adam lived 800 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 5 Adam's life came to 930 years in all, and then he died.

6 At 105 years of age Seth fathered Enosh. 7 After Enosh's birth Seth lived 807 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 8 Seth's life came to 912 years in all, and then he died.

9 At 90 years of age Enosh fathered Kenan.[f] 10 After Kenan's birth Enosh lived 815 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 11 Enosh's life came to 905 years in all, and then he died.

12 At 70 years of age Kenan fathered Mahalalel.[g] 13 After Mahalalel's birth Kenan lived 840 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 14 Kenan's life came to 910 years in all, and then he died.

15 At 65 years of age Mahalalel fathered Jared.[h] 16 After Jared's birth Mahalalel lived 830 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 17 Mahalalel's life came to 895 years in all, and then he died.
18 At 162 years of age Jared fathered Enoch. 19 After Enoch's birth Jared lived 800 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him.
20 Jared's life came to 962 years in all, and then he died.
21 At 65 years of age Enoch fathered Methuselah.[i] 22 Enoch walked with God[j] after he fathered Methuselah 300 years, and he fathered sons and daughters. 23 So all the days of Enoch were 365 years.[k] 24 Enoch walked with God, and then he was no more, for God took him.[l] 25 At 187 years of age Methuselah fathered Lamech. 26 After Lamech's birth Methuselah lived 782 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 27 Methuselah's life came to 969 years in all, and then he died.[m]
28 At 182 years of age Lamech fathered a son. 29 He named him Noah, saying, "This one will comfort us[n] in our work and in the painful toil of our hands, from the ground that Yahweh has cursed." 30 After Noah's birth Lamech lived 595 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 31 Lamech's life came to 777 years in all, and then he died.
32 After Noah had reached 500 years of age, he fathered Shem, Ham, and Japheth.[o]

Notes

- a (5:1) Hebrew sefer toledot, "the written record of the family line." It is the second toledot heading (see 2:4). Matthew 1:1 opens with the same phrase in Greek.
- b (5:1) Hebrew adam. In 5:1–2 the word looks back to 1:26–28 and means humankind; from 5:3 on it is the personal name Adam.
- c (5:2) Hebrew adam, the same word as the name Adam in 5:1, 3. Here it names the human race, male and female (compare 1:26–27).
- d (5:3) Hebrew writes numbers in words, often smaller units first (literally "thirty and a hundred years"). We use figures for clarity throughout the genealogies.
- e (5:3) The ages in Genesis 5 differ among the witnesses; no Dead Sea Scroll preserves them. The Septuagint adds 100 years to the age at fatherhood of Adam, Seth, Enosh, Kenan, Mahalalel, and Enoch (230, 205, 190, 170, 165, 165) and subtracts 100 from the years that follow, so the life spans stay the same. It gives Methuselah 167 years at fatherhood and 802 after (Codex Alexandrinus: 187 and 782), and Lamech 188, 565, and 753 in all. The Samaritan Pentateuch agrees with the Masoretic Text except for Jared (62, 785, 847 in all), Methuselah (67, 653, 720), and Lamech (53, 600, 653). From creation to the flood these give 1,656 years (Masoretic), 1,307 (Samaritan), and 2,242 (Septuagint).

- f (5:9) Kenan (Hebrew Qenan) is related to the name Cain. Several names in this line resemble names in Cain's line (4:17–18): Enoch, Lamech, Irad/Jared, Methushael/Methuselah.
- g (5:12) Mahalalel means "praise of God."
- h (5:15) Jared probably means "descent."
- i (5:21) Methuselah probably means "man of the spear" or "man of Shelah."
- j (5:22) Literally "walked about with God," a picture of close, daily fellowship, said also of Noah (6:9). The Septuagint reads "was well-pleasing to God," the wording quoted in Hebrews 11:5.
- k (5:23) 365, the number of days in a solar year. The book of 1 Enoch, quoted in Jude 14–15, develops traditions about Enoch, including a solar calendar.
- l (5:24) Literally "and he was not." "Took" (laqach) is the verb used when Elijah is taken up (2 Kings 2:3, 10). The Septuagint reads "he was not found, because God transferred him" (Hebrews 11:5).
- m (5:27) By the Masoretic numbers Methuselah dies in the year of the flood. By the main Septuagint numbers he would outlive the flood by 14 years, an early difficulty that the reading of Codex Alexandrinus (187 years) avoids.
- n (5:29) Noah (Hebrew Noach) sounds like nuach, "rest," and is linked here with nacham, "comfort." The Septuagint reads "will give us rest." "Painful toil" (itst-savon) and the cursed ground look back to 3:17.
- o (5:32) Shem means "name." Ham may mean "hot" or "warm." Japheth is played on in 9:27 ("enlarge"). The order may not be by age (see 9:24; 10:21).

Chapter 6

1 When humankind began to multiply on the face of the ground, and daughters were born to them, 2 the sons of God[a] saw that the daughters of humankind were beautiful, and they took as wives any of them they chose. 3 Then Yahweh said, "My Spirit will not remain[b] in humankind forever, because they are flesh.[c] Their days will be 120 years."[d] 4 The Nephilim[e] were on the earth in those days, and also afterward, when the sons of God went in to the daughters of humankind and they bore children to them. These were the mighty men[f] of old, the men of renown.[g] 5 Yahweh saw how great human wickedness had grown on the earth, and that every plan[h] formed by their hearts' thoughts was nothing but evil, all day long. 6 Yahweh was sorry[i] he had made human beings on the earth, and grief pierced[j] his heart. 7 Yahweh said, "I will blot humankind, whom I created, off the surface of the ground, together with the animals, the crawling creatures, and the birds of the sky, for I am sorry that I made them." 8 But Noah found favor[k] in the eyes of Yahweh.

9 This is the account of Noah. Noah was a righteous man, blameless[l] among the people of his time.[m] Noah walked with God. 10 Noah fathered three sons: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 In God's sight the earth had gone to ruin,[n] and it was full of violence.[o] 12 God looked at the earth, and it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted its way on the earth.

13 God said to Noah, "The end of all living creatures has come before me,[p] for through them the earth is full of violence. I am about to bring them to ruin, and the earth with them. 14 Make yourself an ark[q] of gopher wood.[r] Make rooms in the ark, and coat it inside and outside with pitch.[s] 15 This is how you are to build it: make it about 450 feet in length, 75 feet in breadth, and 45 feet in height.[t] 16 Make a roof[u] for the ark and finish it off about eighteen inches from the top. Set a door in its side, and build it with three decks, lower, middle, and upper. 17 For my part, I am going to bring the flood[v] of waters on the earth, to destroy all flesh in which there is the breath of life, from under the heavens. Everything that is on the earth will perish.

18 But I will establish my covenant[w] with you, and you will go into the ark, you and your sons and your wife and your sons' wives with you. 19 From every living creature, from all flesh, you must bring a pair into the ark so that they may survive with you, one male and one female. 20 From the birds by their species, from the tame animals by their species, and from every creature that crawls on the soil by its species, a pair will come to you so that they may be kept alive. 21 And you, take with you some of every kind of food that is eaten, and store it up; it will be food for you and for them." 22 Noah did this. He did all that God commanded him; so he did.

- a (6:2) Hebrew bene ha-elohim. There are three main readings. (1) Heavenly beings, as the same phrase means in Job 1:6, 2:1, and 38:7. This is the oldest known Jewish reading, told at length in 1 Enoch 6–16 (the Watchers) and Jubilees 5, and echoed in Jude 6 and 2 Peter 2:4; Codex Alexandrinus of the Septuagint reads "angels of God." (2) Men of Seth's godly line marrying women of Cain's line, a view taught by Julius Africanus and Augustine. (3) Kings or powerful men, as in some rabbinic interpretation and Targum Onqelos ("sons of the great ones").

- b (6:3) Hebrew yadon, a verb found only here; its meaning is uncertain. The Septuagint and Vulgate read "remain." Others render "strive with" or "contend with."
- c (6:3) Hebrew beshaggam, "because also" (they are flesh). It may also be read "in their going astray."
- d (6:3) Either a limit on the human life span or the time left before the flood.
- e (6:4) Nephilim is left untranslated. It may come from naphal, "fall," so "fallen ones" or "those who fall upon others." The Septuagint reads gigantes, "giants." The only other use is Numbers 13:33. The Hebrew does not clearly say the Nephilim were the children of these unions; they were already there "in those days."
- f (6:4) Hebrew gibborim, "warriors" or "heroes."
- g (6:4) Literally "men of the name." Compare the builders who want to make a "name" for themselves in 11:4.
- h (6:5) Hebrew yetser, from yatsar, "to form" (2:7): what the heart shapes and plans. Later Jewish teaching speaks of the yetser ha-ra, the "evil inclination."
- i (6:6) Hebrew nacham, which can mean "regret," "be sorry," "change one's mind," or "be comforted." It plays on Noah's name (5:29). Scripture uses human language to express God's grief while also teaching that God does not change his mind as humans do (Numbers 23:19).
- j (6:6) From the same root as "pain" and "painful toil" in 3:16–17 and 5:29. God shares the grief that sin brought on people.
- k (6:8) Hebrew chen, "favor" or "grace." Its consonants (ch-n) are those of Noah's name (n-ch) reversed.
- l (6:9) Hebrew tamim, "whole, complete, sound," the word used for sacrificial animals without defect. It does not mean sinless (see 9:21).
- m (6:9) Literally "in his generations."
- n (6:11) Hebrew shachat, "spoiled, ruined." The same verb is translated "destroy" in 6:13, 17: God brings to ruin what people had already ruined.
- o (6:11) Hebrew chamas, violence or brutal wrongdoing.
- p (6:13) Thought for thought. Literally "The end of all flesh has come before me."
- q (6:14) Hebrew tevah, a box or chest. The only other use is the basket in which the baby Moses was saved (Exodus 2:3–5).
- r (6:14) The wood is unknown, perhaps cypress or another resinous wood, so the Hebrew word is kept. The Septuagint reads "squared timber."
- s (6:14) Hebrew kofer, from kafar, "to cover," the same root later used for atonement.
- t (6:15) Hebrew "300 cubits the length of the ark, 50 cubits its width, and 30 cubits its height." A cubit is the length of a forearm; counting it as about 18 inches (45 centimeters), the ark was about 450 by 75 by 45 feet (135 by 22.5 by 13.5 meters).

Cubit standards varied; a longer cubit of about 20.5 inches (52 centimeters) would make the ark somewhat larger.

- u (6:16) Hebrew tsohar, found only here. It may mean "roof" or an opening for light (compare tsohorayim, "noon"). "About eighteen inches" is literally "to a cubit," counting a cubit as about 18 inches (45 centimeters); standards varied.
- v (6:17) Hebrew mabbul, used almost only of this flood (compare Psalm 29:10).
- w (6:18) Hebrew berit, the first use of "covenant" in the Bible. The promise is fulfilled in 9:8–17.

Chapter 7

1 Yahweh told Noah, "Go into the ark, you and your whole household, because in this generation I have found you righteous in my sight.
2 From every clean animal take seven pairs,[a] each a male with his mate. From the animals that are not clean take one pair, a male with his mate. 3 Take also seven pairs of the birds of the sky,[b] males and females, so that their kind may live on over the whole earth. 4 Seven days from now I will make it rain upon the earth for forty days and forty nights, and I will wipe from the surface of the ground every living thing[c] I have made." 5 And Noah did all that Yahweh commanded him.
6 Noah was 600 years old when the flood of waters came on the earth. 7 Noah went into the ark, and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him, to escape the waters of the flood. 8 Of the clean animals and of the animals that are not clean, of the birds, and of everything that creeps on the ground, 9 they came to Noah in the ark in pairs, a male and a female, just as God had instructed Noah. 10 After the seven days the waters of the flood came on the earth.
11 In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month (in April–May), on the seventeenth day of the month,[d] on that day all the springs of the great deep burst open, and the floodgates[e] of the heavens were opened. 12 And the rain fell on the earth forty days and forty nights. 13 On that very day Noah and his sons Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and Noah's wife and the three wives of his sons with them, went into the ark, 14 they and every wild animal according to its kind, every kind of livestock according to its kind, every creeping thing that creeps on the earth according to its kind, and every bird according to its kind, every winged creature.[f] 15 They came to Noah and entered the ark in pairs, from every creature that had the breath of life. 16 The animals that entered were a male and a female from every kind of flesh, as God had instructed him. Then Yahweh closed the door behind him.[g] 17 The flood lasted forty days on the earth.[h] The water rose and lifted the ark, so that it floated high over the ground. 18 The waters prevailed[i] and increased greatly on the earth, and the ark floated on the face of the waters. 19 The waters prevailed more and more on the earth, and all the high mountains under the whole heavens were covered. 20

The waters rose about 22 feet above them,[j] and the mountains were covered. 21 All flesh that moved on the earth perished: birds, livestock, wild animals, every swarming creature that swarms on the earth, and every human being. 22 Every creature on dry land with the spirit of life's breath in its nostrils[k] died. 23 Every living thing on the face of the land was blotted out, human and beast, creeping things and birds of the sky. They were blotted out from the earth. Noah alone was left, with those who were with him in the ark. 24 The waters held sway over the earth for 150 days.[l]

Notes

- a (7:2) Literally "seven seven," which may mean seven pairs or seven animals (three pairs and one more, perhaps for the sacrifice in 8:20). The Septuagint reads "sevens." The distinction between clean and unclean animals looks ahead to Leviticus 11.
- b (7:3) The Septuagint adds "of the clean birds" and continues, "and of all the birds that are not clean, pairs, male and female."
- c (7:4) Hebrew yequm, a rare word: "everything that stands" or "everything that exists."
- d (7:11) Hebrew "in the second month." This translation counts the months from the spring new year (Nisan, also called Abib, in March–April), as Exodus 12:2 does for Israel's festival year, so the second month falls in April–May. The flood account does not say which calendar it follows, and some scholars, like some ancient Jewish interpreters, count from the autumn new year instead, which would put this date in October–November. Hebrew months are lunar, so every modern equivalent is approximate. The Septuagint reads "on the twenty-seventh day." It also gives the twenty-seventh day in 8:4 and 8:14, so that in the Greek the flood lasts exactly one year.

- e (7:11) Hebrew arubbot, “windows” or “lattices,” picturing the sky as a vault with openings (compare 1:6–8).
- f (7:14) Literally “every bird, every wing.”
- g (7:16) The verse moves from “God” (Elohim) to “Yahweh” (YHWH). Scholars have connected such changes with different sources, and readers have long noted the personal care shown: Yahweh himself closes the door.
- h (7:17) The Septuagint reads “forty days and forty nights.”
- i (7:18) Hebrew gavar, “grew strong” or “overpowered,” repeated four times (7:18, 19, 20, 24).
- j (7:20) Hebrew “fifteen cubits upward,” about 22 feet (7 meters), counting a cubit as about 18 inches (45 centimeters); standards varied. Either above the peaks, or half the ark’s height, so that the ark could float clear of them.
- k (7:22) Literally “in whose nostrils was the breath of the spirit of life,” joining the wording of 2:7 and 6:17.
- l (7:24) Five months of 30 days, from the seventeenth day of the second month (7:11) to the seventeenth day of the seventh month (8:4).

Chapter 8

1 But God remembered[a] Noah, together with every wild animal and every tame animal that was with him in the ark. God caused a wind[b] to sweep over the land, and the flood receded. 2 The springs of the deep and the floodgates of the heavens were closed, and the rain from the heavens was held back. 3 The waters steadily receded[c] from the earth, and at the end of 150 days the waters had gone down. 4 In the seventh month (in September–October), on the month’s seventeenth day,[d] the ark settled[e] on the mountains of Ararat.[f] 5 The waters continued to go down until the tenth month. In the tenth month (in December–January), on the first day of the month,[g] the tops of the mountains became visible.
6 At the end of forty days Noah opened the window of the ark that he had made, 7 and he sent out the raven. It went out and kept going back and forth[h] until the waters had dried up from the earth. 8 Then he sent out the dove from him, to see whether the waters had gone down from the face of the ground. 9 But the dove could find no place to rest[i] its foot, since water still covered the face of the whole earth, and it came back to him in the ark. He put out his hand, caught it, and took it back into the ark with him. 10 He let seven more days go by and sent the dove out from the ark once again. 11 The dove came back to him in the evening, and in its beak was a freshly plucked olive leaf. So Noah knew that the waters had gone down from the earth. 12 He waited seven more days and released the dove, and this time she did not come back to him.

13 In the six hundred and first year,[j] in the first month (in March–April),[k] on the first day of the month, the waters had dried from the earth. Noah removed the covering of the ark and looked, and the face of the ground was dry. 14 In the second month (in April–May), on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth was fully dry.[l]

15 Then God spoke to Noah, saying, 16 "Leave the ark, you and your wife, your sons and their wives with you. 17 Bring out with you every living thing that is with you, of all flesh: birds, livestock, and every creeping thing that creeps on the earth, so that they may swarm on the earth and be fruitful and multiply on the earth." 18 So Noah went out, and his sons and his wife and his sons' wives with him. 19 All the animals, all the creeping things, and all the birds, every creature that moves on the earth, came out of the ark, family by family.

20 Then Noah built an altar to Yahweh, and he took some of every clean animal and of every clean bird and offered burnt offerings on the altar. 21 Yahweh smelled the soothing aroma,[m] and Yahweh said in his heart, "Never again will I curse the ground on account of humankind, though the human heart forms evil from youth on.[n] Never again will I strike down every living thing as I have done. 22 As long as the earth remains,[o] sowing and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night will not cease."

Notes

- a (8:1) Hebrew zakar. In the Bible, God "remembering" means acting on someone's behalf, not recalling what was forgotten (compare Exodus 2:24). The verse is the turning point of the flood account.
- b (8:1) Hebrew ruach, as in 1:2. The flood account echoes creation: wind over the waters, dry land appearing, and living things told to be fruitful (8:17).
- c (8:3) Literally "going and returning."
- d (8:4) Hebrew "in the seventh month": September–October on the spring-start reckoning used in this translation (see the note on 7:11); on an autumn-start reckoning, March–April. The Septuagint reads "twenty-seventh day" (see 7:11).
- e (8:4) Hebrew wattanach, from nuach, "rest," the word behind Noah's name (5:29).

- f (8:4) Ararat is a region (Assyrian Urartu) in what is now eastern Turkey and Armenia. The text says "mountains," not a single peak.
- g (8:5) Hebrew "in the tenth month": December–January on the spring-start reckoning used in this translation (see the note on 7:11); on an autumn-start reckoning, June–July.
- h (8:7) Literally "going out and returning." The Septuagint and Vulgate read that the raven "did not return."
- i (8:9) Hebrew manoach, again from nuach, "rest."
- j (8:13) The Septuagint reads "in the six hundred and first year of the life of Noah," matching 7:11.
- k (8:13) Hebrew "in the first month": March–April on the spring-start reckoning (see the note on 7:11); on an autumn-start reckoning, September–October.
- l (8:14) Hebrew "in the second month": April–May on the spring-start reckoning (see the note on 7:11). In the Masoretic Text the flood lasts from 2/17 of Noah's 600th year to 2/27 of his 601st: a lunar year of 354 days plus 11 days, which equals a solar year of 365 days. In the Septuagint (2/27 to 2/27) it lasts exactly one year.
- m (8:21) Hebrew reach ha-nichoach, "the restful (or soothing) aroma," another play on Noah's name (nuach, "rest").
- n (8:21) Or "for the inclination of the human heart is evil from youth." The same diagnosis as 6:5 now leads to mercy rather than judgment.
- o (8:22) Literally "all the days of the earth." The verse is a short poem of pairs.

Chapter 9

1 God blessed Noah and his sons, and said to them, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth. 2 Every animal on earth will fear you and be terrified of you, as will every bird of the sky, all that crawls on the ground, and every fish of the sea. They are placed in your power. 3 Every moving thing that lives will be food for you. As I gave you the green plants, I now give you everything. 4 But you must not eat flesh with its life, that is, its blood.[a] 5 For your lifeblood, too, I will demand an accounting.[b] I will demand it of every beast and of humankind; of each one I will demand the life of the fellow human he takes.[c] 6 Whoever sheds the blood of a human, by a human[d] his blood will be shed, for in the image of God he made humankind. 7 As for you, be fruitful and multiply; swarm on the earth and multiply on it."[e] 8 Then God said to Noah and to his sons with him, 9 "As for me, I am establishing my covenant with you and with your offspring after you, 10 and with every living creature that is with you: the birds, the livestock, and every animal of the earth with you, all that came out of the ark, every animal of the earth. 11 I establish my covenant with you: never again will a flood cut off all flesh, and never again will a flood devastate the earth." 12 God said, "This is the sign of the covenant that I am setting between myself and you, and every living creature with you, for all the generations that follow: 13 I have set my bow[f] in the cloud, and it will be the sign of the covenant between me and the earth. 14 When I gather clouds above the earth and the bow appears among them, 15

I will remember the covenant between myself and you and all living creatures of every kind of flesh. Never again will the waters become a flood that destroys all flesh. 16 When the bow is in the cloud, I will look at it and remember the everlasting covenant[g] between God and every living creature of all flesh that is on the earth." 17 God said to Noah, "This is the sign of the covenant that I have established between me and all flesh that is on the earth." 18 The sons of Noah who left the ark were Shem, Ham, and Japheth.
Ham was the father of Canaan. 19 These three were the sons of Noah, and from these the whole earth was populated.[h] 20 Noah, a farmer, began by planting a vineyard.[i] 21 Drinking of its wine, he grew drunk and lay exposed within his tent. 22 Ham, Canaan's father, looked on his father's nakedness[j] and went out and told his two brothers. 23 Then Shem and Japheth took a cloak, laid it on both their shoulders, walked in backward, and covered their father's nakedness. Their faces were turned away, and they did not see their father's nakedness. 24 When Noah awoke from his wine and learned what his youngest son[k] had done to him, 25 he said, "Cursed be Canaan![l] A servant of servants[m] he will be to his brothers." 26 He also said, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Shem![n] And let Canaan be his servant. 27 May God enlarge Japheth,[o] and may he dwell in the tents of Shem,[p] and let Canaan be his servant." 28 Noah lived after the flood 350 years. 29 Noah's life came to 950 years in all, and then he died.

Notes

- a (9:4) Literally "flesh with its life (nefesh), its blood." Blood stands for life, which belongs to God (Leviticus 17:11, 14; compare Acts 15:20).

- b (9:5) Hebrew darash, “seek” or “demand.”
- c (9:5) Literally “from the hand of each man, his brother, I will require the life of the human.”
- d (9:6) The Hebrew is a six-word mirror: shofekh dam ha-adam ba-adam damo yishshafekh, “sheds / blood / of the human // by the human / his blood / will be shed.” “By a human” may also mean “in exchange for the human”; the Septuagint reads “in return for his blood.” The reason given looks back to 1:27.
- e (9:7) The Septuagint reads “fill the earth and rule over it,” and some scholars suggest the second Hebrew “multiply” (urevu) was originally “rule” (uredu), as in 1:28.
- f (9:13) Hebrew qeshet, the ordinary word for a war bow. The image may be of God hanging up his weapon.
- g (9:16) Hebrew berit olam, “everlasting covenant” (compare Isaiah 24:5).
- h (9:19) Literally “was spread out” (nafats), looking ahead to the scattering in 10:32 and 11:8–9.
- i (9:20) Thought for thought. Literally “Noah, the man of the ground, began and planted a vineyard.” “Man of the ground” (adamah) recalls 2:5, 15 and 5:29.
- j (9:22) What Ham did is debated. Some read it as more than looking, since “uncovering the nakedness” of a father is a sexual idiom in Leviticus 18:7–8; others take it as a public act of shame toward his father.
- k (9:24) Hebrew qatan, “small,” here “younger” or “youngest.” Ham is usually listed second (5:32; 10:1).
- l (9:25) The curse falls on Canaan, not on Ham, and looks ahead to Israel’s later conflict with the Canaanites. This verse was misused for centuries to defend slavery and racism. The text names only Canaan, not Ham’s other descendants (Cush, Egypt, Put; 10:6), and says nothing about skin color or race.
- m (9:25) A Hebrew superlative: “the lowest of servants.”
- n (9:26) Instead of blessing Shem directly, Noah blesses Shem’s God. Shem means “name,” and the God of Shem is Yahweh, who will give Abram a great name (12:2).
- o (9:27) Hebrew yaft, “may he enlarge,” sounds like Yefet, Japheth. The Septuagint reads “make room for.”
- p (9:27) “He” may be Japheth, or God dwelling among the descendants of Shem (so the Targums).

Chapter 10

1 This is the account of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth.
Sons were born to them after the flood.
2 The sons of Japheth:[a] Gomer, Magog, Madai, Javan, Tubal, Meshech, and Tiras. 3 The sons of Gomer: Ashkenaz, Riphath, and Togarmah.
4 The sons of Javan: Elishah, Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim.[b] 5 From these the coastland peoples[c] spread out in their lands, each with its own language, by their clans, in their nations.

6 The sons of Ham: Cush, Mizraim,[d] Put, and Canaan. 7 The sons of Cush: Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabteca. The sons of Raamah: Sheba and Dedan. 8 Cush fathered Nimrod.[e] He was the first on the earth to become a mighty warrior. 9 He was a mighty hunter before Yahweh.[f] That is why it is said, "Like Nimrod, a mighty hunter before Yahweh." 10 The beginning of his kingdom was Babel, Erech, Accad, and Calneh,[g] in the land of Shinar.[h] 11 From that land he went out to Assyria[i] and built Nineveh, Rehoboth-ir,[j] Calah, 12 and Resen, which lies between Nineveh and Calah, the great city. 13 Mizraim fathered the Ludim, the Anamim, the Lehabim, the Naphtuhim, 14 the Pathrusim, the Casluhim (from whom the Philistines came),[k] and the Caphtorim.

15 Canaan fathered Sidon his firstborn, and Heth,[l] 16 the Jebusite, the Amorite, the Girgashite, 17 the Hivite, the Arkite, the Sinite, 18 the Arvadite, the Zemarite, and the Hamathite. Afterward the clans of the Canaanites were scattered. 19 The territory of the Canaanites reached from Sidon toward Gerar as far as Gaza, and toward Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, and Zeboiim as far as Lasha. 20 These are the sons of Ham, by their clans, by their languages, in their lands, in their nations.

21 To Shem also, the father of all the sons of Eber[m] and the older brother of Japheth,[n] children were born. 22 The sons of Shem: Elam, Asshur, Arpachshad, Lud, and Aram.[o] 23 The sons of Aram: Uz, Hul, Gether, and Mash.[p] 24 Arpachshad fathered Shelah,[q] and Shelah fathered Eber. 25 To Eber were born two sons. The name of the one was Peleg,[r] for in his days the earth was divided; and his brother's name was Joktan. 26 Joktan was the father of Almodad, Sheleph, Hazarmaveth, and Jerah, 27 Hadoram, Uzal, and Diklah, 28 Obal, Abimael, and Sheba, 29 Ophir, Havilah, and Jobab. All these were Joktan's sons. 30 Their territory reached from Mesha toward Sephar, the hill country of the east. 31 These are the sons of Shem, by their clans, by their languages, in their lands, in their nations.

[32] Such were the clans descended from Noah's sons, line by line, nation by nation. From them the peoples branched out across the earth after the flood.[s]

Notes

- a (10:2) The names in this chapter are peoples and places as well as persons. Gomer is usually linked with the Cimmerians, Madai with the Medes, Javan with the Ionian Greeks, and Tubal and Meshech with peoples of Anatolia. The Septuagint adds Elisa to the sons of Japheth.
- b (10:4) The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint ("Rhodians"), and 1 Chronicles 1:7 read Rodanim, the people of Rhodes. In Hebrew script the letters d and r look very much alike.
- c (10:5) Literally "the coastlands of the nations," the shores and islands of the Mediterranean. Many scholars think the words "These are the sons of Japheth" have dropped out here (compare 10:20, 31).
- d (10:6) Mizraim is the Hebrew name for Egypt. Cush is the land south of Egypt; Put is probably Libya.
- e (10:8) Nimrod sounds like the Hebrew for "we will rebel" (marad). Jewish tradition made him the leader of the builders of Babel. "Mighty warrior" is gibbor, as in 6:4.
- f (10:9) "Before Yahweh" may mean "in Yahweh's sight," as a mark of greatness, or "in defiance of Yahweh."
- g (10:10) With different vowels the Hebrew for "and Calneh" can be read "all of them": "Babel, Erech, and Accad, all of them in the land of Shinar."
- h (10:10) Shinar is Babylonia, the land of Sumer and Akkad in southern Mesopotamia.
- i (10:11) Or "From that land Asshur went out." The Hebrew can be read either way; the Septuagint takes Asshur (Assur) as the subject.
- j (10:11) Literally "the broad places of the city," possibly a district of Nineveh rather than a separate city.
- k (10:14) Many scholars think this note belongs after "the Caphtorim," since Amos 9:7 and Jeremiah 47:4 say the Philistines came from Caphtor (probably Crete).
- l (10:15) Heth is the ancestor of the Hittites (see Genesis 23).
- m (10:21) The name Eber is linked with the word "Hebrew" (ivri).
- n (10:21) Or "the brother of Japheth the elder." The Hebrew does not make clear which brother was older; the Septuagint reads the second way.
- o (10:22) The Septuagint adds Cainan to the sons of Shem.
- p (10:23) 1 Chronicles 1:17 and the Septuagint read Meshech (Greek Mosoch).
- q (10:24) The Septuagint reads "Arpachshad fathered Cainan, and Cainan fathered Shelah," as in 11:12–13 and Luke 3:36.
- r (10:25) Peleg means "division," from palag, "divide." The division may be the scattering of peoples in 11:1–9, or the land divided by canals.

- s (10:32) The Masoretic Text names seventy peoples, a number of completeness (compare Deuteronomy 10:22). With its additions the Septuagint has more; Luke 10:1 has a similar variant, seventy or seventy-two sent out.

Chapter 11

1 All the earth had a single language, one set of words.[a] 2 As people journeyed from the east,[b] they found a plain in the land of Shinar and settled there. 3 They said to one another, "Come, let us make bricks and bake them hard."[c] They had brick for stone and bitumen for mortar. 4 They said, "Come, we will build a city for ourselves, and a tower reaching up into the heavens, and win a name[d] for ourselves, or we will be scattered across the face of the earth." 5 Yahweh came down to see the city and the tower that the children of humankind had built.[e] 6 Yahweh said, "See, they are a single people with a single language, and this is just the start of their doing. From now on nothing they set out to do will be out of reach for them. 7 Come, we will go down and mix up their speech[f] there, so that no one will understand what another says." 8 So Yahweh scattered them from there over the face of the whole earth, and they stopped building the city. 9 That is why its name was Babel,[g] for there Yahweh confused the speech of the entire earth, and from that place Yahweh dispersed them across the whole earth.
10 These are the generations of Shem.[h] Two years after the flood, at 100 years of age, Shem fathered Arpachshad. 11 After Arpachshad's birth Shem lived 500 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him.[i] 12 At 35 years of age Arpachshad fathered Shelah.[j] 13 After Shelah's birth Arpachshad lived 403 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 14 At 30 years of age Shelah fathered Eber. 15 After Eber's birth Shelah lived 403 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 16 At 34 years of age Eber fathered Peleg. 17 After Peleg's birth Eber lived 430 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 18 At 30 years of age Peleg fathered Reu. 19 After Reu's birth Peleg lived 209 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 20 At 32 years of age Reu fathered Serug. 21 After Serug's birth Reu lived 207 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 22 At 30 years of age Serug fathered

Nahor. 23 After Nahor's birth Serug lived 200 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 24 At 29 years of age Nahor fathered Terah. 25 After Terah's birth Nahor lived 119 more years, and other sons and daughters were born to him. 26 At 70 years of age Terah fathered Abram,[k] Nahor, and Haran.

27 This is the account of Terah. Terah fathered Abram, Nahor, and Haran; and Haran fathered Lot. 28 Haran died during the lifetime of[l] Terah his father, in the land of his birth, in Ur of the Chaldeans.[m] 29 Abram and Nahor took wives for themselves. The name of Abram's wife was Sarai,[n] and the name of Nahor's wife was Milcah, the daughter of Haran, who was the father of Milcah and Iscah. 30 Now Sarai was barren; she had no child.[o] 31 Terah set out with Abram his son, with Lot the son of Haran, his grandson, and with Sarai, Abram's wife, his daughter-in-law. Together[p] they left Ur of the Chaldeans, heading for Canaan. But on reaching Haran[q] they stayed there. 32 Terah's life came to 205 years,[r] and he died in Haran.

Notes

- a (11:1) Literally "one lip and the same (or few) words."
- b (11:2) Or "journeyed eastward." Movement east runs through these chapters, away from Eden (3:24; 4:16).
- c (11:3) The Hebrew is full of sound play: nilbenah levenim, "let us brick bricks," and nisrefah lisrefah, "let us burn them for burning"; chemar (bitumen) and chomer (mortar). Southern Mesopotamia had little stone, so people built with baked brick.
- d (11:4) Hebrew shem, "name." The builders try to make a name for themselves; in 12:2 God promises to make a great name for Abram, a descendant of Shem (whose name means "name").
- e (11:5) The tower meant to reach the heavens is so small that Yahweh must "come down" to see it.
- f (11:7) Literally "their lip." "Let us confuse" is navlah, from balal. Its consonants (n-b-l) reverse those of "let us make bricks" (l-b-n) in 11:3: the builders' plan is turned back on them. On "let us," see 1:26.
- g (11:9) Babel (the Hebrew name for Babylon) sounds like balal, "confuse" or "mix." In Akkadian the city's name, Bab-ili, meant "gate of god"; Genesis answers with a pun: not the gate of God but the place of confusion. The Septuagint renders the name "Confusion."
- h (11:10) Another toledot heading. Ten generations from Shem to Abram mirror the ten from Adam to Noah in chapter 5.

- i (11:11) The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint add “and he died” after each person in this list, and the Samaritan also gives each total life span. Ages at fatherhood and years that follow differ. Masoretic: Arpachshad 35/403, Shelah 30/403, Eber 34/430, Peleg 30/209, Reu 32/207, Serug 30/200, Nahor 29/119. Samaritan: 135/303, 130/303, 134/270, 130/109, 132/107, 130/100, 79/69. Septuagint: 135/400 (Alexandrinus 430), then Cainan 130/330, Shelah 130/330, Eber 134/270 (Alexandrinus 370), Peleg 130/209, Reu 132/207, Serug 130/200, Nahor 179/125 (Alexandrinus 79/129). No Dead Sea Scroll preserves these numbers.
- j (11:12) The Septuagint has an extra generation here: Arpachshad fathers Cainan, and Cainan (130 years, then 330 more) fathers Shelah. Luke 3:36 includes this Cainan, and Jubilees 8 also knows him as Kainam. He is absent from the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and 1 Chronicles 1:18, 24.
- k (11:26) Abram means “exalted father”; in 17:5 he is renamed Abraham. He is named first but may not be the eldest: if Terah died at 205 (11:32) and Abram left Haran at 75 after his father’s death (12:4; Acts 7:4), Abram was born when Terah was 130.
- l (11:28) Literally “on the face of,” that is, while his father was still alive.
- m (11:28) Ur was a great city of southern Mesopotamia. “Of the Chaldeans” uses a later name for the region, updating it for readers. The Septuagint reads “in the land of the Chaldeans.”
- n (11:29) Sarai probably means “princess”; in 17:15 she is renamed Sarah. Jewish tradition identifies Iscah with Sarai, but the text does not say so.
- o (11:30) The Hebrew says it twice (“barren; there was to her no child”), using a rare word for child (valad). The whole story of the promise to Abram begins from this emptiness.
- p (11:31) Literally “they went out with them.” The Septuagint and Vulgate read “he brought them out.”
- q (11:31) The city Haran (Hebrew Charan) in northern Mesopotamia is spelled differently in Hebrew from the name of Terah’s son Haran.
- r (11:32) The Samaritan Pentateuch reads 145 years. By that number Terah died in the year Abram left Haran (11:26; 12:4), which matches Stephen’s words in Acts 7:4.

Chapter 12

1 Yahweh said to Abram, “Go out[a] from your land, from your relatives, and from your father’s house, to the land that I will show you. 2 I will make of you a great nation; I will bless you and make your name renowned, and you will be a blessing.[b] 3 I will bless those who bless you, and whoever treats you with contempt I will curse. And in you all the families[c] of the earth will be blessed.”[d]

4 So Abram went, as Yahweh had told him, and Lot went with him.
Abram was seventy-five years old when he left Haran. 5 Abram took his wife Sarai and his nephew Lot, with all the wealth they had amassed and the persons[e] they had gained in Haran, and they left for Canaan. So they arrived in Canaan.[f] 6 Abram passed through the land as far as the place of Shechem, to the oak of Moreh.[g] At that time the Canaanites were in the land. 7 Then Yahweh appeared to Abram and said, "To your offspring[h] I will give this land." So he built an altar there to Yahweh, who had appeared to him. 8 From there he went on to the hills east of Bethel and set up his tent between Bethel on the west and Ai on the east. He built an altar there to Yahweh and called on Yahweh's name. 9 Then Abram journeyed on, going by stages toward the Negev.[i]

10 A famine struck the land, and Abram went down into Egypt to stay as a foreigner,[j] for the famine weighed heavily on the land. 11 As he was about to enter Egypt, he said to Sarai his wife, "Look, I know that you are a beautiful woman to see. 12 When the Egyptians see you, they will say, 'This is his wife.' Then they will kill me, but they will let you live. 13 Tell them you are my sister,[k] I beg you, so that I am treated well for your sake and kept alive thanks to you."

14 When Abram came into Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the woman was very beautiful. 15 Pharaoh's officials[l] saw her and praised her to Pharaoh, and the woman was taken into Pharaoh's house. 16
He treated Abram well because of her, and Abram acquired sheep, cattle, male donkeys, male and female servants, female donkeys, and camels.[m] 17 But Yahweh afflicted Pharaoh and his household with severe plagues on account of Abram's wife Sarai.[n] 18 So Pharaoh summoned Abram and said, "What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me that she was your wife? 19 Why did you claim, 'She is my sister,' and let me take her as a wife? Here she is, your wife. Take her and be gone!" 20 Then Pharaoh gave his men orders concerning him, and they sent him away with his wife and all that he had.[o]

Notes

- a (12:1) Literally “Go, for yourself” (Hebrew lekh-lekha), a phrase that stresses personal departure. It returns in 22:2, framing Abraham’s story with two calls to go.
- b (12:2) Literally “be a blessing.” Some scholars repoint the Hebrew to read “and it (your name) will be a blessing.”
- c (12:3) Or “clans.” The Septuagint reads “tribes.”
- d (12:3) Or “will bless themselves by you,” that is, use your name in their blessings. The Hebrew verb form allows both senses. The New Testament reads it as a promise that the nations will share Abraham’s blessing (Acts 3:25; Galatians 3:8).
- e (12:5) Literally “the souls” (nephesh), probably servants and members of the household. Later Jewish tradition read it as the people Abram and Sarai had won to faith in the one God.
- f (12:5) Brenton’s Septuagint lacks “And they came to the land of Canaan,” though he notes that Codex Alexandrinus has it, as the Hebrew does.
- g (12:6) Or “the terebinth of Moreh,” a large tree. Moreh may mean “teacher,” suggesting a place where oracles were sought. The Septuagint reads “the high oak.”
- h (12:7) Literally “seed,” here and throughout. The Hebrew word is singular in form but usually collective. Paul builds on the singular form in Galatians 3:16.
- i (12:9) The Negev is the dry southern region of Canaan. The word also means “south.” The Septuagint reads “the wilderness.”
- j (12:10) Hebrew gur, “to live as a resident foreigner,” without the rights of a native. The same verb shapes much of the patriarchs’ story.
- k (12:13) Sarai was in fact Abram’s half sister (20:12). The half-truth was still a deception, and the story does not approve it.
- l (12:15) Or “princes.” “Pharaoh” is an Egyptian title meaning “great house,” not a personal name.
- m (12:16) The mention of camels here and elsewhere in Genesis is debated, since large-scale camel domestication is dated later than the usual dates for Abraham. Some see it as the narrator updating the details for later readers.
- n (12:17) Literally “because of the word (or matter) of Sarai.”
- o (12:20) Brenton notes that Codex Alexandrinus adds “and Lot with him,” which prepares for 13:1.

Chapter 13

1 So Abram went up from Egypt into the Negev, he and his wife and all that he had, and Lot with him. 2 Abram was very rich[a] in livestock, in silver, and in gold. 3 He went on by stages from the Negev as far as Bethel, to the place where his tent had been at the beginning, between Bethel and Ai, 4 It was the site of the altar he had first built there. And there Abram invoked the name of Yahweh.

5 Lot, who traveled with Abram, also owned sheep, cattle, and tents.
6 But the land could not support them both living together, because their possessions were so great that they could not stay together.
7 Strife arose between Abram's herdsmen and Lot's herdsmen. The Canaanites and the Perizzites were then dwelling in the land. 8 Then Abram said to Lot, "Please, let there be no quarrel between me and you, or between my herders and your herders, for we are family.[b] 9 Is not the whole land in front of you? Please separate from me. If you go to the left, I will go to the right; if you go to the right, I will go to the left." 10 Lot raised his eyes and saw how the whole Jordan plain[c] was watered throughout, like Yahweh's garden, like Egypt, all the way toward Zoar.[d] That was before Yahweh destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah. 11 So Lot selected the entire Jordan plain for himself and journeyed eastward.[e] In this way the two men parted. 12 Abram dwelt in Canaan, but Lot dwelt among the towns of the plain, pitching his tent near Sodom. 13 Now the people of Sodom were evil, great sinners against Yahweh.[f]
14 After Lot had separated from him, Yahweh said to Abram, "Lift up your eyes and look from the place where you are, northward and southward, eastward and westward,[g] 15 Every bit of land within your sight I will give to you and your descendants for all time. 16 I will make your descendants like the dust on the ground in number. If anyone could count the dust, then your descendants could be counted too. 17 Get up, walk through the land, its length and its breadth, for I will give it to you." 18 Abram moved his tent and went to live by the oaks of Mamre[h] at Hebron, and he built an altar there to Yahweh.

Notes

- a (13:2) Literally "very heavy." The same root gives the Hebrew word for "glory."
- b (13:8) Literally "for we are men, brothers." "Brother" is often used for any close relative; Lot was Abram's nephew.
- c (13:10) Hebrew kikkar, literally "circle" or "round," the well-watered region around the southern Jordan.
- d (13:10) The Septuagint reads "Zogora." Some scholars suggest the original may have read "Zoan," a city in Egypt, which would fit the comparison with Egypt. This is uncertain.

- e (13:11) Or “from the east.” The Septuagint reads “from the east.” The Hebrew miqqedem can mean either.
- f (13:13) Literally “evil and sinners to Yahweh, very.” The Septuagint reads “before God.”
- g (13:14) Literally “seaward,” toward the Mediterranean.
- h (13:18) Or “terebinths of Mamre.” The Hebrew is plural; the Septuagint reads the singular “oak.”

Chapter 14

1 In the days of Amraphel king of Shinar, Arioch king of Ellasar, Chedorlaomer king of Elam, and Tidal king of Goiim,[a] 2 these kings made war against Bera king of Sodom, Birsha king of Gomorrah, Shinab king of Admah, Shemeber king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, that is, Zoar. 3 These all joined together in the Valley of Siddim (the Salt Sea).[b] 4 Twelve years they had been subject to Chedorlaomer; in the thirteenth they revolted. 5 In the fourteenth year Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him came and defeated the Rephaim[c] in Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim in Ham, the Emim in Shaveh-kiriathaim, 6 and the Horites in their hills of Seir, reaching to El-paran at the edge of the wilderness. 7 Then they turned back and came to En-mishpat,[d] that is, Kadesh, and defeated all the territory of the Amalekites, and also the Amorites who lived in Hazazon-tamar. 8
Then the king of Sodom, the king of Gomorrah, the king of Admah, the king of Zeboiim, and the king of Bela, that is, Zoar, went out and drew up their battle lines against them in the Valley of Siddim, 9 against Chedorlaomer king of Elam, Tidal king of Goiim, Amraphel king of Shinar, and Arioch king of Ellasar, four kings against five. 10
The Valley of Siddim was riddled with bitumen pits.[e] When the kings of Sodom and Gomorrah fled, some of their men fell in there, and the rest escaped to the hills. 11 The enemy took all the goods of Sodom and Gomorrah and all their food, and went away. 12 They also took Lot, the son of Abram’s brother, and his goods, and went away, for he was living in Sodom.
13 A fugitive came and reported it to Abram the Hebrew.[f] Abram was camped by the large trees owned by Mamre the Amorite, brother of Eshcol and Aner, and these men were Abram’s allies.[g] 14 When Abram heard that his relative had been taken captive, he called out[h] his trained men, born in his household, 318 of them, and pursued as far as Dan.[i] 15 During the night he split up his men and attacked them, he and his servants. He defeated them and chased them all the way to Hobah, which lies north[j] of Damascus. 16 He brought back all the goods, and he also brought back his relative Lot and his goods, along with the women and the people.

17 After Abram returned from defeating Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him, the king of Sodom went out to meet him at the Valley of Shaveh, that is, the King's Valley. 18 And Melchizedek[k] king of Salem[l] brought out bread and wine. He was priest of El Elyon.[m] 19 He blessed Abram and said, "Blessed be Abram by El Elyon, Maker[n] of heaven and earth. 20 And blessed be El Elyon, who has delivered your enemies into your hand." Then Abram handed him a tenth part of everything.[o]

21 The king of Sodom then said to Abram, "Give the people to me, and keep the possessions for yourself." 22 But Abram said to the king of Sodom, "I have raised my hand[p] to Yahweh,[q] El Elyon, Maker of heaven and earth, 23 I swear that I will accept nothing of yours, not even a thread or a shoelace, so that you can never claim, 'I enriched Abram.' 24 I want nothing except what the young men have already consumed, and the share for the men who marched with me: Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre. Let them take their share."

Notes

- a (14:1) Or "king of nations," as the Septuagint reads. None of these four kings has been securely identified in other ancient records, though the names fit known name types from Mesopotamia, Elam, and Anatolia.
- b (14:3) The Salt Sea is the Dead Sea. The note "that is…" updates the place name for later readers, as several notes in this chapter do.
- c (14:5) The Rephaim, Zuzim, and Emim were peoples remembered as unusually tall (compare Deuteronomy 2:10–11, 20). The Septuagint reads "the giants" for Rephaim.
- d (14:7) En-mishpat means "spring of judgment." The Septuagint translates it "the well of judgment."
- e (14:10) Literally "pits, pits of bitumen," a Hebrew way of saying "full of pits." The Dead Sea region is known for natural asphalt.

- f (14:13) The first use of “Hebrew” in the Bible. The Septuagint translates it “the one who crossed over” (Brenton: “the passer”), linking it with the root avar, “to cross,” though the word is more likely connected with Eber (10:21; 11:14).
- g (14:13) Literally “lords of a covenant with Abram.”
- h (14:14) Literally “emptied out” or “drew out,” an unusual use of the verb. The Septuagint reads “numbered,” and a different Hebrew verb lies behind some other ancient witnesses. The meaning “mustered” is likely.
- i (14:14) Dan was named later (Judges 18:29); the narrator uses the name his readers knew.
- j (14:15) Literally “on the left of,” that is, to the north for someone facing east.
- k (14:18) Melchizedek means “my king is righteousness” or “king of righteousness.” He is taken up in Psalm 110:4 and Hebrews 5–7, and in the Qumran text known as 11QMelchizedek.
- l (14:18) Salem probably means Jerusalem (compare Psalm 76:2). The name sounds like shalom, “peace” (Hebrews 7:2).
- m (14:18) Hebrew El Elyon, “God Most High.” Elyon means “highest.” Here Abram identifies this God with Yahweh (14:22).
- n (14:19) Or “Creator” or “Owner.” The Hebrew qoneh can mean either “maker” or “possessor.”
- o (14:20) Literally “he gave him a tenth from all.” The Hebrew does not name the subject; Hebrews 7:4 understands that Abram gave the tenth to Melchizedek.
- p (14:22) A gesture of taking an oath. The Septuagint reads “I will stretch out my hand.”
- q (14:22) The Masoretic Text has the name Yahweh here, and Brenton’s Septuagint also has “the Lord” (kyrios): “the Lord the most high God.” Some other ancient witnesses are reported to lack the divine name and read only “God Most High” (El Elyon), as in 14:18–20.

Chapter 15

1 After these things the word of Yahweh came to Abram in a vision: “Do not be afraid, Abram. I am your shield;[a] your reward will be very great.” 2 But Abram said, “Lord Yahweh,[b] what will you give me, since I go on childless, and the heir of my house[c] is Eliezer of Damascus?” 3 And Abram said, “Look, you have given me no offspring, so a member of my household will be my heir.” 4 Then the word of Yahweh came to him: “This man will not be your heir; one who comes from your own body will be your heir.” 5 He brought him outside and said, “Look up at the sky and count the stars, if you are able to count them.” Then he said to him, “So shall your offspring be.” 6 Abram believed[d] Yahweh, and he counted it to him as righteousness.[e]

7 He said to him, "I am Yahweh who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldeans, to give you this land to possess." 8 But he said, "Lord Yahweh, how will I know that I will possess it?" 9 He told him, "Fetch me a heifer, a she-goat, and a ram, each three years old, along with a turtledove and a young pigeon." 10 Abram fetched all these, split them down the middle, and set each half facing its partner; the birds, though, he left whole. 11 When birds of prey came down on the carcasses, Abram drove them away.[f] 12 As the sun was going down, a deep sleep[g] fell on Abram, and a dread, a great darkness, fell upon him. 13 Then Yahweh said to Abram, "Know for certain that your offspring will be foreigners in a land that is not theirs. They will be enslaved and oppressed there for four hundred years.[h] 14 But I will bring judgment on the nation they serve, and afterward they will come out with great possessions. 15 But you yourself will join your ancestors in peace, and you will be laid in the grave after a long and full life. 16 In the fourth generation[i] they will come back here, for the guilt of the Amorites is not yet complete." 17 After the sun went down and darkness fell, a smoking cooking pot and a blazing torch moved between the halves of the animals.[j] 18 On that day Yahweh established a covenant[k] with Abram: "I am giving this land to your descendants, from the stream of Egypt[l] to the great river, the Euphrates: 19 the land of the Kenites, the Kenizzites, the Kadmonites, 20 the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Rephaim, 21 the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Girgashites, and the Jebusites."[m]

Notes

- a (15:1) Hebrew magen, "shield." A slight change of vowels gives "I give you a gift (or payment)," which some scholars prefer because of "reward." The Septuagint reads "I shield you."
- b (15:2) Hebrew Adonai YHWH, "my Lord Yahweh." The Masoretic Text points the name here with the vowels of Elohim, so that it is read "God," and older English Bibles print "Lord GOD." Brenton's Septuagint reads "Master and Lord."
- c (15:2) The Hebrew is obscure: literally "the son of mesheq of my house is Damascus Eliezer." Mesheq may be a wordplay on Dammesheq, "Damascus," or a word meaning "acquisition." The Septuagint takes Masek as the name of Eliezer's mother.

- d (15:6) Or “trusted.” The Hebrew he’emin comes from the root of amen, “firm” or “reliable.” The verse is quoted in Romans 4:3, Galatians 3:6, and James 2:23; the Septuagint reads “Abram believed God.”
- e (15:6) The Hebrew does not name the subject of “counted.” The usual reading is that Yahweh counted Abram’s faith as righteousness. A minority reading is that Abram counted Yahweh’s promise as an act of righteousness.
- f (15:11) Brenton’s Septuagint reads “Abram sat down by them.” Brenton suggests the translators read a Hebrew verb meaning “sat” in place of the one meaning “drove back.”
- g (15:12) Hebrew tardemah, the same deep sleep that fell on the human in 2:21. The Septuagint reads “trance” (ekstasis).
- h (15:13) Exodus 12:40 gives 430 years. The Septuagint at Exodus 12:40, and reportedly the Samaritan Pentateuch, count that span to include the time in Canaan as well as in Egypt, and Paul counts 430 years from the promise to the Law (Galatians 3:17).
- i (15:16) Hebrew dor, “generation,” may here mean a long lifetime or era of about a century, matching the 400 years of 15:13.
- j (15:17) In ancient covenant rites the parties walked between cut animals, calling a like fate on themselves if they broke the agreement (compare Jeremiah 34:18–20). Here only the fire, a sign of God’s presence, passes through.
- k (15:18) Literally “cut a covenant,” the usual Hebrew idiom, which matches the cut animals.
- l (15:18) Probably the Wadi el-Arish, the seasonal stream on the border between Canaan and Egypt, rather than the Nile.
- m (15:21) The Septuagint (Brenton: “the Evites”) and some other ancient witnesses add “the Hivites” to the list. This translation follows the Hebrew, which has ten peoples.

Chapter 16

1 Now Sarai, Abram’s wife, had borne him no children. She had an Egyptian slave woman[a] whose name was Hagar. 2 So Sarai said to Abram, “Look, Yahweh has kept me from bearing children. Please go in to my slave woman; perhaps I can build a family through her.”[b] And Abram listened to what Sarai said. 3 After Abram had spent ten years living in Canaan, Abram’s wife Sarai brought her servant, Hagar the Egyptian, and gave her to Abram as a wife.[c] 4 He went in to Hagar, and she conceived. When she saw that she had conceived, her mistress became slight[d] in her eyes. 5 Then Sarai said to Abram, “The wrong done to me is on you![e] I put my slave woman in your arms, and when she saw that she had conceived, I became slight in her eyes. May Yahweh judge between me and you." 6 But Abram said to Sarai, "Look, your slave woman is in your hands. Do to her whatever seems good to you." Then Sarai treated her harshly,[f] and she ran away from her.

7 The angel of Yahweh[g] came upon her at a spring in the wilderness, the spring beside the Shur road. 8 He asked, "Hagar, Sarai's slave girl, where have you come from, and where are you headed?" "I am fleeing from Sarai my mistress," she answered. 9 Then the angel of Yahweh told her, "Return to your mistress and humble yourself under her hand." 10 The angel of Yahweh also said to her, "I will greatly multiply your offspring, so that they cannot be counted for multitude." 11 And the angel of Yahweh said to her, "Look, you are pregnant and will give birth to a son. You shall call his name Ishmael,[h] for Yahweh has heard your affliction. 12 He will be a wild donkey[i] of a man, his hand raised against all and the hands of all raised against him, and he will live at odds with[j] all his kin." 13 She gave a name to Yahweh, who had addressed her: "You are El Roi,"[k] for she said, "Have I truly looked, even here, upon the one who sees me?"[l] 14 So the well came to be called Beer-lahai-roi;[m] it is between Kadesh and Bered.
15 Hagar bore Abram a son, and Abram called the name of his son, whom Hagar bore, Ishmael. 16 Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar bore Ishmael to Abram.

Notes

- a (16:1) Hebrew shiphchah, a female slave or servant who belonged to her mistress. Ancient marriage contracts from Mesopotamia describe a childless wife giving such a woman to her husband to bear children for her.
- b (16:2) Literally "I will be built from her." There is a wordplay between banah, "to build," and ben, "son."
- c (16:3) Or "as a concubine." Hebrew ishshah, "wife" or "woman." Hagar became a secondary wife; she remained Sarai's servant (16:6).
- d (16:4) Literally "light," the opposite of "heavy" or "honored." She looked down on her mistress.
- e (16:5) Literally "My violence (chamas) is upon you," meaning "you are responsible for the wrong I suffer."
- f (16:6) Hebrew anah, "to afflict" or "humble," the same verb used of Israel's oppression in Egypt (15:13; Exodus 1:11–12).
- g (16:7) The first appearance of "the angel (or messenger) of Yahweh." In several passages this figure speaks as God himself (16:10, 13; 22:11–12, 15–16).

- h (16:11) Ishmael means “God hears.”
- i (16:12) Hebrew pere, the wild donkey or onager of the desert, an image of a free, untamed life rather than an insult. The Septuagint reads “a wild man.”
- j (16:12) Or “he will live to the east of” or “alongside.” The Hebrew al-pene, literally “upon the face of,” has all three senses. The Septuagint reads “in the presence of.”
- k (16:13) Hebrew El Roi, “God who sees me” or “God of seeing.”
- l (16:13) The Hebrew is difficult; literally “Have I even here seen after the one who sees me?” Possible senses include “Have I seen God and lived after seeing him?” (by a small emendation) and “Have I seen the back of the one who sees me?” (compare Exodus 33:23).
- m (16:14) Beer-lahai-roi probably means “well of the living one who sees me.” The Septuagint reads “the well of him whom I have openly seen.”

Chapter 17

1 When Abram was ninety-nine years old, Yahweh appeared to Abram and said to him, “I am El Shaddai.[a] Walk before me and be blameless,[b] 2 and I will set my covenant between me and you and multiply you very greatly.” 3 Then Abram fell on his face, and God spoke with him, saying, 4 “As for me, here is my covenant with you: you will be the father of a multitude of nations. 5 No longer shall your name be called Abram; your name shall be Abraham,[c] for I have made you the father of a multitude of nations. 6 I will make you abundantly fruitful; nations will come out of you, and kings will be among your descendants. 7 I will establish my covenant between me and you and your offspring after you throughout their generations, as an everlasting covenant, to be God to you and to your offspring after you. 8 And I will give to you and to your offspring after you the land where you are living as a foreigner, all the land of Canaan, as a possession forever.
And I will be their God.” 9 God said to Abraham, “As for you, you shall keep my covenant, you and your offspring after you throughout their generations. 10 This is my covenant, which you shall keep, between me and you and your offspring after you: every male among you shall be circumcised. 11 You shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskins, and it will be the sign of the covenant between me and you. 12 Generation after generation, each male among you is to be circumcised on his eighth day, both the slave born in your household and the one purchased with silver from a foreigner not of your line. 13 Whether he is born in your household or purchased with your silver, he must be circumcised. In this way my covenant will be marked on your bodies as a covenant that lasts forever. 14 An uncircumcised male, one who has not had the flesh of his foreskin[d] circumcised, will be cut off[e] from his kin, because he has violated my covenant." 15 God said to Abraham, "As for Sarai your wife, you shall not call her name Sarai, for Sarah[f] shall be her name. 16 I will bless her, and I will also give you a son by her. I will bless her, and she will become nations;[g] kings of peoples will come from her." 17 Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed,[h] and said in his heart, "Can a child be born to a man a hundred years old? Can Sarah, who is ninety years old, give birth?" 18 Abraham said to God, "Oh, that Ishmael might live in your favor!" 19 God said, "No, but[i] Sarah your wife will bear you a son, and you shall call his name Isaac.[j] I will establish my covenant with him as an everlasting covenant for his offspring after him. 20 As for Ishmael, I have heard you.[k] Look, I will bless him and make him fruitful and multiply him very greatly. He will father twelve chieftains, and I will make him a great nation. 21 But my covenant I will establish with Isaac, whom Sarah will bear to you at this set time next year." 22 When he had finished speaking with him, God went up from Abraham.

23 That same day Abraham took his son Ishmael and every male of his household, whether born in his house or purchased with his silver, and circumcised the flesh of their foreskins, just as God had told him.
24 Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. 25 And Ishmael his son was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin. 26 On that very day Abraham was circumcised, and Ishmael his son. 27 And all the men of his house, those born in the house and those bought with money from a foreigner, were circumcised with him.

Notes

- a (17:1) Hebrew El Shaddai, traditionally "God Almighty." The meaning of Shaddai is uncertain. Proposals include "of the mountain," "of the fields," and "the one who is sufficient." "Almighty" follows the ancient Greek and Latin tradition in other books. In this verse Brenton's Septuagint reads "I am your God."

- b (17:1) Hebrew tamim, “whole,” “complete,” or “with integrity.” It is used of Noah in 6:9.
- c (17:5) Abram means “exalted father.” Abraham sounds like av hamon, “father of a multitude.” The name may be a longer form of Abram, given new meaning by the promise.
- d (17:14) The Septuagint adds “on the eighth day,” and some other ancient witnesses are reported to have the same addition.
- e (17:14) “Cut off” (karat) may mean death, exclusion from the community, or the ending of one’s family line. The same verb is used for “cutting” a covenant (15:18).
- f (17:15) Sarai and Sarah are two forms of one name meaning “princess.” The change marks her new role as mother of nations and kings.
- g (17:16) Brenton’s Septuagint reads “I will bless him, and he will become nations,” referring to the son.
- h (17:17) Hebrew tsachaq, “laugh,” the root of the name Isaac. Laughter returns in 18:12–15 and 21:6, 9.
- i (17:19) Or “Truly” or “Yes, indeed.” The Hebrew aval can confirm or correct. The Septuagint reads “Yes.”
- j (17:19) Isaac (Hebrew Yitschaq) means “he laughs.”
- k (17:20) Hebrew shema’tikha, a play on the name Ishmael, “God hears.”

Chapter 18

1 Yahweh appeared to Abraham[a] by the large trees of Mamre as he was sitting at the opening of his tent in the warmest part of the day.
2 Raising his eyes, he saw three men standing close by. On seeing them he hurried from his tent door to greet them and bowed low to the earth. 3 He said, “Sir,[b] if I have gained your approval, please do not go on past your servant. 4 Let some water be fetched so you can wash your feet, and then rest yourselves beneath the tree. 5 I will bring a morsel of bread for you to refresh your hearts.[c] Then you can continue, now that you have come by your servant’s way.” “Go ahead,” they answered, “just as you say.” 6 Abraham hastened into the tent to Sarah. “Hurry,” he said, “about twenty quarts[d] of fine flour!
Knead it and bake some loaves.” 7 Then Abraham ran to the herd, took a calf, tender and good, and gave it to a young man, who hurried to prepare it. 8 Then he took curds[e] and milk and the calf he had prepared and set it before them. He stood by them under the tree while they ate.
9 They said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” He said, “There, in the tent.” 10 One of them said, “I will come back to you when this season comes round again,[f] and then Sarah your wife will hold a son." Sarah was listening at the door of the tent behind him. 11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, well along in years. The way of women[g] had ceased for Sarah. 12 So Sarah laughed to herself, saying, "After I am worn out, shall I have pleasure,[h] with my lord so old?" 13 Yahweh asked Abraham, "What made Sarah laugh and say, 'Will I truly give birth, old as I am?' 14 Is any matter too wondrous[i] for Yahweh? At the appointed time, when this season comes round again, I will come back to you, and Sarah will have a son." 15 But Sarah denied it, saying,

"I did not laugh," for she was afraid. He said, "No, you did laugh." 16 Then the men got up from there and looked down toward Sodom, and Abraham went with them to send them on their way. 17 Yahweh said, "Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, 18 since Abraham will surely become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth will be blessed in him? 19 I have chosen[j] him so that he will direct his sons and his household after him to follow the path of Yahweh, practicing justice and righteousness, and then Yahweh can fulfill for Abraham everything he promised him." 20 Then Yahweh said, "The cry[k] over Sodom and Gomorrah is enormous, and their wrongdoing is extremely grave. 21 Let me go down and see if their deeds fully match the outcry that has reached me. If not, I will know." 22 The men turned away and headed toward Sodom, but Abraham still stood in Yahweh's presence.[l] 23 Abraham drew near and said, "Will you indeed destroy the righteous along with the wicked? 24 What if the city holds fifty who are righteous? Would you destroy it then, and not forgive[m] the place for the sake of those fifty? 25 Surely you would never do such a thing, killing the righteous together with the wicked, treating the one the same as the other! Surely not you! Will the Judge of the whole earth not act justly?" 26 Yahweh answered, "If in Sodom I find fifty righteous within the city, I will forgive the entire place for them." 27 Abraham answered and said, "Look, I have dared to speak to the Lord, though I am but dust and ashes.[n] 28 What if the fifty righteous are five short? For want of five, will you destroy the whole city?" He answered, "If I find forty-five there, I will not destroy it." 29 Abraham spoke to him again: "Perhaps only forty will be found in it?" He replied, "Because of those forty I will not do it." 30 Then he said, "Please do not let the Lord be angry, and I will speak. Suppose thirty are found there." He said, "I will not do it if I find thirty there." 31 He said, "Please note that I have presumed to speak to the Lord: what if twenty are found there?" He answered, "I will not destroy it, for the sake of the twenty." 32 He said, "May the Lord not be angry if I speak only this once more: what if ten are found there?" He answered, "I will not destroy it, for the sake of the ten." 33 When Yahweh had finished speaking to Abraham, he went his way, and Abraham returned to his place.

Notes

- a (18:1) The Septuagint reads "God appeared to him." The chapter moves between Yahweh and the three men without explaining how they relate. Christian readers have long seen a hint of the Trinity here; Jewish tradition usually sees Yahweh accompanied by angels (19:1).
- b (18:3) The Hebrew consonants can be read as adoni, "my lord," a polite address to a guest, or Adonai, "Lord," as the Masoretic vowels have it. Abraham may not yet know who the visitor is.
- c (18:5) Literally "sustain your hearts." The modest offer of "a bite of bread" becomes a lavish meal, an example of ancient hospitality (compare Hebrews 13:2).
- d (18:6) Hebrew "three seahs." The seah was a dry measure of uncertain size, often reckoned at about 7 quarts (7.3 liters), so three seahs is about 20 quarts or 5 gallons (22 liters) of flour; estimates vary widely, and some are much smaller. Either way it is a lavish amount for three guests.
- e (18:8) Or "butter." Hebrew chem'ah usually means curdled milk or yogurt.
- f (18:10) Literally "at the time of life," probably meaning "when the time comes round again," about a year from now. The Septuagint reads "according to this time, seasonably."
- g (18:11) A polite expression for menstruation.
- h (18:12) Hebrew ednah, related to Eden, "delight." Brenton notes that the Septuagint reads "The thing has not yet happened to me until now," taking the word in a different sense.
- i (18:14) Or "too hard." Hebrew pala, used of things beyond human power. Compare Jeremiah 32:17, 27 and Luke 1:37.
- j (18:19) Literally "I have known him," in the sense of a chosen, personal relationship.
- k (18:20) Hebrew ze'aqah, the cry of victims for help against injustice. Ezekiel 16:49 names Sodom's sins as pride, excess, and failure to help the poor and needy.
- l (18:22) Ancient Jewish tradition lists this verse among the "corrections of the scribes" (tiqqune sopherim). It says the original read "Yahweh remained standing before Abraham," changed out of reverence. No surviving manuscript has that reading.

- m (18:24) Literally "lift up," that is, forgive or bear with the place.
- n (18:27) Hebrew aphar wa'epher, a sound pair. Compare 3:19.

Chapter 19

1 At evening the two angels reached Sodom. Lot was seated at Sodom's gate,[a] and when he saw them he rose to greet them and bowed low, face to the earth. 2 "Please, my lords," he said, "turn in to the house of your servant, spend the night, and wash your feet. Then you may rise early and go your ways." "No," they replied, "we will spend the night in the square." 3 He urged them so insistently that they came aside with him into his house. He prepared a meal for them and baked flatbread, and they ate. 4 Before they lay down, the men of the city, the men of Sodom, surrounded the house, young and old, all the people from every quarter. 5 They shouted to Lot, "Where are the men who came to your house tonight? Send them out to us so we can know them!"[b] 6 Lot stepped outside to them in the doorway, closing the door after him. 7 He said, "Please, my brothers, do not do this evil.
8 See, I have two daughters who have never known a man. I will bring them out to you; do with them as you please. But leave these men alone, since they have come under the shade of my roof."[c] 9 "Out of the way!" they answered. And they said, "This fellow came here as an outsider, and now he sets himself up as judge![d] We will deal worse with you than with them." They shoved hard against Lot himself and moved in to smash the door. 10 But the two men inside put out their hands, pulled Lot back into the house to them, and closed the door.
11 They struck the men who were at the entrance of the house, small and great, with a blinding light,[e] so that they wore themselves out trying to find the entrance.
12 Then the men said to Lot, "Who else do you have here? A son-in-law, your sons, your daughters, anyone you have in the city, bring them out of this place, 13 for we are about to destroy this place, because the outcry against its people has grown great before Yahweh, and Yahweh has sent us to destroy it." 14 Lot went out and spoke to his sons-in-law, the men pledged to marry[f] his daughters. "Up! Leave this place," he said, "for Yahweh is going to destroy the city." But to his sons-in-law he seemed to be jesting.

15 At daybreak the angels pressed Lot to hurry. "Up! Take your wife and the two daughters you have here, or you will be swept off in the city's punishment."[g] 16 Still he delayed. Since Yahweh had pity on him, the men took hold of his hand and the hands of his wife and two daughters, led him out, and left him beyond the city. 17 When they had brought them outside, one[h] said, "Flee for your life! Do not look back, and do not stand still anywhere in the whole plain. Escape to the hills, or you will be swept away." 18 But Lot said to them, "Oh no, my lord![i] 19 Your servant has won your favor, and you have been very kind to me in keeping me alive. But I cannot flee as far as the hills; the disaster would catch me and I would die. 20 Look, this town is near enough to flee to, and it is a small one. Please let me escape there. Is it not small? Then my life will be spared." 21 He said to him, "Very well, I grant you this request too.[j] I will not overthrow the town you have spoken of. 22 Hurry! Escape to that town, for I can do nothing until you have come to it." For this reason the town was named Zoar.[k]
23 The sun had come up over the earth by the time Lot reached Zoar. 24 Then Yahweh rained down on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from Yahweh out of the heavens.[l] 25 He overthrew those cities and the whole plain, all the inhabitants of the cities, and what grew on the ground. 26 But Lot's wife looked back[m] from behind him, and she was turned to a pillar of salt.
27 Abraham got up early in the morning and went to the place where he had stood before Yahweh. 28 He looked out over Sodom and Gomorrah and all the land of the plain, and there he saw smoke rising from the land, like the smoke of a kiln. 29 So when God destroyed the cities of the plain, God remembered Abraham and sent Lot out of the midst of the overthrow, when he overthrew the cities where Lot had lived.
30 Lot left Zoar and went up to dwell in the hills, he and his two daughters, since he was afraid to stay in Zoar. He and his two daughters made their home in a cave. 31 The firstborn said to the younger, "Our father is old, and there is no man in the land[n] to come in to us in the way of all the earth. 32 Come, let us make our father drink wine, and we will lie with him, so that we may preserve offspring from our father." 33 So they made their father drink wine that night. The firstborn went in and lay with her father; he did not know when she lay down or when she got up.[o] 34 Next day the elder said to the younger, "Last night I lay with my father. We will get him drunk with wine again tonight; then you go in and lie with him, so that through our father we may keep his line alive." 35 That night they also gave their father wine to drink, and the younger rose and lay with him; and he did not know when she lay down or when she rose. 36 So Lot's two daughters conceived by their own father. 37 The firstborn bore a son and called his name Moab.[p] He is the father of the Moabites to this day. 38 The younger also bore a son and called his name Ben-ammi.[q] He is the father of the Ammonites to this day.

Notes

- a (19:1) The city gate was the place of business, courts, and civic life. Sitting there may suggest Lot held some standing in the city.
- b (19:5) "Know" here means sexual relations, as in 4:1 and 19:8. The demand was for gang rape of strangers who were under a host's protection, a gross violation of hospitality. Compare Judges 19:22–25.
- c (19:8) Literally "the shadow of my beams." Lot's offer of his daughters is shocking; the narrative records it without approval, and the later events of 19:30–38 turn on the same daughters.
- d (19:9) Literally "and he judges, judging," a Hebrew way of stressing the verb.
- e (19:11) Hebrew sanverim, a rare word used only here and in 2 Kings 6:18. It may mean a sudden dazzling or a confusion of sight.
- f (19:14) Or "who had married." The Hebrew can mean either; 19:8 says the daughters had not known a man, which suggests engagement.
- g (19:15) Hebrew awon, "iniquity," which also means its consequence, "punishment." The Septuagint reads "the iniquities of the city."
- h (19:17) The Hebrew has "he said." The Septuagint reads "they said," as do some other ancient versions.
- i (19:18) Or "my Lord." As in 18:3, the Hebrew vowels read "Lord" (Adonai), but the consonants allow "my lords."
- j (19:21) Literally "I have lifted up your face in this matter also," an idiom for granting a request.
- k (19:22) Zoar sounds like mits'ar, "a small thing" (19:20). Its earlier name was Bela (14:2).

- l (19:24) The repetition "Yahweh ... from Yahweh" is unusual. Some early Christian writers read it as two divine persons; others see a Hebrew way of saying "from himself."
- m (19:26) Jesus recalls this in Luke 17:32. The salt formations near the Dead Sea gave rise to local traditions about the pillar (Wisdom of Solomon 10:7; Josephus, Antiquities 1.203).
- n (19:31) Or "on the earth." The daughters may have thought the whole world had been destroyed.
- o (19:33) In the Masoretic Text the word "when she got up" carries a special scribal dot over one letter, an old mark of doubt or comment, found in only a handful of places in the Torah.
- p (19:37) Moab sounds like me'av, "from father." The Septuagint adds "saying, 'He is from my father.'"
- q (19:38) Ben-ammi means "son of my kin (or people)." The Septuagint reads Amman and adds "saying, 'Son of my family.'"

Chapter 20

1 Abraham moved on from there into the Negev country and lived between Kadesh and Shur. While he was staying as a foreigner in Gerar, 2 Abraham said of Sarah his wife, "She is my sister." So Abimelech[a] king of Gerar sent and took Sarah. 3 God came to Abimelech in a dream in the night and told him, "You are about to die because of the woman you have taken, for she is a man's wife."[b] 4 Now Abimelech had not come near her. He said, "Lord, will you kill a nation even though it is innocent?[c] 5 Was it not he who told me, 'She is my sister'?
And she too said, 'He is my brother.' I acted with an innocent heart[d] and guiltless hands." 6 God said to him in the dream, "Yes, I know that you did this with a heart of integrity, and I myself kept you from sinning against me. That is why I did not let you touch her. 7 Now give the man back his wife. He is a prophet;[e] he will pray on your behalf, and you will live. But if you do not give her back, be sure that you will die, you and everyone belonging to you." 8 Early next morning Abimelech summoned all his officials and told them everything, and the men were terrified. 9 Then Abimelech called Abraham and said to him, "What is this you have done to us? What offense have I committed against you, that you brought upon me and my kingdom a great sin? You have done to me deeds that should never be done." 10 And Abimelech said to Abraham, "What did you have in mind,[f] that you did this thing?" 11 Abraham said, "I thought, 'Surely there is no fear of God in this place, and they will kill me because of my wife.' 12 Besides, she really is my sister, the daughter of my father though not the daughter of my mother, and she became my wife. 13 When God caused me to wander[g] from my father's house, I said to her, 'This is the kindness you must show me: at every place we come to, say of me, "He is my brother."'" 14 Abimelech took sheep and cattle, with male and female servants, and gave them to Abraham; he also gave Sarah, his wife, back to him. 15 And Abimelech said, "Look, my land is before you. Settle wherever is good in your eyes." 16 To Sarah he said, "Look, I am giving your brother a thousand pieces of silver,[h] about 25 pounds. This is a covering of the eyes[i] for you in the sight of all who are with you, and with everyone you are set right."[j] 17 Then Abraham prayed to God, and God healed Abimelech, his wife, and his female slaves, so that they bore children. 18 For Yahweh had closed up every womb in the house of Abimelech because of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

Notes

- a (20:2) Abimelech means "my father is king." It may be a royal title as well as a name (compare 26:1).
- b (20:3) Literally "she is married to a husband (ba'al)."
- c (20:4) Literally "a righteous nation." Abimelech echoes Abraham's plea for Sodom (18:23–25). The Septuagint reads "a nation that sins in ignorance and is righteous."
- d (20:5) Literally "in the integrity of my heart."
- e (20:7) The first use of "prophet" (navi) in the Bible. Here the prophet's role is to pray for others.
- f (20:10) Literally "What did you see?"
- g (20:13) The Hebrew verb is plural, which might suggest "the gods made me wander." But Elohim, "God," is sometimes used with plural verbs, and Abraham may be speaking in terms a foreign king would understand.
- h (20:16) Hebrew "a thousand of silver," that is, a thousand shekels, about 25 pounds (11.5 kilograms), counting a shekel as about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); weight standards varied. The text keeps the literal "pieces of silver" and gives the weight alongside.
- i (20:16) The idiom is uncertain. It probably means the payment publicly clears Sarah's honor, so that others will "cover their eyes" to the matter. The Septuagint reads "the price of your face (or honor)."

- j (20:16) Or “you are vindicated” or “you are set right.” The Hebrew nokachat is difficult. The Septuagint reads “speak the truth in all things.”

Chapter 21

1 Yahweh visited[a] Sarah just as he had said; Yahweh did for Sarah exactly what he had promised. 2 Sarah conceived and bore Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time that God had told him. 3 Abraham called the name of his son who was born to him, whom Sarah bore him, Isaac. 4 And Abraham circumcised Isaac his son when he was eight days old, as God had commanded him. 5 Abraham was a hundred years old when Isaac his son was born to him. 6 Sarah said, “God has brought me laughter; all who hear of it will laugh with me.”[b] 7 And she said, “Who would have said to Abraham that Sarah would nurse children? Yet I have borne him a son in his old age.” 8 The child grew and was weaned, and on the day of Isaac’s weaning Abraham gave a great feast. 9 But Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, whom she had borne to Abraham, laughing.[c] 10 She said to Abraham, “Send away this slave woman and her son, for this slave woman’s son shall not share the inheritance with my son Isaac.” 11
The matter was very displeasing[d] to Abraham because of his son. 12 But God told Abraham, “Do not be troubled over the boy and your slave girl. Do whatever Sarah tells you, for your line will be traced through Isaac.[e] 13 But I will make a nation of the slave woman’s son too, since he is your offspring.” 14 Early next morning Abraham took bread and a skin of water and handed them to Hagar, setting them on her shoulder together with the child,[f] and sent her off. She left and roamed the wilderness of Beersheba. 15 When the skin ran dry, she left the child under a shrub.
16 She went and sat down at a distance, about a bowshot off, because she said, “Let me not look on the death of the child.” So she sat facing him, raised her voice, and wept.[g] 17 God heard the voice of the boy, and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven and said to her, “What troubles you, Hagar? Do not be afraid, for God has heard the voice of the boy where he is. 18 Up! Raise the boy and take a firm hold of him, for of him I will make a great nation.” 19 God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. She went, filled the water skin, and gave the boy a drink. 20 God stayed with the boy as he grew. He made his home in the wilderness and became a skilled archer.[h] 21 He lived in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother took a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

22 At that time Abimelech and Phicol the commander of his army[i] said to Abraham, "God is with you in all that you do. 23 So now swear to me here by God that you will not deal falsely with me or with my children or my descendants. As I have shown you loyal kindness, so you will show it to me and to the land where you have lived as a foreigner." 24 Abraham said, "I swear it." 25 Abraham rebuked Abimelech over a well that Abimelech's men had taken by force. 26 Abimelech answered, "I do not know who has done this. You never told me, and I heard of it only today." 27 So Abraham took sheep and cattle and gave them to Abimelech, and the two of them made a covenant. 28 Abraham set apart seven ewe lambs of the flock by themselves. 29 Abimelech asked Abraham, "Why have you put these seven ewe lambs off by themselves?" 30 He said, "Accept these seven ewe lambs from my hand, so that they will be my witness that I dug this well." 31 For this reason the place was named Beersheba,[j] because the two of them took an oath there. 32 After making a covenant at Beersheba, Abimelech and Phicol his army commander left and went back to Philistine country.[k] 33 Abraham planted a tamarisk tree[l] in Beersheba, and there he called on the name of Yahweh, El Olam.[m] 34 And Abraham lived as a foreigner in the land of the Philistines for many days.

Notes

- a (21:1) Hebrew paqad, "to visit," "to attend to," or "to take note of," often of God acting to keep a promise.
- b (21:6) Or "will laugh at me." The Hebrew can express shared joy or mocking surprise. The Septuagint reads "will rejoice with me."
- c (21:9) Hebrew metsacheq, from the root of Isaac's name. It can mean playing, laughing, or mocking (compare Galatians 4:29). The Septuagint adds "with Isaac her son," and Brenton renders the verb "sporting."
- d (21:11) Literally "evil in the eyes of Abraham, very."
- e (21:12) Literally "in Isaac seed will be called to you." Quoted in Romans 9:7 and Hebrews 11:18.

- f (21:14) The Hebrew order is unclear: either the food and water, or the boy too, are placed on her shoulder. Ishmael was then a teenager (16:16; 21:5). The Septuagint reads "he put the child on her shoulder."
- g (21:16) The Septuagint reads "and the child cried aloud and wept," which leads into 21:17, where God hears "the voice of the boy."
- h (21:20) The Hebrew rovah qashat is unusual, perhaps "a young bowman" or "one who shoots with the bow."
- i (21:22) The Septuagint adds "Ochozath his friend" (Ahuzzath) here and in 21:32, a name the Hebrew gives only in 26:26.
- j (21:31) Beersheba means both "well of seven" and "well of the oath," since the Hebrew words for "seven" and "swear" share a root. The Septuagint translates it "the Well of the Oath."
- k (21:32) The Philistines are known from records as arriving on this coast around 1200 BC. The name here may be used for earlier people of the same region, or it may update the name for later readers.
- l (21:33) Hebrew eshel, "tamarisk," a hardy tree of the Negev. Brenton's Septuagint reads "planted a field."
- m (21:33) Hebrew El Olam, "God of eternity" or "the Everlasting God."

Chapter 22

1 Some time afterward God put Abraham to the test.[a] "Abraham!" he called. "Here I am," Abraham answered. 2 God said, "Take your son, your one and only son,[b] Isaac, whom you love, and travel to the land of Moriah.[c] Offer him up as a burnt offering,[d] on one of the mountains that I will tell you." 3 So Abraham rose early in the morning, saddled his donkey, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son. He split the wood for the burnt offering, then got up and went to the place that God had told him. 4 On the third day Abraham looked up and saw the place far off. 5 Then Abraham said to his young men, "Stay here with the donkey. The boy and I will go over there. We will worship, and we will come back to you."[e] 6 Abraham took the wood for the burnt offering and laid it on Isaac his son. He took in his hand the fire[f] and the knife, and the two of them walked on together. 7 Isaac said to Abraham his father, "My father!" And he said, "Here I am, my son." He said, "Here is the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for a burnt offering?" 8 Abraham said, "God will see to[g] the lamb for a burnt offering himself, my son." And the two of them walked on together.

9 When they came to the place that God had told him, Abraham built the altar there and arranged the wood. He bound[h] Isaac his son and laid him on the altar, on top of the wood. 10 Then Abraham reached out his hand and took the knife to slaughter his son. 11 But the angel of Yahweh called to him from heaven and said, "Abraham, Abraham!"
And he said, "Here I am." 12 He said, "Do not lay your hand on the boy or do anything to him, for now I know that you fear God, since you have not held back your son, your only son, from me." 13 Abraham looked up, and there behind him[i] was a ram, caught by its horns in a thicket.[j] He went, took the ram, and offered it up as a burnt offering instead of his son. 14 So Abraham called the name of that place
"Yahweh Yireh,"[k] as it is said to this day, "On the mountain of Yahweh it will be seen."[l]
15 The angel of Yahweh called to Abraham a second time from heaven 16 and said, "I have sworn by myself, declares Yahweh: because you have done this thing and have not withheld your son, your only son, 17 I will richly bless you and make your descendants as countless as the stars in the sky and the sand along the shore. Your descendants will take hold of the gate[m] of their foes, 18 and in your offspring all the nations of the earth will be blessed,[n] because you have obeyed my voice." 19 Abraham went back to his young men; they rose and traveled together to Beersheba, and Abraham settled in Beersheba.
20 After these things Abraham was told, "Milcah too has borne children to your brother Nahor: 21 Uz his firstborn, Buz his brother, Kemuel the father of Aram, 22 Chesed, Hazo, Pildash, Jidlaph, and Bethuel." 23 Bethuel became the father of Rebekah.[o] These eight Milcah bore to Nahor, Abraham's brother. 24 His concubine, whose name was Reumah, also bore Tebah, Gaham, Tahash, and Maacah.

Notes

- a (22:1) Hebrew nissah, "tested" or "proved." The narrator tells the reader at the start that this is a test. Jewish tradition calls this chapter the Aqedah, "the Binding" (22:9). Compare Hebrews 11:17–19 and James 2:21–23.
- b (22:2) Hebrew yachid, "only" or "unique." Ishmael had been sent away, so Isaac was the only son left with Abraham and the only son of the promise. The Septuagint reads "the beloved one."

- c (22:2) 2 Chronicles 3:1 identifies Mount Moriah as the site of Solomon's temple in Jerusalem. The Septuagint reads "the high land." The name is linked by sound with ra'ah, "to see," which runs through the chapter (22:4, 8, 13, 14).
- d (22:2) Hebrew olah, literally "that which goes up," an offering wholly burned on the altar.
- e (22:5) The Hebrew verbs are plural: "we will come back." Hebrews 11:19 sees here Abraham's faith that God could raise the dead.
- f (22:6) Probably a pot of coals for lighting the altar fire.
- g (22:8) Literally "God will see for himself the lamb." In Hebrew "see to" means "provide." The phrase anticipates the name in 22:14.
- h (22:9) Hebrew aqad, used only here in the Bible, the source of the Jewish name for the passage.
- i (22:13) Hebrew achar, "behind." Some Hebrew manuscripts and several ancient versions read echad, "a (single) ram," which differs by one similar letter.
- j (22:13) The Septuagint takes the Hebrew word sevakh, "thicket," as a name: "a plant of Sabec."
- k (22:14) Hebrew Yahweh yir'eh, "Yahweh will see," that is, "Yahweh will provide" (compare 22:8). Brenton's Septuagint reads "The Lord hath seen."
- l (22:14) Or "On the mountain Yahweh will be seen (or will appear)," or "On the mountain of Yahweh it will be provided." The Hebrew can be vowelled several ways.
- m (22:17) The city gate stands for the city itself and its power. The Septuagint reads "the cities of their enemies."
- n (22:18) Or "will bless themselves" (compare 12:3). The verb form here differs from 12:3 and more naturally means "bless themselves." Acts 3:25 quotes it as a promise to all peoples.
- o (22:23) This note about Rebekah prepares for chapter 24.

Chapter 23

1 Sarah lived 127 years; these were the years of Sarah's life.[a] 2 Sarah died in Kiriath-arba[b] (Hebron) in Canaan, and Abraham came to lament over Sarah and to weep for her.
3 Then Abraham rose from beside his dead and spoke to the sons of Heth:[c] 4 "I am a foreigner and a resident among you.[d] Give me property among you for a burial place, so that I may bury my dead out of my sight." 5 The sons of Heth answered Abraham, 6 "Hear us, my lord. You are a mighty prince[e] among us. Bury your dead in the choicest of our tombs. None of us will withhold his tomb from you for burying your dead." 7 Abraham rose and bowed down to the people of the land, the sons of Heth. 8 He said to them, "If you are willing for me to bury my dead out of my sight, hear me and plead for me with Ephron son of Zohar, [9] to let me have the cave of Machpelah[f] that he owns, at the far end of his field. Let him sell it to me at full value here among you, to be mine as a burial site."

[10] Now Ephron was sitting among the sons of Heth, and Ephron the Hittite answered Abraham in the hearing of the sons of Heth, of all who went in at the gate of his city: [11] "No, my lord, hear me. I give you the field, and I give you the cave that is in it. In the sight of my people I give it to you. Bury your dead."[g] [12] Then Abraham bowed down before the people of the land. [13] and said to Ephron in the people's hearing, "Please, listen to me. I will pay for the field. Accept the money from me, so I can bury my dead there." [14] Ephron answered Abraham, [15] "My lord, hear me. A piece of land worth about ten pounds[h] of silver, what is that between you and me? Bury your dead." [16] Abraham agreed with Ephron and weighed out for him the silver he had named in the hearing of the sons of Heth, about ten pounds of silver by the merchants' standard weight.[i]

[17] So the field of Ephron in Machpelah, facing Mamre, the field with the cave in it and all the trees in the field throughout its whole boundary, passed [18] as Abraham's possession in the sight of the sons of Heth, in front of all who entered the gate of his city. [19] After this Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the cave of the field at Machpelah, opposite Mamre, that is, Hebron, in the land of Canaan. [20] The field and the cave in it passed from the sons of Heth to Abraham as property for a burial place.[j]

Notes

- a (23:1) Literally "The life of Sarah was one hundred years, and twenty years, and seven years; these were the years of Sarah's life." Sarah is the only woman in the Bible whose age at death is given.
- b (23:2) Kiriath-arba means "city of four," perhaps four clans or four settlements (compare Joshua 14:15). The Septuagint adds "which is in the valley."
- c (23:3) The sons of Heth (10:15) are a local Canaanite people, elsewhere called Hittites; they were probably not the same as the Hittite empire of Anatolia.
- d (23:4) Hebrew ger wetoshav, "a foreigner and a settler," someone living in the land without owning any of it. This burial cave becomes the first piece of the promised land Abraham owns.

- e (23:6) Literally “a prince of God,” a Hebrew way of saying “a very great prince.” The Septuagint reads “a king from God.”
- f (23:9) Machpelah may mean “double.” The Septuagint translates it “the double cave.” The traditional site is in Hebron.
- g (23:11) The courteous offer of a gift was part of the bargaining. Abraham insists on a purchase so that his ownership could not later be disputed.
- h (23:15) Hebrew “four hundred shekels of silver.” A shekel was a weight, not yet a coin; counting it as about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams), 400 shekels is about 10 pounds (4.6 kilograms). Weight standards varied from place to place and period to period. It was a very high price. The Septuagint reads “didrachms.”
- i (23:16) Hebrew “four hundred shekels of silver” (about 10 pounds, 4.6 kilograms; see the note on 23:15), literally “passing to the merchant,” silver of standard, accepted weight.
- j (23:20) The cave became the family tomb of Abraham, Isaac, Rebekah, Leah, and Jacob (25:9; 49:29–32; 50:13).

Chapter 24

1 Abraham was old, well along in years, and Yahweh had blessed Abraham in all things. 2 Abraham said to his servant, the oldest of his household, who managed all that he had, “Please put your hand under my thigh,[a] 3 and I will make you swear by Yahweh, the God of heaven and the God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I live, 4 but you will go to my country and to my relatives and take a wife for my son Isaac.” 5 The servant asked him, “What if the woman will not agree to come with me to this land? Should I then lead your son back to the country you left?” 6 Abraham said to him, “Be careful that you do not take my son back there. 7 Yahweh, the God of heaven, who took me from my father’s house and from the land of my birth, who pledged to me by oath, ‘To your offspring I will give this land’—he will send his angel before you, and you will take a wife for my son from there. 8 But if the woman will not agree to come with you, you will be released[b] from this oath to me. Just never lead my son back there.” 9 So the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master and swore to him concerning this matter.
10 The servant took ten of his master’s camels and left, with all sorts of fine gifts from his master in hand. He made his way to Aramnaharaim,[c] to Nahor’s city. 11 He made the camels kneel down outside the city by the well of water at evening, the time when the women go out to draw water. 12 And he said, "Yahweh, God of my master Abraham, please make things go well for me today, and show loyal love[d] to my master Abraham. 13 Look, I am standing by the spring of water, and the daughters of the men of the city are coming out to draw water. 14 Let the young woman to whom I say, 'Please lower your jar so that I may drink,' and who says, 'Drink, and I will water your camels too,' be the one you have appointed for your servant Isaac. By this I will know that you have shown loyal love to my master." 15 He had not yet finished speaking when Rebekah came out, with her jar on her shoulder. She was born to Bethuel son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother. 16 The young woman was very beautiful to look at, a virgin;[e] no man had known her. She went down to the spring, filled her jar, and came up. 17 The servant hurried to meet her and said, "Please give me a little sip of water from your jar." 18 "Drink, my lord," she said. She quickly let her jar down onto her hand and gave him water to drink. 19 When she had finished giving him a drink, she said, "I will draw for your camels too, until they have finished drinking." 20 She quickly tipped her jar out into the trough and hurried back to the well to draw more, drawing enough for every one of his camels.[f] 21 The man gazed at her in silence, waiting to learn whether Yahweh had made his journey successful or not.

22 When the camels were done drinking, the man brought out a gold nose ring weighing about a fifth of an ounce,[g] and for her arms two gold bracelets weighing about four ounces. 23 and said, "Whose daughter are you? Please tell me, is there room in your father's house for us to spend the night?" 24 She said to him, "I am the daughter of Bethuel son of Milcah, whom she bore to Nahor." 25 And she added, "There is ample straw and feed at our house, and a place to stay the night." 26 The man bowed his head and worshiped Yahweh, 27 and said, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of my master Abraham, who has not withdrawn his loyal love and his faithfulness[h] from my master. As for me, Yahweh has led me on the way to the house of my master's relatives."

28 Then the young woman ran and told her mother's household[i] about these things. 29 Rebekah had a brother whose name was Laban. Laban ran out to the man at the spring. 30 He had seen the nose ring and the bracelets on his sister's arms, and had heard Rebekah his sister tell what the man had said to her. So he went out to the man and found him still standing by the camels at the spring. 31 He said, "Come in, you who are blessed by Yahweh. Why are you standing outside? I have prepared the house and a place for the camels." 32 So the man came into the house. Laban[j] unloaded the camels and gave straw and fodder to the camels, and water to wash his feet and the feet of the men who were with him. 33 Then food was set before him to eat, but he said, "I will not eat until I have told my errand." He said, "Speak." 34 So he said, "I am Abraham's servant. 35 Yahweh has blessed my master richly, and he has grown wealthy. Yahweh has given him sheep and cattle, silver and gold, menservants and maidservants, camels and donkeys. 36 Sarah, my master's wife, bore my master a son after she had grown old,[k] and he has given him everything he owns.
37 My master made me take an oath: 'You shall not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, in whose land I am living, 38 but you shall go to the house of my father and to my family, and you shall take a wife for my son.' 39 I asked my master, 'What if the woman will not come with me?' 40 But he said to me, 'Yahweh, in whose presence I have walked, will send his angel with you and give you success on your journey. You will take a wife for my son from my family and from the house of my father. 41 You will be released from my oath[l] if you go to my kin; even if they refuse you, you will be released from my oath.' 42 "When I came to the spring today, I said, 'Yahweh, God of my master Abraham, if you are indeed making my journey successful, the journey I am on, 43 see, I am waiting here by the spring. When a young woman[m] comes out to draw, and I ask her, "Please give me a little water to drink from your jar," 44 and who says to me, "Drink, and I will draw for your camels too," let her be the woman whom Yahweh has appointed for my master's son.' 45 "Before I had finished speaking in my heart, there was Rebekah coming out with her jar on her shoulder.

She went down to the spring and drew water. I said to her, ‘Please let me drink.’ 46 She quickly lowered her jar from her shoulder and said, ‘Drink, and I will water your camels too.’ So I drank, and she watered the camels also. 47 Then I asked her, ‘Whose daughter are you?’ She said, ‘The daughter of Bethuel son of Nahor, whom Milcah bore to him.’ So I put the ring on her nose and the bracelets on her wrists. 48 I bowed my head and worshiped Yahweh. I blessed Yahweh, the God of my master Abraham, who had guided me along the way of truth to obtain the daughter of my master’s kinsman[n] for his son. 49 Now, if you are willing to deal with my master in loyal love and faithfulness, tell me; and if not, tell me, so that I may turn to the right hand or to
50 Then Laban and Bethuel[o] answered, “This thing comes from Yahweh. We cannot speak to you bad or good.[p] 51 Look, Rebekah is before you. Take her and go, and let her be the wife of your master’s son, as Yahweh has spoken.” 52 When Abraham’s servant heard what they said, he bowed to the ground before Yahweh. 53 Then the servant brought out objects of silver, objects of gold, and garments, and gave them to Rebekah; he also gave precious things to her brother and to her mother.
54 Then he and his companions ate and drank and stayed the night. In the morning when they rose, he said, “Let me go back to my master.” 55 Her brother and her mother said, “Let the young woman stay with us a few days, ten perhaps.[q] After that she may go.” 56 He said to them, “Do not hold me up, now that Yahweh has prospered my journey.
Send me off, so that I may go to my master.” 57 They answered, “We will call the girl and ask what she wants.”[r] 58 So they called Rebekah and said to her, “Will you go with this man?” She said, “I will go.” 59 So they sent away Rebekah their sister and her nurse,[s] with Abraham’s servant and his men. 60 They blessed Rebekah, saying to her, “Our sister, may you become thousands of myriads, and may your offspring take possession of the gate of those who hate them.” 61 Rebekah and her young women rose, rode on the camels, and followed after the man. Thus the servant took Rebekah and departed.

62 Now Isaac had come from[t] the way to Beer-lahai-roi, for he was living in the region of the Negev. 63 Isaac went out to walk[u] in the field toward evening. He looked up and saw camels coming. 64 Rebekah looked up, and when she saw Isaac, she slipped down from the camel 65 and asked the servant, "Who is that man walking in the field toward us?" The servant answered, "That is my master." She took her veil and covered herself with it. 66 The servant told Isaac all the things he had done. 67 Then Isaac brought her into the tent of Sarah his mother,[v] and he took Rebekah, and she became his wife, and he loved her. So Isaac was comforted after his mother's death.

Notes

- a (24:2) An oath gesture, found again in 47:29. "Thigh" may be a polite word for the reproductive organs, tying the oath to the family line and the covenant sign of circumcision.
- b (24:8) Literally "clean" or "innocent," released from guilt if the oath is not fulfilled.
- c (24:10) Aram-naharaim means "Aram of the two rivers," the region of the upper Euphrates. The Septuagint reads "Mesopotamia."
- d (24:12) Hebrew chesed, steadfast, loyal love within a relationship of commitment. The word is a key to this chapter (24:14, 27, 49).
- e (24:16) Hebrew betulah, a young woman of marriageable age; the clause that follows makes clear that she was a virgin. In 24:43 a different word, almah, "young woman," is used.
- f (24:20) A camel can drink a great deal after a journey. Drawing for ten camels was a heavy task, a sign of Rebekah's generosity and strength.
- g (24:22) Hebrew "a beka (half a shekel) its weight," about a fifth of an ounce (5.7 grams), and bracelets of "ten shekels of gold their weight," about 4 ounces (115 grams), counting a shekel as about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); weight standards varied. The Septuagint reads "golden earrings of a drachm weight." 24:47 makes clear the ring was for her nose.
- h (24:27) Hebrew chesed we'emet, "loyal love and faithfulness (or truth)," a pair often used of God (Exodus 34:6).
- i (24:28) Literally "her mother's house," perhaps the women's quarters, or a sign that her father was no longer living or not the head of the house. Bethuel is barely mentioned (but see 24:50).
- j (24:32) The Hebrew has only "he unloaded." Laban is the most likely subject, though some read it as the servant.
- k (24:36) Literally "after her old age." The Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to read "his old age."
- l (24:41) Hebrew alah, "curse," the curse that would fall on someone who broke an oath. The Septuagint reads "my curse."

- m (24:43) Hebrew almah, “young woman,” the word used in Isaiah 7:14. Here it describes Rebekah, whom 24:16 calls a virgin.
- n (24:48) Literally “brother.” Rebekah was the granddaughter of Abraham’s brother Nahor.
- o (24:50) The mention of Bethuel here is surprising, since elsewhere Laban and his mother act for the family (24:28, 53, 55). Some scholars think the name was added, or that it means another member of the household. Josephus says Bethuel was dead.
- p (24:50) An idiom meaning “We can say nothing at all against it.”
- q (24:55) Literally “days or ten,” an unusual phrase that may mean “a year or ten months,” or “a few days, about ten.” The Septuagint reads “about ten days.”
- r (24:57) Literally “ask her mouth.” The family seeks her consent.
- s (24:59) Deborah, according to 35:8. The Septuagint reads “her goods.”
- t (24:62) The Hebrew is awkward: literally “Isaac came from coming (to) Beer-lahai-roi.” The Septuagint reads “Isaac went through the wilderness to the well of the vision.” Beer-lahai-roi is the well where God met Hagar (16:14).
- u (24:63) Hebrew lasuach, a rare verb of uncertain meaning. Proposals include “to walk,” “to meditate,” “to pray,” and “to lament.” The Septuagint reads “to meditate,” and Jewish tradition took this as the origin of the afternoon prayer.
- v (24:67) The Hebrew reads “into the tent Sarah his mother,” which looks like a scribal gloss or shortened phrase. The sense is clear: Rebekah takes the place of honor that had been Sarah’s.

Chapter 25

1 Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah.[a] 2 She bore to him Zimran and Jokshan, Medan and Midian, Ishbak and Shuah.
3 Jokshan was the father of Sheba and of Dedan. The sons of Dedan were Asshurim, Letushim, and Leummim. 4 The sons of Midian[b] were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All these were the descendants of Keturah. 5 Abraham gave all that he had to Isaac. 6 But to the sons of his concubines[c] Abraham gave gifts during his lifetime, and he sent them off to the east country, away from his son Isaac.
7 These are the days of the years of Abraham’s life: 175 years. 8 Abraham breathed his last and died at a good old age, old and satisfied,[d] and he was gathered to his people.[e] 9 Isaac and Ishmael his sons buried him in the cave of Machpelah, in the field of Ephron son of Zohar the Hittite, facing Mamre, 10 the field that Abraham bought from the sons of Heth. There Abraham was buried, with Sarah his wife. 11 After the death of Abraham, God blessed Isaac his son. And Isaac settled near Beer-lahai-roi.

12 These are the generations[f] of Ishmael, Abraham's son, whom Hagar the Egyptian, Sarah's slave woman, bore to Abraham. 13 These are the names of Ishmael's sons, named in the order of their births: Nebaioth, Ishmael's firstborn; then Kedar, Adbeel, and Mibsam, 14 Mishma, Dumah, and Massa, 15 Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. 16 These are the sons of Ishmael, and these are their names, by their villages and their encampments,[g] twelve chieftains according to their tribes.[h] 17 Ishmael lived 137 years in all. Then he breathed his last and died and was gathered to his people. 18 His descendants lived in the territory from Havilah to Shur, which lies east of Egypt on the way to Assyria. He settled at odds with[i] all his kin.

19 These are the generations of Isaac, Abraham's son: Abraham fathered Isaac. 20 Isaac was forty years of age when he took Rebekah as wife—daughter of Bethuel the Aramean from Paddan-aram,[j] and sister of Laban the Aramean.

21 Isaac prayed to Yahweh for his wife, because she was barren.
Yahweh answered his prayer, and Rebekah his wife conceived. 22 The children struggled together[k] within her, and she said, "If it is like this, why am I alive?"[l] So she went to ask Yahweh. 23 Yahweh said to her, "Two nations are in your womb, and two peoples will separate from your body. One people will be stronger than the other, and the older will serve the younger."[m] 24 When her days to give birth were completed, there were twins in her womb. 25 The first came out red,[n] his whole body like a hairy cloak, so they called his name Esau.[o] 26 After this his brother emerged, his hand grasping the heel of Esau, and he was named Jacob.[p] Isaac was sixty years old at the time she bore them.

27 The boys grew, and Esau became a man skilled in hunting, a man of the field, but Jacob was a quiet man,[q] dwelling in tents. 28 Isaac favored Esau, for game was to his liking,[r] but Rebekah favored Jacob. 29 Once when Jacob was cooking stew, Esau came in from the open country, and he was exhausted. 30 Esau said to Jacob, "Please let me swallow some of the red stuff, this red stuff, for I am exhausted." Therefore he was named Edom.[s] 31 Jacob said, "First sell me your birthright."[t] 32 Esau said, "Look, I am about to die. What use is a birthright to me?" 33 Jacob said, "First give me your oath." So Esau gave his oath and sold Jacob his birthright. 34 Jacob gave Esau bread and a stew of lentils; he ate and drank, rose, and left. Thus Esau despised his birthright.[u]

Notes

- a (25:1) Or "had taken." The Hebrew does not say when this marriage took place; it may have been during Sarah's lifetime. 1 Chronicles 1:32 calls Keturah a concubine. Keturah may mean "incense," fitting her descendants' links with the Arabian incense trade.
- b (25:4) Midian became the ancestor of the Midianites, among whom Moses later lived and married (Exodus 2:15–22).
- c (25:6) Probably Hagar and Keturah.
- d (25:8) Hebrew zaqen wesave'a, "old and satisfied (or full)." The Septuagint reads "full of days," and some other ancient witnesses also add "of days," as in 35:29.
- e (25:8) An expression for joining one's ancestors in death, distinct from burial (25:9). It may reflect a belief in continued existence with one's forebears.
- f (25:12) Hebrew toledot, "generations" or "family history," the heading that divides Genesis into sections (2:4; 5:1; 6:9; 10:1; 11:10, 27; 25:12, 19).
- g (25:16) Hebrew tirah, a walled camp or circle of tents used by nomads.
- h (25:16) The twelve chieftains fulfill the promise of 17:20. Several names, such as Kedar, Tema, Dumah, and Nebaioth, are known from Assyrian and Arabian records as North Arabian tribes or oases.
- i (25:18) Or "to the east of" or "alongside," as in 16:12. The Hebrew literally reads "he fell upon the face of." The Septuagint reads "he dwelt in the presence of all his brothers."
- j (25:20) Paddan-aram probably means "field (or plain) of Aram," the area around Haran. The Septuagint reads "Syrian Mesopotamia."
- k (25:22) Hebrew ratsats, literally "crushed one another," a violent word. The Septuagint reads "leaped."
- l (25:22) Literally "If so, why this I?" The Hebrew is abrupt. It may mean "Why is this happening to me?" or "Why do I go on living?" The Syriac is reported to read "why do I live?"
- m (25:23) The Hebrew rav ya'avod tsa'ir is short and can be read either way: "the older will serve the younger" or, with poetic word order, "the older the younger will serve." Paul quotes the usual sense in Romans 9:12. The oracle concerns nations, Israel and Edom, as well as two brothers.
- n (25:25) Hebrew admoni, "reddish," a play on Edom (25:30).
- o (25:25) The name Esau is not explained in the text. "Hairy" (se'ar) plays on Seir, the hill country where Edom later lived (32:3).

- p (25:26) Jacob (Ya'aqov) sounds like aqev, "heel." The name may mean "may God protect," but here it is linked with grasping the heel, and later with supplanting (27:36).
- q (25:27) Hebrew tam, the word used of Job (Job 1:1), usually meaning "blameless" or "whole." Here it may mean "mild," "settled," or "civilized," in contrast with the hunter. The Septuagint reads "a simple man."
- r (25:28) Literally "because game was in his mouth."
- s (25:30) Edom means "red." The Hebrew repeats "the red, this red," showing Esau's hungry haste.
- t (25:31) The birthright was the firstborn son's right to a double share of the inheritance and to leadership of the family (Deuteronomy 21:17).
- u (25:34) Hebrews 12:16 uses this scene as a warning against treating holy things lightly.

Chapter 26

1 Now a famine came upon the land, another besides the first famine in Abraham's days. And Isaac went to Gerar, to Abimelech, king of the Philistines.[a] 2 There Yahweh showed himself to Isaac and said, "Do not go down into Egypt. Stay in the land I name to you. 3 Live as a sojourner in this land, and I will be with you and will bless you. To you and your descendants I will give all these territories, and I will carry out the oath I swore to your father Abraham. 4 I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars of heaven and grant to them all these territories, and through your descendants every nation on earth will find blessing,[b] 5 since Abraham listened to my voice and kept what I entrusted to him: my commands, my decrees, and my teachings."[c] 6 So Isaac lived on in Gerar. 7 The local men asked about his wife, and he told them, "She is my sister." He was afraid to call her his wife, for he thought, "The men here may kill me to get Rebekah," because she was lovely to look at. 8 After he had lived there many days, Abimelech king of the Philistines happened to look down through a window, and there was Isaac fondling[d] his wife Rebekah. 9 Abimelech summoned Isaac and said, "She is your wife, then! Why did you tell us, 'She is my sister'?" Isaac answered, "I thought I would lose my life on her account." 10 Abimelech said, "What have you done to us? Any one of the people could soon have slept with your wife, and you would have laid guilt upon us." 11 Then Abimelech gave an order to all the people:

"Anyone who lays a hand on this man or on his wife shall be put to death."
12 Isaac planted crops in that land, and that same year he harvested a hundredfold,[e] because Yahweh blessed him. 13 He grew great, and went on growing greater, until he was a man of great wealth. 14 He owned sheep and cattle and many servants, and the Philistines grew jealous of him. 15 All the wells that his father's servants had dug back in Abraham's lifetime, the Philistines had blocked and filled up with dirt. 16 Abimelech told Isaac, "Leave us. You have grown far too strong for us."
17 So Isaac left and pitched his tents in the Gerar valley[f] and lived there.
18 Isaac dug again the wells that had been dug in the days of his father Abraham, which the Philistines had blocked after Abraham's death, and he called them by the names his father had called them. 19 Isaac's servants dug in the valley and struck a spring of running water,[g] 20 but the shepherds of Gerar argued with Isaac's shepherds and said, "This water belongs to us." So he named the well Esek,[h] because they had disputed with him. 21 They dug a second well, and there was a dispute about it too, so he named it Sitnah.[i] 22 He moved away from there and dug yet another well, and nobody argued about it. He named it Rehoboth,[j] and said, "At last Yahweh has given us space, and we shall flourish in this land." 23 From there he went up to Beersheba. 24 That night Yahweh appeared to him and said, "I am the God of your father Abraham. Have no fear, for I am at your side. Because of my servant Abraham I will bless you and make your descendants many." 25 Isaac built an altar in that place and called upon the name of Yahweh. He set up his tent there, and his servants began digging a well.
26 Then Abimelech came to him from Gerar, together with Ahuzzath his counselor[k] and Phicol, the general of his army. 27 Isaac asked them, "Why have you come to me? You hated me and drove me away from you." 28 They answered, "We can see plainly that Yahweh is with you.
So we thought there should be a sworn agreement between us and you. Let us make a covenant with you 29 that you will do us no wrong, since we did not lay a hand on you, and we treated you only well, and let you go in peace. Now Yahweh has blessed you." 30 Isaac prepared a feast for them, and they ate and drank. 31 Early the next morning they swore oaths to each other. Then Isaac let them go, and they left him in peace. 32 On that same day Isaac's servants came with news of the well they had been digging. "We have struck water,"[l] they told him. 33 He named it Shibah;[m] and so the town is called Beersheba even now. 34 When Esau was forty, he married Judith, daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Basemath, daughter of Elon the Hittite.[n] 35 These women brought grief[o] to Isaac and Rebekah.

Notes

- a (26:1) On the Philistines in the time of the patriarchs, see the note on 21:32. This Abimelech may be a successor of the king in chapter 20, since the name may be a royal title (see the note on 20:2).
- b (26:4) Or "will bless themselves," as in 22:18.
- c (26:5) Four words for God's instruction, the last being torah, "law" or "teaching." The verse describes Abraham as faithful long before the Law of Moses was given.
- d (26:8) Hebrew metsacheq, from the same root as Isaac's name ("he laughs"), here meaning the affectionate play of husband and wife. Brenton's Septuagint reads "sporting with Rebecca his wife."
- e (26:12) Literally "found a hundred measures." Brenton's Septuagint reads "found in that year barley an hundred-fold," which reflects the Hebrew word for "measures" (she'arim) read with different vowels as "barley" (se'orim).
- f (26:17) Hebrew nachal, a stream valley that may be dry except in the rainy season (a wadi).
- g (26:19) Literally "living water," that is, water flowing from a spring.
- h (26:20) Esek means "contention" or "dispute." Brenton's Septuagint translates the name "Injury."
- i (26:21) Sitnah means "hostility" or "accusation," from the same root as satan, "adversary." Brenton's Septuagint translates it "Enmity."
- j (26:22) Rehoboth means "wide places" or "room." Brenton's Septuagint translates it "Room."
- k (26:26) Literally "his friend," probably a title for a royal counselor. Brenton notes a sense like "he that gives away in marriage," that is, the king's groomsman.
- l (26:32) Brenton's Septuagint reads "We have not found water." The Hebrew lo, "to him," sounds the same as lo, "not," and was evidently read that way.
- m (26:33) Shibah means "oath" or "seven" (compare 21:31). Brenton's Septuagint translates it "Oath" and the city "the Well of Oath."
- n (26:34) Brenton notes that Codex Alexandrinus reads "Hivite" here. The lists of Esau's wives in 28:9 and 36:2–3 give partly different names.

- o (26:35) Literally “they were bitterness of spirit to Isaac and to Rebekah.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “they were provoking to Isaac and Rebecca.”

Chapter 27

1 Isaac was old, and his eyes had grown dim so that he could not see.
He summoned Esau, the elder of his two sons. “My son,” he said. And Esau answered, “I am here.” 2 Isaac said, “I am an old man now, and I cannot tell when I will die. 3 So take your hunting gear,[a] your quiver and bow, go out into the countryside, and bring down some game for me. 4 Then cook me a savory dish of the kind I like and bring it for me to eat, so that I may give you my own blessing[b] before my death.” 5 Rebekah was listening as Isaac talked with his son Esau. So when Esau had gone off into the countryside to hunt game and bring it home, 6 Rebekah spoke to her son Jacob: “Now I heard your father speak to Esau your brother, and he said, 7 ‘Bring me some game and cook me a savory dish to eat, and I will bless you in the presence of Yahweh before I die.’ 8 So now, my son, do exactly what I tell you. 9 Go out to the flock and fetch me two fine young goats, and I will make them into a savory dish for your father, just as he likes it. 10 Then take it in to your father for him to eat, so that he will bless you before his death.” 11 Jacob answered his mother Rebekah, “But my brother Esau is a hairy man, and my skin is smooth. 12 What if my father touches me? I will look like a trickster[c] to him, and I will bring a curse upon myself instead of a blessing.” 13 His mother said to him, “Your curse be upon me, my son; only obey my voice, and go, fetch them for me.” 14 So he went and fetched them and brought them to his mother, and she cooked a savory dish the way his father liked it. 15 Then Rebekah took the finest garments of Esau, her elder son, which she kept at home, and dressed Jacob, her younger son, in them. 16 She covered his hands and the smooth skin of his neck with the goatskins, 17 and she handed her son Jacob the savory dish and the bread she had baked.
18 Jacob went in to his father and said, “Father.” And he answered, “I am here. Which of my sons are you?” 19 Jacob told his father, “I am Esau, your firstborn. I have done what you asked of me. Rise, please; sit and eat from what I hunted, and then bless me.” 20 Isaac asked his son, “How did you find it so fast, my son?” He answered, “Yahweh your God sent it my way.” 21 Then Isaac said to Jacob, “Come close, my son, and let me touch you, to learn whether you truly are my son Esau.” 22 Jacob stepped up to Isaac his father. Isaac felt him and said, “The voice is Jacob’s voice, but the hands are Esau’s hands.” 23 He did not know him, for his hands were hairy like his brother Esau’s hands; and so he blessed him.[d] 24 “Are you truly my son Esau?” he asked. And Jacob said, “I am.” 25 Isaac said, “Serve it to me, and let me eat my son’s game, so that I may give you my blessing.” Jacob served it to him and he ate, and he brought him wine and he drank. 26 Then his father Isaac told him, “Come here, my son, and kiss me.” 27 Jacob drew near and kissed him. Isaac smelled the fragrance of his clothing, and he blessed him, saying, “Ah, the scent of my son is like the scent of a field Yahweh has blessed.[e] 28 May God grant you dew from the sky and the fat of the land, with grain and new wine[f] in plenty. 29 May peoples be your servants and nations bow low to you. Rule over your brothers; may your mother’s sons bow low to you. A curse on all who curse you, and a blessing on all who bless you!”

30 No sooner had Isaac ended the blessing, and Jacob barely stepped out from before his father, than Esau his brother came in from hunting. 31 He also cooked a savory dish and brought it in to his father. He said to him, “Sit up, Father, and eat some of your son’s game, so that you may give me your blessing.” 32 His father Isaac asked him, “Who are you?” He answered, “I am Esau, your son, your firstborn.” 33 Isaac was seized with violent trembling[g] and said, “Then who was it that hunted game and brought it to me? I ate it all before you arrived, and I blessed him. And blessed he shall remain!” 34 When Esau heard the words of his father, he cried out, a great and exceedingly bitter cry, and said to his father, “Bless me, me also, my father!” 35 But Isaac said, “Your brother came here by trickery and has carried off your blessing.” 36 Esau said, “Is he not rightly named Jacob?[h] He has cheated me these two times: he took my birthright, and now look, he has taken my blessing.”[i] Then he asked, “Have you not reserved a blessing for me?” 37 Isaac answered Esau, “I have made him your master. I have given him all his relatives as servants, and I have supported him with grain and new wine. So what is there for me to do for you, my son?” 38 Esau said to his father, “Do you have just one blessing, Father? Bless me as well, Father, bless me too!” And Esau wept aloud.[j] 39 Then his father Isaac answered him: “Far from the fat of the land shall your home be, and far from the dew of the sky above.[k] 40 You shall live by the sword and serve your brother; but when you break free,[l] you shall shake his yoke off your neck.” 41 From then on Esau hated Jacob because of the blessing his father had given him, and he said to himself, “The time of mourning for my father is not far off; after that I will kill my brother Jacob.” 42 Someone told Rebekah what her elder son Esau had said. So she sent for Jacob, her younger son, and told him, “Your brother Esau is consoling himself with the thought of killing you. 43 So, my son, do what I tell you. Leave at once and run to my brother Laban in Haran. 44 Live with him for a time, until your brother’s rage cools, 45 until his anger against you passes and he forgets what you did to him. Then I will send word and bring you back. Why should I be robbed of you both on a single day?”[m] 46 Then Rebekah said to Isaac, “I am weary of my life because of the daughters of Heth.[n] If Jacob takes a wife from the daughters of Heth, like these, from the daughters of the land, my life will not be worth living.”

Notes

- a (27:3) Hebrew keli, “equipment” or “weapons.” The word for “quiver” (teli) is found only here in the Bible; its meaning rests on ancient tradition.
- b (27:4) “My soul” (nephesh) means “I myself,” with the sense of a full and deliberate blessing. In the ancient world a dying father’s blessing was held to be binding.
- c (27:12) Or “a deceiver,” or “one who makes a fool of him.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “as one ill-intentioned.”
- d (27:23) This line may summarize the outcome before the blessing itself is given in 27:27–29.
- e (27:27) Brenton’s Septuagint reads “the smell of an abundant field.”
- f (27:28) Hebrew tirosh, freshly pressed wine. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “abundance of corn and wine,” using “corn” in the older British sense of grain.
- g (27:33) Literally “trembled a great trembling, to excess.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “was amazed with very great amazement.”
- h (27:36) Jacob (Ya’aqov) sounds like the verb aqav, “to grab by the heel,” “to overreach,” or “to supplant.” Compare 25:26 and Jeremiah 9:4.

- i (27:36) A wordplay in Hebrew: bekhorah, “birthright,” and berakhah, “blessing.”
- j (27:38) Brenton’s Septuagint adds “And Isaac being troubled” before Esau weeps; Brenton notes that these words are not in the Hebrew.
- k (27:39) Or “Look, of the richness of the earth will be your dwelling, and of the dew of heaven above.” The Hebrew preposition min can mean “away from” or “a share of.” The words echo 27:28, but the sense is probably the reverse: Edom’s land would be dry. Brenton’s Septuagint takes the second sense: “of the fatness of the earth.”
- l (27:40) The Hebrew verb (rud) is uncertain; it may mean “roam free,” “grow restless,” or “break loose.” Compare 2 Kings 8:20–22, where Edom revolts from Judah. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “there shall be a time when thou shalt break and loosen his yoke.”
- m (27:45) That is, Jacob killed by Esau, and Esau then condemned for murder (9:6) or driven away as a fugitive.
- n (27:46) The sons of Heth were a local Canaanite people (10:15; 23:3). Esau’s Hittite wives are named in 26:34–35.

Chapter 28

1 Then Isaac called Jacob, blessed him, and commanded him, “You must not take a wife from the Canaanite women. 2 Get up, go to Paddan-aram, to the house of Bethuel your mother’s father, and take a wife from there, from the daughters of Laban your mother’s brother.
3 May El Shaddai[a] bless you and give you many children and increase your number, until you grow into a gathering of peoples.[b] 4 May he give the blessing of Abraham to you and to your offspring with you, so that you may possess the land where you are living as a foreigner, which God gave to Abraham.” 5 So Isaac sent Jacob away, and he went to Paddan-aram, to Laban son of Bethuel the Aramean, the brother of Rebekah, mother of Jacob and Esau.
6 Esau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and dispatched him to Paddanaram to take himself a wife from there, and that in blessing him he had charged him, “You shall not take a wife from the daughters of Canaan,” 7 and that Jacob had heeded his father and mother and had set out for Paddan-aram. 8 Esau understood that his father Isaac took no pleasure in the daughters of Canaan. 9 Esau went to Ishmael and took as his wife, in addition to the wives he had, Mahalath[c] the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham’s son, the sister of Nebaioth.

10 Jacob left Beersheba and went toward Haran. 11 He reached a certain placed and spent the night there, for the sun had gone down. Taking one of the stones of that place, he put it under his head and lay down there to sleep. 12 He dreamed, and there was a stairwaye resting on the earth, with its top touching heaven; and the angels of God were ascending and descending on it.f 13 And there was Yahweh, standing above it,g and he said, "I am Yahweh, the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. To you and to your offspring I will give the land on which you are lying. 14 Your offspring will be as the dust of the earth, and you will spread abroad to the west, to the east, to the north, and to the south; and in you and in your offspring all the families of the earth will be blessed.h 15 Look, I am with you and will keep you wherever you go, and will bring you back to this land. For I will not leave you until I have done what I have promised you." 16 Jacob awoke out of his sleep and said, "Yahweh is truly here, in this very place, and I was not aware of it!" 17 He was afraid and said, "How awesome is this place! This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven." 18 Jacob rose early in the morning, took the stone that he had put under his head, set it up as a standing stone,i and poured oil on top of it. 19 He called the name of that place Bethel,j but the name of the city was Luz at first.k 20 Then Jacob made a vow, saying, "If God will be with me and keep me on this road that I am traveling, and give me bread to eat and clothing to wear, 21 so that I come back in peace to my father's house, then Yahweh will be my God,l 22 and this stone that I have set up as a standing stone shall be a house of God; and of everything you give me, I will surely give you a tenth."

Notes

- a (28:3) Traditionally "God Almighty"; see the note on El Shaddai at 17:1. Brenton's Septuagint reads "my God."
- b (28:3) Hebrew qehal ammim. Qahal, "assembly," is later used of Israel gathered for worship. Brenton's Septuagint reads "gatherings of nations."
- c (28:9) Called Basemath in 36:3. Brenton's Septuagint spells the name "Maeleth."
- d (28:11) Literally "the place," perhaps implying a known holy site. The word returns again and again in this story.

- e (28:12) Hebrew sullam, found only here. It may mean a ladder, or a ramp or stairway like those on ancient temple towers (compare 11:4). Brenton's Septuagint reads "ladder."
- f (28:12) Or "on him," that is, on Jacob; the Hebrew can mean either. Jesus alludes to this verse in John 1:51.
- g (28:13) Or "standing beside him." Brenton's Septuagint reads "the Lord stood upon it."
- h (28:14) Or "will bless themselves." See the note on 12:3. Brenton's Septuagint reads "all the tribes of the earth."
- i (28:18) Hebrew matsevah, a standing stone set up as a memorial or to mark a holy place. Later law forbade such pillars when they were tied to the worship of other gods (Deuteronomy 16:22).
- j (28:19) Bethel means "house of God." Brenton's Septuagint translates the name: "the House of God."
- k (28:19) Brenton's Septuagint joins the Hebrew words for "but Luz" (ulam luz) into one name: "the name of the city before was Ulam-luz."
- l (28:21) Or "and if Yahweh will be my God, then this stone…" The Hebrew can be divided so that the vow's condition runs through this clause.

Chapter 29

1 Then Jacob went on his journey[a] and came to the land of the people of the east. 2 As he looked, he saw a well out in the open country, and three flocks of sheep were resting near it, because the flocks drank from that well. A great stone covered its opening. 3 The shepherds would wait until every flock had come together there. Then they rolled the stone off the opening, watered the sheep, and set the stone back over the well. 4 Jacob said to them, "My brothers, where are you from?" They said, "We are from Haran." 5 He said to them, "Do you know Laban the son of Nahor?"[b] They said, "We know him." 6 He said to them, "Is it well with him?"[c] They said, "It is well. And look, here comes Rachel his daughter with the sheep." 7 He said, "The sun is still high, and it is too early to bring the animals in. Give the sheep water, then take them back out to graze." 8 They said, "We are not able until all the flocks have been gathered together and the stone has been rolled off the mouth of the well; then we water the sheep." 9 While he was still speaking with them, Rachel came with her father's sheep, for she was a shepherdess. 10 When Jacob saw Rachel, daughter of Laban his mother's brother, with the flock of Laban his mother's brother, he stepped forward and rolled the stone from the well's opening, and he watered the sheep of Laban, brother of his mother. 11 Then Jacob kissed Rachel and lifted up his voice and wept. 12 Jacob told Rachel that he was her father's relative,[d] and that he was Rebekah's son, and she ran and told her father. 13 When Laban heard that Jacob, his sister's son, had come, he hurried out to him, threw his arms around him, kissed him, and took him home. Jacob told Laban everything that had happened, 14 and Laban said to him, "Surely you are my bone and my flesh!" And he stayed with him a month.[e]

15 Laban said to Jacob, "Is it because you are my kinsman that you must serve me for nothing? Tell me, what shall your wages be?" 16 Now Laban had two daughters. The name of the older was Leah, and the name of the younger was Rachel. 17 Leah's eyes were tender,[f] but Rachel was beautiful in form and beautiful to look at.[g] 18 Jacob loved Rachel, and he said, "I will serve you seven years for Rachel your younger daughter." 19 Laban said, "It is better that I give her to you than give her to another man. Stay with me." 20 So Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and they seemed to him but a few days because of his love for her. 21 Then Jacob said to Laban, "Give me my wife, for my time is completed, so that I may go in to her." 22 So Laban gathered all the people of the place and made a feast. 23 In the evening he took his daughter Leah and brought her to Jacob, and Jacob went in to her.[h] 24 Laban gave Zilpah, his slave woman, to his daughter Leah to be her slave woman. 25 When morning came, behold, it was Leah! So Jacob said to Laban, "What is this that you did to me? Was it not for Rachel that I served you? Why have you deceived me?"[i] 26 Laban said, "It is not done in our place to give the younger before the firstborn. 27 Finish this one's bridal week,[j] and then we will give you the younger one as well, for another seven years of work for me." 28 Jacob agreed. He finished out Leah's week, and Laban gave him his daughter Rachel to be his wife. 29 Laban gave Bilhah, his slave woman, to his daughter Rachel to be her slave woman. 30 Jacob lay with Rachel too, and he loved her more than Leah. He stayed and worked for Laban another seven years.

31 When Yahweh saw that Leah was unloved,[k] he opened her womb, but Rachel was barren. 32 Leah conceived and bore a son, and she called his name Reuben,[l] for she said, "Because Yahweh has looked on my affliction; surely now my husband will love me." 33 She conceived again and bore a son, and said, "Because Yahweh has heard that I am unloved, he has given me this son also." And she called his name Simeon.[m] 34 Again she conceived and bore a son, and said, "Now this time my husband will be joined to me, because I have borne him three sons." Therefore his name was called Levi.[n] 35 And she conceived again and bore a son, and said, "This time I will praise Yahweh." Therefore she called his name Judah.[o] Then she stopped bearing.

Notes

- a (29:1) Literally "Jacob lifted up his feet." Brenton gives the Greek in his note as "having lifted up his feet, went."
- b (29:5) "Son" here means descendant; Laban was Nahor's grandson (24:29).
- c (29:6) Literally "Is there peace (shalom) to him?"
- d (29:12) Literally "brother." Jacob was Laban's nephew.
- e (29:14) Literally "a month of days." Brenton's note gives the Greek the same way; his text reads "a full month."
- f (29:17) Hebrew rakkot, "tender," "soft," or "weak." It may be praise (gentle eyes) or a contrast with Rachel's beauty. Brenton's Septuagint reads "weak." The names Leah and Rachel may mean "wild cow" and "ewe."
- g (29:17) Literally "beautiful of form and beautiful of appearance."
- h (29:23) The bride was probably veiled (compare 24:65), and the evening dark.
- i (29:25) Hebrew rimmitani, from the same root as the "deceit" (mirmah) by which Jacob took Esau's blessing (27:35). The deceiver is deceived.
- j (29:27) The wedding feast lasted seven days (compare Judges 14:12).
- k (29:31) Literally "hated," a Hebrew way of saying "loved less" (compare 29:30; Deuteronomy 21:15; Malachi 1:2–3). Brenton's Septuagint reads "hated."
- l (29:32) Reuben sounds like re'u ben, "See, a son!" and like Leah's words ra'ah be'onyi, "he has looked on my affliction."
- m (29:33) Simeon sounds like shama, "he has heard."
- n (29:34) Levi sounds like yillaweh, "he will be joined."
- o (29:35) Judah sounds like odeh, "I will praise."

Chapter 30

1 When Rachel saw that she bore Jacob no children, Rachel envied her sister. She said to Jacob, "Give me children, or else I am dead!"[a] 2 Jacob's anger burned against Rachel, and he said, "Am I in the place of God, who has kept from you the fruit of the womb?" 3 She said, "Here is Bilhah, my servant. Sleep with her, and let her bear children upon my knees,[b] so that through her I too may be built up with children.[c]" 4 So she gave him Bilhah her slave woman as a wife, and Jacob went in to her. 5 Bilhah conceived and bore Jacob a son. 6 Then Rachel said, "God has judged me, and he has also heard my voice and given me a son." Therefore she called his name Dan.[d] 7 Bilhah, Rachel's slave woman, conceived again and bore Jacob a second son. 8 Rachel said, "I have struggled with mighty wrestlings[e] against my sister, and I have prevailed." So she named him Naphtali. 9 When Leah saw that she had stopped bearing, she took Zilpah her slave woman and gave her to Jacob as a wife. 10 Then Zilpah, Leah's slave woman, bore Jacob a son. 11 Leah said, "Fortune has come!"[f] and she named him Gad. 12 Zilpah, Leah's slave woman, bore Jacob a second son. 13 Leah said, "What joy is mine! The women will count me blessed." And she named him Asher.[g]

14 In the days of wheat harvest Reuben went out and found mandrakes[h] in the field and brought them to Leah his mother. Then Rachel said to Leah, "Please give me some of your son's mandrakes." 15 Leah answered her, "Was it not enough that you took my husband? Now will you take my son's mandrakes as well?" Rachel replied, "Very well, he will sleep with you tonight, and your son's mandrakes will be the price." 16 When Jacob came in from the field in the evening, Leah went out to meet him and said, "You must come in to me, for I have hired you with my son's mandrakes." So he lay with her that night. 17 God listened to Leah, and she conceived and bore Jacob a fifth son. 18 Leah said, "God has given me my wages, because I gave my slave woman to my husband." So she called his name Issachar.[i] 19 Leah conceived again and bore Jacob a sixth son. 20 Leah said, "God has given me a fine dowry. This time my husband will hold me in honor,[j] since I have given him six sons." And she named him Zebulun. 21 Afterward she bore a daughter and called her name Dinah.[k] 22 Then God remembered Rachel. God listened to her and opened her womb. 23 She conceived and bore a son and said, "God has taken away my disgrace." 24 And she called his name Joseph,[l] saying, "May Yahweh add to me another son!" 25 After Rachel had borne Joseph, Jacob said to Laban, "Send me away, so that I may go to my own place and my own country. 26 Give me my wives and my children, for whom I have served you, and let me go, for you know the service I have given you." 27 But Laban answered, "If you look on me with kindness, stay. I have seen by the signs[m] that Yahweh has blessed me for your sake." 28 He said, "Name your wages, and I will give it." 29 He answered, "You yourself know how I served you and how your livestock fared under my care. 30 The little you had before I came has grown into a multitude, and Yahweh has blessed you wherever I set foot.[n] But now, when shall I do something for my own house as well?" 31 He said, "What shall I give you?" Jacob said, "You shall not give me anything. If you will do this one thing for me, I will again pasture your flock and keep it. 32 Today I will go through all your flocks and take out of them each sheep that is speckled or spotted, each dark lamb, and each goat that is spotted or speckled. Those will be my pay.[o] 33 In time to come my honesty will speak for me. Whenever you come to check my pay, any goat among mine that is not speckled or spotted, and any lamb that is not dark, you may count as stolen." 34 "Agreed," said Laban. "It will be just as you say." 35 That same day Laban set apart the male goats that were streaked and spotted, and all the female goats that were speckled and spotted, every one with white in it, and every dark one among the lambs, and he placed them in the care of his sons. 36 He set three days' travel between himself and Jacob; and Jacob went on shepherding what remained of Laban's flocks. 37 Jacob cut green branches of poplar, almond, and plane tree,[p] and stripped the bark in white stripes, laying bare the white wood beneath. 38 Then he placed the stripped branches in the drinking troughs, facing the flocks, at the places where the flocks came for water. The animals bred when they came to drink, 39 the flocks mated in front of the rods, and the flocks bore young that were striped, speckled, and spotted.[q] 40 Jacob separated the lambs, and set the faces of the flocks toward the striped and all the dark in the flock of Laban. He put his own flocks apart and did not put them with Laban's flock. 41 Whenever the stronger of the flock were mating, Jacob would lay the rods in the troughs before the eyes of the flock, so that they would mate among the rods, 42 but for the feebler of the flock he would not put them there. So the feebler were Laban's, and the stronger Jacob's.[r] 43 Thus the man grew exceedingly rich, and had large flocks, female and male servants, camels, and donkeys.

Notes

- a (30:1) Literally "if not, I am dying." Rachel later dies giving birth to her second son (35:16–19).
- b (30:3) A rite of adoption or of claiming the child as one's own (compare 48:12; 50:23).
- c (30:3) Literally "I will be built," a play on ben, "son." See the note on 16:2.
- d (30:6) Dan sounds like dan, "he has judged" or "vindicated." Brenton's Septuagint reads "God has given judgment for me."
- e (30:8) Literally "wrestlings of God," a Hebrew way of saying "mighty wrestlings" (compare the note on 23:6). Naphtali sounds like niphtalti, "I have wrestled." Brenton's Septuagint reads "God has helped me, and I contended with my sister and prevailed."
- f (30:11) The written Hebrew reads begad, "with good fortune"; the Masoretic reading tradition divides it as ba gad, "good fortune has come." Gad was also the name of a god of fortune (Isaiah 65:11). Brenton's Septuagint reads "It is happily."
- g (30:13) Asher sounds like ashrei, "happy" or "blessed." Brenton's Septuagint reads "I am blessed, for the women will pronounce me blessed."
- h (30:14) Hebrew duda'im, a plant whose root and fruit were believed to help conception; the name sounds like dodim, "love." Brenton's Septuagint reads "apples of mandrakes" and dates this to "the day of barley-harvest."
- i (30:18) Issachar sounds like sakhar, "wages" or "hire" (30:16). Brenton's Septuagint explains the name: "Issachar, which is, Reward."
- j (30:20) Or "will dwell with me." Zebulun sounds like both zebed, "gift," and zabal, a rare verb meaning "honor" or "dwell." Brenton's Septuagint reads "my husband will choose me."
- k (30:21) Dinah's name, from the same root as Dan, is not explained. Her story is told in chapter 34.
- l (30:24) Joseph sounds like both asaph, "he has taken away" (30:23), and yoseph, "may he add."
- m (30:27) Or "I have grown rich." Hebrew nichashti usually means "I have practiced divination" (compare 44:5). Brenton's Septuagint reads "I would augur well."
- n (30:30) Literally "at my foot." Brenton notes that both the Greek and the Hebrew literally read "at my foot."

- o (30:32) In that region sheep were usually white and goats dark, so the speckled, spotted, and dark animals would have been few. Brenton's Septuagint has Jacob take "every grey sheep among the rams" together with the speckled and spotted goats.
- p (30:37) The trees cannot be identified with certainty. Hebrew livneh, "poplar," sounds like lavan, "white," and like Laban's name; the wordplay runs through the passage. Brenton's Septuagint reads "storax tree and walnut and plane-tree."
- q (30:39) Ancient herders believed that what a mother saw at mating could mark her young. Jacob later credits the result to God, not to his own method (31:9–12).
- r (30:42) The meaning of "stronger" and "feebler" is uncertain; they may refer to sturdy and weak animals or to animals breeding at different seasons. Brenton notes that the Septuagint, by making the birthing time the reason, has "obscured the passage."

Chapter 31

1 Word reached Jacob that Laban's sons were complaining, "Jacob has seized everything our father owned. Out of our father's goods he has built up all these riches."[a] 2 And Jacob saw that Laban's face was not toward him as it had been before.[b] 3 Then Yahweh said to Jacob, "Return to the land of your fathers and to your relatives, and I will be with you." 4 Jacob sent for Rachel and Leah and had them come out to the open country where his flocks were. 5 and said to them, "I see that your father's face is not toward me as it was before. But the God of my father has been with me. 6 You know that I have served your father with all my strength. 7 Yet your father has cheated me and changed my wages ten times.[c] But God did not let him harm me. 8 If he said, 'The speckled will be your wages,' then all the flock bore speckled young.
And if he said, 'The striped will be your wages,' then all the flock bore striped young. 9 So God has taken away your father's livestock and given them to me. 10 At the time the flocks were breeding, I had a dream. I looked up and saw that the he-goats leaping on the flock were striped, speckled, and mottled. 11 Then the angel of God said to me in the dream, 'Jacob.' And I said, 'Here I am.' 12 He said, 'Look up and see: all the male goats that mount the flock are streaked, speckled, and spotted, for I have seen everything Laban is doing to you. 13 I am the God of Bethel,[d] where you anointed a standing stone, where you made a vow to me. Now rise, go out from this land, and return to the land of your birth.'" 14 Rachel and Leah replied, "Do we have any share left, or anything to inherit, from our father's household? 15 Are we not regarded by him as foreigners? For he has sold us, and he has completely used up the money paid for us.[e] 16 All the riches God has stripped from our father are ours and our children's. So go ahead and do everything God has said to you." 17 So Jacob got up and set his sons and his wives on camels. 18 He drove away all his livestock and all the goods he had gained, the livestock he had acquired in Paddan-aram, to go to Isaac his father in the land of Canaan. 19 Laban had gone to shear his sheep, and Rachel stole her father's household gods.[f] 20 Jacob also stole the heart of Laban the Aramean[g] by keeping from him the news that he was running away.

21 He fled with all that he had. He rose, crossed the River,[h] and turned his face toward the hill country of Gilead.
22 Two days later, on the third day, someone told Laban that Jacob had run away. 23 Taking his kinsmen with him, he chased after Jacob for a seven days' journey and overtook him in the hills of Gilead. 24 But God came to Laban the Aramean in a dream by night and said to him,
"Be careful that you say nothing to Jacob, either good or bad."[i] 25 Laban overtook Jacob, who had his tent pitched on the mountain; and Laban and his kinsmen camped in the hill country of Gilead. 26 And Laban said to Jacob, "What have you done? You have deceived me and carried off my daughters like captives of the sword! 27 Why did you run away in secret and cheat me? You did not tell me, or I would have sent you off with joy and with songs, with tambourine and with lyre. 28 You did not even let me kiss my grandsons and my daughters goodbye. Now you have acted foolishly. 29 It is in my power to do you harm. But the God of your father spoke to me last night, saying, 'Be careful that you say nothing to Jacob, either good or bad.' 30 Now you have left because you were homesick for your father's house. Even so, why have you taken my gods?" 31 Jacob replied to Laban, "I was afraid. I told myself that you might seize your daughters from me. 32
As for your gods, whoever is found to have them will not stay alive.
With our kinsmen watching, search for anything of yours that I have,
and take it back." Jacob had no idea that Rachel had taken them. 33

Laban searched Jacob's tent, then Leah's tent, then the tent of the two servant women, and found nothing. After he came out of Leah's tent, he went into Rachel's. 34 Now Rachel had taken the household gods and put them in the camel's saddle and sat on them. Laban felt all through the tent but did not find them. 35 Rachel said to her father, "My lord, do not be angry that I do not stand up in your presence. It is the time of month for me."[j] He searched everywhere, but the household gods did not turn up. 36 Jacob was angry and found fault with Laban, and in reply Jacob said to Laban, "What is my crime? What is my sin, that you have hotly pursued me? 37 You have searched through all my belongings; what have you found of all your household possessions? Put it here before my kinsmen and your kinsmen, and let them judge between the two of us. 38 I have spent twenty years with you now. Your ewes and your female goats never miscarried, and I never ate the rams of your flock. 39 When an animal was mauled by beasts, I never brought it back to you; I made good the loss myself. You demanded payment from me for anything stolen, whether it was taken in the daytime or in the night. 40 That was my life: the heat wore me down by day and the frost by night, and sleep would not come to my eyes. 41 These twenty years I have been in your house. I served you fourteen years for your two daughters, and six years for your flock, and you have changed my wages ten times. 42 Had the God of my father, the God of Abraham and the Fear of Isaac,[k] not stood with me, you would have sent me off now with nothing in my hands. But God took note of how I was wronged and how hard I worked, and last night he gave his judgment."

43 Laban answered Jacob, "These women are my daughters, these children are my grandchildren, these flocks are my flocks. Everything in front of you belongs to me. Yet what can I do now for my daughters here, or for the children they have had? 44 So come, you and I will cut a covenant, and it will stand as a witness between us."[l] 45 So Jacob took a stone and set it up as a standing stone. 46 And Jacob said to his relatives, "Gather stones." They took stones and made a heap, and they ate there by the heap. 47 Laban called it Jegar-sahadutha, but Jacob called it Galeed.[m] 48 Laban said, "This heap is a witness between me and you today." That is why it was named Galeed, [49] and also Mizpah,[n] because he said, "May Yahweh watch between me and you when we are out of each other's sight. [50] If you treat my daughters badly, or marry other wives besides them, remember that even when no one else is present with us, God is watching as witness between us." [51] Then Laban said to Jacob, "See this heap and see the standing stone, which I have set up between me and you.[o] [52] This mound bears witness, and the pillar bears witness, that I will not cross over past this mound into your land, and you will not cross over past this mound and this pillar into mine, to do harm. [53] May the God of Abraham and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge between us."[p] So Jacob swore by the Fear of his father Isaac. [54] Jacob offered a sacrifice there on the mountain and invited his kinsmen to share the meal. They ate together and stayed the night on the mountain. [55] Early in the morning Laban rose and kissed his grandsons and his daughters and blessed them. Then Laban departed and returned to his home.[q]

Notes

- a (31:1) Literally "all this glory" (kavod), here meaning wealth and the honor that goes with it.
- b (31:2) Literally "was not with him as yesterday and the day before," a Hebrew way of saying "as before." Brenton notes the same idiom in the Greek.
- c (31:7) "Ten times" means "again and again." Brenton's Septuagint reads "changed my wages for the ten lambs."
- d (31:13) Hebrew ha'el bet-el, "the God of Bethel." Brenton's Septuagint reads "I am God that appeared to thee in the place of God."
- e (31:15) Literally "he has eaten, yes eaten, our money," that is, the bride price that should in part have come to the daughters. Laban had been paid in fourteen years of Jacob's labor.
- f (31:19) Hebrew teraphim, small figures kept in the home, possibly images of ancestors or household protectors, and perhaps linked with inheritance or divination. Brenton's Septuagint reads "images."
- g (31:20) Literally "stole the heart of Laban," meaning he deceived him. The same verb is used of Rachel stealing the household gods (31:19). Brenton's Septuagint reads "Jacob hid the matter from Laban the Syrian."
- h (31:21) That is, the Euphrates.
- i (31:24) Literally "from good to bad," meaning that Laban must not try to persuade or threaten Jacob into returning.

- j (31:35) That is, she was having her monthly period. Later law treated anything she sat on at that time as unclean (Leviticus 15:19–23), which adds irony to Laban's gods being hidden under her.
- k (31:42) Hebrew pachad yitschaq, "the Fear of Isaac," that is, the God whom Isaac feared, or possibly "the Kinsman of Isaac." The title appears again in 31:53. Brenton's Septuagint reads "the fear of Isaac."
- l (31:44) The Hebrew says "let it be a witness" without naming what "it" is; the covenant is probably meant.
- m (31:47) Both names mean "heap of witness," Laban's in Aramaic and Jacob's in Hebrew. The Aramaic words are the first in the Bible. Galeed sounds like Gilead. Brenton's Septuagint translates the names: "the Heap of Testimony" and "the Witness Heap."
- n (31:49) Mizpah means "watchtower" or "lookout," from tsaphah, "to watch." Brenton's Septuagint reads "the vision."
- o (31:51) Brenton's Septuagint arranges 31:48–52 differently and numbers one part as an extra verse.
- p (31:53) The verb "judge" is plural in Hebrew, which may suggest that Laban thought of two gods. The words "the God of their father" are absent from Brenton's Septuagint.
- q (31:55) In the Hebrew text this verse is 32:1, and the verses of chapter 32 are numbered one higher than in English. Brenton's Septuagint follows the Hebrew numbering. This translation uses the English numbering.

Chapter 32

1 Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him. 2 When Jacob saw them, he said, "This is God's camp!" So he called the name of that place Mahanaim.[a]

3 Jacob sent envoys ahead of himself to Esau his brother, to the land of Seir, the territory of Edom. 4 He instructed them: "You shall say this to my lord Esau: 'Your servant Jacob says: I have been staying with Laban as a resident alien, and I have remained until now. 5 I have oxen, donkeys, and flocks, and male servants and female servants. I am sending this message to my lord, hoping to find favor in your sight.'" 6 The messengers returned to Jacob with this report: "We came to your brother Esau; he is already on his way to meet you, and four hundred men are with him." 7 Then Jacob was greatly afraid and distressed. He divided the people who were with him, and the flocks and herds and camels, into two camps, 8 He reasoned, "Should Esau attack one group and destroy it, the other group can get away."

9 Jacob said, “God of my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac, Yahweh, who said to me, ‘Go back to your land and to your kindred, and I will treat you well,’ 10 I am too small for all the steadfast love[b] and all the faithfulness you have shown me, your servant. When I crossed this Jordan I had nothing but my staff, and now I have grown into two companies. 11 Please deliver me from the hand of my brother, from the hand of Esau, for I fear him, that he may come and strike me, the mothers with the children.[c] 12 But you said, ‘I will surely do you good and make your offspring like the sand of the sea, which cannot be counted for multitude.’” 13 Jacob spent the night there. Then, out of what he owned, he chose a present for his brother Esau: 14 two hundred female goats and twenty male goats, two hundred ewes and twenty rams, 15 thirty milking camels and their young, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty female donkeys and ten male donkeys. 16 He handed them over to his servants, each drove separately, and told his servants, “Cross over before me, and put a space between drove and drove.” 17 He gave orders to the man leading the first drove: “When my brother Esau comes upon you and asks, ‘Whose man are you? Where are you headed? Who owns these animals in front of you?’ 18 then answer, ‘They are your servant Jacob’s. He is sending them as a present for my lord Esau, and he himself is following after us.’” 19 He commanded the second and the third and all who followed the herds in the same way: “You shall say the same thing to Esau when you find him, 20 and you shall also say, ‘Your servant Jacob is behind us.’” For he thought, “I will appease him[d] with the present going before me, and after that I will see his face; perhaps he will accept me.”[e] 21 So the gift went on ahead of him, and he himself stayed that night in the camp.
22 During that night he rose, took his two wives and his two slave women, along with his eleven children, and crossed the Jabbok at the ford.[f] 23 He sent them over the stream, together with all his possessions. 24 And Jacob was left alone. And a man wrestled[g] with him until the break of dawn. 25 The man saw that he could not overpower Jacob, so he struck the hollow of Jacob’s hip, and the hip was wrenched as the two wrestled. 26 Then he said, “Let me go, for the dawn has broken.”

But Jacob said, “I will not let you go unless you bless me.” 27 He said to him, “What is your name?” And he said, “Jacob.” 28 He said, “Your name shall not be called Jacob any longer, but Israel,[h] because you have contended with God and with men, and you have prevailed.” 29 Jacob asked, “Please tell me your name.” He replied, “Why do you ask about my name?” Then he blessed him there. 30 Jacob named the place Peniel,[i] “because,” he said, “I saw God face to face, and still I am alive.” 31 The sun was coming up over him as he went on past Penuel,[j] and he limped on account of his hip. 32 For this reason the Israelites, even now, do not eat the thigh sinew[k] over the hip joint, because Jacob was struck at the hip joint, on that sinew.

Notes

- a (32:2) Mahanaim means “two camps.” The word returns in 32:7 and 32:10, where Jacob divides his people into two camps. Brenton’s Septuagint translates it “Encampments.” In the Hebrew text this verse is 32:3; see the note on 31:55.
- b (32:10) Hebrew chesed, God’s loyal, covenant love. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “Let there be to me a sufficiency of all the justice and all the truth,” taking the opening words differently.
- c (32:11) Literally “the mother upon the children,” a proverb for total slaughter (compare Hosea 10:14).
- d (32:20) Literally “I will cover his face,” an expression for making amends. The word “face” runs through 32:20–31 and 33:10, leading up to Peniel, “face of God.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “I will propitiate his countenance.”
- e (32:20) Literally “perhaps he will lift up my face.”
- f (32:22) The Jabbok (Yabboq) sounds like the verb for “wrestled” (ye’aveq) in 32:24, and like Jacob’s name.
- g (32:24) Hebrew ye’aveq, found only here and in 32:25. Hosea 12:3–4 says that Jacob “strove with God” and “strove with the angel.”
- h (32:28) Israel probably means “God strives” or “may God rule,” but here it is explained as “he strives with God.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “for thou hast prevailed with God, and shalt be mighty with men.”
- i (32:30) Peniel means “face of God.” Brenton’s Septuagint translates it “the Face of God.”
- j (32:31) Penuel is another spelling of Peniel, used for the town in Judges 8:8 and 1 Kings 12:25.
- k (32:32) Probably the sciatic nerve. This custom is not found in the Law of Moses but was kept in later Jewish practice.

Chapter 33

1 Jacob looked up and saw Esau approaching with four hundred men.
He divided the children between Leah, Rachel, and the two servant women. 2 He placed the servant women and their children at the front, Leah and her children behind them, and Rachel and Joseph at the very back. 3 He crossed over in front of them and bowed himself to the earth seven times, until he had come close to his brother. 4 But Esau ran to meet him and embraced him, fell on his neck and kissed him,[a] and they wept. 5 When Esau lifted his eyes and saw the women and the children, he asked, "Who are these that are with you?" He said, "The children whom God has graciously given your servant." 6 Then the slave women came near, they and their children, and bowed down. 7 Leah likewise and her children came near and bowed down.
Last of all Joseph and Rachel came near, and they bowed down. 8 Esau asked, "What was the meaning of all those droves I came upon?" Jacob said, "I hoped to win my lord's favor." 9 But Esau said, "I have plenty, my brother. Keep what you have for yourself." 10 Jacob said, "No, please. If I have found favor in your eyes, then accept my gift from my hand. For truly I have seen your face, as one sees the face of God, and you have received me favorably.[b] 11 Please take my blessing[c] that has been brought to you, for God has been gracious to me, and I have everything." He pressed him, and he accepted it.
12 Then Esau said, "Let us set out on our journey, and I will go ahead of you." 13 Jacob replied, "My lord can see that the children are young and weak, and I have to think of the sheep and cattle that are nursing.
If the animals are pushed hard even one day, the whole flock will die. 14 Let my lord please pass on ahead of his servant. I will move along at an easy pace, according to the pace of the livestock before me and according to the pace of the children, until I come to my lord in Seir."[d] 15 Esau said, "Let me at least leave with you some of the people who are with me." But he said, "Why should you? Let me only find favor in my lord's sight." 16 So Esau returned that day on his way to Seir. 17 But Jacob journeyed to Succoth, and built himself a house and made shelters for his livestock. Therefore the name of the place is called Succoth.[e]

18 After his return from Paddan-aram, Jacob arrived in peace[f] at the city of Shechem in Canaan, and he set up camp facing the city. 19 For a hundred qesitah[g] he purchased the plot of ground where he had put up his tent from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem. 20 There he set up an altar and called it El Elohe Israel.[h]

Notes

- a (33:4) In the Hebrew text the word "and kissed him" is marked with special dots by the scribes, an old sign that the word was discussed or doubted. Some later interpreters took the dots to question Esau's sincerity.
- b (33:10) Compare 32:30. Brenton's Septuagint reads "I have seen thy face, as if any one should see the face of God."
- c (33:11) That is, the gift. The word berakhah, "blessing," recalls the blessing Jacob took from Esau (27:35–36).
- d (33:14) There is no record that Jacob went to Seir; he turned west instead (33:17).
- e (33:17) Succoth means "shelters" or "booths." Brenton's Septuagint translates it "Booths."
- f (33:18) Hebrew shalem, "whole" or "in peace," fulfilling Jacob's vow in 28:21. Brenton's Septuagint takes it as a place name: "Jacob came to Salem, a city of Secima."
- g (33:19) Hebrew qesitah, a unit of money or weight whose value is unknown, so no modern equivalent is given. Brenton's Septuagint reads "a hundred lambs." Joshua 24:32 says Joseph's bones were buried in this plot, and John 4:5 refers to it.
- h (33:20) Hebrew El Elohe Israel, "God, the God of Israel" or "God is the God of Israel." Brenton's Septuagint reads "and called on the God of Israel."

Chapter 34

1 Once Dinah, Leah's daughter by Jacob, went out to see the young women who lived in that region. 2 Shechem son of Hamor the Hivite,[a] the chief of that land, saw her; and he took her, lay with her, and humiliated her.[b] 3 His heart was bound to Dinah, Jacob's daughter.
He loved the girl and spoke to her heart.[c] 4 So Shechem spoke to his father Hamor, saying, "Get me this girl as my wife." 5 News came to Jacob that he had defiled Dinah his daughter. His sons were out in the open field with his herds, and Jacob kept silent until they came in. 6 And Hamor the father of Shechem went out to Jacob to speak with him. 7 Jacob's sons came in from the field when they heard it. The men were distressed and furiously angry, because he had committed an outrage[d] in Israel by lying with Jacob's daughter—a thing that must not be done. 8 But Hamor spoke with them, saying, “The soul of my son Shechem longs for your daughter. Please give her to him as his wife. 9 Intermarry with us. Give your daughters to us, and take our daughters for yourselves. 10 Settle among us. The country lies before you. Stay here, move about freely, and get land of your own.” 11 Shechem also said to her father and to her brothers, “Let me find favor in your eyes, and whatever you say to me I will give. 12 Set the bride price[e] and the gifts as high as you like, and I will pay whatever you ask. Just let me have the girl for my wife.” 13 Because Shechem had defiled their sister Dinah, Jacob’s sons gave Shechem and Hamor his father a crafty answer.[f] 14 They told them, “We are not able to do such a thing. To give our sister to a man without circumcision would bring shame upon us. 15 We will consent on one condition: you must become like us, with every male of yours circumcised. 16 After that we will give you our daughters and marry your daughters. We will settle among you, and we will be a single people. 17 But if you will not listen to us and be circumcised, then we will take our daughter and go.” 18 Their words pleased Hamor and Hamor’s son Shechem. 19 The young man lost no time in doing it, for Jacob’s daughter was his delight. He was the most respected man in his whole family. 20 Hamor and Shechem his son went to their city gate and addressed the men of the city. 21 “These men are peaceable with us; let them settle in the land and trade in it, for the land is spacious enough for them. We will take their daughters as wives and give them our daughters. 22 Only on this condition will the men consent to dwell with us and become a single people: every male among us must be circumcised, just as they are circumcised. 23 Their herds, their goods, and every animal they own, will these not become ours? Let us only consent to their terms, and they will settle among us.” 24 And all who went out of the gate of his city listened to Hamor and his son Shechem, and every male was circumcised, all who went out of the gate of his city.[g] 25 Three days later, while the men were still sore, Simeon and Levi, two of Jacob’s sons and full brothers of Dinah, took up their swords, entered the unsuspecting city,[h] and put every male to death. 26 They killed Hamor and his son Shechem with the edge of the sword, took Dinah out of Shechem's house, and went away. 27 The sons of Jacob came upon the slain and plundered the city, because they had defiled their sister. 28 They carried off sheep, cattle, and donkeys, and everything else, both inside the city and out in the fields. 29 All their wealth, all their little ones and their wives, they captured and carried off, and all that was in the houses. 30 Jacob said to Simeon and Levi, "You have ruined me. You have made my name a stench[i] among the people who live in this land, the Canaanites and the Perizzites. We are only a handful. If they band together and fall on me, I will be wiped out, my household and I." 31 They replied, "Was he to use our sister as a harlot?"[j]

Notes

- a (34:2) Brenton notes that Codex Alexandrinus reads "the Chorrhaean" (Horite). Brenton's main text reads "the Evite," that is, Hivite.
- b (34:2) Hebrew 'innah, "humbled," "violated." The verbs describe a forced act.
- c (34:3) A Hebrew idiom for speaking kindly or tenderly, as one who woos. Brenton notes that the Greek is a literal version of this Hebrew idiom.
- d (34:7) Hebrew nevalah, a word for a grave moral outrage, a deed of senseless wickedness (compare Deuteronomy 22:21; 2 Samuel 13:12). "In Israel" here may mean the family of Israel, that is, Jacob.
- e (34:12) Hebrew mohar, the payment from the groom to the bride's family (compare Exodus 22:16–17; Deuteronomy 22:29).
- f (34:13) Hebrew mirmah, the same word used of Jacob's deceit in 27:35. Brenton's Septuagint reads "craftily."
- g (34:24) Probably meaning all the men who took part in the city's public life (compare 23:10).
- h (34:25) Or "came against the city unexpectedly." Hebrew betach, "in security," may refer either to the city or to the attackers. Brenton's Septuagint reads "came upon the city securely."
- i (34:30) Literally "making me stink," that is, making me hateful. Jacob's judgment on Simeon and Levi returns in 49:5–7.
- j (34:31) The chapter ends with the brothers' question unanswered.

1 God said to Jacob, "Get up, go up to Bethel and live there. Make an altar there to the God who appeared to you when you fled from your brother Esau." 2 So Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him, “Put away the foreign gods that are among you, purify yourselves, and change your clothes. 3 Let us rise and go up to Bethel, and I will make an altar there to the God who answered me on the day of my distress and has been with me on the road I have traveled.” 4 They handed over to Jacob every foreign god they had, along with the rings from their ears.[a] Jacob buried them beneath the great tree[b] near Shechem. 5 As they set out, a dread from God[c] lay on the towns all around, and no one chased after Jacob’s sons. 6 And Jacob came to Luz (that is, Bethel), which is in the land of Canaan, he and all the people who were with him, 7 He built an altar there and called the place El Bethel,[d] because there God had revealed himself to him when he fled from his brother. 8 And Deborah, Rebekah’s nurse, died, and she was buried below Bethel under an oak. So its name was called Allon-bacuth.[e]

9 God appeared to Jacob again, when he came from Paddan-aram, and blessed him. 10 God said to him, “Your name is Jacob, but you will be called Jacob no more. Your name will be Israel.” And so he named him Israel.[f] 11 God said to him, “I am El Shaddai.[g] Be fruitful and increase. A nation, and a gathering of nations, will spring from you, and kings will descend from you.[h] 12 This land, which I gave to Abraham and to Isaac, I now give to you, and after you I will give it to your descendants.” 13 Then God went up from him in the place where he had spoken with him. 14 Jacob raised up a standing stone in the place where he had spoken with him, a standing stone of stone. He poured a drink offering upon it and poured oil upon it. 15 So Jacob called the name of the place where God had spoken with him Bethel. 16 They set out from Bethel.[i] While there was still a stretch of road[j] before Ephrath, Rachel began to give birth, and her labor was severe. 17 At the worst of her pains the midwife told her, “Take heart. This one is a son for you too.” 18 As her soul went out (for she was dying), she called his name Ben-oni,[k] but his father called him Benjamin.[l] 19 Rachel died there and was buried beside the road to Ephrath, which is Bethlehem.[m] 20 and Jacob set up a standing stone over her tomb. It is the standing stone of Rachel’s tomb, to this day. 21 Israel journeyed on and pitched his tent beyond the tower of Eder.[n]

22 While Israel lived in that land, Reuben went and lay with Bilhah his father's concubine. And Israel heard of it.[o] Now the sons of Jacob were twelve. 23 The sons of Leah: Reuben (Jacob's firstborn), Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun. 24 The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin. 25 The sons of Bilhah, Rachel's slave woman: Dan and Naphtali. 26 The sons of Zilpah, Leah's slave woman: Gad and Asher.
These were the sons of Jacob who were born to him in Paddan-aram.[p] 27 Jacob came home to his father Isaac at Mamre near Kiriath-arba, which is Hebron, the place where Abraham and Isaac had stayed as sojourners. 28 Now the days of Isaac were a hundred and eighty years.
29 And Isaac breathed his last and died, and was gathered to his people, old and full of days. And his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.[q]

Notes

- a (35:4) Earrings could be amulets or bear the marks of other gods (compare Exodus 32:2–4; Judges 8:24–27). Brenton's Septuagint adds that Jacob hid them "and destroyed them to this day."
- b (35:4) Or "terebinth." Brenton's Septuagint reads "the turpentine tree." Compare 12:6.
- c (35:5) Or "a great terror." Literally "a terror of God," which can mean a terror sent by God or a very great terror (compare the note on 30:8).
- d (35:7) Hebrew El Bethel, "God of Bethel." Brenton's Septuagint reads simply "Bæthel," as do some other ancient witnesses.
- e (35:8) Allon-bacuth means "oak of weeping." Brenton's Septuagint translates it "The Oak of Mourning."
- f (35:10) Compare 32:28, where the name is first given.
- g (35:11) Traditionally "God Almighty"; see the note on El Shaddai at 17:1. Brenton's Septuagint reads "I am thy God."
- h (35:11) Literally "from your loins."
- i (35:16) Brenton's Septuagint places here the words of 35:21, "and pitched his tent beyond the tower of Gader," and Brenton marks them in brackets.
- j (35:16) Hebrew kivrat-ha'arets, a distance whose length is unknown (also in 48:7). Brenton's Septuagint treats it as a place name, "Chabratha."
- k (35:18) Ben-oni means "son of my sorrow" or, less likely, "son of my strength" (compare 49:3). Brenton's Septuagint reads "The son of my pain."
- l (35:18) Benjamin means "son of the right hand," that is, a son of honor or of good fortune. It can also mean "son of the south," since the right hand pointed south for one facing east.
- m (35:19) Compare 48:7. First Samuel 10:2 places Rachel's tomb in the territory of Benjamin, north of Jerusalem; the identification with Bethlehem may reflect a later tradition. Matthew 2:18 quotes Jeremiah 31:15, where Rachel weeps for her children.

- n (35:21) Or "Migdal-eder," meaning "tower of the flock." Compare Micah 4:8.
- o (35:22) Brenton's Septuagint adds "and the thing appeared grievous before him." In the Hebrew text there is a space within the verse here, as if a paragraph ends. Compare 49:4.
- p (35:26) Benjamin, born near Ephrath (35:16–18), is included in this summary.
- q (35:29) Isaac's death is reported here to close his story, though the account of Joseph that follows begins while Isaac is still alive (compare 25:26; 37:2; 41:46; 47:9).

Chapter 36

1 These are the generations of Esau (that is, Edom). 2 Esau took his wives from the Canaanite women: Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, Oholibamah the daughter of Anah the daughter[a] of Zibeon the Hivite, 3 and Basemath, Ishmael's daughter, the sister of Nebaioth.[b] 4 By Esau, Adah gave birth to Eliphaz, and Basemath gave birth to Reuel. 5 Oholibamah bore Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. These are the sons of Esau who were born to him in the land of Canaan. 6 Then Esau took his wives, his sons, his daughters, and all the people of his household, his livestock, all his animals, and all the property he had acquired in the land of Canaan, and went to a land away from his brother Jacob.
7 Their herds and goods had grown too large for them to stay side by side, and the country where they were sojourning could not feed so many animals. 8 So Esau settled in the hill country of Seir. Esau is Edom.
9 These are the generations of Esau the father of the Edomites in the hill country of Seir. 10 These are the names of Esau's sons: Eliphaz the son of Adah the wife of Esau, and Reuel the son of Basemath the wife of Esau. 11 The sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, and Kenaz. 12 Timna, a secondary wife of Eliphaz son of Esau, gave birth to Amalek[c] for Eliphaz. These were descendants of Adah, Esau's wife.
13 These are the sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.
These are the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife. 14 These are the sons of Oholibamah the daughter of Anah the daughter of Zibeon, Esau's wife: she bore to Esau Jeush, Jalam, and Korah.
15 These were the chiefs[d] of the descendants of Esau: the sons of Eliphaz, the firstborn of Esau—Chief Teman, Chief Omar, Chief Zepho, Chief Kenaz, 16 Korah,[e] Gatam, and Amalek. These are the chiefs of Eliphaz in the land of Edom; these are the sons of Adah. 17 Reuel son of Esau had these sons: Chief Nahath, Chief Zerah, Chief Shammah, and Chief Mizzah. They were the chiefs from Reuel in Edom, grandsons of Basemath, Esau's wife. 18 Oholibamah, Esau's wife, had these sons: Chief Jeush, Chief Jalam, and Chief Korah. They were the chiefs from Oholibamah, Anah's daughter, Esau's wife. 19 These are the sons of Esau (that is, Edom), and these are their chiefs.

20 These are the sons of Seir the Horite,[f] the inhabitants of the land: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, 21 Dishon, Ezer, and Dishan. These are the chiefs of the Horites, the sons of Seir in the land of Edom. 22 The sons of Lotan were Hori and Hemam;[g] and Lotan's sister was Timna.
23 These are the sons of Shobal: Alvan, Manahath, Ebal, Shepho, and Onam. 24 These are the sons of Zibeon: Aiah and Anah. This is the Anah who found the hot springs[h] in the wilderness, as he pastured the donkeys of Zibeon his father. 25 These are the children of Anah: Dishon and Oholibamah the daughter of Anah. 26 These are the sons of Dishon:[i] Hemdan, Eshban, Ithran, and Cheran. 27 These are the sons of Ezer: Bilhan, Zaavan, and Akan. 28 These are the sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran. 29 The Horite chiefs were Chief Lotan, Chief Shobal, Chief Zibeon, Chief Anah, 30 Chief Dishon, Chief Ezer, and Chief Dishan.
They were the Horite chiefs, clan by clan, in Seir.
31 These are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom, before any king reigned over the Israelites.[j] 32 Bela the son of Beor reigned in Edom, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 33 Bela died, and Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. 34 Jobab died, and Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. 35 Husham died, and Hadad the son of Bedad, who defeated Midian in the country of Moab, reigned in his place. The name of his city was Avith.
36 Hadad died, and Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. 37 Samlah died, and Shaul of Rehoboth on the River[k] reigned in his place. 38 Shaul died, and Baal-hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place. 39 Baalhanan the son of Achbor died, and Hadar[l] reigned in his place. The name of his city was Pau, and his wife's name was Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

40 These are the names of the chiefs descended from Esau, by their families and their places, by name: Chief Timna, Chief Alvah, Chief Jetheth, 41 Chief Oholibamah, Chief Elah, Chief Pinon, 42 Chief Kenaz, Chief Teman, Chief Mibzar, 43 Chief Magdiel, Chief Iram. These are the chiefs of Edom, by their settlements in the land they possessed. This is Esau, the father of Edom.[m]

Notes

- a (36:2) Brenton's Septuagint reads "son of Sebegon," agreeing with 36:24, where Anah is a son of Zibeon. Some other ancient witnesses are reported to read the same.
- b (36:3) Esau's wives are named differently in 26:34 and 28:9 (Judith, Basemath the daughter of Elon, and Mahalath). The traditions may preserve alternate names.
- c (36:12) Amalek became the ancestor of the Amalekites, Israel's enemies (Exodus 17:8–16).
- d (36:15) Hebrew alluph, "chief" or "clan leader." The word may also mean "clan" (compare the note on 36:43).
- e (36:16) Korah is not among the sons of Eliphaz in 36:11 or 1 Chronicles 1:36; he appears as a son of Oholibamah in 36:5, 14, and 18. The Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to lack the name here.
- f (36:20) The Horites were the earlier people of Seir (14:6; Deuteronomy 2:12, 22).
- g (36:22) Called Homam in 1 Chronicles 1:39.
- h (36:24) Hebrew yemim, found only here; the meaning is uncertain. "Hot springs" follows an ancient Latin tradition. Brenton's Septuagint keeps the word untranslated: "who found Jamin in the wilderness."
- i (36:26) Hebrew Dishan, but Dishon in 36:25 and 1 Chronicles 1:41. The two names are close in Hebrew.
- j (36:31) Or "before an Israelite king reigned over them." The note appears to come from a time when Israel already had kings, or it looks ahead to them.
- k (36:37) Probably the Euphrates, though a smaller river nearer Edom may be meant.
- l (36:39) Called Hadad in 1 Chronicles 1:50, and his city Pai. Brenton's Septuagint reads "Arad the son of Barad," and his city "Phogor."
- m (36:43) The list of chiefs in 36:40–43 may name clans or regions as well as persons.

Chapter 37

1 Jacob made his home in Canaan, the country where his father had stayed as a sojourner. 2 These are the generations of Jacob. Joseph, at seventeen years of age, was tending the flock together with his brothers, and he was a youth[a] with the sons of Bilhah and the sons of Zilpah, his father's wives. Joseph brought a bad report about them to their father.[b] 3 Now Israel loved Joseph more than any of his other sons, because he was the son of his old age. And he made him a long robe with sleeves.[c] 4 But when his brothers saw that their father loved him more than all his brothers, they hated him and could not speak peaceably to him.

5 Joseph had a dream, and he told it to his brothers, which made them hate him all the more. 6 He said to them, "Please listen to this dream that I have dreamed: 7 There we were, binding sheaves in the field, and suddenly my sheaf rose and stood upright, and your sheaves gathered around it and bowed down to my sheaf." 8 His brothers answered, "So you think you will be king over us? You will be our master?" And his dreams and what he said about them made them hate him still more.

9 He dreamed still another dream and recounted it to his brothers: "Look, I have had another dream, and this time the sun, the moon, and eleven stars were bowing down to me." 10 When he recounted it to his father and to his brothers, his father scolded him and said, "What kind of dream is this that you have had? Are we really to come, I and your mother[d] and your brothers, and bow down to the ground before you?" 11 His brothers envied him, but his father kept turning the thing over in his mind.

12 Some time later his brothers had gone to graze their father's sheep and goats around Shechem. 13 Israel said to Joseph, "Your brothers are grazing the flock at Shechem, are they not? Come, I am sending you to them." Joseph answered, "I am ready." 14 Israel told him, "Go and find out how your brothers are getting on, and how the flock is, and come back and tell me." So he sent him off from the valley of Hebron, and Joseph arrived at Shechem. 15 A man came upon him as he was roaming about in the open country and asked him, "What are you looking for?" 16 "I am looking for my brothers," he replied. "Can you tell me where they are grazing their flocks?" 17 The man answered, "They have moved on from here. I overheard them saying, 'We will go to Dothan.'" Joseph went on after his brothers and came upon them at Dothan.

18 They saw him from afar, and before he came near to them they plotted against him to kill him. 19 "Look," they said to each other, "the dreamer is coming.[e] 20 Now is our chance. We will kill him and toss his body into one of these cisterns, and say a wild beast ate him. Then we will find out what his dreams come to!" 21 Reuben heard this and tried to save him from them. "We must not kill him," he said. 22 "Do not spill his blood," Reuben told them. "Put him down into this cistern out here in the desert, but keep your hands off him." He meant to rescue Joseph from them and bring him back home to his father. 23 When Joseph reached his brothers, they tore off his coat, the long-sleeved coat he had on, 24 And they took him and threw him into the pit. The pit was empty; there was no water in it. 25 They sat down to their meal. Glancing up, they spotted a line of Ishmaelite traders coming from Gilead, their camels loaded with gum, balm, and resin,[f] bound for Egypt. 26 Then Judah said to his brothers, "What profit is it if we kill our brother and conceal his blood? 27 Come, let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and let not our hand be upon him, for he is our brother, our own flesh." And his brothers listened to him. 28 When Midianite merchants passed by, his brothers drew Joseph up out of the cistern, and they sold Joseph to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver, about eight ounces.[g] So they brought Joseph to Egypt.
29 When Reuben returned to the pit and saw that Joseph was not in the pit, he tore his clothes 30 He went back to his brothers and cried, "The boy is not there! And I, what am I to do now?" 31 They took Joseph's coat, killed a young goat, and soaked the coat in its blood. 32 They had the long-sleeved coat carried to their father with the message, "We came across this. Look closely and see if it is your son's coat."[h] 33 Jacob knew it at once. "It is my son's coat!" he cried. "Some savage beast has eaten him. Joseph has surely been torn apart!" 34 Then Jacob tore his garments and put sackcloth on his waist and mourned for his son many days. 35 His sons and daughters all came to console him, but he would not be consoled. "I will go down mourning to my son in Sheol,"[i] he said. And his father wept for him. 36 In Egypt, meanwhile, the Midianites[j] sold Joseph to Potiphar, one of Pharaoh's court officials[k] and commander of the guard.[l]

Notes

- a (37:2) Or "he was an assistant." Hebrew na'ar can mean "youth" or "servant."
- b (37:2) Literally "brought their evil report to their father." Brenton notes that some copies read "they brought an evil report of Joseph."
- c (37:3) Hebrew ketonet passim, also used of a princess's robe in 2 Samuel 13:18–19. Passim may refer to long sleeves or a robe reaching to the hands and feet; its exact meaning is uncertain. Brenton's Septuagint reads "a coat of many colours."
- d (37:10) Rachel had died (35:19). The dream may count her among the family as a whole, or this story may stand apart from the order of chapter 35.
- e (37:19) Literally "this lord of dreams," a mocking expression.
- f (37:25) The precise identity of these resins is uncertain. Brenton's Septuagint reads "spices, and resin, and myrrh," and Brenton notes that one of the Greek words is literally "stacte."
- g (37:28) Hebrew "twenty of silver," that is, twenty shekels (compare Leviticus 27:5), about 8 ounces (230 grams), counting a shekel as about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); weight standards varied. Brenton's Septuagint reads "twenty pieces of gold." The verse names both Midianites and Ishmaelites as traders (compare 37:25, 36; 39:1; Judges 8:24), and it is not clear whether "they" who drew Joseph up were the brothers or the Midianites.
- h (37:32) Hebrew haker-na, "please recognize." The same words return in 38:25, when Tamar confronts Judah.
- i (37:35) Hebrew Sheol, the realm of the dead. Brenton's Septuagint reads "Hades."
- j (37:36) Hebrew Medanim, a variant spelling of Midianites; compare 25:2.
- k (37:36) Hebrew saris, often "eunuch," but also used of a high court officer, married or not (compare 39:1, 7). Brenton's Septuagint reads "the eunuch of Pharao."
- l (37:36) Or "chief of the executioners" or "chief butcher." Brenton notes on 39:1 that the Greek reads "chief cook," and that the Hebrew word can mean either a cook or a guardsman.

Chapter 38

1 At that time Judah left his brothers and went down, and turned aside to a certain Adullamite whose name was Hirah. 2 There Judah saw the daughter of a Canaanite whose name was Shua. He took her and went in to her, 3 and she conceived and bore a son, and he called his name Er. 4 She conceived again and bore a son, and she called his name Onan. 5 Once more she bore a son, Shelah. Judah was at Chezib[a] at the time of his birth. 6 And Judah took a wife for Er his firstborn, and her name was Tamar. 7 But Er, Judah's firstborn, was wicked in the sight of Yahweh, and Yahweh put him to death. 8 Then Judah said to Onan, "Go in to your brother's wife and perform the duty of a brother-in-law to her,[b] and raise up offspring for your brother." 9 Onan knew that any child would not be counted as his own. So each time he lay with his brother's wife, he spilled his seed on the ground, to keep from giving his brother descendants. 10 His conduct displeased Yahweh, and Yahweh took his life as well. 11 Judah said to his daughter-in-law Tamar, "Remain a widow in your father's house until my son Shelah grows up," for he thought, "He too may die, like his brothers." So Tamar departed and lived in the house of her father.

12 After many days Judah's wife, the daughter of Shua, died. When his time of mourning was over, Judah went up with his friend Hirah of Adullam to the men who were shearing his sheep at Timnah. 13 And when Tamar was told, "Your father-in-law is going up to Timnah to shear his sheep," 14 she put away her widow's clothing, covered her face with a veil, wrapped herself, and sat down at the gateway of Enaim,[c] beside the road to Timnah. She knew that Shelah was grown, yet she had not been given to him in marriage. 15 When Judah saw her, he thought she was a prostitute, for she had covered her face. 16 Not knowing that she was his son's wife, he went over to her by the road and said, "Come, let me sleep with you." She asked, "What will you pay me to sleep with me?" 17 He said, "I will send you a kid from the flock." And she said, "Only if you give a pledge until you send it." 18 He said, "What pledge shall I give you?" She replied, "Your seal and your cord,[d] and your staff that is in your hand." So he gave them to her and went in to her, and she conceived by him. 19 She rose and left. She took off her veil and dressed again in her widow's clothing.
20 Judah sent the young goat by the hand of his friend from Adullam, to get back the things he had left with the woman, but his friend could not find her. 21 And he asked the men of the place, "Where is the shrine woman[e] who was at Enaim by the roadside?" And they said, "No shrine woman has been here." 22 He went back to Judah and said,
"I did not find her; and the men of the place said, 'There has been no shrine woman here.'" 23 Judah said, "Then she may keep what she has, or we will be made fools of. I did send the goat, after all, and you could not find her."

24 About three months later Judah was told, “Tamar your daughter-in-law has played the prostitute. Moreover, she is pregnant by her prostitution.” And Judah said, “Bring her out, and let her be burned.” 25 While she was being brought out, she sent word to her father-in-law, “By the man who owns these things I am with child.” And she said, “Look closely[f] and see whose these are, this seal and cord, and this staff.” 26 Judah knew them and said, “She is more in the right than I am,[g] because I did not give her to my son Shelah.” He never slept with her again.
27 When her time to give birth came, it was found that she was carrying twins. 28 While she was in labor, one child stretched out a hand; the midwife took a scarlet thread, tied it around his hand, and said, “This one came out first.” 29 But he pulled his hand back, and out came his brother. She said, “So you have broken out!” And he was named Perez.[h] 30 Afterward his brother came out with the scarlet thread on his hand, and his name was called Zerah.[i]

Notes

- a (38:5) Brenton’s Septuagint reads “she was in Chasbi when she bore them,” with Judah’s wife as the subject. Chezib is probably Achzib in the lowlands of Judah (Joshua 15:44).
- b (38:8) The custom later called levirate marriage, in which a brother married a dead man’s widow to give the dead man an heir (Deuteronomy 25:5–10; Ruth 4).
- c (38:14) Or “in an open place.” Enaim means “two springs” or “eyes”; Hebrew petach enayim can be read “the opening of the eyes.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “by the gates of Ænan.”
- d (38:18) A cylinder or stamp seal worn on a cord around the neck, used to sign documents; the staff likely bore its owner’s marks. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “Thy ring, and thy bracelet, and the staff,” and gives “necklace” as an alternative in his note.
- e (38:21) Hebrew qedeshah, a woman associated with a shrine. Hirah uses this word, which may have sounded more respectable, though Judah had taken her for an ordinary prostitute (zonah, 38:15). Brenton’s Septuagint reads “harlot” in both places.
- f (38:25) The same words used when Jacob was shown Joseph’s robe (37:32). The deceiver of his father is now deceived by a garment and a goat.
- g (38:26) Or “She is in the right, not I.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “Thamar is cleared rather than I.”

- h (38:29) Perez means “breach” or “breaking out.” He became an ancestor of David (Ruth 4:18–22) and appears in the genealogy of Jesus (Matthew 1:3).
- i (38:30) Zerah means “rising” or “brightness,” perhaps alluding to the scarlet thread.

Chapter 39

1 Now Joseph had been brought down into Egypt. Potiphar, an Egyptian who served Pharaoh as an official and commander of the guard, bought him from the Ishmaelite traders who had taken him there. 2 Yahweh was with Joseph, and everything went well for him while he lived in the household of his Egyptian master. 3 His master saw that Yahweh was with him and that Yahweh made everything he did succeed in his hands. 4 Joseph won his master’s trust and became his personal servant. Potiphar put him over his household and handed everything he owned into his care. 5 From the time that he made him overseer in his house and over all that he had, Yahweh blessed the Egyptian’s house for Joseph’s sake; the blessing of Yahweh was on all that he had, in house and field. 6 Potiphar left everything he had in Joseph’s hands. With Joseph there, he gave no thought to anything except the bread he ate.[a] Joseph had a fine figure and a handsome face.[b]

7 And after a time his master’s wife cast her eyes on Joseph and said, “Lie with me.” 8 But Joseph refused. “Look,” he told his master’s wife, “my master trusts me so fully that he gives no thought to what goes on in the house. All he owns he has put into my hands. 9 No one in this house is greater than I am, and he has not kept anything from me but you, because you are his wife. How could I then do this great wickedness, and sin against God?” 10 Though she pressed Joseph day after day, he would not give in to her and lie with her, or even be near her. 11 On a certain day he went into the house to do his work, and not one of the men of the household was there inside, 12 she caught him by his garment, saying, “Lie with me.” But he left his garment in her hand and fled and got out of the house. 13 When she saw that he had run outside and left his cloak in her hands, 14 she called the men of her house and said to them, “Look, he has brought in among us a Hebrew man to make sport of us.[c] He came in to me to lie with me, but I screamed loudly. 15 When he heard me scream for help, he ran outside, leaving his cloak here with me." 16 Then she laid up his garment by her until his master came home, 17 Then she told him her tale: "That Hebrew slave you brought into our house came to me to toy with me. 18 When I screamed for help, he left his cloak with me and ran outside." 19 Joseph's master heard his wife's account, "This is what your slave did to me," and he was furious.[d] 20 And Joseph's master took him and put him into the prison,[e] the place where the king's prisoners were confined, and he was there in prison. 21 Yahweh was with Joseph, extended steadfast love[f] to him, and granted him favor in the eyes of the prison warden. 22 The chief jailer gave Joseph charge over everyone held in the prison, so that Joseph saw to everything that was done there. 23 The chief jailer did not trouble himself about anything under Joseph's care, for Yahweh was with Joseph and gave success to all he did.

Notes

- a (39:6) Literally "except the bread that he ate." This may mean that Potiphar kept charge of his own food, perhaps for reasons of Egyptian purity (compare 43:32), or it may be a euphemism for his wife (compare 39:9).
- b (39:6) The same words are used of Rachel, Joseph's mother, in 29:17. Brenton's Septuagint reads "handsome in form, and exceedingly beautiful in countenance."
- c (39:14) Hebrew letsacheq, from the same root as Isaac's name. Here it carries a sexual sense (compare 26:8). Brenton's Septuagint reads "to mock us."
- d (39:19) The text does not say against whom his anger burned. That Joseph was imprisoned rather than executed may suggest that Potiphar had doubts.
- e (39:20) Literally "the round house," a word used only in this story (39:20–40:5). It may refer to a fortress prison.
- f (39:21) Hebrew chesed, loyal love. Brenton's Septuagint reads "poured down mercy upon him."

1 After a while, two servants of the king of Egypt, his cupbearer and his baker, gave offense to their master, the king. 2 Pharaoh was enraged at these two officials, his chief cupbearer and his chief baker. 3 and he put them in custody in the house of the captain of the guard, in the prison where Joseph was confined. 4 The commander of the guard assigned them to Joseph, who waited on them. They had been held there for some time [5] when the two of them, the king of Egypt's cupbearer and baker who were held in the prison, both had dreams on the same night. Each man had his own dream, and each dream had its own meaning. [6] Joseph came in to them the next morning and saw that they looked downcast. [7] So he asked Pharaoh's officers who were with him in custody in his master's house, "Why are your faces downcast today?" [8] They told him, "Each of us has had a dream, and nobody can explain it." Joseph said, "Is it not God who explains dreams? Tell me about them."

[9] The chief cupbearer told Joseph his dream. "I dreamed," he said, "that a grapevine stood in front of me, [10] with three branches on it. As soon as it put out buds, it burst into flower, and its bunches grew ripe grapes. [11] Pharaoh's cup was in my hand, and I took the grapes and pressed them into Pharaoh's cup and placed the cup in Pharaoh's hand." [12] Then Joseph said to him, "This is its interpretation: the three branches are three days. [13] Within three days Pharaoh will lift up your head[a] and put you back in your post. You will hand Pharaoh his cup again, as you used to do when you were his cupbearer. [14] But when things go well for you, think of me. Be kind to me, speak of me to Pharaoh, and get me released from this place. [15] For I was indeed stolen out of the land of the Hebrews, and here also I have done nothing that they should put me into the pit."[b]

[16] When the chief baker saw that the interpretation was favorable, he said to Joseph, "I also had a dream: there were three baskets of white bread[c] on my head, [17] In the top basket were baked goods of every kind for Pharaoh, but birds kept eating them out of the basket on my head." [18] And Joseph answered and said, "This is its interpretation: the three baskets are three days. [19] Within three days Pharaoh will lift your head off you and hang you from a tree,[d] and the birds will eat the flesh from you."

[20] On the third day, Pharaoh's birthday, he held a banquet for all his servants, and in the presence of his servants he lifted up the head of the chief cupbearer and the head of the chief baker. [21] He put the chief cupbearer back in his post, and the cupbearer once again handed Pharaoh his cup. 22 But he hanged the chief baker, as Joseph had interpreted to them. 23 But the chief cupbearer gave no thought to Joseph. He forgot all about him.

Notes

- a (40:13) An idiom for showing favor or for pardoning; also used of taking a census or a count. In 40:19 the phrase is turned grimly, "lift up your head from you," and in 40:20 it is used in both senses at once.
- b (40:15) Hebrew bor, "pit" or "dungeon," the same word used of the pit into which his brothers threw him (37:24).
- c (40:16) Or "baskets of white wicker" or "baskets with holes." The meaning of Hebrew chori is uncertain. Brenton's Septuagint reads "three baskets of mealy food."
- d (40:19) Or "impale you on a stake." The body was displayed after death (compare Deuteronomy 21:22–23). Brenton's Septuagint reads "hang thee on a tree."

Chapter 41

1 When two full years[a] had gone by, Pharaoh had a dream. He was standing beside the Nile,[b] 2 and seven cows, attractive and fat, came up out of the Nile and grazed among the reeds.[c] 3 After them seven more cows came up from the river, wretched and lean, and they stood next to the first cows at the water's edge. 4 The wretched, lean cows devoured the seven sleek, well-fed cows. Then Pharaoh woke up. 5 He went back to sleep and had a second dream. Seven heads of grain, full and fine, grew up on a single stem. 6 Behind them seven more heads came up, shriveled and burned by the east wind.[d] 7 The thin ears devoured the seven plump and full ears. Then Pharaoh woke, and behold, it was a dream. 8 So in the morning his spirit was troubled, and he sent and called for all the magicians[e] of Egypt and all its wise men. Pharaoh told them his dreams, but there was no one who could interpret them to Pharaoh.

9 The chief cupbearer spoke up and said to Pharaoh, "Today I must call to mind my faults. 10 Pharaoh was furious with his servants, and he put me and the chief baker under guard in the house of the captain of the guard, 11 One night each of us had a dream, he and I, and each dream carried its own meaning. 12 There was a Hebrew youth in that place with us, a slave of the commander of the guard. We told him our dreams, and he explained them, telling each of us what his own dream meant. 13 It all turned out just as he explained it to us. I was given back my post, and the other man was hanged." 14 Pharaoh sent for Joseph, and they hurried him out of the dungeon.

He shaved, put on fresh clothing, and came into Pharaoh's presence.
15 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I have had a dream, and there is no one who can interpret it. I have heard it said of you that when you hear a dream you can interpret it." 16 Joseph answered Pharaoh, "It is not in me. God will give Pharaoh an answer of peace."[f] 17 Pharaoh told Joseph, "In my dream I stood on the riverbank of the Nile. 18 Seven cows, fat and attractive, came up out of the Nile and grazed among the reeds. 19 Then seven other cows came up behind them, feeble and very ugly and thin, worse than any I had ever seen in all the land of Egypt.
20 And the lean and ugly cows ate up the first seven fat cows, 21 Yet after they had swallowed them, no one could tell they had swallowed anything. They looked as wretched as before. Then I woke up. 22 In my dream I saw too seven heads of grain, full and fine, coming up on a single stem. 23 Behind them seven more heads sprang up, shrunken, lean, and burned by the east wind, 24 and the thin ears swallowed up the seven good ears. And I told it to the magicians, but there was no one who could explain it to me." 25 Joseph told Pharaoh, "Pharaoh's two dreams have one meaning.
God has made known to Pharaoh what he is going to do. 26 The seven good cows are seven years, and the seven good ears are seven years; the dreams are one. 27 The seven thin and ugly cows that rose up behind them are seven years, and the seven ears, empty and scorched by the east wind, will be seven years of famine. 28 That is what I meant when I said to Pharaoh that God has let Pharaoh see what he is going to do. 29 There will come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt, 30 but seven years of famine will follow them, and all the plenty will be forgotten in the land of Egypt; and the famine will devour the land, 31 The famine that follows will be so harsh that no one will remember the good years in the land. 32 Pharaoh was given the dream twice because God has firmly decided the matter, and God will soon carry it out. 33 So now Pharaoh should look for a man of understanding and wisdom and put him in charge of Egypt. 34 Pharaoh should also name officials throughout the land and collect a fifth of Egypt's harvest in the seven years of plenty.[g] 35 They should gather all the food of the good years ahead and pile up grain in the towns under Pharaoh's control, and guard it there as food. 36 This food will be held in store for the country, ready for the seven years of famine that will come upon Egypt, and the land will not be ruined by the famine." 37 This proposal pleased Pharaoh and all his servants. 38 Pharaoh asked his officials, "Could we ever find another man like this, who has the spirit of God in him?"[h] 39 And Pharaoh told Joseph, "God has made all this known to you, so no one else has your understanding and wisdom. 40 You shall be over my house, and all my people shall be ruled by your word.[i] Only as regards the throne will I be greater than you." 41 And Pharaoh said to Joseph, "See, I have set you over all the land of Egypt." 42 Pharaoh removed his signet ring from his own hand and placed it on Joseph's hand; he dressed him in robes of fine linen and hung a chain of gold around his neck. 43 He had Joseph ride in the chariot of his second-in-command, and men shouted before him, "Abrek!"[j] In this way Pharaoh put him over the whole land of Egypt. 44 Pharaoh told Joseph, "I am Pharaoh. But no one in all Egypt will move hand or foot unless you allow it." 45 Pharaoh gave Joseph the name Zaphenath-paneah.[k] He also gave him as wife Asenath,[l] daughter of Potiphera, priest of On.[m] And Joseph went forth over the land of Egypt.

46 Joseph was thirty years old when he took up his post before Pharaoh, king of Egypt. He left Pharaoh's presence and traveled throughout Egypt. 47 During the seven plentiful years the earth produced abundantly, 48 Joseph collected all the food grown in Egypt during those seven years and stored it in the towns, placing in each town the food from the fields that surrounded it. 49 The grain Joseph piled up was beyond counting, like the sand of the sea. In the end he gave up keeping records, because there was too much to measure.
50 Two sons were born to Joseph before the years of famine began. Their mother was Asenath, daughter of Potiphera, the priest of On. 51 Joseph called the name of the firstborn Manasseh. "For," he said, "God has made me forget all my hardship and all my father's house."[n] 52 The name of the second he called Ephraim, "For God has made me fruitful in the land of my affliction."[o] 53 The seven years of plenty that had been in the land of Egypt ended, 54 and the seven years of famine began to arrive, just as Joseph had said.

Famine struck every land, but throughout the land of Egypt there was bread. 55 When the whole land of Egypt grew hungry, the people cried out to Pharaoh for bread, and Pharaoh told all the Egyptians, "Go to Joseph; do whatever he tells you." 56 When famine covered the whole land, Joseph unsealed all the stores[p] and sold grain to the Egyptians, for the famine grew harsh in Egypt. 57 People from every land came to Joseph in Egypt to buy grain, since the famine was harsh throughout the world.

Notes

- a (41:1) Literally "two years of days." Brenton notes the same idiom in the Greek.
- b (41:1) Hebrew ye'or, an Egyptian word for the Nile or its channels. Brenton's Septuagint reads "the river."
- c (41:2) Hebrew achu, an Egyptian loanword for marsh grass, found also in Job 8:11. Brenton notes that the Septuagint keeps the word in Greek letters; his text renders it "sedge."
- d (41:6) The hot, dry wind from the desert, called the khamsin.
- e (41:8) Hebrew chartummim, an Egyptian loanword for priestly scholars skilled in sacred writings and magic (compare Exodus 7:11). Brenton's Septuagint reads "interpreters."
- f (41:16) Literally "God will answer the peace (shalom) of Pharaoh," that is, an answer for his welfare. Brenton's Septuagint reads "Without God an answer of safety shall not be given to Pharao."
- g (41:34) Or "organize the land." The verb may mean "take a fifth" or more generally "prepare." Brenton's Septuagint reads "take up a fifth part."
- h (41:38) Or "a spirit of the gods." Pharaoh, as an Egyptian, may mean it in the second sense. Brenton's Septuagint reads "the Spirit of God."
- i (41:40) Literally "at your mouth all my people shall kiss." The meaning is uncertain; it may mean "do homage" or "be ruled." Brenton notes that the Greek has "mouth," and his text reads "all my people shall be obedient to thy word."
- j (41:43) Probably an Egyptian word, perhaps meaning "Attention!" or "Make way!" though it sounds like a Hebrew word for "kneel." Brenton's Septuagint reads "a herald made proclamation before him."
- k (41:45) Probably an Egyptian name meaning "God speaks and he lives" or "the one who is called life." Brenton's Septuagint reads "Psonthomphanech."

- l (41:45) Asenath probably means “belonging to Neith,” an Egyptian goddess. The later Greek work Joseph and Aseneth tells of her conversion.
- m (41:45) On is Heliopolis, a center of sun worship, near modern Cairo. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “priest of Heliopolis.” Potiphera, “the one whom Ra has given,” is a fuller form of Potiphar.
- n (41:51) Manasseh sounds like nashshani, “he has made me forget.”
- o (41:52) Ephraim sounds like hiphrani, “he has made me fruitful.”
- p (41:56) Literally “all that was in them”; the Hebrew lacks a noun. Brenton’s Septuagint reads “all the granaries.”

Chapter 42

1 Jacob heard that grain could be bought in Egypt, and he said to his sons, “Why do you just stand there staring at each other?” 2 He told them, “I hear there is grain in Egypt. Go down there and buy some for us, so that we can stay alive and not starve.” 3 So ten of Joseph’s brothers went down to buy grain in Egypt. 4 Jacob would not let Benjamin, Joseph’s full brother, go along with the others, for fear that something might befall him. 5 The sons of Israel were among those coming to buy, for the famine had come upon the land of Canaan as well.
6 Now Joseph governed the land, and he was the one selling grain to everyone who came. Joseph’s brothers came and bowed low before him, faces to the ground. 7 Joseph knew his brothers the moment he saw them, but he acted as a stranger[a] and spoke harshly. “Where are you from?” he asked. “From Canaan,” they replied, “to buy food.” 8
And Joseph recognized his brothers, but they did not recognize him.
9 Joseph called to mind the dreams he had had about them. “You are spies!” he told them. “You came to find where our land lies open.”[b] 10 They said to him, “No, my lord, your servants have come to buy food. 11 We are all sons of one man. We are honest men. Your servants have never been spies.” 12 “Not so,” he told them. “You came to find where our land lies open.” 13 And they said, “We, your servants, are twelve brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan, and the youngest is now with our father, and one is no more.” 14 But Joseph answered, “What I said to you stands. You are spies! 15 In this way you will be tested: by the life of Pharaoh,[c] you shall not leave here unless your youngest brother comes. 16 Send one of your number back for your brother, and the rest of you stay here in chains. Your words will be put to the proof, to show whether there is any truth in you. Otherwise, by Pharaoh's life, you are spies!" 17 Then he locked them all up under guard for three days.

18 On the third day Joseph told them, "I fear God. Do as I say, and you will live. 19 If you are honest men, let one brother stay behind, bound in the prison where you are held, while the others go home with grain for your hungry families. 20 Then bring your youngest brother back to me. That will prove your words true, and you will not die." They agreed to this. 21 They said to one another, "We are surely being punished for what we did to our brother. We saw how he suffered when he pleaded with us for mercy, and we would not listen. That is why this suffering has come upon us." 22 Reuben answered them, "Did I not warn you, 'Do no wrong to the boy'? But you would not hear me. And now his blood is being demanded of us."[d] 23 They did not know that Joseph understood them, for there was an interpreter between them. 24 Joseph turned aside from them and wept. Then he came back and talked with them, and he had Simeon taken from among them and tied up while they watched. 25 Joseph gave orders for their bags to be filled with grain, for the silver of each one to be returned to his own sack, and for food to be supplied for the journey. And it was done for them.
29 When they came to Jacob their father in the land of Canaan, they told him all that had happened to them, saying, 30 "The man, the lord of the land, spoke roughly to us and took us to be spies of the land. 31 But we said to him, 'We are honest men; we have never been spies. 32 We are twelve brothers, sons of our father. One is no more, and the youngest is this day with our father in the land of Canaan.' 33 The man who is lord of the land said to us, 'This is how I will know that you are honest: leave one of your brothers with me, take food for your starving households, and be on your way. 34 Bring me your youngest brother, and then I will know that you are no spies but honest men. I will give your brother back to you, and you may do business in the land.'" 35 As they emptied their sacks, there was each man's bundle of money in his sack. And when they and their father saw their bundles of money, they were afraid. 36 Jacob their father said to them, "You have taken my children from me. Joseph is lost, Simeon is lost, and now you would carry off Benjamin. All these things fall on me!" 37 Reuben told his father, "If I fail to bring him home to you, you may put my own two sons to death. Leave him in my care, and I will bring him back." 38 Jacob answered, "No, my son is not going with you. His brother is dead and only he remains. Should any harm come to him on the way, you would bring my gray head down to Sheol in sorrow."[f]

- a (42:7) Hebrew wayyitnakker, "he made himself a stranger," a play on wayyakkirem, "he recognized them," in the same verse.
- b (42:9) That is, the weak and unguarded places of the land. Brenton's Septuagint reads "to observe the marks of the land are ye come."
- c (42:15) An oath formula. Brenton's Septuagint reads "by the health of Pharao."
- d (42:22) Literally "his blood is required." Compare 9:5–6.
- e (42:27) Hebrew malon, a place to spend the night, not necessarily a building.
- f (42:38) Hebrew Sheol; see the note on 37:35. Brenton's Septuagint reads "bring down my old age with sorrow to Hades."

1 Now the famine was severe in the land. 2 When the grain they had brought from Egypt was used up, their father told them, "Go back down and buy us a little more food." 3 Judah said to him, "The man gave us a solemn warning: 'You will not see my face unless your brother is with you.' 4 If you will send our brother with us, we will go down and buy you food. 5 But if you will not send him, we will not go down, for the man said to us, 'You shall not see my face, unless your brother is with you.'" 6 Israel said, "Why did you bring this trouble on me by telling the man that you still had a brother?" 7 They said, "The man questioned us closely about ourselves and our kin. He asked, 'Is your father alive? Do you have another brother?' We simply answered what he asked. How could we know he would say, 'Bring your brother down here'?" 8 And Judah said to Israel his father, "Send the boy with me, and we will get up and go, so that we may live and not die, both we and you and also our little ones. 9 I myself will be surety for him;[a] you may demand him at my hand. If I do not bring him to you and set him in your presence, I will have sinned against you all my days. 10 Had we not wasted all this time, we could have gone there and back twice by now."

11 Then Israel their father said to them, "If it must be so, then do this: put some of the choicest produce of the land in your containers and take a present down to the man—some balm, some honey, resin, myrrh, pistachio nuts, and almonds.[b] 12 Take twice the silver with you, and take back the silver that was put back in the openings of your sacks. It may have been a mistake. 13 Take also your brother, and get up, go again to the man. 14 May El Shaddai[c] give you mercy in the man's sight, so that he releases your other brother to you, and Benjamin too. And I, if I am to be bereaved, then bereaved I will be." 15 So the men took the gifts, twice the amount of silver, and Benjamin. They set off for Egypt and presented themselves to Joseph.

16 When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to the steward of his house, "Bring the men into the house, and kill an animal and get it ready, for the men are going to eat with me at noon." 17 The steward followed Joseph's orders and took the men into Joseph's house. 18 The men grew frightened when they were taken to Joseph's house. "We are being brought in here because of the silver that went back into our sacks the last time," they said. "He wants to attack us, overpower us, make slaves of us, and take our donkeys." 19 So at the entrance of the house they went up to Joseph's steward and spoke to him. 20 and said, "Please, my lord, we came down the first time to buy food. 21 But when we stopped for the night and opened our sacks, every man found his own silver in the top of his sack, the full weight of it. Now we have brought it back with us. 22 We have brought more silver as well, to buy food. We have no idea who put our silver back in our sacks." 23 "All is well,[d]" he said. "There is nothing to fear. It was your God, the God of your father, who placed treasure in your sacks for you. Your silver reached me." Then he brought Simeon out to them. 24 The steward took the men into Joseph's house. He gave them water to wash their feet and gave feed to their donkeys. 25 they prepared the present for Joseph's coming at noon, for they heard that they should eat bread there.

26 When Joseph came home, they brought him the present that was in their hands into the house, and bowed down to the ground before him. 27 And he inquired about their welfare and said, "Is your father well, the old man of whom you spoke? Is he still alive?" 28 They answered, "Your servant our father is in good health; he is still living." And they bent low and bowed down. 29 Looking up, he saw his brother Benjamin, his mother's son, and asked, "Is this your youngest brother, the one you told me about?" And he said, "May God be gracious to you, my son." 30 Joseph hurried away, deeply stirred at the sight of his brother, and looked for somewhere to weep. He went to his private room and wept there. 31 After washing his face he came out again. Holding himself in check, he said, "Bring in the meal." 32 They set a place for him by himself, for them by themselves, and for the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves, because Egyptians could not eat bread with Hebrews; it is an abomination to Egypt.[e] 33 And they sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright and the youngest according to his youth. And the men looked at one another in amazement. 34 Joseph had servings carried to them from his own table, and Benjamin's serving was five times larger than anyone else's.[f] So they feasted and drank freely with him.[g]

Notes

- a (43:9) Hebrew e'ervennu, "I will be his guarantor." Judah offers himself as guarantor; he later fulfills this pledge in 44:32–34.
- b (43:11) Several of these items appear in 37:25 as the goods of the traders who carried Joseph to Egypt. Brenton's Septuagint lists "gum and honey, and frankincense, and stacte, and turpentine, and walnuts."
- c (43:14) Traditionally "God Almighty"; see the note on El Shaddai at 17:1. Brenton's Septuagint reads "my God."
- d (43:23) Hebrew shalom lakhem, a greeting that also reassures: "All is well with you." Brenton's Septuagint reads "God deal mercifully with you," and Brenton explains the steward's last words as meaning that he was satisfied with the money paid.

- e (43:32) Greek historians also report that Egyptians avoided eating with foreigners. Compare 46:34.
- f (43:34) Literally "five hands," meaning five times as much. Brenton notes that the Greek says it "was magnified beyond the portions of all five times."
- g (43:34) Literally "drank and became drunk with him," that is, drank freely.

Chapter 44

1 He ordered the steward of his house, "Fill the sacks of the men with food, as much as they can carry, and put each man's money in the mouth of his sack, 2 Put my cup, the silver one, in the top of the youngest one's sack, along with the silver he paid for his grain." The steward did what Joseph said. 3 As soon as the morning was light, the men were sent away with their donkeys. 4 They were not far from the city when Joseph told his steward, "Go after those men at once. When you catch up with them, ask them, 'Why have you paid back good with evil? 5 Is this not the cup my lord drinks from, the one he uses to read omens?[a] What you have done is wicked.'" 6 When he overtook them, he spoke to them these words. 7 They said to him, "Why does my lord speak such words as these? Far be it from your servants to do such a thing! 8 Why, we even brought back to you from Canaan the silver we found in the tops of our sacks. Why would we steal silver or gold from your master's house? 9 If any of us, your servants, is found to have it, he must die, and the rest of us will be slaves to my lord." 10
"Very well, then," he said, "as you say. But only the one who is found with it will be my slave. The rest of you will go free." 11 Then each man quickly lowered his sack to the ground, and each man opened his sack. 12 He began the search with the oldest and finished with the youngest, and the cup turned up in Benjamin's sack. 13 They ripped their garments in grief. Each man loaded his donkey again, and they went back to the city.

14 Joseph was still at home when Judah and his brothers arrived, and they threw themselves on the ground before him. 15 Joseph asked them, "What have you done? Surely you knew that a man such as I can read omens?" 16 Judah said, "What can we say to my lord? How can we speak, and how can we prove ourselves innocent? God has uncovered the guilt of your servants. See, we are my lord's servants, we and the one in whose hand the cup was found." 17 But Joseph said, "I would never do that! Only the man who had the cup will be my slave. The rest of you may return in peace to your father."

18 Then Judah approached him and said, "Pardon me, my lord; permit your servant to say a word in the ears of my lord, and let your wrath not burn hot against your servant, for you are as Pharaoh. 19 My lord asked his servants, saying, 'Have you a father, or a brother?' 20 We said to my lord, 'We have a father, an old man, and a young child born in his old age. His brother is dead, and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loves him.' 21 Then you said to your servants, 'Bring him down to me, that I may set my eyes on him.' 22 We said to my lord, 'The boy cannot leave his father, for if he should leave his father, his father would die.' 23 But you told your servants, 'Your youngest brother must come down with you, or you will never see my face again.' 24 When we went back to your servant my father, we told him the words of my lord. 25 And when our father said, 'Go again, buy us a little food,' 26 we said, 'We are not able to go down. If our youngest brother is with us, then we shall go down, for we cannot see the man's face unless our youngest brother is with us.' 27 Then your servant my father said to us, 'You know that my wife bore me two sons. 28 The one went out from me, and I said, "Surely he has been torn to pieces," and I have not seen him since. 29 If you take this one from me too, and some harm befalls him, you will bring my gray head down to Sheol in misery.'[b] 30 So now, when I go to my father, your servant, and the boy is not with us, since his life is bound up with the boy's life,[c] then, 31 as soon as he sees that the boy is not with us, he will die, and your servants will bring down the gray hairs of your servant our father with sorrow to Sheol. 32 Your servant gave my father a pledge for the boy's safety. I said, 'If I fail to bring him home to you, I will bear the guilt before my father all my days.' 33 So now, I pray, let your servant stay instead of the boy as a slave to my lord, and let the boy go up with his brothers.[d] 34 How could I go back up to my father without the boy? I could not bear to see the misery it would bring on my father."

Notes

- a (44:5) Divination by cup was practiced by watching the patterns of oil or other liquids on water. Joseph may only be claiming the power to keep up his disguise (compare 44:15). Brenton's Septuagint adds at the start of this verse, "Why have ye stolen my silver cup?"
- b (44:29) Hebrew Sheol; see the note on 37:35. Brenton's Septuagint reads "to the grave," and Brenton notes that the Greek is "Hades." The same applies in 44:31.
- c (44:30) Literally "his soul is bound up with his soul." Compare the language of love in 1 Samuel 18:1.
- d (44:33) Judah, who once proposed selling Joseph as a slave (37:26–27), now offers himself as a slave in place of Rachel's other son.

Chapter 45

1 Joseph could no longer keep control of himself before everyone standing around him. "Have them all leave my presence!" he called out. So none of them were there with him when Joseph revealed himself to his brothers. 2 His weeping was so loud that the Egyptians heard it, and the news reached Pharaoh's house. 3 Joseph told his brothers, "I am Joseph! Is my father still living?" His brothers could not answer him, for they were dismayed at his presence. 4 "Please come closer," Joseph told them, and they came closer. "I am Joseph, your brother," he said, "the one you sold to be taken to Egypt. 5 Now do not be grieved, and do not let it burn in your eyes that you sold me here, for God sent me before you to preserve life. 6 Two years now the famine has gripped the land, and five more years are coming when no one will plow or reap. 7 God sent me here before you to make sure you would have descendants left on the earth, and to save your lives in a great deliverance.[a] 8 So it was not you who sent me here, but God. He has made me a father to Pharaoh,[b] and lord of all his house and ruler over all the land of Egypt. 9 Go quickly back to my father and tell him, 'Your son Joseph says this: God has made me master over all Egypt.
Come down to me without waiting. 10 You will settle in the region of Goshen[c] and be close to me, you, your sons, and your grandsons, with your sheep and cattle and everything you own. 11 I will take care of you there, for five years of famine are still ahead. Otherwise you and your family and all that is yours will be reduced to want.' 12 And now your eyes see, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin see, that it is my mouth that speaks to you. 13 Tell my father how greatly I am honored in Egypt, and tell him everything you have seen. Then bring my father down here quickly." 14 Then he fell upon his brother Benjamin's neck and wept, and Benjamin wept upon his neck. 15 He kissed each of his brothers and wept over them; and afterward his brothers spoke with him.

16 The news reached Pharaoh's house: "Joseph's brothers have come."
And it was good in the eyes of Pharaoh and of his servants. 17 Pharaoh told Joseph, "Give your brothers these orders: 'Load up your animals and return to Canaan. 18 Bring your father and your households to me, and I will give you the best part of Egypt's land; you shall eat the fat of the land.' 19 And you are ordered to do this: take wagons out of the land of Egypt for your little ones and your wives, and bring your father and come. 20 Do not worry about leaving your belongings behind, for the finest of all Egypt will be yours.'" 21 The sons of Israel did so. Joseph gave them wagons at Pharaoh's command, and he also gave them food for the road. 22 He gave every one of them a new set of clothes, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver, about seven and a half pounds, and five sets of clothes.[d] 23 He sent to his father these things: ten donkeys carrying the best goods of Egypt, and ten female donkeys carrying grain, bread, and food for his father along the way. 24 Thus he dismissed his brothers, and they set out; he said to them, "Do not fall out with one another[e] on the road." 25 So they went up out of Egypt and came to the land of Canaan to their father Jacob. 26 And they told him, "Joseph is still alive, and he is ruler over all the land of Egypt." And Jacob's heart went numb,[f] for he did not believe them. 27 But when they told him all the words of Joseph, which he had said to them, and when he saw the wagons that Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of their father Jacob revived.
28 And Israel said, "It is enough; Joseph my son is still alive. I will go and see him before I die."

Notes

- a (45:7) Or "to keep alive for you many survivors." The words "remnant" and "survivors" later become key words in the prophets for those whom God preserves.

- b (45:8) A title for a chief adviser of the king; compare Egyptian titles such as "father of the god." Brenton's Septuagint reads "as a father of Pharao."
- c (45:10) Goshen was in the eastern Nile Delta. Brenton's Septuagint reads "the land of Gesem of Arabia."
- d (45:22) Hebrew "three hundred of silver," that is, three hundred shekels, about 7½ pounds (3.4 kilograms), counting a shekel as about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); weight standards varied. Brenton's Septuagint reads "three hundred pieces of gold." Compare 37:28, where Joseph was sold for twenty pieces of silver.
- e (45:24) Or "do not be agitated" or "do not be afraid." The Hebrew verb ragaz means to tremble, whether with anger or fear. Brenton's Septuagint reads "Be not angry by the way."
- f (45:26) Literally "his heart grew cold." Brenton notes that the Greek reads "amazed in mind."

Chapter 46

1 So Israel set out with all that he had and came to Beersheba, and offered sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. 2 And God spoke to Israel in visions of the night and said, "Jacob, Jacob." And he said, "Here I am." 3 He said, "I am God,[a] your father's God. Have no fear of going down into Egypt, for I will make a great nation of you there. 4 I will go down to Egypt with you myself, and I will bring you back up again without fail. And Joseph's own hand will close your eyes." 5 Jacob left Beersheba, and the sons of Israel carried their father Jacob, with their little ones and their wives, in the wagons that Pharaoh had sent for his transport. 6 They took their cattle and the possessions they had acquired in the land of Canaan, and they entered Egypt, Jacob and all his offspring with him, 7 his sons and his sons' sons with him, his daughters and his sons' daughters; he brought all his offspring with him to Egypt.
8 These are the names of the sons of Israel who came to Egypt —Jacob and his sons: Reuben, Jacob's firstborn, 9 and the sons of Reuben: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. 10 The sons of Simeon: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman.[b] 11 The sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. 12 The sons of Judah: Er, Onan, Shelah, Perez, and Zerah (but Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan); and the sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul. 13 The sons of Issachar: Tola, Puvah, Yob,[c] and Shimron. 14 The sons of Zebulun: Sered, Elon, and Jahleel. 15 These are the sons of Leah, born to Jacob in Paddan-aram, along with his daughter Dinah; the total of his sons and daughters was thirty-three.[d] 16 The sons of Gad: Ziphion, Haggi, Shuni, Ezbon, Eri, Arodi, and Areli. 17 The sons of Asher: Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, and Beriah, with Serah their sister. The sons of Beriah: Heber and Malchiel. 18 These are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to Leah his daughter; and these she bore to Jacob, sixteen persons. 19 The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife: Joseph and Benjamin. 20 And to Joseph in the land of Egypt were born Manasseh and Ephraim, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera the priest of On, bore to him.[e] 21 And the sons of Benjamin: Bela, Becher, Ashbel, Gera, Naaman, Ehi, Rosh, Muppim, Huppim, and Ard.[f] 22 These are the sons of Rachel, who were born to Jacob, fourteen persons in all. 23 The son[g] of Dan: Hushim. 24 The sons of Naphtali: Jahzeel, Guni, Jezer, and Shillem. 25 These are the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to Rachel his daughter, and these she bore to Jacob, seven persons in all. 26 All the persons who came with Jacob into Egypt, his own offspring,[h] apart from the wives of Jacob's sons, numbered sixty-six persons. 27 Joseph's sons, who were born to him in Egypt, numbered two. In all, the persons of the house of Jacob who came to Egypt numbered seventy.[i]

28 Jacob sent Judah on ahead to Joseph, so that Joseph could guide him to Goshen.[j] And they arrived in the region of Goshen. 29 Then Joseph prepared his chariot and went up to meet Israel his father in Goshen. He presented himself to him and fell on his neck and wept on his neck a good while. 30 Israel said to Joseph, "Now let me die, since I have seen your face and know that you are still alive." 31 Joseph said to his brothers and to his father's household, "I will go up and tell Pharaoh and will say to him, 'My brothers and my father's household, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me. 32 And the men are shepherds, for they have been keepers of livestock, and they have brought their flocks and their herds and all that they have.' 33 So when Pharaoh summons you and asks, 'What work do you do?' 34 you shall say, 'Your servants have been herdsmen from our youth until now, we and our fathers alike,' so that you may settle in the land of Goshen, for every shepherd is an abomination to the Egyptians."[k]

Notes

- a (46:3) Hebrew ha'el, "the God," or "El." Brenton's Septuagint reads "I am the God of thy fathers."
- b (46:10) The lists of Simeon's sons in Numbers 26:12–13 and 1 Chronicles 4:24 differ: Jemuel is called Nemuel there, and Ohad is not named.
- c (46:13) Called Jashub in Numbers 26:24 and 1 Chronicles 7:1, and some ancient witnesses are reported to read Jashub here as well.
- d (46:15) The total includes Jacob himself and Dinah, but not Er and Onan, who had died (compare 46:12).
- e (46:20) Brenton's Septuagint adds here the sons of Manasseh and Ephraim: "Machir. And Machir begot Galaad," and "Sutalaam, and Taam. And the sons of Sutalaam; Edom." Compare Numbers 26:29–36.
- f (46:21) Brenton's Septuagint arranges this list differently, making Gera, Noeman, Anchis, Ros, and Mamphim sons of Bela, and adding "Gera begot Arad." Compare Numbers 26:38–40 and 1 Chronicles 8:1–5.
- g (46:23) Hebrew "sons," although only one is named. Called Shuham in Numbers 26:42.
- h (46:26) Literally "who came out from his thigh." Brenton notes that the Greek reads "thighs."
- i (46:27) Brenton's Septuagint reads "The sons of Joseph… were nine souls" and gives the total as "seventy-five souls," counting the descendants it adds in 46:20. Stephen follows this number in Acts 7:14, and some other ancient witnesses are reported to read seventy-five in Exodus 1:5 as well. Seventy is the number of the nations in chapter 10.
- j (46:28) Brenton's Septuagint reads "to meet him to the city of Heroes, into the land of Ramesses." Heroopolis was a city in the eastern Nile Delta.
- k (46:34) Compare 43:32. Joseph's advice keeps his family apart in Goshen, where they can remain a distinct people.

Chapter 47

1 Joseph went to Pharaoh and told him, "My father and brothers have arrived from Canaan with their sheep and cattle and all their goods.
They are in the region of Goshen now." 2 And from among his brothers he took five men and presented them to Pharaoh. 3 Pharaoh said to his brothers, "What is your occupation?" And they said to Pharaoh, "Your servants are shepherds, as our fathers were." 4 They said to Pharaoh, "We have come to sojourn in the land, for your servants' flocks have no pasture, because the famine is heavy in the land of Canaan. Now, please, let your servants live in the land of Goshen." 5 Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Your father and your brothers have come to you here.[a] 6 The land of Egypt is before you. Settle your father and your brothers in the best of the land. Let them live in the land of Goshen, and if you know any able men among them, put them in charge of my livestock." 7 Joseph brought his father Jacob in and presented him to Pharaoh, and Jacob gave Pharaoh his blessing.[b] 8 And Pharaoh said to Jacob, "How many are the days of the years of your life?" 9 And Jacob said to Pharaoh, "The days of the years of my sojourning[c] are a hundred and thirty years. Few and evil have been the days of the years of my life, and they have not attained to the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their sojourning." 10 And Jacob blessed Pharaoh and went out from the presence of Pharaoh. 11 Then Joseph settled his father and his brothers and gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the best of the land, in the land of Rameses,[d] as Pharaoh had commanded. 12 Joseph supplied food to his father, his brothers, and all his father's family, as much as each household needed for its little ones.[e] 13 There was no food anywhere in the land, for the famine was extremely severe, and the land of Egypt and the land of Canaan were worn out because of the famine. 14 Joseph took in all the silver to be found in Egypt and Canaan as payment for the grain people bought, and he brought the silver to Pharaoh's palace. 15 When the silver of Egypt and Canaan had run out, all Egypt came to Joseph and said, "Give us bread! Must we die in front of you because we have no silver left?" 16 "Then bring me your animals," Joseph said. "Since your silver has run out, I will trade you food for your livestock." 17 They brought their animals to Joseph, and he gave them food for their horses, sheep, goats, cattle, and donkeys. Through that year he fed them in return for all their herds. 18 When that year had passed, they came to him the next year and said to him, "We cannot conceal from my lord that our money is gone and the herds of cattle belong to my lord; nothing remains before my lord except our bodies and our land. 19 Why should we perish in front of you, we and our land as well? Take us and our land in payment for bread. We and our fields will belong to Pharaoh.

Only give us seed, so that we may live and not die, and our land not be left barren." 20 So Joseph acquired all the farmland of Egypt for Pharaoh. Every Egyptian sold his field, because the famine pressed so hard on them, and the land came into Pharaoh's hands. 21 He moved the people to the cities,[f] from one end of the territory of Egypt to the other. 22 The priests' land was the only land he did not acquire. The priests received a set portion from Pharaoh and lived on what he allotted them, so they had no need to sell their land. 23 Joseph told the people, "Today I have acquired you and your land for Pharaoh. Here is seed for you. Plant the fields. 24 When the crops come in, a fifth part goes to Pharaoh. Four parts will be yours, as seed for the fields and as food for yourselves, your households, and your children." 25 "You have kept us alive," they said. "If it pleases my lord, we will be Pharaoh's servants." 26 Joseph made this a law for the land of Egypt, still in force today: a fifth belongs to Pharaoh. Only the priests' land never passed to Pharaoh.[g]

27 So Israel made his home in Egypt, in Goshen. They held land there, bore many children, and increased greatly. 28 And Jacob lived in the land of Egypt seventeen years. So the days of Jacob, the years of his life, were a hundred and forty-seven years. 29 As the time of Israel's death came near, he called for his son Joseph and said, "If you care for me, place your hand under my thigh[h] and swear to treat me with faithful love. Do not bury me in Egypt. 30 When I lie down with my fathers, carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their grave." Joseph replied, "I will do as you ask." 31 "Swear to me," he said, and Joseph swore to him. Then Israel bowed down at the head of the bed.[i]

Notes

- a (47:5) Brenton's Septuagint arranges 47:5–6 differently, with Pharaoh's reply to the brothers' request and his words to Joseph in another order.
- b (47:7) Or "greeted Pharaoh." The Hebrew verb barakh can mean a formal greeting or farewell (compare 47:10), but the narrative gives it the weight of the promise in 12:3.
- c (47:9) Or "my life as a foreigner," from the same root as ger, "foreigner" or "resident alien." Compare Hebrews 11:13.

- d (47:11) Rameses was a city of the eastern Nile Delta, named after the later kings called Ramesses (compare Exodus 1:11). The name may update an older place name for later readers.
- e (47:12) Literally "according to the mouth of the little ones."
- f (47:21) Or "he made slaves of them," as Brenton's Septuagint reads: "he brought the people into bondage to him, for servants." The Hebrew words for the two readings look alike, and the Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to agree with the Septuagint.
- g (47:26) Records from Egypt show land held by the crown and by the temples, and a tax on harvests, though the exact rate varied.
- h (47:29) A solemn form of oath; see the note on 24:2.
- i (47:31) Hebrew mittah, "bed." With different vowels the same letters read matteh, "staff." Brenton's Septuagint reads "Israel did reverence, leaning on the top of his staff," and Hebrews 11:21 quotes this form.

Chapter 48

1 Some time later Joseph was told, "Your father is sick." He took his two sons Manasseh and Ephraim with him. 2 Someone told Jacob, "Look, your son Joseph has come to see you." Israel summoned his strength and sat up on the bed. 3 And Jacob said to Joseph, "El Shaddai[a] appeared to me at Luz in the land of Canaan and blessed me, 4 and said to me, 'I will make you fruitful and multiply you, and I will make of you a company of peoples, and will give this land to your offspring after you for an everlasting possession.' 5 Now your two sons, born to you in the land of Egypt before I came to you in Egypt, are mine; Ephraim and Manasseh will be mine, just as Reuben and Simeon are.
6 Any children born to you after them will be yours; in their inheritance they will be named after their brothers.[b] 7 As for me, when I was coming from Paddan, Rachel died beside me, to my sorrow, in the land of Canaan on the road, while there was still some distance[c] to go to Ephrath; I buried her there on the road to Ephrath (that is, Bethlehem)."
8 Israel caught sight of Joseph's sons and asked, "Whose are these?"
9 Joseph said to his father, "They are my sons, whom God has given me here." He said, "Bring them to me, I pray, and let me bless them." 10 Israel's eyes had grown dim with old age, so that he could hardly see.
Joseph brought the boys close to him, and he kissed them and held them in his arms. 11 And Israel said to Joseph, "I never expected to see your face; and now God has let me see your offspring also." 12 Then Joseph brought them out from between his knees,[d] and he bowed himself with his face to the earth. 13 And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel's left hand, and Manasseh in his left hand toward Israel's right hand, and brought them near him. 14 But Israel reached out his right hand and placed it on Ephraim's head, though he was the younger, and placed his left hand on Manasseh's head. He crossed his hands on purpose,[e] although Manasseh was the firstborn.

15 And he blessed Joseph and said, "The God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, the God who has been my shepherd[f] all my life long to this day, 16 the angel who has rescued[g] me from every harm, may he bless these boys. Through them may my name live on, and the names of my fathers Abraham and Isaac. May they increase into a great host upon the earth." 17 When Joseph noticed his father's right hand resting on the younger boy, Ephraim, it troubled him. He grasped his father's hand to move it over to Manasseh's head. 18 "No, my father," Joseph said, "this is the firstborn. Place your right hand on his head." 19 His father refused and said, "I am aware of it, my son, I am aware. From him also a people will arise, and he also will be great; yet his younger brother will be greater than he, and his offspring will become a multitude[h] of nations." 20 He blessed them on that day and said, "Israel will use your names in blessing, saying, 'May God make you like Ephraim and Manasseh.'" So he set Ephraim ahead of Manasseh.
21 Israel said to Joseph, "Look, I am dying, but God will be with you and will bring you back to your fathers' land. 22 And to you, above your brothers, I give one shoulder of land,[i] which I seized with sword and bow from the hand of the Amorites."

Notes

- a (48:3) Traditionally "God Almighty"; see the note on El Shaddai at 17:1.
- b (48:6) Later children of Joseph are to be counted under Ephraim and Manasseh, not as tribes of their own.

- c (48:7) Literally “a stretch of land” (compare 35:16). Brenton’s Septuagint reads “as I drew nigh to the horse-course of Chabratha of the land of Chanaan.”
- d (48:12) That is, from Jacob’s knees, where they had been set as a sign that he received them as his own (compare 30:3; 50:23). Brenton’s Septuagint reads “they did reverence to him.”
- e (48:14) Or “acting wisely with his hands.” The Hebrew verb can mean “to cross” or “to act with understanding.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “guiding his hands crosswise.”
- f (48:15) Or “who has fed me.” Brenton’s Septuagint reads “the God who continues to feed me.”
- g (48:16) Hebrew go’el, the family member who rescues a relative, buys back land, or avenges blood. This is the first use of the word in the Bible.
- h (48:19) Literally “fullness.”
- i (48:22) Hebrew shekhem, “shoulder” or “ridge,” which is also the name of the city Shechem (compare 33:18–19; Joshua 24:32; John 4:5). Brenton’s Septuagint reads “I give to thee Sicima, a select portion above thy brethren.”

Chapter 49

1 Then Jacob called his sons and said, “Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you what shall happen to you in the last days.[a] 2 Assemble and listen, O sons of Jacob, listen to Israel your father.
3 Reuben, you are my firstborn,[b] my might and the beginning of my strength, excelling in dignity and excelling in power. 4 Unstable[c] as water, you will not keep first place, for you climbed into your father’s bed and defiled it. Onto my couch he climbed!
5 Simeon and Levi are brothers; weapons of violence are their swords.[d] 6 Into their council let my soul not enter; with their assembly, my glory,[e] do not unite. For in their anger they slew men, and in their willfulness they hamstrung oxen.[f] 7 Cursed be their anger, for it is fierce, and their wrath, for it is cruel.[g] I will divide them in Jacob and scatter them in Israel.
8 Judah, your brothers will praise you.[h] Your hand will grip your enemies by the neck. Your father’s sons will bow low before you. 9 Judah is a lion’s cub; from the prey, my son, you have gone up.[i] He crouched, he lay down like a lion, and like a lioness; who dares rouse him? 10 The scepter will not leave Judah, nor the staff of command from between his feet,[j] until Shiloh comes,[k] and the peoples will obey him. 11 He ties his foal to the vine and his donkey’s colt to the choice vine; he washes his garments in wine, his robe in the blood of grapes.

12 His eyes are darker than wine, and his teeth whiter than milk.[l] 13 Zebulun will live by the seashore. Ships will find shelter with him, and his border will run toward Sidon.
14 Issachar is a sturdy donkey,[m] lying down among the saddlebags. 15 When he saw how good his resting place was, and how pleasant his land, he lowered his shoulder to the load and became a laborer under forced service.
16 Dan shall judge[n] his people as one of the tribes of Israel. 17 Dan shall be a snake beside the road, a viper along the path, biting the horse's heels so that its rider tumbles backward. 18 I wait for your salvation, Yahweh.
19 Gad: raiders shall raid him, but he shall raid at their heels.[o] 20 Asher's bread will be rich, and he will provide food fit for a king.
21 Naphtali is a deer set free, who gives birth to beautiful fawns.[p] 22 Joseph is a fruitful bough, a fruitful bough by a spring; his branches run over the wall.[q] 23 The archers savagely assailed him; they shot at him and pressed him hard, 24 yet his bow remained steady; his arms were made agile by the hands of the Mighty One of Jacob, from there, the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel,[r] 25 by the God of your father, who will help you, and by Shaddai,[s] who will bless you: blessings of the heavens above, blessings of the abyss that lies below, blessings of the breasts and of the womb. 26 Your father's blessings are greater than the blessings of the age-old mountains, greater than the riches of the lasting hills.[t] May they rest on Joseph's head, on the crown of the one who was set apart[u] among his brothers.
27 Benjamin is a wolf that tears its prey. In the morning he eats what he has caught, and in the evening he shares out the plunder." 28 These are all the twelve tribes of Israel, and this is what their father spoke to them when he blessed them. He gave each one the blessing that belonged to him. 29 Then he commanded them and said to them, "I am to be gathered to my people; bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, 30 in the cave in the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre in Canaan. Abraham bought it along with the field from Ephron the Hittite as a burial site of his own. 31 There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife. There they buried Isaac and Rebekah his wife, and there I buried Leah, [32] the field and the cave that is in it, which were bought from the sons of Heth." [33] When Jacob had finished giving his sons their charge, he gathered his feet up onto the bed, breathed out his life, and was gathered to his people.

Notes

- a (49:1) Or "in days to come." Brenton's Septuagint reads "in the last days."
- b (49:3) Brenton notes that "thou my first-born" may also be read as an address, since the Greek does not always distinguish the two forms.
- c (49:4) Or "boiling over" or "reckless." Brenton's Septuagint reads "insolent like water." Reuben's act is told in 35:22.
- d (49:5) The Hebrew word translated "swords" is rare and uncertain. Brenton's Septuagint reads "accomplished the injustice of their cutting off." Compare chapter 34.
- e (49:6) Or "my heart" or "my soul," reading a Hebrew word with different vowels (compare Psalm 16:9).
- f (49:6) Literally "hamstrung an ox." Brenton's Septuagint reads "houghed a bull."
- g (49:7) Brenton notes that the Greek for "cruel" is more literally "hardened" or "aggravated." Levi was later scattered among the cities of Israel (Joshua 21), and Simeon's land lay within Judah (Joshua 19:1–9).
- h (49:8) A play on the name Judah, "praise" (compare 29:35).
- i (49:9) Brenton's Septuagint reads "from the tender plant, my son, thou art gone up."
- j (49:10) Brenton's Septuagint reads "nor a prince from his loins," and Brenton notes that the Greek reads "thighs."
- k (49:10) Or "until tribute comes to him," or "until he comes to whom it belongs," dividing or pointing the Hebrew letters differently. Shiloh was also the name of the town where the tabernacle later stood. Brenton's Septuagint reads "until there come the things stored up for him; and he is the expectation of nations." Many Jewish and Christian interpreters have read this verse as a promise of the Messiah.
- l (49:12) Or "Dark are his eyes from wine, and white his teeth from milk." Brenton's Septuagint reads "His eyes shall be more cheering than wine."
- m (49:14) Literally "a donkey of bone." Brenton's Septuagint reads "Issachar has desired that which is good; resting between the inheritances."
- n (49:16) A play on the name Dan, "judge" (compare 30:6).
- o (49:19) A play on the name Gad, which sounds like the Hebrew words for "raiders" and "raid."
- p (49:21) Or "who gives beautiful words." Brenton's Septuagint reads "Nephthalim is a spreading stem, bestowing beauty on its fruit."
- q (49:22) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult. Or "Joseph is a wild donkey's colt, a wild colt by a spring; wild donkeys on the ridge." "Fruitful" plays on the name

Ephraim (compare 41:52). Brenton's Septuagint reads "Joseph is a son increased; my dearly loved son is increased; my youngest son, turn to me."

- r (49:24) "The Mighty One of Jacob" is Hebrew abir ya'aqov, a title of God. The next words may also be read "from there is the Shepherd." Brenton's Septuagint reads "thence is he that strengthened Israel from the God of thy father."
- s (49:25) Shaddai, traditionally "the Almighty"; see the note on 17:1. Brenton's Septuagint reads "and my God helped thee."
- t (49:26) Or "mightier than the blessings of my forebears, to the bounds of the everlasting hills," reading the Hebrew words differently.
- u (49:26) Hebrew nazir, "one set apart" or "one consecrated," the word later used for a Nazirite (Numbers 6). Brenton's Septuagint reads "of whom he took the lead."

Chapter 50

1 Joseph threw himself on his father's face, weeping over him and kissing him. 2 And Joseph commanded his servants the physicians to embalm his father. So the physicians embalmed Israel. 3 The embalming took forty days, the full time it requires, and the Egyptians mourned for Jacob seventy days.[a] 4 And when the days of weeping for him were past, Joseph spoke to the household of Pharaoh, saying, "If now I have found favor in your eyes, please speak in the ears of Pharaoh, saying, 5 'My father had me take an oath. He said, "I am dying. Bury me in the grave I dug for myself[b] in Canaan." So let me go up now and bury my father, and then I will come back.'" 6 Pharaoh replied, "Go and bury your father, just as you swore to him." 7 Joseph went up to bury his father, and with him went up all of Pharaoh's servants, the elders of his house, and all the elders of the land of Egypt, 8 Joseph's whole household went too, with his brothers and his father's household. Only their little ones, their sheep, and their cattle stayed behind in Goshen. 9 And there went up with him both chariots and horsemen. It was a very great company.
10 They came to the threshing floor of Atad, across the Jordan, and there they mourned with a very great and heavy lamentation; and he observed seven days of mourning for his father. 11 The Canaanites living there saw the mourning at the threshing floor of Atad and said, "The Egyptians are mourning bitterly here." For this reason the place, which lies across the Jordan, was named Abel-mizraim.[c] 12 So Jacob's sons carried out his instructions. 13 They took him to Canaan and buried him in the cave in the field of Machpelah, facing Mamre, the cave Abraham had bought with the field from Ephron the Hittite as a burial site of his own. 14 Once his father was buried, Joseph went back to Egypt, together with his brothers and everyone who had gone with him for the burial.

15 When Joseph's brothers saw that their father was dead, they said, "What if Joseph hates us and pays us back in full for all the evil that we did to him?" 16 They sent word to Joseph: "Before his death your father gave us this instruction: 17 'This is what you shall say to Joseph:
"Please forgive[d] your brothers' transgression and their sin, for they treated you badly." So now, please pardon the transgression of the servants of the God of your father." Joseph wept while they spoke to him. 18 Then his brothers came themselves and threw themselves down in front of him. "We are your slaves," they said. 19 Joseph told them, "Do not fear. Am I in God's place?[e] 20 As for you, you planned evil against me, but God planned it for good, to bring about what is happening today, the saving of many people alive.[f] 21 So now, do not be afraid. I myself will sustain you and your little ones." He comforted them and spoke to their hearts with kindness.
22 Joseph stayed in Egypt, he and his father's house, and Joseph lived one hundred ten years.[g] 23 And Joseph saw Ephraim's children of the third generation. The children also of Machir the son of Manasseh were born upon Joseph's knees.[h] 24 Joseph told his brothers, "I am dying, but God will surely visit you and bring you up from this land to the land he promised by oath to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob." 25 Joseph had the sons of Israel swear an oath. "God will surely take note of you," he said, "and then you must bring my bones up from this place."[i] 26 So Joseph died, being a hundred and ten years old. They embalmed him,[j] and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

Notes

- a (50:3) Brenton's Septuagint reads "Egypt mourned for him seventy days." Egyptian sources also describe a long period of embalming and mourning, especially for persons of rank.
- b (50:5) Or "that I bought for myself." The Hebrew verb can mean either "dig" or "buy" (compare 23:16–20). Brenton's Septuagint reads "which I dug for myself."

- c (50:11) Abel-mizraim sounds like "mourning of Egypt" but means "meadow of Egypt." Brenton's Septuagint reads "The mourning of Egypt."
- d (50:17) Literally "lift up" or "bear." Brenton notes that the Greek is literally "accept."
- e (50:19) Brenton's Septuagint reads "Fear not, for I am God's."
- f (50:20) Brenton's Septuagint reads "that much people might be fed." Compare 45:5–8.
- g (50:22) A hundred and ten years was the Egyptian ideal of a full and blessed life. Joshua also dies at this age (Joshua 24:29).
- h (50:23) A sign that Joseph received them into his family (compare 30:3; 48:12). Brenton's Septuagint reads "were borne on the sides of Joseph," and Brenton notes that the Greek reads "thighs."
- i (50:25) Compare Exodus 13:19; Joshua 24:32; Hebrews 11:22.
- j (50:26) Brenton notes that the Greek reads "buried him" here, though his text reads "they prepared his corpse." Genesis ends with the hope of 50:24: God will visit his people and bring them to the promised land.

Exodus

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 These are the names[a] of the sons of Israel who came into Egypt with Jacob; each man came with his household: 2 Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, 3 Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, 4 Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher. 5 All the persons descended from Jacob[b] numbered seventy.[c] Joseph was already in Egypt.
6 Then Joseph died, and all his brothers, and all that generation. 7 The Israelites were fruitful and swarmed;[d] they became numerous and grew exceedingly mighty, and the land was full of them.
8 Then a new king arose over Egypt who did not know Joseph. 9 He said to his people, "See, the people of the Israelites are too many and too mighty for us. 10 Come, let us deal shrewdly with them, or they will multiply, and if war breaks out, they will join our enemies, fight against us, and go up out of the land." 11 So they set taskmasters over them to oppress them with forced labor. They built supply cities for Pharaoh:[e] Pithom and Rameses.[f] 12 Yet the harder they were oppressed, the more they increased and spread abroad, and the Egyptians grew to dread the Israelites. 13 The Egyptians made the Israelites work ruthlessly. 14 They embittered their lives with harsh service, with mortar and bricks and all manner of labor in the fields; in every task in which they worked them, they were ruthless.
15 Then the king of Egypt spoke to the Hebrew midwives, one named Shiphrah and the other named Puah.[g] 16 He said, "When you act as midwife to the Hebrew women and look upon the birthstool,[h] if it is a boy, you shall put him to death, but if it is a girl, she shall live." 17 The midwives, however, feared God. They did not do what the king of Egypt had commanded them, and they kept the boys alive.
18 So the king of Egypt summoned the midwives and said to them,
"Why have you done this and let the boys live?" 19 The midwives answered Pharaoh, “Hebrew women are not like Egyptian women; they are vigorous[i] and have given birth before the midwife arrives.” 20 So God dealt well with the midwives, and the people multiplied and grew very strong. 21 Because the midwives feared God, he gave them households of their own.[j] 22 Pharaoh then gave this command to all his people: “Every boy who is born[k] you shall cast into the Nile, but every girl you shall keep alive.”

Notes

- a (1:1) Hebrew we’elleh shemot, “and these are the names.” The opening words, Shemot (“Names”), are the Hebrew title of the book. The English title Exodus comes from the Greek Exodos, “departure.”
- b (1:5) Hebrew “who came out of Jacob’s thigh,” a Hebrew way of saying his direct descendants.
- c (1:5) The Septuagint and a Dead Sea Scroll of Exodus read “seventy-five,” the number Stephen gives in Acts 7:14. Genesis 46:27 gives seventy in the Hebrew and seventy-five in the Septuagint, which counts additional descendants of Joseph.
- d (1:7) Or “teemed.” The verbs echo the creation blessing of Genesis 1:28 and 9:1.
- e (1:11) Pharaoh is a title meaning “great house,” that is, the royal palace. Exodus never gives the personal name of the king.
- f (1:11) The Septuagint adds “and On, which is Heliopolis.”
- g (1:15) Shiphrah probably means “beautiful” and Puah perhaps “splendid” or “girl”; both meanings are uncertain. Both names are attested among Semitic names of the period. The Hebrew can also be read “the midwives of the Hebrews,” leaving open whether they were themselves Hebrews or Egyptians.
- h (1:16) Hebrew “on the two stones,” probably the stones a woman crouched on to give birth.
- i (1:19) Or “lively.” The Hebrew word occurs only here; it is related to the word for “living,” or perhaps to the word for “animal,” in the sense “they give birth easily, like animals.”
- j (1:21) Literally “he made houses for them,” that is, he gave them families.
- k (1:22) The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and the Targums add “to the Hebrews.”

Chapter 2

1 Now a man from the house of Levi went and married a daughter of Levi.[a] 2 The woman conceived and bore a son. When she saw that he was a fine[b] child, she hid him three months. 3 When she was no longer able to hide him, she got a papyrus basket[c] for him and daubed it with bitumen and pitch. She placed the child in it and laid it among the reeds at the edge of the Nile. 4 His sister stationed herself at a distance to find out what would happen to him.

5 Then Pharaoh's daughter came down to bathe at the Nile, while her young women walked along beside the Nile. She saw the basket among the reeds and sent her servant girl to get it. 6 When she opened it, she saw the child, and there was the boy, crying. She had pity on him and said, "This is one of the Hebrews' children." 7 Then his sister said to Pharaoh's daughter, "Shall I go and call a nursing woman from the Hebrews to nurse the child for you?" 8 Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Go." So the young woman went and called the child's mother.
9 Pharaoh's daughter said to her, "Take this child away and nurse him for me, and I will pay your wages." So the woman took the child and nursed him. 10 The child grew, and she brought him to Pharaoh's daughter, and he became a son to her. She called his name Moses,[d] saying, "For I drew him out of the water." 11 In those days, when Moses had grown up, he went out to his people[e] and looked at their forced labor. He saw an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, one of his own people. 12 He looked this way and that, and when he saw no one, he struck down the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. 13 He went out the next day, and there were two Hebrew men fighting. He said to the one in the wrong, "Why are you striking your fellow Hebrew?" 14 But he said, "Who appointed you as prince and judge over us? Do you intend to slay me, as you slew the Egyptian?" Moses was frightened and thought, "Surely the matter has become known." 15 When Pharaoh heard about this matter, he sought to kill Moses. But Moses fled from Pharaoh and settled in the land of Midian,[f] and he sat down by a well.
16 Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters. They came and drew water and filled the troughs to water their father's flock. 17 Then the shepherds came and drove them away, but Moses stood up, came to their rescue, and watered their flock. 18 When they came to their father Reuel,[g] he said, "Why have you come back so soon today?" 19
They said, "An Egyptian rescued us from the hand of the shepherds.
He even drew water for us and watered the flock." 20 He said to his daughters, "Where is he, then? Why did you abandon the man? Call him in to eat bread." 21 Moses agreed to stay with the man, and he gave Moses his daughter Zipporah[h] as wife. 22 She bore a son, and he named him Gershom,[i] for he said, "I have become a foreigner in a foreign land."[j]

23 In those many days[k] the king of Egypt died. The Israelites sighed because of their slavery and cried out; their plea for help from their bondage rose up to God. 24 God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob. 25 God saw the Israelites, and God knew.[l]

Notes

- a (2:1) The parents are named in 6:20 as Amram and Jochebed.
- b (2:2) Hebrew tov, "good," the word used in Genesis 1 when God saw that what he made was good.
- c (2:3) Hebrew tevah, the word used for Noah's ark (Genesis 6–9) and nowhere else in the Bible.
- d (2:10) The Hebrew name Mosheh sounds like mashah, "to draw out"; in form it means "one who draws out." It also resembles the Egyptian word mose, "is born" or "son," found in names such as Thutmose and Ahmose.
- e (2:11) Hebrew "his brothers," here and in the rest of the verse ("one of his brothers").
- f (2:15) Midian was a people of northwest Arabia and the Sinai region, descended from Abraham through Keturah (Genesis 25:2).
- g (2:18) Reuel means "friend of God." He is also called Jethro (3:1; 18:1) and, in Numbers 10:29, Moses' father-in-law is called "Hobab son of Reuel."
- h (2:21) Zipporah means "bird."
- i (2:22) Gershom sounds like ger sham, "a foreigner there."
- j (2:22) Some ancient witnesses, including some Septuagint manuscripts and the Latin Vulgate, add: "She conceived again and bore a son, and he named him Eliezer, saying, 'The God of my father is my help and has rescued me from the hand of Pharaoh.'" Compare 18:4.
- k (2:23) Hebrew "in those many days."
- l (2:25) Literally "and God knew," without an object. The Septuagint reads "and he made himself known to them." The sense is that God took notice of their condition.

Chapter 3

1 Moses was tending the flock of his father-in-law Jethro,[a] the priest of Midian. He led the flock to the far side of the wilderness and came to Horeb,[b] the mountain of God. 2 The angel of Yahweh[c] appeared to him in a flame of fire from the middle of a bush.[d] He looked, and there was the bush, burning with fire, yet the bush was not consumed. 3 Moses said, "I must turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush does not burn up." 4 Yahweh saw that he turned aside to see, and God called to him out of the midst of the bush: "Moses, Moses!" And he answered, "Here I am." 5 Then he said, "Come no closer. Remove your sandals from your feet, for the place on which you stand is holy ground." 6 He also said, "I am the God of your father,[e] the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look at God.

7 Then Yahweh said, "I have surely seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt. I have heard their cry because of their taskmasters. I know their sufferings. 8 So I have come down to deliver them from the power of the Egyptians and to bring them up from that land into a good and broad land, a land flowing with milk and honey,[f] to the place of the Canaanites and the Hittites and the Amorites and the Perizzites and the Hivites and the Jebusites.[g] 9 Behold, the outcry of the Israelites has reached me, and I myself have seen the oppression with which the Egyptians are oppressing them. 10 So now go. I am sending you to Pharaoh, so that you may bring my people, the Israelites, out of Egypt."

11 But Moses said to God, "Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh and bring the Israelites out of Egypt?" 12 He said, "I will be with you.[h] And this will be the sign for you that I have sent you: when you have brought the people out of Egypt, you will worship God on this mountain."

13 Then Moses said to God, "Suppose I come to the Israelites and say to them, 'The God of your fathers has sent me to you,' and they ask me, 'What is his name?' What shall I tell them?" 14 God said to Moses, "I am who I am."[i] And he said, "This is what you are to say to the Israelites: 'I am[j] has sent me to you.'" 15 God also said to Moses, "This is what you are to say to the Israelites: 'Yahweh,[k] the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you.' This is my name forever, and this is how I am to be remembered from generation to generation.[l]

16 “Go and assemble the elders of Israel and say to them, ‘Yahweh, the God of your fathers—the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—has appeared to me and said, “I have surely taken note of you[m] and of what is being done to you in Egypt. 17 I have promised to bring you up from the affliction of Egypt into the land of the Canaanites and the Hittites and the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites —a land that flows with milk and honey.”’ 18 They will heed your voice.
Then you and the elders of Israel shall go in to the king of Egypt and say to him, ‘Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, has encountered us; now, we ask, let us go a three days’ journey into the wilderness, that we may sacrifice to Yahweh our God.’ 19 But I know that the king of Egypt will not let you go unless he is forced by a mighty hand.[n] 20
So I will stretch out my hand and strike Egypt with all my wonders that I will do among them. After that he will let you go. 21 And I will give this people favor in the sight of the Egyptians, so that when you go, you will not go empty-handed. 22 Each woman shall ask her neighbor, and any woman who lodges in her house, for silver articles and gold articles and for garments; you shall put these on your sons and daughters, and so you shall strip the Egyptians.”

Notes

- a (3:1) Jethro probably means “abundance” or “excellence.” He is called Reuel in 2:18.
- b (3:1) Horeb, meaning “dry” or “desolate,” is another name for Mount Sinai.
- c (3:2) Yahweh is the personal name of God, written in Hebrew with the four letters YHWH. This is its first appearance in Exodus; on its meaning, see the note at 3:15. Here “the angel of Yahweh” is soon identified with Yahweh himself (verse 4).
- d (3:2) Hebrew seneh, a thorny bush, probably a kind of bramble or acacia. The word sounds like Sinai.
- e (3:6) The Samaritan Pentateuch and some Septuagint manuscripts read “fathers,” as in verses 13 and 15.
- f (3:8) A traditional description of a fertile land good for grazing (milk from goats and sheep) and for bees or fruit (honey can also mean syrup made from dates or figs).
- g (3:8) The list of the peoples of Canaan varies in length and order; the Septuagint and the Samaritan Pentateuch often add the Girgashites to make seven peoples, as in Deuteronomy 7:1.
- h (3:12) Hebrew ki ehyeh immak, “for I will be with you.” The verb ehyeh (“I will be”) prepares for the name God gives in verse 14.

- i (3:14) Hebrew ehyeh asher ehyeh. The verb hayah, “to be,” in this form can mean “I am,” “I will be,” or “I become,” so the phrase can also be translated “I will be who I will be” or “I am the one who is.” The Septuagint translates “I am the one who exists” (ego eimi ho on). The name expresses God’s self-existence, his faithful presence with his people (verse 12), and his freedom to make himself known as he chooses.
- j (3:14) Hebrew ehyeh, “I am” or “I will be,” the first word of verse 14 used as a name. The Septuagint reads “The one who is has sent me.”
- k (3:15) Hebrew YHWH, God’s personal name, which occurs about 6,800 times in the Hebrew Bible. Here God explains it by the verb in verse 14: ehyeh (“I am”) is the name in God’s own mouth, and YHWH (“he is” or “he will be”) is the same name spoken by others about him. Ancient Hebrew was written without vowels, and from the centuries before Christ onward, Jews out of reverence stopped pronouncing the name and read Adonai, “Lord,” in its place. The Septuagint translated it kyrios, “Lord,” and most English Bibles print “the LORD.” The pronunciation Yahweh is supported by early Christian writers who give it in Greek as Iaoue and Iabe, and by the short form Yah (15:2) and names such as Elijah and Isaiah. The form “Jehovah” arose later by combining the consonants YHWH with the vowels of Adonai. This translation writes the name as Yahweh throughout.
- l (3:15) Literally “and this is my remembrance from generation to generation.”
- m (3:16) Or “I have surely visited you,” that is, come to your aid. Joseph used the same words in Genesis 50:24–25.
- n (3:19) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint reads “except by a mighty hand,” and some interpreters read the Hebrew “not even by a mighty hand,” meaning that only the plagues will break his resistance.

Chapter 4

1 Moses answered, “But what if they will not believe me or listen to my voice, and say, ‘Yahweh did not appear to you’?” 2 Yahweh said to him, “What is that in your hand?” He said, “A staff.” 3 He said, “Throw it on the ground.” So he threw it on the ground, and it became a snake, and Moses ran from it. 4 Yahweh said to Moses, “Stretch out your hand and seize it by the tail.” He stretched out his hand and took hold of it, and it turned into a staff in his palm. 5 “This is so that they may believe that Yahweh, the God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you.” 6 Yahweh also said to him, “Put your hand inside your cloak.” So he put his hand inside his cloak, and when he took it out, there was his hand, diseased,[a] white as snow. 7 He said, “Return your hand to your bosom." So he returned his hand to his bosom, and when he brought it out of his bosom, it was restored like the rest of his flesh. 8 "If they will not believe you or listen to the voice of the first sign, they may believe the voice of the second sign. 9 And if they will not believe even these two signs or listen to your voice, take some water from the Nile and pour it on the dry ground. The water you take from the Nile will become blood on the dry ground."

10 But Moses said to Yahweh, "Please, Lord,[b] I have never been eloquent, neither yesterday nor the day before, nor since you began to speak to your servant; for I am slow in speaking and slow in tongue." 11 Yahweh said to him, "Who put a mouth on humankind?[c] Or who makes someone mute or deaf, sighted or blind? Is it not I, Yahweh? 12 So now go, and I will be with your mouth and teach you what you are to say." 13 But he said, "Please, Lord, send someone else, anyone you will send."[d] 14 Yahweh's anger flared against Moses. He said, "Is not Aaron[e] the Levite your brother? I know that he speaks well. Now see, he is on his way out to meet you, and when he sees you he will rejoice in his heart. 15 You will speak to him and put the words in his mouth. I will be with your mouth and with his mouth, and I will teach you both what you are to do. 16 He will speak for you to the people. He will be a mouth for you, and you will be like God to him.[f] 17 And take this staff in your hand, with which you will do the signs."

18 Moses departed and returned to Jether,[g] his father-in-law, and said to him, "Let me go, I pray, and return to my kinsmen who are in Egypt, and see whether they are still living." Jethro said to Moses, "Go in peace." 19 Yahweh said to Moses in Midian, "Go, return to Egypt, for all the men who were seeking your life are dead." 20 Moses took his wife and his sons, set them upon a donkey, and returned to the land of Egypt; and the staff of God was in his hand.

21 Yahweh said to Moses, "As you go back to Egypt, take care to do before Pharaoh all the wonders that I have placed in your hand. But I will harden[h] his heart, so that he will not release the people. 22 Then you are to say to Pharaoh, 'This is what Yahweh says: Israel is my son, my firstborn. 23 I said to you, "Let my son go, so that he may serve me." But you refused to let him go. So now I will kill your son, your firstborn.'"

24 On the way, at a lodging place, Yahweh met him[i] and sought to put him to death. 25 Then Zipporah took a flint knife and cut her son's foreskin, and she touched it to his feet[j] and said, "You are indeed a bridegroom of blood to me!" 26 So he let him go. She had said "bridegroom of blood" on account of the circumcision.[k]

27 Yahweh said to Aaron, "Go into the wilderness to meet Moses." So he went and met him at the mountain of God and kissed him. 28 Moses told Aaron all the words of Yahweh with which he had sent him, and all the signs he had commanded him to do. 29 Then Moses and Aaron went and gathered all the elders of the Israelites. 30 Aaron told them all the words that Yahweh had spoken to Moses, and he did the signs before the eyes of the people. 31 The people believed; and when they heard that Yahweh had visited the Israelites and had seen their affliction, they bowed their heads and worshiped.

Notes

- a (4:6) Hebrew metsora'at, traditionally "leprous." The Hebrew term covers a range of skin diseases and is not limited to leprosy (Hansen's disease).
- b (4:10) Hebrew Adonai, "Lord," a title of respect, not the divine name. So also in verse 13.
- c (4:11) Hebrew adam, "humankind" or "a human being."
- d (4:13) Literally "send by the hand of whom you will send."
- e (4:14) The meaning of the name Aaron is uncertain; it may be of Egyptian origin.
- f (4:16) Hebrew "you will be God to him." Moses will give Aaron the message as God gives a message to a prophet. Compare 7:1.
- g (4:18) Jether is a short form of Jethro; the Samaritan Pentateuch and several Hebrew manuscripts read "Jethro" here.
- h (4:21) Hebrew hazaq, "to make strong" or "make firm." Exodus uses three verbs for Pharaoh's hardened heart: hazaq ("make strong," as here), kaved ("make heavy," first in 7:14), and qashah ("make hard," first in 7:3). Sometimes God is the subject, sometimes Pharaoh hardens his own heart, and sometimes the text simply says that his heart was hardened.
- i (4:24) Hebrew "met him." The Hebrew does not say whether "him" is Moses or his son. The Septuagint reads "an angel of the Lord met him."
- j (4:25) Hebrew "his feet," perhaps a polite way of referring to the genitals. Whose feet are meant, those of Moses, of the son, or of the one who attacked, is not stated.

- k (4:26) Or "because of the circumcision." The meaning of this very brief and ancient story is uncertain. Zipporah's act seems to supply a missing circumcision and so to turn away the threat.

Chapter 5

1 Afterward Moses and Aaron went in and spoke to Pharaoh: "Thus says Yahweh, the God of Israel: 'Send my people away, that they may celebrate a feast to me in the wilderness.'" 2 Pharaoh answered, "Who is Yahweh, that I should obey his voice and send Israel away? I do not know Yahweh, and I certainly will not send Israel away." 3 They said, "The God of the Hebrews has encountered us. Let us go, we pray, a journey of three days into the wilderness and sacrifice to Yahweh our God, lest he strike us with pestilence or with the sword." 4 The king of Egypt said to them, "Moses and Aaron, why do you draw the people away from their work? Go back to your burdens!" 5 Pharaoh also said, "Look, the people of the land are now many,[a] and you would make them rest from their labors!" 6 On that very day Pharaoh gave orders to the taskmasters over the people and to their foremen,[b] 7 "You shall no longer supply the people with straw for making bricks, as in the past; let them go and collect straw for themselves. 8 But you are to require of them the same quota of bricks they made before. Do not reduce it, for they are lazy. That is why they are crying out, 'Let us go and sacrifice to our God.' 9 Let heavier work be laid on the men, so that they are kept busy with it and pay no attention to lying words." 10 The people's taskmasters and their foremen went out and spoke to the people: "Thus says Pharaoh: 'I am not giving you straw. 11 You yourselves go and take straw wherever you can find it, but none of your work will be diminished.'" 12 So the people scattered throughout the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw. 13 The taskmasters kept pressing them, saying, "Finish your work, your daily quota, just as when there was straw." 14 And the foremen of the Israelites, whom Pharaoh's taskmasters had set over them, were beaten and asked,
"Why have you not completed your quota of bricks yesterday and today, as before?"

15 Then the foremen of the Israelites came and cried out to Pharaoh, "Why do you treat your servants this way? 16 No straw is given to your servants, yet they say to us, 'Make bricks!' Look, your servants are beaten, but the fault is with your own people."[c] 17 He answered, "You are idle, you are idle! That is why you keep saying, 'Let us go and sacrifice to Yahweh.' 18 Now go and work. No straw will be given to you, but you must still deliver the full quota of bricks." 19 The foremen of the Israelites saw that they were in trouble when they were told, "You must not reduce your daily quota of bricks." 20 As they left Pharaoh's presence, they encountered Moses and Aaron standing in their path to meet them. 21 They said to them, "May Yahweh look upon you and judge you, for you have made our scent foul in the eyes of Pharaoh and of his servants, putting a sword in their hands to kill us." 22 Then Moses turned to Yahweh and said, "Lord,[d] why have you brought trouble on this people? Why did you ever send me? 23 From the time I came to Pharaoh to speak in your name, he has dealt badly with this people, and you have not delivered your people at all."

Notes

- a (5:5) The Samaritan Pentateuch reads "now they are more numerous than the people of the land."
- b (5:6) Hebrew shoterim, officials or scribes, here Israelites appointed over their own people (verse 14).
- c (5:16) The Hebrew is difficult, literally "and your people sin." The Septuagint reads "you wrong your people."
- d (5:22) Hebrew Adonai.

Chapter 6

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Now you will see what I will do to Pharaoh. Under a mighty hand he will let them go; under a mighty hand he will drive them out of his land." 2 God spoke to Moses and said to him, "I am Yahweh. 3 I appeared to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as El Shaddai,[a] but I was not known to them by my name Yahweh.[b] 4 I also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land where they lived as foreigners. 5 Moreover, I have heard the groaning of the Israelites, whom the Egyptians are holding in slavery, and I have remembered my covenant. 6 Therefore say to the Israelites, 'I am Yahweh, and I will bring you out from beneath the forced labor of the Egyptians; I will free you from their servitude, and I will redeem[c] you with an outstretched arm and with mighty acts of judgment. 7 I will take you as my people, and I will be your God. Then you will know that I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians. 8 I will lead you into the land that I swore[d] to give to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and I will give it to you for a possession. I am Yahweh.'" 9 Moses spoke thus to the Israelites, but they did not heed him on account of their anguish of spirit[e] and their hard bondage.

10 Then Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 11 "Go in, tell Pharaoh king of Egypt to let the Israelites go out of his land." 12 Moses spoke before Yahweh, saying, "See, the Israelites have not heeded me; how then will Pharaoh heed me, since my lips are uncircumcised?"[f] 13 Yet Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron and gave them a charge concerning the Israelites and Pharaoh king of Egypt, to bring the Israelites out of the land of Egypt.

14 These are the heads of their fathers' houses. The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. These are the clans of Reuben. 15 The sons of Simeon: Jemuel, Jamin, Ohad, Jachin, Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman. These are the clans of Simeon. 16 These are the names of Levi's sons, by their generations: Gershon,[g] Kohath, and Merari. Levi's lifetime was 137 years. 17 The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei, by their clans. 18 The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. Kohath's lifetime was 133 years. 19 The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of the Levites according to their generations. 20 Amram took Jochebed,[h] his father's sister,[i] as his wife, and she bore him Aaron and Moses.[j] Amram's lifetime was 137 years.[k] 21 The sons of Izhar: Korah, Nepheg, and Zichri. 22 The sons of Uzziel: Mishael, Elzaphan, and Sithri. 23 Aaron married Elisheba,[l] daughter of Amminadab and sister of Nahshon, and she bore him Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar,[m] and Ithamar. 24 The sons of Korah: Assir, Elkanah, and Abiasaph. These are the clans of the Korahites. 25 Eleazar, Aaron's son, married one of the daughters of Putiel, and she bore him Phinehas.[n] These are the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites by their clans.

26 These are the same Aaron and Moses to whom Yahweh said, "Bring the Israelites out of the land of Egypt by their divisions."[o] 27 It was these who spoke to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, in order to bring the Israelites out of Egypt—this Moses and this Aaron.
28 On the day when Yahweh spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, 29 Yahweh said to Moses, "I am Yahweh. Tell Pharaoh king of Egypt everything that I tell you." 30 But Moses said before Yahweh, "Look, I have uncircumcised lips. How then will Pharaoh listen to me?"

Notes

- a (6:3) El Shaddai is traditionally translated "God Almighty," following the Septuagint of some books and the Latin Vulgate (omnipotens). Its original meaning is uncertain; suggestions include "God of the mountain," "God of the fields," and "God who is sufficient." It is the name by which God made himself known to Abraham in Genesis 17:1. The Septuagint here reads "being their God."
- b (6:3) Or as a question, "did I not make myself known to them?" The name Yahweh appears often in Genesis, so the point is probably that the patriarchs did not yet know God in the full sense of this name, as the one who keeps his promises by acts of deliverance.
- c (6:6) Hebrew ga'al, to act as a kinsman-redeemer, a relative who buys back a family member from slavery or restores lost family property.
- d (6:8) Literally "I lifted my hand," a gesture of swearing an oath.
- e (6:9) Hebrew "shortness of spirit," that is, discouragement or impatience.
- f (6:12) That is, lips unfit for speaking, as a closed or unready organ. Compare 4:10.
- g (6:16) Gershon (or Gershom) probably sounds like garash, "drive out." He is a different person from Moses' son Gershom (2:22).
- h (6:20) Jochebed probably means "Yahweh is glory"; it is the first personal name in the Bible built on the name Yahweh.
- i (6:20) Hebrew dodah, "father's sister" or "aunt." The Septuagint and the Vulgate read "his father's brother's daughter," that is, his cousin, perhaps to avoid a marriage later forbidden in Leviticus 18:12.
- j (6:20) The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint add "and Miriam their sister."
- k (6:20) The Septuagint (Vaticanus) reads 132 years, and Codex Alexandrinus 136.
- l (6:23) Elisheba means "my God is fullness" or "my God has sworn." The same name appears in the New Testament as Elizabeth.
- m (6:23) Eleazar means "God has helped."
- n (6:25) Phinehas is an Egyptian name meaning "the Nubian."

- o (6:26) Hebrew tsava'ot, "armies" or "hosts," the same word as in the title "Yahweh of Armies." Israel leaves Egypt organized like an army.

Chapter 7

1 Yahweh said to Moses, "See, I have made you like God[a] to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron will be your prophet. 2 You are to speak everything I command you, and your brother Aaron is to tell Pharaoh to let the Israelites go out of his land. 3 I will harden[b] Pharaoh's heart, and I will make my signs and my wonders many in the land of Egypt.
4 Pharaoh will not listen to you. Then I will lay my hand on Egypt and bring my divisions, my people the Israelites, out of the land of Egypt with great acts of judgment. 5 The Egyptians will know that I am Yahweh when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring the Israelites out from among them." 6 Moses and Aaron did so; just as Yahweh commanded them, so they did. 7 Moses was eighty years old and Aaron eighty-three years old when they spoke to Pharaoh.
8 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, 9 "When Pharaoh says to you, 'Perform a wonder,' then say to Aaron, 'Take your staff and throw it down before Pharaoh,' and it will become a serpent."[c] 10 So Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh and did just as Yahweh had commanded.
Aaron threw down his staff before Pharaoh and his servants, and it became a serpent. 11 Pharaoh, for his part, summoned the wise men and the sorcerers, and the magicians[d] of Egypt did likewise with their enchantments. 12 Each one threw down his staff, and they became serpents. But Aaron's staff swallowed up their staffs. 13 Yet Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said.
14 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Pharaoh's heart is stubborn;[e] he refuses to let the people go. 15 Go to Pharaoh in the morning, when he goes out to the water. Station yourself at the edge of the Nile to meet him, and take in your hand the staff that was changed into a snake. 16 Tell him, 'Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to you with this message: "Send my people away, that they may serve me in the wilderness." And see, until now you have not obeyed. 17 This is what Yahweh says: "By this you will know that I am Yahweh: I will strike the water in the Nile with the staff that is in my hand, and it will turn into blood. 18 The fish in the Nile will die, the river will stink, and the Egyptians will not be able to drink from the Nile's water.'"'[f] 19 Yahweh said to Moses, "Say to Aaron, 'Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over their rivers, their canals, their ponds, and all their pools of water, so that they become blood.' There will be blood throughout the land of Egypt, even in vessels of wood and of stone." 20 Moses and Aaron did so, as Yahweh had commanded. Lifting up the staff, he struck the waters of the Nile before the eyes of Pharaoh and of his servants, and all the waters of the river were changed to blood. 21 The fish that were in the river died, and the river stank, and the Egyptians could not drink the Nile's water; and there was blood in every part of the land of Egypt. 22 But the magicians of Egypt did the same by their secret arts. So Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said. 23 Pharaoh turned and went back to his house, and did not lay even this to heart. 24 All the Egyptians dug around the Nile for water to drink, because they could not drink the water of the Nile. 25 Seven full days passed after Yahweh had struck the Nile.

Notes

- a (7:1) Hebrew elohim, "God" or "a god." Moses will speak with divine authority before Pharaoh, and Aaron will speak for him as a prophet speaks for God (compare 4:16).
- b (7:3) Hebrew qashah, "make hard" or "make stubborn." See the note at 4:21.
- c (7:9) Hebrew tannin, a different word from the "snake" (nahash) of 4:3. It can mean a large serpent or a sea creature such as a crocodile.
- d (7:11) Hebrew hartummim, a word borrowed from Egyptian, meaning priests skilled in sacred writings and magic. Jewish tradition gives the names of two of them as Jannes and Jambres (2 Timothy 3:8).
- e (7:14) Hebrew kaved, "heavy." See the note at 4:21. In Egyptian belief the heart of the dead was weighed against a feather, and a heavy heart was a guilty one.
- f (7:18) Throughout the plague accounts (chapters 7–11), the Samaritan Pentateuch adds passages that repeat God's commands in full as Moses and Aaron carry them out, or that report Moses' words to Pharaoh before each plague. Similar expansions appear in a Dead Sea Scroll of Exodus written in the old Hebrew script. This translation follows the shorter Masoretic Text.

Chapter 8

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses,[a] "Go in to Pharaoh and say to him, 'This is what Yahweh says: "Let my people go, so that they may serve me. 2 If you refuse to let them go, I will strike your whole territory with frogs. 3 The Nile will swarm with frogs. They will come up into your house, into your bedroom and onto your bed, into the houses of your servants and onto your people, into your ovens and into your kneading bowls. 4 The frogs will come up on you, on your people, and on all your servants."'" 5 Yahweh said to Moses, "Say to Aaron: 'Reach out your hand with the staff above the streams, the canals, and the pools, so that frogs come up upon Egypt's land.'" 6 So Aaron stretched out his hand over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs[b] came up and covered the land of Egypt. 7 The magicians did likewise with their enchantments and brought up frogs upon the land of Egypt.
8 Then Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, "Pray to Yahweh to take the frogs away from me and from my people, and I will let the people go to sacrifice to Yahweh." 9 Moses said to Pharaoh, "You may have the honor over me:[c] for when shall I pray for you, for your servants, and for your people, that the frogs be removed from you and your houses and remain only in the Nile?" 10 He said, "Tomorrow." Moses said, "It will be as you say, so that you may know that there is no one like Yahweh our God. 11 The frogs will go away from you and your houses, your servants and your people; only in the Nile will they be left." 12 Then Moses and Aaron went out from Pharaoh, and Moses cried out to Yahweh about the frogs he had brought on Pharaoh. 13 Yahweh did according to Moses' word, and the frogs died out of the houses, the courtyards, and the fields. 14 They piled them up in heaps, and the land stank. 15 But when Pharaoh saw that there was relief, he made his heart stubborn and did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said.
16 Yahweh said to Moses, "Tell Aaron, 'Extend your staff and hit the dust of the earth, that it may turn into gnats[d] in every part of the land of Egypt.'" 17 They did so: Aaron held out his hand with his staff and hit the dust of the earth, and gnats came upon man and beast. All the dust of the earth turned into gnats in the whole land of Egypt.

18 The magicians tried with their enchantments to bring forth gnats, but they were unable; and the gnats remained on man and beast. 19 Then the magicians said to Pharaoh, "This is the finger of God." But Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had said.
20 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Rise early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh as he goes out to the water. Say to him, 'This is what Yahweh says: "Let my people go, so that they may serve me. 21 If you will not let my people go, I will send swarms of flies[e] on you, on your servants, on your people, and into your houses. The houses of the Egyptians will be full of swarms of flies, and so will the ground they stand on. 22 On that day I will make a distinction regarding the land of Goshen, where my people dwell, so there will be no swarm of flies there, that you may know that I, Yahweh, am in the midst of the land.[f] 23 I will put a division[g] between my people and your people.
This sign will happen tomorrow."'" 24 Yahweh did so. Thick swarms of flies entered Pharaoh's house and the houses of his servants, and in all the land of Egypt the country was devastated by the flies.
25 Then Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron and said, "Go, sacrifice to your God within the land." 26 But Moses said, "It would not be right to do so, for the sacrifices we offer to Yahweh our God are detestable to the Egyptians. If we offer sacrifices detestable to the Egyptians before their eyes, will they not stone us? 27 We must go a three days' journey into the wilderness and sacrifice to Yahweh our God, as he tells us." 28 Pharaoh said, "I will release you, and you may sacrifice to Yahweh your God in the wilderness; only do not go very far. Make entreaty for me." 29 Moses said, "As soon as I go out from you, I will pray to Yahweh, and tomorrow the swarms of flies will depart from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people. Only let Pharaoh not deal falsely again by not letting the people go to sacrifice to Yahweh." 30 So Moses went out from Pharaoh and prayed to Yahweh. 31 Yahweh did as Moses asked and removed the swarms of flies from Pharaoh, from his servants, and from his people; not one remained. 32 But Pharaoh made his heart stubborn this time also, and he did not let the people go.

Notes

- a (8:1) Verses 8:1–4 are numbered 7:26–29 in the Hebrew text, and verses 8:5–32 are numbered 8:1–28.
- b (8:6) Hebrew "the frog," used as a collective.
- c (8:9) Literally "glorify yourself over me," a courteous way of letting Pharaoh set the time.
- d (8:16) Or "lice." The exact insect is uncertain; the Septuagint reads "gnats" (skniphes).
- e (8:21) Hebrew arov, "swarm" or "mixture." The Septuagint takes it as "dog-flies." Some Jewish interpreters understood it as a mixture of wild animals.
- f (8:22) Or "I, Yahweh, am in the midst of the land."
- g (8:23) So the Septuagint and the Latin Vulgate. The Hebrew reads pedut, "redemption," which may be a copying error for pelut, "separation," or may mean "I will set redemption between my people and your people."

Chapter 9

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh and tell him, 'This is what Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, says: "Let my people go, so that they may serve me. 2 For if you refuse to let them go and still hold on to them, 3 the hand of Yahweh will fall with a very heavy pestilence upon your livestock in the field: upon the horses, the donkeys, the camels, the cattle, and the sheep. 4 Yahweh will separate the livestock of Israel from the livestock of Egypt, and nothing belonging to the Israelites will die."'" 5 Yahweh set a time, saying, "Tomorrow Yahweh will do this thing in the land." 6 On the next day Yahweh did this. All the livestock of Egypt died,[a] yet of the Israelites' livestock not a single one died. 7 Pharaoh sent men, and they found that not even one of Israel's livestock was dead. Yet Pharaoh's heart remained stubborn, and he did not release the people.
8 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "Fill your hands with soot from a furnace, and let Moses toss it toward the sky before Pharaoh's eyes. 9
It will become fine dust over all the land of Egypt and will cause boils breaking out in sores on people and animals throughout all the land of Egypt." 10 They took soot from the furnace and stood in Pharaoh's presence; Moses tossed it toward the sky, and it became festering boils breaking out on man and beast. 11 The magicians could not stand before Moses because of the boils, for the boils were on the magicians and on all the Egyptians. 12 But Yahweh hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not listen to them, just as Yahweh had told Moses.

13 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Rise early in the morning, stand before Pharaoh, and tell him, 'This is what Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, says: "Let my people go, so that they may serve me. 14 For this time I will send all my plagues upon your heart,[b] upon your servants, and upon your people, so that you may know that there is no one like me in all the earth. 15 For by now I could have put out my hand and smitten you and your people with pestilence, and you would have been cut off from the earth. 16 Yet for this very reason I have kept you standing:[c] to show you my power, and that my name may be proclaimed in all the earth. 17 You still exalt yourself against my people and will not let them go. 18 Tomorrow about this time I will rain down a very heavy hail, the like of which has not been in Egypt since the day it was founded until now. 19 Now therefore send and bring your livestock and all that you have in the field to safety. Every person and animal that is found in the field and not brought home will die when the hail comes down on them."'" 20 Pharaoh's servants who feared the word of Yahweh gathered their servants and livestock into houses. 21 But whoever did not take the word of Yahweh to heart left his servants and his livestock in the field.
22 Yahweh said to Moses, "Raise your hand toward the heavens, that hail may fall on the entire land of Egypt—upon man and beast and every plant of the field in the land of Egypt." 23 Moses stretched out his staff toward the sky, and Yahweh sent thunder[d] and hail, and fire came down to the earth. Yahweh rained hail on the land of Egypt. 24 The hail fell, and fire flared up amid the hail—hail so very heavy that the like of it had not been seen in the whole land of Egypt since it became a nation. 25 Throughout the land of Egypt the hail beat down all that was in the open country, man and beast alike; it also beat down every plant of the field and broke every tree in the field. 26 Only in the land of Goshen, where the Israelites were, was there no hail.
27 Pharaoh sent for Moses and Aaron and said to them, "I have sinned this time; Yahweh is righteous, and I and my people are wicked. 28 Pray to Yahweh, for there has been enough of God's thunder[e] and hail. I will let you go; you need stay no longer." 29 Moses said to him, "As soon as I have gone out of the city, I will spread out my hands to Yahweh. The thunder will stop, and there will be no more hail, so that you may know that the earth belongs to Yahweh. 30 But as for you and your servants, I know that you do not yet fear Yahweh God."[f] 31 (The barley and the flax were destroyed, because the barley had come into ear while the flax was budding. 32 But the wheat and the spelt[g] were not struck down, for they ripen later.) 33 So Moses went out of the city from Pharaoh and spread out his hands to Yahweh. The thunder and the hail stopped, and the rain no longer poured on the earth. 34 When Pharaoh saw that the rain and the hail and the thunder had ceased, he sinned again, making his heart stubborn—he and his servants. 35 So Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not let the Israelites go, just as Yahweh had said through Moses.

Notes

- a (9:6) That is, all the livestock in the field (verse 3). Livestock are again mentioned in 9:19–21 and 9:25, probably animals that had been sheltered or acquired since.
- b (9:14) Or "against you yourself." The Hebrew "upon your heart" may refer to the plagues' effect on Pharaoh's will.
- c (9:16) Or "I have kept you alive" or "I have raised you up." Paul quotes this verse in Romans 9:17.
- d (9:23) Hebrew "voices," a common way of describing thunder. So also in verses 28, 29, 33, and 34.
- e (9:28) Hebrew "voices of God," or "mighty thunder."
- f (9:30) The full title "Yahweh God," so frequent in Genesis 2–3, is rare elsewhere in the Pentateuch. The Septuagint reads "the Lord."
- g (9:32) Or "emmer," an ancient variety of wheat.

Chapter 10

1 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Go in to Pharaoh, for I have made his heart and the hearts of his servants stubborn, so that I may show these signs of mine among them, 2 and that you may tell your son and your grandson how severely I dealt with the Egyptians, and the signs that I performed among them, so that you will know that I am Yahweh."

3 So Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaoh and said to him, "This is what Yahweh, the God of the Hebrews, says: 'How long will you refuse to humble yourself before me? Let my people go, so that they may serve me. 4 For if you refuse to let my people go, tomorrow I will bring locusts into your territory. 5 They will cover the face of the land, so that no one can see the land. They will eat what is left to you after the hail, and they will eat every tree of yours that grows in the field. 6 They will fill your houses, and the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians, as neither your fathers nor your grandfathers have ever seen since they were on the earth, down to this day.'" Then he turned and left Pharaoh's presence.

7 Pharaoh's servants said to him, "How long will this fellow be a trap for us? Release the men, that they may serve Yahweh their God. Have you not yet realized that Egypt is destroyed?" 8 So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Pharaoh, and he said to them, "Go, serve Yahweh your God. But who exactly is going?" 9 Moses said, "We will go with our young and our old; with our sons and our daughters, with our sheep and our cattle we will go, for we have a festival of Yahweh." 10 He said to them, "May Yahweh be with you if I ever let you go with your little ones![a] Look, you clearly have evil in mind. 11 No! Go, you men, and serve Yahweh, for that is what you want." And they were thrown out of Pharaoh's presence.
12 Yahweh said to Moses, "Hold out your hand over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up over the land of Egypt and devour all the plants of the land, everything the hail has left." 13 So Moses stretched out his staff over the land of Egypt, and Yahweh drove an east wind over the land all that day and all that night. When it was morning, the east wind had brought the locusts. 14 The locusts came up over all the land of Egypt and settled on the whole territory of Egypt in very great numbers. Never before had there been such a swarm of locusts, nor will there ever be again. 15 They covered the surface of the whole land, so that the land was darkened. They ate every plant of the land and all the fruit of the trees that the hail had left. Nothing green remained, neither tree nor plant of the field, in all the land of Egypt.
16 Then Pharaoh hurriedly called Moses and Aaron and said, "I have sinned against Yahweh your God and against you. 17 So now, please pardon my sin this once only, and entreat Yahweh your God to take this death away from me." 18 So he went out from Pharaoh and prayed to Yahweh. 19 Yahweh shifted the wind to an extremely strong west wind,[b] which lifted up the locusts and blew them into the Red Sea.[c] Not one locust remained anywhere within Egypt's territory. 20 But Yahweh hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the Israelites go. 21 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Stretch out your hand toward the sky, so that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt, a darkness that can be felt." 22 So Moses stretched out his hand toward the sky, and there was thick darkness in all the land of Egypt for three days. 23 One could not see another, and for three days no one got up from where he was; but all the Israelites had light in their dwellings. 24 Then Pharaoh called Moses and said, "Go, serve Yahweh. Only let your flocks and your herds stay behind. Even your little ones may go with you." 25 Moses said, "You yourself must also supply[d] us with sacrifices and burnt offerings, that we may offer them to Yahweh our God. 26 Our livestock too will go with us; we will leave not even a hoof behind, since we must choose some of them for the service of Yahweh our God, and we cannot know what we shall use to serve Yahweh until we get there." 27 But Yahweh hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he was not willing to let them go. 28 Pharaoh said to him, "Get out of my sight! Take care not to appear before me again; for on the day you see my face you will die." 29 Moses replied, "You have spoken rightly. I will never see your face again."

Notes

- a (10:10) Pharaoh's words are sarcastic: "May Yahweh be with you just as surely as I will let you go with your little ones."
- b (10:19) Hebrew "a sea wind," that is, a wind from the Mediterranean Sea, to the west of Egypt.
- c (10:19) Hebrew yam suf, literally "Sea of Reeds." The Septuagint calls it the "Red Sea," and the name is used in the Bible both for the Gulf of Suez and the Gulf of Aqaba, arms of the Red Sea, and perhaps for marshy lakes near the Isthmus of Suez. The exact place of Israel's crossing (chapter 14) is uncertain.
- d (10:25) Hebrew "give into our hand."

Chapter 11

1 Yahweh said to Moses, "I will bring one more plague on Pharaoh and on Egypt; afterward he will send you away from here. When he sends you away, he will drive you out altogether. 2 Tell the people, please, that each man is to ask of his neighbor and each woman of hers for silver articles and gold articles." 3 Yahweh gave the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover, the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants and in the sight of the people.
4 Moses said, "This is what Yahweh says: 'About midnight I will go out through the midst of Egypt. 5 Every firstborn in the land of Egypt shall perish, from the firstborn of Pharaoh sitting on his throne to the firstborn of the slave girl at the millstones, and all the firstborn of the cattle. 6 There will be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there has never been and never will be again. 7 But among all the Israelites no dog will so much as growl,[a] whether at man or beast, so that you may know that Yahweh distinguishes between Egypt and Israel.' 8 All these servants of yours will come down to me and bow down to me, saying, 'Go out, you and all the people who follow you.' After that I will go out." And he went out from Pharaoh in hot anger.
9 Yahweh had said to Moses, "Pharaoh will not listen to you, so that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt." 10 Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh, but Yahweh hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he did not let the Israelites go out of his land.

Notes

- a (11:7) Hebrew "not a dog will sharpen its tongue."

Chapter 12

1 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, 2 "This month shall be the head of months for you; it is the first of the months of the year for you, in March–April.[a] 3 Tell the whole congregation of Israel:
On the tenth day of this month (in March–April) each man is to take a lamb[b] for his family, a lamb for each household. 4 If a household is too small for a whole lamb, then he and the neighbor next to his house shall share one, in proportion to the number of persons; you shall apportion the lamb according to what each can eat. 5 Your lamb must be without defect, a male a year old. You may take it from the sheep or from the goats. 6 You are to keep it until the fourteenth day of this month (in March–April). Then the whole assembly of the congregation of Israel is to slaughter it at twilight.[c] 7 They are to take some of the blood and put it on the two doorposts and the lintel of the houses in which they eat it. 8 They are to eat the meat that same night, roasted over the fire. They are to eat it with unleavened bread[d] and bitter herbs. 9 Do not eat any of it raw or boiled in water, but roasted over the fire, its head with its legs and its inner parts. 10 Do not leave any of it until morning. Whatever remains of it until morning you are to burn with fire. 11 In this way you shall eat it: your loins girded, your sandals on your feet, and your staff in your hand; and you shall eat it hurriedly. It is Yahweh's Passover.[e] 12 For on that night I will pass through the land of Egypt and strike down every firstborn in the land of Egypt, both people and animals, and on all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgments. I am Yahweh. 13 The blood will be a sign for you on the houses where you are. When I see the blood, I will pass over you, and no plague will come upon you to destroy you when I strike the land of Egypt.

14 "This day shall be a remembrance for you, and you shall celebrate it as a feast to Yahweh. Throughout your generations you shall observe it as an everlasting statute. 15 Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread; on the very first day you shall clear out leaven from your houses, for anyone who eats leavened bread from the first day through the seventh, that person shall be cut off from Israel. 16 On the first day there shall be a holy convocation for you, and on the seventh day another holy convocation. No work shall be done in them, except what every person needs to eat; that alone may be prepared by you.
17 You shall keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for on this very day I brought your hosts out of the land of Egypt. So you shall keep this day in all your generations, as an everlasting ordinance. 18 In the first month (March–April),[f] on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening, you shall eat unleavened bread, until the twenty-first day of the month in the evening. 19 Seven days long no leaven may be found in your houses; for anyone who eats what is leavened, that person shall be cut off from the community of Israel, whether a sojourner or one born in the land. 20 You are not to eat anything leavened. In all your dwellings you are to eat unleavened bread." 21 Then Moses called all the elders of Israel and said to them, "Go, select lambs for yourselves according to your families, and slaughter the Passover lamb. 22 You shall take a bunch of hyssop,[g] dip it in the blood in the basin,[h] and strike the lintel and the two doorposts with the blood from the basin; and none of you shall go out through the door of his house until morning. 23 For Yahweh will pass through to strike the Egyptians. When he sees the blood on the lintel and on the two doorposts, Yahweh will pass over the door and will not allow the destroyer to enter your houses to strike you. 24 You are to observe this as a statute for you and for your children forever. 25 When you come to the land that Yahweh will give you, as he has promised, you are to keep this service. 26 And when your children ask you, 'What does this service mean to you?' 27 you shall say, 'It is the sacrifice of Yahweh's Passover, for he passed over the homes of the Israelites in Egypt when he struck down the Egyptians but delivered our households.'" Then the people bowed their heads and worshiped. 28 The Israelites departed and did it; as Yahweh had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did.

29 At midnight Yahweh struck down every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sat on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the dungeon,[i] and all the firstborn of the livestock. 30 Pharaoh rose up in the night, he and all his servants and all the Egyptians, and there was a great cry in Egypt, for there was not a house where someone was not dead. 31 Then he called Moses and Aaron by night and said, "Rise up, go out from among my people, both you and the Israelites. Go, serve Yahweh, as you have said. 32 Take your flocks and your herds, as you have said, and go. And bless me also."
33 The Egyptians urged the people to hurry and send them out of the land, for they said, "We will all be dead." 34 So the people took their dough before it was leavened, with their kneading bowls bound up in their cloaks on their shoulders. 35 The Israelites had done as Moses said; they had asked the Egyptians for articles of silver and articles of gold, and for clothing. 36 Yahweh had given the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they gave them what they asked. So they plundered the Egyptians.

37 The Israelites set out from Rameses to Succoth,[j] about 600,000 men on foot,[k] besides children. 38 A mixed multitude[l] went up with them as well, along with flocks and herds, and a very large number of livestock. 39 From the dough that they had brought out of Egypt they baked cakes of unleavened bread, for it had not risen; they had been expelled from Egypt and were unable to delay, and they had made no provisions for themselves.
40 The time that the Israelites lived in Egypt[m] was 430 years. 41 And it came about at the end of 430 years, on that very day, that all the hosts of Yahweh went out from the land of Egypt. 42 It was a night of watching by Yahweh, to bring them out of the land of Egypt. This same night is a night of watching for Yahweh by all the Israelites throughout their generations.
43 Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "This is the statute of the Passover: no foreigner is to eat of it. 44 But any man's slave who has been bought for money may eat of it after you have circumcised him.
45 No temporary resident or hired worker may eat of it. 46 It must be eaten within one house; none of the flesh may be taken outside the house, and you must not break any bone of it.[n] 47 The whole congregation of Israel is to keep it. 48 If a foreigner living among you wants to keep the Passover to Yahweh, all his males must be circumcised, and then he may come near and keep it. He will be like a native of the land. But no uncircumcised person may eat of it. 49 There is to be one law for the native and for the foreigner who lives among you." 50
All the Israelites did so; just as Yahweh had commanded Moses and Aaron, so they did. 51 On that very day Yahweh brought the Israelites out of the land of Egypt by their divisions.

Notes

- a (12:2) Hebrew "the first month." This month, called Abib in the early sources (13:4) and later Nisan, begins the spring-start religious calendar. Because the Hebrew months were lunar, each overlaps two of our months, and the exact dates varied from year to year; the first month fell in March–April. The dates in verses 3, 6, and 18 are in this month.

- b (12:3) Hebrew seh, a young animal of the flock, either a lamb or a young goat (verse 5).
- c (12:6) Hebrew "between the two evenings," understood either as between sunset and dark or as between midafternoon and sunset.
- d (12:8) Hebrew matsot, flat bread made without yeast or leaven.
- e (12:11) Hebrew pesah. The name is explained in verses 13, 23, and 27 by the verb pasah, "to pass over," or perhaps "to protect, hover over."
- f (12:18) Hebrew "In the first month." See the note at verse 2.
- g (12:22) Hyssop is probably the plant now called Syrian marjoram (Origanum syriacum), whose hairy branches hold liquid well.
- h (12:22) Or "on the threshold." The Hebrew word saf can mean either.
- i (12:29) Hebrew "the house of the pit."
- j (12:37) Rameses was the store city of 1:11, in the eastern Nile Delta. Succoth, meaning "booths," is probably Egyptian Tjeku, in the Wadi Tumilat.
- k (12:37) The Hebrew word elef, "thousand," may in some lists mean a clan or military unit, so the number of people intended is debated.
- l (12:38) Hebrew erev rav, people of other nations who joined Israel.
- m (12:40) The Samaritan Pentateuch reads "in the land of Canaan and in the land of Egypt," and the Septuagint reads "in the land of Egypt and in the land of Canaan." Those readings count the 430 years from Abraham's entry into Canaan, as Paul does in Galatians 3:17. Compare Genesis 15:13, which gives a round 400 years for the oppression.
- n (12:46) John 19:36 applies this to Jesus.

Chapter 13

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Set apart for me every firstborn; whatever first opens the womb among the Israelites, of man and of beast, belongs to me."
3 Moses said to the people, "Remember this day on which you came out from Egypt, out of the house of slavery, for by strength of hand Yahweh brought you out from this place. No leavened bread is to be eaten. 4 Today, in the month of Abib (March–April),[a] you are going out. 5 When Yahweh brings you into the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which he swore to your fathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, you are to keep this service in this month. 6 For seven days you are to eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there is to be a festival to Yahweh. 7 Unleavened bread is to be eaten for the seven days. No leavened bread is to be seen with you, and no leaven is to be seen with you in all your territory. 8 You shall tell your son on that day, 'This is on account of what Yahweh did for me when I came out of Egypt.' 9 It shall be for you as a sign upon your hand and as a memorial between your eyes,[b] that the law of Yahweh may be on your lips; for Yahweh brought you out of Egypt with a mighty hand. 10 You are to keep this statute at its appointed time from year to year.

11 "When Yahweh brings you into the land of the Canaanites, as he swore to you and to your fathers, and gives it to you, 12 you are to set apart to Yahweh all that first opens the womb. Every firstborn male of your livestock belongs to Yahweh. 13 Every firstborn donkey you shall redeem with a lamb; if you will not redeem it, then you shall break its neck. And every firstborn of your sons you shall redeem. 14 When your son asks you later, 'What is this?' you shall answer him, 'By the strength of his hand Yahweh brought us out from Egypt, from the house of slavery. 15 For when Pharaoh was obstinate about sending us away, Yahweh slew every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of man to the firstborn of beast. Therefore I sacrifice to Yahweh all the males that open the womb, but every firstborn of my sons I redeem.' 16 It will be a sign on your hand and a symbol[c] between your eyes, for by strength of hand Yahweh brought us out of Egypt."
17 When Pharaoh let the people go, God did not lead them by the road to the land of the Philistines, although that was nearer. For God said, "The people may change their minds when they see war, and return to Egypt." 18 God took the people around by the wilderness road to the Red Sea; the Israelites left the land of Egypt armed for battle.[d] 19 Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, for Joseph had made the Israelites solemnly swear, saying, "God will surely take note of you, and then you must carry my bones up from here with you."[e] 20 They set out from Succoth and camped at Etham, on the edge of the wilderness. 21 Yahweh was going before them in the daytime in a pillar of cloud to guide them on the road, and at night in a pillar of fire to give them light, so that they might travel day and night. 22 He did not remove the pillar of cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from its place before the people.

Notes

- a (13:4) Abib means "ears of grain," the month of the barley harvest. It was the first month of the spring-start religious calendar (12:2), falling in March–April, and was later called Nisan.
- b (13:9) That is, on the forehead. Later Jewish practice fulfilled this literally with tefillin (phylacteries), small boxes containing passages of the law.
- c (13:16) Hebrew totafot, a band or emblem worn on the forehead.
- d (13:18) Hebrew hamushim, perhaps "arranged in ranks" or "in groups of fifty." The Septuagint reads "in the fifth generation."
- e (13:19) Genesis 50:25.

1 Then Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Tell the Israelites to turn back and camp in front of Pi-hahiroth,[a] between Migdol and the sea, in front of Baal-zephon. You are to camp facing it, by the sea. 3 Pharaoh will say of the Israelites, 'They are wandering aimlessly in the land; the wilderness has shut them in.' 4 Then I will harden Pharaoh's heart, so that he pursues them; I will get glory[b] for myself over Pharaoh and over all his forces, and the Egyptians shall know that I am Yahweh." So they did.

5 When the king of Egypt was told that the people had fled, the hearts of Pharaoh and his servants were changed toward the people, and they said, "What is this we have done, that we have let Israel go from serving us?" 6 So he harnessed his chariot and took his army with him. 7 He took six hundred select chariots and all the other chariots of Egypt, with officers[c] over all of them. 8 Yahweh hardened the heart of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he pursued the Israelites, while the Israelites were going out boldly.[d] 9 The Egyptians pursued them—every horse and chariot of Pharaoh, his cavalry, and his troops—and caught up with them camped at the sea, beside Pi-hahiroth, opposite Baal-zephon.

10 When Pharaoh came near, the Israelites lifted their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians were advancing after them; and they were greatly afraid, and the Israelites cried out to Yahweh. 11 They said to Moses,

"Is it because Egypt had no graves that you have taken us to die in the wilderness? Why have you treated us this way by bringing us out of Egypt? 12 Did we not say this to you in Egypt: 'Let us be, so that we may serve the Egyptians'? For serving the Egyptians would have been better for us than dying in the wilderness." 13 Moses said to the people, "Do not be afraid. Stand firm and see the salvation of Yahweh, which he will accomplish for you today. For the Egyptians you see today you will never see again. 14 Yahweh will do battle for you, and you need only be silent."

15 Yahweh said to Moses, "Why do you cry out to me? Tell the Israelites to go forward. 16 Lift up your staff, and hold out your hand over the sea and split it, so that the Israelites can walk into the midst of the sea on dry land. 17 And I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians so that they will go in after them, and I will gain glory over Pharaoh and all his army, his chariots, and his horsemen. 18 The Egyptians will know that I am Yahweh when I have gained glory over Pharaoh, his chariots, and his horsemen."

19 The angel of God, who went ahead of the camp of Israel, moved away and went behind them; and the pillar of cloud left its place in front and stood behind them, 20 and it came between the Egyptian camp and the camp of Israel. The cloud was there with the darkness, yet it lit the night;[e] so neither came near the other all night long.

21 Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and Yahweh drove the sea back by a strong east wind all night and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided. 22 The Israelites went into the middle of the sea on dry ground, with the waters forming a wall for them on their right and on their left. 23 The Egyptians pursued and went in after them into the middle of the sea, all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen. 24 Between about two and six in the morning,[f] Yahweh gazed down from the pillar of fire and cloud upon the army of the Egyptians and threw them into a panic. 25 He took off the wheels of their chariots,[g] so that they drove them with difficulty. The Egyptians said, "Let us run away from Israel, for Yahweh is fighting on their behalf against Egypt."

26 Then Yahweh told Moses, “Reach your hand out over the sea, that the waters may return upon the Egyptians, on their chariots and on their horsemen.” 27 So Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and at daybreak the sea returned to its normal flow. As the Egyptians fled before it, Yahweh shook off the Egyptians into the middle of the sea.
28 The waters flowed back and covered the chariots and the horsemen of all Pharaoh’s forces that had gone in after them into the sea; not a single one of them was left. 29 As for the Israelites, they went on dry land in the middle of the sea, and the waters were a wall to them on the right and on the left. 30 So Yahweh saved Israel that day from the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel saw the Egyptians dead on the seashore. 31 Israel saw the great power[h] that Yahweh used against the Egyptians, and the people feared Yahweh, and they believed in Yahweh and in his servant Moses.

Notes

- a (14:2) Pi-hahiroth may be Egyptian for “house of Hathor” or Hebrew for “mouth of the canals.” Migdol means “tower” or “fortress,” and Baal-zephon means “lord of the north,” the name of a Canaanite god given to a place. None of these sites has been identified with certainty.
- b (14:4) Or “glorify myself,” “show my glory.” So also in verses 17 and 18.
- c (14:7) Hebrew shalishim, perhaps “third men,” the third man in a chariot, or more generally high-ranking officers.
- d (14:8) Hebrew “with a high hand,” that is, openly and defiantly.
- e (14:20) The Hebrew is difficult. It may mean that the cloud brought darkness to the Egyptians and light to Israel. The Septuagint reads “and there was darkness and blackness, and the night passed.”
- f (14:24) Hebrew “In the morning watch,” the last of the three watches into which the night was divided, from about 2 a.m. until about 6 a.m.
- g (14:25) So the Hebrew, literally “he turned aside the wheels.” The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and the Syriac read “he bound” or “clogged,” a difference of one letter.
- h (14:31) Hebrew “the great hand.”

Chapter 15

1 Then Moses and the Israelites sang this song to Yahweh, and said: “I will sing to Yahweh, for he is highly exalted;[a] horse and its rider[b] he has thrown into the sea. 2 Yah[c] is my strength and my song,[d] and he has become my salvation. This is my God, and I will praise him, my father's God, and I will exalt him. 3 Yahweh is a warrior; Yahweh is his name. 4 Pharaoh's chariots and his forces he hurled into the sea; the pick of his officers were sunk in the Red Sea. 5 The deeps cover them; they went down into the depths like a stone. 6 Your right hand, Yahweh, glorious in power, your right hand, Yahweh, shatters the enemy. 7 By the abundance of your majesty you throw down those who rise up against you; you let loose your wrath, and it devours them like stubble. 8 By the breath of your nostrils the waters were heaped together; the floods stood upright like a mound; the depths were frozen in the midst of the sea. 9 The enemy said, 'I will pursue, I will overtake, I will divide the plunder; my desire will have its fill of them. I will draw my sword; my hand will destroy them.' 10 You blew with your breath; the sea covered them. They sank like lead in the mighty waters. 11 Who among the gods is like you, Yahweh? Who is like you, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, working wonders?

12 You stretched out your right hand; the earth swallowed them. 13 In your loyal love[e] you led the people you redeemed; you guided them in your strength to your holy abode. 14 Nations have heard and shudder; pangs have taken hold of those who live in Philistia. 15 Now the chiefs of Edom are terrified; trembling grips the leaders[f] of Moab; all who live in Canaan have melted away. 16 Fear and dread fall upon them; by the might of your arm they are motionless as stone, until your people cross over, Yahweh, until the people you have acquired go across.[g] 17 You will bring them in and plant them on the mountain of your inheritance, the place, Yahweh, which you have made for your dwelling, the sanctuary, Lord,[h] which your hands have established. 18 Yahweh will reign forever and ever." 19 For when Pharaoh's horses with his chariots and his horsemen went into the sea, Yahweh brought back the waters of the sea upon them, but the Israelites walked on dry ground in the middle of the sea. 20 Then Miriam[i] the prophetess, Aaron's sister, took a tambourine in her hand, and all the women went out after her with tambourines and with dancing. 21 Miriam sang to them: "Sing to Yahweh, for he is highly exalted; horse and its rider he has thrown into the sea."

22 Then Moses had Israel depart from the Red Sea, and they went into the wilderness of Shur;[j] they traveled three days in the wilderness and found no water. 23 They arrived at Marah but could not drink the water there, because it was bitter; therefore its name was called Marah.[k] 24
The people grumbled against Moses, saying, "What are we to drink?"
25 Moses cried to Yahweh, and Yahweh showed him a piece of wood.[l]
He cast it into the water, and the water became sweet. There Yahweh[m] established for them a statute and an ordinance, and there he tested them. 26 He said, "If you will diligently obey the voice of Yahweh your God, doing what is right in his eyes, giving ear to his commandments, and keeping all his statutes, I will lay on you none of the sicknesses that I laid on the Egyptians; for I am Yahweh, your healer."[n] 27 Then they came to Elim,[o] where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees, and they camped there by the water.

Notes

- a (15:1) Literally "for he has risen up proudly," or "gloriously triumphed." The Hebrew repeats the verb for emphasis.
- b (15:1) Or "its chariot driver."
- c (15:2) Yah is a short form of Yahweh, appearing first here. It is familiar from the word hallelujah, "praise Yah."
- d (15:2) Or "my might." Verse 2a is repeated in Isaiah 12:2 and Psalm 118:14.
- e (15:13) Hebrew hesed, the faithful, steadfast love that belongs to a covenant relationship.
- f (15:15) Hebrew "rams," a figure for chiefs or strong men.
- g (15:16) Or "created."
- h (15:17) Hebrew Adonai. Many Hebrew manuscripts and the Samaritan Pentateuch read "Yahweh."
- i (15:20) The meaning of the name Miriam is uncertain; suggestions include "bitter," "beloved" (from Egyptian), and "rebellious." The Greek form of the name is Mariam, the name Mary in the New Testament.
- j (15:22) Shur means "wall," perhaps named after a line of Egyptian border fortifications.
- k (15:23) Marah means "bitter."
- l (15:25) Or "a tree."
- m (15:25) Hebrew "he."
- n (15:26) Hebrew Yahweh rofe'ekha. Some later writers turned this phrase into the compound name "Yahweh Rophe," "Yahweh who heals."
- o (15:27) Elim means "large trees" or "terebinths."

Chapter 16

1 They set out from Elim, and the whole congregation of the Israelites came to the wilderness of Sin,[a] which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month (in April–May)[b] after they had come out of the land of Egypt. 2 The whole congregation of the Israelites grumbled against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness. 3 The Israelites said to them, "Would that we had died by Yahweh's hand in the land of Egypt, where we sat by the pots of meat and ate bread to the full! For you have led us out into this wilderness to let this entire assembly die of hunger." 4 Yahweh said to Moses, "See, I will soon rain bread from heaven for you; the people shall go out and gather each day's portion on its day, that I may test them to see whether they will walk in my law or not.
5 On the sixth day, when they prepare what they bring in, it will be twice as much as they gather on other days." 6 Moses and Aaron told all the Israelites, "In the evening you will know that it is Yahweh who brought you out of the land of Egypt, 7 and in the morning you will see the glory of Yahweh, because he has heard your grumbling against Yahweh. For what are we, that you grumble against us?" 8 Moses said, "Yahweh will give you meat to eat in the evening and in the morning bread to the full, because Yahweh has heard your grumbling that you make against him. Who are we? Your grumbling is not against us but against Yahweh." 9 Then Moses said to Aaron, "Say to the whole congregation of the Israelites, 'Come near before Yahweh, for he has heard your grumbling.'" 10 While Aaron was speaking to the whole community of the Israelites, they turned toward the wilderness, and behold, the glory of Yahweh appeared in the cloud. 11 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 12
"I have heard the grumbling of the Israelites. Speak to them and say,
'At twilight[c] you will eat meat, and in the morning you will be filled with bread. Then you will know that I am Yahweh your God.'" 13 In the evening quail came up and covered the camp, and in the morning there was a layer of dew around the camp. 14 When the layer of dew had gone up, there on the surface of the wilderness was something fine and flaky, fine as frost on the ground. 15 When the Israelites saw it, they said to one another, "What is it?"[d] For they did not know what it was. Moses said to them, "It is the bread that Yahweh has given you to eat. 16 This is what Yahweh has commanded: 'Each of you is to gather as much of it as he can eat. You are to take about 2 quarts[e] for each person, according to the number of persons; each of you is to take it for those in his tent.'" 17 The Israelites did so. They gathered, some more and some less. 18 But when they measured it out,[f] whoever had gathered much had nothing left over, and whoever had gathered little had no lack. Each had gathered as much as he could eat. 19 Moses said to them, "No one is to leave any of it until morning." 20 But they did not listen to Moses. Some of them left part of it until morning, and it bred worms and stank. And Moses was angry with them. 21 They gathered it every morning, each according to what he needed to eat; and when the sun grew hot, it melted away.

22 On the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread, about 4 quarts[g] for each person. When all the leaders of the congregation came and told Moses, 23 he said to them, "This is what Yahweh commanded: 'Tomorrow is a Sabbath of complete rest, a holy Sabbath[h] to Yahweh. What you will bake, bake; and what you will boil, boil; and all the remainder lay up for yourselves to keep until morning.'" 24 They laid it up until morning, as Moses had ordered; and it did not smell foul, and no worm was in it. 25 Moses said, "Eat it today, for today is a Sabbath to Yahweh. Today you will not find it in the field. 26 For six days you shall gather it, but on the seventh day, which is the Sabbath, there will be none."

27 On the seventh day some of the people went out to gather, but they found none. 28 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "How long will you refuse to keep my commandments and my laws? 29 See, Yahweh has given you the Sabbath; that is why on the sixth day he gives you bread for two days. Each of you is to stay where he is; no one is to go out of his place on the seventh day." 30 So the people rested on the seventh day.

31 The house of Israel named it manna.[i] It was like coriander seed, white, and its taste was like wafers made with honey. 32 Moses said, "This is what Yahweh has commanded: 'Let about 2 quarts[j] of it be kept throughout your generations, so that they may see the bread with which I fed you in the wilderness when I brought you out of the land of Egypt.'" 33 Moses told Aaron, "Take one jar and put in it about 2 quarts of manna, and set it before Yahweh to be preserved for your generations." 34 As Yahweh commanded Moses, so Aaron placed it before the testimony,[k] to be kept. 35 The Israelites ate the manna forty years, until they came to an inhabited land. They ate the manna until they came to the border of the land of Canaan. 36 (The daily measure of about 2 quarts was one tenth of the standard dry measure of about three-fifths of a bushel.)[l]

Notes

- a (16:1) Sin here is a place name, unrelated to the English word "sin." It is probably related to the name Sinai.
- b (16:1) Hebrew "on the fifteenth day of the second month," counting from the spring new year (see the note at 12:2). The second month, later called Iyyar (Ziv in 1 Kings 6:1), fell in April–May. This was one month after the exodus (12:18).
- c (16:12) Hebrew "Between the two evenings." See the note at 12:6.
- d (16:15) Hebrew man hu, "What is it?" The phrase explains the name manna (verse 31).
- e (16:16) Hebrew "an omer." An omer was about 2 dry quarts (about 2.2 liters). See verse 36.
- f (16:18) Hebrew "when they measured it with the omer."
- g (16:22) Hebrew "two omers," about 4 dry quarts (about 4.4 liters).
- h (16:23) Hebrew shabbaton shabbat-qodesh, "a rest, a holy Sabbath." The word Sabbath comes from shavat, "to stop" or "to rest." This is the first time the word appears in the Bible.
- i (16:31) Hebrew man, "What?" (see verse 15). Numbers 11:7–9 also describes it.
- j (16:32) Hebrew "an omerful." So also in verse 33.
- k (16:34) That is, before the ark that would hold the tablets of the testimony (25:16, 21–22). The narrator speaks of the later practice.
- l (16:36) Hebrew "The omer is a tenth of the ephah." The omer was about 2.2 liters (2 dry quarts), and the ephah about 22 liters (three-fifths of a bushel). Ancient standards varied.

Chapter 17

1 The whole congregation of the Israelites set out from the wilderness of Sin, traveling in stages at Yahweh's command,[a] and camped at Rephidim.[b] But there was no water for the people to drink. 2 So the people quarreled with Moses and said, "Give us water to drink." Moses said to them, "Why do you quarrel with me? Why do you test Yahweh?" [3] The people were thirsty there for water, and they grumbled against Moses, saying, "Why have you brought us up out of Egypt, to kill us, our children, and our livestock with thirst?" [4] Moses cried out to Yahweh, "What am I to do with this people? Before long they will stone me." [5] Yahweh said to Moses, "Go on ahead of the people and take with you some of the elders of Israel; and the staff with which you struck the Nile, take in your hand and go. [6] I will be standing there before you on the rock at Horeb; you shall strike the rock, and water will come out of it for the people to drink." Moses did so before the eyes of the elders of Israel. [7] He named the place Massah and Meribah,[c] because of the quarreling of the Israelites, and because they tested Yahweh, saying, "Is Yahweh among us or not?"

[8] Then Amalek[d] came and fought with Israel at Rephidim. [9] Moses said to Joshua,[e] "Choose men for us, and go out and fight with Amalek. Tomorrow I will stand on the top of the hill with the staff of God in my hand." [10] Joshua did as Moses had told him, fighting against Amalek; and Moses, with Aaron and Hur,[f] climbed to the top of the hill. [11] As long as Moses kept his hand raised, Israel prevailed; but when he let his hand down, Amalek prevailed. [12] Moses' hands became heavy, so they took a stone and placed it beneath him, and he sat on it; and Aaron and Hur supported his hands, one on each side, so that his hands remained steady until sunset. [13] And Joshua overwhelmed Amalek and his people with the sword.[g]

[14] Yahweh said to Moses, "Write this in a book[h] as a reminder, and recite it to Joshua: I will utterly erase the memory of Amalek from under heaven." [15] Moses built an altar and named it Yahweh Nissi,[i] [16] saying, "A hand upon the throne of Yah![j] Yahweh will be at war with Amalek from generation to generation."

Notes

- a (17:1) Hebrew "by the mouth of Yahweh."
- b (17:1) Rephidim perhaps means "resting places" or "supports." Its location is uncertain.
- c (17:7) Massah means "testing" and Meribah means "quarreling."
- d (17:8) Amalek, a desert people descended from Esau's grandson Amalek (Genesis 36:12).

- e (17:9) This is the first appearance of Joshua, Hebrew Yehoshua, "Yahweh saves." His earlier name was Hoshea, "salvation" (Numbers 13:16). The Greek form of the name is Iesous, "Jesus."
- f (17:10) Hur perhaps means "child" or is of Egyptian origin, from the god Horus. Jewish tradition made him Miriam's husband. See also 24:14.
- g (17:13) Hebrew "by the mouth of the sword."
- h (17:14) Or "on a scroll." Hebrew sefer, "a written document."
- i (17:15) Yahweh Nissi means "Yahweh is my banner." A banner was a pole or standard raised as a rallying point in battle, recalling Moses' raised staff.
- j (17:16) The Hebrew is difficult. It may mean "a hand raised to the throne of Yah," an oath, or, if kes ("throne") is read as nes ("banner"), "a hand upon the banner of Yah," matching the name Yahweh Nissi. The Septuagint reads "with a secret hand the Lord wars against Amalek." On Yah, see the note at 15:2.

Chapter 18

1 Jethro, the priest of Midian, Moses' father-in-law, heard of all that God had done for Moses and for his people Israel, how Yahweh had brought Israel out of Egypt. 2 Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, had taken Zipporah, Moses' wife, after she had been sent away,[a] 3 along with her two sons. The name of the one was Gershom, for he said, "I have become a foreigner in a foreign land," 4 and the name of the other was Eliezer,[b] for he said, "The God of my father was my help and rescued me from the sword of Pharaoh." 5 Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, came with Moses' sons and his wife to Moses in the wilderness, where he was camped at the mountain of God. 6 He sent word to Moses,[c] "I, your father-in-law Jethro, am coming to you with your wife and her two sons with her." 7 Moses went out to meet his father-in-law. He bowed down and kissed him, and they asked each other about their welfare, and they went into the tent. 8 Moses recounted to his father-in-law everything that Yahweh had done to Pharaoh and the Egyptians on Israel's account, all the hardship that had befallen them along the way, and how Yahweh had delivered them. 9 Jethro was glad because of all the good that Yahweh had done for Israel, since he had delivered them out of the hand of the Egyptians. 10 Jethro said, "Blessed be Yahweh, who has rescued you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of Pharaoh, who has rescued the people from under the hand of the Egyptians. 11 Now I know that Yahweh is greater than all gods, because of what came about when they acted insolently against the people."[d] 12 Then Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, brought a burnt offering and sacrifices to God, and Aaron came with all the elders of Israel to eat bread with Moses' father-in-law before God.

13 The next day Moses sat to judge the people, and the people stood around Moses from morning until evening. 14 When Moses' father-in-law saw all that he was doing for the people, he said, "What is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you sit alone, with all the people standing around you from morning until evening?" 15 Moses said to his father-in-law, "Because the people come to me to inquire of God. 16 When they have a dispute, it comes to me, and I judge between one person and another, and I make known the statutes of God and his laws." 17 Moses' father-in-law said to him, "What you are doing is not good. 18 You will certainly wear yourself out, you and this people who are with you, for the work is too heavy for you; you are not able to do it by yourself. 19 Now listen to me; let me counsel you, and may God be with you. Be the people's representative before God, and bring their cases to him. 20 Teach them the statutes and the laws, and make known to them the way in which they must walk and the work they must do. 21 Moreover you shall look out from among all the people capable men, such as fear God, men of truth, hating unjust gain; and place such over them as rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. 22 Let them judge the people at all times. Every major dispute they are to bring to you, but every minor dispute they may decide themselves. So it will be easier for you, and they will bear the burden with you. 23 If you do this, and God so commands you, then you will be able to endure, and all these people also will go to their place in peace."

24 So Moses listened to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said. 25 Moses chose capable men out of all Israel and made them heads over the people, officers over thousands, officers over hundreds, officers over fifties, and officers over tens.[e] 26 They judged the people at all times. Any difficult case they brought to Moses, but every minor case they decided themselves. 27 Then Moses let his father-in-law depart, and he went away to his own land.

Notes

- a (18:2) Hebrew shilluheha, "her sending away." The text does not say when or why Moses sent her back; the last mention of her is 4:20–26.
- b (18:4) Eliezer means "my God is help."
- c (18:6) So the Hebrew. The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and the Syriac read "Someone said to Moses, 'Look, your father-in-law Jethro is coming to you.'"
- d (18:11) The Hebrew of the last part of the verse is brief and difficult, literally "for in the thing in which they acted proudly against them."
- e (18:25) At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds a passage drawn from Deuteronomy 1:9–18, in which Moses describes the appointment of the judges in his own words.

Chapter 19

1 In the third month (in May–June)[a] after the Israelites had gone out of the land of Egypt, on that very day,[b] they came into the wilderness of Sinai. 2 They set out from Rephidim, came into the wilderness of Sinai, and camped in the wilderness. Israel camped there in front of the mountain. 3 Moses went up to God, and Yahweh called to him from the mountain, saying, "This is what you are to say to the house of Jacob and tell the Israelites: 4 'You yourselves have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I carried you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself. 5 And now, if you will truly obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my own treasured possession[c] among all the peoples; for the whole earth is mine. 6 You will be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.' These are the words that you are to speak to the Israelites."

7 So Moses came and called the elders of the people and set before them all these words that Yahweh had commanded him. 8 The whole people answered as one, "Everything that Yahweh has spoken we will do." Then Moses reported the people's words to Yahweh. 9 Yahweh said to Moses, "Look, I am coming to you in a thick cloud, so that the people may hear when I speak with you and may also believe you forever." Then Moses told the people's words to Yahweh.

10 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go to the people and consecrate them today and tomorrow. Let them wash their clothes 11 and be ready for the third day, for on the third day Yahweh will come down on Mount Sinai in the sight of all the people. 12 You shall mark off a boundary for the people all around and say, 'Beware of going up the mountain or touching its border; anyone who touches the mountain shall surely be put to death. 13 No hand shall touch him, but he shall be stoned or shot with arrows; beast or man, he shall not live. When the ram's horn gives a long blast, they may go up on the mountain."[d] 14 Moses came down from the mountain to the people and sanctified the people, and they washed their garments. 15 He said to the people, "Be ready for the third day. Do not go near a woman."

16 On the third day, as morning came, there were thunder and lightning, a dense cloud over the mountain, and a very loud trumpet blast, and all the people in the camp shuddered. 17 Moses led the people out of the camp to meet God, and they stationed themselves at the base of the mountain. 18 Mount Sinai was entirely in smoke, because Yahweh had descended upon it in fire; its smoke rose like the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mountain[e] shook violently. 19 As the sound of the trumpet grew louder and louder, Moses spoke, and God answered him with a voice.[f] 20 Yahweh came down on Mount Sinai, on the top of the mountain. Yahweh called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went up. 21 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go down and warn the people, so that they do not break through to Yahweh to look, and many of them perish. 22 Even the priests who come near to Yahweh must consecrate themselves, or Yahweh will break out against them." 23 Moses said to Yahweh, "The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai, because you yourself charged us, 'Mark off boundaries around the mountain and make it holy.'" 24 Yahweh said to him, "Go down, and then come up, you together with Aaron; but the priests and the people must not break through to come up to Yahweh, lest he burst out against them." 25 So Moses went down to the people and told them.

Notes

- a (19:1) Hebrew "In the third month," later called Sivan, counting from the spring new year (see the note at 12:2).
- b (19:1) Literally "on this day," probably the first day of the month, the new moon.
- c (19:5) Hebrew segullah, a personal treasure, such as a king's private property.

- d (19:13) Hebrew yovel, “ram’s horn.” The trumpet (shofar) of verses 16 and 19 is a different word for a similar instrument.
- e (19:18) The Septuagint and some Hebrew manuscripts read “the whole people.”
- f (19:19) Or “in thunder.” The Hebrew word qol means both “voice” and “thunder.”

Chapter 20

1 Then God spoke all these words, saying,[a] 2 “I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.
3 “You shall have no other gods before me.[b] 4 “You shall not make yourself a carved image,[c] nor any likeness of what is in the heavens above, or on the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth. 5 You shall not bow down to them nor serve them; for I, Yahweh your God, am a jealous God,[d] punishing the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, upon the third and upon the fourth generation of those who hate me, 6 but showing loyal love to thousands[e] of those who love me and keep my commandments.
7 “You shall not take up the name of Yahweh your God for emptiness,[f] for Yahweh will not leave unpunished anyone who takes up his name for emptiness.
8 “Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. 9 Six days you shall labor and do all your work, 10 but the seventh day is a Sabbath to Yahweh your God: you shall do no work on it—you, nor your son, nor your daughter, nor your male servant, nor your female servant, nor your livestock, nor the sojourner within your gates. 11 For in six days Yahweh made the heavens and the earth, the sea, and everything in them, and he rested on the seventh day; this is why Yahweh blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.
12 “Honor your father and your mother, so that your days may be long in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you.
13 “You shall not murder.[g] 14 “You shall not commit adultery.
15 “You shall not steal.
16 “You shall not give false testimony against your neighbor.

17 “You shall not covet your neighbor’s house; you shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, nor his male servant, nor his female servant, nor his ox, nor his donkey, nor anything that is your neighbor’s.”[h] 18 All the people saw the thunder and the lightning, the sound of the trumpet, and the mountain smoking. When the people saw it, they trembled and stood at a distance. 19 They said to Moses, “You speak to us, and we will hear; but let not God speak to us, lest we die.” 20 Moses said to the people, “Do not be afraid, for God has come to test you, and so that the fear of him may be before you, to keep you from sinning.” 21 So the people stood far off, but Moses approached the thick darkness where God was.[i] 22 Yahweh said to Moses, “This is what you are to say to the Israelites:
‘You yourselves have seen that I have spoken with you from heaven.
23 You shall not make alongside me gods of silver, and gods of gold you shall not make for yourselves. 24 You are to make for me an altar of earth and sacrifice on it your burnt offerings and your peace offerings,[j] your sheep and your oxen. In every place where I cause my name to be remembered I will come to you and bless you. 25 If you make me an altar of stone, you shall not build it with hewn stones; for if you wield your chisel on it, you have profaned it. 26 And you shall not go up by steps to my altar, so that your nakedness may not be exposed on it.’

Notes

- a (20:1) The Ten Commandments, called in Hebrew “the ten words” (34:28; Deuteronomy 4:13), are given again in Deuteronomy 5:6–21 with some differences. Jewish and Christian traditions divide them in different ways.
- b (20:3) Or “besides me,” or “in defiance of me.” Literally “before my face.”
- c (20:4) Hebrew pesel, an idol carved from wood or stone, or cast in metal.
- d (20:5) Hebrew El qanna, “a jealous God,” one who is zealous for an exclusive relationship, as a husband for his marriage. See 34:14, where Qanna is given as a name.
- e (20:6) Or “to the thousandth generation,” in contrast with the third and fourth generation of verse 5. Compare Deuteronomy 7:9. On “loyal love,” see the note at 15:13.
- f (20:7) Or “You shall not misuse the name” or “lift up the name … in vain.” The command forbids using God’s name for falsehood, such as false oaths, or for worthless ends.

- g (20:13) Hebrew ratsah, unlawful killing. The word is not used for killing in war or for lawful execution. The Septuagint (Vaticanus) gives verses 13–15 in the order "You shall not commit adultery. You shall not steal. You shall not murder."
- h (20:17) After this verse the Samaritan Pentateuch adds a commandment, drawn from Deuteronomy 11:29–30 and 27:2–7, to build an altar on Mount Gerizim.
- i (20:21) In verses 19–21 the Samaritan Pentateuch adds passages drawn from Deuteronomy 5:24–31 and 18:18–22, including the promise of a prophet like Moses.
- j (20:24) Hebrew shelamim, offerings for fellowship, thanksgiving, or vows, shared by the worshiper, the priests, and God.

Chapter 21

1 "These are the rules[a] that you are to set before them.
2 "When you buy a Hebrew slave,[b] he is to serve six years, and in the seventh he is to go out free, without payment. 3 If he comes in single, he is to go out single. If he is married, his wife is to go out with him.
4 If his master gives him a wife, and she bears him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be her master's, and he shall go out by himself. 5 But if the slave plainly says, 'I love my master, my wife, and my children; I will not go out free,' 6 then his master shall bring him to God,[c] and shall bring him to the door or to the doorpost; and his master shall pierce his ear with an awl, and he shall serve him forever.
7 "When a man sells his daughter as a slave, she is not to go out as the male slaves do. 8 If she displeases her master, who had designated her for himself,[d] then he shall let her be redeemed. To sell her to a foreign people he shall have no power, seeing he has dealt deceitfully with her. 9 If he designates her for his son, he is to deal with her as with a daughter. 10 If he takes another wife for himself, he must not reduce her food, her clothing, or her marital rights.[e] 11 If he does not do these three things for her, she is to go out free, without payment of money.
12 "Whoever strikes a man so that he dies shall surely be put to death.
13 But if he did not lie in wait for him, and God let him fall into his hand, then I will appoint for you a place to which he may flee. 14 But if a man acts willfully against his neighbor to kill him by cunning, you are to take him even from my altar, so that he may die.
15 "Whoever strikes his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.

16 “Whoever kidnaps a man, whether he has sold him or he is still found in his possession, must surely be put to death.
17 “Whoever curses[f] his father or his mother shall surely be put to death.
18 “If men quarrel, and one strikes the other with a stone or with his fist, and he does not die but keeps to his bed, 19 then if he gets up and walks around outside with his staff, the one who struck him will be free of liability. He must only pay for the loss of his time and see that he is fully healed.
20 “When a man strikes his male or female slave with a rod and the slave dies under his hand, the slave must be avenged. 21 Yet if the slave lives on a day or two, he shall not be avenged, for he is the owner’s money.[g] 22 “If men fight with one another and hurt a pregnant woman so that her children come out,[h] and yet no harm follows, he shall surely be fined, according to what the woman’s husband lays on him; and he shall pay as the judges determine. 23 But if there is serious injury, then you are to give life for life, 24 eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, 25 burn for burn, wound for wound, bruise for bruise.[i] 26 “When a man strikes the eye of his male or female slave and destroys it, he is to let the slave go free in compensation for the eye. 27 If he knocks out the tooth of his male or female slave, he is to let the slave go free in compensation for the tooth.
28 “If an ox gores a man or a woman so that either dies, the ox shall surely be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox shall be free of blame. 29 But if the ox was accustomed to goring in time past, and its owner was warned but did not confine it, and it kills a man or a woman, the ox shall be stoned, and its owner also shall be put to death. 30 If a ransom is imposed on him, then he is to give for the redemption of his life whatever is imposed on him. 31 Whether it gores a son or gores a daughter, it shall be done to him according to this same judgment. 32 If the ox gores a male or female slave, the owner is to give to their master about 12 ounces of silver,[j] and the ox is to be stoned.

33 “If a man opens a pit, or if a man digs a pit and does not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls in, 34 the owner of the pit is to make it good.
He is to pay money to its owner, and the dead animal will be his.
35 “When one man’s ox injures his neighbor’s ox so that it dies, they are to sell the live ox and divide its price, and they are also to divide the dead animal. 36 Or if it is known that the ox has been in the habit of goring in the past, and its owner has not kept it in, he must surely repay ox for ox, and the dead animal will be his.

Notes

- a (21:1) Hebrew mishpatim, “judgments” or “ordinances,” case laws that apply the covenant. Chapters 21–23 are often called the Book of the Covenant (24:7).
- b (21:2) Or “servant.” Hebrew eved means a slave or servant, including a person in debt service, as here, who serves for a limited term.
- c (21:6) Or “to the judges.” Hebrew elohim may refer to God at the sanctuary or to judges acting in his name. So also in 22:8–9.
- d (21:8) So the main Hebrew reading. The traditional Hebrew margin and the Samaritan Pentateuch read “so that he has not designated her.”
- e (21:10) Or “her shelter” or “her ointment.” The Hebrew word onah occurs only here, and its meaning is uncertain.
- f (21:17) Or “treats with contempt.” Hebrew qillel, “make light of.”
- g (21:21) Hebrew “for he is his money.”
- h (21:22) That is, she gives birth prematurely, or perhaps miscarries. The phrase “no serious injury” (Hebrew ason, “harm”) may refer to the woman, the child, or both; interpreters differ. The Septuagint distinguishes a child born “not fully formed,” for which a fine is paid, from one “fully formed,” for which the penalty is life for life.
- i (21:25) The principle of equal justice (lex talionis) set the limit of a penalty and was generally applied through monetary compensation.
- j (21:32) Hebrew “thirty shekels of silver,” about 12 ounces (345 grams). Compare Zechariah 11:12–13 and Matthew 26:15.

Chapter 22

1 “If a man steals an ox or a sheep[a] and kills it or sells it, he shall pay back five oxen for the ox, and four sheep for the sheep. 2 If the thief is found breaking in, and is struck so that he dies, there shall be no bloodguilt on his account. 3 If the sun has risen on him, blood is due for him. He must make full restitution; and if he has nothing, he shall be sold for his theft. 4 If the stolen animal is found alive in his possession, whether ox or donkey or sheep, he is to repay double.

5 “When a man lets a field or vineyard be grazed over, or lets his animal loose and it grazes in another man’s field, he is to make restitution from the best of his own field and the best of his own vineyard.[b] 6 “If fire breaks out and spreads to thorns, and the shocks of grain, or the standing grain, or the field are consumed, he who kindled the fire shall surely make restitution.
7 “If a man gives money or articles to his neighbor for safekeeping, and it is stolen out of that man’s house, and the thief is caught, he shall pay back double. 8 If the thief is not found, the owner of the house is to come near to God[c] to show whether he has put his hand to his neighbor’s property. 9 For every kind of breach of trust, whether for ox, donkey, sheep, clothing, or any lost thing about which one says, ‘This is it,’ the cause of both parties shall come before God; whomever God condemns[d] shall pay double to his neighbor.
10 “When a man gives his neighbor a donkey, an ox, a sheep, or any animal to keep, and it dies or is injured or is driven away, with no one seeing it, 11 an oath of Yahweh shall be between the two of them, whether he has put his hand to his neighbor’s goods; and its owner shall accept it, and he shall not make restitution. 12 But if it was actually stolen from him, he is to make restitution to its owner. 13 If it has been torn to pieces by a beast, let him bring it as evidence; he need not pay for what was torn.
14 “When a man borrows an animal from his neighbor, and it is injured or dies while its owner is not with it, he must make full restitution.
15 If its owner was with it, he does not have to make restitution. If it was hired, the hiring fee covers the loss.[e] 16 “If a man entices a virgin who is not betrothed and lies with her, he shall certainly endow her to be his wife by paying the bride price.[f] 17 If her father utterly refuses to give her to him, he is to pay money equal to the bride-price for virgins.
18 “You shall not let a sorceress live.
19 “Whoever lies with an animal must surely be put to death.
20 “Whoever sacrifices to any god other than Yahweh alone is to be devoted to destruction.[g]

21 “You shall not wrong a foreigner or oppress him, for you were foreigners in the land of Egypt. 22 You shall not mistreat any widow or orphan. 23 If you do mistreat them, and they cry out to me, I will surely hear their cry, 24 and my anger will burn, and I will kill you with the sword, and your wives will become widows and your children orphans.
25 “If you lend money to any of my people with you who is poor, you shall not act like a moneylender to him; you shall not charge him interest. 26 If you take your neighbor’s garment in pledge, you shall return it to him before the sun sets, 27 for that is his only covering, it is his garment for his skin. In what shall he sleep? And when he cries to me, I will hear, for I am gracious.
28 “You shall not revile God,[h] nor curse a ruler of your people.
29 “You shall not hold back the first of your ripe harvest and of the overflow of your presses.[i] The firstborn of your sons you shall give to me. 30 You are to do the same with your oxen and your sheep. Seven days it is to be with its mother; on the eighth day you are to give it to me.
31 “You are to be holy people to me. Therefore you shall not eat any meat that is torn by beasts in the field; you are to throw it to the dogs.

Notes

- a (22:1) Verse 22:1 is numbered 21:37 in the Hebrew text, and verses 22:2–31 are numbered 22:1–30.
- b (22:5) The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint have a longer text: “… he is to make restitution from his own field according to its yield. But if it grazes over the whole field, he is to make restitution from the best of his own field and the best of his own vineyard.”
- c (22:8) Or “before the judges.” See the note at 21:6.
- d (22:9) Or “whom the judges declare guilty.” The verb is plural, which may suggest judges acting for God.
- e (22:15) Or “if it was hired, he must bear the loss of the hire.” The Hebrew is brief, literally “if it was hired, it came for its hire.”
- f (22:16) Hebrew mohar, the payment a bridegroom gave to the bride’s family.
- g (22:20) Hebrew herem, set apart irrevocably to God, which in the case of a person meant death.
- h (22:28) Or “the judges.” Hebrew elohim. Paul quotes the second half of this verse in Acts 23:5.

- i (22:29) The Hebrew is brief: “your fullness and your trickling,” that is, the first of the grain harvest and of the juice from the wine press and olive press.

Chapter 23

1 “You shall not spread a false report. Do not join hands with a wicked person to be a malicious witness. 2 You shall not follow a crowd in doing evil, nor shall you testify in a lawsuit siding with a crowd to pervert justice. 3 Nor shall you show partiality to a poor man in his lawsuit.
4 “If you meet your enemy’s ox or his donkey going astray, you must take it back to him. 5 If you see the donkey of one who hates you lying down under its load, you shall not leave him alone with it; you must help him free it.[a] 6 “You shall not turn aside the justice owed to your poor in his dispute.
7 Keep far from a false charge, and do not kill the innocent and the righteous, for I will not acquit the wicked. 8 You shall not take a bribe, for a bribe blinds those who see and subverts the cause of the righteous. 9 “You shall not oppress a stranger; you yourselves know the life[b] of a stranger, for you were strangers in the land of Egypt.
10 “For six years you are to sow your land and gather in its produce, 11 but in the seventh year you are to let it rest and lie fallow, so that the poor of your people may eat. What they leave, the wild animals may eat. You are to do the same with your vineyard and your olive grove.
12 For six days you shall do your work, but on the seventh day you shall cease, that your ox and your donkey may rest, and the female servant’s son and the resident alien may be refreshed. 13 Take heed to everything I have said to you; do not make mention of the names of other gods, nor let them be heard from your lips.
14 “You shall keep a feast to me three times in the year. 15 You are to keep the Festival of Unleavened Bread. For seven days you are to eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of Abib (March–April),[c] for in it you came out of Egypt. No one is to appear before me empty-handed. 16 Also the Feast of Harvest,[d] the firstfruits of your labors, which you sow in the field; and the Feast of Ingathering[e] at the end of the year, when you gather in the produce of your labors from the field. 17 Three times a year all your males are to appear before the Lord Yahweh.[f] 18 "You shall not offer the blood of my sacrifice with anything leavened, and the fat of my festival sacrifice is not to remain until morning. 19 The best of the firstfruits of your ground you are to bring into the house of Yahweh your God. "You shall not boil a young goat in its mother's milk.[g] 20 "Look, I am sending an angel before you to guard you on the way and to bring you to the place I have prepared. 21 Take heed before him and obey his voice; do not provoke him, for he will not forgive your transgressions, since my name is in him. 22 But if you carefully listen to his voice and do all that I say, then I will be an enemy to your enemies and an adversary to your adversaries. 23 For my angel will go before you and bring you to the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I will wipe them out. 24 You shall not bow down to their gods or serve them, nor do as they do, but you are to demolish them completely and break their sacred pillars in pieces. 25 You are to serve Yahweh your God, and he will bless your bread and your water, and I will take sickness away from among you. 26 No woman will miscarry or be barren in your land; I will fulfill the number of your days.

27 "I will send my terror before you and throw into confusion all the people against whom you come, and I will make all your enemies turn their backs to you. 28 I will send the hornet[h] before you, which will drive out the Hivites, the Canaanites, and the Hittites from before you. 29 I will not drive them out from before you in one year, lest the land become desolate, and the beasts of the field multiply against you. 30 Little by little I will drive them out from before you, until you have increased and take possession of the land. 31 I will set your border from the Red Sea to the Sea of the Philistines,[i] and from the wilderness to the River,[j] for I will give the inhabitants of the land into your hand, and you will drive them out before you. 32 You shall make no covenant with them or with their gods. 33 They shall not dwell in your land, lest they cause you to sin against me; for if you serve their gods, it will surely be a snare to you."

Notes

- a (23:5) The Hebrew is difficult; literally, "you shall cease from leaving it to him; you shall certainly loose it along with him."
- b (23:9) Hebrew nefesh, "soul," "life," or "inner feelings."
- c (23:15) Hebrew "the month of Abib." See the note at 13:4.
- d (23:16) That is, the wheat harvest in late spring, later called the Festival of Weeks (34:22) or Pentecost.
- e (23:16) That is, the autumn harvest of fruit and olives, later called the Festival of Booths or Tabernacles.
- f (23:17) Hebrew ha'adon YHWH, "the Lord, Yahweh." Here Adon ("Lord" or "Master") is used, not Adonai.
- g (23:19) This command is repeated in 34:26 and Deuteronomy 14:21. Its original purpose is uncertain; it may forbid a Canaanite ritual or express respect for the bond between mother and young. It became the basis of the Jewish practice of not mixing meat and milk.
- h (23:28) Or "panic" or "plague." The meaning of the Hebrew word tsir'ah is uncertain.
- i (23:31) That is, the Mediterranean Sea.

Chapter 24

1 Then he said to Moses, "Come up to Yahweh, you and Aaron, Nadab, and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel, and worship at a distance. 2 Moses alone is to come near to Yahweh, but the others are not to come near, and the people are not to come up with him." 3 Moses came and told the people all the words of Yahweh and all the rules. All the people answered with one voice and said, "All the words that Yahweh has spoken we will do." 4 Moses wrote down all the words of Yahweh. He rose early in the morning and built an altar at the foot of the mountain, and twelve pillars, for the twelve tribes of Israel. 5 He sent young men of the Israelites, and they offered burnt offerings and sacrificed peace offerings of bulls to Yahweh. 6 Moses took half of the blood and put it in basins, and half of the blood he splashed against the altar. 7 Then he took the Book of the Covenant and read it in the hearing of the people. They said, "All that Yahweh has spoken we will do, and we will obey." 8 Moses took the blood and splashed it on the people and said, "This is the blood of the covenant that Yahweh has made with you in accordance with all these words."[a]

9 Then Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel went up. 10 They saw the God of Israel.[b] Under his feet there was something like a pavement of lapis lazuli,[c] like the very sky for clearness. 11 But he did not lay his hand on the leaders[d] of the Israelites.
They beheld God, and they ate and drank.
12 Yahweh said to Moses, "Come up to me on the mountain and stay there, and I will give you the tablets of stone, with the law and the commandment that I have written for their instruction." 13 So Moses set out with Joshua his assistant, and Moses went up the mountain of God. 14 He said to the elders, "Stay here for us until we come back to you; and see, Aaron and Hur are with you. Whoever has a legal matter may go to them." 15 Then Moses went up the mountain, and the cloud covered the mountain. 16 The glory of Yahweh settled on Mount Sinai, and the cloud covered it six days. On the seventh day he called to Moses from the midst of the cloud. 17 The appearance of the glory of Yahweh was like a consuming fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the Israelites. 18 Moses entered the cloud and went up the mountain.
Moses was on the mountain forty days and forty nights.

Notes

- a (24:8) Jesus echoes these words at the Last Supper (Matthew 26:28; Mark 14:24); compare Hebrews 9:18–20.
- b (24:10) The Septuagint reads "they saw the place where the God of Israel stood," and in verse 11 "they appeared in the place of God," softening the statement that they saw God.
- c (24:10) Or "sapphire." The ancient sapphire was probably lapis lazuli, a deep blue stone.
- d (24:11) Hebrew atsilim, "corners" or "nobles," a rare word.

Chapter 25

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites, that they bring me a contribution;[a] from every man whose heart prompts him you shall take my contribution. 3 This is the offering that you are to receive from them: gold, silver, and bronze;[b] 4 blue, purple, and scarlet yarn,[c] fine linen, and goats' hair; 5 rams' skins dyed red, fine leather,[d] and acacia wood;[e] 6 oil for the light, spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense; 7 onyx stones[f] and stones to be set, for the ephod[g] and for the breastpiece. 8 Let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them. 9 Exactly as I show you, the pattern of the tabernacle[h] and the pattern of all its furnishings, so you are to make it.

10 "They are to make an ark[i] of acacia wood, about 3¾ feet long, 2¼ feet wide, and 2¼ feet high.[j] 11 You are to overlay it with pure gold, inside and outside you are to overlay it, and you are to make a molding of gold around it. 12 You are to cast four rings of gold for it and fasten them on its four feet, two rings on one side of it and two rings on the other side. 13 You are to make poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. 14 You are to put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark, to carry the ark by them. 15 The poles are to remain in the rings of the ark; they must not be removed from it. 16 You are to put into the ark the testimony[k] that I will give you.
17 "You are to make an atonement cover[l] of pure gold, about 3¾ feet long and 2¼ feet wide.[m] 18 You shall make two cherubim[n] of gold; make them of beaten work, at the two ends of the mercy seat. 19 Make one cherub at the one end, and at the other end the other; the cherubim you shall make of one piece with the mercy seat, at its two ends. 20
The cherubim shall spread their wings upward, covering the mercy seat with their wings, and their faces shall look toward each other; toward the mercy seat shall be the faces of the cherubim. 21 You shall place the mercy seat on the top of the ark, and into the ark you shall put the testimony that I shall give you. 22 There I will meet with you; from above the mercy seat, between the two cherubim over the ark of the testimony, I will speak with you about all that I shall command you for the Israelites.
23 "You are to make a table of acacia wood, about 3 feet long, 1½ feet wide, and 2¼ feet high.[o] 24 You are to overlay it with pure gold and make a molding of gold around it. 25 You are to make a rim around it about 3 inches wide,[p] and make a molding of gold around the rim. 26 You are to make four rings of gold for it and fasten the rings at the four corners at its four legs. 27 Close to the rim the rings shall be, as places for the poles to carry the table. 28 You are to make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold, and the table is to be carried with them. 29 You are to make its plates and its dishes, its jars and its bowls for pouring out drink offerings; you are to make them of pure gold. 30 And you are to set the bread of the Presence[q] on the table before me always.

31 "You shall make a lampstand[r] of pure gold; of hammered work the lampstand shall be made, its base and its stem; its cups, its knobs,[s] and its flowers shall be of one piece with it. 32 Six branches are to go out from its sides, three branches of the lampstand from one side of it and three branches of the lampstand from the other side of it. 33 On one branch are to be three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with a knob and a flower, and on the next branch three cups shaped like almond blossoms, each with a knob and a flower; so for the six branches going out from the lampstand. 34 On the lampstand itself are to be four cups shaped like almond blossoms, with their knobs and flowers, 35 and a knob under the first pair of branches, of one piece with it, and a knob under the second pair of branches, of one piece with it, and a knob under the third pair of branches, of one piece with it, for the six branches going out from the lampstand. 36 Their knobs and their branches shall be of one piece with it; all of it one piece of hammered work of pure gold. 37 You shall make its seven lamps; and the lamps shall be set up to give light on the area in front of it. 38 Its snuffers and its trays are to be of pure gold. 39 It is to be made, with all these utensils, from about 75 pounds of pure gold.[t] 40 See that you make them after the pattern for them that you were shown on the mountain.

Notes

- a (25:2) Hebrew terumah, a contribution set apart, literally "something lifted off."
- b (25:3) Or "copper." Hebrew nehoshet means copper or its alloy bronze.
- c (25:4) The colors came from dyes: blue (or violet) from sea snails, purple from murex shells, and scarlet from an insect dye.
- d (25:5) Hebrew tahash. The meaning is uncertain; suggestions include the skins of dolphins or dugongs (sea cows), goatskin, or leather dyed a particular color.
- e (25:5) Acacia is a hard, durable desert wood that grows in Sinai.
- f (25:7) Or "carnelian." The identification of many ancient stones is uncertain.
- g (25:7) The ephod was an outer priestly garment, apparently a kind of apron or vest (28:6–14).

- h (25:9) Hebrew mishkan, “dwelling place,” from shakan, “to dwell” (verse 8). It was a portable tent-shrine.
- i (25:10) Hebrew aron, “chest” or “box,” a different word from Noah’s ark.
- j (25:10) Hebrew “two and a half cubits long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high,” about 1.1 meters long and 0.7 meter wide and high. A cubit, the distance from elbow to fingertip, was about 18 inches (45 centimeters); a longer cubit of about 20.5 inches (52 centimeters) was also used, so the measurements in these chapters may be somewhat larger.
- k (25:16) That is, the two tablets of stone, which bore witness to the covenant (31:18).
- l (25:17) Hebrew kapporet, from the verb kipper, “to atone” or “to cover.” The traditional English “mercy seat” comes from Luther’s Gnadenstuhl and Tyndale. The Septuagint reads hilasterion, “place of atonement” (compare Romans 3:25; Hebrews 9:5).
- m (25:17) Hebrew “two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide,” about 1.1 by 0.7 meters.
- n (25:18) Cherubim (singular cherub) were winged heavenly beings, often pictured in the ancient Near East as guardians of thrones and holy places. Compare Genesis 3:24.
- o (25:23) Hebrew “two cubits long, a cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high,” about 90 centimeters long, 45 wide, and 70 high.
- p (25:25) Hebrew “a handbreadth,” about 3 inches (7.5 centimeters).
- q (25:30) Literally “bread of the face,” twelve loaves set before Yahweh and renewed every Sabbath (Leviticus 24:5–9).
- r (25:31) Hebrew menorah.
- s (25:31) Hebrew kaftor, probably the bulb or calyx beneath the flower.
- t (25:39) Hebrew “a talent of pure gold,” about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).

Chapter 26

1 “You are to make the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twisted linen, and blue, purple, and scarlet yarn; you are to make them with cherubim worked into them by a skilled designer. 2 The length of each curtain is to be about 42 feet, and the width of each curtain about 6 feet;[a] all the curtains are to have the same measurements. 3 Five curtains are to be joined to one another, and the other five curtains are to be joined to one another. 4 You are to make loops of blue on the edge of the outermost curtain in the first set, and likewise make them on the edge of the outermost curtain in the second set. 5 You shall make fifty loops in the one curtain, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain that is in the second set, so that the loops are opposite one another. 6 You shall make fifty clasps of gold, and couple the curtains to one another with the clasps, so that the tabernacle may be one.

7 "You shall also make curtains of goats' hair for a tent over the tabernacle; eleven curtains you shall make. 8 The length of each curtain is to be about 45 feet, and the width of each curtain about 6 feet;[b] the eleven curtains are to have the same measurements. 9 You are to join five curtains by themselves and six curtains by themselves, and you are to fold the sixth curtain double at the front of the tent. 10 You are to make fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in the first set and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain in the second set. 11 And you shall make fifty hooks of bronze, and put the hooks into the loops, and join the tent together, that it may be one. 12 And the overlapping part that remains of the curtains of the tent, the half curtain that remains, shall hang over the back of the tabernacle. 13 The extra length of the curtains of the tent, about 18 inches[c] on one side and about 18 inches on the other, is to hang over the sides of the tabernacle, on this side and that, to cover it. 14 You are to make for the tent a covering of rams' skins dyed red, and a covering of fine leather above that.
15 "You are to make upright frames[d] of acacia wood for the tabernacle.
16 The length of each frame is to be about 15 feet, and the width of each frame about 2¼ feet.[e] 17 Each frame is to have two tenons,[f] joined to one another. You are to make all the frames of the tabernacle this way. 18 You shall make the frames for the tabernacle: twenty frames on the south side, toward the south; 19 Forty sockets[g] of silver you shall make under the twenty boards: two sockets under the one board for its two tenons, and two sockets under the next board for its two tenons; 20 and for the second side of the tabernacle, the north side, twenty frames, 21 and their forty sockets of silver, two sockets under the one board, and two sockets under the next board. 22 And for the rear of the tabernacle toward the west you shall make six frames. 23 You are to make two frames for the corners of the tabernacle at the rear. 24 They are to be doubled at the bottom and likewise complete[h] at the top, up to the first ring. So it is to be for both of them; they will form the two corners. 25 There shall be eight boards, and their sockets of silver, sixteen sockets; two sockets under the one board, and two sockets under the next board.

26 “You shall make bars of acacia wood; five for the boards of one side of the tabernacle, 27 and five bars for the boards of the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the side of the tabernacle at the rear toward the west. 28 The middle crossbar, halfway up the frames, is to run from end to end. 29 You shall overlay the boards with gold, and make their rings of gold for places for the bars, and you shall overlay the bars with gold. 30 And you shall raise up the tabernacle according to the plan that was shown you on the mountain.
31 “You shall make a veil[i] of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and fine twisted linen; with cherubim skillfully worked into it it shall be made.
32 You are to hang it on four posts of acacia overlaid with gold, with hooks of gold, set on four bases of silver. 33 And you shall hang the veil under the hooks, and bring the ark of the testimony in behind the veil; the veil shall make a division for you between the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place.[j] 34 You shall set the mercy seat upon the ark of the testimony in the Most Holy Place. 35 And you shall set the table outside the veil, with the lampstand opposite the table on the south side of the tabernacle; the table you shall put on the north side.
36 “You shall make a hanging for the door of the tent, embroidered with needlework, of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen.
37 And you shall make for the hanging five pillars of acacia wood and overlay them with gold; their hooks shall be of gold, and you shall cast five sockets of bronze for them.

Notes

- a (26:2) Hebrew “twenty-eight cubits” long and “four cubits” wide, about 12.6 by 1.8 meters. On the cubit, see the note at 25:10.
- b (26:8) Hebrew “thirty cubits” long and “four cubits” wide, about 13.5 by 1.8 meters.
- c (26:13) Hebrew “a cubit,” about 45 centimeters.
- d (26:15) Hebrew qerashim, traditionally “boards.” They may have been open frameworks rather than solid planks.
- e (26:16) Hebrew “ten cubits” long and “a cubit and a half” wide, about 4.5 by 0.7 meters.
- f (26:17) Hebrew “hands,” projections fitting into the bases.

- g (26:19) Or “sockets,” hollow bases into which the tenons fit.
- h (26:24) Or “joined.” The construction of the corner frames is uncertain.
- i (26:31) Hebrew parokhet, the inner curtain that closed off the Most Holy Place.
- j (26:33) Hebrew “the holy of holies.”

Chapter 27

1 “You are to make the altar of acacia wood, about 7½ feet long and 7½ feet wide. The altar is to be square, and it is to be about 4½ feet high.[a] 2 You are to make its horns[b] on its four corners; its horns are to be of one piece with it, and you are to overlay it with bronze. 3 You are to make its pots for removing its ashes, and its shovels, its basins, its forks, and its firepans. You are to make all its utensils of bronze. 4 You shall make for it a grating of bronze network, and upon the network you shall make four bronze rings at its four corners. 5 You are to set it under the ledge of the altar, so that the network extends halfway down the altar. 6 You are to make poles for the altar, poles of acacia wood, and overlay them with bronze. 7 Its poles shall be put into the rings, and the poles shall be on the two sides of the altar, to carry it.
8 You are to make it hollow, of boards. As it was shown you on the mountain, so are they to make it.
9 “You shall make the court of the tabernacle. On the south side, toward the south, the court shall have hangings of fine twisted linen, about 150 feet in length[c] for one side; 10 with their twenty posts and their twenty bases of bronze; the hooks of the posts and their bands[d] are to be of silver. 11 Likewise for the north side, the length is to be hangings about 150 feet long, with their twenty posts and their twenty bases of bronze; the hooks of the posts and their bands are to be of silver. 12 And for the breadth of the court on the west side there shall be hangings of about 75 feet,[e] with ten pillars and ten sockets. 13 The width of the courtyard on the front, to the east, is to be about 75 feet. 14 The hangings for one side of the entrance are to be about 22½ feet long,[f] with their three posts and their three bases. 15 On the other side the hangings are to be about 22½ feet long, with their three posts and their three bases. 16 And for the gate of the court a hanging of about 30 feet[g] of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and fine twisted linen, embroidered with needlework; their pillars four, and their sockets four. 17 All the posts around the courtyard are to be banded with silver; their hooks are to be of silver and their bases of bronze. 18 The length of the courtyard is to be about 150 feet, the width about 75 feet throughout,[h] and the height about 7½ feet,[i] with hangings of fine twisted linen and bases of bronze. 19 All the utensils of the tabernacle for all its service, and all its tent pegs and all the tent pegs of the courtyard, are to be of bronze.

20 "And you shall command the Israelites to bring you pure olive oil, beaten, for the light, to make a lamp burn continually. 21 In the tent of meeting,[j] outside the curtain that hangs before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall keep the lamp in order, from dusk until dawn, before Yahweh. It shall be an everlasting statute for the Israelites, throughout their generations.

Notes

- a (27:1) Hebrew "five cubits long and five cubits wide … three cubits high," about 2.3 meters square and 1.4 meters high.
- b (27:2) Projections shaped like horns at the corners of the altar, the holiest part of it (29:12).
- c (27:9) Hebrew "a hundred cubits," about 45 meters. So also in verses 11 and 18.
- d (27:10) Or "connecting rods."
- e (27:12) Hebrew "fifty cubits," about 23 meters. So also in verses 13 and 18.
- f (27:14) Hebrew "fifteen cubits," about 6.8 meters. So also in verse 15.
- g (27:16) Hebrew "twenty cubits," about 9 meters.
- h (27:18) Hebrew "fifty by fifty," which may mean fifty cubits at each end.
- i (27:18) Hebrew "five cubits," about 2.3 meters.
- j (27:21) Hebrew ohel mo'ed, the tent where Yahweh met with Moses and the people (29:42–43). It is another name for the tabernacle.

Chapter 28

1 "And bring near to you Aaron your brother, and his sons with him, from among the Israelites, that he may minister to me as priest—Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar, Aaron's sons. 2 You are to make holy garments for your brother Aaron, for glory and for beauty. 3 And you shall speak to all who are wise of heart,[a] whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they make Aaron's garments to sanctify him, that he may minister to me as priest. 4 These are the garments that they shall make: a breastplate and an ephod, a robe and a woven tunic, a turban and a sash. They shall make holy garments for Aaron your brother and for his sons, that he may minister to me as priest. 5 They are to use gold, blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine linen.

6 "They shall make the ephod of gold, blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen, artistically worked. 7 It shall have two shoulder straps joined to its two edges, so that it is joined together. 8 The skillfully woven band[b] on it, which is on it, is to be of the same workmanship and of one piece with it, of gold, of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and of fine twisted linen. 9 You are to take two onyx stones and engrave on them the names of the sons of Israel, 10 six of their names on one stone, and the names of the remaining six on the other stone, in the order of their birth. 11 As a jeweler engraves a seal, you are to engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel. You are to set them in settings of gold filigree. 12 You are to put the two stones on the shoulder pieces of the ephod, as stones of remembrance for the sons of Israel. Aaron is to bear their names before Yahweh on his two shoulders for remembrance. 13 You are to make settings of gold filigree, 14 and two chains of pure gold, twisted like cords, and fasten the corded chains to the settings.

15 "You shall make the breastplate of judgment, artistically worked; like the work of the ephod you shall make it, with gold and with blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and with fine twisted linen. 16 It is to be square and folded double, about 9 inches long and about 9 inches wide.[c] 17 You are to set in it settings of stones, four rows of stones. A row of carnelian, topaz, and emerald[d] is to be the first row; 18 the second row a turquoise, a lapis lazuli, and a diamond;[e] 19 the third row a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; 20 and the fourth row a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper. They are to be set in gold filigree. 21 And the stones shall be twelve, corresponding to the names of the sons of Israel; they shall be engraved like a signet with each one's name, for the twelve tribes. 22 You are to make for the breastpiece twisted chains like cords, of pure gold. 23 You are to make for the breastpiece two rings of gold and put the two rings on the two ends of the breastpiece. 24 You are to put the two cords of gold in the two rings at the ends of the breastpiece. 25 The other two ends of the two cords you are to attach to the two settings, and so attach them to the shoulder pieces of the ephod at the front. 26 You shall make two rings of gold, and put them on the two ends of the breastplate, on its edge, which is toward the ephod on the inside. 27 You are to make two rings of gold and attach them to the lower part of the two shoulder pieces of the ephod, on its front, near its seam, above the skillfully woven band of the ephod. 28 They shall tie the breastplate by its rings to the rings of the ephod with a blue cord, so that it is above the skillfully woven band of the ephod, and the breastplate does not come loose from the ephod. 29 So Aaron shall carry the names of the sons of Israel in the breastplate of judgment upon his heart, when he goes into the Holy Place, for a memorial continually before Yahweh. 30 In the breastpiece of judgment you are to put the Urim and the Thummim,[f] and they are to be over Aaron's heart when he goes in before Yahweh. So Aaron is to bear the judgment of the Israelites over his heart before Yahweh continually.

31 "You are to make the robe of the ephod all of blue. 32 In the middle of it there shall be an opening for the head, and around its opening there shall be a woven binding, like the opening of a coat of mail,[g] so that it will not tear. 33 On its hem you are to make pomegranates of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, around its hem, with bells of gold between them all around: 34 a golden bell and a pomegranate, a golden bell and a pomegranate, around the hem of the robe. 35 It is to be on Aaron when he ministers, and its sound is to be heard when he goes into the Holy Place before Yahweh and when he comes out, so that he will not die.
36 "You are to make a plate[h] of pure gold and engrave on it, like the engraving of a seal, 'Holy to Yahweh.' 37 You are to fasten it on the turban by a cord of blue; it is to be on the front of the turban. 38 It shall be upon the forehead of Aaron, that he may bear the iniquity connected with the holy things which the Israelites hallow with all their holy gifts; and it shall be on his forehead continually, that they may find acceptance before Yahweh.

39 “You shall weave the tunic in checker work of fine linen, and you shall make a turban of fine linen, and a sash of needlework. 40 For Aaron’s sons you are to make tunics, sashes, and headbands; you are to make them for glory and for beauty. 41 So you shall put them on Aaron your brother and on his sons with him; and you shall anoint them, consecrate them,[i] and sanctify them, that they may minister to me as priests. 42 You are to make linen undergarments for them to cover their naked flesh. They are to reach from the waist to the thighs.
43 They shall be on Aaron and on his sons whenever they enter the tent of meeting, or approach the altar to minister in the Holy Place, so that they do not bear iniquity and die. It shall be a statute forever for him and for his descendants after him.

Notes

- a (28:3) Hebrew “wise of heart.” The Hebrew word hokhmah, “wisdom,” here means practical skill.
- b (28:8) Or “waistband,” a belt woven as part of the ephod.
- c (28:16) Hebrew “a span long and a span wide,” about 23 centimeters square. A span, the distance from thumb to little finger with the hand spread, was half a cubit, about 9 inches.
- d (28:17) The identification of several of these stones is uncertain; the English names follow the Septuagint and modern proposals. Compare the stones of the New Jerusalem in Revelation 21:19–20.
- e (28:18) Hebrew yahalom, perhaps a hard stone such as jasper or onyx. Diamonds were probably not cut in ancient Israel.
- f (28:30) The Urim and Thummim were objects kept in the breastpiece and used to learn God’s will (Numbers 27:21; 1 Samuel 28:6). Their form and use are uncertain. The words may mean “lights and perfections,” or they may begin with the first and last letters of the Hebrew alphabet.
- g (28:32) The meaning of the Hebrew word tahra is uncertain; it may mean a leather collar or the neck opening of a garment.
- h (28:36) Hebrew tsits, “flower” or “shining thing,” perhaps a rosette-shaped plate.
- i (28:41) Hebrew “fill their hand,” an expression for installing priests in office.

Chapter 29

1 “Now this is the thing you shall do to them to consecrate them, that they may minister to me as priests: take one young bull and two rams without blemish, 2 and unleavened bread, unleavened cakes mixed with oil, and unleavened wafers spread with oil. You are to make them of fine wheat flour. 3 And you shall put them into one basket, and bring them in the basket, with the bull and the two rams. 4 You are to bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tent of meeting and wash them with water. 5 You are to take the garments and put on Aaron the tunic, the robe of the ephod, the ephod, and the breastpiece, and tie the skillfully woven band of the ephod around him. 6 You are to set the turban on his head and put the holy crown[a] on the turban. 7

You are to take the anointing oil, pour it on his head, and anoint him.
8 Then you are to bring his sons and put tunics on them. 9 You are to tie sashes on them, Aaron and his sons, and bind headbands on them. The priesthood is to be theirs by a statute forever. So you are to ordain Aaron and his sons.
10 "You are to bring the bull before the tent of meeting. Aaron and his sons are to lay their hands on the head of the bull. 11 Then you are to slaughter the bull before Yahweh at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 12 You are to take some of the blood of the bull and put it on the horns of the altar with your finger, and you are to pour out all the rest of the blood at the base of the altar. 13 You are to take all the fat that covers the entrails, the lobe of the liver,[b] the two kidneys with the fat that is on them, and burn them on the altar. 14 But the flesh of the bull, together with its skin and its dung, you shall burn up with fire outside the camp. It is a sin offering.[c] 15 "Then you are to take one of the rams, and Aaron and his sons are to lay their hands on the head of the ram. 16 You are to slaughter the ram, take its blood, and splash it against the altar on all sides. 17 You are to cut the ram into its pieces, wash its entrails and its legs, and put them with its pieces and its head. 18 You are to burn the whole ram on the altar. It is a burnt offering to Yahweh, a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh.
19 "You are to take the other ram, and Aaron and his sons are to lay their hands on the head of the ram. 20 Then you shall kill the ram, and take some of its blood and put it on the tip of the right ear of Aaron and on the tips of the right ears of his sons, and on the thumbs of their right hands and on the big toes of their right feet, and sprinkle the blood all around on the altar. 21 And you shall take some of the blood that is on the altar, and some of the anointing oil, and sprinkle it on Aaron and his garments, and on his sons and their garments with him; so he will be consecrated, and his garments, and his sons and their garments with him.

22 "You are to take the fat from the ram, the fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, the lobe of the liver, the two kidneys with the fat that is on them, and the right thigh, for it is a ram of ordination; 23 and one loaf of bread, one cake of bread made with oil, and one wafer, out of the basket of unleavened bread that is before Yahweh. 24 And you shall put all these in the hands of Aaron and in the hands of his sons, and wave them as a wave offering[d] before Yahweh. 25 Then you are to take them from their hands and burn them on the altar on top of the burnt offering, as a pleasing aroma before Yahweh. It is an offering by fire to Yahweh.
26 "Then you shall take the breast from the ram of Aaron's consecration and wave it as a wave offering before Yahweh; and it shall be your portion. 27 You are to consecrate the breast of the wave offering and the thigh of the contribution, which is waved and which is lifted up, from the ram of ordination, from what is Aaron's and from what is his sons'. 28 It shall be Aaron's and his sons' as a perpetual portion from the Israelites, for it is a contribution; it shall be an offering from the Israelites out of the sacrifices of their peace offerings,[e] their offering to Yahweh.
29 "The holy garments of Aaron are to belong to his sons after him, so that they may be anointed in them and ordained in them. 30 The son who becomes priest in his place, who comes into the tent of meeting to minister in the Holy Place, is to wear them seven days.
31 "You are to take the ram of ordination and boil its flesh in a holy place. 32 Aaron and his sons are to eat the flesh of the ram and the bread that is in the basket at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 33 They are to eat those things by which atonement was made, to ordain and consecrate them, but no outsider[f] may eat them, because they are holy. 34 If any of the flesh of the ordination or of the bread remains until the morning, you are to burn what remains with fire. It must not be eaten, because it is holy.

35 “So you are to do for Aaron and for his sons, according to all that I have commanded you. Through seven days you are to ordain them.
36 And each day you shall offer a bull as a sin offering for atonement, and you shall cleanse the altar when you make atonement for it, and you shall anoint it to hallow it. 37 For seven days you are to make atonement for the altar and consecrate it. Then the altar will be most holy; whatever touches the altar will become holy.
38 “This is what you are to offer on the altar: two lambs a year old, day by day, continually. 39 One lamb you shall offer in the morning, and the other lamb you shall offer at twilight.[g] 40 With the first lamb there is to be about 2 quarts of fine flour[h] mixed with about 1 quart of beaten oil,[i] and about 1 quart of wine for a drink offering. 41 The other lamb you are to offer at twilight, and offer with it a grain offering and its drink offering as in the morning, for a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh. 42 It is to be a continual burnt offering throughout your generations at the entrance of the tent of meeting before Yahweh, where I will meet with you, to speak to you there. 43 There I will meet with the Israelites, and it will be made holy by my glory. 44 So I will hallow the tent of meeting and the altar. I will also hallow both Aaron and his sons to minister to me as priests. 45 I will dwell among the Israelites and will be their God. 46 They will know that I am Yahweh their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt so that I might dwell among them. I am Yahweh their God.

Chapter 30

1 “You shall make an altar to burn incense on; of acacia wood you shall make it. 2 It shall be about 18 inches long and 18 inches wide—square—and about 3 feet high;[a] its horns shall be of one piece with it. 3 You shall overlay it with pure gold—its top, its sides all around, and its horns—and make a gold molding around it. 4 Two gold rings you shall make for it, under its molding, on its two sides; you shall make them on opposite sides, and they shall be holders for the poles with which to carry it. 5 You are to make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. 6 And you shall put it before the veil that is by the ark of the testimony, before the mercy seat that is over the testimony, where I will meet with you. 7 Aaron is to burn fragrant incense on it. Every morning when he tends the lamps he is to burn it, 8 and when Aaron sets up the lamps at twilight[b] he is to burn it, a perpetual incense before Yahweh throughout your generations. 9
You must not offer unauthorized incense on it, or a burnt offering, or a grain offering, and you must not pour a drink offering on it. 10 Aaron shall make atonement upon its horns once in the year; with the blood of the sin offering of atonement he shall make atonement upon it, once in the year throughout your generations. It is most holy to Yahweh.” 11 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 12 “When you take a census of the Israelites to count them, each man is to give a ransom for his life to Yahweh when you count them, so that there may be no plague among them when you count them. 13 Everyone who is counted is to give this: a fifth of an ounce of silver,[c] by the sanctuary standard. This is the offering to Yahweh. 14 Everyone who is counted, from twenty years old and upward, is to give the offering to Yahweh. 15 The rich shall not give more, and the poor shall not give less, than a fifth of an ounce, when they give the offering of Yahweh to make atonement for your lives. 16 And you shall take the atonement money of the Israelites and appoint it for the service of the tent of meeting, that it may be a memorial for the Israelites before Yahweh, to make atonement for your lives.”

17 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 18 "You shall also make a basin of bronze, with a stand of bronze, for washing. Set it between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it. 19 Aaron and his sons are to wash their hands and their feet in it. 20 When they go into the tent of meeting, they shall wash with water, lest they die; or when they come near the altar to minister, by presenting an offering made by fire to Yahweh, 21 they are to wash their hands and their feet, so that they will not die. It is to be a statute forever for them, for him and his descendants throughout their generations." 22 Moreover, Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 23 "Take for yourself the finest spices: of liquid myrrh about 12½ pounds,[d] of fragrant cinnamon half as much, about 6¼ pounds,[e] of fragrant cane[f] about 6¼ pounds, 24 of cassia about 12½ pounds, by the sanctuary standard,[g] and about a gallon of olive oil.[h] 25 You are to make from these a holy anointing oil, a fragrant blend, the work of a perfumer. It is to be a holy anointing oil. 26 With it you are to anoint the tent of meeting, the ark of the testimony, 27 the table and all its utensils, the lampstand and its utensils, the altar of incense, 28 the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, and the basin and its stand. 29 You are to consecrate them, so that they may be most holy. Whatever touches them will become holy. 30 You are to anoint Aaron and his sons, and consecrate them, so that they may serve me as priests. 31 You are to speak to the Israelites, saying, 'This is to be a holy anointing oil to me throughout your generations. 32 It must not be poured on anyone's body,[i] and you must not make any like it with the same formula. It is holy, and it is to be holy to you. 33 Whoever blends any like it, or whoever puts any of it on an outsider, is to be cut off from his people.'" 34 Yahweh said to Moses, "Take for yourself sweet spices, stacte,[j] onycha, and galbanum, sweet spices with pure frankincense, of each an equal part. 35 You are to make from it incense, a blend, the work of a perfumer, seasoned with salt, pure and holy. 36 You shall grind part of it into fine powder and set some before the testimony in the tent of meeting, where I will meet with you. It shall be most holy to you. 37 The incense that you make according to its formula, you must not make for yourselves. It is to be holy to you for Yahweh. 38

Whoever makes any like it, to enjoy its fragrance, is to be cut off from his people."

Notes

- a (30:2) Hebrew "a cubit long and a cubit wide ... two cubits high," about 45 centimeters square and 90 centimeters high.
- b (30:8) Hebrew "between the two evenings." See the note at 12:6.
- c (30:13) Hebrew "half a shekel according to the shekel of the sanctuary (the shekel is twenty gerahs)," about 5.7 grams. A shekel was about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams) and a gerah one-twentieth of a shekel. The "sanctuary shekel" may have been a standard kept at the sanctuary, or a heavier shekel; weights varied over time. In verse 15, Hebrew "half a shekel."
- d (30:23) Hebrew "five hundred shekels," about 5.75 kilograms. So also for the cassia in verse 24.
- e (30:23) Hebrew "two hundred fifty shekels," about 2.9 kilograms. So also for the cane.
- f (30:23) Or "calamus," an aromatic reed. The identification of several of these spices is uncertain.

- h (30:24) Hebrew "a hin of olive oil," about 3.7 liters.
- i (30:32) Hebrew "on the flesh of man," that is, on ordinary people.
- j (30:34) The identity of stacte (Hebrew nataf, "drops"), onycha (Hebrew shehelet, perhaps from a shellfish), and galbanum (a plant resin) is not certain.

Chapter 31

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "See, I have called by name Bezalel[a] son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. 3 and I have filled him with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, in understanding, in knowledge, and in every kind of workmanship, 4 to devise artistic designs, to work in gold, in silver, and in bronze, 5 in cutting jewels for setting, in carving wood, and in every kind of workmanship. 6 And I, look,
I have appointed with him Oholiab[b] son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan. And in the hearts of all who are skilled I have put skill, so that they may make all that I have commanded you: 7 the tent of meeting, and the ark of the testimony, and the mercy seat that is upon it, and all the furniture of the tent— 8 the table and its utensils, the pure lampstand with all its utensils, the altar of incense, 9 the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, the basin and its stand, 10 the finely woven[c] garments, the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons, for their service as priests, [11] the anointing oil, and the fragrant incense for the Holy Place. They are to do according to all that I have commanded you." [12] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [13] "Speak to the Israelites and say, 'Above all you are to keep my Sabbaths, for this is a sign between me and you throughout your generations, so that you may know that I am Yahweh who makes you holy.[d] [14] You shall keep the Sabbath, because it is holy to you. Everyone who profanes it shall surely be put to death; anyone who does work on it, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. [15] Six days work may be done, but the seventh day is a Sabbath of complete rest,[e] holy to Yahweh. Whoever does any work on the Sabbath day must be put to death. [16] So the Israelites are to keep the Sabbath, observing the Sabbath throughout their generations as a perpetual covenant. [17] It is a sign between me and the Israelites forever, for in six days Yahweh made the heavens and the earth, and on the seventh day he rested and was refreshed.'" [18] When he had finished speaking with him on Mount Sinai, he gave to Moses the two tablets of the testimony, tablets of stone inscribed by the finger of God.

Notes

- a (31:2) Bezalel means "in the shadow (protection) of God."
- b (31:6) Oholiab means "the father is my tent."
- c (31:10) Or "the woven," or "the service." The meaning of the Hebrew word serad is uncertain.
- d (31:13) Hebrew YHWH meqaddishkem, "Yahweh who sanctifies you." Compare Leviticus 20:8.
- e (31:15) Hebrew shabbat shabbaton, "a Sabbath of Sabbath rest."

Chapter 32

[1] When the people saw that Moses was slow to come down from the mountain, the people assembled before Aaron and said to him, "Rise up, make us gods[a] that shall go before us; for as for this Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him." [2] Aaron said to them, "Take off the gold rings that are in the ears of your wives, your sons, and your daughters, and bring them to me." [3] So all the people tore off the gold rings that were in their ears and brought them to Aaron. 4 He received the gold from their hand, fashioned it with an engraving tool,[b] and made it into a cast-metal calf. And they said, "These are your gods, Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!" 5 When Aaron saw it, he built an altar before it; and Aaron made a proclamation and said, "Tomorrow is a feast to Yahweh." 6 They rose early on the next day, and offered burnt offerings and brought peace offerings; and the people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.[c] 7 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go, get down, for your people, whom you brought up out of the land of Egypt, have acted corruptly. 8 They have quickly turned aside from the way I commanded them. They have made for themselves a calf of molten metal, and have bowed down to it and sacrificed to it, saying, 'These are your gods, Israel, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt!'" 9 Yahweh said to Moses,

"I have seen this people, and look, it is a stiff-necked people. 10 Now therefore leave me alone, so that my anger may burn against them and I may consume them; and I will make of you a great nation." 11 But Moses implored Yahweh his God and said, "Yahweh, why does your anger burn against your people, whom you have brought out of the land of Egypt with great power and with a mighty hand? 12 Why should the Egyptians say, 'With harmful intent did he bring them out, to slay them among the mountains and to blot them from the surface of the earth'? Turn from your fierce anger, and relent[d] concerning this evil against your people. 13 Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, your servants, to whom you swore by your own self and declared, 'I will make your descendants multiply like the stars of heaven, and all this land that I have spoken of I will give to your descendants, and they shall inherit it forever.'" 14 And Yahweh relented from the harm that he had said he would do to his people.
15 Moses turned and went down from the mountain, the two tablets of the testimony in his hand, tablets written on both their sides; on the one side and on the other they were written. 16 The tablets were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, engraved on the tablets. 17 When Joshua heard the noise of the people as they shouted, he said to Moses, "There is a sound of war in the camp." 18

But he said, "It is not the voice of those who shout for victory, nor the voice of those who cry in defeat; the voice of singing[e] I hear."
19 As soon as he came near the camp and saw the calf and the dancing, Moses' anger blazed hot, and he cast the tablets from his hands and shattered them at the base of the mountain. 20 He took the calf that they had made, burned it with fire, ground it to powder, scattered it on the water, and made the Israelites drink it.
21 Moses said to Aaron, "What did this people do to you, that you have brought so great a sin on them?" 22 Aaron said, "Do not let the anger of my lord burn. You know the people, that they are set on evil. 23 For they said to me, 'Make us gods who will go before us. As for this Moses, the man who brought us up out of the land of Egypt, we do not know what has become of him.' 24 So I said to them, 'Whoever has any gold, take it off.' So they gave it to me, and I threw it into the fire, and out came this calf."
25 Moses saw that the people were out of control—for Aaron had let them get out of control, to be a laughingstock among their adversaries — 26 then Moses stood in the entrance of the camp and said, "Who is on Yahweh's side? Let him come to me." And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves to him. 27 He said to them, "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: 'Let every man put his sword on his thigh and go to and fro, from gate to gate throughout the camp, and let every man slay his brother, his friend, and his neighbor.'" 28 The sons of Levi did according to the word of Moses. About three thousand men of the people fell that day. 29 Moses said, "Ordain yourselves[f] today for Yahweh, each one at the cost of his son and his brother, so that he may give you a blessing this day."
30 The next day Moses said to the people, "You have sinned a great sin. And now I will go up to Yahweh; perhaps I can make atonement for your sin." 31 So Moses returned to Yahweh and said, "Alas, this people has sinned a great sin. They have made themselves gods of gold. 32 But now, if you will forgive their sin… But if not, please blot me out of your book that you have written." 33 But Yahweh said to Moses, "Whoever has sinned against me, him I will blot out of my book. 34 But now go, lead the people to the place of which I spoke to you. See, my angel shall go before you; nevertheless, in the day when I visit, I will bring their sin upon them." 35 Then Yahweh struck the people with a plague, because they made the calf, the one that Aaron made.

Notes

- a (32:1) Or "a god." Hebrew elohim with a plural verb; the same form is used in verses 4, 8, and 23. Compare 1 Kings 12:28.
- b (32:4) Or "bound it in a bag." The Hebrew is uncertain.
- c (32:6) The Hebrew verb tsahaq can include revelry or sexual play. Compare 1 Corinthians 10:7.
- d (32:12) Or "change your mind." Hebrew niham, used also in verse 14.
- e (32:18) Hebrew "of answering," perhaps singing in response, or antiphonal singing. The Septuagint reads "of those who begin a song over wine."
- f (32:29) Hebrew "Fill your hands," the expression for ordination to priestly service (28:41). The Samaritan Pentateuch, Septuagint, and Vulgate read, "You have ordained yourselves."

Chapter 33

1 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go, set out from here, you and the people whom you brought up from the land of Egypt, to the land of which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, 'To your offspring I will give it.' 2 I will send an angel before you, and I will drive out the Canaanites, the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. 3 Go up to a land flowing with milk and honey. But I will not go up among you, for you are a stiff-necked people, or I might consume you on the way."

4 When the people heard this harsh word, they mourned, and no one put on his ornaments. 5 For Yahweh had said to Moses, "Tell the Israelites, 'You are a stubborn people. If I should go up among you even for a moment, I would consume you. So now take your ornaments off, and I will decide what to do with you.'" 6 So the Israelites stripped themselves of their ornaments from Mount Horeb onward.

7 Now Moses used to take the tent and pitch it outside the camp, at a distance from the camp, and he called it the tent of meeting.[a] And everyone who sought Yahweh went out to the tent of meeting that was outside the camp. 8 Whenever Moses went out to the tent, all the people would rise and stand, each at the entrance of his own tent, and watch Moses until he had gone into the tent. 9 Whenever Moses entered the tent, the pillar of cloud would come down and stand at the entrance of the tent, and Yahweh[b] would speak with Moses. 10 When all the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, all the people would rise and bow down, each at the entrance of his own tent. 11 Yahweh would speak to Moses face to face, as one speaks to a friend. When Moses returned to the camp, his young assistant, Joshua son of Nun,[c] would not leave the tent.

12 Moses said to Yahweh, "See, you say to me, 'Bring up this people,' but you have not let me know whom you will send with me. Yet you have said, 'I know you by name, and you have also found favor in my sight.' 13 Now, if I have found favor in your eyes, show me now your ways, that I may know you and find favor in your eyes. And consider that this nation is your people." 14 He said, "My presence[d] will go with you, and I will give you rest." 15 He said to him, "If your presence does not go with us, do not carry us up from here. 16 For how shall it be known that I and your people have found favor in your eyes? Is it not by your going with us, so that we, I and your people, are set apart from all the peoples on the face of the earth?"

17 Yahweh said to Moses, "I will do this very thing also that you have spoken, for you have found favor in my eyes, and I know you by name." 18 Moses said, "Please show me your glory." 19 And he said, "I will make all my goodness pass before you, and I will proclaim the name Yahweh before you.[e] I will be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and I will show mercy to whom I will show mercy."[f] 20 But he said, "You cannot see my face, for no human being may see me and live." 21 Yahweh said, "See, there is a place beside me, where you shall stand upon the rock; 22 While my glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock and cover you with my hand until I have passed by. 23 Then I will take away my hand, and you will see my back,[g] but my face must not be seen."

Notes

- a (33:7) Here the "tent of meeting" is a tent pitched outside the camp before the tabernacle was built (compare chapters 35–40).
- b (33:9) Hebrew "he."
- c (33:11) Joshua is called "son of Nun" here for the first time. Nun means "fish."

- d (33:14) Hebrew "my face," so also in verse 15 ("your face"). The Septuagint reads "I myself will go before you."
- e (33:19) Or "I will proclaim my name, 'Yahweh,' before you." See 34:5–7.
- f (33:19) Paul quotes these words in Romans 9:15.
- g (33:23) Or "my aftermath," what remains after I have passed. The Hebrew is unusual and the language is deliberately reserved.

Chapter 34

1 Yahweh said to Moses, "Cut two tablets of stone like the first ones, and I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets, which you broke. 2 Be ready by morning, and come up in the morning to Mount Sinai, and present yourself there to me on the top of the mountain. 3 No one shall come up with you, nor let anyone be seen anywhere on the mountain; neither let the flocks or herds feed in front of that mountain." 4 So Moses cut two tablets of stone like the first ones. He rose early in the morning and went up Mount Sinai, as Yahweh had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tablets of stone.
5 Yahweh came down in the cloud and stood with him there, and he proclaimed the name Yahweh.[a] 6 Yahweh passed before him and proclaimed, "Yahweh, Yahweh,[b] a God compassionate and gracious,[c] slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love[d] and faithfulness,[e] 7 keeping steadfast love for thousands,[f] forgiving iniquity, transgression, and sin; yet who will by no means acquit the guilty, but visits the iniquity of fathers on children, and on grandchildren, to the third and the fourth generation."
8 Moses quickly bowed his head toward the ground and worshiped.
9 He said, "If now I have found favor in your sight, Lord,[g] please let the Lord go in our midst, for it is a stiff-necked people. Pardon our iniquity and our sin, and take us for your inheritance." 10 And he said, "See, I am making a covenant. Before all your people I will do marvels, such as have never been wrought in all the earth or among any nation; and all the people in whose midst you are shall see the work of Yahweh, for it is an awesome thing that I will do with you. 11 Keep what I command you today. Look, I am driving out before you the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. 12 Be careful not to make a covenant with the inhabitants of the land to which you are going, or it will become a snare among you. 13 But you shall demolish their altars, smash their pillars, and cut down their Asherim.[h] 14 For you are not to bow down to any other god, for Yahweh, whose name is Jealous,[i] is a jealous God. 15 Take care that you make no covenant with the inhabitants of the land, lest they play the harlot after their gods and sacrifice to their gods, and someone invite you, and you eat of his sacrifice, 16 and you will take some of their daughters for your sons, and their daughters will prostitute themselves after their gods and make your sons prostitute themselves after their gods. 17 You are not to make for yourselves gods of cast metal.

18 "You are to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread. Seven days you are to eat unleavened bread, as I commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of Abib (March–April),[j] for in the month of Abib you came out of Egypt. 19 Every firstborn[k] belongs to me, all your male livestock, the firstborn of cattle and sheep. 20 The firstborn of a donkey you shall redeem with a lamb; and if you do not redeem it, then you shall break its neck. All the firstborn of your sons you shall redeem.
None shall appear before me empty.
21 "Six days you shall work, but on the seventh day you shall rest; in plowing time and in harvest you shall rest. 22 And you shall keep the Feast of Weeks,[l] the firstfruits of the wheat harvest, and the Feast of Ingathering at the year's end. 23 Three times in the year all your males are to appear before the Lord Yahweh, the God of Israel.[m] 24 For I will cast out nations before you and widen your borders; neither shall any man desire your land when you go up three times in the year to appear before Yahweh your God.
25 "You are not to offer the blood of my sacrifice with anything leavened, and the sacrifice of the Feast of the Passover is not to be left until the morning. 26 The best of the firstfruits of your ground you are to bring to the house of Yahweh your God. You are not to boil a young goat in its mother's milk."[n] 27 Yahweh said to Moses, "Write these words, for in accordance with these words I have made a covenant with you and with Israel." 28 So he was there with Yahweh forty days and forty nights. He neither ate bread nor drank water. And he[o] wrote on the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Words.[p] 29 When Moses came down from Mount Sinai, the two tablets of the testimony being in Moses' hand as he came down from the mountain, Moses did not know that the skin of his face shone[q] because he had spoken with him.[r] 30 When Aaron and all the Israelites saw Moses, the skin of his face shone, and they were afraid to come near him. 31 But Moses called to them, and Aaron and all the leaders of the congregation returned to him, and Moses talked with them. 32 Afterward all the Israelites came near, and he commanded them all that Yahweh had spoken with him on Mount Sinai. 33 When Moses had finished speaking with them, he put a veil over his face. 34 Whenever Moses went in before Yahweh to speak with him, he would remove the veil until he came out. And when he came out and told the Israelites what he had been commanded, 35 the Israelites saw that the skin of Moses' face shone; and Moses would put the veil on his face again, until he went in to speak with him.

Notes

- a (34:5) Or "he called on the name of Yahweh." The subject may be Yahweh or Moses.
- b (34:6) These words (verses 6–7) are Yahweh's own declaration of his character, the fullest self-description in the Old Testament. They are echoed again and again: Numbers 14:18; Nehemiah 9:17; Psalms 86:15; 103:8; 145:8; Joel 2:13; Jonah 4:2; Nahum 1:3. Grammatically the first words may also be read, "Yahweh, Yahweh is a God compassionate…."
- c (34:6) Hebrew el rahum vehannun. Rahum, "compassionate," is related to rehem, "womb," suggesting a mother's tender love; hannun, "gracious," describes favor freely given.
- d (34:6) Hebrew hesed, the loyal, committed love that keeps covenant. See the note at 15:13.
- e (34:6) Hebrew emet, "truth," "reliability," "faithfulness."
- f (34:7) Or "to the thousandth generation" (compare Deuteronomy 7:9). The contrast with "the third and the fourth generation" stresses that God's mercy far outweighs his judgment.
- g (34:9) Hebrew Adonai, "my Lord." Some Hebrew manuscripts read "Yahweh."
- h (34:13) Hebrew asherim, wooden poles or images associated with the goddess Asherah.

- i (34:14) Hebrew Qanna. On God's jealousy, see the note at 20:5. Here "Jealous" is presented as a name, expressing his exclusive claim on his people.
- j (34:18) Hebrew "the month of Abib." See the note at 13:4.
- k (34:19) Hebrew "everything that opens the womb."
- l (34:22) Hebrew shavu'ot, later called Pentecost ("fiftieth"), because it came seven weeks (fifty days) after Passover.
- m (34:23) Hebrew ha'adon YHWH elohe yisra'el, "the Lord Yahweh, the God of Israel." On ha'adon see the note at 23:17.
- n (34:26) See the note at 23:19.
- o (34:28) The context suggests that Yahweh is the one who wrote (verse 1; Deuteronomy 10:2–4), though grammatically the subject could be Moses (verse 27).
- p (34:28) Hebrew "the ten words," the source of the term "Decalogue." Compare Deuteronomy 4:13; 10:4.
- q (34:29) Hebrew qaran, related to qeren, "horn." The verb probably means "sent out rays." The Latin Vulgate rendered it cornuta, "horned," which led to medieval and Renaissance art (including Michelangelo's statue) showing Moses with horns. The Septuagint reads "was glorified." Compare 2 Corinthians 3:7–18.
- r (34:29) That is, with Yahweh.

Chapter 35

1 Moses gathered all the assembly of the Israelites and said to them, "These are the things which Yahweh has commanded you to do:[a] 2 For six days work shall be done, but the seventh day shall be holy to you, a Sabbath of complete rest to Yahweh; whoever works on that day shall be put to death. 3 You shall kindle no fire throughout your habitations on the Sabbath day." 4 And Moses spoke to all the assembly of the Israelites, saying, "This is what Yahweh has commanded: 5 Take from among you an offering for Yahweh. Whoever has a willing heart, let him bring it as Yahweh's offering: gold, silver, and bronze; 6 blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, fine linen, and goats' hair; 7 rams' skins dyed red, fine leather, and acacia wood; 8 oil for the light, spices for the anointing oil and for the fragrant incense; 9 onyx stones and stones to be set, for the ephod and for the breastpiece.
10 "Let every skilled person among you come and make all that Yahweh has commanded: 11 the tabernacle, its tent and its covering, its clasps and its frames, its crossbars, its posts, and its bases; 12 the ark and its poles, the atonement cover, and the veil of the screen; 13 the table and its poles and all its utensils, and the bread of the Presence; 14 the lampstand also for the light, with its utensils, its lamps, and the oil for the light; 15 the altar of incense with its poles, the anointing oil, the sweet incense, and the hanging for the door at the entrance of the tabernacle; 16 the altar of burnt offering with its grating of bronze, its poles, and all its utensils, the basin and its stand; 17 the hangings of the court, with its pillars and its sockets, and the hanging for the gate of the court; 18 the tent pegs of the tabernacle and the tent pegs of the courtyard, and their cords; 19 the finely woven garments for ministering in the Holy Place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons, for their service as priests." 20 Then all the congregation of the Israelites departed from the presence of Moses. 21 And they came, everyone whose heart stirred him, and everyone whose spirit moved him, and brought Yahweh's offering for the work of the tent of meeting, for all its service, and for the holy garments. 22 They came, both men and women, all who had a willing heart, and brought brooches, earrings, signet rings, and necklaces,[b] all sorts of gold objects, everyone presenting an offering of gold to Yahweh. 23 Every man with whom was found blue, purple, or scarlet yarn, fine linen, goats' hair, or fine leather, or rams' skins dyed red, brought it. 24 Everyone who could make an offering of silver or bronze brought it as Yahweh's offering, and everyone who had acacia wood for any work of the service brought it. 25 All the women who were wise of heart spun with their hands, and brought what they had spun: blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine linen. 26 All the women whose hearts stirred them with skill spun the goats' hair. 27

The leaders brought onyx stones and stones to be set, for the ephod and for the breastpiece, 28 and the spices and the oil for the light, for the anointing oil, and for the fragrant incense. 29 All the men and women of the Israelites whose heart moved them to bring anything for all the work that Yahweh had commanded through Moses to be done brought it as a freewill offering to Yahweh.
30 Then Moses said to the Israelites, "See, Yahweh has called by name Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah. 31 and he has filled him with the Spirit of God, in wisdom, in understanding, in knowledge, and in all kinds of workmanship, 32 to devise artistic designs, to work in gold, in silver, and in bronze, 33 in cutting jewels for setting, in carving wood, for making any kind of skilled work. 34 And he has put it in his heart to teach, both he and Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan. 35 He has filled them with wisdom of heart to do every sort of work of the engraver, and of the skilled designer, and of the embroiderer in blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and in fine linen, and of the weaver—they do every work, and they devise skillful designs.

Notes

- a (35:1) Chapters 35–40 report how the instructions of chapters 25–31 were carried out, repeating them almost word for word. In the Septuagint these chapters are shorter and arranged in a different order: for example, the priestly garments (Hebrew 39) come before the tabernacle structure (Hebrew 36), the making of the incense altar (Hebrew 37:25–28) is not reported, and several sections are abbreviated. In Brenton's English edition the chapters are numbered differently, so that the curtains appear in chapter 37 and the ark in chapter 38. Scholars debate whether the Greek translator abridged and rearranged the Hebrew or worked from a different Hebrew edition. This translation follows the Hebrew order.
- b (35:22) Or "pendants." The identity of some of these ornaments is uncertain.

Chapter 36

1 "Bezalel and Oholiab and every skilled person in whom Yahweh has put skill and understanding to know how to do all the work for the service of the sanctuary are to work according to all that Yahweh has commanded."
2 Then Moses called Bezalel and Oholiab and every wise-hearted man in whose heart Yahweh had put wisdom, everyone whose heart was stirred up to come to the work to do it. 3 They received from Moses all the offering that the Israelites had brought for the work of the service of the sanctuary, to make it. They kept bringing him freewill offerings every morning, 4 so all the wise men who were doing every work of the sanctuary came, each from his own work which he was doing, 5 and said to Moses, "The people are bringing much more than enough for the service of the work that Yahweh has commanded us to do." 6 So Moses gave a command, and they proclaimed throughout the camp: "Neither man nor woman is to make any further work for the offering of the sanctuary." Thus the people were restrained from bringing. 7 for the material they had was sufficient for all the work to be done, and more than enough.

8 Every wise-hearted man among those who did the work made the tabernacle with ten curtains of fine twisted linen and blue, purple, and scarlet yarn; with cherubim, the work of a skilled designer, he made them. 9 The length of each curtain was about 42 feet, and the width of each curtain about 6 feet;[a] all the curtains had the same measurements. 10 He[b] joined five curtains to one another, and the other five curtains he joined to one another. 11 And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain at the end of the first set; so also he made them on the edge of the outermost curtain of the second set. 12 He made fifty loops on the one curtain, and he made fifty loops on the edge of the curtain that was in the second set. The loops were opposite one another. 13 And he made fifty hooks of gold and coupled the curtains to one another with the hooks, so that it became one tabernacle.

14 He also made curtains of goats' hair for a tent over the tabernacle; he made eleven curtains. 15 The length of each curtain was about 45 feet, and the width of each curtain about 6 feet;[c] the eleven curtains had the same measurements. 16 He joined five curtains by themselves and six curtains by themselves. 17 And he made fifty loops on the edge of the last curtain of the first set, and fifty loops on the edge of the curtain of the second set. 18 He made fifty clasps of bronze to join the tent together, so that it might be a single whole. 19 He made for the tent a covering of rams' skins dyed red, and a covering of fine leather above that.

20 He made the upright frames for the tabernacle of acacia wood. 21 The length of a frame was about 15 feet, and the width of each frame about 2¼ feet.[d] 22 Each frame had two tenons for joining them together. He did this for all the frames of the tabernacle. 23 He made the frames for the tabernacle: twenty frames for the south side. 24 And forty sockets of silver he made under the twenty boards: two sockets under the one board for its two tenons, and two sockets under the next board for its two tenons. 25 For the second side of the tabernacle, on the north side, he made twenty frames 26 and their forty sockets of silver: two sockets under the one board, and two sockets under the next board. 27 And for the rear of the tabernacle toward the west he made six boards. 28 He made two frames for the corners of the tabernacle at the rear. 29 They were doubled at the bottom and likewise complete at the top, up to the first ring. He made both of them this way for the two corners. 30 So there were eight boards, and their sockets were of silver, sixteen sockets—under each board two sockets.

31 And he made bars of acacia wood: five for the boards of the one side of the tabernacle, 32 five bars for the boards of the other side of the tabernacle, and five bars for the boards of the tabernacle at the rear toward the west. 33 He made the middle crossbar to run halfway up the frames from end to end. 34 He overlaid the frames with gold and made their rings of gold as holders for the crossbars, and he overlaid the crossbars with gold.

35 He made the veil of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and fine twisted linen; with cherubim, skillfully worked, he made it. 36 He made four posts of acacia for it and overlaid them with gold. Their hooks were of gold, and he cast for them four bases of silver. 37 He also made a hanging for the door of the tent, embroidered with needlework, of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen, 38 and its five posts with their hooks. He overlaid their tops and their bands with gold, and their five bases were of bronze.

Notes

- a (36:9) Hebrew "twenty-eight cubits" and "four cubits," about 12.6 by 1.8 meters. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters); see the note at 25:10.
- b (36:10) That is, Bezalel (37:1), with those who worked under him.
- c (36:15) Hebrew "thirty cubits" and "four cubits," about 13.5 by 1.8 meters.
- d (36:21) Hebrew "ten cubits" and "a cubit and a half," about 4.5 by 0.7 meters.

Chapter 37

1 Bezalel made the ark of acacia wood, about 3¾ feet long, 2¼ feet wide, and 2¼ feet high.[a] 2 He overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside, and made a molding of gold around it. 3 He cast for it four rings of gold for its four feet, two rings on one side of it and two rings on the other side. 4 He made poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold, 5 and put the poles into the rings on the sides of the ark, to carry the ark.

6 He made an atonement cover of pure gold, about 3¾ feet long and 2¼ feet wide.[b] 7 He made two cherubim of gold; he made them of hammered work at the two ends of the atonement cover, 8 one cherub at one end and one cherub at the other end. He made the cherubim of one piece with the atonement cover at its two ends. 9 The cherubim spread out their wings above, overshadowing the atonement cover with their wings, with their faces toward one another; the faces of the cherubim were toward the atonement cover.
10 He made the table of acacia wood, about 3 feet long, 1½ feet wide, and 2¼ feet high.[c] 11 He overlaid it with pure gold and made a molding of gold around it. 12 He made a rim around it about 3 inches wide,[d] and made a molding of gold around the rim. 13 He cast four rings of gold for it and fastened the rings at the four corners at its four legs.
14 Close to the rim were the rings, as places for the poles to carry the table. 15 And he made the poles of acacia wood for carrying the table, and overlaid them with gold. 16 He made the utensils that were on the table, its plates and its dishes, its bowls and its jars for pouring out drink offerings, of pure gold.
17 He made the lampstand of pure gold, making it of hammered work; its base and its stem, its cups, its knobs, and its flowers were of one piece with it. 18 Six branches went out from its sides, three branches of the lampstand from one side of it and three branches of the lampstand from the other side of it. 19 There were three cups shaped like almond blossoms on one branch, each with a knob and a flower, and three cups shaped like almond blossoms on the next branch, each with a knob and a flower; so for the six branches going out from the lamp-stand. 20 On the lampstand itself were four cups shaped like almond blossoms, with their knobs and flowers, 21 and a knob under the first pair of branches, of one piece with it, and a knob under the second pair of branches, of one piece with it, and a knob under the third pair of branches, of one piece with it, for the six branches going out from
it. 22 Their knobs and their branches were of one piece with it; all of it was one hammered piece of pure gold. 23 He made its seven lamps, its snuffers, and its trays of pure gold. 24 He made it and all its utensils from about 75 pounds of pure gold.[e]

25 He made the altar of incense of acacia wood. It was about 18 inches long and 18 inches wide, square, and about 3 feet high.[f] Its horns were of one piece with it. 26 He overlaid it with pure gold, its top, its sides all around, and its horns, and he made a molding of gold around it.
27 And he made two gold rings for it below its molding, on opposite sides of it, as places for the poles with which to carry it. 28 He made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold.
29 He made the holy anointing oil and the pure fragrant incense, the work of a perfumer.

Notes

- a (37:1) Hebrew "two and a half cubits long, a cubit and a half wide, and a cubit and a half high," about 1.1 by 0.7 by 0.7 meters. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters); see the note at 25:10.
- b (37:6) Hebrew "two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide," about 1.1 by 0.7 meters.
- c (37:10) Hebrew "two cubits long, a cubit wide, and a cubit and a half high," about 90 by 45 by 70 centimeters.
- d (37:12) Hebrew "a handbreadth," about 3 inches (7.5 centimeters).
- e (37:24) Hebrew "a talent of pure gold," about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).
- f (37:25) Hebrew "a cubit long and a cubit wide ... two cubits high," about 45 centimeters square and 90 centimeters high.

Chapter 38

1 He made the altar of burnt offering of acacia wood, about 7½ feet long and 7½ feet wide. It was square, and about 4½ feet high.[a] 2 He made its horns on its four corners; its horns were of one piece with it, and he overlaid it with bronze. 3 He made all the utensils of the altar, the pots, the shovels, the basins, the forks, and the firepans; he made all its utensils of bronze. 4 And he made for the altar a grating of bronze network, beneath its ledge, reaching halfway up. 5 He cast four rings for the four corners of the bronze grating, to be places for the poles. 6 He made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with bronze. 7 And he put the poles into the rings on the sides of the altar, with which to carry it; he made it hollow, with planks.
8 He made the laver of bronze, with its base of bronze, from the bronze mirrors[b] of the women who ministered[c] at the door of the tent of meeting.

9 Then he made the court. On the south side, toward the south, the hangings of the court were of fine twisted linen, about 150 feet in length;[d] 10 with their twenty posts and their twenty bases of bronze; the hooks of the posts and their bands were of silver. 11 For the north side there were hangings about 150 feet long, with their twenty posts and their twenty bases of bronze; the hooks of the posts and their bands were of silver. 12 For the west side there were hangings about 75 feet long,[e] with their ten posts and their ten bases; the hooks of the posts and their bands were of silver. 13 For the front, to the east, about 75 feet. 14 The hangings for one side of the entrance were about 22½ feet long,[f] with their three posts and their three bases. 15 So also for the other side; on both sides of the gate of the courtyard were hangings about 22½ feet long, with their three posts and their three bases. 16 All the hangings around the courtyard were of fine twisted linen. 17 The bases for the posts were of bronze, the hooks of the posts and their bands were of silver, and the overlaying of their tops was of silver. All the posts of the courtyard were banded with silver. 18 The hanging for the gate of the court was of embroidered work, in blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and fine twisted linen; about 30 feet in length,[g] and in height about 7½ feet,[h] corresponding to the hangings of the court. 19 Their pillars were four, with their four sockets of bronze; their hooks were of silver, and the overlay of their tops and their bands were of silver. 20 And all the pegs for the tabernacle and for the court round about were of bronze.

21 These are the records[i] of the tabernacle, the tabernacle of the testimony, as they were recorded at the command of Moses, the work of the Levites under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest.[j] 22 Bezalel son of Uri, son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that Yahweh commanded Moses. 23 And with him was Oholiab son of Ahisamach, of the tribe of Dan, a craftsman and designer, and an embroiderer in blue, purple, and scarlet yarn and fine linen.

24 All the gold that was used for the work, in all the work of the sanctuary, the gold of the offering, came to about 2,200 pounds, by the sanctuary standard.[k] 25 The silver from those of the congregation who were counted came to about 7,500 pounds, by the sanctuary standard:[l]

[26] a fifth of an ounce a head,[m] that is, half the sanctuary standard, for everyone who passed over to those who were counted, from twenty years old and upward, for 603,550 men. [27] The 7,500 pounds[n] of silver were used for casting the bases of the sanctuary and the bases of the veil: a hundred bases from it, about 75 pounds for each base. [28] From the remaining silver, about 44 pounds,[o] he made hooks for the posts, overlaid their tops, and made bands for them. [29] The bronze of the offering came to about 5,300 pounds.[p] [30] With it he made the sockets at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and the bronze altar with its bronze grating, and all the utensils for the altar, [31] and the sockets of the court round about, and the sockets at the court gate, with all the pegs of the tabernacle, and all the pegs of the court round about.

Notes

- a (38:1) Hebrew "five cubits long and five cubits wide … three cubits high," about 2.3 meters square and 1.4 meters high.
- b (38:8) Ancient mirrors were made of polished bronze.
- c (38:8) Hebrew tsava', used of organized service, including Levitical service at the sanctuary (Numbers 4:23; 8:24). Compare 1 Samuel 2:22. The nature of these women's service is not explained. The Septuagint reads "of the women who fasted."
- d (38:9) Hebrew "a hundred cubits," about 45 meters. So also in verse 11.
- e (38:12) Hebrew "fifty cubits," about 23 meters. So also in verse 13.
- f (38:14) Hebrew "fifteen cubits," about 6.8 meters. So also in verse 15.
- g (38:18) Hebrew "twenty cubits," about 9 meters.
- h (38:18) Hebrew "five cubits," about 2.3 meters.
- i (38:21) Or "the inventory."
- j (38:21) Verses 21–31 are an accounting of the materials. In the Septuagint, this material appears in a different place and form (see the note at 35:1).
- k (38:24) Hebrew "twenty-nine talents and seven hundred thirty shekels," about 1,000 kilograms. A talent was about 75 pounds (34 kilograms) and a shekel about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); a talent was 3,000 shekels. Standards varied, so these figures are approximate. On the "sanctuary standard" (Hebrew "shekel of the sanctuary"), see the note at 30:13. Some Septuagint manuscripts read 720 shekels.
- l (38:25) Hebrew "a hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred seventy-five shekels," about 3,400 kilograms.
- m (38:26) Hebrew "a beka a head, half a shekel," about 5.7 grams. The 603,550 contributors match the census in Numbers 1:46.
- n (38:27) Hebrew "the hundred talents," about 3,400 kilograms, that is, one talent (about 75 pounds or 34 kilograms) for each base.

- o (38:28) Hebrew “one thousand seven hundred seventy-five shekels,” about 20 kilograms.
- p (38:29) Hebrew “seventy talents and two thousand four hundred shekels,” about 2,400 kilograms.

Chapter 39

1 From the blue, purple, and scarlet yarn they made finely woven garments for ministering in the Holy Place. They made the holy garments for Aaron, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
2 He made the ephod of gold, blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen. 3 And they beat the gold into thin sheets and cut it into threads, to work it into the blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and the fine linen, with skillful design. 4 They made shoulder pieces for it, joined to it at its two edges, so that it was joined together. 5 And the skillfully woven band that was upon it was of the same piece and workmanship —of gold, blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen—as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
6 They prepared the onyx stones, set in settings of gold filigree, engraved as a seal is engraved, with the names of the sons of Israel. 7 And he set them on the shoulder straps of the ephod as memorial stones for the sons of Israel, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
8 He made the breastpiece, the work of a skilled designer, in the same style as the ephod, of gold, blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and fine twisted linen. 9 It was square. They made the breastpiece folded double, about 9 inches long and about 9 inches wide when folded.[a] 10 They set in it four rows of stones. A row of carnelian, topaz, and emerald was the first row;[b] 11 the second row a turquoise, a lapis lazuli, and a diamond; 12 the third row a jacinth, an agate, and an amethyst; 13 and the fourth row a beryl, an onyx, and a jasper. They were enclosed in settings of gold filigree. 14 And the stones were twelve, according to the names of the sons of Israel; each was engraved like a signet with its own name, for the twelve tribes. 15 And they made chains on the breastplate like cords, of braided work of pure gold. 16 They made two settings of gold filigree and two gold rings, and put the two rings on the two ends of the breastpiece. 17 And they put the two braided chains of gold in the two rings on the ends of the breastplate. 18 The other two ends of the two cords they attached to the two settings, and so attached them to the shoulder pieces of the ephod at the front.

19 And they made two rings of gold and put them on the two ends of the breastplate, on its edge, which was on the inside toward the ephod. 20 They made two rings of gold and attached them to the two shoulder straps of the ephod, at the lower part, in front, close to its seam, above the skillfully woven band of the ephod. 21 And they tied the breastplate by its rings to the rings of the ephod with a blue cord, so that it might lie above the skillfully woven band of the ephod, and not come loose from the ephod, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
22 He made the robe of the ephod, woven work, all of blue. 23 In the middle of the robe was the opening, like the opening of a coat of mail,[c] with a binding all around the opening, so that it would not tear.
24 On the hem of the robe they made pomegranates of blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, and twisted linen. 25 They made bells of pure gold and set the bells between the pomegranates all around the hem of the robe, among the pomegranates: 26 a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate, around the hem of the robe for ministering, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
27 They made the tunics of fine linen, woven work, for Aaron and his sons, 28 and the turban of fine linen, the ornamental headbands of fine linen, the linen undergarments of fine twisted linen, 29 and the sash of fine twisted linen and blue, purple, and scarlet yarn, the work of an embroiderer, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
30 They made the plate of the holy crown of pure gold and wrote on it an inscription, like the engraving of a seal, “Holy to Yahweh.” 31 And they fastened to it a blue cord, to attach it above to the turban, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
32 So all the work of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting was finished. The Israelites did according to all that Yahweh had commanded Moses; so they did.
33 Then they brought the tabernacle to Moses, the tent and all its furnishings, its clasps, its frames, its crossbars, its posts, and its bases; 34 the covering of rams’ skins dyed red, the covering of fine leather, and the veil of the screen; 35 the ark of the testimony with its poles and the atonement cover; [36] the table with all its utensils, and the bread of the Presence; [37] the pure lampstand with its lamps, the lamps set in order, and all its utensils, and the oil for the light; [38] the golden altar, the anointing oil, the fragrant incense, and the screen for the entrance of the tent; [39] the bronze altar with its grating of bronze, its poles, and all its utensils; the basin and its stand; [40] the hangings of the court, with its pillars and its sockets, and the hanging for the court gate, its cords and its pegs; and all the instruments for the service of the tabernacle, for the tent of meeting; [41] the finely woven garments for ministering in the Holy Place, the holy garments for Aaron the priest, and the garments of his sons for their service as priests. [42] According to all that Yahweh had commanded Moses, so the Israelites had done all the work. [43] Moses looked over all the work, and behold, they had done it; as Yahweh had commanded, so they had done. And Moses blessed them.[d]

Chapter 40

[1] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [2] "On the first day of the first month (in March–April)[a] you are to set up the tabernacle of the tent of meeting. [3] You are to put the ark of the testimony in it, and screen the ark with the veil. [4] You are to bring in the table and set out its arrangement. You are to bring in the lampstand and set up its lamps. [5] And you shall set the golden altar of incense before the ark of the testimony, and put up the hanging at the door of the tabernacle. [6] You are to put the altar of burnt offering before the entrance of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, [7] and put the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it. [8] And you shall set up the court all around, and hang up the hanging at the court gate.

9 “And you shall take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle and everything in it; and you shall hallow it and all its furniture, and it shall be holy. 10 And you shall anoint the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and sanctify the altar, and the altar shall be most holy. 11
You are to anoint the basin and its stand, and consecrate it. 12 Then you are to bring Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tent of meeting and wash them with water, 13 and put the holy garments on Aaron; and you shall anoint him and sanctify him, that he may minister to me as priest. 14 You are to bring his sons and put tunics on them, 15 and anoint them as you anointed their father, so that they may serve me as priests. Their anointing will make them a priesthood forever throughout their generations.” 16 Moses did this; according to all that Yahweh commanded him, so he did.
17 In the first month (March–April) of the second year, on the first day of the month, the tabernacle was set up.[b] 18 Moses set up the tabernacle. He laid its bases, set up its frames, put in its crossbars, and raised its posts. 19 He spread the tent over the tabernacle and put the covering of the tent over it, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
20 He took the testimony and put it into the ark. He set the poles on the ark and put the atonement cover above on the ark. 21 And he brought the ark into the tabernacle, and set up the veil of the covering, and screened the ark of the testimony, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
22 He put the table in the tent of meeting, on the north side of the tabernacle, outside the veil, 23 and arranged the bread on it before Yahweh, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
24 He put the lampstand in the tent of meeting, opposite the table, on the south side of the tabernacle, 25 and set up the lamps before Yahweh, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
26 He put the golden altar in the tent of meeting before the veil, 27 and burned sweet incense on it, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
28 He set up the screen at the entrance of the tabernacle. 29 And he set the altar of burnt offering by the door of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, and offered upon it the burnt offering and the grain offering, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

30 He put the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar, and put water in it for washing. 31 Moses, Aaron, and his sons washed their hands and their feet from it. 32 Whenever they entered the tent of meeting and drew near the altar, they washed, as Yahweh had commanded Moses. 33 He set up the courtyard around the tabernacle and the altar, and hung up the screen of the gate of the courtyard. So Moses finished the work.
34 Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of Yahweh filled the tabernacle. 35 Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting, because the cloud settled[c] on it, and the glory of Yahweh filled the tabernacle.
36 Whenever the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the Israelites would set out on all their journeys. 37 But if the cloud was not taken up, they would not set out until the day that it was taken up. 38 For the cloud of Yahweh was over the tabernacle by day, and fire was in it[d] by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeys.

Notes

- a (40:2) Hebrew "On the first day of the first month," that is, Abib or Nisan, the first month of the spring-start religious calendar. See the note at 12:2.
- b (40:17) Hebrew "In the first month in the second year, on the first of the month," that is, the first day of Abib or Nisan (see the note at 12:2), almost a year after the exodus (12:6; 19:1). The Septuagint adds "after they went out of Egypt."
- c (40:35) Hebrew shakan, "to dwell," the verb from which mishkan, "tabernacle," comes (see the note at 25:9). Later Jewish tradition spoke of God's dwelling presence as the Shekhinah.
- d (40:38) Or "in the cloud."

Leviticus

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 Yahweh[a] called[b] to Moses[c] and spoke to him from the tent of meeting,[d] saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them: When any man among you presents an offering[e] to Yahweh, you shall present your offering from the livestock, from the herd or from the flock.
3 "If his offering is a burnt offering[f] from the herd, he is to offer a male without defect. He is to offer it at the entrance of the tent of meeting, so that he may be accepted[g] before Yahweh. 4 He shall lay[h] his hand upon the head of the burnt offering, and it shall be accepted on his behalf to make atonement[i] for him. 5 He is to slaughter the bull before Yahweh, and Aaron's sons the priests are to present the blood and splash[j] the blood all around against the altar that is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 6 He is to skin the burnt offering and cut it into its pieces. 7 And the sons of Aaron the priest shall put fire upon the altar, and arrange wood on the fire. 8 Then Aaron's sons the priests shall lay the pieces, the head, and the suet[k] in order upon the wood that is on the fire upon the altar. 9 Its entrails and its legs he is to wash with water. Then the priest is to burn[l] all of it on the altar as a burnt offering, an offering by fire,[m] a pleasing aroma[n] to Yahweh.
10 "If his offering for a burnt offering is of the flock, of the sheep or of the goats, he shall bring a male without defect. 11 He is to slaughter it on the north side of the altar before Yahweh, and Aaron's sons the priests are to splash its blood all around against the altar. 12 He is to cut it into its pieces, with its head and its suet, and the priest is to arrange them on the wood that is on the fire on the altar. 13 The entrails and the legs he is to wash with water. Then the priest is to offer all of it and burn it on the altar. It is a burnt offering, an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh.

14 “If his offering to Yahweh is a burnt offering of birds, he is to bring his offering from the turtledoves or from the young pigeons. 15 The priest is to bring it to the altar, wring off its head, and burn it on the altar. Its blood is to be drained out against the side of the altar. 16 He is to remove its crop with its contents[o] and throw it beside the altar on the east side, in the place for the ashes.[p] 17 He is to tear it open by its wings without dividing it completely. Then the priest is to burn it on the altar, on the wood that is on the fire. It is a burnt offering, an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh.

Notes

- a (1:1) Hebrew YHWH, the personal name of God, written with four consonants and traditionally read aloud as Adonai, “Lord.” This translation writes it as Yahweh throughout; on its meaning, see the note at Exodus 3:15.
- b (1:1) Hebrew wayyiqra, “and he called,” the first word of the book and its Hebrew title. In the Masoretic Text the final letter aleph of this word is written small, a scribal tradition with no agreed explanation. The English title Leviticus comes from the Septuagint and Vulgate, “the book of the Levites,” though the book mostly concerns the priests.
- c (1:1) Moses is probably an Egyptian name meaning “son” or “born,” explained in Hebrew as “drawn out” (Exodus 2:10).
- d (1:1) Hebrew ’ohel mo‘ed, the tent where Yahweh met with Moses and Israel (Exodus 25:22; 29:42–43; 40:34–35).
- e (1:2) Hebrew qorban, from qarav, “to come near” or “bring near”: something brought near to God.
- f (1:3) Hebrew ‘olah, literally “that which goes up,” because the whole animal went up in smoke. The Septuagint calls it holokautoma, “wholly burned,” the source of the English word “holocaust.”
- g (1:3) Or “so that it may be accepted for him”; the Hebrew lirtsono can refer to either the offering or the worshiper.
- h (1:4) Hebrew samakh, “lean” or “press.” Whether this hand-leaning marked ownership, identification with the animal, or the transfer of sin (as in 16:21) is debated.
- i (1:4) Hebrew kipper. Its basic sense is debated: “to cover,” “to wipe away” or “purge,” or “to ransom” (compare the related noun kopher, “ransom,” in Exodus 30:12). The burnt offering atones in a general sense, before the specific sin and guilt offerings are introduced in chapters 4–5.
- j (1:5) Hebrew zaraq, to throw or dash liquid from a bowl, not to sprinkle with the finger (compare 4:6).

- k (1:8) Hebrew peder, a word found only in Leviticus 1:8, 12, and 8:20. It is probably the fat around the organs, though some take it to be the head's fat or the cut-up pieces.
- l (1:9) Hebrew hiqtir, literally "turn into smoke." It is a different verb from saraph, used of burning things outside the camp (4:12).
- m (1:9) Hebrew 'ishsheh, traditionally connected with 'esh, "fire." Some scholars relate it to a word for "gift" and translate "food gift" or "food offering" (compare "the food of God" in 21:6).
- n (1:9) Literally "an aroma of soothing" (reach nichoach), a phrase that speaks of God's acceptance of the offering, first used in Genesis 8:21.
- o (1:16) Or "with its feathers"; the Hebrew notsah is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "with its feathers."
- p (1:16) Literally "the place of the fat ashes," fat-soaked ashes removed from the altar (see 6:10–11).

Chapter 2

1 "When anyone[a] presents a grain offering[b] to Yahweh as his offering, it shall be of fine flour;[c] and he shall pour oil on it, and put frankincense[d] on it. 2 And he shall bring it to Aaron's sons the priests; and the priest shall take from it a handful of its fine flour and of its oil, with all its frankincense, and shall burn it upon the altar as its memorial portion,[e] a fire offering of pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 3 What is left of the grain offering belongs to Aaron and his sons. It is a most holy part of Yahweh's offerings by fire.
4 "When you bring as an offering a grain offering baked in an oven,[f] it is to be unleavened loaves of fine flour mixed with oil, or unleavened wafers spread with oil. 5 If your offering is a grain offering made on a griddle, it is to be of fine flour mixed with oil, unleavened. 6 You are to break it in pieces and pour oil on it. It is a grain offering. 7 If your offering is a grain offering cooked in a pan,[g] it is to be made of fine flour with oil. 8 You are to bring to Yahweh the grain offering that is made of these things. It is to be presented to the priest, and he is to bring it to the altar. 9 The priest is to lift out from the grain offering its memorial portion and burn it on the altar, an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 10 What is left of the grain offering belongs to Aaron and his sons. It is a most holy part of Yahweh's offerings by fire.

11 “No grain offering that you bring to Yahweh shall be made with leaven; for you shall not burn any leaven or any honey[h] as a fire offering to Yahweh. 12 As an offering of firstfruits[i] you may bring them to Yahweh, but they are not to go up on the altar as a pleasing aroma.
13 You are to season every grain offering of yours with salt. You must not leave out from your grain offering the salt of the covenant[j] of your God. With all your offerings you are to offer salt.
14 “If you bring a grain offering of firstfruits to Yahweh, you are to bring as the grain offering of your firstfruits fresh ears roasted in the fire, crushed grain from new ears.[k] 15 You are to put oil on it and lay frankincense on it. It is a grain offering. 16 And the priest shall burn the memorial portion of it, part of its crushed grain and part of its oil, along with all its frankincense, as a fire offering to Yahweh.

Notes

- a (2:1) Hebrew nephesh, “a soul,” “a person,” here meaning anyone at all.
- b (2:1) Hebrew minchah, which elsewhere means a “gift” or “tribute” of any kind (Genesis 4:3–5; 32:13). In the priestly laws it is the offering of grain, and that is how it is translated here.
- c (2:1) Hebrew solet, probably semolina, the finest grade of wheat flour.
- d (2:1) An aromatic resin from trees of southern Arabia and East Africa (genus Boswellia).
- e (2:2) Hebrew ’azkarah, probably “reminder,” the part that “calls to remembrance” the worshiper before God; others render “token portion.”
- f (2:4) Hebrew tannur, a clay oven heated from inside, with dough baked on its walls.
- g (2:7) Hebrew marchesheth, probably a deep pan, as opposed to the flat griddle (machavath) of verse 5.
- h (2:11) Hebrew devash, which may include fruit syrup (especially from dates) as well as bees’ honey. Both leaven and honey ferment.
- i (2:12) Hebrew re’shit, the first and best part of the harvest (compare 23:10, 17).
- j (2:13) A covenant meant to last, since salt preserves (Numbers 18:19; 2 Chronicles 13:5). Eating salt together was a sign of a binding agreement in the ancient Near East.
- k (2:14) Hebrew karmel, probably fresh, full ears of new grain. The exact process described is uncertain.

Chapter 3

1 “If someone’s offering is a sacrifice of peace offerings,[a] and he offers it from the herd, whether male or female, he is to offer it without defect before Yahweh. 2 He is to lay his hand on the head of his offering and slaughter it at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and Aaron’s sons the priests are to splash the blood all around against the altar. 3 From the sacrifice of peace offerings he is to present an offering by fire to Yahweh: the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails, 4 and the two kidneys and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the lobe[b] over the liver, which he shall take away with the kidneys. 5 Aaron’s sons are to burn it on the altar on top of the burnt offering that is on the wood on the fire. It is an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh.
6 “If his offering for a sacrifice of peace offerings to Yahweh is from the flock, male or female, he is to offer it without defect. 7 If he offers a lamb for his offering, he is to present it before Yahweh. 8 He is to lay his hand on the head of his offering and slaughter it in front of the tent of meeting, and Aaron’s sons are to splash its blood all around against the altar. 9 From the sacrifice of peace offerings he is to present as an offering by fire to Yahweh its fat: the whole fat tail,[c] which he is to remove close to the backbone, the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails, 10 and the two kidneys and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the lobe over the liver, which he shall take away with the kidneys. 11 The priest is to burn it on the altar as food,[d] an offering by fire to Yahweh.
12 “If his offering is a goat, he is to present it before Yahweh.[e] 13 He is to lay his hand on its head and slaughter it in front of the tent of meeting, and the sons of Aaron are to splash its blood all around against the altar. 14 From it he is to present his offering as an offering by fire to Yahweh: the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails, 15 and the two kidneys and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the lobe over the liver, which he shall take away with the kidneys. 16 The priest is to burn them on the altar as food, an offering by fire for a pleasing aroma. All fat belongs to Yahweh. 17 It is a statute forever throughout your generations, in all your dwellings: you must not eat any fat or any blood."

Notes

- a (3:1) Hebrew zevach shelamim. The word shelamim is related to shalom, "peace, wholeness, well-being," and the offering is also translated "fellowship offering" or "offering of well-being." Its meat was shared by God (the fat), the priest, and the worshiper (7:11–36).
- b (3:4) Hebrew yothereth, "appendage" or "lobe," probably the caudate lobe of the liver.
- c (3:9) The broad, fatty tail of the Middle Eastern fat-tailed sheep, which can weigh many pounds.
- d (3:11) Literally "the food of the offering by fire." Hebrew lechem, "bread" or "food." The phrase is an old expression for the offering; the Bible itself denies that God needs food (Psalm 50:12–13). The Septuagint reads "a sweet-smelling offering."
- e (3:12) A Greek papyrus of Leviticus from Qumran (pap4QLXXLev-b) writes God's name in this chapter and the next as Iao, a Greek form of the name Yahweh, rather than kyrios, "Lord." It is one of the earliest pieces of evidence that the name was pronounced.

Chapter 4

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites, saying: If anyone sins unintentionally[a] against any of the commandments of Yahweh concerning things which ought not to be done, and does any one of them:

3 "If it is the anointed priest[b] who sins, bringing guilt on the people, he is to offer to Yahweh for the sin that he has committed a young bull without defect as a sin offering.[c] 4 He is to bring the bull to the entrance of the tent of meeting before Yahweh, lay his hand on the bull's head, and slaughter the bull before Yahweh. 5 Then the anointed priest is to take some of the bull's blood and bring it into the tent of meeting. 6 And the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle some of the blood seven times before Yahweh, facing the veil of the sanctuary. 7 The priest is to put some of the blood on the horns of the altar of fragrant incense before Yahweh, which is in the tent of meeting, and all the rest of the bull's blood he is to pour out at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 8 All the fat of the bull of the sin offering he is to remove from it: the fat that covers the entrails and all the fat that is on the entrails, 9 and the two kidneys and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the lobe over the liver, which he shall take away with the kidneys, 10 as it is taken from the ox of the sacrifice of peace offerings; and the priest shall burn them upon the altar of burnt offering. 11 But the hide of the bull and all its flesh, with its head, its legs, its entrails, and its dung, 12 the entire bull he shall carry out of the camp to a clean place, to the dumping place for ashes, and burn it with fire on wood; at the dumping place for ashes it shall be burned.

13 "If the whole congregation of Israel errs through ignorance, and the matter is hidden from the eyes of the assembly, and they do something against any of Yahweh's commandments about things not to be done, and are guilty,[d] 14 when the sin which they have committed becomes known, then the assembly shall offer a young bull for a sin offering, and bring it before the tent of meeting. 15 The elders of the congregation are to lay their hands on the head of the bull before Yahweh, and the bull is to be slaughtered before Yahweh. 16 Then the anointed priest is to bring some of the bull's blood into the tent of meeting. 17 and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood and sprinkle it seven times before Yahweh, facing the veil. 18 And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar that is before Yahweh, in the tent of meeting; and everything that remains of the blood he shall pour at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 19 All its fat he is to remove from it and burn on the altar. 20 He is to do with the bull just as he did with the bull of the sin offering; so he is to do with this one. The priest is to make atonement for them, and they will be forgiven. 21 He is to carry the bull outside the camp and burn it as he burned the first bull. It is the sin offering for the assembly.
22 "When a ruler[e] sins, and unintentionally does any one of all the things which Yahweh his God has commanded not to be done, and is guilty, 23 or if his sin, in which he has sinned, is made known to him, he shall bring as his offering a male goat, a male without defect.
24 He is to lay his hand on the head of the goat and slaughter it in the place where the burnt offering is slaughtered before Yahweh. It is a sin offering. 25 The priest is to take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and pour out the rest of its blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering. 26 All its fat he is to burn on the altar, like the fat of the sacrifice of peace offerings. So the priest is to make atonement for him for his sin, and he will be forgiven.

27 "If any one of the people of the land[f] sins unintentionally by doing any one of the things that Yahweh has commanded not to be done, and becomes guilty, 28 or if his sin, in which he has sinned, is made known to him, then he shall bring as his offering a female goat, a female without defect, for the sin he has committed. 29 He is to lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and slaughter the sin offering in the place of the burnt offering. 30 And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and he shall pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. 31 All its fat he is to remove, just as the fat is removed from the sacrifice of peace offerings, and the priest is to burn it on the altar for a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. So the priest is to make atonement for him, and he will be forgiven.

32 "If he brings a lamb as his offering for a sin offering, he is to bring a female without defect. 33 He is to lay his hand on the head of the sin offering and slaughter it as a sin offering in the place where the burnt offering is slaughtered. 34 And the priest shall take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and shall pour out all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. 35 He shall take away all its fat, as the fat of the lamb is taken from the sacrifice of the peace offerings; and the priest shall burn it on the altar, upon Yahweh's fire offerings. So the priest shall make atonement for him concerning the sin he has committed, and he shall be forgiven.

Notes

- a (4:2) Hebrew bishgagah, "in error" or "inadvertently," whether through ignorance of the law or by accident. Deliberate, defiant sin ("with a high hand," Numbers 15:30) is not covered by these offerings.
- b (4:3) The high priest (compare 8:12; 21:10).
- c (4:3) Hebrew chatta't, the same word as "sin." Many scholars, following Jacob Milgrom, translate it "purification offering," because its blood purges the sanctuary and its objects of the defilement caused by sin and impurity, and because it is also required where no moral wrong was done (12:6–8; 15:15). The traditional "sin offering" is kept here, but the offering's main work is purification.

- d (4:13) Hebrew 'asham, which can mean "be guilty," "incur guilt," or "feel guilt," that is, realize one's guilt. The same question arises in verses 22 and 27 and in 5:2–5, 17.
- e (4:22) Hebrew nasi', a tribal chief (Numbers 1:16; 7:2).
- f (4:27) Hebrew 'am ha'arets, here the ordinary members of the community as distinct from priests and leaders.

Chapter 5

1 "If anyone sins, in that he hears a public charge to testify,[a] and is a witness, whether he has seen or known of the matter, and does not report it, then he shall bear his iniquity. 2 Or if anyone touches any unclean thing, whether the carcass of an unclean wild animal, or the carcass of unclean livestock, or the carcass of an unclean swarming creature,[b] and it is hidden from him, and he has become unclean, then he is guilty. 3 Or if he touches human uncleanness, any uncleanness of any kind by which one becomes unclean, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, then he is guilty. 4 Or if anyone rashly swears an oath with his lips to do evil or to do good, in any matter that a person may speak rashly with an oath, and it is hidden from him, when he comes to know it, then he is guilty in one of these. 5 When he becomes guilty in one of these, he is to confess the way in which he has sinned. 6 He is to bring to Yahweh as his penalty[c] for the sin that he has committed a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, as a sin offering. The priest is to make atonement for him for his sin.
7 "But if he cannot afford a lamb,[d] he is to bring to Yahweh as his penalty for the sin he has committed two turtledoves or two young pigeons, one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering. 8 He is to bring them to the priest, who is to offer first the one for the sin offering. He is to wring its head at the front of its neck, but not sever it completely. 9 And he shall sprinkle some of the blood of the sin offering on the side of the altar, while the rest of the blood shall be drained out at the base of the altar; it is a sin offering. 10 The second he is to offer as a burnt offering according to the regulation. So the priest is to make atonement for him for the sin he has committed, and he will be forgiven.

11 "But if he cannot afford two turtledoves or two young pigeons, then for his sin he shall bring as his offering about 2 quarts[e] of fine flour for a sin offering; he shall put no oil on it and shall lay no frankincense on it, for it is a sin offering. 12 He shall bring it to the priest, who shall take a handful of it as the memorial portion, and burn it on the altar, upon Yahweh's fire offerings; it is a sin offering. 13 So the priest shall make atonement for him concerning the sin that he has committed in any of these things, and he shall be forgiven; and the remainder shall belong to the priest, like the grain offering."

14 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 15 "If anyone commits a breach of faith[f] and sins unintentionally against any of Yahweh's holy things, he is to bring to Yahweh as his penalty a ram without defect from the flock, valued in silver[g] by the sanctuary standard,[h] as a guilt offering.[i] 16 And he shall make restitution for what he has sinned against the holy thing, and shall add a fifth to it and give it to the priest; and the priest shall make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and it shall be forgiven him.

17 "If anyone sins and does any one of all the things that Yahweh has commanded not to be done, though he does not know it, he is guilty and will bear his iniquity. 18 He shall bring to the priest a ram without defect out of the flock, according to your valuation, for a guilt offering; and the priest shall make atonement for him regarding the error he committed unintentionally and did not know, and he shall be forgiven. 19 It is a guilt offering; he is indeed guilty before Yahweh."[j]

Notes

- a (5:1) Literally "hears the voice of an oath ('alah)," a public curse or summons laid on anyone who knows something about a crime and keeps silent (compare Judges 17:2; Proverbs 29:24).
- b (5:2) Hebrew sherets, small creatures that swarm on land or in water (11:10, 20, 29).
- c (5:6) Hebrew 'asham, here the penalty or reparation owed, the same word used for the "guilt offering" in verses 14–19. The Septuagint reads "for his trespass."
- d (5:7) Literally "if his hand cannot reach the sufficiency of a lamb." This sliding scale for the poor appears again in 12:8 and 14:21–32.

- e (5:11) Hebrew “a tenth of an ephah,” about 2.2 liters. Ancient standards varied.
- f (5:15) Hebrew maʿal, the misuse of something holy that belongs to God, a breach of trust against him.
- g (5:15) Hebrew “in silver shekels.” No number is given; the Hebrew plural may imply a minimum of two shekels (about 0.8 ounce or 23 grams), as many interpreters hold, or it may simply mean “its value in silver.”
- h (5:15) Hebrew “by the shekel of the sanctuary,” a standard shekel of 20 gerahs (27:25; Exodus 30:13), about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams). Ancient standards varied.
- i (5:15) Hebrew ’asham, also translated “reparation offering,” since it goes with restitution for a wrong done against God’s holy things or against a neighbor (6:1–7).
- j (5:19) Or “he has indeed made himself guilty before Yahweh.” The Septuagint reads “for he has indeed trespassed before the Lord.”

Chapter 6

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying,[a] 2 “If anyone sins and commits a breach of faith against Yahweh by deceiving his neighbor about a deposit or a pledge, or by robbery, or if he has defrauded his neighbor, 3 or has found what was lost and lied about it, and sworn falsely—in any of all the things that a man may do in which he sins— 4 then, when he has sinned and is guilty, he is to return what he took by robbery or what he gained by fraud, or the deposit that was entrusted to him, or the lost thing that he found, 5 or anything about which he has sworn falsely; he shall make full restitution for it, adding a fifth more, and give it to its owner on the day he is found guilty.[b] 6 Then he is to bring to Yahweh as his guilt offering a ram without defect from the flock, at your valuation, as a guilt offering to the priest. 7 The priest is to make atonement for him before Yahweh, and he will be forgiven for any one of all the things that he may do and become guilty by it.”
8 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 9 “Command Aaron and his sons, saying, This is the law[c] of the burnt offering. The burnt offering is to stay on its hearth[d] on the altar all night until the morning, and the fire of the altar is to be kept burning on it. 10 The priest is to put on his linen garment, with linen undergarments on his body, and he is to take up the fat ashes to which the fire has consumed the burnt offering on the altar, and put them beside the altar. 11 Then he is to take off his garments and put on other garments, and carry the fat ashes outside the camp to a clean place. 12 The fire on the altar shall be kept burning on it; it shall not go out. And the priest shall burn wood on it every morning, and lay the burnt offering in order on it, and shall burn on it the fat of the peace offerings. 13 Fire is to be kept burning on the altar continually; it must not go out.

14 "This is the law of the grain offering. The sons of Aaron are to offer it before Yahweh in front of the altar. 15 One of them is to take from it a handful of the fine flour of the grain offering and of its oil, with all the frankincense that is on the grain offering, and burn its memorial portion on the altar as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 16 What is left of it Aaron and his sons are to eat. It is to be eaten unleavened in a holy place; in the court of the tent of meeting they are to eat it. 17 It must not be baked with leaven. I have given it as their portion from my offerings by fire. It is most holy, like the sin offering and the guilt offering. 18 Every male among the children of Aaron shall eat of it, as a statute forever throughout your generations, from Yahweh's offerings made by fire; whatever touches them shall be holy."[e]
19 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 20 "This is the offering that Aaron and his sons are to offer to Yahweh on the day when he is anointed:[f] about 2 quarts[g] of fine flour as a regular grain offering, half of it in the morning and half of it in the evening. 21 It is to be made with oil on a griddle. You are to bring it well mixed, and offer the grain offering in broken pieces[h] as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 22 The priest from among Aaron's sons who is anointed in his place is to offer it. It is Yahweh's portion forever; it is to be burned entirely. 23 Every grain offering of a priest is to be burned entirely. It must not be eaten." 24 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 25 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons, saying, This is the law of the sin offering. In the place where the burnt offering is slaughtered, the sin offering is to be slaughtered before Yahweh. It is most holy. 26 The priest who offers it for sin shall eat it; it shall be eaten in a holy place, in the court of the tent of meeting. 27 Whatever touches its flesh will become holy. When any of its blood is splashed on a garment, you are to wash the part on which it was splashed in a holy place. 28 The clay pot in which it is boiled is to be broken. If it is boiled in a bronze pot, that pot is to be scoured and rinsed in water. 29 Every male among the priests may eat it. It is most holy. 30 But no sin offering from which any blood is brought into the tent of meeting to make atonement in the Holy Place may be eaten. It is to be burned with fire.

Notes

- a (6:1) Verses 6:1–7 of the English versification appear as 5:20–26 in the Hebrew Bible, and 6:8–30 appear there as 6:1–23. Here the usual English chapter and verse numbering is kept.
- b (6:5) Or "on the day of his guilt offering."
- c (6:9) Hebrew torah, "instruction" or "regulation," here a ritual procedure. The same formula introduces each section in 6:8–7:38.
- d (6:9) Hebrew moqedah, "burning place," found only here.
- e (6:18) Or "Anyone who touches them must be holy," that is, only priests in a state of holiness may touch them. The meaning of this phrase, here and in verse 27 (compare Exodus 29:37), is debated: whether holiness passes to what touches the offering, or whether only those already holy may touch it.
- f (6:20) Or "from the day when he is anointed," an offering made each day from then on (compare "regular" in this verse). The Septuagint reads "on the day when you anoint him."
- g (6:20) Hebrew "a tenth of an ephah," about 2.2 liters. Ancient standards varied.
- h (6:21) Hebrew tuphine, a word found only here; its meaning is uncertain. It may mean "baked pieces" or "broken pieces."

Chapter 7

1 "This is the law of the guilt offering. It is most holy. 2 At the place where the burnt offering is slaughtered, the guilt offering shall be slaughtered, and its blood shall be dashed on the altar all around. 3 All its fat is to be offered: the fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, 4 and the two kidneys and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the lobe over the liver, which he shall take away with the kidneys. 5 And the priest shall burn them upon the altar as an offering made by fire to Yahweh; it is a guilt offering. 6 Every male among the priests may eat it. It is to be eaten in a holy place. It is most holy. 7 The guilt offering is like the sin offering; there is one law for them. It belongs to the priest who makes atonement with it. 8 The priest who offers anyone's burnt offering is to have for himself the hide of the burnt offering that he has offered. 9 Every grain offering baked in the oven, and all that is prepared in the frying pan or on the griddle, shall be the priest's who offers it. 10 Every grain offering, mixed with oil or dry, belongs to all the sons of Aaron, to one as much as to another.

11 "This is the law of the sacrifice of peace offerings that one may offer to Yahweh. 12 If he offers it for thanksgiving,[a] then along with the sacrifice of thanksgiving he is to offer unleavened loaves mixed with oil, unleavened wafers spread with oil, and loaves of fine flour well mixed with oil. 13 With loaves of leavened bread he is to present his offering, along with his sacrifice of peace offerings for thanksgiving. 14 From it he is to offer one of each kind of offering as a contribution[b] to Yahweh. It belongs to the priest who splashes the blood of the peace offerings. 15 As for the flesh of the sacrifice of his peace offerings for thanksgiving, it shall be eaten on the day of his offering; he shall not leave any of it until morning. 16 But if the sacrifice of his offering is a vow or a freewill offering, it shall be eaten the same day that he offers his sacrifice; and on the next day the remainder of it may be eaten; 17 What is left of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day is to be burned with fire. 18 If any of the flesh of his sacrifice of peace offerings is eaten on the third day, it will not be accepted. It will not be credited to the one who offers it. It is a foul thing,[c] and the person who eats of it will bear his iniquity.
19 "Flesh that touches anything unclean must not be eaten; it is to be burned with fire. As for other flesh, everyone who is clean may eat flesh. 20 But the person who eats flesh from the sacrifice of peace offerings that belongs to Yahweh while his uncleanness is on him, that person will be cut off[d] from his people. 21 When anyone touches anything unclean, whether human uncleanness or an unclean animal or any unclean detestable thing,[e] and then eats some of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace offerings that belongs to Yahweh, that person will be cut off from his people." 22 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 23 "Speak to the Israelites, saying, You must not eat any fat of ox, sheep, or goat. 24 The fat of a carcass and the fat of what is torn by beasts may be used for any other purpose; but you shall in no way eat of it. 25 For whoever eats the fat of an animal from which an offering by fire may be offered to Yahweh, the person who eats it will be cut off from his people. 26 You must not eat any blood, whether of bird or of animal, in any of your dwellings. 27 Whoever eats any blood, that person will be cut off from his people." 28 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 29 "Speak to the Israelites, saying, Whoever offers his sacrifice of peace offerings to Yahweh is to bring his offering to Yahweh from his sacrifice of peace offerings. 30 His own hands are to bring Yahweh's offerings by fire. He is to bring the fat with the breast, so that the breast may be waved as a wave offering[f] before Yahweh. 31 The priest is to burn the fat on the altar, but the breast belongs to Aaron and his sons. 32 The right thigh you are to give to the priest as a contribution from your sacrifices of peace offerings. 33 The one among the sons of Aaron who offers the blood of the peace offerings and the fat shall have the right thigh for his portion. 34 For I have taken from the Israelites, out of their sacrifices of peace offerings, the breast of the wave offering and the thigh of the contribution, and have given them to Aaron the priest and to his sons as a due forever from the Israelites. 35 This is the portion of Aaron and the portion of his sons from Yahweh's offerings by fire, from the day when he[g] presented them to serve as priests to Yahweh. 36 Yahweh commanded this to be given them by the Israelites on the day that he anointed them. It is a due forever throughout their generations." 37 This is the law concerning the burnt offering, the grain offering, the sin offering, the guilt offering, the consecration offering,[h] and the peace offering sacrifice, 38 which Yahweh commanded Moses on Mount Sinai on the day that he commanded the Israelites to bring their offerings to Yahweh, in the wilderness of Sinai.

Notes

- a (7:12) Hebrew todah, "thanksgiving" or "praise," a peace offering given in gratitude for deliverance (compare Psalm 107:22; 116:17).
- b (7:14) Hebrew terumah, a contribution set apart, literally "something lifted off."
- c (7:18) Hebrew piggul, a technical term for sacrificial meat that has become unfit because it was kept too long (19:7; Ezekiel 4:14; Isaiah 65:4).
- d (7:20) Hebrew karath. Whether this penalty meant execution by the community, early death at God's hand, or the cutting off of one's descendants is debated. Many rabbinic interpreters took it as a punishment from God rather than a human court.

- e (7:21) Hebrew sheqets. Many Hebrew manuscripts, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Syriac read sherets, “swarming creature,” as in 5:2.
- f (7:30) Hebrew tenufah, an offering presented by moving it toward the altar and back, or lifting it up. Jacob Milgrom and others argue the rite was a lifting, a “presentation offering.”
- g (7:35) Probably Moses (compare 8:1–30); the Hebrew may also be read “from the day when they were presented.”
- h (7:37) Hebrew millu’im, literally “filling,” from the phrase “fill the hand,” meaning to install someone in priestly office (8:33; Exodus 29:9).

Chapter 8

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Take Aaron and his sons with him, and the garments, the anointing oil, the bull of the sin offering, the two rams, and the basket of unleavened bread, 3 and assemble the whole congregation at the entrance of the tent of meeting.” 4 Moses did as Yahweh commanded him, and the congregation was assembled at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 5 Moses said to the congregation, “This is the thing that Yahweh has commanded to be done.” 6 Then Moses brought Aaron and his sons forward and washed them with water. 7 He put the tunic on him, tied the sash around him, clothed him with the robe, and put the ephod[a] on him. He tied the woven band of the ephod around him and fastened the ephod to him with it. 8 He placed the breastplate upon him, and in the breastplate he put the Urim and the Thummim.[b] 9 He set the turban on his head, and on the turban, at its front, he set the gold plate, the holy crown,[c]
as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
10 Then Moses took the anointing oil and anointed the tabernacle and everything in it, and consecrated them. 11 He sprinkled some of it on the altar seven times, and anointed the altar and all its utensils, and the basin and its stand, to consecrate them. 12 He poured some of the anointing oil on Aaron’s head and anointed him to consecrate him. 13 Then Moses brought Aaron’s sons forward, clothed them with tunics, tied sashes around them, and bound caps on them, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
14 Then he brought the bull of the sin offering, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the head of the bull of the sin offering. 15
And he killed it; and Moses took the blood, and put some with his finger on the horns of the altar all around, and purified[d] the altar; then he poured out the blood at the base of the altar and sanctified it, to make atonement for it. 16 He took all the fat that was on the entrails, the lobe of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and Moses burned them on the altar. 17 But the bull, its hide, its flesh, and its dung he burned with fire outside the camp, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

18 Then he presented the ram of the burnt offering, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head. 19 He slaughtered it, and Moses splashed the blood all around against the altar. 20 He cut the ram into its pieces, and Moses burned the head, the pieces, and the suet. 21 He washed the entrails and the legs with water, and Moses burned the whole ram on the altar. It was a burnt offering for a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
22 Then he presented the other ram, the ram of ordination, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands on the ram's head. 23 He slaughtered it, and Moses took some of its blood and put it on the lobe of Aaron's right ear, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. 24 Then he brought Aaron's sons, and Moses put some of the blood on the tips of their right ears, and on the thumbs of their right hands, and on the big toes of their right feet; and Moses sprinkled the blood all around upon the altar. 25 He took the fat, the fat tail, all the fat that was on the entrails, the lobe of the liver, the two kidneys with their fat, and the right thigh; 26 and from the basket of unleavened bread that was before Yahweh he took one unleavened loaf, one loaf of bread made with oil, and one wafer, and placed them on the fat and on the right thigh. 27 He put all these in the hands of Aaron and in the hands of his sons, and waved them as a wave offering before Yahweh. 28 Then Moses took them from their hands and burned them on the altar on top of the burnt offering. They were an ordination offering for a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh. 29 Moses took the breast and waved it as a wave offering before Yahweh. It was Moses' portion of the ram of ordination, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.
30 Then Moses took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood that was on the altar and sprinkled it on Aaron and his garments, and on his sons and on his sons' garments with him. So he consecrated Aaron and his garments, and his sons and his sons' garments with him.

31 Moses said to Aaron and his sons, "Boil the flesh at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and eat it there with the bread that is in the basket of ordination offerings, as I commanded, saying,[e] 'Aaron and his sons are to eat it.' 32 What is left of the flesh and of the bread you are to burn with fire. 33 And you shall not go out from the door of the tent of meeting for seven days, until the days of your consecration are fulfilled; for seven days he shall consecrate you.[f] 34 As has been done today, Yahweh has commanded to be done, to make atonement for you. 35 At the entrance of the tent of meeting you are to remain day and night for seven days, keeping Yahweh's charge, so that you do not die, for so I have been commanded." 36 Aaron and his sons did all the things that Yahweh commanded through Moses.[g]

Notes

- a (8:7) A priestly garment worn over the robe, probably like an apron or vest, held by shoulder pieces and a woven band (Exodus 28:6–14). Its exact form is uncertain.
- b (8:8) Objects kept in the breastpiece and used to learn God's decision (Exodus 28:30; Numbers 27:21). The words may mean "lights and perfections"; how the objects worked is unknown.
- c (8:9) Hebrew tsits, "flower" or "shining plate," engraved "Holy to Yahweh" (Exodus 28:36). Nezer, "crown," also means "consecration."
- d (8:15) Hebrew chitte', "to de-sin" or "purge," from the same root as chatta't, "sin offering."
- e (8:31) The Hebrew vowels read "as I commanded"; the Septuagint, Syriac, and Targum read "as I was commanded," as in verse 35.
- f (8:33) Literally "for seven days he will fill your hand." See the note at 7:37.
- g (8:36) Literally "by the hand of Moses."

Chapter 9

1 On the eighth day Moses called Aaron and his sons and the elders of Israel. 2 He said to Aaron, "Take for yourself a calf from the herd for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering, both without defect, and offer them before Yahweh. 3 And to the Israelites you shall say, 'Take a kid of the goats for a sin offering, and a calf and a lamb, both a year old, without defect, for a burnt offering, 4 and an ox and a ram for peace offerings, to sacrifice before Yahweh, with a grain offering mixed with oil; for today Yahweh is going to appear to you.'" 5 So they brought what Moses commanded before the tent of meeting, and all the congregation drew near and stood before Yahweh. 6 Moses said, "This is the thing that Yahweh commanded you to do, so that the glory of Yahweh may appear to you." 7 Then Moses said to Aaron, "Come near to the altar and offer your sin offering and your burnt offering, and make atonement for yourself and for the people.[a] Then offer the people's offering and make atonement for them, as Yahweh has commanded." 8 So Aaron came near to the altar and slaughtered the calf of the sin offering, which was for himself. 9 Aaron's sons presented the blood to him, and he dipped his finger in the blood and put it on the horns of the altar, and poured out the blood at the base of the altar. 10 The fat, the kidneys, and the lobe of the liver from the sin offering he burned on the altar, as Yahweh had commanded Moses. 11 The flesh and the skin he burned with fire outside the camp. 12 Then he slaughtered the burnt offering. Aaron's sons handed him the blood, and he splashed it all around against the altar. 13 They handed him the burnt offering, piece by piece, with the head, and he burned them on the altar. 14 He washed the entrails and the legs and burned them with the burnt offering on the altar.

15 Then he brought the people's offering, and took the goat which was the sin offering for the people, and killed it and offered it for sin, as the first one. 16 He presented the burnt offering and offered it according to the regulation. 17 He presented the grain offering, took a handful of it, and burned it on the altar, in addition to the burnt offering of the morning. 18 Then he slaughtered the ox and the ram, the sacrifice of peace offerings for the people. Aaron's sons handed him the blood, and he splashed it all around against the altar. 19 And the fat portions of the ox and of the ram, the fat tail, the fat that covers the entrails, the kidneys, and the lobe of the liver, 20 they put the fat portions on the breasts, and he burned the fat portions on the altar. 21 The breasts and the right thigh Aaron lifted up as a wave offering before Yahweh, as Moses had commanded.[b]

22 Then Aaron lifted up his hands toward the people and blessed them.[c] He came down from offering the sin offering, the burnt offering, and the peace offerings. 23 Moses and Aaron went into the tent of meeting, and when they came out they blessed the people, and the glory of Yahweh appeared to all the people. 24 Fire came out from before Yahweh and consumed the burnt offering and the fat portions on the altar. When all the people saw it, they shouted for joy[d] and fell on their faces.

Notes

- a (9:7) The Septuagint reads "for yourself and for your house," as in 16:6.
- b (9:21) Many Hebrew manuscripts, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint read "as Yahweh had commanded Moses."
- c (9:22) Perhaps with the priestly blessing of Numbers 6:24–26.
- d (9:24) Hebrew ranan, a ringing cry, usually of joy.

Chapter 10

1 Now Nadab[a] and Abihu,[b] the sons of Aaron, each took his censer, put fire in it, and laid incense on it, and they offered unauthorized[c] fire before Yahweh, which he had not commanded them. 2 Fire came out from before Yahweh and consumed them, and they died before Yahweh. 3 Then Moses said to Aaron, "This is what Yahweh meant when he said, 'Through those who approach me I will show myself holy, and before the whole people I will be honored.'" And Aaron held his peace.
4 Moses called Mishael[d] and Elzaphan,[e] the sons of Uzziel,[f] Aaron's uncle, and said to them, "Draw near; carry your brothers from before the sanctuary out of the camp." 5 So they came near and carried them in their tunics to outside the camp, as Moses had said. 6 Moses said to Aaron and to his sons Eleazar[g] and Ithamar,[h] "Do not let the hair of your heads hang loose[i] or tear your garments, or you will die, and wrath will come on all the congregation. But your brothers, the whole house of Israel, may weep over the burning that Yahweh has kindled.
7 You must not go out from the entrance of the tent of meeting, or you will die, for Yahweh's anointing oil is on you." And they did as Moses said.

8 Yahweh spoke to Aaron, saying, 9 "Drink no wine or strong drink,[j] you nor your sons with you, whenever you go into the tent of meeting, or you will die. This is a perpetual statute for all your generations. 10 You are to distinguish between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean, 11 and you are to teach the Israelites all the statutes that Yahweh has spoken to them through Moses."
12 Moses spoke to Aaron and to Aaron's remaining sons, Eleazar and Ithamar: "Take what remains of the grain offering from Yahweh's fire offerings and eat it unleavened beside the altar; for it is most holy. 13
You are to eat it in a holy place, because it is your due and your sons' due from Yahweh's offerings by fire, for so I have been commanded. 14
But the breast of the wave offering and the thigh of the contribution you shall eat in a clean place, you, your sons, and your daughters with you; for they are granted to you and to your children as your portion from the peace offering sacrifices of the Israelites. 15 The thigh of the contribution and the breast of the wave offering they are to bring with the offerings by fire of the fat portions, to wave as a wave offering before Yahweh. It will be yours and your sons' with you as a due forever, as Yahweh has commanded." 16 Then Moses diligently inquired about the goat of the sin offering, and behold, it had been burned up. And he was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the remaining sons of Aaron, saying, 17 "Why did you not eat the sin offering in the holy place, since it is most holy? He gave it to you to bear the iniquity of the congregation, to make atonement for them before Yahweh. 18 Its blood was not brought into the sanctuary.
You certainly should have eaten it in the sanctuary, as I commanded." 19 Aaron said to Moses, "See, this very day they have offered their sin offering and their burnt offering before Yahweh, and yet such things have befallen me! Had I eaten the sin offering today, would it have been pleasing in Yahweh's sight?" 20 When Moses heard that, it was good in his eyes.[k]

Notes

- a (10:1) Nadab means "generous" or "willing."
- b (10:1) Abihu means "he is my father," probably referring to God.

- c (10:1) Hebrew zarah, “strange” or “foreign.” What made the fire wrong is not stated. Suggestions include fire not taken from the altar (compare 16:12), incense offered at the wrong time or place, or drunkenness, given the command in verse 9.
- d (10:4) Mishael means “who is what God is?”
- e (10:4) Elzaphan means “God has protected” or “God has hidden.” He is called Elizaphan in Numbers 3:30.
- f (10:4) Uzziel means “God is my strength.”
- g (10:6) Eleazar means “God has helped.”
- h (10:6) Ithamar may mean “island of palms” or “where is Tamar?”; its meaning is uncertain.
- i (10:6) Or “uncover your heads”; Hebrew para‘, to let the hair go loose or unkempt, a sign of mourning (13:45; 21:10).
- j (10:9) Hebrew shekhar, an intoxicating drink, perhaps beer made from barley.
- k (10:20) Or “he approved.” Since the people’s sin offering (9:15) should have been eaten by the priests (6:26), Aaron may mean that after the deaths of his sons the priests were unfit to eat it, or that the deaths had defiled the sanctuary so that the offering had to be burned.

Chapter 11

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying to them, 2 “Speak to the Israelites, saying: These are the creatures which you may eat among all the beasts that are on the earth. 3 Whatever divides the hoof, having a split hoof, and chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat. 4 Nevertheless, among those that chew the cud or that have a divided hoof, these you shall not eat: the camel—it chews the cud but does not part the hoof; it is unclean to you. 5 And the rock badger,[a] because it chews the cud yet does not part the hoof, is unclean to you.
6 And the hare, because it chews the cud[b] yet does not part the hoof, is unclean to you. 7 The pig, because it divides the hoof, having a split hoof, but does not chew the cud; it is unclean to you. 8 You must not eat any of their flesh, and you must not touch their carcasses. They are unclean to you.
9 “These you may eat of everything that lives in the waters: whatever has fins and scales in the waters, whether in seas or in rivers, you may eat. 10 But anything in the seas or the rivers that lacks fins and scales, whether swarming things of the waters or any other living creature in the waters, is an abomination[c] to you. 11 They are to remain detestable to you. You must not eat any of their flesh, and you are to detest their carcasses. 12 Everything in the waters that does not have fins and scales is detestable to you.

13 "These you are to detest among the birds; they must not be eaten; they are detestable: the eagle,[d] the bearded vulture, the black vulture, 14 the kite, the falcon of any kind, 15 every raven of any kind, 16 the ostrich,[e] the nighthawk, the gull, the hawk of any kind, 17 the little owl, the cormorant, the great owl, 18 the barn owl, the desert owl, the carrion vulture, 19 the stork, the heron of any kind, the hoopoe, and the bat.[f]
20 "All winged swarming things that go on all fours[g] are detestable to you. 21 Yet these you may eat among all the winged swarming things that go on all fours: those that have jointed legs above their feet, with which to leap on the earth. 22 Of them you may eat these: the locust of any kind, the bald locust of any kind, the cricket of any kind, and the grasshopper of any kind.[h] 23 But all other winged swarming things that have four feet are detestable to you.
24 "By these you will become unclean. Whoever touches their carcasses will be unclean until evening. 25 Whoever carries any part of their carcasses is to wash his clothes and be unclean until evening.
26 Every animal that divides the hoof but does not have a split hoof, or does not chew the cud, is unclean to you. Everyone who touches them will be unclean. 27 And whatever walks on its paws, among all kinds of animals that walk on all fours, is unclean to you; whoever touches their carcasses shall be unclean until the evening. 28 And he who carries their carcasses shall wash his clothes and be unclean until the evening; they are unclean to you.
29 "These are unclean to you among the swarming things that swarm on the earth: the mole rat,[i] the mouse, the great lizard of any kind, 30 the gecko, the monitor lizard, the wall lizard, the sand lizard, and the chameleon. 31 Among all the swarming things, these are unclean to you; whoever touches one of them when it is dead shall be unclean until the evening. 32 And anything upon which one of them falls when it is dead shall be unclean—any article of wood, or garment, or skin, or sack, any vessel used for any work; it shall be put in water and remain unclean until the evening; after that it shall be clean. 33 And if any of them falls into an earthen vessel, all that is in it shall be unclean, and you shall break the vessel. 34 Any food that could be eaten, on which water from such a pot comes, will be unclean, and any drink that could be drunk from any such vessel will be unclean. 35 Everything on which any part of their carcass falls will be unclean. Whether oven or stove,[j] it is to be broken down. They are unclean and will remain unclean to you. 36 But a spring or a cistern holding a collection of water will be clean, though whoever touches their carcass will be unclean. 37 And if any part of their carcass falls on any sowing seed that is to be sown, it is clean. 38 But if water is put on the seed and any part of their carcass falls on it, it is unclean to you.

39 "And if any beast of which you may eat dies, he who touches its carcass shall be unclean until the evening. 40 Whoever eats of its carcass is to wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. Whoever carries its carcass is to wash his clothes and be unclean until evening.

41 "And every swarming thing that swarms on the earth is an abomination; it shall not be eaten. 42 Whatever goes on its belly, and whatever goes on all fours, or whatever has many feet, among all the swarming things that swarm on the earth, you must not eat them, for they are detestable. 43 You shall not make yourselves abominable with any swarming thing that swarms; nor shall you make yourselves unclean with them, that you should be defiled by them. 44 For I am Yahweh your God. Consecrate yourselves, therefore, and be holy, for I am holy.[k] You must not defile yourselves with any swarming thing that moves on the earth. 45 For I am Yahweh who brought you up out of the land of Egypt to be your God. You are to be holy, for I am holy."

46 This is the law about animals and birds and every living creature that moves in the waters and every creature that swarms on the earth, 47 to distinguish between the unclean and the clean, and between the living thing that may be eaten and the living thing that may not be eaten.

Notes

- a (11:5) Hebrew shaphan, probably the rock hyrax (Procavia capensis), a small animal of rocky places (Psalm 104:18; Proverbs 30:26).

- b (11:6) The hyrax and the hare do not chew the cud as cattle do, but their constant jaw motion and their habit of re-eating partly digested droppings look like it. The law uses ordinary observation, not modern zoological categories. The Septuagint names these two animals differently, and its wording in verses 5–6 differs from the Hebrew.
- c (11:10) Hebrew sheqets, a stronger word than "unclean," used of things to be avoided with revulsion.
- d (11:13) Hebrew nesher, which can include the griffon vulture. Many of the bird names in verses 13–19 cannot be identified with certainty; the translations given are traditional or probable.
- e (11:16) Or "eagle owl"; Hebrew bath haya'anah, literally "daughter of the desert" or "daughter of greed."
- f (11:19) The bat is grouped with birds because it flies. Hebrew 'oph means any winged creature.
- g (11:20) That is, insects, which walk while seeming to move on four legs.
- h (11:22) The four Hebrew names, 'arbeh, sal'am, chargol, and chagav, are all types of locust or grasshopper whose exact identification is uncertain.
- i (11:29) Hebrew choled, traditionally "weasel," but probably the mole rat. The identification of the creatures in verses 29–30 is uncertain.
- j (11:35) Hebrew kirayim, a word found only here, probably a two-part cooking stove.
- k (11:44) This command, repeated in 11:45, 19:2, and 20:26, is the keynote of Leviticus and is quoted in 1 Peter 1:16.

Chapter 12

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Say to the Israelites: If a woman conceives[a] and gives birth to a boy, she shall be unclean for a week, just as during her monthly impurity[b] she is unclean. 3 On the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin is to be circumcised. 4 Then she is to remain in the blood of her purifying for thirty-three days. She must not touch anything holy or come into the sanctuary until the days of her purifying are completed. 5 But if she gives birth to a female child, she will be unclean two weeks, as in her menstrual impurity, and she is to remain in the blood of her purifying for sixty-six days.[c]

6 "And when the days of her purifying are fulfilled, for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring to the priest a lamb a year old for a burnt offering, and a young pigeon or a turtledove for a sin offering, to the entrance of the tent of meeting. 7 And he shall offer it before Yahweh and make atonement for her, and she shall be clean from the source of her blood. This is the law for her who bears a child, whether male or female. 8 If she cannot afford a lamb, she is to take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, one for a burnt offering and the other for a sin offering. The priest is to make atonement for her, and she will be clean."[d]

Notes

- a (12:2) Hebrew tazria', literally "produces seed," that is, conceives.
- b (12:2) Hebrew niddah, the separation of menstruation (15:19–24).
- c (12:5) No reason is given for the doubled periods for a daughter. The impurity is ritual, not moral; childbirth itself is not a sin, as the blessing of Genesis 1:28 shows. The sin offering here is better understood as a purification offering (see the note at 4:3).
- d (12:8) Mary offered the offering of the poor after the birth of Jesus (Luke 2:22–24).

Chapter 13

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 2 "When anyone has a swelling, or a scab, or a bright spot in the skin of his flesh, and it develops there into an affliction[a] of defiling skin disease,[b] he shall be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests. 3 The priest is to examine the affliction on the skin of the body. If the hair in the affliction has turned white and the affliction appears deeper than the skin of his body, it is an affliction of a defiling skin disease. When the priest has examined him, he is to pronounce him unclean. 4 But if the bright spot is white in the skin of his flesh, and appears no deeper than the skin, and the hair in it has not turned white, then the priest shall quarantine the afflicted person for seven days. 5 On the seventh day the priest is to examine him, and if in his eyes the affliction has remained as it was and the affliction has not spread on the skin, the priest is to isolate him for another seven days. 6 The priest is to examine him again on the seventh day, and if the affliction has faded and the affliction has not spread on the skin, the priest is to pronounce him clean. It is only a scab. He is to wash his clothes and be clean. 7 But if the scab spreads on the skin after he has shown himself to the priest for his cleansing, he is to show himself to the priest again. 8 The priest is to examine him, and if the scab has spread on the skin, the priest is to pronounce him unclean. It is a defiling skin disease.

9 “When anyone has an affliction of a defiling skin disease, he is to be brought to the priest. 10 The priest is to examine him, and if there is a white swelling on the skin that has turned the hair white, and there is raw flesh in the swelling, 11 it is a chronic defiling disease on the skin of his body, and the priest is to pronounce him unclean. He is not to isolate him, for he is unclean. 12 And if the disease breaks out widely in the skin, and the disease covers all the skin of the one who has the affliction, from his head to his foot, wherever the priest looks, 13 then the priest is to examine him, and if the disease has covered all his body, he is to pronounce the afflicted person clean.[c] He has turned all white; he is clean. 14 But whenever raw flesh appears on him, he will be unclean. 15 And the priest shall look at the raw flesh and pronounce him unclean; the raw flesh is unclean; it is a defiling skin disease. 16 But if the raw flesh changes again and turns white, he is to come to the priest. 17 The priest is to examine him, and if the affliction has turned white, the priest is to pronounce the afflicted person clean. He is clean.
18 “When there is a boil on the skin of one’s body and it has healed, 19 and in the place of the boil there arises a white swelling or a reddish-white bright spot, it shall be shown to the priest; 20 The priest is to examine it, and if it appears lower than the skin and its hair has turned white, the priest is to pronounce him unclean. It is an affliction of a defiling skin disease; it has broken out in the boil. 21 But if the priest examines it and there is no white hair in it, and it is not lower than the skin but has faded, the priest is to isolate him for seven days.
22 If it spreads on the skin, the priest is to pronounce him unclean.
It is an affliction. 23 But if the bright spot remains where it was and has not spread, it is only the scar from the boil, and the priest shall pronounce him clean.
24 “Or if the body receives a burn on its skin, and the raw flesh of the burn becomes a bright spot, reddish-white or white, 25 the priest is to examine it, and if the hair in the shiny spot has turned white and it appears deeper than the skin, it is a defiling skin disease. It has broken out in the burn, and the priest is to pronounce him unclean. It is an affliction of a defiling skin disease. 26 But if the priest examines it and there is no white hair in the shiny spot, and it is not lower than the skin but has faded, the priest is to isolate him for seven days. 27 The priest is to examine him on the seventh day. If it has spread on the skin, the priest is to pronounce him unclean. It is an affliction of a defiling skin disease. 28 But if the bright spot remains where it was and has not spread in the skin, but has faded, it is the swelling of the burn; the priest shall pronounce him clean, because it is only the scar of the burn.

29 "When a man or a woman has an affliction on the head or the chin, 30 the priest is to examine the affliction, and if it appears deeper than the skin and the hair in it is yellow and thin, the priest is to pronounce him unclean. It is a scaly sore,[d] a defiling skin disease of the head or the chin. 31 And if the priest examines the scale affliction and sees that it appears no deeper than the skin, and no black hair is in it, then the priest shall quarantine the one with the scale affliction for seven days. 32 On the seventh day the priest is to examine the affliction. If the scaly sore has not spread, and there is no yellow hair in it, and the scaly sore does not appear deeper than the skin, 33 then he is to shave himself, but he is not to shave the scaly sore, and the priest is to isolate the person with the scaly sore for another seven days. 34 On the seventh day the priest is to examine the scaly sore. If the scaly sore has not spread on the skin and does not appear deeper than the skin, the priest is to pronounce him clean. He is to wash his clothes and be clean. 35 But if the scaly sore spreads on the skin after his cleansing, 36 the priest is to examine him, and if the scaly sore has spread on the skin, the priest need not look for yellow hair. He is unclean. 37 But if in his eyes the scaly sore has remained as it was and black hair has grown in it, the scaly sore is healed; he is clean, and the priest is to pronounce him clean.

38 "When a man or a woman has shiny spots on the skin of the body, white shiny spots, 39 the priest is to examine them, and if the shiny spots on the skin of their bodies are dull white, it is a harmless rash[e] that has broken out on the skin. He is clean.

40 “If a man loses the hair from his head, he is bald, yet he is clean. 41
If his hair falls out from the front of his head, he has a bald forehead, but he is clean. 42 But if on the bald head or the bald forehead there is a reddish-white affliction, it is a defiling skin disease breaking out on his bald head or his bald forehead. 43 The priest is to examine him, and if the swelling of the affliction is reddish-white on his bald head or on his bald forehead, like the appearance of a defiling skin disease on the skin of the body, 44 he is a man with a defiling skin disease. He is unclean. The priest must pronounce him unclean; his affliction is on his head.
45 “The person with the defiling skin disease, who has the affliction, is to wear torn clothes and let the hair of his head hang loose. He is to cover his upper lip[f] and cry out, ‘Unclean, unclean!’ 46 He will be unclean all the days that the affliction is on him. He is unclean. He is to live alone; his dwelling is to be outside the camp.
47 “When there is an affliction of a defiling mold[g] in a garment, whether a woolen or a linen garment, 48 in the warp or in the weft[h] of linen or wool, or in a skin or in anything made of skin, 49 if the affliction is greenish or reddish in the garment, or in the skin, or in the warp or the weft, or in any article made of skin, it is an affliction of a defiling mold, and it is to be shown to the priest. 50 The priest is to examine the affliction and isolate the thing with the affliction for seven days. 51 He is to examine the affliction on the seventh day. If the affliction has spread in the garment, in the warp or the weft, or in the skin, whatever the use of the skin, the affliction is a malignant[i] mold.
It is unclean. 52 He is to burn the garment, or the warp or the weft, whether wool or linen, or any article of skin that has the affliction in it, for it is a malignant mold. It is to be burned in the fire. 53 But if the priest examines it, and the affliction has not spread in the garment, in the warp or the weft, or in any article of skin, 54 then the priest is to command that they wash the thing in which the affliction is, and he is to isolate it for another seven days. 55 Then the priest shall examine it after it has been washed; if the affliction has not changed its color, even though it has not spread, it is unclean; you shall burn it in the fire, whether the eating away is on the inside or on the outside.[j] 56 If the priest examines it and the affliction has faded after it was washed, he shall tear it out of the garment, or the leather, or the warp or woof.

57 But if it still appears in the garment, in warp or woof, or in any leather article, it is breaking out again; whatever has the affliction you shall burn with fire. 58 But the garment, the warp or the weft, or any article of skin from which the affliction has gone after you have washed it, is to be washed a second time, and it will be clean."
59 This is the law for an affliction of a defiling mold in a garment of wool or linen, either in the warp or the weft, or in any article of skin, for pronouncing it clean or unclean.

Notes

- a (13:2) Hebrew nega‘, literally "a touch" or "a stroke," a mark or affliction, often thought of as sent by God (compare 14:34).
- b (13:2) Hebrew tsara‘at, traditionally translated "leprosy." It is not Hansen's disease (modern leprosy): the symptoms described here do not match it, there is no clear evidence of Hansen's disease in the ancient Near East before the time of Alexander the Great, and the same word is used for growths on cloth, leather, and the walls of houses (13:47–59; 14:33–53). It covers a range of scaly or flaking skin conditions, possibly including psoriasis, vitiligo, and fungal infections. The Septuagint's lepra (whence "leprosy") means a scaly condition. This translation renders it "defiling skin disease" on people and "defiling mold" on fabrics and houses, the same Hebrew word in both cases.
- c (13:13) The whitening of the whole body apparently showed that the condition had run its course and was no longer active.
- d (13:30) Hebrew netheq, perhaps from a verb meaning "to tear off," a condition of the scalp or beard, perhaps ringworm or a scaly eczema.
- e (13:39) Hebrew bohaq, a word found only here, perhaps a harmless white rash such as vitiligo or leucoderma.
- f (13:45) Or "his mustache," a sign of mourning (Ezekiel 24:17, 22; Micah 3:7).
- g (13:47) Hebrew tsara‘at, the same word used for the skin disease (see the note at 13:2). On cloth and leather it probably means mold, mildew, or a fungus.
- h (13:48) Or possibly "in the woven or knitted material." The exact meaning of the Hebrew shethi and ‘erev is uncertain.
- i (13:51) Hebrew mam'ereth, "malignant" or "painful," a word found only in 13:51–52 and 14:44.
- j (13:55) Literally "whether in its bald back or its bald front," that is, the worn spots on the inside or outside of the fabric. The Hebrew is uncertain.

Chapter 14

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “This shall be the law of the one with a defiling skin disease on the day of his cleansing: He shall be brought to the priest. 3 The priest is to go out of the camp, and the priest is to examine him. If the affliction of the defiling skin disease has been healed in the afflicted person, 4 the priest is to command that two live clean birds, cedar wood, scarlet yarn, and hyssop[a] be taken for the one who is to be cleansed. 5 The priest is to command that one of the birds be slaughtered in a clay pot over running water.[b] 6 As for the living bird, he shall take it, with the cedar wood and the scarlet yarn and the hyssop, and dip them and the living bird in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water. 7 He shall sprinkle seven times upon the one to be cleansed from the defiling disease, then pronounce him clean, and release the living bird into the open field. 8 The one who is to be cleansed is to wash his clothes, shave off all his hair, and bathe himself in water, and he will be clean. After that he may come into the camp, but he is to live outside his tent seven days. 9 On the seventh day he is to shave off all his hair: his head, his beard, and his eyebrows. He is to shave off all his hair. Then he is to wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and he will be clean.
10 “On the eighth day he is to take two male lambs without defect, one ewe lamb a year old without defect, about 6 quarts[c] of fine flour mixed with oil as a grain offering, and about a third of a quart[d] of oil. 11 The priest who cleanses him is to set the man who is to be cleansed, with these things, before Yahweh at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 12 The priest is to take one of the male lambs and offer it as a guilt offering, with the oil,[e] and wave them as a wave offering before Yahweh. 13 He shall slaughter the lamb where the sin offering and the burnt offering are slaughtered, in the sacred place; for the guilt offering, just like the sin offering, is the priest’s; it is most holy.
14 The priest is to take some of the blood of the guilt offering, and the priest is to put it on the lobe of the right ear of the one who is to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. 15 Then the priest is to take some of the oil and pour it into

in the oil that is in his left palm and sprinkle some oil with his finger seven times before Yahweh. 17 Of the rest of the oil in his palm, the priest is to put some on the lobe of the right ear of the one who is to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot, on top of the blood of the guilt offering. 18 What remains of the oil in the priest's hand he shall put on the head of the one being cleansed; and thus the priest shall make atonement for him before Yahweh. 19 The priest is to offer the sin offering and make atonement for the one who is to be cleansed from his uncleanness. After that he is to slaughter the burnt offering. 20 And the priest shall offer the burnt offering together with the grain offering on the altar, and make atonement for him; then he will be clean.

21 "But if he is poor and cannot afford so much, he is to take one male lamb for a guilt offering to be waved, to make atonement for him, and about 2 quarts[f] of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering, and about a third of a quart of oil, 22 and two turtledoves or two young pigeons, whichever he can afford. One is to be a sin offering and the other a burnt offering. 23 On the eighth day he shall bring them for his cleansing to the priest, at the entrance of the tent of meeting, before Yahweh. 24 The priest is to take the lamb of the guilt offering and the oil, and the priest is to wave them as a wave offering before Yahweh. 25 He is to slaughter the lamb of the guilt offering. The priest is to take some of the blood of the guilt offering and put it on the lobe of the right ear of the one who is to be cleansed, on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot. 26 The priest is to pour some of the oil into the palm of his own left hand, 27 And the priest shall sprinkle with his right finger some of the oil that is in his left hand, seven times before Yahweh. 28 And the priest shall put some of the oil that is in his hand on the tip of the right ear of him who is to be cleansed, and on the thumb of his right hand, and on the big toe of his right foot, upon the place of the blood of the guilt offering. 29 And the rest of the oil that is in the priest's hand he shall put on the head of him who is to be cleansed, to make atonement for him before Yahweh. 30 He is to offer one of the turtledoves or young pigeons, whichever he can afford, 31 whatever he can afford,[g] one for a sin offering and the other for a burnt offering, together with the grain offering. Thus the priest shall make atonement for the one being cleansed, before Yahweh. 32 This is the law for one who has an affliction of a defiling skin disease, who cannot afford the offerings for his cleansing." 33 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 34 "When you come into the land of Canaan,[h] which I am giving you as a possession, and I put an affliction of a defiling mold in a house in the land of your possession, 35 then the one who owns the house shall come and tell the priest, saying, 'It seems to me that there is something like an affliction in the house.' 36 The priest is to command that they empty the house before the priest goes in to examine the affliction, so that nothing in the house becomes unclean. After that the priest is to go in to examine the house. 37 He is to examine the affliction, and if the affliction in the walls of the house has greenish or reddish depressions[i] that appear lower than the surface of the wall, 38 the priest is to go out of the house to the entrance of the house and shut up the house for seven days. 39 The priest is to come again on the seventh day and examine it. If the affliction has spread in the walls of the house, 40 the priest is to command that they tear out the stones in which the affliction is and throw them outside the city in an unclean place. 41 And he shall have the house scraped on the inside all around, and the plaster they scrape off they shall dump into an unclean place outside the city. 42 Then they shall take other stones and put them in the place of those stones, and he shall take other plaster and plaster the house.

43 "But if the affliction comes again and breaks out in the house, after he has taken out the stones, and after he has scraped the house and after it is plastered, 44 the priest is to come and examine it. If the affliction has spread in the house, it is a malignant mold in the house. It is unclean. 45 He shall tear down the house—its stones, its timber, and all its plaster—and carry them outside the city to an unclean place. 46 Moreover, whoever goes into the house while it is shut up will be unclean until evening. 47 And he who lies down in the house shall wash his clothes, and he who eats in the house shall wash his clothes.
48 "But if the priest comes in and examines it, and the affliction has not spread in the house after the house was replastered, the priest is to pronounce the house clean, because the affliction is healed. [49] To cleanse the house he is to take two birds, cedar wood, scarlet yarn, and hyssop. [50] And he shall kill one of the birds in an earthen vessel over running water. [51] He is to take the cedar wood, the hyssop, the scarlet yarn, and the live bird, and dip them in the blood of the slaughtered bird and in the running water, and sprinkle the house seven times. [52] So he is to cleanse the house with the blood of the bird and with the running water, with the live bird, the cedar wood, the hyssop, and the scarlet yarn. [53] But the living bird he shall release outside the city into the open field, and so he shall make atonement for the house; and it will be clean."

[54] This is the law for every affliction of a defiling skin disease, for a scaly sore, [55] for a defiling mold in a garment or in a house, [56] for a swelling, for a scab, and for a shiny spot, [57] to teach when it is unclean and when it is clean. This is the law for defiling diseases.

Notes

- a (14:4) Hebrew 'ezov, probably the Syrian hyssop or marjoram (Origanum syriacum), whose bushy stems could be used for sprinkling (Exodus 12:22; Psalm 51:7).
- b (14:5) Literally "living water," fresh water from a spring or stream rather than standing water.
- c (14:10) Hebrew "three-tenths of an ephah," about 6.6 liters. Ancient standards varied.
- d (14:10) Hebrew "one log," a liquid measure found in the Bible only in this chapter (14:10, 12, 15, 21, 24). Later Jewish sources make it about a twelfth of a hin, roughly 0.3 liter; the ancient value is uncertain. The Septuagint reads kotyle, "a small cup."
- e (14:12) Hebrew "with the log of oil"; so also in verses 15 and 24, the oil measured out in verse 10.
- f (14:21) Hebrew "one-tenth of an ephah," about 2.2 liters.
- g (14:31) The Septuagint lacks "such as he can afford" at the start of this verse; the Hebrew repeats the phrase from verse 30.
- h (14:34) The name Canaan is of uncertain meaning; it may be related to a word for purple dye (compare Genesis 9:18).
- i (14:37) Hebrew sheqaʿaruroth, a word found only here, perhaps "depressions" or "streaks."

Chapter 15

[1] Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, [2] "Speak to the Israelites and tell them: Any man who has a discharge from his body,[a] that discharge is unclean. 3 This is his uncleanness in his discharge: whether his body runs with his discharge or his body is blocked from his discharge, it is his uncleanness.[b] 4 Every bed on which the one with the discharge lies will be unclean, and everything on which he sits will be unclean. 5 Anyone who touches his bed is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 6 Anyone who sits on something upon which the man with the discharge sat shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening. 7 Whoever touches the body of the one with the discharge is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening.

8 If the one with the discharge spits on someone who is clean, that person is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 9 Any saddle that the one with the discharge rides on will be unclean. 10 Anyone who touches anything that was under him shall be unclean until the evening; whoever picks up such things shall launder his clothes, bathe in water, and be unclean until the evening.
11 Anyone whom the one with the discharge touches without having rinsed his hands in water is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 12 A clay pot that the one with the discharge touches is to be broken, and every wooden article is to be rinsed in water.
13 "When the man with the discharge is cleansed of it, he shall count off seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes and bathe his body in fresh running water, and he shall be clean. 14 On the eighth day he is to take two turtledoves or two young pigeons and come before Yahweh to the entrance of the tent of meeting and give them to the priest. 15 The priest is to offer them, one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering. So the priest is to make atonement for him before Yahweh for his discharge.
16 "When a man has an emission of semen, he is to bathe his whole body in water and be unclean until evening. 17 Every garment and every skin on which there is semen is to be washed with water and be unclean until evening. 18 When a man lies with a woman and has an emission of semen, both of them are to bathe in water and be unclean until evening.

19 “When a woman has a discharge, the discharge from her body being blood, she shall be in her monthly impurity for seven days, and anyone who touches her shall be unclean until the evening. 20 Everything on which she lies during her menstrual impurity will be unclean, and everything on which she sits will be unclean. 21 Whoever touches her bed is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 22 Whoever touches anything on which she sits is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 23 Whether it is on the bed or on whatever she was sitting upon, whoever touches it shall be unclean until the evening. 24 If any man lies with her and her menstrual impurity comes on him, he will be unclean seven days, and every bed on which he lies will be unclean.
25 “When a woman has a flow of blood for many days outside the time of her monthly impurity, or if it continues beyond that time, she shall be unclean all the days of her unclean discharge, as in the days of her impurity.[c] 26 Every bed on which she lies all the days of her discharge is to be to her like the bed of her impurity, and everything on which she sits will be unclean, like the uncleanness of her impurity. 27 Whoever touches these things will be unclean and is to wash his clothes and bathe in water and be unclean until evening. 28 But if she is cleansed of her discharge, she is to count for herself seven days, and after that she will be clean. 29 On the eighth day she shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons for herself and bring them to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 30 Then the priest shall offer the one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering, and the priest shall make atonement for her before Yahweh for the discharge of her uncleanness.
31 “So you are to keep the Israelites separate from their uncleanness, so that they do not die in their uncleanness by defiling my tabernacle that is among them.” 32 This is the law for the man with a discharge, and for him whose semen goes out from him so that he is made unclean by it; 33 also for the woman who is sick with her monthly impurity, for anyone, male or female, with a discharge, and for a man who lies with an unclean woman.

Notes

- a (15:2) Literally "from his flesh," a euphemism for the genitals. The discharge is probably an abnormal one, such as from gonorrhea or another infection, not a normal emission (verse 16).
- b (15:3) The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and a Dead Sea Scroll of Leviticus in paleo-Hebrew script (11QpaleoLev-a) add "all the days of the discharge of his body, whether his body runs with his discharge or is blocked by it." The Masoretic Text may have lost the words by a scribe's eye skipping between the similar phrases.
- c (15:25) Compare the woman who had suffered from bleeding for twelve years (Mark 5:25–34).

Chapter 16

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they came near before Yahweh and died.[a] 2 Yahweh said to Moses, "Tell your brother Aaron not to come at all times into the holy place within the veil, before the mercy seat[b] that is upon the ark, lest he die; for I will appear in the cloud above the mercy seat. 3 This is how Aaron is to come into the Holy Place: with a young bull for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering. 4 He shall put on the holy linen coat, with linen breeches upon his body; he shall be girded with the linen sash and wear the linen turban. Holy garments are these; so he shall bathe his body in water and then put them on. 5 And from the congregation of the Israelites he shall take two male goats for a sin offering, and one ram for a burnt offering.
6 "Aaron is to offer the bull as a sin offering for himself and make atonement for himself and for his house. 7 Then he is to take the two goats and set them before Yahweh at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 8 Aaron is to cast lots over the two goats, one lot for Yahweh and the other lot for Azazel.[c] 9 Aaron is to present the goat on which the lot for Yahweh fell and offer it as a sin offering. 10 But the goat on which the lot for Azazel fell is to be set alive before Yahweh, to make atonement over it,[d] to send it away into the wilderness to Azazel.
11 "Aaron shall bring the bull of the sin offering that is for himself, and make atonement for himself and his household; he shall slaughter the bull of the sin offering that is for himself. 12 He shall take a censer full of burning coals from the altar before Yahweh, and a double handful of sweet incense beaten small, and bring it within the veil. 13 He shall put the incense on the fire before Yahweh, so the incense cloud will veil the mercy seat above the testimony,[e] and he will not die. 14 He is to take some of the blood of the bull and sprinkle it with his finger on the front of the atonement cover,[f] and before the atonement cover he is to sprinkle some of the blood with his finger seven times.

15 "Then he shall slaughter the goat of the sin offering for the people and bring its blood inside the veil; and just as he did with the bull's blood, he shall do with this blood, sprinkling it upon the mercy seat and before the mercy seat. 16 Thus he shall make atonement for the holy place, on account of the uncleannesses of the Israelites and their rebellions, whatever their sins; and so he shall do for the tent of meeting, which remains among them in the midst of their uncleannessnesses. 17 No one is to be in the tent of meeting from the time he goes in to make atonement in the Holy Place until he comes out and has made atonement for himself, for his house, and for all the assembly of Israel. 18 Then he is to go out to the altar that is before Yahweh and make atonement for it. He is to take some of the blood of the bull and some of the blood of the goat and put it on the horns of the altar all around. 19 He is to sprinkle some of the blood on it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it and consecrate it from the uncleannesses of the Israelites.
20 "When he has finished making atonement for the Holy Place, the tent of meeting, and the altar, he is to present the live goat. 21 Aaron shall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess over it all the iniquities of the Israelites and all their rebellions, whatever their sins, putting them upon the goat's head; then by the hand of a man appointed for the purpose he shall send it away into the wilderness.[g] 22 The goat will carry on itself all their iniquities to a remote land,[h] and he is to let the goat go free in the wilderness.
23 "Then Aaron shall come into the tent of meeting, and shall take off the linen garments which he put on when he went into the holy place, and shall leave them there. 24 He is to bathe his body in water in a holy place and put on his garments, and come out and offer his burnt offering and the burnt offering of the people, and make atonement for himself and for the people. 25 The fat of the sin offering he is to burn on the altar. 26 The one who let the goat go to Azazel is to wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and after that he may come into the camp. 27 The bull of the sin offering and the goat of the sin offering, whose blood was brought in to make atonement in the Holy Place, are to be carried outside the camp. Their hides, their flesh, and their dung are to be burned with fire. 28 The one who burns them is to wash his clothes and bathe his body in water, and after that he may come into the camp.

29 "This is to be a statute forever for you: in the seventh month (in September–October),[i] on the tenth day of the month, you are to humble yourselves[j] and do no work at all, whether the native-born or the foreigner who resides among you. 30 For on this day atonement will be made for you, to cleanse you. From all your sins you will be clean before Yahweh. 31 It is a Sabbath of complete rest[k] for you, and you are to humble yourselves. It is a statute forever. 32 The priest who is anointed and installed to serve as priest in place of his father shall make the atonement, wearing the linen garments, the holy garments; 33 he shall make atonement for the holy sanctuary,[l] and he shall make atonement for the tent of meeting and for the altar, and he shall make atonement for the priests and for all the people of the assembly. 34 And this shall be an everlasting statute for you, that atonement be made for the Israelites once every year for all their sins." And as Yahweh commanded Moses, so he did.[m]

Notes

- a (16:1) The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint read "when they offered strange fire before Yahweh and died," recalling 10:1–2.
- b (16:2) Hebrew kapporeth, from the same root as kipper, "to atone." The traditional "mercy seat" comes from the German of Martin Luther by way of William Tyndale. See the note at Exodus 25:17.
- c (16:8) Hebrew laʿaza'zel, "for Azazel," a word found only in this chapter (verses 8, 10, 26). Its meaning is much debated. (1) A proper name, perhaps of a wilderness demon, matching "for Yahweh" in the same verse; 1 Enoch 8–10 makes Azazel the leader of fallen angels. (2) "The goat that departs," from ʿez, "goat," and 'azal, "go away," the source of the traditional English "scapegoat" (from Tyndale) and close to the Septuagint's apopompaios, "the one sent away," and the Vulgate's caper emissarius. (3) A place name, "a rugged cliff" or "precipice," as in some rabbinic tradition. (4) An abstract noun meaning "complete removal." The name is kept here as it stands in the Hebrew. In no reading is the goat a sacrifice offered to Azazel; it carries Israel's sins away (verses 21–22).

- d (16:10) Or "to make atonement with it," or "to perform purification on it." The precise sense of kipper here is debated, since the goat is not slaughtered.
- e (16:13) The tablets of the covenant inside the ark (Exodus 25:16, 21).
- f (16:14) Literally "on the face of the atonement cover eastward."
- g (16:21) Hebrew 'itti, a word found only here, perhaps "appointed" or "standing ready." The Septuagint reads "a man ready at hand."
- h (16:22) Hebrew gezerah, literally "cut off," a land from which there is no return.
- i (16:29) Hebrew "in the seventh month," counted from the spring new year of Israel's religious calendar (Exodus 12:2). Because the Hebrew months were lunar, the seventh month (later called Tishri) fell in September–October. This tenth day became Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement (23:26–32).
- j (16:29) Literally "afflict your souls," understood in Jewish tradition as fasting and other self-denial (compare Psalm 35:13; Isaiah 58:3, 5; Acts 27:9, "the Fast").
- k (16:31) Hebrew shabbath shabbathon, a rest of the highest degree.
- l (16:33) Literally "the holy sanctuary."
- m (16:34) Hebrew "and he did," that is, Aaron carried out these instructions when the day came. The Septuagint reads "it shall be done once in the year, as the Lord commanded Moses." Hebrews 9:6–14, 24–28 interprets this day in light of Christ.

Chapter 17

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons and to all the Israelites and say to them, This is what Yahweh has commanded: 3 "Any man of the house of Israel who kills an ox, or a lamb, or a goat, either within the camp or outside it, 4 and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting[a] to offer it as an offering to Yahweh before the tabernacle of Yahweh, bloodguilt will be counted against that man. He has shed blood, and that man will be cut off from among his people. 5 This is so that the Israelites may bring to Yahweh the sacrifices they now make in the open field—bringing them to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and offering them as peace offerings to Yahweh. 6 The priest is to splash the blood against the altar of Yahweh at the entrance of the tent of meeting and burn the fat as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 7 So they will no longer sacrifice their sacrifices to the goat demons,[b] after whom they prostitute themselves. This is to be a statute forever for them throughout their generations.

8 “And you are to say to them, Any man of the house of Israel, or of the foreigners who reside among them, who offers a burnt offering or sacrifice 9 and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to offer it to Yahweh, that man will be cut off from his people.
10 “If any man of the house of Israel or of the foreigners who reside among them eats any blood, I will set my face against that person who eats blood and will cut him off from among his people. 11 For the life[c] of the flesh is in the blood; and I have given it to you upon the altar to make atonement for your souls, for the blood makes atonement by reason of the life within it.[d] 12 Therefore I said to the Israelites, ‘None of you shall eat blood, nor shall any stranger who lives among you eat blood.’ 13 Any man of the Israelites, or of the foreigners who reside among them, who hunts and catches a wild animal or a bird that may be eaten is to pour out its blood and cover it with dust. 14 For the life of every creature is its blood; its blood is its very life;[e] therefore I told the Israelites, ‘You shall eat the blood of no creature, for the life of every creature is its blood; whoever eats it shall be cut off.’ 15 “And every person, whether native or stranger, who eats an animal that died of itself or was torn by wild beasts shall wash his clothes, bathe himself in water, and remain unclean until the evening; then he shall be clean. 16 But if he does not wash them or bathe his body, he will bear his iniquity.”

Notes

- a (17:4) The Septuagint, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and a Dead Sea Scroll of Leviticus (4QLev-d) add here “to make it a burnt offering or a peace offering to Yahweh, to be accepted as a pleasing aroma, and slaughters it outside, and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting.” Another scroll, 11QpaleoLev-a, has the shorter text of the Masoretic Text, which is followed here.
- b (17:7) Hebrew se‘irim, literally “hairy ones” or “goats,” here goat-like demons or idols thought to live in the wilderness (Isaiah 13:21; 34:14; 2 Chronicles 11:15). The Septuagint reads “vain things” (idols).
- c (17:11) Hebrew nephesh, “soul,” “life,” or “person”; so throughout verses 11–14.
- d (17:11) Or “makes atonement for the life” or “as a life” (in place of the life). The Hebrew bannephesh can be read “by means of the life” or “in exchange for the life.” Compare Hebrews 9:22.
- e (17:14) The Hebrew of this phrase is difficult, literally “its blood is in its life.”

Chapter 18

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Speak to the Israelites and say to them, I am Yahweh your God. 3 You must not do as they do in the land of Egypt, where you lived, and you must not do as they do in the land of Canaan, where I am bringing you. You must not walk in their statutes. 4 You are to do my judgments and keep my statutes, walking in them. I am Yahweh your God. 5 You are to keep my statutes and my judgments; the person who does them will live by them.[a] I am Yahweh.

6 “None of you is to approach any close relative[b] to uncover nakedness.[c] I am Yahweh. 7 You shall not uncover your father’s nakedness, that is, the nakedness of your mother; she is your mother, and you shall not uncover her nakedness. 8 You must not uncover the nakedness of your father’s wife; it is your father’s nakedness. 9 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your sister, whether your father’s daughter or your mother’s daughter, born in the house or born elsewhere. 10 You must not uncover the nakedness of your son’s daughter or your daughter’s daughter, for their nakedness is your own nakedness. 11 The nakedness of the daughter of your father’s wife, who was born to your father, is your sister’s nakedness; you shall not uncover it. 12 You must not uncover the nakedness of your father’s sister; she is your father’s close relative. 13 You must not uncover the nakedness of your mother’s sister, for she is your mother’s close relative. 14 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s brother, nor shall you go near his wife; she is your aunt. 15 You must not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law. She is your son’s wife; you must not uncover her nakedness. 16 You must not uncover the nakedness of your brother’s wife; it is your brother’s nakedness.[d] 17 You must not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter. You must not take her son’s daughter or her daughter’s daughter to uncover her nakedness. They are close relatives; it is depravity.[e] 18 You must not take a woman as a rival wife to her sister, to uncover her nakedness while her sister is still alive.[f]

19 “You must not approach a woman to uncover her nakedness while she is unclean in her menstrual impurity. 20 You must not lie carnally with your neighbor's wife, to become unclean with her. 21 You must not give any of your offspring to make them pass through[g] to Molech,[h] and so profane the name of your God. I am Yahweh. 22 You must not lie with a male as one lies with a woman; it is an abomination.[i] 23 You must not lie with any animal to become unclean with it, and a woman must not stand before an animal to mate with it; it is a perversion.[j]

24 "Do not defile yourselves by any of these things; for by all of them the nations that I am driving out before you have defiled themselves. 25 The land became unclean, so I punished its iniquity upon it, and the land vomited out its inhabitants. 26 But you are to keep my statutes and my judgments and not do any of these abominations, neither the native-born nor the foreigner who resides among you 27 (for the men of the land, who were there before you, practiced all these abominations, and the land became defiled),[k] 28 lest the land vomit you out also, when you defile it, as it vomited out the nation that was before you. 29 For whoever does any of these abominations, those who do so shall be cut off from among their people. 30 So keep my charge, not doing any of the abominable customs that were done before you, and do not make yourselves unclean by them. I am Yahweh your God."

Notes

- a (18:5) Quoted in Nehemiah 9:29; Ezekiel 20:11; Romans 10:5; Galatians 3:12.
- b (18:6) Literally "flesh of his flesh."
- c (18:6) "Uncover nakedness" is a Hebrew idiom for sexual relations; so throughout this chapter.
- d (18:16) Compare the duty of levirate marriage in Deuteronomy 25:5–10, which applies when the brother has died without a son.
- e (18:17) Hebrew zimmah, a deliberate, shameful wickedness.
- f (18:18) The Hebrew can also be read as banning taking a second wife in general ("a woman in addition to another"), as the Damascus Document of Qumran understood it, but the usual sense is a sister.
- g (18:21) Hebrew leha'abir, "to make pass over," often understood as passing children through fire (2 Kings 23:10) as child sacrifice. The Septuagint reads "to serve a ruler."
- h (18:21) Hebrew molek, probably a deity to whom children were sacrificed, though some scholars take it as the name of a kind of sacrifice. The vowels may be those of bosheth, "shame," added to the consonants of melek, "king." The Septuagint here reads archon, "ruler," and elsewhere (20:2) Moloch.

- i (18:22) Hebrew to'evah, something detestable or abhorrent; so in verses 26–30.
- j (18:23) Hebrew tevel, "confusion," a mixing of what should be kept apart.
- k (18:27) A Dead Sea Scroll of Leviticus (11QpaleoLev-a) sets this verse off with marks resembling parentheses, as this translation also does.

Chapter 19

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the whole congregation of the Israelites and tell them: Holy you shall be, for I, Yahweh your God, am holy.[a] 3 Each of you is to revere his mother and his father, and you are to keep my Sabbaths. I am Yahweh your God. 4 Do not turn to worthless idols[b] or make for yourselves gods of cast metal. I am Yahweh your God.
5 "When you sacrifice a sacrifice of peace offerings to Yahweh, sacrifice it so that you are accepted. 6 It shall be eaten the same day you offer it, or on the next day; and anything left until the third day shall be burned in the fire. 7 If it is eaten at all on the third day, it is a foul thing;[c] it will not be accepted. 8 Whoever eats it will bear his iniquity, because he has profaned what is holy to Yahweh, and that person will be cut off from his people.
9 "When you reap the harvest of your land, you must not reap to the very edge of your field, and you must not gather the gleanings of your harvest. 10 And you shall not glean your vineyard, nor gather the fallen fruit of your vineyard; you shall leave them for the poor and the stranger: I am Yahweh your God.
11 "You must not steal, you must not deceive, and you must not lie to one another. 12 You shall not swear falsely by my name, so profaning the name of your God: I am Yahweh.
13 "You must not oppress your neighbor or rob him. The wages of a hired worker must not remain with you all night until morning. 14 You shall not curse the deaf, nor put a stumbling block in the path of the blind, but you shall fear your God: I am Yahweh.
15 "You must not do injustice in judgment. You must not show partiality to the poor or defer to the great. In righteousness you are to judge your neighbor. 16 You must not go around as a slanderer among your people. You must not stand against the blood[d] of your neighbor. I am Yahweh.

17 “You must not hate your brother in your heart. You are to reprove your neighbor plainly, so that you do not bear sin because of him.[e] 18 You shall not take revenge, nor hold a grudge against your people’s children, but you shall love your neighbor as yourself:[f] I am Yahweh.
19 “You are to keep my statutes. You must not let your livestock breed with another kind. You must not sow your field with two kinds of seed, nor put on a garment made of two kinds of material.[g] 20 “If a man lies sexually with a woman who is a slave, promised to another man[h] and not yet ransomed or given her freedom, there shall be punishment.[i] They shall not be put to death, since she was not free. 21 He is to bring his guilt offering to Yahweh, to the entrance of the tent of meeting, a ram as a guilt offering. 22 The priest is to make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before Yahweh for his sin that he has committed, and he will be forgiven for the sin that he has committed.
23 “When you enter the land and plant fruit trees of any kind, you shall regard their fruit as uncircumcised.[j] For three years it shall be uncircumcised to you; it must not be eaten. 24 In the fourth year all its fruit is to be holy, an offering of praise to Yahweh. 25 But in the fifth year you may eat its fruit, so that it may increase its yield for you. I am Yahweh your God.
26 “You must not eat anything with the blood.[k] You must not practice divination or soothsaying.[l] 27 You must not cut off the hair at the sides of your head or mar the edges of your beard. 28 You must not make any cuts in your flesh for the dead or put tattoo marks on yourselves.
I am Yahweh.
29 Do not profane your daughter by making her a harlot, or the land will fall into harlotry and be filled with wickedness. 30 You are to keep my Sabbaths and revere my sanctuary. I am Yahweh.
31 “Do not turn to mediums or to spiritists;[m] do not seek them out to be made unclean by them. I am Yahweh your God.
32 “You are to rise up before the gray head and honor the face of an old man, and you are to fear your God. I am Yahweh.
33 “When a foreigner resides with you in your land, you must not mistreat him. 34 The foreigner who resides with you is to be to you like the native-born among you, and you are to love him as yourself, for you were foreigners in the land of Egypt. I am Yahweh your God.

35 "You must not do injustice in judgment, in measurement of length, weight, or quantity. 36 You are to have honest scales, honest weights, an honest dry measure, and an honest liquid measure.[n] I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt. 37 You are to keep all my statutes and all my judgments and do them. I am Yahweh."

Notes

- a (19:2) Quoted in 1 Peter 1:16.
- b (19:4) Hebrew 'elilim, "nothings" or "worthless things," a scornful word for idols that sounds like 'elohim, "gods."
- c (19:7) Hebrew piggul, meat that has become ritually offensive; see the note at 7:18.
- d (19:16) That is, do nothing that endangers your neighbor's life, whether by false testimony or by standing idle. The Hebrew is difficult.
- e (19:17) Or "so that you do not incur sin on his account" (by letting him go on in it).
- f (19:18) Quoted by Jesus as the second great commandment (Matthew 22:39; Mark 12:31; Luke 10:27), and in Romans 13:9; Galatians 5:14; James 2:8.
- g (19:19) Hebrew sha'atnez, a word of uncertain, perhaps foreign, origin; Deuteronomy 22:11 explains it as wool and linen together.
- h (19:20) Or "betrothed to another man." The Hebrew neḥerepheth occurs only here.
- i (19:20) Hebrew biqqoreth, found only here; perhaps "an inquiry," "compensation," or "punishment." The Septuagint reads "they shall be visited with punishment."
- j (19:23) Literally "you are to regard its foreskin as its foreskin," that is, as uncircumcised; so later in the verse.
- k (19:26) Or "over the blood," perhaps a rite at the place of slaughter. The Septuagint reads "on the mountains."
- l (19:26) Two kinds of forbidden divination; the exact practices are uncertain.
- m (19:31) Hebrew 'oboth and yidde'onim, those who consult the spirits of the dead and those who claim special knowledge. The exact meanings are uncertain.
- n (19:36) Hebrew "an honest ephah and an honest hin." The ephah was a dry measure of about 3/5 bushel (about 22 liters), and the hin a liquid measure of about 1 gallon (about 3.7 liters). Both stand here for all measures of volume.

Chapter 20

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Say to the Israelites, Any man of the Israelites, or of the foreigners who reside in Israel, who gives any of his offspring to Molech[a] is surely to be put to death. The people of the land are to stone him with stones. 3 I myself will set my face against that man and cut him off from among his people, because he has given some of his offspring to Molech, to make my sanctuary unclean and to profane my holy name. 4 "And if the people of the land should shut their eyes to that man who gives one of his children to Molech, and do not kill him, 5 then I myself will set my face against that man and his clan, and I will cut off from among their people both him and everyone who goes whoring after him to play the harlot with Molech.

6 "The person who turns to mediums and spiritists, to prostitute himself after them, I will set my face against that person and cut him off from among his people. 7 Consecrate yourselves, then, and be holy, for I am Yahweh your God. 8 Keep my statutes and do them. I am Yahweh who makes you holy.
9 "For anyone who curses his father or his mother shall surely be put to death; he has cursed his father or his mother, and his blood shall be upon him.[b] 10 "If a man commits adultery with the wife of a man, if he commits adultery with the wife of his neighbor,[c] both the adulterer and the adulteress are surely to be put to death. 11 If a man lies with his father's wife, he has uncovered his father's nakedness. Both of them are surely to be put to death; their blood is on them. 12 If a man lies with his daughter-in-law, both of them are surely to be put to death. They have committed a perversion; their blood is on them. 13 If a man lies with a male as one lies with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination. They are surely to be put to death; their blood is on them. 14 If a man takes a woman and her mother, it is depravity. He and they are to be burned with fire, so that there is no depravity among you. 15 If a man lies with a beast, he shall surely be put to death, and you shall slay the beast. 16 If a woman approaches any animal to mate with it, you are to kill the woman and the animal. They are surely to be put to death; their blood is on them.
17 "If a man takes his sister, his father's daughter or his mother's daughter, and sees her nakedness and she sees his nakedness, it is a disgrace,[d] and they are to be cut off in the sight of the children of their people. He has uncovered his sister's nakedness; he will bear his iniquity. 18 If a man lies with a woman while she is sick and uncovers her nakedness, he has exposed her fountain, and she has uncovered the fountain of her blood; both of them shall be cut off from among their people. 19 You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother's sister, nor of your father's sister, for that is to expose a near relative; they shall bear their guilt. 20 If a man lies with his uncle's wife, he has uncovered his uncle's nakedness; they shall bear their sin, and shall die without children. 21 If a man takes his brother's wife, it is impurity.[e] He has uncovered his brother's nakedness; they will be childless.

22 "You are to keep all my statutes and all my judgments and do them, so that the land where I am bringing you to live does not vomit you out. 23 You must not walk in the statutes of the nation that I am driving out before you, for they did all these things, and I loathed them. 24 But I have said to you, You will possess their land, and I will give it to you to possess, a land flowing with milk and honey. I am Yahweh your God, who has set you apart from the peoples. 25 You shall therefore make a distinction between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean birds and clean; and you shall not make yourselves abominable by beast or by bird, or by anything with which the ground teems, which I have separated from you as unclean. 26 You are to be holy to me, for I, Yahweh, am holy, and I have set you apart from the peoples to be mine.

27 "A man or a woman who is a medium or a spiritist[f] is surely to be put to death. They are to stone them with stones; their blood is on them."

Notes

- a (20:2) See the note at 18:21. Here the Septuagint reads Moloch.
- b (20:9) That is, he is responsible for his own death; so throughout this chapter.
- c (20:10) The repeated clause is often taken as an accidental duplication in copying. The Septuagint reads "Whoever commits adultery with the wife of a man, or whoever commits adultery with the wife of his neighbor."
- d (20:17) Hebrew ḥesed, usually "steadfast love," here in a rare negative sense, "shame."
- e (20:21) Hebrew niddah, the word used for menstrual impurity.
- f (20:27) Literally "in whom there is a medium ('ov) or a spirit of knowing." See the note at 19:31.

Chapter 21

1 Yahweh said to Moses, "Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and say to them, No one is to make himself unclean for a dead person among his people, 2 except for his close relatives:[a] his mother, his father, his son, his daughter, his brother, 3 also for his virgin sister who is near him, who has had no husband; for her he may defile himself. 4 He shall not defile himself as a chief man among his people, profaning himself.[b] 5 They must not make bald spots on their heads, or shave off the edges of their beards, or make any cuts in their flesh. 6 They shall be holy to their God and not profane their God's name; for they present Yahweh's fire offerings, the bread[c] of their God, and so they shall be holy. 7 They must not marry a woman who is a prostitute or who has been defiled,[d] nor marry a woman divorced from her husband, for the priest is holy to his God. 8 You shall sanctify him, therefore, for he offers the bread of your God; he shall be holy to you, for I, Yahweh, who sanctify you, am holy. 9 If the daughter of any priest profanes herself by prostitution, she profanes her father; she is to be burned with fire.

10 "The priest who is greatest among his brothers, on whose head the anointing oil has been poured and who has been ordained to wear the garments, must not let the hair of his head hang loose or tear his clothes. 11 He must not go in to any dead body or make himself unclean even for his father or his mother. 12 nor shall he go out of the sanctuary, nor profane the sanctuary of his God; for the crown of the anointing oil of his God is upon him: I am Yahweh. 13 He is to take a wife in her virginity. 14 A widow, a divorced woman, or one who has been defiled as a prostitute, these he must not marry. He is to take as his wife a virgin from his own people, 15 so that he does not profane his offspring among his people, for I am Yahweh who makes him holy."

16 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 17 "Speak to Aaron and say, None of your offspring throughout their generations who has a defect may approach to offer the food of his God. 18 For any man who has a blemish shall not draw near: a blind man, or a lame man, or one who has a flat nose,[e] or any limb too long, 19 or a man who has a fractured foot or fractured hand, 20 or is a hunchback or a dwarf,[f] or has a spot in his eye, or eczema or scabs, or crushed testicles. 21 No man among the descendants of Aaron the priest who has a blemish may approach to offer Yahweh's fire offerings; because he has a blemish, he may not draw near to offer the bread of his God. 22 He may eat the food of his God, both of the most holy and of the holy things, 23 but he must not go in to the veil or approach the altar, because he has a defect, so that he does not profane my holy places,[g] for I am Yahweh who makes them holy." 24 So Moses spoke to Aaron and to his sons and to all the Israelites.

Notes

- a (21:2) Literally "his flesh who is near to him."
- b (21:4) The Hebrew is difficult, literally "a husband (or master) must not make himself unclean among his people." It may mean that a priest must not defile himself for the relatives of his wife, or that as a leader among his people he must not defile himself. The Septuagint reads "He shall not defile himself suddenly among his people."
- c (21:6) Literally "bread"; so throughout this chapter and the next.
- d (21:7) Or "a woman who has been violated." The Hebrew ḥalalah means "profaned."
- e (21:18) Hebrew ḥarum, perhaps "with a split nose" or a similar facial deformity; the meaning is uncertain.
- f (21:20) Or "emaciated." The meanings of several terms in this verse are uncertain.
- g (21:23) Or "my sanctuaries." The Septuagint reads "the sanctuary of his God."

Chapter 22

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons, so that they keep themselves apart[a] from the holy things of the Israelites, which they consecrate to me, and do not profane my holy name. I am Yahweh. 3 Say to them, If any man among all your offspring throughout your generations approaches the holy things that the Israelites consecrate to Yahweh while he has his uncleanness on him, that person will be cut off from my presence. I am Yahweh. 4 Any man among Aaron's descendants who has a defiling skin disease[b] or a discharge may not eat the holy offerings until he is clean. Also whoever touches anything defiled by a corpse, or a man who has an emission of semen, 5 or a man who touches any swarming thing by which he is made unclean, or a person by whom he is made unclean, whatever his uncleanness may be, 6 the person who touches any such thing will be unclean until evening and must not eat of the holy things unless he has bathed his body in water. 7 When the sun is down he becomes clean, and then he may eat of the holy offerings, for it is his food. 8 He must not eat what dies by itself or what is torn by beasts, becoming unclean by it. I am Yahweh. 9 They are to keep my charge, so that they do not bear sin for it and die by it when they profane it. I am Yahweh who makes them holy.

10 "No outsider[c] may eat a holy thing. A priest's guest or a hired worker may not eat a holy thing. 11 But if a priest buys a person with his money, that one may eat of it, and those born in his house may eat of his food. 12 If a priest's daughter marries a layman, she may not eat of the contribution of the holy gifts. 13 But if a priest's daughter is a widow or divorced, and has no children, and returns to her father's house as in her youth, she may eat her father's food; yet no layman shall eat it. 14 If a man eats a holy thing unintentionally, he is to add a fifth of its value to it and give the holy thing to the priest. 15 The priests must not profane the holy things of the Israelites that they contribute to Yahweh, 16 and so cause them to bear iniquity requiring a guilt offering[d] when they eat their holy things, for I am Yahweh who makes them holy."
17 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 18 "Speak to Aaron and to his sons and to all the Israelites and say to them, Any man of the house of Israel, or of the foreigners in Israel, who presents his offering, whether for any of their vows or any of their freewill offerings that they present to Yahweh as a burnt offering, 19 for you to be accepted, it shall be a male without blemish, of the cattle, of the sheep, or of the goats. 20 You must not present anything that has a defect, for it will not be accepted for you. 21 And whoever offers a sacrifice of peace offerings to Yahweh to fulfill a vow[e] or as a freewill offering, from the herd or from the flock, shall offer it without blemish to be accepted; there shall be no blemish in it. 22 Anything blind, broken, or maimed, or having a running sore, scurvy, or scabs, you shall not offer to Yahweh, nor make any of them a fire offering on the altar to Yahweh. 23 You may offer as a freewill offering an ox or a lamb that has an extra or a stunted limb,[f] but for a vow it shall not be accepted. 24 Anything with its testicles bruised, crushed, torn, or cut you must not present to Yahweh; you must not do this in your land. 25 Nor may you present any of these as the food of your God from the hand of a foreigner. Because their corruption is in them, there is a defect in them; they will not be accepted for you."

26 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 27 "When an ox or a sheep or a goat is born, it is to remain seven days with its mother, and from the eighth day on it will be accepted as an offering by fire to Yahweh. 28 But whether it is an ox or a sheep, you must not slaughter it and its young on the same day. 29 When you sacrifice a sacrifice of thanksgiving to Yahweh, sacrifice it so that you are accepted. 30 It must be eaten the very same day; you shall not leave any of it until morning: I am Yahweh.
31 "So you are to keep my commandments and do them. I am Yahweh. 32 You must not profane my holy name, so that I may be treated as holy among the Israelites. I am Yahweh who makes you holy, 33 who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God. I am Yahweh."

Notes

- a (22:2) Or "deal carefully with." The Hebrew nazar is related to nazir, "Nazirite," one set apart.
- b (22:4) Hebrew tsara'at; see the note at 13:2. The Septuagint reads lepra; the condition is not modern leprosy (Hansen's disease).
- c (22:10) Hebrew zar, "stranger," here anyone who is not of a priestly family.
- d (22:16) Hebrew 'awon 'ashmah, "iniquity of guilt"; see the note on 'asham at 5:6.
- e (22:21) Or "a special vow." The Hebrew lephalle' means "to set apart" or "to make extraordinary."
- f (22:23) Hebrew sarua' weqalut, probably "deformed or stunted." The Septuagint reads "with the ears cut off, or that has lost its tail."

Chapter 23

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them, The appointed feasts[a] of Yahweh that you are to proclaim as holy convocations, these are my appointed feasts.

3 “Six days work may be done, but on the seventh day is a Sabbath of complete rest, a holy convocation. You must not do any work; it is a Sabbath to Yahweh in all your dwellings.
4 “These are the appointed feasts of Yahweh, the holy convocations that you are to proclaim at their appointed times. 5 In the first month (in March–April),[b] on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight,[c] is Yahweh’s Passover.[d] 6 On the fifteenth day of the same month is the Feast of Unleavened Bread to Yahweh. For seven days you are to eat unleavened bread. 7 On the first day you shall hold a holy convocation; you shall do no ordinary work.[e] 8 But you shall present a fire offering to Yahweh for seven days; on the seventh day there is a holy convocation; you shall do no ordinary work.” 9 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 10 “Speak to the Israelites and say to them: When you enter the land which I give you and reap its harvest, then you shall bring the sheaf[f] of the firstfruits of your harvest to the priest. 11 He shall wave the sheaf before Yahweh for your acceptance; on the day after the Sabbath[g] the priest shall wave it. 12 And on the day you wave the sheaf, you shall offer a one-year-old male lamb, perfect and unblemished, as a burnt offering to Yahweh, 13 and its grain offering, about 4 quarts[h] of fine flour mixed with oil, an offering by fire to Yahweh, a pleasing aroma, and its drink offering of wine, about 1 quart.[i] 14 You shall eat neither bread nor roasted grain nor fresh heads until that same day, until you have brought the offering to your God; it shall be a statute forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings.
15 “You are to count for yourselves from the day after the Sabbath, from the day you brought the sheaf of the wave offering, seven full Sabbaths.[j] 16 You are to count fifty days to the day after the seventh Sabbath.[k] Then you are to present a new grain offering to Yahweh. 17
From your dwellings you are to bring two loaves of bread for a wave offering, made of about 4 quarts[l] of fine flour. They are to be baked with leaven, as firstfruits to Yahweh. 18 Along with the bread you shall present seven lambs one year old, perfect and unblemished, one young bull, and two rams; they shall be a burnt offering to Yahweh, with their grain offering and their drink offerings, a fire offering of pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 19 You are to offer one male goat as a sin offering and two male lambs a year old as a sacrifice of peace offerings. 20 The priest is to wave them with the bread of the firstfruits as a wave offering before Yahweh, with the two lambs. They are to be holy to Yahweh for the priest. 21 And on this very day you shall make a proclamation: it shall be a holy convocation for you; you shall do no ordinary work on it. It is a statute forever in all your dwellings throughout your generations.

22 "When you harvest your land, do not reap right up to the corners of your field, and do not collect the gleanings of your harvest; leave them for the poor and the stranger: I am Yahweh your God." 23 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 24 "Speak to the Israelites, saying, In the seventh month (in September–October),[m] on the first day of the month, you are to have a complete rest, a memorial proclaimed with a blast of horns,[n] a holy convocation. 25 You must not do any ordinary work, and you are to present an offering by fire to Yahweh." 26 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 27 "But on the tenth day of this seventh month (in September–October)[o] is the Day of Atonement.[p] It is to be a holy convocation for you. You are to humble yourselves[q] and present an offering by fire to Yahweh. 28 You must not do any work on this very day, for it is a day of atonement, to make atonement for you before Yahweh your God. 29 For any person who does not humble himself on this very day will be cut off from his people. 30 And any person who does any work on this very day, I will destroy that person from among his people. 31 You shall do no work at all; it is a statute forever throughout your generations in all your dwellings. 32 It is to be a Sabbath of complete rest for you, and you are to humble yourselves.
On the ninth day of the month at evening,[r] from evening to evening, you are to keep your Sabbath." 33 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 34 "Speak to the Israelites, saying,
On the fifteenth day of this seventh month (in September–October)[s] is the Feast of Booths[t] for seven days to Yahweh. 35 On the first day is a holy convocation; you must not do any ordinary work. 36 Seven days you shall present fire offerings to Yahweh. The eighth day shall be a holy convocation for you, and you shall present a fire offering to Yahweh; it is a sacred assembly,[u] and you shall do no ordinary work.

37 "These are the appointed feasts of Yahweh that you are to proclaim as holy convocations, for presenting offerings by fire to Yahweh: burnt offerings and grain offerings, sacrifices and drink offerings, each on its own day, 38 besides the Sabbaths of Yahweh, and besides your gifts, besides all your vows, and besides all your freewill offerings that you give to Yahweh.
39 "Also, on the fifteenth day of the seventh month (in September–October),[v] when you have gathered in the produce of the land, you shall keep Yahweh's feast for seven days: the first day is a sabbath-rest, and the eighth day is a sabbath-rest. 40 On the first day you shall take for yourselves the fruit of splendid trees,[w] palm fronds, branches of leafy trees, and willows from the brook; and for seven days you shall rejoice before Yahweh your God. 41 You shall keep this as a feast to Yahweh for seven days each year. This is a perpetual statute for your generations: you shall celebrate it in the seventh month. 42 You are to live in booths for seven days. Every native-born Israelite is to live in booths, 43 that your descendants may know that I had the Israelites dwell in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt: I am Yahweh your God." 44 So Moses declared the appointed feasts of Yahweh to the Israelites.

Notes

- a (23:2) Hebrew moʿadim, "appointed times," the fixed festivals of the year.
- b (23:5) Hebrew "in the first month." The months are counted from the spring new year of Israel's religious calendar (Exodus 12:2). This month was called Abib ("ripe grain," Exodus 13:4) and later Nisan (Esther 3:7). Because the Hebrew months were lunar, with an extra month added in some years, the first month did not match a modern month exactly but fell in March–April.
- c (23:5) Hebrew ben haʿarbayim, literally "between the two evenings," the time between sunset and full dark (or, in later practice, between midafternoon and sunset). See the note at Exodus 12:6.
- d (23:5) Hebrew pesaḥ, from pasaḥ, "to pass over" (Exodus 12:13, 23, 27).
- e (23:7) Literally "work of labor," that is, one's regular occupational work, as distinct from preparing food (compare Exodus 12:16).
- f (23:10) Hebrew ʿomer, a sheaf of grain, here the first sheaf of the barley harvest. Elsewhere the same word is a dry measure (Exodus 16:36).

- g (23:11) Which Sabbath is meant was debated in ancient Judaism. The Pharisees and later rabbis took it as the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread (the Septuagint here reads "the day after the first day"), while the Sadducees and others took it as the weekly Sabbath during the feast, so that the count always began on a Sunday.
- h (23:13) Hebrew "two tenths," that is, two tenths of an ephah, about 4.4 liters.
- i (23:13) Hebrew "a fourth of a hin," about 0.9 liter.
- j (23:15) Or "seven full weeks."
- k (23:16) This day, the Feast of Weeks (Exodus 34:22; Deuteronomy 16:10), is called in Greek Pentecost, "fiftieth" (Acts 2:1).
- l (23:17) Hebrew "two tenths," that is, two tenths of an ephah, about 4.4 liters.
- m (23:24) Hebrew "in the seventh month," counted from the spring new year; later called Tishri (1 Kings 8:2 calls it Ethanim). Because the Hebrew months were lunar, it fell in September–October. In later Judaism this first day became Rosh Hashanah, the civil New Year.
- n (23:24) Hebrew teruʿah, a shout or blast, usually understood as the sounding of the shofar (ram's horn). The Septuagint reads "a memorial of trumpets."
- o (23:27) Hebrew "the tenth day of this seventh month" (Tishri); see the note at verse 24.
- p (23:27) Hebrew yom hakkippurim, "day of atonements," Yom Kippur. See chapter 16.
- q (23:27) Literally "afflict your souls"; see the note at 16:29. So in verses 29 and 32.
- r (23:32) Since the Hebrew day began at sunset, the observance runs from the evening that ends the ninth day to the evening of the tenth.
- s (23:34) Hebrew "the fifteenth day of this seventh month" (Tishri); see the note at verse 24.
- t (23:34) Hebrew sukkoth, "booths" or "huts," temporary shelters of branches. Traditionally the Feast of Tabernacles.
- u (23:36) Hebrew ʿatsereth, perhaps "closing assembly." The Septuagint reads "a time of release."
- v (23:39) Hebrew "the fifteenth day of the seventh month" (Tishri); see the note at verse 24.
- w (23:40) Hebrew ʿets hadar, "splendid trees," identified in Jewish tradition as the citron (etrog).

Chapter 24

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Command the Israelites that they bring you pure oil from beaten olives for the light, so that a lamp may burn[a] continually. 3 Outside the veil of the testimony in the tent of meeting, Aaron is to arrange it from evening to morning before Yahweh continually. It is a statute forever throughout your generations. 4 He is to arrange the lamps on the lampstand of pure gold[b] before Yahweh continually.

5 "You are to take fine flour and bake twelve loaves[c] from it; each loaf is to be made of about 4 quarts.[d] 6 You are to set them in two rows, six to a row,[e] on the table of pure gold before Yahweh. 7 You are to put pure frankincense on each row, so that it may be a memorial portion[f] for the bread, an offering by fire to Yahweh. 8 Every Sabbath day he is to arrange it before Yahweh continually. It is from the Israelites as a covenant forever. 9 It is to belong to Aaron and his sons, and they are to eat it in a holy place, for it is most holy for him from the offerings by fire to Yahweh, a perpetual due." 10 Now the son of an Israelite woman, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the Israelites, and the son of the Israelite woman and an Israelite man fought in the camp. 11 The son of the Israelite woman blasphemed the Name[g] and cursed. So they brought him to Moses. His mother's name was Shelomith,[h] the daughter of Dibri,[i] of the tribe of Dan.[j] 12 They put him in custody until the will of Yahweh should be made clear to them.
13 Then Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 14 "Bring the one who cursed outside the camp, and let all who heard him lay their hands on his head, and let all the congregation stone him. 15 And speak to the Israelites, saying, Anyone who curses his God will bear his sin. 16 Whoever blasphemes Yahweh's name shall surely be put to death; the whole congregation shall stone him. Stranger or native-born, when he blasphemes the Name, he shall be put to death.
17 "Whoever strikes down any human life is surely to be put to death.
18 Whoever strikes down the life of an animal is to make it good, life for life. 19 If a man injures his neighbor, as he has done, so it shall be done to him— 20 fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth.[k]
As he has caused a disfigurement in a person, so is it to be done to him. 21 Whoever kills an animal is to make it good, and whoever kills a person is to be put to death. 22 You are to have one standard of judgment for the foreigner and for the native-born, for I am Yahweh your God." 23 Then Moses spoke to the Israelites, and they took the blasphemer outside the camp and stoned him to death with stones. Thus the Israelites did as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

Notes

- a (24:2) Literally "to cause a lamp to go up."
- b (24:4) Literally "the pure lampstand," that is, the lampstand of pure gold (Exodus 25:31).
- c (24:5) Or "twelve rings of bread," the bread of the Presence (Exodus 25:30).
- d (24:5) Hebrew "two tenths," that is, two tenths of an ephah, about 4.4 liters.
- e (24:6) Or "in two piles, six to a pile."
- f (24:7) Hebrew 'azkarah; see the note at 2:2.
- g (24:11) Hebrew hashshem, "the Name," that is, the name Yahweh (verse 16). From this passage comes the Jewish practice of saying HaShem, "the Name," in place of the divine name. The Septuagint reads "named the Name."
- h (24:11) Shelomith means "peaceful," from shalom, "peace." The Septuagint spells it Salomith.
- i (24:11) Dibri perhaps means "talkative" or "my word." The Septuagint spells it Dabri.
- j (24:11) Dan means "judge" (Genesis 30:6).
- k (24:20) This principle of equivalent justice (lex talionis) set a limit on punishment and was applied by judges, not by private revenge. Compare Exodus 21:23–25; Deuteronomy 19:21; Matthew 5:38–39.

Chapter 25

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses on Mount Sinai, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you enter the land that I am giving you, the land shall observe a sabbath to Yahweh. 3 For six years you are to sow your field, and for six years you are to prune your vineyard and gather in its produce. 4 But in the seventh year there is to be a Sabbath of complete rest for the land, a Sabbath to Yahweh. You must not sow your field or prune your vineyard. 5 What grows of itself after your harvest you shall not reap, and you shall not gather the grapes of your unpruned vine;[a] for the land it shall be a year of complete rest.
6 The Sabbath produce of the land will be food for you: for yourself, for your male and female slaves, for your hired worker, and for the resident alien who lives with you, 7 and for your livestock and for the wild animals in your land. All its produce is to be for food.
8 "You are to count seven Sabbaths of years, seven times seven years, so that the time of the seven Sabbaths of years amounts to forty-nine years. 9 Then on the tenth day of the seventh month (in September– October)[b] you are to sound the loud horn.[c] On the Day of Atonement you are to sound the horn throughout all your land. 10 You shall consecrate the fiftieth year and proclaim liberty[d] in the land for all its inhabitants. It shall be a jubilee[e] for you: every one of you shall go back to his property, and every one of you to his family. 11 That fiftieth year is to be a jubilee for you. You must not sow, or reap what grows of itself, or gather the grapes of its untended vines. 12 For it is a jubilee; it shall be holy for you. You may eat what the field produces.

13 In this year of jubilee each of you is to return to his property. 14 If you sell anything to your neighbor or buy from your neighbor, you must not wrong one another. 15 You are to buy from your neighbor according to the number of years after the jubilee, and he is to sell to you according to the number of years of crops. 16 If the years are many, you are to increase the price, and if the years are few, you are to reduce the price, for it is the number of crops that he is selling to you. 17 You must not wrong one another, but you are to fear your God, for I am Yahweh your God.
18 "So you are to do my statutes and keep my judgments and do them, and you will live in the land securely. 19 The land will yield its fruit, and you will eat your fill and live in it securely. 20 If you say, 'What will we eat in the seventh year if we do not sow or gather in our produce?' 21 I will command my blessing for you in the sixth year, so that it will yield produce for three years. 22 When you sow in the eighth year, you will eat from the old produce; until the ninth year, when its produce comes in, you will eat the old.
23 "The land must not be sold permanently,[f] for the land is mine. You are foreigners and residents with me. 24 Throughout the land of your possession you are to allow redemption of the land.
25 "If your brother becomes poor and sells some of his property, his nearest redeemer[g] is to come and redeem what his brother has sold.
26 If a man has no one to redeem it, but he himself prospers and finds enough to redeem it, 27 he is to count the years since its sale, refund the balance to the man to whom he sold it, and return to his property. 28
But if he does not find enough to repay him, what he sold will remain in the hand of the buyer until the year of jubilee. In the jubilee it is to be released, and he will return to his property.

29 "If a man sells a dwelling house in a walled city, its redemption right will last until a full year after its sale; for a full year[h] he may redeem it.
30 If it is not redeemed within a full year, the house in the walled city will belong permanently to the buyer throughout his generations. It will not be released in the jubilee. 31 But houses in villages that have no wall around them are to be counted as part of the fields of the land. They may be redeemed, and they are to be released in the jubilee. 32 As for the cities of the Levites, the houses in the cities they possess, the Levites are to have a permanent right of redemption. 33 And if anyone among the Levites redeems,[i] then the house that was sold in the city of his possession shall go out free in the jubilee; for the houses in the cities of the Levites are their possession among the Israelites. 34 But the field of the common land around their cities may not be sold, for it is their perpetual possession.
35 "If your brother becomes poor and cannot support himself[j] among you, you are to support him; he is to live with you as a foreigner and resident. 36 Do not take interest or profit[k] from him, but fear your God, so that your brother may live with you. 37 You must not lend him your money at interest or give him your food for profit. 38 I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to give you the land of Canaan, to be your God.
39 "If your brother near you becomes poor and sells himself to you, you shall not make him work as a slave. 40 He is to be with you as a hired worker or a resident. He is to serve with you until the year of jubilee. 41 Then he and his children with him are to go out from you and return to his own clan, and he is to return to the property of his fathers. 42 For they are my servants, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt; they must not be sold as slaves are sold. 43 You must not rule over him harshly, but you are to fear your God. 44 And as for your male and female slaves, whom you may have: from the nations around you, from them you may buy male and female slaves. 45 You may also buy from the children of the strangers living among you, and from their families living with you who were born in your land; they may be your property. 46 And you may bequeath them to your sons after you, to inherit as a possession; they shall be your slaves forever. But regarding your brothers, the Israelites, you shall not rule over one another with harshness.

47 "Now if a stranger or sojourner among you becomes rich, and your brother who lives near him becomes poor, and sells himself to the stranger or sojourner among you, or to a member of the stranger's family, 48 after he has sold himself he is to have the right of redemption. One of his brothers may redeem him, 49 or his uncle or his uncle's son may redeem him, or any close relative from his clan may redeem him. Or if he prospers, he may redeem himself. 50 He is to count with his buyer from the year he sold himself to him until the year of jubilee, and the price of his sale is to be in proportion to the number of years. His time with him is to be reckoned as that of a hired worker. 51 If there are still many years left, he is to pay back for his redemption a share of the price for which he was bought, in proportion to them. 52 If only a few years remain until the year of jubilee, he is to count with him and pay back for his redemption in proportion to his years. 53 He is to be with him as a worker hired year by year; he must not rule over him harshly in your sight. 54 If he is not redeemed by these means, he is to go out in the year of jubilee, he and his children with him. 55 For the Israelites are servants to me. They are my servants whom I brought out of the land of Egypt. I am Yahweh your God."

Notes

- a (25:5) Hebrew nazir, literally "your Nazirite," that is, a vine left unpruned, like the uncut hair of a Nazirite (Numbers 6:5).
- b (25:9) Hebrew "in the seventh month, on the tenth of the month," counted from the spring new year of the religious calendar; the month later called Tishri, which, being lunar, fell in September–October. See the notes at 16:29 and 23:24.
- c (25:9) Hebrew shophar teru'ah, "a horn of blasting," the ram's horn.
- d (25:10) Hebrew deror, a legal term for release from debt and servitude. Quoted on the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia; compare Isaiah 61:1; Luke 4:18–19.
- e (25:10) Hebrew yovel, "ram" or "ram's horn," from the horn blown to announce the year. The Latin jubilaeus, from which "jubilee" comes, was influenced by jubilare, "to shout for joy." The Septuagint reads "a year of release."
- f (25:23) Hebrew litsmithuth, "for complete cutting off," that is, beyond the right of redemption.

- g (25:25) Hebrew go'el, the nearest kinsman, responsible to redeem property and persons and to avenge blood (Ruth 3:12–13; Numbers 35:19).
- h (25:29) Literally "days."
- i (25:33) The Hebrew is difficult. The Latin Vulgate reads "If it is not redeemed," which suits the context, and many interpreters supply a negative.
- j (25:35) Literally "his hand falters."
- k (25:36) Hebrew neshekh and tarbith, probably interest taken in advance (literally "bite") and interest added at repayment.

Chapter 26

1 "You must not make idols[a] for yourselves, or set up a carved image or a sacred pillar for yourselves, and you must not place a carved stone[b] in your land to bow down to it, for I am Yahweh your God. 2 You are to keep my Sabbaths and revere my sanctuary. I am Yahweh.[c] 3 "If you walk in my statutes and keep my commandments and do them, 4 I will give you your rains in their season, the land will yield its produce, and the trees of the field will yield their fruit. 5 Your threshing shall continue until the grape harvest, and the grape harvest until the sowing; you shall eat all the bread you want and live securely in your land. 6 I will give peace in the land, so that you will lie down with no one to frighten you; I will remove wild beasts from the land, and no sword shall pass through your country. 7 You will chase your enemies, and they will fall before you by the sword. 8 Five of you will chase a hundred, and a hundred of you will chase ten thousand, and your enemies will fall before you by the sword. 9 I will turn to you and make you fruitful and multiply you, and I will confirm my covenant with you. 10 You will eat old stored grain, and you will clear out the old to make room for the new. 11 I will set my dwelling[d] among you, and my soul will not reject you. 12 I will walk among you and will be your God, and you will be my people.[e] 13 I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that you should not be their slaves; I have broken the bands of your yoke and made you go upright.
14 "But if you do not listen to me and do not do all these commandments, 15 if you reject my statutes, and if your soul rejects my judgments, so that you do not do all my commandments but break my covenant, 16 then I will do this to you: I will appoint terror over you, wasting disease and fever that consume the eyes and make the soul waste away. You will sow your seed in vain, for your enemies will eat it. 17 I will set my face against you, and you will be struck down before your enemies. Those who hate you will rule over you, and you will flee when no one is pursuing you. 18 And after all this, if you will not obey me, I will punish you seven times more for your sins. 19 I will break the pride of your power. I will make your sky like iron and your land like bronze. 20 Your strength will be spent in vain, for your land will not yield its produce, and the trees of the land will not yield their fruit.

21 "If you walk contrary[f] to me and are not willing to listen to me, I will strike you seven times more, according to your sins. 22 I will let loose among you the wild animals, which will bereave you of your children, destroy your livestock, and make you few, so that your roads become deserted.
23 "If by these things you are not corrected toward me, but walk contrary to me, 24 then I myself will also walk contrary to you, and I myself will strike you seven times for your sins. 25 I will bring a sword upon you that will execute the vengeance of the covenant. When you gather in your cities, I will send pestilence among you, and you will be given into the hand of the enemy. 26 When I break the staff of bread[g] for you, ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and they shall dole out your bread again by weight; you will eat, but you will not be satisfied.
27 "If in spite of this you do not listen to me, but walk contrary to me, 28 then I, for my part, will walk against you in furious opposition, and I myself will punish you sevenfold for your sins. 29 You will eat the flesh of your sons, and you will eat the flesh of your daughters. 30 I will destroy your high places and cut down your incense altars[h] and throw your corpses on the corpses of your idols,[i] and my soul will reject you. 31 I will make your cities a ruin and lay your sanctuaries waste, and I will not smell your pleasing aromas. 32 I myself will devastate the land, and your enemies who live in it will be appalled. 33 You I will scatter among the nations, and I will unsheathe a sword behind you; your land shall become a desolation, and your cities a waste.

34 "Then the land will enjoy[j] its Sabbaths all the days that it lies desolate, while you are in your enemies' land. Then the land will rest and enjoy its Sabbaths. 35 For as many days as it lies desolate it shall enjoy the rest it never had on your sabbaths while you lived in it.[k] 36
As for those of you who are left, I will send faintness into their hearts in the lands of their enemies. The sound of a driven leaf will put them to flight. They will flee as one flees from the sword, and they will fall when no one is pursuing. 37 They will stumble over one another as if before the sword, though no one is pursuing. You will have no power to stand before your enemies. 38 You will perish among the nations, and the land of your enemies will devour you. 39 And those of you who are left shall waste away in the lands of your enemies for their iniquity; and for the iniquities of their fathers also they shall waste away with them.
40 "But if they confess their iniquity and the iniquity of their fathers, in their unfaithfulness that they committed against me, and also that they walked contrary to me, 41 so that I walked contrary to them and brought them into the land of their enemies, if then their uncircumcised heart is humbled and they make amends for their iniquity,[l] 42 then I will remember my covenant with Jacob, and also my covenant with Isaac, and also my covenant with Abraham I will remember,[m] and I will remember the land. 43 For the land will be abandoned by them and will enjoy its Sabbaths while it lies desolate without them, while they make amends for their iniquity, because, and only because, they rejected my judgments and their soul abhorred my statutes. 44 Yet even so, when they are in the land of their enemies, I will not reject them, nor will I loathe them so as to wipe them out and break my covenant with them; for I am Yahweh their God. 45 But for their sake I will remember the covenant of their ancestors, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt in the sight of the nations, that I might be their God: I am Yahweh."

46 These are the statutes, the judgments, and the laws that Yahweh made between himself and the Israelites on Mount Sinai through Moses.

Notes

- a (26:1) Hebrew 'elilim, "worthless things"; see the note at 19:4.
- b (26:1) Hebrew 'even maskith, perhaps a stone carved with figures. The meaning is uncertain.
- c (26:2) Part of the Greek text of this chapter (verses 2–16) survives in a Septuagint scroll from Qumran, 4QLXXLev-a, one of the oldest known manuscripts of the Greek Old Testament. Its readings at several points differ from the standard Septuagint text.
- d (26:11) Hebrew mishkan, "tabernacle." The Septuagint reads "my tabernacle," and some ancient witnesses read "my covenant."
- e (26:12) Quoted in 2 Corinthians 6:16.
- f (26:21) Hebrew qeri, found only in this chapter (verses 21–41), perhaps "in hostility" or "at random" (by chance, as if I did not matter).
- g (26:26) Literally "break your staff of bread."
- h (26:30) Hebrew ḥammanim, perhaps incense altars or sun pillars. The Septuagint reads "wooden images made with hands."
- i (26:30) Hebrew gillulim, a contemptuous word for idols, perhaps "dung pellets."
- j (26:34) Or "pay off" or "make up for." The Hebrew ratsah is the verb used for the acceptance of sacrifices; it recurs in verses 41 and 43.
- k (26:35) Compare 2 Chronicles 36:21.
- l (26:41) Or "they accept the punishment for their iniquity"; so in verse 43.
- m (26:42) The patriarchs are listed in reverse order, Jacob, Isaac, Abraham. Their names are explained in Genesis: Abraham, "father of a multitude" (17:5); Isaac, "he laughs" (21:6); Jacob, "he grasps the heel" (25:26).

Chapter 27

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them: When anyone makes a special vow[a] to Yahweh, the persons being valued by you, 3 the valuation of a male from twenty to sixty years old is to be about 20 ounces of silver,[b] by the sanctuary standard.[c] 4 If it is a female, the valuation is to be about 12 ounces.[d] 5 If the person is from five to twenty years old, the valuation of a male is to be about 8 ounces, and of a female about 4 ounces.[e] 6 If the person is from a month to five years old, the valuation of a male is to be about 2 ounces of silver, and for a female the valuation is to be about 1.2 ounces of silver.[f] 7 If the person is sixty years old or over, the valuation of a male is to be about 6 ounces, and of a female about 4 ounces.[g] 8 But if he is too poor to pay the valuation, he is to be presented before the priest, and the priest is to value him. The priest is to value him according to what the one who made the vow can afford.

9 "If it is an animal of the kind that may be presented as an offering to Yahweh, anything that he gives of such to Yahweh is to be holy. 10 He must not exchange it or substitute for it, good for bad or bad for good. If he does substitute one animal for another, then both it and its substitute will be holy. 11 If it is any unclean animal that may not be presented as an offering to Yahweh, he is to present the animal before the priest, 12 and the priest is to value it as either good or bad. As the priest values it, so it will be. 13 If he wishes to redeem it, he is to add a fifth to its valuation.
14 "When a man consecrates his house as holy to Yahweh, the priest is to value it as either good or bad. As the priest values it, so it will stand. 15 If the one who consecrated it wishes to redeem his house, he is to add a fifth to the price of its valuation, and it will be his.
16 "If a man consecrates to Yahweh part of a field of his own property, its valuation is to be in proportion to the seed needed for it: a field sown with about 6 bushels[h] of barley seed is to be valued at about 20 ounces of silver. 17 If he dedicates his field beginning in the year of jubilee, the value you set shall stand. 18 But if he dedicates his field after the jubilee, the priest shall compute the money by the number of years remaining until the year of jubilee, and the amount you set shall be reduced. 19 If the one who consecrated the field wishes to redeem it, he is to add a fifth to the price of its valuation, and it will remain his. 20 But if he does not redeem the field, or if he has sold the field to another man, it may no longer be redeemed. 21 When the field is released in the jubilee, it is to be holy to Yahweh, like a field that has been devoted.[i] It is to be the priest's property. 22 And if a man dedicates to Yahweh a field which he has bought, which is not a part of his own property, 23 then the priest shall reckon to him the worth of your valuation, up to the year of jubilee, and he shall give your valuation on that day as a holy thing to Yahweh. 24 In the year of jubilee the field shall return to him from whom it was bought, to the one whose possession the land was. 25 Every valuation is to be by the sanctuary standard.[j] 26 "But the firstborn of the animals, which should be Yahweh's first-born, no man shall dedicate; whether ox or sheep, it is Yahweh's. 27 If it is one of the unclean animals, he may buy it back at the value you set, adding a fifth to it; and if it is not bought back, it shall be sold at the value you set." 28 "But nothing that a man devotes to Yahweh of all that he has, whether person, animal, or field of his own property, may be sold or redeemed. Every devoted thing is most holy to Yahweh. 29 No person who has been devoted to destruction[k] from among people may be ransomed; he is surely to be put to death.

30 "Every tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land or of the fruit of the trees, belongs to Yahweh; it is holy to Yahweh. 31 If a man wishes to redeem any of his tithe, he is to add a fifth to it. 32
As for every tithe of the herd or flock, every tenth one that passes under the shepherd's rod[l] is to be holy to Yahweh. 33 He must not inspect whether it is good or bad, nor make a substitute for it. If he does substitute for it, then both it and its substitute will be holy; it may not be redeemed." 34 These are the commandments that Yahweh commanded Moses for the Israelites on Mount Sinai.

Notes

- a (27:2) Or "an extraordinary vow"; see the note at 22:21. Persons vowed to Yahweh (compare 1 Samuel 1:11) were redeemed by paying their valuation to the sanctuary.
- b (27:3) Hebrew "fifty shekels of silver." The shekel was a unit of weight, about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); fifty shekels were about 20 ounces (575 grams). The Septuagint reads "didrachms" throughout this chapter.
- c (27:3) Literally "by the shekel of the sanctuary," the official standard weight; see verse 25.
- d (27:4) Hebrew "thirty shekels," about 345 grams.
- e (27:5) Hebrew "twenty shekels" (about 230 grams) and "ten shekels" (about 115 grams).
- f (27:6) Hebrew "five shekels" (about 57.5 grams) and "three shekels" (about 34.5 grams).
- g (27:7) Hebrew "fifteen shekels" (about 172.5 grams) and "ten shekels" (about 115 grams).

- h (27:16) Hebrew “a homer,” a dry measure of about 6 bushels (about 220 liters), probably originally a donkey load (Hebrew ḥamor, “donkey”). The value is “fifty shekels of silver,” about 575 grams.
- i (27:21) Hebrew ḥerem, something irrevocably given over to Yahweh, either to the sanctuary or to destruction; see verses 28–29.
- j (27:25) Hebrew “the shekel of the sanctuary; twenty gerahs are to be the shekel.” The gerah was the smallest weight, 1/20 of a shekel, about 0.02 ounce (about 0.6 gram).
- k (27:29) Or “who has been devoted” (Hebrew ḥerem). This refers to persons condemned under the ban, as in Deuteronomy 13:12–18 and Joshua 6:17, not to persons vowed in verses 2–8.
- l (27:32) Literally “passes under the rod,” as a shepherd counts his flock (Jeremiah 33:13; Ezekiel 20:37).

Numbers

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai,[a] in the tent of meeting, on the first day of the second month (in April–May)[b], in the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt, saying, 2
"Take a census[c] of all the congregation of the Israelites, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, every male, head by head. 3 From twenty years old and upward, everyone in Israel who is able to go out to war, you and Aaron are to count them by their divisions.[d] 4 With you there is to be a man from each tribe, each one the head of his father's house.
5 "These are the names of the men who are to stand with you: from Reuben, Elizur[e] son of Shedeur; 6 from Simeon, Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai;[f] 7 from Judah, Nahshon son of Amminadab; 8 from Issachar, Nethanel son of Zuar; 9 from Zebulun, Eliab son of Helon; 10 from the sons of Joseph: from Ephraim, Elishama son of Ammihud; from Manasseh, Gamaliel son of Pedahzur; 11 from Benjamin, Abidan son of Gideoni; 12 from Dan, Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai; 13 from Asher, Pagiel son of Ochran; 14 from Gad, Eliasaph son of Deuel;[g] 15 from Naphtali, Ahira son of Enan." 16 These were the men summoned from the assembly, chiefs of their ancestral tribes; they were the heads of the divisions[h] of Israel.
17 Moses and Aaron took these men who had been designated by name, 18 and on the first day of the second month (in April–May) they assembled all the congregation. They registered their descent by their clans, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of names, from twenty years old and upward, head by head, 19 as Yahweh had commanded Moses. So he counted them in the Wilderness of Sinai.
20 The sons of Reuben, Israel's firstborn: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, head by head, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 21 those counted of the tribe of Reuben were 46,500.

22 The sons of Simeon: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, head by head, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 23 those counted of the tribe of Simeon were 59,300.
24 The sons of Gad: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 25 those counted of the tribe of Gad were 45,650.
26 The sons of Judah: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 27 those counted of the tribe of Judah were 74,600.
28 The sons of Issachar: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 29 those counted of the tribe of Issachar were 54,400.
30 The sons of Zebulun: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 31 those counted of the tribe of Zebulun were 57,400.
32 The sons of Joseph, namely the sons of Ephraim: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 33 those counted of the tribe of Ephraim were 40,500.
34 The sons of Manasseh: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 35 those counted of the tribe of Manasseh were 32,200.
36 The sons of Benjamin: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 37 those counted of the tribe of Benjamin were 35,400.

38 The sons of Dan: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 39 those counted of the tribe of Dan were 62,700.
40 The sons of Asher: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 41 those counted of the tribe of Asher were 41,500.
42 The sons of Naphtali: their descendants, by their families and their ancestral households, counted by name, every male twenty years old and up, all who were fit for war service: 43 those counted of the tribe of Naphtali were 53,400.
44 These are those who were counted, whom Moses and Aaron counted with the leaders of Israel, twelve men, each representing his father's house. 45 So all the Israelites who were counted, by their ancestral households, twenty years old and up, every man in Israel fit for war service, 46 all those counted were 603,550.[i] 47 But the Levites were not counted among them by their ancestral tribe. 48 For Yahweh had spoken to Moses, saying, 49 "Only the tribe of Levi you are not to count, and you are not to take a census of them among the Israelites. 50 Instead, appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of the testimony, over all its furnishings, and over all that belongs to it. They are to carry the tabernacle and all its furnishings, they are to minister to it, and they are to camp around the tabernacle.
51 When the tabernacle is to set out, the Levites are to take it down, and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites are to set it up.
Any outsider[j] who comes near is to be put to death. 52 The Israelites are to camp each in his own camp and each by his own banner, by their divisions. 53 But the Levites shall encamp around the tabernacle of the testimony, so that no wrath may fall on the congregation of the Israelites; the Levites shall have charge of the tabernacle of the testimony." 54 The Israelites did so; according to all that Yahweh commanded Moses, so they did.

Notes

- a (1:1) Hebrew midbar, “wilderness,” open grazing land or steppe as well as desert. The book’s Hebrew title is Bemidbar, “In the Wilderness,” from this verse. The English title “Numbers” comes from the Septuagint (Arithmoi) and the Vulgate (Numeri), after the two censuses of chapters 1 and 26.
- b (1:1) Hebrew “on the first of the second month,” counting from the spring new year (Exodus 12:2). The second month, later called Iyyar (Ziv in 1 Kings 6:1), fell in April–May. Because the months were lunar, each overlaps two of ours. This was one month after the tabernacle was set up (Exodus 40:17).
- c (1:2) Hebrew “lift up the head,” an idiom for counting.
- d (1:3) Or “by their armies.” Hebrew tsava’, used of organized hosts, especially for war.
- e (1:5) Many of the names in this list contain the name of God: El (“God”), Shaddai (see the note at Exodus 6:3), or Tsur (“Rock”). Elizur means “my God is a rock.”
- f (1:6) Shelumiel means “God is my peace”; Zurishaddai means “Shaddai is my rock.”
- g (1:14) Most Hebrew manuscripts read “Deuel” here and in 7:42, 47; 10:20, but “Reuel” in 2:14. The letters d and r look very similar in Hebrew script. The Septuagint reads Ragouel throughout.
- h (1:16) Or “clans,” “units.” See the note at verse 46.
- i (1:46) The census figures in this chapter and in chapter 26 add up exactly, and they are given here as the Hebrew has them. A total of 603,550 fighting men would imply a population of perhaps two million or more. Because the Hebrew word elef, normally “thousand,” can also mean a clan or a military unit (see verse 16; Judges 6:15; 1 Samuel 10:19), some scholars have proposed that the figures originally counted units and men (for example, “46 units, 500 men”). Others hold that the numbers are meant literally, or that they are deliberately large, symbolic figures. The same total appears in Exodus 38:26, and a similar one in Exodus 12:37. This translation keeps the numbers as written.
- j (1:51) Hebrew zar, someone who is not a Levite.

Chapter 2

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 2 “The Israelites are to camp each by his own banner, with the emblems[a] of their fathers’ houses. They are to camp facing the tent of meeting on every side, at a distance.
3 “On the east side, toward the sunrise, those who camp are to be of the banner of the camp of Judah, by their divisions. The leader of the descendants of Judah is Nahshon son of Amminadab, 4 and his division, as counted, is 74,600. 5 Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Issachar. The leader of the descendants of Issachar is Nethanel son of Zuar, [6] and his division, as counted, is 54,400. [7] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Zebulun. The leader of the descendants of Zebulun is Eliab son of Helon, [8] and his division, as counted, is 57,400. [9] All those counted of the camp of Judah are 186,400, by their divisions. They are to set out first.

[10] "On the south side, those who camp are to be of the banner of the camp of Reuben, by their divisions. The leader of the descendants of Reuben is Elizur son of Shedeur, [11] and his division, as counted, is 46,500. [12] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Simeon. The leader of the descendants of Simeon is Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, [13] and his division, as counted, is 59,300. [14] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Gad. The leader of the descendants of Gad is Eliasaph son of Reuel[b], [15] and his division, as counted, is 45,650. [16] All those counted of the camp of Reuben are 151,450, by their divisions. They are to set out second.

[17] "Then the tent of meeting is to set out, with the camp of the Levites in the middle of the camps. As they camp, so they are to set out, each in his place, by their banners.

[18] "On the west side, those who camp are to be of the banner of the camp of Ephraim, by their divisions. The leader of the descendants of Ephraim is Elishama son of Ammihud, [19] and his division, as counted, is 40,500. [20] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Manasseh. The leader of the descendants of Manasseh is Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, [21] and his division, as counted, is 32,200. [22] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Benjamin. The leader of the descendants of Benjamin is Abidan son of Gideoni, [23] and his division, as counted, is 35,400. [24] The total of those counted for the camp of Ephraim was 108,100, by their divisions; they shall set out third.

[25] "On the north side, those who camp are to be of the banner of the camp of Dan, by their divisions. The leader of the descendants of Dan is Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai, [26] and his division, as counted, is 62,700. [27] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Asher. The leader of the descendants of Asher is Pagiel son of Ochran, [28] and his division, as counted, is 41,500. [29] Those who camp next to him are to be the tribe of Naphtali. The leader of the descendants of Naphtali is

Ahira son of Enan, 30 and his division, as counted, is 53,400. 31 All those counted of the camp of Dan are 157,600, by their divisions. They are to set out last, by their banners." 32 These are those of the Israelites who were counted by their fathers' houses. All those counted in the camps by their divisions were 603,550. 33 But the Levites were not counted among the Israelites, as Yahweh had commanded Moses. 34 The Israelites did according to all that Yahweh commanded Moses. So they camped by their banners, and so they set out, each by his clan, according to his father's house.

Notes

- a (2:2) Or "signs," perhaps flags or standards. Hebrew degel ("banner") marks each group of three tribes, and ot ("sign") each father's house.
- b (2:14) Hebrew Reuel. Elsewhere in Numbers most manuscripts read Deuel; see the note at 1:14.

Chapter 3

1 This is the family history of Aaron and Moses from the time Yahweh spoke with Moses on Mount Sinai. 2 These are the names of the sons of Aaron: Nadab the firstborn, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the anointed priests, whom he ordained[a] to serve as priests. 4 But Nadab and Abihu died in Yahweh's presence when they offered strange fire before Yahweh in the Wilderness of Sinai; and they had no children.[b] So Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priests during the lifetime of their father Aaron.
5 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 6 "Bring the tribe of Levi near and set them before Aaron the priest, so that they may minister to him. 7 They are to keep his duties and the duties of the whole congregation before the tent of meeting, as they do the service of the tabernacle. 8 They are to take care of all the furnishings of the tent of meeting and keep the duties of the Israelites, as they do the service of the tabernacle.
9 You are to give the Levites to Aaron and his sons; they are given wholly to him[c] from among the Israelites. 10 You are to appoint Aaron and his sons, and they are to keep their priesthood. Any outsider who comes near is to be put to death."

11 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 12 "I myself have taken the Levites from among the Israelites to stand in place of every firstborn that first opens the womb among the Israelites; the Levites shall be mine, 13 for every firstborn is mine. On the day that I struck down every firstborn in the land of Egypt, I consecrated for myself every firstborn in Israel, both human and animal. They are to be mine. I am Yahweh." 14 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, saying, 15 "Count the descendants of Levi by their fathers' houses, by their clans. You are to count every male from a month old and upward." 16 So Moses counted them at the word[d] of Yahweh, as he was commanded. 17 These were the sons of Levi by their names: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. 18 These are the names of the sons of Gershon by their clans: Libni and Shimei. 19 The sons of Kohath by their clans: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 20 And the sons of Merari, by their families: Mahli and Mushi. These were the families of the Levites, by their ancestral houses.
21 Of Gershon were the Libnite family and the Shimeite family; these were the Gershonite families. 22 Those counted of them, by the number of all the males from a month old and upward, were 7,500. 23
The clans of the Gershonites were to camp behind the tabernacle, on the west. 24 The leader of the father's house of the Gershonites was Eliasaph son of Lael. 25 The responsibility of the sons of Gershon in the tent of meeting concerned the tabernacle, the tent with its covering, and the curtain at the entrance of the tent of meeting, 26 the hangings of the court, the curtain for the court's entrance, which surrounds the tabernacle and the altar, and its cords—everything needed for their service.
27 Of Kohath were the Amramite family, the Izharite family, the Hebronite family, and the Uzzielite family; these were the Kohathite families. 28 By the number of all the males from a month old and upward, there were 8,600,[e] keeping the duties of the sanctuary. 29 The clans of the descendants of Kohath were to camp on the south side of the tabernacle. 30 The leader of the father's house of the clans of the Kohathites was Elizaphan son of Uzziel. 31 Their duty was the ark, the table, the lampstand, the altars, the utensils of the sanctuary with which they minister, and the screen, with all the service connected with them. 32 The chief of the leaders of the Levites was Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, with oversight of those who kept the duties of the sanctuary.

33 Of Merari were the Mahlite family and the Mushite family; these were the families of Merari. 34 Those counted of them, by the number of all the males from a month old and upward, were 6,200. 35 The chief of the ancestral house of the Merarite families was Zuriel, son of Abihail; their camp was to be pitched on the tabernacle's northern side. 36 The appointed duty of the descendants of Merari was the frames of the tabernacle, its crossbars, its posts, its bases, and all its equipment, with all the service connected with them, 37 and the posts of the courtyard all around, with their bases, their tent pegs, and their cords.
38 Camping before the tabernacle on the east side, in front of the tent of meeting toward the sunrise, were Moses, Aaron, and his sons, who kept charge of the sanctuary on behalf of the Israelites; and any unauthorized person who approached was to be put to death. 39 All those counted of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron[f] counted at the word of Yahweh by their clans, all the males from a month old and upward, were 22,000.[g]
40 Yahweh said to Moses, "Count all the firstborn males of the Israelites from a month old and upward, and take the number of their names. 41 You are to take the Levites for me, I am Yahweh, in place of all the firstborn among the Israelites, and the livestock of the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the livestock of the Israelites." 42 So Moses counted, as Yahweh commanded him, all the firstborn among the Israelites. 43 All the firstborn males, by the number of names, from a month old and upward, as counted, were 22,273.
44 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 45 "Take the Levites in the place of all the Israelites' firstborn, and the Levites' livestock in place of their livestock; and the Levites shall be mine: I am Yahweh. 46 As the redemption price for the 273 firstborn of the Israelites who outnumber the Levites, 47 you are to take about 2 ounces of silver[h] for each one, head by head; you are to take it by the sanctuary standard. 48 and give the money to Aaron and his sons, as the ransom for the surplus among them." [49] So Moses took the ransom money from those who were over and above the ones redeemed by the Levites. [50] From the firstborn of the Israelites he took the money, about 34 pounds of silver,[i] by the sanctuary standard. [51] Moses gave the redemption money to Aaron and his sons, at the word of Yahweh, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

Notes

- a (3:3) Hebrew "whose hand he filled," the expression for installing priests (Exodus 28:41).
- b (3:4) See Leviticus 10:1–2.
- c (3:9) Hebrew "given, given," stressing that they are wholly given. The Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses read "given to me"; compare 8:16.
- d (3:16) Hebrew "mouth."
- e (3:28) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint. Some scholars propose "8,300," which would make the three Levite clans add up to the total of 22,000 in verse 39 (7,500 + 8,300 + 6,200). In Hebrew, "six" (shesh) and "three" (shalosh) differ by a single letter.
- f (3:39) In the Hebrew text the words "and Aaron" are marked with extraordinary dots above the letters, a sign that ancient scribes doubted whether they belonged. Some ancient witnesses lack them.
- g (3:39) The clan figures in verses 22, 28, and 34 add up to 22,300. See the note at verse 28.
- h (3:47) Hebrew "five shekels," about 57 grams. A shekel was about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); standards varied. The text adds, "the shekel is twenty gerahs"; a gerah was one-twentieth of a shekel. On the "sanctuary shekel," see Exodus 30:13.
- i (3:50) Hebrew "1,365 shekels," about 15.7 kilograms.

Chapter 4

[1] Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, [2] "Take a head count of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, by their families and their ancestral houses, [3] from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who come into the service[a] to do work in the tent of meeting. [4] This is the service of the descendants of Kohath in the tent of meeting: the most holy things.

[5] "When the camp is about to move, Aaron and his sons shall enter, take down the screening curtain, and cover the ark of the testimony with it; [6] then they shall put a covering of fine leather[b] over it, spread a cloth entirely of blue on top, and insert its poles. 7 Upon the table of the Presence they shall lay a blue cloth, and put on it the dishes, the spoons, the bowls, and the jars for pouring libations; the continual bread shall remain upon it. 8 They are to spread over them a cloth of scarlet and cover it with a covering of fine leather, and put in its poles. 9 They shall take a blue cloth and cover the lampstand that gives light, together with its lamps, its tongs, its trays, and all its oil vessels with which they supply it. 10 They shall wrap it with all its utensils in a covering of fine leather, and put it on a carrying frame. 11 Over the golden altar they are to spread a cloth of blue and cover it with a covering of fine leather, and put in its poles. 12 They are to take all the utensils of service with which they minister in the sanctuary, put them in a cloth of blue, cover them with a covering of fine leather, and put them on the carrying frame. 13 They are to remove the ashes from the altar and spread a purple cloth over it. 14 And they shall place upon it all the utensils used for its service: the firepans, the fleshhooks, the shovels, and the basins—all the utensils of the altar; and they shall spread on it a covering of fine leather and insert its poles.[c] 15 When Aaron and his sons have finished covering the sanctuary and all its furnishings as the camp prepares to move, the sons of Kohath shall then come to carry them; yet they must never touch the holy things, or they will die. This is what the sons of Kohath are to carry from the tent of meeting.

16 "Eleazar son of Aaron the priest is to have oversight of the oil for the light, the fragrant incense, the regular grain offering, and the anointing oil, the oversight of the whole tabernacle and all that is in it, the sanctuary and its furnishings." 17 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 18 "Do not let the tribe of the clans of the Kohathites be cut off from among the Levites. 19 But do this for them, that they may live and not die when they approach the most holy things: Aaron and his sons shall go in and assign each man to his task and his burden. 20 But they shall not go in to see the holy things, even for a moment,[d] lest they die." 21 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 22 "Take a census of the descendants of Gershon also, by their fathers' houses, by their clans. 23 From thirty years old and upward to fifty years old you are to count them, all who enter to perform the service, to do the work in the tent of meeting.

24 This is the service of the Gershonite families, in serving and in carrying: 25 they are to carry the curtains of the tabernacle and the tent of meeting, its covering, the covering of fine leather that is on top of it, the screen for the entrance of the tent of meeting, 26 the hangings of the court, the curtain for the entrance of the gateway of the court that surrounds the tabernacle and the altar, their cords, and all the instruments of their service; and they shall do everything that is to be done with these. 27 All the service of the descendants of the Gershonites, in all their carrying and in all their service, is to be at the command[e] of Aaron and his sons. You are to assign to them as their duty all that they are to carry. 28 This is the service of the Gershonite families in the tent of meeting; and their charge shall be under the supervision[f] of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest.
29 "As for the descendants of Merari, you are to count them by their clans, by their fathers' houses. 30 From thirty years old and upward to fifty years old you are to count them, everyone who enters the service, to do the work of the tent of meeting. 31 This is what they are charged to carry, as all their service in the tent of meeting: the frames of the tabernacle, its crossbars, its posts, and its bases, 32 and the posts of the courtyard all around with their bases, tent pegs, and cords, with all their equipment and all their service. You are to assign by name the items that they are charged to carry. 33 This is the service of the clans of the descendants of Merari, all their service in the tent of meeting, under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest."
34 Moses and Aaron and the leaders of the congregation counted the descendants of the Kohathites by their clans and by their fathers' houses, 35 from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who came into the service to work in the tent of meeting, 36 Those counted of them by their clans were 2,750. 37 These were those counted of the clans of the Kohathites, all who served in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the word of Yahweh through Moses.
38 Those counted of the descendants of Gershon, by their clans and by their fathers' houses, 39 from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who came into the service to work in the tent of meeting, [40] those counted of them by their clans, by their fathers' houses, were 2,630. [41] These were those counted of the clans of the descendants of Gershon, all who served in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the word of Yahweh.

[42] Those counted of the clans of the descendants of Merari, by their clans, by their fathers' houses, [43] from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who came into the service to work in the tent of meeting, [44] those counted of them by their clans were 3,200. [45] These were those counted of the clans of the descendants of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron counted at the word of Yahweh through Moses.
[46] All those counted of the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron and the leaders of Israel counted, by their clans and by their fathers' houses, [47] from thirty years old up to fifty years old, all who came to do the work of serving and the work of carrying in the tent of meeting, [48] those counted of them were 8,580. [49] At the word of Yahweh through Moses they were appointed, each to his service and to his load. So they were counted by him, as Yahweh commanded Moses.

Notes

- a (4:3) Hebrew tsava', "host," here the organized service of the Levites. In 8:24 the starting age is twenty-five; compare 1 Chronicles 23:24–27, where it is twenty.
- b (4:6) Hebrew tahash; see the note at Exodus 25:5. So also in verses 8–14 and 25.
- c (4:14) The Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint add, "They are to take a purple cloth and cover the basin and its stand, put it in a covering of fine leather, and put it on the carrying frame." This is one of the longer readings that the Samaritan Pentateuch shares with other witnesses in Numbers; see the note at 10:10.
- d (4:20) Hebrew "as a swallowing," perhaps "even for the time it takes to swallow."
- e (4:27) Hebrew "mouth."
- f (4:28) Hebrew "hand." So also in verse 33.

Chapter 5

[1] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [2] "Command the Israelites to put out of the camp everyone with a defiling skin disease,[a] everyone with a discharge, and everyone made unclean by a corpse. [3] You are to send out both male and female; you are to send them outside the camp, so that they do not defile their camps, in the midst of which I dwell." [4]

The Israelites did so and sent them outside the camp. As Yahweh had spoken to Moses, so the Israelites did.
5 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 6 "Say to the Israelites: When a man or woman commits any wrong against another, breaking faith with Yahweh, and that person is found guilty, 7 he is to confess the sin that he has committed. He is to make restitution for his guilt in full, add a fifth to it, and give it to the one he has wronged. 8 But if the man has no kinsman[b] to whom the compensation can be paid, the compensation for the wrong goes to Yahweh, to be the priest's, apart from the atonement ram with which atonement is made for him. 9 Every contribution of all the holy things of the Israelites, which they bring to the priest, is to be his. 10 Each person's holy things are his own; whatever anyone gives to the priest is to be the priest's."
11 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 12 "Speak to the Israelites and tell them: If any man's wife turns aside and is unfaithful to him, 13 and a man has intercourse with her, and it is concealed from her husband's eyes and kept secret, though she has defiled herself, and there is no witness against her and she was not caught in the act, 14 and a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he suspects his wife who has defiled herself; or a spirit of jealousy comes upon him, and he suspects his wife, though she has not defiled herself, 15 then the man is to bring his wife to the priest. He is to bring the offering required for her, about 2 quarts of barley flour.[c] He is not to pour oil on it or put frankincense on it, for it is a grain offering of jealousy, a grain offering of remembrance, bringing iniquity to remembrance.
16 "The priest is to bring her near and set her before Yahweh. 17 The priest is to take holy water in an earthen vessel, and the priest is to take some of the dust that is on the floor of the tabernacle and put it into the water. 18 The priest shall stand the woman before Yahweh and uncover her head, and place in her hands the grain offering of remembrance, the grain offering of jealousy; and in his own hand the priest shall hold the bitter water that brings the curse. 19 And the priest shall put her under oath and say to her, 'If no man has lain with you, and you have not strayed into uncleanness while in your husband's house, be unharmed by this bitter water that brings the curse. 20 But if you have gone astray while under your husband's authority, and if you have defiled yourself and some man other than your husband has lain with you,' 21 then the priest is to make the woman take the oath of the curse, and the priest is to say to the woman, 'May Yahweh make you a curse and an oath among your people, when Yahweh makes your thigh fall away and your belly swell.[d] 22 May this water that brings the curse go into your body and make your belly swell and your thigh fall away.' And the woman is to say, 'Amen, Amen.'[e] 23 "Then the priest is to write these curses in a scroll and wash them off into the water of bitterness. 24 And he shall make the woman drink the bitter water that brings the curse, and the water that brings the curse shall go into her and become bitter. 25 Then the priest shall take the grain offering of jealousy out of the woman's hand, wave it before Yahweh, and present it at the altar. 26 And the priest shall take a handful of the grain offering as its memorial portion, burn it upon the altar, and afterward make the woman drink the water. 27 When he has made her drink the water, then if she is defiled and has been unfaithful to her husband, the water that brings the curse shall go into her and become bitter, and her belly shall swell and her thigh shall waste away; and the woman shall become a curse among her people. 28 But if the woman has not defiled herself and is pure, she shall be acquitted and shall bear children.

29 "This is the law of jealousy, when a wife, while under her husband's authority, goes astray and defiles herself, 30 or when a spirit of jealousy comes over a man and he is jealous of his wife. He is to set the woman before Yahweh, and the priest is to carry out for her all this law. 31 The man will be free from iniquity, but the woman will bear her iniquity."

Notes

- a (5:2) Hebrew tsara'at, a term for various skin diseases (Leviticus 13–14), traditionally translated "leprosy," though it is not limited to what is now called leprosy (Hansen's disease).
- b (5:8) Hebrew go'el, the nearest relative, who had the right and duty to receive or pay redemption for a family member.
- c (5:15) Hebrew "a tenth of an ephah of barley flour," about 2.2 liters. An ephah was about three-fifths of a bushel (22 liters); standards varied.

- d (5:21) The exact meaning of "thigh" (perhaps a euphemism for the reproductive organs) and of the physical effects is uncertain. They may describe a miscarriage or infertility (compare verse 28).
- e (5:22) Hebrew amen, "so be it," a word of solemn agreement.

Chapter 6

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them: When a man or a woman makes a special vow, the vow of a Nazirite,[a] to separate himself to Yahweh, 3 he is to separate himself from wine and strong drink. He must not drink vinegar made from wine or vinegar made from strong drink, and he must not drink any grape juice or eat grapes, fresh or dried. 4 All the days of his separation he must not eat anything produced by the grapevine, from the seeds to the skins.[b] 5 "All the days of his vow of separation no razor is to pass over his head. Until the days are fulfilled for which he separates himself to Yahweh, he is to be holy. He is to let the locks of the hair of his head grow long.
6 "All the days that he separates himself to Yahweh he must not go near a dead person. 7 Not even for his father or for his mother, for his brother or for his sister, if they die, is he to make himself unclean, because his separation to God is on his head. 8 All the days of his separation he is holy to Yahweh.
9 "If anyone dies very suddenly beside him and he defiles his consecrated head, he is to shave his head on the day of his cleansing; on the seventh day he is to shave it. 10 On the eighth day he shall bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the priest at the door of the tent of meeting. 11 The priest is to offer one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering and make atonement for him, because he sinned by reason of the dead body. He is to consecrate his head that same day. 12 He shall dedicate to Yahweh his days of separation anew, and bring a male lamb in its first year for a guilt offering; but the former days are void,[c] because his separation was defiled.
13 "This is the law of the Nazirite when the days of his separation are fulfilled. He is to be brought to the entrance of the tent of meeting, 14 and he shall present his offering to Yahweh: a male lamb in its first year, without blemish, for a burnt offering; a ewe lamb in its first year, without blemish, for a sin offering; and one ram without blemish for a peace offering; 15 a basket of unleavened bread, cakes of fine flour mingled with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, along with their grain offering and their drink offerings. 16 The priest is to present them before Yahweh and offer his sin offering and his burnt offering. 17 He is to offer the ram as a sacrifice of peace offering to Yahweh, with the basket of unleavened bread. The priest is also to offer its grain offering and its drink offering. 18 There at the entrance of the tent of meeting the Nazirite shall shave his consecrated head, and shall take the hair from it and lay it on the fire under the sacrifice of the peace offering. 19 The priest is to take the boiled shoulder of the ram, one unleavened cake out of the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and put them on the palms of the Nazirite after he has shaved his consecrated head. 20 The priest is to wave them as a wave offering before Yahweh. They are a holy portion for the priest, together with the breast that is waved and the thigh that is contributed. After that the Nazirite may drink wine.

21 "This is the law of the Nazirite who vows his offering to Yahweh for his separation, in addition to whatever else he can afford. In keeping with the vow that he makes, so he must do according to the law of his separation."

22 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 23 "Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, 'This is how you are to bless the Israelites. Say to them:[d] 24 "May Yahweh bless you and keep you; 25 may Yahweh make his face shine on you and be gracious to you; 26 may Yahweh lift up his face toward you and give you peace."'[e] 27 So they are to put my name on the Israelites, and I will bless them."

Notes

- a (6:2) Hebrew nazir, from nazar, "to separate" or "to dedicate." Compare Samson (Judges 13:5), Samuel (1 Samuel 1:11), and Acts 18:18; 21:23–26.
- b (6:4) The meaning of the two Hebrew words hartsannim and zag is uncertain; they may refer to unripe grapes and grape skins, or to seeds and skins.
- c (6:12) Hebrew "will fall."
- d (6:23) The blessing in verses 24–26 is three lines of growing length, each naming Yahweh. A form of it is inscribed on two small silver scrolls found at Ketef Hinnom in Jerusalem, dated to around 600 BC, among the oldest known texts of any biblical passage.

- e (6:26) Hebrew shalom, wholeness and well-being, not merely the absence of conflict.

Chapter 7

1 Now on the day that Moses completed setting up the tabernacle, he anointed it and sanctified it with all its furnishings, and likewise anointed and sanctified the altar with all its utensils. 2 the leaders of Israel, the heads of their fathers' houses, presented offerings.
They were the leaders of the tribes, who were over those who were counted. 3 And they brought their offering before Yahweh: six covered carts[a] and twelve oxen—a cart for every two leaders, and for each one an ox—and presented them before the tabernacle.
4 Then Yahweh said to Moses, 5 "Take these from them, that they may be used for the work of the tent of meeting; and give them to the Levites, to every man as his service requires." 6 So Moses took the wagons and the oxen and gave them to the Levites. 7 He gave two wagons and four oxen to the descendants of Gershon, according to their service. 8 He gave four wagons and eight oxen to the descendants of Merari, according to their service, under the direction of Ithamar son of Aaron the priest. 9 But to the descendants of Kohath he gave none, because their service was with the holy things, which they had to carry on their shoulders.
10 The leaders presented offerings for the dedication[b] of the altar on the day it was anointed; the leaders presented their offering in front of the altar. 11 Yahweh said to Moses, "They are to present their offering, one leader each day, for the dedication of the altar." 12 The one who presented his offering on the first day was Nahshon son of Amminadab, of the tribe of Judah. 13 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds,[c] by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 14 one gold dish of about 4 ounces,[d] full of incense; 15 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 16 one male goat for a sin offering; 17 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Nahshon son of Amminadab.

18 On the second day Nethanel son of Zuar, the leader of the descendants of Issachar, presented an offering. 19 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 20 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 21 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 22 one male goat for a sin offering; 23 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Nethanel son of Zuar.
24 On the third day Eliab son of Helon, the leader of the descendants of Zebulun, presented an offering. 25 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 26 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 27 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 28 one male goat for a sin offering; 29 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Eliab son of Helon.
30 On the fourth day Elizur son of Shedeur, the leader of the descendants of Reuben, presented an offering. 31 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 32 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 33 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 34 one male goat for a sin offering; 35 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Elizur son of Shedeur.
36 On the fifth day Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai, the leader of the descendants of Simeon, presented an offering. 37 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; [38] one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; [39] one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; [40] one male goat for a sin offering; [41] and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai.

[42] On the sixth day Eliasaph son of Deuel, the leader of the descendants of Gad, presented an offering. [43] His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; [44] one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; [45] one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; [46] one male goat for a sin offering; [47] and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Eliasaph son of Deuel.

[48] On the seventh day Elishama son of Ammihud, the leader of the descendants of Ephraim, presented an offering. [49] His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; [50] one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; [51] one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; [52] one male goat for a sin offering; [53] and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Elishama son of Ammihud.

[54] On the eighth day Gamaliel son of Pedahzur, the leader of the descendants of Manasseh, presented an offering. [55] His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; [56] one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; [57] one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; [58] one male goat for a sin offering; [59] and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.

60 On the ninth day Abidan son of Gideoni, the leader of the descendants of Benjamin, presented an offering. 61 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 62 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 63 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 64 one male goat for a sin offering; 65 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Abidan son of Gideoni.
66 On the tenth day Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai, the leader of the descendants of Dan, presented an offering. 67 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 68 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 69 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 70 one male goat for a sin offering; 71 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai.
72 On the eleventh day Pagiel the son of Ochran, leader of the sons of Asher, made his offering. 73 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 74 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 75 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 76 one male goat for a sin offering; 77 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Pagiel son of Ochran.
78 On the twelfth day Ahira son of Enan, the leader of the descendants of Naphtali, presented an offering. 79 His offering was one silver plate weighing about 3¼ pounds and one silver bowl of about 1¾ pounds, by the sanctuary standard, both of them full of fine flour mixed with oil for a grain offering; 80 one gold dish of about 4 ounces, full of incense; 81 one young bull, one ram, and one male lamb a year old, for a burnt offering; 82 one male goat for a sin offering; 83 and for the sacrifice of peace offerings, two oxen, five rams, five male goats, and five male lambs a year old. This was the offering of Ahira son of Enan.

84 This was the altar's dedication gift from the leaders of Israel, given when it was anointed: twelve silver plates, twelve silver bowls, twelve gold pans; 85 Each silver plate weighed about 3¼ pounds and each bowl about 1¾ pounds, and all the silver of the vessels came to about 60 pounds,[e] by the sanctuary standard. 86 The twelve gold dishes full of incense weighed about 4 ounces each, by the sanctuary standard, and all the gold of the dishes came to about 3 pounds.[f] 87 All the animals for the burnt offering: twelve bulls, twelve rams, twelve yearling male lambs, with their grain offering; and twelve male goats for a sin offering. 88 All the livestock for the sacrifice of peace offerings were twenty-four bulls, sixty rams, sixty male goats, and sixty male lambs a year old. This was the dedication offering for the altar after it was anointed.
89 When Moses went into the tent of meeting to speak with him,[g] he heard the voice speaking to him from above the atonement cover that was on the ark of the testimony, from between the two cherubim; and he spoke to him.

Notes

- a (7:3) Hebrew tsav, perhaps "covered" or "litter-like." The meaning is uncertain.
- b (7:10) Hebrew hanukkah, "dedication," the word later used for the festival of the rededication of the temple in 164 BC. So also in verses 11, 84, and 88.
- c (7:13) Hebrew "one silver plate, its weight a hundred thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels," about 1.5 kilograms and 0.8 kilogram. A shekel was about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); standards varied. On the sanctuary shekel, see Exodus 30:13. The same weights apply in each of the twelve offerings that follow.
- d (7:14) Hebrew "ten shekels," about 115 grams.
- e (7:85) Hebrew "2,400 shekels," about 27.6 kilograms.
- f (7:86) Hebrew "ten shekels each … 120 shekels," about 115 grams each and 1.4 kilograms in all.
- g (7:89) That is, with Yahweh. The Hebrew form translated "speaking" (middabber) is unusual; some interpreters take it to mean that the voice was speaking, as it were, to itself, with Moses overhearing.

Chapter 8

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Speak to Aaron and tell him, ‘When you arrange the lamps, the seven lamps shall cast their light in front of the lampstand.’” 3 And Aaron did so; he arranged the lamps to face the front of the lampstand, just as Yahweh had commanded Moses. 4 This was how the lampstand was made: hammered work of gold. From its base to its flowers it was hammered work. According to the pattern that Yahweh had shown Moses, so he made the lampstand.
5 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 6 “Take the Levites from among the Israelites and cleanse them. 7 And thus you shall do to them to cleanse them: sprinkle water of purification[a] upon them, and have them shave all their body with a razor, wash their clothes, and so make themselves clean. 8 Then let them take a young bull with its grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, and you are to take another young bull for a sin offering. 9 You are to bring the Levites in front of the tent of meeting and assemble the whole congregation of the Israelites. 10 When you bring the Levites before Yahweh, the Israelites are to lay their hands on the Levites, 11 Aaron shall offer the Levites before Yahweh as a wave offering[b] on behalf of the Israelites, that they may perform the service of Yahweh. 12 Then the Levites are to lay their hands on the heads of the bulls, and you are to offer one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering to Yahweh, to make atonement for the Levites. 13 You are to have the Levites stand before Aaron and his sons and present them as a wave offering to Yahweh.
14 So you shall set the Levites apart from the rest of the Israelites, and the Levites shall belong to me. 15 After that the Levites may come in to minister at the tent of meeting, once you have purified them and offered them up as a wave offering. 16 For they are wholly given to me from among the Israelites. I have taken them for myself in place of all who open the womb, the firstborn of all the Israelites. 17 For all the firstborn among the Israelites are mine, both man and beast; on the day I struck all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I set them apart for myself. 18 And I have taken the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the Israelites. 19 I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron and his sons from among the Israelites, to do the service of the Israelites at the tent of meeting and to make atonement for the Israelites, so that no plague may come on the Israelites when the Israelites come near the sanctuary."

20 Thus Moses and Aaron and all the congregation of the Israelites did with the Levites; just as Yahweh had commanded Moses concerning them, so the Israelites did to them. 21 The Levites purified themselves from sin and washed their clothes, and Aaron presented them as a wave offering before Yahweh, and Aaron made atonement for them to cleanse them. 22 After that the Levites went in to do their service at the tent of meeting before Aaron and before his sons. As Yahweh had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did to them.
23 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 24 "This is what applies to the Levites: from twenty-five years old and upward they are to come to serve in the work of the tent of meeting.[c] 25 From the age of fifty years they are to retire from the work of the service and serve no more. 26 They may assist their brothers in the tent of meeting by standing guard, but they shall do no service. Thus you shall arrange the duties of the Levites."

Notes

- a (8:7) Hebrew "water of sin," that is, water that removes sin and impurity.
- b (8:11) Hebrew tenufah, an offering formally presented before Yahweh, possibly with a lifting or waving motion.
- c (8:24) Compare 4:3, where the age is thirty. The difference may reflect a period of apprenticeship or a change in practice. The Septuagint has twenty-five in both places (4:3, 23, 30).

Chapter 9

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the Wilderness of Sinai, in the first month of the second year after they had come out of the land of Egypt (in March–April),[a] saying, 2 "Let the Israelites keep the Passover at its appointed time. 3 On the fourteenth day of this month (in March–April), at twilight,[b] you are to keep it at its appointed time. You are to keep it according to all its statutes and all its rules." 4 So Moses told the Israelites to keep the Passover. 5 They kept the Passover in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month (in March–April), at twilight, in the Wilderness of Sinai. According to all that Yahweh had commanded Moses, so the Israelites did.

6 Now there were certain men who were defiled by a dead body, so that they could not keep the Passover on that day; and they came before Moses and Aaron the same day, 7 and those men said to him, "We are unclean through contact with a dead person. Why should we be kept from presenting Yahweh's offering at its appointed time among the Israelites?" 8 Moses said to them, "Wait, so that I may hear what Yahweh will command concerning you."
9 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 10 "Speak to the Israelites and say: If any of you or your descendants are unclean from touching a dead body, or are on a distant journey, they may still keep the Passover to Yahweh.[c] 11 In the second month, on the fourteenth day (in April–May), at twilight, they are to keep it. They are to eat it with unleavened bread and bitter herbs. 12 They must leave none of it until morning or break any of its bones. They are to keep it according to all the statute of the Passover. 13 But the man who is clean and is not on a journey, and fails to keep the Passover, that person is to be cut off from his people, because he did not present Yahweh's offering at its appointed time. That man will bear his sin. 14 If a foreigner who lives among you wants to keep the Passover to Yahweh, he is to do so according to the statute of the Passover and according to its rule. You are to have one statute, both for the foreigner and for the native of the land.'" 15 On the day the tabernacle was set up, the cloud covered the tabernacle, the tent of the testimony. And from evening until morning it was over the tabernacle like the appearance of fire. 16 So it was continually: the cloud covered it by day,[d] and the appearance of fire by night. 17 Whenever the cloud was lifted from over the tent, after that the Israelites set out; and in the place where the cloud settled, there the Israelites camped. 18 At Yahweh's command the Israelites journeyed, and at Yahweh's command they pitched camp; as long as the cloud stayed over the tabernacle they remained in their camp. 19 Even when the cloud lingered over the tabernacle many days, the Israelites kept Yahweh's charge and did not set out. 20 Sometimes the cloud was over the tabernacle a few days. At the command of Yahweh they remained in camp, and at the command of Yahweh they set out.

21 Sometimes the cloud stayed only from evening to morning, and whenever it lifted in the morning they journeyed on; or if it stayed a day and a night, they journeyed when it lifted. 22 Whether it was two days, a month, or a year[e] that the cloud stayed over the tabernacle, the Israelites remained camped and did not journey; but when it lifted, they journeyed. 23 At Yahweh's command they pitched camp, and at Yahweh's command they journeyed; they kept the charge of Yahweh, as Yahweh directed through Moses.

Notes

- a (9:1) The first month of Israel's religious calendar, which began in spring, was Abib, later called Nisan (Exodus 12:2; 13:4). Because the months were lunar, the dates fall in different parts of March and April from year to year. This is one month before the census of 1:1.
- b (9:3) Hebrew "between the two evenings," probably the time between sunset and dark. So also in verses 5 and 11. See the note at Exodus 12:6.
- c (9:10) This is the provision for a "second Passover" one month later, in the second month (Iyyar, also called Ziv).
- d (9:16) The Septuagint and other ancient versions read "by day." The traditional Hebrew text lacks the words.
- e (9:22) Hebrew yamim, "days," which can mean a year or an indefinite period.

Chapter 10

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Make two trumpets of silver. Make them of hammered work. You are to use them for summoning the congregation and for breaking camp. 3 When both are blown, the whole congregation is to gather to you at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 4 But if only one is sounded, the leaders, the heads of Israel's divisions,[a] shall gather before you. 5 When you sound an alarm,[b] the camps that are on the east side are to set out. 6 When you sound an alarm a second time, the camps that are on the south side are to set out. An alarm is to be sounded whenever they are to set out.[c] 7 But when the assembly is to be gathered, you are to blow, but not sound an alarm. 8 The sons of Aaron, the priests, shall blow the trumpets; and they shall be an ordinance forever to you throughout your generations. 9 When you go to war in your land against the enemy who attacks you, you shall sound the alarm with the trumpets, and you will be remembered before Yahweh your God, and you will be delivered from your enemies. 10 On your days of gladness too, at your appointed feasts and the first of every month,[d] you shall blow the trumpets over your burnt offerings and your peace offering sacrifices; they shall be a memorial for you before your God: I am Yahweh your God."[e]

11 In the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month (in April–May),[f] the cloud was lifted from over the tabernacle of the testimony, 12 and the Israelites set out by stages from the Wilderness of Sinai. The cloud settled in the Wilderness of Paran. 13 They set out for the first time at the command of Yahweh through Moses. 14 The banner of the camp of the descendants of Judah set out first by their divisions, and over their army was Nahshon son of Amminadab. 15 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Issachar was Nethanel son of Zuar. 16 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Zebulun was Eliab son of Helon.

17 Then the tabernacle was taken apart, and Gershon's sons and Merari's sons, the bearers of the tabernacle, set out. 18 The banner of the camp of Reuben set out by their divisions, and over their army was Elizur son of Shedeur. 19 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Simeon was Shelumiel son of Zurishaddai. 20 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Gad was Eliasaph son of Deuel.

21 And the Kohathites moved out, bearing the sanctuary, so that the tabernacle could be set up by the time they arrived. 22 The banner of the camp of the descendants of Ephraim set out by their divisions, and over their army was Elishama son of Ammihud. 23 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Manasseh was Gamaliel son of Pedahzur. 24 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Benjamin was Abidan son of Gideoni.

25 Then the banner of the camp of the descendants of Dan, the rear guard of all the camps, set out by their divisions, and over their army was Ahiezer son of Ammishaddai. 26 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Asher was Pagiel son of Ochran. 27 Over the army of the tribe of the descendants of Naphtali was Ahira son of Enan. 28 This was the order of march of the Israelites by their divisions when they set out.

29 Moses said to Hobab son of Reuel[g] the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, "We are setting out for the place of which Yahweh said, 'I will give it to you.' Come with us, and we will treat you well, for Yahweh has promised good things to Israel." 30 But he said to him, "I will not go. I will go back to my own land and to my relatives." 31 And he said, "Please do not leave us, since you know how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and you can be our eyes. 32 And if you do go with us, then whatever good Yahweh gives us, we will share it with you."

33 So they set out from the mountain of Yahweh three days' journey. The ark of the covenant of Yahweh went before them three days' journey,[h] to seek out a resting place for them. 34 The cloud of Yahweh was over them by day when they set out from the camp.

35 Whenever the ark set out,[i] Moses would say, "Arise, Yahweh, and let your enemies be scattered, and let those who hate you flee before you." 36 And when it rested, he would say, "Return, Yahweh, to the countless thousands of Israel."[j]

Notes

- a (10:4) Or "clans." See the note at 1:16.
- b (10:5) Hebrew teruʿah, a loud blast or series of blasts, as distinct from an ordinary blowing of the trumpet.
- c (10:6) The Septuagint adds that at a third and a fourth alarm the camps on the west and on the north are to set out. The Hebrew lacks this.
- d (10:10) Hebrew "heads of your months," the new moon at the beginning of each lunar month.
- e (10:10) At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds a long passage taken from Deuteronomy 1:6–8, in which Yahweh commands Israel to leave Horeb and go into the hill country of the Amorites. Similar harmonizing expansions, drawn from Deuteronomy or from elsewhere in Numbers, occur in the Samaritan Pentateuch at 12:16; 13:33; 14:40, 45; 20:13; 21; 27:23; and 31:20. Several are also preserved in fragments of Numbers from the Dead Sea Scrolls. They are not found in the traditional Hebrew text and most are absent from the Septuagint.
- f (10:11) Second month: Iyyar, also called Ziv, of the spring-start religious calendar; because the months were lunar, the date falls in different parts of April and May. Israel had been at Sinai about eleven months (Exodus 19:1).

- g (10:29) Hobab means "beloved." Reuel means "friend of God." He is also called Jethro in Exodus 3:1; 18:1. Here it is not certain whether "Moses' father-in-law" refers to Hobab or to Reuel; Judges 4:11 calls Hobab Moses' father-in-law.
- h (10:33) The repetition of "three days' journey" is unusual; some interpreters suspect that the second occurrence arose from a copying error.
- i (10:35) In the traditional Hebrew text, verses 35–36 are set off by a reversed Hebrew letter nun before and after them, the so-called "inverted nuns." Ancient rabbis explained these marks as showing that the passage stands out of its proper place or forms a separate book. The Septuagint places verse 34 after verses 35–36.
- j (10:36) Or "Return, Yahweh, the countless thousands of Israel," that is, bring them back. Hebrew "ten thousands of thousands."

Chapter 11

1 Now the people became like those who complain of misfortune in the hearing of Yahweh. When Yahweh heard it, his anger burned, and the fire of Yahweh burned among them and consumed some of the outskirts of the camp. 2 Then the people cried out to Moses, and Moses prayed to Yahweh, and the fire died down. 3 So the name of that place was called Taberah,[a] because the fire of Yahweh had burned among them.
4 Now the rabble[b] among them began to crave other food; and the Israelites also wept again and said, "Who will feed us meat? 5 We remember the fish we used to eat free in Egypt, the cucumbers, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic; 6 But now our throat is dried up. There is nothing at all except this manna to look at." 7 The manna was like coriander seed, and its appearance was like the appearance of bdellium.[c] 8 The people went about and gathered it, ground it in mills or pounded it in mortars, boiled it in pots, and made cakes of it. Its taste was like the taste of cakes baked with oil. 9 When the dew fell on the camp at night, the manna fell with it.
10 Moses heard the people weeping, family by family, each at the entrance of his tent. Yahweh's anger burned greatly, and in Moses' eyes it was evil. 11 So Moses said to Yahweh, "Why have you dealt ill with your servant? Why have I not found grace in your sight, that you place the burden of this entire people on me? 12 Did I conceive all these people? Did I bring them forth, that you should say to me, 'Carry them in your arms, as a nursing father carries a nursing infant,' to the land you promised on oath to their ancestors? 13 Where would I find meat to give this entire people? For they keep weeping to me, saying, 'Give us meat to eat!' 14 I am not able to carry all this people by myself; it is too heavy for me. 15 If this is how you deal with me, kill me at once, I pray, if I have found favor in your sight, and do not let me see my wretchedness."[d] 16 So Yahweh said to Moses, "Gather to me seventy men of the elders of Israel, whom you know as the elders and officials of the people; bring them to the tent of meeting, and have them stand there beside you. 17 I will come down and speak with you there; then I will take some of the Spirit[e] that is upon you and place it on them, and they shall share the burden of the people with you, so that you do not carry it alone. 18 And say to the people: 'Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, and you shall eat meat, because you have wept in Yahweh's hearing, saying, "Who will feed us meat? For we were better off in Egypt!" Therefore Yahweh will give you meat, and you shall eat. 19 You will not eat it for one day, or two days, or five days, or ten days, or twenty days, 20 but for a full month, until it comes out at your nostrils and becomes loathsome to you, because you have rejected Yahweh who is among you and have wept before him, saying, "Why did we ever leave Egypt?"'" 21 And Moses said, "The people among whom I live number six hundred thousand foot soldiers;[f] and yet you have said, 'I will give them meat, that they may eat for a full month.' 22 Should flocks and herds be slaughtered for them, to be enough for them?

Or should all the fish of the sea be gathered together for them, to be enough for them?" 23 Yahweh said to Moses, "Is Yahweh's hand too short?[g] Now you will see whether my word will come true for you or not."
24 So Moses went out and told the people the words of Yahweh. He gathered seventy men of the elders of the people and had them stand around the tent. 25 Then Yahweh came down in the cloud and spoke to him, and took some of the Spirit that was on him and put it on the seventy elders. When the Spirit rested on them, they prophesied, but they did not do so again.[h]

26 Yet two men remained in the camp, one called Eldad and the other Medad;[i] the Spirit settled on them, for they were among those enrolled, though they had not gone out to the tent; and they prophesied in the camp. 27 A young man ran and told Moses, "Eldad and Medad are prophesying in the camp." 28 Joshua son of Nun, Moses' assistant from his youth,[j] answered, "My lord Moses, stop them!" 29
But Moses said to him, "Are you jealous for my sake? I wish that all Yahweh's people were prophets, that Yahweh would put his Spirit on them!" 30 And Moses and the elders of Israel returned to the camp.
31 Then a wind went out from Yahweh and brought quail from the sea and let them fall beside the camp, about a day's journey on this side and about a day's journey on the other side, all around the camp, about 3 feet[k] above the ground. 32 And the people were up all that day and all night and all the following day, gathering quail; the one who gathered least had about 60 bushels.[l] And they spread them out for themselves around the camp. 33 While the meat was still between their teeth, before it was chewed, the anger of Yahweh burned against the people, and Yahweh struck the people with a very great plague. 34 So the name of that place was called Kibroth-hattaavah,[m] because there they buried the people who had the craving. 35 From Kibroth-hattaavah the people set out for Hazeroth, and they stayed at Hazeroth.

Notes

- a (11:3) Taberah means "burning."
- b (11:4) Hebrew 'asafsuf, a rare word for a gathered crowd, probably the non-Israelites who left Egypt with them (Exodus 12:38).
- c (11:7) Hebrew bedolakh, probably a pale, translucent resin. Compare Genesis 2:12.
- d (11:15) Ancient scribal tradition lists this as one of the "corrections of the scribes": the text originally read "your misery" (that is, the wrong done to Moses by Yahweh), and was changed for reverence.
- e (11:17) Or "spirit." So also in verses 25, 26, and 29.
- f (11:21) The round figure corresponds to the census total of 603,550 (1:46). On the meaning of the figures, see the note at 1:46.
- g (11:23) That is, is Yahweh's power limited?
- h (11:25) Or "but they did not stop." The Hebrew verb is ambiguous; the Targums and the Vulgate read "and they did not cease."

- i (11:26) Eldad means “God has loved.” Medad perhaps means “beloved.”
- j (11:28) Or “one of his chosen men.” The Septuagint reads “the chosen one.”
- k (11:31) Or “about two cubits deep,” meaning that the quail flew about 3 feet (90 centimeters) above the ground, or that they lay in heaps of that depth. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters).
- l (11:32) Hebrew “ten homers,” about 2,200 liters. A homer was about 6 bushels (220 liters); standards varied.
- m (11:34) Kibroth-hattaavah means “graves of craving.”

Chapter 12

1 Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Cushite[a] woman whom he had married, for he had married a Cushite woman.
2 They said, “Has Yahweh spoken only through Moses? Has he not also spoken through us?” And Yahweh heard it. 3 Now the man Moses was very humble,[b] more than all the people who were on the face of the earth.
4 Suddenly Yahweh spoke to Moses, Aaron, and Miriam: “Come out, you three, to the tent of meeting!” So the three of them came out. 5 Yahweh came down in a pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the tent and called Aaron and Miriam, and they both came forward. 6 He said, “Hear my words: If there is a prophet among you, I, Yahweh, make myself known to him in a vision; I speak with him in a dream. 7 Not so with my servant Moses. He is faithful in all my house. 8 With him I speak mouth to mouth, visibly and not in riddles, and the form of Yahweh he beholds. Why then did you not fear to speak against my servant Moses?” 9 And the anger of Yahweh burned against them, and he departed.
10 When the cloud moved away from over the tent, there was Miriam with a skin disease, white as snow.[c] Aaron turned toward Miriam, and there she was with a skin disease. 11 Aaron said to Moses, “Oh, my lord, please do not hold against us the sin that we have so foolishly committed and the wrong we have done. 12 Please do not let her be like a stillborn child, whose flesh is half eaten away when it comes out of its mother’s womb.”[d] 13 And Moses cried out to Yahweh, saying, “O God, please heal her, please.”

14 But Yahweh said to Moses, “If her father had only spat in her face, would she not be in disgrace for seven days? Let her be shut outside the camp for seven days, and afterward she may be brought back in.” 15 So Miriam was shut outside the camp for seven days, and the people did not set out until Miriam was brought back. 16 After that the people set out from Hazeroth and camped in the Wilderness of Paran.[e]

Notes

- a (12:1) Cush was the region south of Egypt (ancient Nubia). Some identify the woman with Zipporah, whose people were from Midian (Exodus 2:21), linking Cush with Cushan (Habakkuk 3:7); others think of a second wife.
- b (12:3) Or “meek.” Hebrew ‘anav, one who is lowly and dependent on God rather than self-assertive.
- c (12:10) That is, flaky or white like snow. On the Hebrew term for skin disease, see the note at 5:2.
- d (12:12) Ancient scribal tradition lists “her mother’s womb … her flesh” here as a “correction of the scribes” for an original “our mother’s womb … our flesh.”
- e (12:16) At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 1:20–23, introducing the sending of the spies. See the note at 10:10.

Chapter 13

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Send out men to explore the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the Israelites. From each tribe of their fathers you are to send a man, every one a leader among them.” 3 So Moses sent them from the Wilderness of Paran at the command of Yahweh. All of them were men who were heads of the Israelites. 4 These were their names: from the tribe of Reuben, Shammua son of Zaccur; 5 from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat son of Hori; 6 from the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh;[a] 7 from the tribe of Issachar, Igal son of Joseph; 8 from the tribe of Ephraim, Hoshea son of Nun; 9 from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti son of Raphu; 10 from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddiel son of Sodi; 11 from the tribe of Joseph, namely the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi the son of Susi; 12 from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel son of Gemalli; 13 from the tribe of Asher, Sethur son of Michael; 14 from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi son of Vophsi; 15 from the tribe of Gad, Geuel son of Machi. 16 These are the names of the men Moses sent to spy out the land. And Moses called Hoshea the son of Nun, Joshua.[b]

17 When Moses sent them to spy out the land of Canaan, he said to them, "Go up this way into the Negev,[c] and go up to the mountains, 18 and see what the land is like, and whether the people who live in it are strong or weak, few or many, 19 and what the land is like where they live, good or bad; and whether the towns they inhabit are camps or fortresses; 20 and whether the soil is rich or poor, and if there are woods in it or none. Take courage, and fetch some of the land's fruit." It was the season of the first ripe grapes.[d] 21 So they went up and explored the land from the Wilderness of Zin as far as Rehob, near Lebo-hamath.[e] 22 And they went up through the Negev and came to Hebron, where Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai, the descendants of Anak,[f] lived. (Now Hebron was built seven years before Zoan in Egypt.) 23 They came to the Valley of Eshcol[g] and from there cut off a branch bearing a single cluster of grapes, and two of them carried it on a pole; they also brought some of the pomegranates and figs. 24 That place was named the Valley of Eshcol on account of the cluster the Israelites cut from it.
25 At the end of forty days they returned from exploring the land. 26
They came to Moses and Aaron and to the whole congregation of the Israelites in the Wilderness of Paran, at Kadesh. They brought back word to them and to the whole congregation and showed them the fruit of the land. 27 They told him, "We went into the land to which you sent us. It does flow with milk and honey, and this is its fruit. 28 However, the people who live in the land are strong, and the cities are fortified and very large. We also saw the descendants of Anak there.
29 The Amalekites dwell in the Negev; the Hittites, the Jebusites, and the Amorites dwell in the hill country; and the Canaanites dwell by the sea and along the Jordan." 30 Then Caleb silenced the people before Moses and said, "We should go up at once and take possession, for we are fully able to conquer it." 31 But the men who had gone up with him said, "We are not able to go up against the people, for they are stronger than we are." 32 And they gave the Israelites a bad report of the land they had spied out, saying, "The land through which we went to spy it out devours those who live in it, and all the people we saw in it are of great stature. 33

There we saw the Nephilim[h] (the descendants of Anak come from the Nephilim), and we seemed like grasshoppers in our own eyes, and so we seemed in their eyes."[i]

Notes

- a (13:6) Many names in this list are found only here; their meanings are uncertain. Caleb may mean "dog," perhaps in the sense of a faithful servant. Shammua means "heard"; Shaphat, "he has judged"; Igal, "he redeems"; Hoshea, "salvation"; Gaddiel, "God is my fortune"; Ammiel, "my kinsman is God"; Michael, "who is like God?"
- b (13:16) Hoshea means "salvation." Joshua (Hebrew Yehoshua') means "Yahweh is salvation."
- c (13:17) Hebrew negev, "dry land," the arid region in the south of Canaan.
- d (13:20) That is, July–August.
- e (13:21) Or "Lebo of Hamath," or "the entrance of Hamath," at the northern limit of the land.
- f (13:22) Or "the Anakim," a people remembered for their great height. The name Anak may mean "long-necked." Ahiman perhaps means "my brother is a gift"; Sheshai and Talmai are of uncertain meaning.
- g (13:23) Eshcol means "cluster."
- h (13:33) Hebrew nefilim, perhaps "fallen ones." Compare Genesis 6:4. The Septuagint translates "giants."
- i (13:33) At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 1:27–33. See the note at 10:10.

Chapter 14

1 Then the whole congregation raised a loud cry, and the people wept that night. 2 All the Israelites grumbled against Moses and Aaron, and the whole congregation said to them, "If only we had died in the land of Egypt! Or if only we had died in this wilderness! 3 Why is Yahweh bringing us to this land only to die by the sword? Our wives and children will be taken as spoil. Would we not be better off returning to Egypt?" 4 And they said to one another, "Let us appoint a leader and go back to Egypt."
5 Then Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before the whole assembly of the congregation of the Israelites. 6 And Joshua son of Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, who were among those who had explored the land, tore their clothes 7 and said to the whole congregation of the Israelites, "The land that we passed through to explore it is an exceedingly good land. 8 If Yahweh delights in us, he will bring us into this land and give it to us, a land that flows with milk and honey. 9 Only, do not rebel against Yahweh, and do not be afraid of the people of the land, for we will devour them like bread. Their shelter[a] is gone from them, and Yahweh is with us; do not be afraid of them." 10 But the whole congregation talked of stoning them with stones. Then the glory of Yahweh appeared in the tent of meeting before all the Israelites.

11 And Yahweh said to Moses, "How long will these people treat me with contempt? How long will they refuse to trust me, despite all the signs I have performed among them? 12 I will strike them with plague and dispossess them, and I will make you into a nation greater and stronger than they."
13 And Moses said to Yahweh, "Then the Egyptians will hear of it—for with your might you brought up this people from their midst— 14 and they will tell it to the inhabitants of this land. They have heard that you, Yahweh, are among this people, for you, Yahweh, are seen eye to eye, and your cloud stands over them, and you go before them in a pillar of cloud by day and in a pillar of fire by night. 15 Now if you kill this people as one man, then the nations who have heard your fame will say, 16 'Because Yahweh was not able to bring this people into the land that he swore to give them, he has slaughtered them in the wilderness.' 17 And now, I pray, let my Lord's power be great,[b] as you have declared: 18 'Yahweh is long-suffering and rich in steadfast love,[c] forgiving iniquity and transgression, yet he does not clear the guilty, but visits the iniquity of the fathers on the children, on the third and the fourth generation.' 19 Pardon the iniquity of this people, I pray, in keeping with the greatness of your steadfast love, as you have forgiven them from the time of Egypt until now." 20 Yahweh said, "I have pardoned, as you asked. 21 But truly, as I live, and as all the earth will be filled with the glory of Yahweh, 22 because all those men who have seen my glory and my signs which I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, yet have put me to the proof ten times and have not heeded my voice, 23 will see the land that I swore to give to their fathers. None of those who despised me will see it. 24 But my servant Caleb, because he has a different spirit and has followed me fully, I will bring into the land into which he went, and his descendants will possess it. 25 Now the Amalekites and the Canaanites live in the valleys. Tomorrow turn and set out for the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea."[d] 26 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 27 "How long shall I bear with this wicked congregation that grumbles against me? I have heard the grumblings of the Israelites, which they grumble against me. 28 Say to them, 'As I live, declares Yahweh, I will do to you just as you have spoken in my hearing. 29 Your dead bodies will fall in this wilderness, all of you who were counted in your whole number, from twenty years old and upward, who have grumbled against me. 30 Not one of you will come into the land where I swore[e] to settle you, except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun. 31 But your little ones, whom you said would become spoil, I will bring in, and they shall know the land you have despised. 32 But as for you, your dead bodies will fall in this wilderness. 33 Your children will be shepherds in the wilderness forty years and will suffer for your unfaithfulness,[f] until the last of your dead bodies lies in the wilderness. 34 According to the number of the days you spied out the land—forty days, a day for each year—you shall bear your guilt forty years, and you shall know what it is to have me against you.'[g] 35 I, Yahweh, have said it; I will surely do this to all this evil congregation that has banded together against me. In this wilderness they shall be finished, and there they shall die."

36 As for the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land, who came back and made the whole congregation complain against him by spreading a bad report about the land, 37 the men who brought the bad report about the land died by a plague before Yahweh. 38 But Joshua the son of Nun and Caleb the son of Jephunneh remained alive of those men who went to spy out the land.
39 When Moses told these words to all the Israelites, the people mourned greatly. 40 They rose early in the morning and went up to the top of the hill country, saying, "Here we are. We will go up to the place that Yahweh has promised, for we have sinned."[h] 41 But Moses said, "Why are you transgressing the command of Yahweh? It will not succeed. 42 Do not go up, for Yahweh is not in your midst; you will be defeated by your enemies. 43 For the Amalekites and the Canaanites are facing you there, and you shall fall by the sword; because you have turned away from Yahweh, Yahweh will not be with you." 44 But they dared to go up toward the crest of the hill country, though neither the ark of Yahweh's covenant nor Moses left the camp. 45 Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites who lived in that hill country came down and struck them and crushed them as far as Hormah.[i]

Notes

- a (14:9) Hebrew "their shadow," that is, the protection of their gods.
- b (14:17) In the traditional Hebrew text the first letter of the word for "be great" is written larger than normal, a scribal feature with no certain meaning.
- c (14:18) Hebrew khesed, covenant loyalty and love. Verses 18–19 echo Exodus 34:6–7.
- d (14:25) Hebrew yam suf, "Sea of Reeds." Here it probably refers to the Gulf of Aqaba. See the note at Exodus 10:19.
- e (14:30) Hebrew "lifted my hand," a gesture of swearing an oath.
- f (14:33) Hebrew "bear your whoredoms," a common biblical image for unfaithfulness to God.
- g (14:34) Or "what it means to have me against you." The Hebrew word is rare.
- h (14:40) At this point and after verse 45 the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 1–2. See the note at 10:10.
- i (14:45) Hormah means "destruction" or "devoted to destruction." Compare 21:3.

Chapter 15

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you enter the land of your dwellings, which I am giving you, 3 and you present a fire offering to Yahweh from the herd or the flock, whether a burnt offering or a sacrifice, in fulfillment of a vow, or as a freewill offering, or on your appointed feast days, to produce a pleasing aroma for Yahweh, 4 then the one who brings his offering is to present to Yahweh a grain offering of about 2 quarts of fine flour mixed with about 1 quart of oil.[a] 5 You are also to prepare about 1 quart of wine for the drink offering with the burnt offering or for the sacrifice, for each lamb. 6 For a ram you are to prepare as a grain offering about 4 quarts of fine flour mixed with about 1⅓ quarts of oil.[b] 7 And for the drink offering you are to present about 1⅓ quarts of wine, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 8 When you prepare a young bull as a burnt offering or a sacrifice, to fulfill a vow, or as peace offerings to Yahweh, 9 then one is to present with the young bull a grain offering of about 6 quarts of fine flour mixed with about 2 quarts of oil.[c] 10 And you are to present for the drink offering about 2 quarts of wine, as an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh.

11 "This is how it shall be done for each ox, for each ram, for each male lamb, or for each kid. 12 According to the number that you prepare, so you are to do with each one, according to their number. 13 "All who are native-born shall do these things in this manner, when they present a fire offering of pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 14 And if a foreigner is living with you, or anyone who is among you throughout your generations, and he wants to present an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh, he is to do as you do. 15 As for the assembly, there shall be one statute for you and for the stranger living with you—a perpetual statute throughout your generations; the stranger shall be as you are before Yahweh. 16 One law and one rule is to apply to you and to the foreigner who lives with you.'"
17 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 18 "Speak to the Israelites and tell them: When you come to the land where I am bringing you, 19 and you eat of the bread of the land, you are to present a contribution to Yahweh. 20 You shall offer up a cake from the first of your dough[d] as a contribution; as you do with the contribution of the threshing floor, so you shall offer it. 21 From the first of your dough you are to give to Yahweh a contribution throughout your generations.
22 "'But if you unintentionally fail and do not keep all these commandments that Yahweh has spoken to Moses, 23 all that Yahweh has commanded you through Moses, from the day that Yahweh gave commandment and onward throughout your generations, 24 then it shall be, if it was done in error, without the congregation's knowledge, that the whole congregation shall offer one young bull for a burnt offering, as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh, with its grain offering and its drink offering, according to the ordinance, and one male goat for a sin offering. 25 So the priest shall make atonement for the entire congregation of the Israelites, and it shall be forgiven them, for it was an error; they shall bring their offering, a fire offering to Yahweh, and their sin offering before Yahweh, on account of their error. 26 The whole congregation of the Israelites will be forgiven, and the foreigner who lives among them, because the whole people was involved in the mistake.

27 "'If one person sins unintentionally, he is to offer a female goat a year old as a sin offering. 28 And the priest shall make atonement for the person who errs when he sins by mistake before Yahweh, making atonement for him; and he shall be forgiven. 29 You are to have one law for the one who acts unintentionally, both for the native among the Israelites and for the foreigner who lives among them. 30 But the person who acts with a high hand,[e] whether native or foreigner, is blaspheming Yahweh, and that person is to be cut off from among his people. 31 Because he has despised Yahweh's word and broken his commandment, that person shall be utterly cut off; his guilt shall be upon him.'"

32 While the Israelites were in the wilderness, they found a man gathering wood on the Sabbath day. 33 Those who found him gathering wood brought him to Moses and Aaron and to the whole congregation. 34 They placed him in custody, because it had not been declared what should be done to him. 35 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "The man shall surely be put to death; all the congregation shall stone him with stones outside the camp." 36 So the whole congregation brought him outside the camp and stoned him with stones, and he died, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

37 Yahweh said to Moses, 38 "Speak to the Israelites and instruct them to make tassels[f] on the corners of their garments throughout their generations, putting a blue[g] cord on the tassel of each corner. 39 And it shall be a tassel for you to gaze upon and so remember all of Yahweh's commandments and do them, rather than follow the desires of your own heart and your own eyes, which lead you to unfaithfulness. 40 So you will remember and do all my commandments, and be holy to your God. 41 I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt to be your God. I am Yahweh your God."

Notes

- a (15:4) Hebrew “a tenth of fine flour mixed with a quarter of a hin of oil,” about 2.2 liters of flour and 0.9 liter of oil. The tenth is a tenth of an ephah; an ephah was about three-fifths of a bushel (22 liters), and a hin about 1 gallon (3.7 liters). Standards varied. So also with the wine in verse 5.
- b (15:6) Hebrew “two-tenths of fine flour mixed with a third of a hin of oil,” about 4.4 liters of flour and 1.2 liters of oil. So also with the wine in verse 7.
- c (15:9) Hebrew “three-tenths of fine flour mixed with half a hin of oil,” about 6.6 liters of flour and 1.9 liters of oil. So also with the wine in verse 10.
- d (15:20) Or “coarse meal.” The Hebrew word ‘arisah is uncertain.
- e (15:30) That is, defiantly and deliberately.
- f (15:38) Hebrew tsitsit, a tassel or fringe.
- g (15:38) Hebrew tekhelet, a blue or violet dye made from murex shellfish.

Chapter 16

1 Now Korah son of Izhar, son of Kohath, son of Levi, took men,[a] together with Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and On son of Peleth, sons of Reuben.[b] 2 They rose up before Moses, together with two hundred fifty men of the Israelites, leaders of the congregation, chosen from the assembly, men of renown. 3 They assembled against Moses and against Aaron and said to them, “You have gone too far!
For all the congregation is holy, every one of them, and Yahweh is among them. Why then do you exalt yourselves above the assembly of Yahweh?”
4 When Moses heard it, he fell on his face. 5 And he said to Korah and all his company, “Tomorrow morning Yahweh will show who is his, and who is holy, and he will cause that one to come near him; the one he chooses he will cause to come near him. 6 Do this: take censers, Korah and all his company, 7 and tomorrow put fire in them and put incense on them before Yahweh. The man whom Yahweh chooses, he is the holy one. You have gone too far, sons of Levi!” 8 And Moses said to Korah, “Hear now, you sons of Levi: 9 Is it too little for you that the God of Israel has distinguished you from the rest of Israel’s community, drawing you near to himself for the labor of Yahweh’s tabernacle, and appointing you to stand before the community to serve them, 10 and that he has brought you near, and all your brothers the sons of Levi with you? Would you seek the priesthood also? 11 Therefore it is against Yahweh that you and all your company have gathered together. As for Aaron, who is he, that you grumble against him?" 12 Moses sent to call Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, but they said, "We will not come up. 13 Is it not enough that you have brought us up out of a land flowing with milk and honey to kill us in the wilderness, but you would also make yourself a ruler over us? 14 Moreover, you have not brought us into a land flowing with milk and honey, nor given us an inheritance of fields and vineyards. Will you gouge out the eyes of these men?[c] We will not come up." 15 Moses was very angry and said to Yahweh, "Do not respect their offering. I have not taken a single donkey from them, and I have not harmed one of them." 16 And Moses said to Korah, "You and all your company, be present before Yahweh tomorrow, you and they and Aaron. 17 Let each man take his censer and put incense on it, and each bring his censer before Yahweh—two hundred and fifty censers; you also, and Aaron, each with his censer." 18 So each man took his censer, put fire in them, laid incense on them, and stood at the entrance of the tent of meeting with Moses and Aaron. 19 And Korah gathered the whole congregation against them at the door of the tent of meeting; then the glory of Yahweh appeared to the whole congregation.

20 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 21 "Separate yourselves from among this congregation, so that I may consume them in a moment." 22 But they fell on their faces and said, "O God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, shall one man sin, and will you be angry with the whole congregation?"
23 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 24 "Speak to the congregation, saying, 'Get away from around the dwelling of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram.'" 25 Then Moses rose and went to Dathan and Abiram, and the elders of Israel followed him. 26 And he spoke to the congregation, saying, "Move away, I urge you, from the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing that belongs to them, or you will be swept away with all their sins." 27 So they got away from around the dwelling of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram. Dathan and Abiram came out and stood at the entrance of their tents, with their wives, their sons, and their little ones.

28 And Moses said, “By this you shall know that Yahweh has sent me to do all these works, for they are not of my own devising.[d] 29 If these men die as all people die, or if they are visited by the fate of all people, then Yahweh has not sent me. 30 But if Yahweh creates something new, and the ground opens its mouth and swallows them up with all that belongs to them, and they go down alive into Sheol,[e] then you will know that these men have despised Yahweh.” 31 Now as he finished speaking all these words, the ground beneath them split open, 32 and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, together with their households, and all Korah’s people[f] and all their goods. 33 So they and all that belonged to them went down alive into Sheol, and the earth closed over them, and they perished from the midst of the assembly. 34 All Israel who were around them fled at their cry, for they said, “The earth might swallow us up!” 35 And fire came out from Yahweh and consumed the two hundred fifty men who were offering the incense.
36 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying,[g] 37 “Tell Eleazar son of Aaron the priest to take up the censers out of the blaze, and scatter the fire far away, for they have become holy. 38 As for the censers of these sinners who have forfeited their lives, let them be hammered into plating to cover the altar, since they offered them before Yahweh and they became holy; and they shall be a sign to the Israelites.” 39 So Eleazar the priest took the bronze censers that those who were burned had presented, and they were hammered out as a covering for the altar, 40 as a memorial to the Israelites, that no stranger who is not a descendant of Aaron may approach to burn incense before Yahweh, or he will become like Korah and his company, just as Yahweh had said to him through Moses.
41 But on the next day the whole congregation of the Israelites grumbled against Moses and against Aaron, saying, “You have killed the people of Yahweh.” 42 When the congregation had gathered against Moses and Aaron, they turned toward the tent of meeting; and behold, the cloud covered it, and the glory of Yahweh appeared. 43 Moses and Aaron came to the front of the tent of meeting, 44 and Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 45 “Get away from the midst of this congregation, so that I may consume them in a moment." And they fell on their faces. 46 So Moses said to Aaron, "Take your censer and put fire in it from the altar, lay incense on it, go quickly to the congregation and make atonement for them; for wrath has gone out from Yahweh, and the plague has begun." 47 So Aaron took it as Moses had said and ran into the midst of the assembly. And the plague had already begun among the people. He put on the incense and made atonement for the people. 48 He stood between the dead and the living, and the plague was stopped. 49 Now those who died in the plague numbered 14,700, besides those who died because of Korah. 50 So Aaron went back to Moses at the door of the tent of meeting, for the plague had been stopped.

Notes

- a (16:1) Or "took action," or "became insolent." The Hebrew has no object, and the meaning is uncertain.
- b (16:1) Korah perhaps means "bald." Izhar means "shining." Dathan is of uncertain meaning. Abiram means "my father is exalted." On means "strength" or "wealth." Peleth perhaps means "swiftness."
- c (16:14) That is, will you blind them to what you are doing?
- d (16:28) Hebrew "from my heart."
- e (16:30) Sheol is the realm of the dead, pictured as beneath the earth. So also in verse 33.
- f (16:32) According to 26:11, the sons of Korah did not die.
- g (16:36) In the Hebrew text, verses 36–50 are numbered 17:1–15.

Chapter 17

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying,[a] 2 "Speak to the Israelites, and take from them one staff for each ancestral house, from all their leaders by their ancestral houses: twelve staffs. Write each man's name on his staff. 3 Write Aaron's name on the staff of Levi. For there is to be one staff for the head of each father's house. 4 You are to deposit them in the tent of meeting before the testimony, where I meet with you. 5 And the staff of the man whom I choose will sprout. So I will stop the grumblings of the Israelites, which they grumble against you, from coming before me." 6 So Moses spoke to the Israelites, and each of their leaders gave him a staff apiece, one for each leader, according to their ancestral houses—twelve staffs; and Aaron's staff was among their staffs. 7 And Moses deposited the staffs before Yahweh in the tent of the testimony.

8 The next day Moses entered the tent of the testimony, and there the staff of Aaron for the house of Levi had sprouted, putting forth buds, bursting into blossom, and bearing ripe almonds. 9 Then Moses brought out all the staffs from before Yahweh to all the Israelites. They looked, and each man took his staff. 10 Yahweh said to Moses, "Put Aaron's staff back in front of the testimony, to be kept as a sign for the rebels, so that their murmuring against me may come to an end, and they will not die." 11 Moses did so. As Yahweh commanded him, so he did.
12 The Israelites said to Moses, "Look, we perish, we are undone, all of us are undone! 13 Whoever comes near, anyone who comes near to the tabernacle of Yahweh, must die. Shall we all perish?"

Notes

- a (17:1) In the Hebrew text, verses 1–13 are numbered 17:16–28.

Chapter 18

1 Yahweh said to Aaron, "You and your sons and your father's house with you are to bear the iniquity connected with the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you are to bear the iniquity connected with your priesthood. 2 And bring with you also your kinsmen, the tribe of Levi, your ancestral tribe, so that they may attach themselves to you[a] and serve you, while you and your sons are before the tent of the testimony. 3 They shall attend to your needs and to the needs of the whole tent; only they shall not come near the vessels of the sanctuary or the altar, lest they and you also die. 4 They shall be joined with you and attend to the tent of meeting, for all the service of the tent; but no stranger shall come near you. 5 You are to keep guard over the sanctuary and over the altar, so that there may never again be wrath on the Israelites. 6 For I myself have taken your kinsmen the Levites from among the Israelites; to you they are a gift, given over to Yahweh, to labor at the tent of meeting. 7 But you and your sons with you are to guard your priesthood in everything concerning the altar and what is inside the veil, and you are to serve. I give you your priesthood as a gift of service, and any outsider who comes near is to be put to death."

8 Then Yahweh spoke to Aaron: "See, I have placed you in charge of my contributions, all the holy gifts of the Israelites. To you I have assigned them as a portion,[b] and to your sons as a perpetual share.
9 This is to be yours from the most holy things, kept back from the fire: every offering of theirs, every grain offering, every sin offering, and every guilt offering that they render to me, is to be most holy for you and for your sons. 10 You shall eat it as something most holy; every male may eat it. Consider it holy. 11 This also is yours: the gift they set aside, all the wave offerings of the Israelites; I have given them to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a perpetual share; whoever in your house is clean may eat of it. 12 All the finest of the oil, the finest of the new wine and of the grain, the firstfruits that they give to Yahweh, I have given to you. 13 The first ripe fruits of all that is in their land, which they bring to Yahweh, are to be yours. Everyone in your house who is clean may eat it. 14 Everything devoted[c] in Israel is to be yours. 15 Everything that opens the womb of all flesh, which they present to Yahweh, both of people and of animals, is to be yours. Nevertheless, you must surely redeem the firstborn of people, and you are to redeem the firstborn of unclean animals.
16 Their redemption price, from a month old, you are to fix at about 2 ounces of silver,[d] by the sanctuary standard. 17 But the firstborn of a cow, or the firstborn of a sheep, or the firstborn of a goat, you must not redeem. They are holy. You are to sprinkle their blood on the altar and burn their fat as an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. 18 But their flesh is to be yours, just as the breast that is waved and the right thigh are yours. 19 All the holy contributions that the Israelites present to Yahweh I have given to you, and to your sons and daughters with you, as a permanent due. It is a covenant of salt[e] forever before Yahweh for you and for your descendants with you."
20 And Yahweh said to Aaron, "You are to have no inheritance in their land, nor any portion among them. I am your portion and your inheritance among the Israelites.

21 “And to the sons of Levi I have given all the tithes in Israel for an inheritance, in exchange for the work they perform, the work of the tent of meeting. 22 The Israelites must no longer come near the tent of meeting, lest they bear sin and die. 23 But the Levites shall perform the work of the tent of meeting, and they shall bear their own guilt; it shall be a perpetual statute throughout your generations, and among the Israelites they shall have no inheritance. 24 For the Israelites’ tithes, which they offer to Yahweh as a contribution, I have given to the Levites for an inheritance; that is why I told them that among the Israelites they shall have no inheritance.” 25 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 26 “Speak to the Levites and tell them: Whenever you receive from the Israelites the tithe I have given you from them as your inheritance, you shall set apart a contribution from it for Yahweh, a tenth of the tithe. 27 And your contribution shall be reckoned to you as though it were the grain of the threshing floor or the fullness of the winepress. 28 So you also are to present a contribution to Yahweh from all your tithes that you receive from the Israelites, and from them you are to give Yahweh’s contribution to Aaron the priest. 29 From all the gifts to you, you are to present every contribution due to Yahweh, from all the best of them, the holy part from them.’ 30 Therefore you shall say to them: ‘When you have offered up the best of it, it shall be reckoned to the Levites as the yield of the threshing floor and as the yield of the winepress. 31 You may eat it in any place, you and your households, for it is your wages in return for your service in the tent of meeting. 32 You will bear no sin because of it, when you have presented the best of it. But you must not profane the holy things of the Israelites, lest you die.’”

Notes

- a (18:2) The Hebrew verb for “be joined” (lavah) sounds like the name Levi. So also in verse 4.
- b (18:8) Or “because of the anointing.” The Hebrew word is uncertain.
- c (18:14) Hebrew kherem, something irrevocably given over to God, either for destruction or for the sanctuary’s use.
- d (18:16) Hebrew “five shekels,” about 57 grams. A shekel was about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams); standards varied. The text adds that the shekel is twenty gerahs; a gerah was one-twentieth of a shekel.

- e (18:19) That is, a permanent and binding covenant. Salt, which preserves, was used in sealing agreements.

Chapter 19

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Aaron, saying, 2 “This is the requirement of the law that Yahweh has commanded: Tell the Israelites to bring you a red heifer[a] that is flawless, with no blemish, one that has never borne a yoke. 3 You are to give it to Eleazar the priest, and it is to be taken outside the camp and slaughtered in his presence. 4 Eleazar the priest shall take some of its blood on his finger, and sprinkle it directly in front of the tent of meeting seven times. 5 Then the heifer shall be burned in his sight: its hide, its flesh, and its blood, with its dung, shall be burned. 6 The priest is to take cedarwood, hyssop, and scarlet yarn and throw them into the midst of the burning heifer. 7 Then the priest shall wash his clothes and bathe his body in water; after that he may enter the camp, but the priest remains unclean until evening. 8 The one who burns it is to wash his clothes in water and bathe his body in water, and he will be unclean until evening. 9 Then a clean man shall collect the heifer’s ashes and lay them in a clean place outside the camp; they shall be kept in reserve for the Israelite community, to prepare the water of impurity.[b] It is a sin purification. 10 And the man who collects the heifer’s ashes shall wash his clothes and be unclean until evening. This is a lasting statute for the Israelites and for the stranger residing among them.

11 “Whoever touches the dead body of any person will be unclean seven days. 12 On the third day he shall purify himself with it, and on the seventh he shall be clean; but if he does not purify himself on the third and seventh days, he shall not be clean. 13 Whoever touches a dead person, the body of anyone who has died, and does not purify himself, defiles the tabernacle of Yahweh, and that person is to be cut off from Israel. Because the water for impurity was not thrown on him, he is unclean. His uncleanness is still on him.

14 “This is the law for when someone dies in a tent: anyone entering the tent, and anyone already in it, shall be unclean for seven days; 15 and every open container, with no lid fastened on it, is unclean. 16

Whoever in the open field touches one slain with a sword, or a body that died of itself, or a human bone, or a grave, shall be unclean seven days. 17 For the unclean person they shall take some ashes from the burnt sin purification, and pour fresh running water[c] over them in a vessel. 18 Then a clean person shall take hyssop, dip it in the water, and sprinkle the tent, all its furnishings, the people who were in it, and whoever touched the bone, the murder victim, the corpse, or the grave. 19 On the third day and again on the seventh the clean person shall sprinkle the unclean; on the seventh day he shall purify him, and the man shall wash his clothes and bathe in water, and by evening he will be clean.
20 "But whoever is unclean and fails to purify himself shall be cut off from the assembly, since he has defiled Yahweh's sanctuary. The water of impurity was never sprinkled on him; he remains unclean. 21 This is a lasting statute for them. The one who sprinkles the water of impurity shall wash his clothes, and whoever touches the water of impurity shall be unclean until evening. 22 Whatever the unclean person touches will be unclean, and the person who touches it will be unclean until evening."

Notes

- a (19:2) Or "a red cow." The Hebrew word parah denotes a young female of the herd; its reddish-brown color may evoke blood.
- b (19:9) Hebrew me niddah, "water of impurity," water used to remove impurity. So also in verses 13, 20, and 21.
- c (19:17) Hebrew "living water," that is, water from a flowing source.

Chapter 20

1 The Israelites, the whole congregation, came into the Wilderness of Zin in the first month (in March–April),[a] and the people stayed at Kadesh. Miriam died there and was buried there.
2 There was no water for the congregation, and they assembled against Moses and against Aaron. 3 The people quarreled with Moses and said, "If only we had died when our brothers died before Yahweh! 4 Why have you brought the assembly of Yahweh into this wilderness, that we and our livestock should die here? 5 And why did you bring us up from Egypt to this miserable place? Nothing grows here—no grain, no figs, no vines, no pomegranates—and there is no water to drink." 6 Then Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly to the entrance of the tent of meeting and fell on their faces. And the glory of Yahweh appeared to them.

7 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 8 "Take the staff and assemble the congregation, you and your brother Aaron, and tell the rock in their sight to give its water; so you will bring water out of the rock for them and give the congregation and their animals something to drink." 9 Moses took the staff from before Yahweh, as he had commanded him.
10 Moses and Aaron assembled the congregation in front of the rock, and he said to them, "Listen, rebels! Are we to bring water for you from this rock?" 11 Then Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with his rod; and the water gushed out, and the congregation drank, and their animals too. 12 But Yahweh said to Moses and Aaron, "Because you did not believe in me, to treat me as holy in the eyes of the Israelites, therefore you will not bring this assembly into the land that I have given them." 13 These are the waters of Meribah,[b] where the Israelites quarreled with Yahweh, and he showed himself holy among them.[c] 14 Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the king of Edom: "Thus says your brother Israel: You know all the hardship that has come upon us, 15 how our ancestors went down into Egypt, and we stayed in Egypt a long time, and the Egyptians mistreated us and our ancestors.
16 And when we cried to Yahweh, he heard our voice and sent an angel[d] and brought us out of Egypt. Now we are at Kadesh, a city on the edge of your territory. 17 Please let us cross your land. We will not go through any field or vineyard, and we will not drink from any well; we will keep to the King's Highway,[e] and not veer to the right or the left until we have crossed your territory." 18 But Edom said to him, "You shall not pass through me, or I will come out with the sword against you." 19 The Israelites replied, "We will keep to the main road, and if my livestock and I drink any of your water, I will pay for it. Just let me pass through on foot; nothing more." 20 But he answered, "You shall not cross." And Edom marched out to meet them with a great army and a strong hand. 21 So Edom refused to let Israel pass through his territory, and Israel turned away from him.

22 The Israelites, the whole congregation, left Kadesh and arrived at Mount Hor. 23 Yahweh spoke to Moses and Aaron at Mount Hor, on the border of the land of Edom, saying, 24 "Aaron shall be gathered to his people; he shall not enter the land that I am giving to the Israelites, because both of you rebelled against my command at the waters of Meribah. 25 Take Aaron and Eleazar his son and bring them up to Mount Hor. 26 Strip Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son. Aaron is to be gathered to his people and will die there." 27 Moses did as Yahweh commanded. They went up to Mount Hor in the sight of the whole congregation. 28 Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and put them on Eleazar his son, and Aaron died there on the top of the mountain. Then Moses and Eleazar came down from the mountain. 29 And when all the congregation saw that Aaron had died, the whole house of Israel mourned for Aaron thirty days.[f]

Notes

- a (20:1) The first month of the spring-start religious calendar, Abib (later Nisan); the dates fall in different parts of March and April from year to year because the months were lunar. The year is not stated; it is usually taken to be the fortieth year after the exodus (compare 33:38).
- b (20:13) Meribah means "quarreling." Compare Exodus 17:7.
- c (20:13) The Hebrew verb for "he showed himself holy" (yiqqadesh) echoes the name Kadesh. At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 3:24–28, in which Moses pleads to enter the land. The Dead Sea Scroll 4QNum[b] preserves a similar expansion. See the note at 10:10.
- d (20:16) Or "a messenger."
- e (20:17) The ancient main road east of the Jordan, running north to south from Damascus to the Gulf of Aqaba.
- f (20:29) According to 33:38, Aaron died on the first day of the fifth month of the fortieth year (in July–August).

Chapter 21

1 When the Canaanite king of Arad, who lived in the Negev, heard that Israel was coming by the Atharim road,[a] he attacked Israel and took some of them prisoner. 2 So Israel made a vow to Yahweh, and said, "If you will indeed deliver this people into my hand, I will utterly destroy their cities."[b] 3 And Yahweh heard Israel's voice and delivered up the Canaanites; and they utterly destroyed them and their cities.

So the place was named Hormah.[c] 4 Then they journeyed from Mount Hor by the Way of the Red Sea, to go around the land of Edom; and the people grew discouraged because of the way. 5 The people spoke against God and against Moses,
"Why have you brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness?
For there is no bread and no water, and we loathe this worthless food." 6 So Yahweh sent poisonous snakes[d] among the people; they bit the people, and a great number in Israel died. 7 The people came to Moses and said, "We have sinned, for we have spoken against Yahweh and against you. Pray to Yahweh, that he take away the serpents from us." So Moses prayed for the people. 8 And Yahweh said to Moses, "Make a fiery serpent and set it on a pole. Everyone who is bitten, when he sees it, will live." 9 Moses made a bronze snake[e] and mounted it on a pole; and whenever a snake bit someone, that person would look at the bronze snake and live.
10 The Israelites set out and camped at Oboth. 11 And they journeyed from Oboth and camped at Iye Abarim,[f] in the wilderness which is east of Moab, toward the rising of the sun. 12 From there they set out and camped in the Valley of Zered. 13 From there they set out and camped beside the Arnon, which is in the wilderness stretching out from the Amorite border; for the Arnon forms the boundary of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites. 14 Therefore the Book of the Wars of Yahweh[g] says: "Waheb in Suphah,[h] and the ravines of the Arnon, 15 and the slope of the ravines that reaches toward the dwelling of Ar, and borders on Moab."
16 From there they went to Beer.[i] That is the well of which Yahweh said to Moses, "Gather the people together, and I will give them water." 17 Then Israel sang this song: "Spring up, O well! Sing to it! 18 the well that the chiefs dug, that the nobles of the people excavated, with the ruler's staff and with their own staffs." And from the wilderness they went on to Mattanah,[j] 19 and from Mattanah to Nahaliel, and from Nahaliel to Bamoth, 20 and from Bamoth to the valley that is in the country of Moab, by the top of Pisgah, which looks down on the wasteland.[k]

21 Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, saying, 22 "Let me cross your land. We will not turn off into any field or vineyard, and we will not drink well water; we will travel the King's Highway until we have crossed your territory." 23 But Sihon refused to let Israel cross his territory. He assembled all his people, marched out against Israel into the wilderness, reached Jahaz, and fought Israel. 24 And Israel struck him with the edge of the sword and took possession of his land from the Arnon to the Jabbok, as far as the Ammonites, for the border of the Ammonites was strong.[l] 25 Israel captured all these cities and settled in all the Amorite cities, including Heshbon and all its dependent villages.[m] 26 For Heshbon was the city of Sihon king of the Amorites, who had fought the earlier king of Moab and seized all his land from him, as far as the Arnon. 27 Therefore the ballad singers say, "Come to Heshbon, let it be built; let the city of Sihon be established. 28 For fire went out from Heshbon, flame from the city of Sihon. It consumed Ar of Moab, the lords of the heights of the Arnon.[n] 29 Woe to you, Moab! You are lost, O people of Chemosh![o] He has given up his sons as fugitives, and his daughters into captivity, to Sihon king of the Amorites. 30 But we shot them down; Heshbon has perished, as far as Dibon, and we laid waste as far as Nophah, which reaches to Medeba."[p]

31 So Israel settled in the land of the Amorites. 32 Moses sent to spy out Jazer, and they captured its villages and drove out the Amorites who were there. 33 Then they turned and went up by the way of Bashan. And Og king of Bashan came out against them, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. 34 And Yahweh said to Moses, "Do not be afraid of him, for I have delivered him into your hand, with all his people and his land; and you shall do to him as you did to Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon." 35 So they struck him down, with his sons and all his people, until none was left to him alive; and they took possession of his land.

Notes

- a (21:1) Or "the way of the spies." The meaning of Atharim is uncertain.

- b (21:2) Hebrew kharam, to devote irrevocably to God, usually by destruction.
- c (21:3) Hormah means "destruction."
- d (21:6) Hebrew seraf, "burning one," probably for the burning pain of the bite. The same word describes the seraphim in Isaiah 6:2.
- e (21:9) Hebrew nekhash nekhoshet, a wordplay: "a serpent of bronze." King Hezekiah later destroyed it because it had become an object of worship (2 Kings 18:4). Compare John 3:14–15.
- f (21:11) Iye-abarim means "ruins of Abarim" or "ruins of the regions beyond." At several points in this chapter (after verses 11, 12, 20, and 21) the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 2. See the note at 10:10.
- g (21:14) A lost collection of poems about Israel's battles, known only from this quotation.
- h (21:14) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. Waheb and Suphah may be place names; the line lacks a verb, since the quotation begins mid-sentence.
- i (21:16) Beer means "well."
- j (21:18) Mattanah means "gift." Nahaliel means "valley of God." Bamoth means "heights."
- k (21:20) Or "Jeshimon."
- l (21:24) The Septuagint reads "for Jazer was the border of the Ammonites."
- m (21:25) Hebrew "daughters."
- n (21:28) Or "the high places of the Arnon."
- o (21:29) Chemosh was the national god of Moab.
- p (21:30) The meaning of verse 30 is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "fire" (Hebrew 'esh) in place of "which" ('asher), a reading many scholars prefer, giving "and fire was kindled as far as Medeba."

Chapter 22

1 Then the Israelites set out and camped in the plains of Moab beyond the Jordan at Jericho.[a] 2 Now Balak son of Zippor[b] saw all that Israel had done to the Amorites. 3 And Moab was terrified of the people, because they were so many; Moab was sick with dread because of the Israelites. 4 And Moab said to the elders of Midian, "This horde will now lick up everything around us, as an ox licks up the grass of the field." Balak son of Zippor was king of Moab at that time. 5 He sent messengers to Balaam son of Beor[c] at Pethor, which is near the River,[d] in the land of the people of his kin,[e] to call him, saying, "A people has come out of Egypt. They cover the face of the earth, and they are settled opposite me. 6 Now then, please come and lay a curse on this people for me, for they are mightier than I; perhaps I may then defeat them and drive them out of the land; for I know that whoever you bless is blessed, and whoever you curse is cursed." 7 So the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian departed with the fees for divination in their hand. They came to Balaam and spoke to him the words of Balak. 8 He told them, "Spend the night here, and I will report back to you what Yahweh says to me." So the Moabite officials stayed with Balaam. 9 And God came to Balaam and said, "Who are these men with you?" 10 Balaam said to God, "Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab, has sent to me, saying, 11 'Look, the people who have come out of Egypt cover the face of the earth. Now come, curse them for me. Perhaps I will be able to fight against them and drive them out.'" 12 And God said to Balaam, "You shall not go with them; you shall not curse the people, for they are blessed." 13 So Balaam rose in the morning and said to the princes of Balak, "Go to your own land, for Yahweh has refused to let me go with you." 14 So the Moabite officials got up, went to Balak, and said, "Balaam refuses to come with us."

15 Once again Balak sent princes, more numerous and more honorable than these. 16 They came to Balaam and said to him, "Thus says Balak son of Zippor: 'Please let nothing hinder you from coming to me, 17 for I will reward you very handsomely and do whatever you tell me. Please come and curse this people for me.'" 18 Then Balaam answered and said to Balak's servants, "Though Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go beyond the word of Yahweh my God, to do less or more. 19 So now, please stay here tonight also, so that I may know what more Yahweh will say to me." 20 That night God came to Balaam and said to him, "Since the men have come to summon you, get up and go with them; but you shall do only what I tell you."
21 So Balaam rose in the morning, saddled his donkey, and went with the princes of Moab. 22 But God's anger burned because he went, and the angel of Yahweh[f] took his stand in the road as an adversary[g] against him. Now he was riding on his donkey, and his two servants were with him. 23 When the donkey saw Yahweh's angel standing in the road, his sword drawn in his hand, she veered off the road into the field; and Balaam beat the donkey to turn her back onto the road.

24 Then Yahweh's angel stood in a narrow lane between the vineyards, with a wall on one side and a wall on the other. 25 And the donkey saw Yahweh's angel and pressed against the wall, crushing Balaam's foot against it; so he beat her again. 26 Then the angel of Yahweh went ahead and stood in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn either to the right or to the left. 27 And when the donkey saw Yahweh's angel, she crouched down beneath Balaam; and Balaam's anger blazed, and he beat the donkey with his staff. 28 Then Yahweh opened the mouth of the donkey, and she said to Balaam, "What have I done to you, that you have struck me these three times?" 29 Balaam said to the donkey, "Because you have mocked me! If there were a sword in my hand, I would kill you right now." 30 And the donkey said to Balaam, "Am I not your donkey, the one you have ridden all your life long until today? Was I ever in the habit of doing this to you?"
And he said, "No."
31 Then Yahweh uncovered Balaam's eyes, and he saw Yahweh's angel standing in the road with his sword drawn in his hand; and he bowed his head and fell flat on his face. 32 The angel of Yahweh said to him, "Why have you struck your donkey these three times? Look, I have come out as an adversary, because your way is reckless[h] before me. 33 The donkey saw me and turned aside before me these three times. If she had not turned aside from me, surely by now I would have killed you and let her live." 34 And Balaam said to Yahweh's angel, "I have sinned, for I did not know you were standing in the road to oppose me. Now, if it displeases you, I will go back." 35 But Yahweh's angel said to Balaam, "Go with the men; yet only the word I will speak to you shall you speak." So Balaam went with Balak's officials.
36 When Balak heard that Balaam was coming, he went out to meet him at Ir-moab,[i] on the border formed by the Arnon, at the edge of the territory. 37 Balak said to Balaam, "Did I not send to you urgently to call you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not able to honor you?" 38 And Balaam said to Balak, "Here I am; I have come to you. But can I really speak just anything? The word God puts in my mouth is the only one I can speak." 39 Then Balaam went with Balak, and they came to Kiriath-huzoth.[j] 40 And Balak sacrificed oxen and sheep and sent some to Balaam and to the princes who were with him.

41 In the morning Balak took Balaam and brought him up to Bamoth-baal,[k] and from there he saw the edge of the people.

Notes

- a (22:1) Hebrew "beyond the Jordan of Jericho," that is, on the east side of the Jordan, opposite Jericho.
- b (22:2) Balak perhaps means "devastator." Zippor means "bird."
- c (22:5) Balaam perhaps means "devourer" or "the clan brings forth." Beor means "burning." A plastered wall inscription from about 800 BC found at Deir ʻAlla in Jordan tells of a seer named "Balaam son of Beor" who received a vision from the gods at night.
- d (22:5) That is, the Euphrates.
- e (22:5) Or "in the land of the Amawites," a people known from ancient inscriptions. The Samaritan Pentateuch, the Syriac, and the Vulgate read "the land of the Ammonites."
- f (22:22) Or "the messenger of Yahweh," a heavenly being who speaks and acts for Yahweh, at times as Yahweh himself. So throughout this chapter. Compare Exodus 3:2.
- g (22:22) Hebrew satan, "adversary" or "opponent." So also in verse 32.
- h (22:32) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain; perhaps "perverse" or "headlong."
- i (22:36) Or "the city of Moab."
- j (22:39) Kiriath-huzoth means "city of streets."
- k (22:41) Bamoth-baal means "high places of Baal."

Chapter 23

1 Then Balaam said to Balak, "Build seven altars for me here, and prepare seven bulls and seven rams for me here." 2 Balak did as Balaam had said. Balak and Balaam offered a bull and a ram on each altar. 3 Then Balaam said to Balak, "Stay by your burnt offering, and I will go; perhaps Yahweh will come to meet me, and whatever he reveals to me I will tell you." So he went up to a barren hilltop.[a] 4 Then God met Balaam, and he said to him, "I have set up seven altars, and on each altar I have offered a bull and a ram." 5 And Yahweh put a word in Balaam's mouth and said, "Return to Balak, and this is what you are to say." 6 So he returned to him, and there he was, standing beside his burnt offering, he and all the princes of Moab.

7 And he took up his poem[b] and said: “From Aram Balak brought me, Moab’s king from the eastern mountains: ‘Come, put a curse on Jacob for me; come, denounce Israel!’ 8 How can I curse whom God has not cursed? How can I denounce whom Yahweh has not denounced? 9 For from the rocky peaks I see them, and from the hills I watch them; behold, a people who live alone and do not reckon themselves among the nations! 10 Who can count the dust of Jacob, or number the fourth part[c] of Israel? Let me die the death of the upright, and let my end be like his!”
11 Then Balak said to Balaam, “What have you done to me? I brought you to curse my enemies, but you have only blessed them!” 12 He answered and said, “Must I not take care to speak what Yahweh puts in my mouth?”
13 Balak said to him, “Please come with me to another place, from which you may see them. You will see only the edge of them and will not see them all. Curse them for me from there.” 14 So he took him to the field of Zophim,[d] to the top of Pisgah, and built seven altars and offered a bull and a ram on each altar. 15 So he said to Balak, “Stay here by your burnt offering while I go and meet Yahweh over there.” 16 And Yahweh met Balaam and put a word in his mouth and said, “Return to Balak, and this is what you are to say.” 17 So he came to him, and there he was, standing beside his burnt offering, and the princes of Moab with him. And Balak said to him, “What has Yahweh spoken?” 18 And he took up his poem and said: “Get up, Balak, and listen; hear me out, son of Zippor: 19 God is not a human being, that he should lie, nor a mortal, that he should change his mind. Has he spoken, and will he not do it? Or has he promised, and will he not make it good? 20 Look, I have received a command to bless; he has blessed, and I cannot revoke it. 21 No misfortune is seen in Jacob, nor trouble observed in Israel.[e] Yahweh their God is with them, and the acclaim of a king is in their midst. 22 God brings them out of Egypt; he is like the horns of the wild ox[f] for them. 23 For there is no spell against Jacob, and no divination against Israel;[g] at the proper time it will be said to Jacob and to Israel, ‘Look at what God has done!’ 24 Behold, a people that rises like a lioness and lifts itself like a lion; it does not lie down till it devours its prey and drinks the blood of the slain."

25 Then Balak said to Balaam, "Neither curse them at all, nor bless them at all!" 26 But Balaam answered Balak, "Did I not tell you, 'All that Yahweh speaks, that I must do'?"
27 And Balak said to Balaam, "Come now, let me take you to another place; perhaps it will please God to let you curse them for me from there." 28 So Balak took Balaam to the top of Peor, which overlooks the wasteland. 29 Then Balaam said to Balak, "Build seven altars for me here, and prepare seven bulls and seven rams for me here." 30 And Balak did as Balaam had said, and offered a bull and a ram on each altar.

Notes

- a (23:3) The meaning of the Hebrew word shefi is uncertain; it may mean a bare hill or "alone."
- b (23:7) Hebrew mashal, a word used for proverbs, parables, taunts, and oracles. So also in verse 18 and in chapter 24.
- c (23:10) Or "the dust clouds." The Hebrew word rova' is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "the families"; some ancient versions read "the multitudes."
- d (23:14) Zophim means "watchers" or "lookouts."
- e (23:21) Or "No one has seen iniquity in Jacob, or mischief in Israel."
- f (23:22) Or "the strength of a wild ox." The meaning of the Hebrew to'afot is uncertain.
- g (23:23) Or "in Jacob ... in Israel," meaning that Israel does not practice divination.

1 Now when Balaam saw that it was good in Yahweh's eyes to bless Israel, he did not go as he had done before to seek omens, but turned his face toward the wilderness. 2 And Balaam raised his eyes and saw Israel encamped by tribes; and the Spirit of God came upon him. 3 Then he took up his poem and said: "The declaration of Balaam the son of Beor, the declaration of the man whose eyes are open,[a] 4 the oracle of him who hears the words of God, who sees the vision of the Almighty,[b] falling down, with his eyes uncovered: 5 How beautiful are your tents, O Jacob, your dwellings, O Israel! 6 Like valleys that stretch out, like gardens beside a river, like aloes that Yahweh has planted, like cedar trees beside the waters. 7 Water shall flow from his buckets, and his seed shall be by plentiful water.[c] His king shall be greater than Agag,[d] and his kingdom shall be exalted. 8 God brings him out of Egypt; he is like the horns of the wild ox for him. He will devour the nations, his adversaries, and break their bones in pieces and pierce them through with his arrows. 9 He crouches, he lies down like a lion, like a lioness—who dares rouse him? Blessed be those who bless you, and cursed be those who curse you."

10 Then Balak's anger blazed against Balaam, and he clapped his hands together. And Balak said to Balaam, "I summoned you to curse my enemies, yet now you have blessed them these three times. 11 So now flee to your own place. I said that I would surely honor you, but Yahweh has kept you back from honor." 12 And Balaam said to Balak, "Did I not also tell the messengers you sent to me, 13 'Even if Balak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I could not go beyond the command of Yahweh, to do either good or bad of my own will. What Yahweh speaks, that I will speak'? 14 Now, see, I am going back to my people. Come, and I will warn you what this people will do to your people in days to come."

15 Then he took up his poem and said: "The declaration of Balaam the son of Beor, the declaration of the man whose eyes are open, 16 the declaration of him who hears the words of God, who has knowledge from the Most High,[e] who sees a vision from the Almighty, fallen prostrate, yet with eyes unveiled: 17 I see him, but not now; I behold him, but not nearby: a star shall step forth from Jacob, and a scepter[f] shall rise from Israel; it shall smash the brow[g] of Moab, and demolish all the sons of Sheth.[h] 18 Edom will be a possession; Seir also, his enemies, will be a possession, while Israel does valiantly. 19 One from Jacob will exercise dominion and destroy the survivors of the city."

20 Then he looked toward Amalek and took up his poem and said: "Amalek was first of the nations, but its end is to perish forever."

21 Then he looked toward the Kenites and took up his poem and said: "Secure is your dwelling, and in the cliff your nest is set;[i] 22 Nevertheless, Kain will be burned when Asshur takes you away captive."[j]

23 And he took up his discourse and said, “Alas, who will live when God does this?[k] 24 But ships shall come from the coast of Kittim[l] and humble Asshur and Eber; and he too shall perish forever.” 25 Then Balaam got up and returned to his own place; and Balak likewise went on his way.

Notes

- a (24:3) Or “closed.” The meaning of the Hebrew shetum is uncertain. So also in verse 15.
- b (24:4) Hebrew Shaddai, a name of God of uncertain meaning, traditionally rendered “the Almighty.” So also in verse 16.
- c (24:7) The meaning of the line is uncertain. The Septuagint reads, “A man will come out of his seed, and he will rule over many nations.”
- d (24:7) Agag was a king of the Amalekites; compare 1 Samuel 15:8. The Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses read “Gog.”
- e (24:16) Hebrew ‘Elyon.
- f (24:17) Hebrew shevet, “scepter” or “tribe.” The Septuagint reads “a man.” The verse was read messianically in later Jewish and Christian tradition; the Dead Sea Scrolls cite it (for example, in the Damascus Document and 4QTestimonia), and the second-century leader Simeon bar Kosiba was called Bar Kokhba, “son of the star.”
- g (24:17) Or “the borders.” Hebrew “the two sides of the head.”
- h (24:17) Or “the sons of tumult.” Compare Jeremiah 48:45. Sheth may be a people’s name.
- i (24:21) Hebrew qen, “nest,” is a wordplay on Qayin, “Kain,” the name of the Kenites’ ancestor in verse 22.
- j (24:22) The meaning of verses 21–22 is uncertain. Asshur is Assyria, or possibly a tribe of that name (Genesis 25:3).
- k (24:23) The Hebrew of verses 23–24 is very difficult. The Septuagint introduces this saying with “And he looked on Og.” Some scholars, revising the Hebrew, read “Who will live among the islands of the north?”
- l (24:24) Kittim is Cyprus, and by extension the peoples of the western Mediterranean coasts.

Chapter 25

1 While Israel was staying at Shittim,[a] the people began to commit sexual immorality with the women of Moab. 2 They invited the people to the sacrifices of their gods, and the people ate and bowed down to their gods. 3 So Israel attached itself to Baal of Peor;[b] and Yahweh’s anger was kindled against Israel. 4 Yahweh said to Moses, “Take all the chiefs of the people and impale[c] them before Yahweh in the sun, so that the fierce anger of Yahweh may turn away from Israel." [5] So Moses said to Israel's judges, "Every one of you must kill those of his men who have attached themselves to Baal of Peor."

[6] Just then an Israelite man came and brought a Midianite woman to his relatives, before the eyes of Moses and the whole congregation of the Israelites, as they were weeping at the door of the tent of meeting. [7] When Phinehas[d] son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose from the midst of the congregation and took a spear in his hand. [8] and he followed the Israelite man into the tent[e] and drove the spear through both of them, the Israelite and the woman, into her belly. So the plague on the Israelites was halted. [9] Those who died in the plague were twenty-four thousand.
[10] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [11] "Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, has turned my anger away from the Israelites, because he was as zealous as I am among them, so that in my zeal I did not wipe out the Israelites. [12] Therefore say, 'Look, I am giving him my covenant of peace. [13] It shall belong to him and to his offspring after him, a covenant of lasting priesthood, because he was jealous for his God's honor and made atonement for the Israelites.'" [14] Now the name of the Israelite who was slain with the Midianite woman was Zimri the son of Salu, chief of an ancestral house among the Simeonites. [15] And the name of the Midianite woman who was slain was Cozbi the daughter of Zur; he was the head of a tribal clan in Midian.[f] [16] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [17] "Harass the Midianites and strike them down, [18] for they have troubled you with their trickery, with which they led you astray in the matter of Peor and of Cozbi, daughter of a Midianite chief, their sister, who was killed on the day of the plague over Peor."[g]

Notes

- a (25:1) Shittim means "acacia trees."
- b (25:3) Baal means "lord" or "master," the title of a Canaanite storm god. Baal of Peor was the god worshiped at Peor (compare 23:28).
- c (25:4) The meaning of the Hebrew verb is uncertain; it may mean to impale, to hang, or to expose with broken limbs. The Septuagint reads "make an example of them."

- d (25:7) Phinehas is an Egyptian name meaning “the Nubian.”
- e (25:8) The Hebrew word qubbah, found only here, probably refers to a tent shrine or an inner chamber.
- f (25:15) Zimri means “my protection” or “my song.” Salu is of uncertain meaning. Cozbi perhaps means “deceitful” or “voluptuous.” Zur means “rock.”
- g (25:18) In the Hebrew text, the sentence “After the plague” forms verse 19 of chapter 25. In English Bibles it begins 26:1.

Chapter 26

1 After the plague, Yahweh spoke to Moses and to Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, saying, 2 “Take a census of the entire congregation of the Israelites, twenty years old and up, by their ancestral houses, all in Israel who can serve in the army.” 3 So Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke with them in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, 4 “Take a census of the people from twenty years old and upward,” as Yahweh had commanded Moses.[a] These were the Israelites who came out of the land of Egypt: 5 Reuben, the firstborn of Israel. The descendants of Reuben: Hanoch, the clan of the Hanochites; Pallu, the clan of the Palluites; 6 Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; Carmi, the clan of the Carmites. 7 These were the clans of the Reubenites, and those counted of them were 43,730. 8 The son of Pallu was Eliab. 9 The sons of Eliab: Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram. This is the Dathan and Abiram, summoned from the congregation, who defied Moses and Aaron in Korah’s faction when they defied Yahweh, 10 and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up together with Korah, when that company died, when the fire consumed two hundred fifty men, and they became a warning. 11 But the sons of Korah did not die.
12 The descendants of Simeon by their clans: Nemuel, the clan of the Nemuelites; Jamin, the clan of the Jaminites; Jachin, the clan of the Jachinites; 13 Zerah, the clan of the Zerahites; Shaul, the clan of the Shaulites. 14 These were the clans of the Simeonites, 22,200.
15 The descendants of Gad by their clans: Zephon, the clan of the Zephonites; Haggi, the clan of the Haggites; Shuni, the clan of the Shunites; 16 Ozni, the clan of the Oznites; Eri, the clan of the Erites; 17 Arod, the clan of the Arodites; Areli, the clan of the Arelites. 18 These were the clans of the descendants of Gad, according to those counted of them, 40,500.

19 The sons of Judah were Er and Onan, and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. 20 The descendants of Judah by their clans were: Shelah, the clan of the Shelanites; Perez, the clan of the Perezites; Zerah, the clan of the Zerahites. 21 The descendants of Perez were: Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; Hamul, the clan of the Hamulites. 22 These were the clans of Judah, according to those counted of them, 76,500.
23 The descendants of Issachar by their clans: Tola, the clan of the Tolaites; Puvah, the clan of the Punites; 24 Jashub, the clan of the Jashubites; Shimron, the clan of the Shimronites. 25 These were the clans of Issachar, according to those counted of them, 64,300.
26 The descendants of Zebulun by their clans: Sered, the clan of the Seredites; Elon, the clan of the Elonites; Jahleel, the clan of the Jahleelites. 27 These were the clans of the Zebulunites, according to those counted of them, 60,500.
28 The descendants of Joseph by their clans: Manasseh and Ephraim. 29 The descendants of Manasseh: Machir, the clan of the Machirites; and Machir fathered Gilead; Gilead, the clan of the Gileadites. 30 These were the descendants of Gilead: Iezer,[b] the clan of the Iezerites; Helek, the clan of the Helekites; 31 Asriel, the clan of the Asrielites; Shechem, the clan of the Shechemites; 32 Shemida, the clan of the Shemidaites; Hepher, the clan of the Hepherites. 33 Zelophehad son of Hepher had no sons, but only daughters. The names of the daughters of Zelophehad were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.[c] 34 These were the clans of Manasseh, and those counted of them were 52,700.
35 These were the descendants of Ephraim by their clans: Shuthelah, the clan of the Shuthelahites; Becher, the clan of the Becherites; Tahan, the clan of the Tahanites. 36 And these were the descendants of Shuthelah: Eran, the clan of the Eranites. 37 These were the clans of the descendants of Ephraim, according to those counted of them, 32,500. These were the descendants of Joseph by their clans.
38 The descendants of Benjamin by their clans: Bela, the clan of the Belaites; Ashbel, the clan of the Ashbelites; Ahiram, the clan of the Ahiramites; [39] Shephupham,[d] the clan of the Shuphamites; Hupham, the clan of the Huphamites. [40] The sons of Bela were Ard and Naaman: Ard, the clan of the Ardites; Naaman, the clan of the Naamites. [41] These were the descendants of Benjamin by their clans, and those counted of them were 45,600.

[42] These are the sons of Dan according to their families: through Shuham, the Shuhamite family. These were the families of Dan, family by family. [43] All the clans of the Shuhamites, according to those counted of them, were 64,400.

[44] The descendants of Asher by their clans: Imnah, the clan of the Imnites; Ishvi, the clan of the Ishvites; Beriah, the clan of the Beriites. [45] Of the descendants of Beriah: Heber, the clan of the Heberites; Malchiel, the clan of the Malchielites. [46] And the name of the daughter of Asher was Serah. [47] These were the clans of the descendants of Asher, according to those counted of them, 53,400.

[48] The descendants of Naphtali by their clans: Jahzeel, the clan of the Jahzeelites; Guni, the clan of the Gunites; [49] Jezer, the clan of the Jezerites; Shillem, the clan of the Shillemites. [50] These were the clans of Naphtali by their clans, and those counted of them were 45,400.

[52] Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, [53] "Among these the land is to be divided as an inheritance according to the number of names. [54] To a large tribe you are to give a larger inheritance, and to a small tribe you are to give a smaller inheritance. Each is to be given its inheritance in proportion to those counted of it. [55] But the land is to be divided by lot. They are to inherit according to the names of the tribes of their fathers. [56] Their inheritance is to be divided by lot between the larger and the smaller."

[57] These were those counted of the Levites by their clans: Gershon, the clan of the Gershonites; Kohath, the clan of the Kohathites; Merari, the clan of the Merarites. [58] These were the families of Levi: Libni's family, Hebron's family, Mahli's family, Mushi's family, Korah's family. And Kohath was the father of Amram. [59] The name of Amram's wife was Jochebed the daughter of Levi, who was born to Levi in Egypt; and to Amram she bore Aaron, Moses, and their sister Miriam.

60 To Aaron were born Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. 61 But Nadab and Abihu died when they offered unauthorized fire before Yahweh. 62 Those counted among them numbered 23,000, every male a month old and up; for they were not counted among the Israelites, because no inheritance was assigned to them among the Israelites.
63 These were those counted by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who counted the Israelites in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho. 64 But among these there was not a man of those counted by Moses and Aaron the priest, who had counted the Israelites in the Wilderness of Sinai. 65 For Yahweh had said of them, "They will surely die in the wilderness." Not one of them was left, except Caleb son of Jephunneh and Joshua son of Nun.

Notes

- a (26:4) The words "Take a census of the people" are not in the Hebrew, which is abrupt here; they are supplied from verse 2.
- b (26:30) In Joshua 17:2 the name is Abiezer.
- c (26:33) Mahlah perhaps means "weakness"; Noah (not the same name as Noah of the flood), "movement"; Hoglah, "partridge"; Milcah, "queen"; Tirzah, "pleasing."
- d (26:39) So the traditional Hebrew text. Some manuscripts and ancient versions read "Shupham" (compare the clan name); Genesis 46:21 has Muppim.
- e (26:51) The total is slightly less than the 603,550 of the first census (1:46). On the meaning of the figures, see the note at 1:46.

Chapter 27

1 Then the daughters of Zelophehad the son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, of the families of Manasseh the son of Joseph, came near. The names of his daughters were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. 2 They stood before Moses, before Eleazar the priest, before the leaders, and before the whole congregation at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and said, 3 "Our father died in the wilderness; he was not among those who gathered against Yahweh in Korah's faction, but he died for his own sin, and had no sons. 4 Why should our father's name disappear from among his family because he had no son? Give us a possession among our father's relatives." 5 Moses brought their case before Yahweh.[a] 6 And Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 7 "The daughters of Zelophehad speak rightly; you shall certainly give them a possession of inheritance among their father's relatives, and cause the inheritance of their father to pass to them. 8 And you are to speak to the Israelites, saying, 'If a man dies and has no son, then you are to transfer his inheritance to his daughter. 9 And if he has no daughter, then you shall give his inheritance to his brothers. 10 And if he has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to his father's brothers. 11 And if his father has no brothers, then you shall give his inheritance to the relative nearest to him in his family, and he shall possess it. And it shall be a legal requirement for the Israelites, as Yahweh commanded Moses.'" 12 Yahweh said to Moses, "Go up into this mountain of Abarim[b] and see the land that I have given to the Israelites. 13 And when you have seen it, you also shall be gathered to your people, just as your brother Aaron was gathered, 14 for in the Wilderness of Zin, when the congregation quarreled, you both rebelled against my word to honor me as holy before their eyes at the water." (That is the water of Meribah at Kadesh in the Wilderness of Zin.) 15 Moses spoke to Yahweh, saying, 16 "Let Yahweh, the God of the spirits of all flesh, appoint a man over the congregation, 17 who will lead them out and lead them in, going before them and coming before them, that Yahweh's congregation may not be as sheep with no shepherd." 18 So Yahweh said to Moses, "Take Joshua son of Nun, a man in whom is the Spirit,[c] and lay your hand on him. 19 Have him stand before Eleazar the priest and before the whole congregation, and commission him in their sight. 20 You are to put some of your authority on him, so that the whole congregation of the Israelites may obey. 21 He shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall seek counsel for him by the decision of the Urim[d] before Yahweh; at his word they shall go out and at his word they shall come in, he and all the Israelites with him, the entire congregation." 22 Moses did as Yahweh commanded him. He took Joshua and had him stand before Eleazar the priest and before the whole congregation, 23 and he laid his hands on him and commissioned him, as Yahweh had directed through Moses.[e]

Notes

- a (27:5) In the traditional Hebrew text the final letter of "their case" (mishpatan) is written larger than normal.
- b (27:12) Abarim means "regions beyond," the mountain range east of the Dead Sea that includes Mount Nebo (Deuteronomy 32:49).
- c (27:18) Or "spirit."
- d (27:21) The Urim and Thummim were objects kept in the high priest's breastpiece and used to learn God's will (Exodus 28:30). The meaning of the words is uncertain; Urim may be related to 'or, "light."
- e (27:23) At this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds material drawn from Deuteronomy 3:21–22, in which Moses encourages Joshua. The Dead Sea Scroll 4QNum[b] preserves a similar expansion. See the note at 10:10.

Chapter 28

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Command the Israelites and say to them, 'You are to take care to present to me at its appointed time my offering, my food for my offerings by fire, a pleasing aroma to me.' 3 And you are to say to them, 'This is the offering by fire that you are to present to Yahweh: male lambs a year old without blemish, two each day, as a regular burnt offering. 4 You are to offer the one lamb in the morning, and the other lamb you are to offer at twilight,[a] 5 with about 2 quarts of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with about 1 quart of oil from pressed olives.[b] 6 It is a regular burnt offering, which was instituted at Mount Sinai as a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh. 7 Its drink offering shall be about 1 quart for each lamb; in the sanctuary you shall pour out strong drink[c] as a drink offering to Yahweh. 8 The other lamb you are to offer at twilight. Like the grain offering of the morning and its drink offering, you are to offer it as an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh.
9 "'On the Sabbath day: two male lambs a year old without blemish, and about 4 quarts of fine flour[d] for a grain offering, mixed with oil, and its drink offering. 10 This is the burnt offering for each Sabbath, in addition to the continual burnt offering and its drink offering.
11 "'At the beginnings of your months[e] you are to present a burnt offering to Yahweh: two young bulls, one ram, and seven male lambs a year old without blemish; 12 also about 6 quarts of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, for each bull; and about 4 quarts of fine flour for a grain offering, mixed with oil, for the one ram; 13 and about 2 quarts of fine flour mixed with oil as a grain offering for each lamb,[f] for a burnt offering of pleasing aroma, an offering by fire to Yahweh. 14 Their drink offerings are to be about 2 quarts of wine for a bull, about 1⅓ quarts for a ram, and about 1 quart for a lamb.[g] This is the burnt offering of each month throughout the months of the year. 15 Also one male goat for a sin offering to Yahweh is to be offered, besides the regular burnt offering and its drink offering.

16 "'On the fourteenth day of the first month (in March–April)[h] is Yahweh's Passover. 17 And on the fifteenth day of this month is a festival. For seven days unleavened bread is to be eaten. 18 On the first day there is to be a holy assembly. You must not do any ordinary work. 19 You shall present a fire offering, a burnt offering to Yahweh: two young bulls, one ram, and seven yearling male lambs; see that they are perfect. 20 Their grain offering shall be fine flour mingled with oil: about 6 quarts for a bull and about 4 quarts for the ram; 21 about 2 quarts you are to offer for each of the seven lambs; 22 also one male goat for a sin offering, to make atonement for you. 23 You are to offer these besides the burnt offering of the morning, which is for a regular burnt offering. 24 In this way you are to offer daily, for seven days, the food of the offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh. It is to be offered besides the regular burnt offering and its drink offering. 25 And on the seventh day you are to have a holy assembly. You must not do any ordinary work.

26 "'On the day of the firstfruits,[i] when you present a new grain offering to Yahweh at your Festival of Weeks, you are to have a holy assembly. You must not do any ordinary work. 27 You are to present a burnt offering as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh: two young bulls, one ram, and seven male lambs a year old; 28 also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, about 6 quarts for each bull, about 4 quarts for the one ram, 29 and about 2 quarts for each of the seven lambs; 30 also one male goat, to make atonement for you. 31 Besides the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, you are to offer them and their drink offerings. See that they are without blemish.'"

Notes

- a (28:4) Hebrew "between the two evenings," probably the time between sunset and dark. So also in verse 8. See the note at Exodus 12:6.
- b (28:5) Hebrew "a tenth of an ephah of fine flour … a quarter of a hin of beaten oil," about 2.2 liters of flour and 0.9 liter of oil. An ephah was about three-fifths of a bushel (22 liters), and a hin about 1 gallon (3.7 liters); standards varied. So also with the drink offering in verse 7.
- c (28:7) Hebrew shekar, a fermented drink, possibly beer.
- d (28:9) Hebrew "two-tenths," about 4.4 liters.
- e (28:11) Hebrew "heads of your months," the new moon at the beginning of each lunar month.
- f (28:13) Hebrew "three-tenths … two-tenths … a tenth" of an ephah, about 6.6, 4.4, and 2.2 liters. The same amounts are given in verses 20–21, 28–29, and in chapter 29.
- g (28:14) Hebrew "half a hin … a third of a hin … a quarter of a hin," about 1.9, 1.2, and 0.9 liters.
- h (28:16) First month: Abib, later called Nisan, of the spring-start religious calendar. Because the months were lunar, the dates fall in different parts of March and April from year to year.
- i (28:26) The Festival of Weeks (Shavuot) was held fifty days after the offering of the first sheaf (Leviticus 23:15–16), in the third month, Sivan (in May–June).

Chapter 29

1 "On the first day of the seventh month (in September–October)[a] you shall hold a holy gathering; you shall do no ordinary work. It is a day of trumpet blasts for you.[b] 2 You are to offer a burnt offering as a pleasing aroma to Yahweh: one young bull, one ram, and seven male lambs a year old without blemish; 3 also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, about 6 quarts for the bull, about 4 quarts for the ram, 4 and about 2 quarts for each of the seven lambs; 5 with one male goat for a sin offering, to make atonement for you; 6 besides the new moon burnt offering with its grain offering, and the continual burnt offering with its grain offering, and their drink offerings as prescribed for them—a pleasing aroma, a fire offering to Yahweh.
7 "'On the tenth day of this seventh month (in September–October)[c] you are to have a holy assembly, and you are to humble yourselves.[d]
You must not do any work. 8 You shall present a burnt offering to Yahweh as a pleasing aroma: one young bull, one ram, and seven yearling male lambs; see that they are perfect. 9 Their grain offering shall be fine flour mingled with oil, about 6 quarts for the bull, about 4 quarts for the one ram, [10] and about 2 quarts for each of the seven lambs; [11] also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the sin offering of atonement, and the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, and their drink offerings.

[12] "'On the fifteenth day of the seventh month (in September–October)[e] you are to have a holy assembly. You must not do any ordinary work, and you are to celebrate a festival to Yahweh seven days. [13] You are to present a burnt offering, an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh: thirteen young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old. They are to be without blemish. [14] Their grain offering shall be fine flour mingled with oil, about 6 quarts for each of the thirteen bulls, about 4 quarts for each of the two rams, [15] and about 2 quarts for each of the fourteen lambs; [16] also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
[17] "'On the second day: twelve young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, [18] with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; [19] also one male goat for a sin
offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offerings.[f] [20] "'On the third day: eleven young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, [21] with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; [22] also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
[23] "'On the fourth day: ten young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, [24] with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; [25] also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.

26 “‘On the fifth day: nine young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, 27 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; 28 also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
29 “‘On the sixth day: eight young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, 30 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; 31 also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
32 “‘On the seventh day: seven young bulls, two rams, and fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, 33 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; 34 also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
35 “‘On the eighth day you are to have a solemn assembly.[g] You must not do any ordinary work. 36 You are to present a burnt offering, an offering by fire, a pleasing aroma to Yahweh: one bull, one ram, and seven male lambs a year old without blemish, 37 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bull, for the ram, and for the lambs, according to their number, by the rule; 38 also one male goat for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering.
39 “‘These you are to offer to Yahweh at your appointed festivals, in addition to your vowed offerings and your freewill offerings, for your burnt offerings, your grain offerings, your drink offerings, and your peace offerings.’” 40 So Moses told the Israelites everything that Yahweh had commanded Moses.[h]

Notes

- a (29:1) Seventh month: Tishri, also called Ethanim (1 Kings 8:2), of the spring-start religious calendar. Because the months were lunar, the dates fall in different parts of September and October from year to year. In later Jewish tradition this day became Rosh Hashanah, the civil New Year.

- b (29:1) Hebrew teruʿah, a day of loud blasts, probably on the ram's horn. Compare Leviticus 23:24.
- c (29:7) The Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur). See Leviticus 16:29–34; 23:26–32.
- d (29:7) Or "afflict yourselves," traditionally understood as fasting.
- e (29:12) The Festival of Booths (Sukkot). See Leviticus 23:33–43.
- f (29:19) In verses 19, 31, and 33 the Hebrew has small irregularities of spelling ("their drink offerings," "its drink offerings," "by their rule"). Ancient rabbis noticed that the extra letters spell mayim, "water," and took this as a hint of the water libation at the Festival of Booths.
- g (29:35) Hebrew ʿatseret, a closing assembly.
- h (29:40) In the Hebrew text, verse 40 is numbered 30:1.

Chapter 30

1 Moses spoke to the heads of the tribes of the Israelites and said:
"This is what Yahweh has commanded.[a] 2 When a man makes a vow to Yahweh, or swears an oath to bind himself by a pledge, he must not break his word. He must do according to all that comes out of his mouth.

3 "When a woman makes a vow to Yahweh and binds herself by a pledge, while she is in her father's house in her youth, 4 and her father hears about her vow, or about a pledge she has laid upon herself, and keeps silent about it, every vow of hers is valid, and every pledge she laid upon herself is valid. 5 But if her father forbids her on the day he hears it, then none of her vows or pledges by which she has bound herself shall stand; and Yahweh will release her, because her father forbade her.

6 "And if she marries a husband while her vows are on her, or a rash word from her lips by which she has bound herself, 7 and her husband hears of it and says nothing on the day he hears, then her vows are valid, and the pledges she bound upon herself are valid. 8 But if her husband disallows it on the day he hears, he cancels the vow she is under and the rash word from her lips with which she bound herself; and Yahweh will release her. 9 (As for the vow of a widow or a divorced woman, whatever she has bound upon herself is binding on her.)

10 "If she vowed in her husband's house or bound herself by a pledge with an oath, 11 and her husband heard about it yet kept silent and did not disallow it, then each of her vows is valid, and each pledge she laid upon herself is valid. 12 But if her husband makes them void on the day that he hears them, then whatever comes out of her lips concerning her vows or concerning her pledge will not stand. Her husband has made them void, and Yahweh will forgive her. 13 Any vow and any binding oath to humble herself,[b] her husband may confirm, or her husband may make void. 14 But if her husband remains silent toward her from day to day, then he confirms all her vows and all her pledges that are on her; he confirms them, because he remained silent toward her on the day he heard of them. 15 But if he makes them void after he has heard of them, then he will bear her iniquity." 16 These are the statutes that Yahweh commanded Moses regarding a husband and his wife, and a father and his daughter in her youth, while she is in her father's house.

Notes

- a (30:1) In the Hebrew text, verses 1–16 are numbered 30:2–17.
- b (30:13) Or "to afflict herself," perhaps by fasting.

Chapter 31

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Avenge the Israelites on the Midianites; after that you shall be gathered to your people." 3 So Moses spoke to the people, saying, "Arm men from among you for the war, so that they may go against Midian to execute Yahweh's vengeance on Midian. 4 You are to send a thousand from each tribe of all the tribes of Israel to the war." 5 So there were supplied from the clans of Israel a thousand from each tribe, twelve thousand armed for war.[a] 6 Moses sent them to the war, a thousand from every tribe, and with them he sent Phinehas, son of Eleazar the priest, who had in his hand the holy vessels and the trumpets for sounding the alarm. 7 They waged war against Midian, as Yahweh had commanded Moses, and killed every male. 8 They killed the kings of Midian in addition to the others who were slain: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba, the five kings of Midian.[b] They also killed Balaam the son of Beor with the sword. 9 And the Israelites took the Midianite women and their children captive, and seized all their herds, their flocks, and all their goods as spoil. 10 They burned all the cities where they had settled, and all their camps,[c] with fire. 11 They took all the spoil and all the booty, both of humans and of animals. 12 And they brought the prisoners, along with the booty and the spoil, to Moses, Eleazar the priest, and the Israelite congregation, at the camp on the plains of Moab by the Jordan opposite Jericho.

13 Moses and Eleazar the priest and all the leaders of the congregation went out to meet them outside the camp. 14 And Moses was angry with the officers of the army, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, who had come from the campaign of the war. 15 Moses said to them, "Have you let all the women live? 16 Look, these were the ones who, on Balaam's advice, caused the Israelites to act unfaithfully against Yahweh in the matter of Peor, so that the plague came on the congregation of Yahweh. 17 Now therefore, kill every boy among the children, and kill every woman who has had intercourse with a man. 18 But all the young girls who have not known a man by lying with a male, keep alive for yourselves. 19 As for you, camp outside the camp seven days. Whoever has killed a person and whoever has touched a slain person, purify yourselves on the third day and on the seventh day, you and your captives. 20 You shall purify every garment, everything made of leather, everything woven of goat hair, and everything made of wood."[d]
21 Then Eleazar the priest said to the men of war who had gone to the battle, "This is the statute of the law that Yahweh has commanded Moses: 22 Only the gold, the silver, the bronze, the iron, the tin, and the lead, 23 everything that can withstand fire you shall put through the fire, and it shall be clean; yet it must also be purified with the water of impurity. And anything that cannot withstand fire you shall put through water. 24 You are to wash your clothes on the seventh day, and you will be clean. Afterward you may come into the camp."
25 Yahweh said to Moses, 26 "Take a count of the plunder that was captured, both of people and of animals, you and Eleazar the priest and the heads of the fathers' houses of the congregation. 27 Divide the spoil into two portions, between the soldiers who fought in the battle and the rest of the congregation. [28] And set apart a levy for Yahweh from the soldiers who went out to battle: one in every five hundred, whether of persons, cattle, donkeys, or sheep and goats. [29] Take it from their half and give it to Eleazar the priest as a contribution to Yahweh. [30] And from the Israelites' half you shall take one in every fifty, whether of persons, cattle, donkeys, or sheep and goats —of all the animals—and give them to the Levites, who have charge of Yahweh's tabernacle." [31] And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as Yahweh commanded Moses.

[32] Now the plunder remaining of the spoil that the men of war had taken was 675,000 sheep, [33] 72,000 cattle, [34] 61,000 donkeys, [35] and 32,000 persons in all, women who had never had intercourse with a man. [36] The half portion of those who had gone to the war was, in number, 337,500 sheep and goats, [37] and Yahweh's tribute of sheep was 675. [38] The cattle were 36,000, of which Yahweh's tribute was 72. [39] The donkeys were 30,500, of which Yahweh's tribute was 61. [40] The persons were 16,000, of which Yahweh's tribute was 32 persons. [41] And Moses gave the tribute, which was Yahweh's contribution, to Eleazar the priest, as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

[48] Then the officers who were over the thousands of the army, the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, came near to Moses [49] and they said to Moses, "Your servants have taken the count of the soldiers in our charge, and not one of us is lacking. [50] So we have brought as an offering to Yahweh what each man found of gold ornaments—armlets, bracelets, signet rings, earrings, and necklaces—to make atonement for ourselves before Yahweh." [51] So Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from them, all of it in worked ornaments. [52] All the gold of the contribution that they presented to Yahweh, from the commanders of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, came to about 420 pounds.[e] 53 (The men of war had taken plunder, each man for himself.) 54 And Moses and Eleazar the priest received the gold from the commanders of thousands and of hundreds and brought it into the tent of meeting as a reminder of the Israelites before Yahweh.

- a (31:5) Or "twelve units." On the Hebrew 'elef, "thousand" or "clan unit," see the note at 1:46.
- b (31:8) Evi perhaps means "desire." Rekem, "variegated." Zur, "rock." Hur, perhaps "white" or "child." Reba, "fourth" or "offspring."

- d (31:20) At about this point the Samaritan Pentateuch adds further instructions on purification. See the note at 10:10.

Chapter 32

1 Now the descendants of Reuben and the descendants of Gad had a very great number of livestock. They saw the land of Jazer and the land of Gilead, and saw that the place was a place for livestock. 2 So the descendants of Gad and the descendants of Reuben came and spoke to Moses, to Eleazar the priest, and to the leaders of the congregation, saying, 3 "Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo, and Beon,[a] 4 the land that Yahweh struck down before the congregation of Israel, is a land for livestock, and your servants have livestock." 5 They continued, "If we have gained your favor, let this land be granted to your servants as our holding; do not bring us over the Jordan."

6 But Moses said to the descendants of Gad and to the descendants of Reuben, "Shall your brothers go to the war while you sit here? 7 Why would you discourage the Israelites from crossing over into the land that Yahweh has given them? 8 This is what your fathers did when I sent them from Kadesh-barnea to see the land. 9 For when they went up to the Valley of Eshcol and saw the land, they discouraged the Israelites from going into the land that Yahweh had given them. 10 And Yahweh's anger burned on that day, and he swore, saying, 11

‘Surely none of the men who came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, will see the land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not followed me fully, 12 none except Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite[b] and Joshua son of Nun, for they have followed Yahweh fully.’ 13 And Yahweh’s anger burned against Israel, and he made them wander in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the eyes of Yahweh was gone. 14 And now here you are, risen up in your fathers’ place, a brood of sinners, adding still more to Yahweh’s burning anger against Israel! 15 For if you turn away from following him, he will again abandon them in the wilderness, and you will destroy all this people.” 16 Then they came near to him and said, “We will build sheepfolds here for our livestock and cities for our little ones, 17 but we ourselves will take up arms, ready to go before the Israelites, until we have brought them to their place. And our little ones will live in the fortified cities because of the inhabitants of the land. 18 We will not return to our homes until each of the Israelites has received his inheritance. 19 For we will not inherit with them on the other side of the Jordan and beyond, because our inheritance has come to us on this side of the Jordan to the east.” 20 Moses answered them, “If you will carry this out, and arm yourselves to march before Yahweh into battle, 21 and every armed man of you will cross the Jordan before Yahweh, until he has driven out his enemies from before him 22 and the land is subdued before Yahweh, then afterward you may return and be free of obligation to Yahweh and to Israel, and this land will be your possession before Yahweh. 23 But if you will not do so, look, you have sinned against Yahweh, and be sure your sin will find you out. 24 Build cities for your little ones and folds for your sheep, and do what has come out of your mouth.” 25 And the descendants of Gad and the descendants of Reuben said to Moses, “Your servants will do as my lord commands. 26 Our little ones, our wives, our flocks, and all our livestock will remain there in the cities of Gilead, 27 but your servants will cross over, every man who is armed for war, before Yahweh to battle, as my lord says.”

28 So Moses gave command concerning them to Eleazar the priest, to Joshua son of Nun, and to the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the Israelites. 29 And Moses said to them, "If the descendants of Gad and the descendants of Reuben, every man who is armed to battle before Yahweh, will cross over the Jordan with you and the land is subdued before you, then you are to give them the land of Gilead as a possession. 30 But if they will not cross over with you armed, they are to have possessions among you in the land of Canaan." 31 And the descendants of Gad and the descendants of Reuben answered, "What Yahweh has said to your servants, that we will do. 32 We will cross over armed before Yahweh into the land of Canaan, and the possession of our inheritance will remain with us beyond the Jordan." 33 So Moses gave to them, to the descendants of Gad and to the descendants of Reuben and to half the tribe of Manasseh son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, the land with its cities and their territories, the cities of the land throughout. 34 And the descendants of Gad built Dibon, Ataroth, Aroer, 35 Atroth-shophan, Jazer, Jogbehah, 36 Beth-nimrah, and Beth-haran, fortified cities, and folds for sheep. 37 And the descendants of Reuben built Heshbon, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, 38 Nebo, Baal Meon (their names were changed), and Sibmah; and they gave other names to the cities they rebuilt.[c] 39 The sons of Machir the son of Manasseh went to Gilead, captured it, and drove out the Amorites who were there. 40 So Moses gave Gilead to Machir son of Manasseh, and he settled in it. 41 Jair son of Manasseh went and captured their villages and called them Havvoth-jair.[d] 42 And Nobah went and captured Kenath and its villages, and called it Nobah, after his own name.

Notes

- a (32:3) These are towns east of the Jordan. Sebam is probably Sibmah (verse 38), and Beon is Baal-meon (verse 38).
- b (32:12) The Kenizzites were a clan descended from Kenaz, an Edomite (Genesis 36:11), who joined Judah.
- c (32:38) Nebo and Baal-meon contain names of gods (Nabu and Baal), which may explain the renaming.
- d (32:41) Havvoth-jair means "tent villages of Jair."

Chapter 33

1 These are the stages of the journeys of the Israelites, when they came out of the land of Egypt by their divisions under the leadership of Moses and Aaron. 2 Moses wrote down their starting places, stage by stage, at the command of Yahweh. These are their stages according to their starting places. 3 They departed from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month (in March–April).[a] On the day after the Passover the Israelites marched out boldly[b] in full view of all the Egyptians, 4 while the Egyptians were burying all their firstborn, whom Yahweh had struck down among them. On their gods also Yahweh executed judgments.
5 So the Israelites set out from Rameses and camped at Succoth. 6 They set out from Succoth and camped at Etham, which is on the edge of the wilderness. 7 They left Etham and turned back toward Pi Hahiroth, which is east of Baal Zephon, and camped in front of Migdol. 8 They left Hahiroth[c] and crossed the sea through its midst into the wilderness; they traveled three days in the Wilderness of Etham and camped at Marah. 9 They left Marah and came to Elim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees; and they camped there. 10 They set out from Elim and camped by the Red Sea. 11 They set out from the Red Sea and camped in the Wilderness of Sin. 12 They set out from the Wilderness of Sin and camped at Dophkah. 13 They set out from Dophkah and camped at Alush. 14 They set out from Alush and camped at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink. 15 They set out from Rephidim and camped in the Wilderness of Sinai.
16 They set out from the Wilderness of Sinai and camped at Kibroth-hattaavah.[d] 17 They set out from Kibroth-hattaavah and camped at Hazeroth. 18 They set out from Hazeroth and camped at Rithmah. 19
They set out from Rithmah and camped at Rimmon-perez. 20 They set out from Rimmon-perez and camped at Libnah. 21 They set out from Libnah and camped at Rissah. 22 They set out from Rissah and camped at Kehelathah. 23 They set out from Kehelathah and camped at Mount Shepher. 24 They set out from Mount Shepher and camped at Haradah.
25 They set out from Haradah and camped at Makheloth. 26 They set out from Makheloth and camped at Tahath. 27 They set out from Tahath and camped at Terah. 28 They set out from Terah and camped at Mithkah. 29 They set out from Mithkah and camped at Hashmonah. 30 They set out from Hashmonah and camped at Moseroth. 31 They set out from Moseroth and camped at Bene-jaakan. 32 They set out from Bene-jaakan and camped at Hor-haggidgad. 33 They set out from Hor-haggidgad and camped at Jotbathah. 34 They set out from Jotbathah and camped at Abronah. 35 They set out from Abronah and camped at Ezion-geber. 36 They set out from Ezion-geber and camped in the Wilderness of Zin, that is, Kadesh. 37 They set out from Kadesh and camped at Mount Hor, on the edge of the land of Edom.

38 Aaron the priest went up Mount Hor at the command of Yahweh and died there, in the fortieth year after the Israelites had come out of the land of Egypt, on the first day of the fifth month (in July–August).[e] 39 Aaron was a hundred twenty-three years old when he died on Mount Hor.

40 And the Canaanite, the king of Arad, who lived in the Negev in the land of Canaan, heard of the coming of the Israelites.

41 They set out from Mount Hor and camped at Zalmonah. 42 They set out from Zalmonah and camped at Punon. 43 They set out from Punon and camped at Oboth. 44 They set out from Oboth and camped at Iye-abarim, on the border of Moab. 45 They set out from Iyim[f] and camped at Dibon-gad. 46 They set out from Dibon-gad and camped at Almon-diblathaim. 47 They set out from Almon-diblathaim and camped in the mountains of Abarim, before Nebo. 48 They set out from the mountains of Abarim and camped in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho. 49 They camped by the Jordan from Beth-jeshimoth as far as Abel-shittim[g] in the plains of Moab.

50 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, 51 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them, 'When you cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, 52 then you are to drive out all the inhabitants of the land from before you and destroy all their carved stones,[h] destroy all their metal images, and demolish all their high places. 53 You are to take possession of the land and settle in it, for I have given the land to you to possess. 54 You are to inherit the land by lot according to your clans. To a large clan you are to give a larger inheritance, and to a small clan you are to give a smaller inheritance. Wherever the lot falls for anyone, that is to be his. You are to inherit according to the tribes of your fathers. 55 But if you do not drive out the inhabitants of the land ahead of you, those you allow to remain will become barbs in your eyes and thorns in your sides, and they will harass you in the land where you live. 56 And as I thought to do to them, so I will do to you.'"

Notes

- a (33:3) First month: Abib, later called Nisan, of the spring-start religious calendar. Because the months were lunar, the date falls in different parts of March and April from year to year. Compare Exodus 12:2–6, 51.
- b (33:3) Hebrew "with a high hand."
- c (33:8) Some Hebrew manuscripts and ancient versions read "Pi-hahiroth," as in verse 7.
- d (33:16) Verses 16–36 list stopping places, many of which are found only here and cannot now be located. Some names describe features: Rithmah, "broom bush"; Rimmon-perez, "pomegranate of the breach"; Libnah, "white"; Haradah, "trembling"; Makheloth, "assemblies"; Moseroth, "bonds"; Bene-jaakan, "sons of Jaakan"; Jotbathah, "pleasantness"; Ezion-geber, perhaps "backbone of a man," at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba.
- e (33:38) Fifth month: Av, of the spring-start religious calendar. Because the months were lunar, the date falls in different parts of July and August from year to year. This is the only place in the Bible where the date of Aaron's death is given.
- f (33:45) Iyim, "ruins," is a short form of Iye-abarim (verse 44).
- g (33:49) Beth-jeshimoth means "house of the wastes." Abel-shittim means "meadow of acacias"; compare Shittim in 25:1.
- h (33:52) Or "figured stones," carved images used in worship.

Chapter 34

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 2 "Command the Israelites and tell them: When you enter Canaan (this is the land that shall fall to you as an inheritance—Canaan according to its boundaries), 3 your southern side shall run from the Wilderness of Zin alongside Edom, and your southern boundary shall begin at the eastern end of the Salt Sea;[a] 4 your border shall turn southward of the Akrabbim Pass,[b] continue on to Zin, and end south of Kadesh Barnea; it shall extend to Hazar

Addar and pass along to Azmon; 5 The border is to turn from Azmon to the Brook of Egypt,[c] and its limit is to be at the sea.
6 "'For the western border you are to have the Great Sea[d] and its coast.
This is to be your western border.
7 "'This is to be your northern border: from the Great Sea you are to mark out your line to Mount Hor.[e] 8 From Mount Hor you are to mark it out to Lebo-hamath, and the limit of the border is to be at Zedad. 9 Then the border is to extend to Ziphron, and its limit is to be at Hazar-enan. This is to be your northern border.
10 "'You are to mark out your eastern border from Hazar-enan to Shepham. 11 The border is to go down from Shepham to Riblah on the east side of Ain. And the border is to go down and reach the slope east of the Sea of Chinnereth.[f] 12 And the border is to go down to the Jordan, and its limit is to be at the Salt Sea. This is to be your land with its borders all around.'" 13 Moses commanded the Israelites, saying, "This is the land that you are to inherit by lot, which Yahweh has commanded to give to the nine tribes and to the half-tribe. 14 The tribe of Reuben's sons by their ancestral houses, and the tribe of Gad's sons by their ancestral houses, and half the tribe of Manasseh have already received their inheritance. 15 The two tribes and the half-tribe have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan at Jericho, eastward, toward the sunrise."
16 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 17 "These are the names of the men who are to divide the land to you for inheritance: Eleazar the priest and Joshua son of Nun. 18 You shall take one leader from every tribe to apportion the land as an inheritance. 19 These are the names of the men: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh. 20 Of the tribe of the descendants of Simeon, Shemuel son of Ammihud. 21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad son of Chislon. 22 Of the tribe of the descendants of Dan a leader, Bukki son of Jogli. 23 Of the descendants of Joseph: of the tribe of the descendants of Manasseh a leader, Hanniel son of Ephod. 24 And of the tribe of the descendants of Ephraim a leader, Kemuel son of Shiphtan. 25 Of the tribe of the descendants of Zebulun a leader, Elizaphan son of Parnach. 26 Of the tribe of the descendants of Issachar a leader, Paltiel son of Azzan. 27 And of the tribe of the descendants of Asher a leader, Ahihud son of Shelomi. 28 Of the tribe of the descendants of Naphtali a leader, Pedahel son of Ammihud.[g] 29 These are the ones whom Yahweh commanded to divide the inheritance to the Israelites in the land of Canaan."

Notes

- a (34:3) That is, the Dead Sea.
- b (34:4) Akrabbim means "scorpions."
- c (34:5) Probably the Wadi el-Arish in northern Sinai.
- d (34:6) That is, the Mediterranean Sea.
- e (34:7) Not the Mount Hor of 20:22, but a mountain in the north, probably in the Lebanon range.
- f (34:11) That is, the Sea of Galilee. Chinnereth may mean "harp-shaped."
- g (34:28) Several of these names are theophoric: Shemuel, "name of God"; Elidad, "God has loved"; Hanniel, "grace of God"; Kemuel, perhaps "assembly of God"; Elizaphan, "God has protected"; Paltiel, "God is my deliverance"; Pedahel, "God has redeemed." Bukki perhaps means "proved"; Ahihud, "my brother is majesty."

Chapter 35

1 Yahweh spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, 2 "Command the Israelites to give the Levites towns to live in out of the inheritance they possess; and you shall give the Levites open pastureland around the towns. 3 The cities are to be theirs to live in, and their pasturelands are to be for their cattle, for their possessions, and for all their animals. 4 The pasturelands of the cities, which you are to give to the Levites, are to reach from the wall of the city outward 1,500 feet[a] all around. 5 And you are to measure outside the city, on the east side 3,000 feet,[b] on the south side 3,000 feet, on the west side 3,000 feet, and on the north side 3,000 feet, with the city in the middle. This is to be the pastureland of their cities.
6 "The towns you give the Levites shall include the six cities of refuge, which you shall designate for a killer to flee to; and in addition you shall give forty-two towns. 7 All the cities that you give to the Levites are to be forty-eight cities with their pasturelands. 8 As for the cities that you give from the possession of the Israelites, from the larger tribes you are to take many, and from the smaller tribes you are to take few. Each is to give some of its cities to the Levites, in proportion to the inheritance that it receives." 9 Yahweh spoke to Moses, saying, 10 "Speak to the Israelites and say to them, 'When you cross the Jordan into the land of Canaan, 11 then you are to select cities to be cities of refuge for you, so that the manslayer who kills any person unintentionally may flee there. 12 The cities are to be for you a refuge from the avenger,[c] so that the manslayer may not die until he stands before the congregation for judgment. 13 The cities that you give are to be your six cities of refuge. 14 Three cities you shall give on this side of the Jordan, and three cities in the land of Canaan; they shall be cities of refuge. 15 These six cities are to be for refuge for the Israelites, and for the foreigner and the resident alien among them, so that anyone who kills a person unintentionally may flee there.

16 "But if he strikes him with an iron tool so that he dies, he is a murderer; the murderer shall surely be put to death. 17 And if he strikes him with a stone held in the hand, of a size that could kill, and he dies, he is a murderer; the murderer shall surely be put to death. 18 Or if he struck him down with a wooden object in the hand, by which a man may die, and he died, he is a murderer. The murderer must be put to death. 19 The avenger of blood himself is to put the murderer to death. When he meets him, he is to put him to death. 20 Or if in hatred he shoves him, or hurls something at him from ambush so that he dies, 21 or in enmity hits him with his fist and he dies, the one who hit him is to be put to death, for he is a murderer; the avenger of blood shall kill the murderer upon meeting him.
22 "'But if he pushed him suddenly without enmity, or threw anything at him without lying in wait, 23 or, using any stone that could kill, drops it on him without seeing him, so that he dies, though he was not his enemy and was not seeking his harm, 24 then the congregation shall decide between the one who struck and the blood avenger on the basis of these rules. 25 The congregation shall rescue the killer from the avenger of blood, and the congregation shall return him to his city of refuge where he had fled; and he shall live there until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the holy oil. 26 But if the killer ever leaves the boundary of the city of refuge where he fled, 27 and the blood avenger finds him outside the boundary of his city of refuge and kills the slayer, no bloodguilt attaches to him, 28 because the killer must stay in his city of refuge until the high priest dies; only after the high priest's death may the slayer go back to his own landed property. 29 These shall be a legal ordinance for you through all your generations, wherever you live.

30 "If anyone kills a person, the murderer shall be put to death at the word of witnesses; but one witness alone cannot testify against a person to bring about his death. 31 Moreover, you are to accept no ransom for the life of a murderer who is guilty of death. He must be put to death. 32 And you shall take no ransom for someone who has fled to his city of refuge, to allow him to go back and live on his land before the high priest dies. 33 Do not pollute the land you are in, for blood pollutes the land, and the land cannot be atoned for regarding the blood poured out in it, except by the blood of the person who poured it out. 34 Do not make unclean the land where you live, in whose midst I dwell; for I, Yahweh, dwell among the Israelites."

Notes

- a (35:4) Hebrew "a thousand cubits," about 450 meters. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters).
- b (35:5) Hebrew "two thousand cubits," about 900 meters. The relation between verses 4 and 5 is uncertain; verse 5 may give the length of each side of a square around the city.
- c (35:12) Hebrew go'el, the nearest relative, responsible for avenging a killing. See the note at 5:8.

Chapter 36

1 The family heads of the clan of Gilead's descendants, the son of Machir, son of Manasseh, from the Joseph clans, came near and spoke in the presence of Moses and the leaders, the family heads of the Israelites. 2 They said, "Yahweh commanded my lord to distribute the land by lot as an inheritance to the Israelites, and my lord was commanded by Yahweh to give the inheritance of our brother Zelophehad to his daughters. 3 Yet if they marry sons from another Israelite tribe, their inheritance will be removed from our ancestral inheritance and added to the inheritance of the tribe they join; thus it will be cut off from the allotment of our inheritance. 4 And when the Israelites' Jubilee[a] arrives, their inheritance will be added to that of the tribe they have joined, and their inheritance will be cut off from our ancestral tribe's inheritance."

5 So Moses commanded the Israelites according to the word of Yahweh, saying, "The tribe of the descendants of Joseph is right. 6 This is the command of Yahweh for Zelophehad's daughters: they may marry anyone they choose, but only within a family of their father's tribe. 7 The inheritance of the Israelites is not to pass from tribe to tribe, for every one of the Israelites is to hold on to the inheritance of the tribe of his fathers. 8 Every daughter who holds an inheritance in any Israelite tribe shall marry someone from a family of her father's tribe, so that each Israelite keeps his ancestral inheritance. 9 No inheritance shall be transferred from one tribe to another, for the Israelite tribes shall each keep to their own inheritance.'"

10 The daughters of Zelophehad did as Yahweh commanded Moses. 11 Mahlah, Tirzah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Noah, Zelophehad's daughters, married their cousins on their father's side. 12 They were married into the clans of the descendants of Manasseh son of Joseph, and their inheritance remained in the tribe of their father's clan.

13 These are the commands and ordinances that Yahweh gave to the Israelites through Moses on the plains of Moab by the Jordan across from Jericho.

Notes

- a (36:4) The Jubilee was the fiftieth year, when land returned to its original family owners (Leviticus 25:8–17).

Deuteronomy

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 These are the words that Moses addressed to all Israel across the Jordan, in the wilderness, in the Arabah[a] facing Suph,[b] in the region between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Di-zahab.[c] 2 It is an eleven-day journey from Horeb[d] by the Mount Seir road to Kadesh-barnea. 3 In the fortieth year, in the eleventh month (in January–February), on the first day of the month,[e] Moses spoke to the Israelites, telling them everything Yahweh[f] had commanded him to tell them. 4 He spoke after he had struck down Sihon, the Amorite king who ruled from Heshbon, and Og, the king of Bashan who ruled from Ashtaroth and[g] from Edrei. 5 Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses undertook to explain this instruction.[h] He said: 6 "At Horeb Yahweh our God said to us: 'You have lived long enough at this mountain. 7 Turn and set out. Go to the hill country of the Amorites and to all their neighbors in the Arabah, the hill country, the Shephelah,[i] the Negev,[j] and the seacoast—the land of the Canaanites —and to Lebanon, as far as the great river, the Euphrates. 8 Look, I have laid the land open before you. Go in and take over the land that Yahweh swore[k] he would give to your forefathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and to their offspring after them.' 9 "At that time I told you, 'I cannot carry you by myself. 10 Yahweh your God has increased your numbers, and look, today you are as countless as the stars of heaven. 11 May Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, make you a thousand times as many as you are now and bless you as he promised you! 12 How can I alone bear the weight and burden of you and your quarrels? 13 Pick men from each of your tribes who are wise, discerning, and well known, and I will make them your heads.' 14 You replied to me, 'The thing you have spoken of doing is good.' 15 So I took the heads of your tribes, wise and well-known men, and made them heads over you—commanders of thousands, of hundreds, of fifties, and of tens—and officials for your tribes. 16 At that time I charged your judges: 'Hear the cases between your fellow Israelites[l] and decide rightly between a man and his brother, or the foreigner who lives with him. 17 Show no favoritism in judgment; hear the small and the great alike. Fear no one, for the judgment is God's. Any case too hard for you, bring to me, and I will hear it.' 18 I gave you orders at that time about everything you were to do.

19 "Then we set out from Horeb and went through all that vast and terrible wilderness you saw, on the way to the hill country of the Amorites, as Yahweh our God had commanded us, and we came to Kadesh-barnea. 20 I said to you, 'You have come to the hill country of the Amorites, which Yahweh our God is giving us. 21 Look, Yahweh your God has set the land before you. Go up and take it, as Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, has told you. Do not fear or lose heart.'

22 "Then you all approached me and said, 'We should send men on ahead to explore the land for us and to bring back a report on the route we should take up and the cities we will reach.' 23 The idea pleased me, so I chose twelve men from among you, a man for each tribe. 24 They turned and went up into the hill country, came to the Valley of Eshcol,[m] and spied it out. 25 They took some of the land's fruit in their hands, brought it down to us, and reported, 'The land Yahweh our God is giving us is good.' 26 "Yet you would not go up. You rebelled against the command of Yahweh your God. 27 You complained in your tents and said, 'Because Yahweh hates us he brought us out of the land of Egypt, to hand us over to the Amorites to wipe us out. 28 Where are we going up to? Our brothers have made our hearts melt. They say, "The people are greater and taller than we are; the cities are great and walled up to the sky. And we saw the sons of the Anakim[n] there."' 29 "I said to you, 'Do not dread them or fear them. 30 Yahweh your God, who is going ahead of you, is the one who will fight on your behalf, exactly as he did for you in Egypt, before your very eyes, 31 and in the wilderness, where you saw how Yahweh your God bore you as a father bears his child, all along the way you walked until you reached this place.' 32 Yet in this matter you did not trust Yahweh your God, [33] who went before you on the way to seek out a place for you to camp, in fire by night to show you the road you should take, and in the cloud by day.

[34] "Yahweh heard the sound of your words and was angry, and he swore: [35] 'Not a single man of this wicked generation shall look on the good land that I swore to give your forefathers, [36] save Caleb[o] the son of Jephunneh; he shall see it, and I will give him and his sons the land on which he walked, because he wholly followed Yahweh.' [37] Even with me Yahweh was angry because of you, and he said, 'You also will not go in there. [38] Joshua[p] son of Nun, who stands before you, he will go in there. Strengthen him, for he will make Israel inherit it. [39] Your little ones, about whom you said they would be taken as spoil,[q] and your sons, who as yet have no understanding of good or bad, will enter it; to them I will give it, and they will inherit it. [40] But you, turn back and set out into the wilderness by way of the Red Sea.'[r] [41] "Then you answered me, 'We have sinned against Yahweh. We ourselves will go up and fight, in keeping with all that Yahweh our God commanded us.' So every man girded on his weapons of war, regarding the ascent into the hill country as a trifle. [42] But Yahweh told me, 'Tell them, "Do not go up, and do not fight, because I am not among you; otherwise your enemies will defeat you."' [43] I spoke to you, but you would not listen. You rebelled against Yahweh's command, and in your presumption you went up into the hill country. [44] Then the Amorites who lived in that hill country came out against you and chased you as bees do, and beat you down from Seir[s] as far as Hormah. [45] So you returned and wept before Yahweh; but Yahweh would not hear your voice, nor give ear to you. [46] So you remained at Kadesh many days, as many days as you remained there.

Notes

- a (1:1) The Arabah is the great rift valley running south from the Sea of Galilee, through the Jordan Valley and the Dead Sea, down to the Gulf of Aqaba.
- b (1:1) Hebrew Suph, "reeds," perhaps short for Yam Suph, the Sea of Reeds; the Septuagint has "near the Red Sea." The locations of the places named in this verse are uncertain.

- c (1:1) Di-zahab means “abundance of gold”; the Septuagint translates it “the gold works.” Paran perhaps means “place of caves”; Laban means “white”; Hazeroth means “enclosures” or “villages.”
- d (1:2) Horeb (perhaps “dry” or “desolate”) is the name Deuteronomy usually gives to the mountain called Sinai in Exodus. Kadesh-barnea: Kadesh means “holy.”
- e (1:3) Hebrew “in the eleventh month,” later called Shevat. This translation counts the months from the spring new year (Nisan, also called Abib, in March–April). The Hebrew calendar is lunar, so modern equivalents are approximate.
- f (1:3) Yahweh is the personal name of Israel’s God (Hebrew YHWH), which many English versions replace with “the LORD”; see Exodus 3:14–15. Moses means “drawn out” (Exodus 2:10).
- g (1:4) So the Septuagint (compare Joshua 12:4); the Hebrew lacks “and.” Sihon’s name may mean “sweeping away”; Og’s is of uncertain meaning; Heshbon means “reckoning”; Ashtaroth is named for the goddess Astarte; Edrei may mean “strength.”
- h (1:5) Or “law.” Hebrew torah means instruction or teaching, and in Deuteronomy it often refers to the body of teaching Moses gives.
- i (1:7) The Shephelah (“lowland”) is the band of low hills between the central highlands and the coastal plain.
- j (1:7) The Negev (“dry land”) is the arid south of the land.
- k (1:8) Hebrew “that Yahweh swore to your fathers.” The Septuagint reads “which I swore,” and other ancient witnesses are reported to agree.
- l (1:16) Hebrew “your brothers,” here and often in Deuteronomy for fellow members of the people of Israel.
- m (1:24) Eshcol means “cluster” (of grapes); see Numbers 13:23–24. The Septuagint translates the name “the valley of the cluster.”
- n (1:28) The Anakim were a people remembered for their great size; Anak may mean “long-necked.” The Septuagint has “the sons of the giants.”
- o (1:36) Caleb probably means “dog,” perhaps in the sense of a faithful servant; Jephunneh is of uncertain meaning.
- p (1:38) Joshua means “Yahweh saves.” Nun may mean “fish”; the Septuagint spells the name “Naue.”
- q (1:39) The Septuagint lacks “who you said would become plunder.”
- r (1:40) Hebrew Yam Suph, “Sea of Reeds,” here probably the Gulf of Aqaba.
- s (1:44) So the Septuagint and other ancient versions; the Hebrew reads “in Seir.” Hormah means “destruction” or “place devoted to destruction.”

Chapter 2

[1] “Then we turned and set out into the wilderness by way of the Red Sea, as Yahweh had told me, and for many days we went around Mount Seir.

2 “Then Yahweh said to me, 3 ‘You have been going around this hill country long enough. Turn north. 4 Give the people this order: “You are about to pass along the border of your kinsmen, Esau’s descendants,[a] who live in Seir. They will be afraid of you, so be very careful.
5 Do not start a fight with them, for I will not give you any of their land, not so much as a footprint, because I have given Mount Seir to Esau as his own. 6 You are to buy the food you eat from them with silver, and you are also to buy the water you drink from them with silver. 7 For Yahweh your God has blessed you in all that your hands have done. He has known your going through this great wilderness.
For these forty years Yahweh your God has been with you; you have lacked nothing.”’ 8 “So we went on past our kinsmen, the sons of Esau, who dwell in Seir, away from the Arabah road, away from Elath and Ezion Geber.[b] And we turned and traveled the way of the wilderness of Moab. 9 Yahweh told me, ‘Do not treat Moab as an enemy or go to war with them. I will not give you any part of their land to own, because I have assigned Ar[c] to Lot’s descendants[d] as their own.’ 10 (The Emim[e] lived there formerly, a people great and many and tall as the Anakim. 11 They also were reckoned as Rephaim,[f] like the Anakim, but the Moabites call them Emim. 12 The Horites[g] also used to live in Seir, but Esau’s descendants dispossessed them, wiped them out, and took over their land, just as Israel was to do in the land Yahweh gave them to own.) 13 ‘Now get up and cross the Wadi Zered.’[h] So we crossed the Wadi Zered. 14 We spent thirty-eight years getting from Kadesh-barnea to the crossing of the Wadi Zered. By then that whole generation of soldiers had died out of the camp, as Yahweh had sworn to them. 15 Indeed, the hand of Yahweh was against them, to root them out from the midst of the camp until they had perished.
16 “When all the men of war had died and were gone from among the people, 17 Yahweh spoke to me: 18 ‘Today you are crossing the border of Moab at Ar. 19 And when you approach the border of the Ammonites, do not harass them or provoke them to battle; for I will give you no part of the Ammonites’ land as a possession, since I have given it to the sons of Lot for a possession.’ 20 (That also is reckoned a land of Rephaim. Rephaim lived there formerly, but the Ammonites call them

Zamzummim,[i] 21 a people great and many and tall as the Anakim.
But Yahweh destroyed them before the Ammonites, and they drove them out and settled in their place, 22 just as he had done for Esau's descendants who live in Seir, when he wiped out the Horites ahead of them; they dispossessed them and occupy their land to this day.
23 And the Avvim,[j] who lived in villages as far as Gaza, were wiped out by the Caphtorim,[k] who had come from Caphtor and then took over their land.) 24 'Get up, set out, and cross the Arnon Valley.[l] See, I have put into your hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land. Begin to take possession; fight him in battle. 25 This day I will begin to put the dread and fear of you on the peoples everywhere under heaven. When they hear the report of you, they will tremble and writhe in anguish because of you.' 26 "So I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth[m] to Sihon king of Heshbon with words of peace: 27 'Let me pass through your land. I will go only along the road; I will turn neither to the right nor to the left. 28 Sell me food for silver so that I may eat, and give me water for silver so that I may drink. Only let me go through on foot, 29 Esau's descendants in Seir did this for me, and so did the Moabites in Ar. Let me go on until I have crossed the Jordan into the land Yahweh our God is giving us.' 30 But Sihon king of Heshbon would not let us pass by him, for Yahweh your God had hardened his spirit and made his heart stubborn, in order to give him into your hand, as he is today. 31 Then Yahweh said to me, 'See, I have begun to give Sihon and his land over to you. Begin to take possession, so that you may possess his land.' 32 Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Jahaz. 33 But Yahweh our God gave him up to us, and we defeated him, his sons,[n] and all his people. 34 We captured all his cities at that time and devoted[o] every city to destruction, men and women and little ones. We left no survivor. 35 Only the livestock we took as plunder for ourselves, with the spoil of the cities we had captured. 36 From Aroer on the rim of the Arnon gorge, and from the city in the gorge, as far as Gilead, no town was too lofty for us; Yahweh our God handed over all of them to us. 37 Only you did not go near the land of the Ammonites, the whole bank of the Jabbok River,[p] or the cities of the hill country, or any place Yahweh our God had forbidden.

Notes

- a (2:4) Esau means "hairy"; see Genesis 25:25. Seir also suggests "hairy," perhaps of its wooded slopes.
- b (2:8) Elath ("terebinth") and Ezion-geber were at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba.
- c (2:9) Ar ("city") was a city or district of Moab.
- d (2:9) Lot may mean "covering." Moab and Ammon descended from him (Genesis 19:36–38).
- e (2:10) Emim means "terrors."
- f (2:11) The Rephaim were an ancient people remembered as giants; the same word elsewhere means the "shades" of the dead.
- g (2:12) The Horites may be "cave dwellers," or the name may refer to the Hurrians.
- h (2:13) Hebrew nahal, a valley with a stream that flows mainly in the rainy season. Zered may mean "willow" or "luxuriant growth."
- i (2:20) Zamzummim may mean "murmurers"; the meaning is uncertain.
- j (2:23) Avvim may mean "ruins."
- k (2:23) Caphtor is usually identified with Crete; the Philistines came from there (Amos 9:7).
- l (2:24) The Arnon is the gorge east of the Dead Sea that formed Moab's northern border; its name may mean "roaring stream."
- m (2:26) Kedemoth means "eastern places." Jahaz (verse 32) may mean "trodden place."
- n (2:33) So the Hebrew reading tradition (qere); the written text (ketiv) has "his son."
- o (2:34) Hebrew herem: to give something over completely to God, which in war meant its total destruction.
- p (2:37) The Jabbok, perhaps "flowing," is a tributary that runs west into the Jordan.

Chapter 3

1 "Then we turned and went up the road to Bashan, and Og king of Bashan came out against us, he and all his people, to battle at Edrei. 2 But Yahweh told me, 'Have no fear of him, for into your hand I have given him, his whole people, and his land; deal with him as you dealt with Sihon, king of the Amorites, who made his home in Heshbon.' 3 So Yahweh our God also delivered into our hands Og the king of Bashan with all his people; we struck them down until not one was left of them. 4 At that time we took all his cities; not one of the towns was left that we did not seize from them—sixty cities, the entire district of Argob,[a] Og's kingdom in Bashan. 5 All these were cities fortified with high walls, gates, and bars, besides a great many open villages. 6 We devoted them to destruction, as we had done to Sihon king of Heshbon, devoting every city to destruction, men, women, and little ones. 7 But all the livestock and the spoil of the cities we took as plunder for ourselves. 8 "So at that time we took the land out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, from the Arnon Valley to Mount Hermon[b] 9 (the Sidonians call Hermon Sirion, and the Amorites call it Senir), 10 all the cities of the plateau, all of Gilead, and all of Bashan, to Salecah and Edrei, the cities of Og's kingdom in Bashan. 11 (For only Og king of Bashan was left of the remnant of the Rephaim. Look, his bed[c] was a bed of iron.

Is it not still in Rabbah of the Ammonites? It is about thirteen and a half feet long and six feet wide, measured by a man's forearm.[d]) 12
"This is the land that we took possession of at that time: from Aroer, on the edge of the Arnon gorge, and half of the hill country of Gilead with its cities, I gave to the Reubenites and the Gadites. 13 The rest of Gilead and all Bashan, the kingdom of Og, I gave to the half-tribe of Manasseh. (The whole region of Argob, all that Bashan, is called a land of Rephaim. 14 Jair[e] the Manassite captured all the Argob region up to the Geshurite and Maacathite frontier, and he named Bashan after himself, Havvoth-jair,[f] the name it still has today.) 15 To Machir[g] I gave Gilead. 16 To the tribes of Reuben and Gad I assigned the land stretching from Gilead down to the Arnon Valley (the middle of the gorge forming the boundary) and up to the Jabbok River, which is the Ammonite border, 17 and also the Arabah, with the Jordan as a border, from Chinnereth[h] as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea,[i] under the slopes of Pisgah[j] to the east.
18 "At that time I commanded you: 'Yahweh your God has given you this land to possess. All you who are fit for war shall cross over armed before your fellow Israelites. 19 Only your wives, your little ones, and your livestock (I know that you have much livestock) shall stay in the towns I have given you, 20 until Yahweh gives your kinsmen rest as he has given you, and they too take over the land Yahweh your God is giving them across the Jordan. After that, every man may go back to the property I have given him.' 21 "And at that time I charged Joshua:

'Your own eyes have seen everything Yahweh your God did to these two kings; Yahweh will do the same to all the kingdoms through which you will pass. 22 Do not fear them, for it is Yahweh your God who fights for you.' 23 "At that time I begged Yahweh for mercy: 24 'Lord Yahweh,[k] you have begun to let your servant see your greatness and your strong hand. Is there a god anywhere in the heavens or on the earth whose works and mighty deeds can compare with yours? 25 Let me cross over, I pray, and see the good land on the other side of the Jordan—that fine hill country, and the Lebanon.' 26 But Yahweh was angry with me because of you and would not listen to me. Yahweh said to me, 'Enough from you! Speak to me no more of this matter. 27 Climb to the summit of Pisgah and look around, westward, northward, southward, and eastward. Look at it well with your own eyes, because you will not cross this Jordan. 28 Give Joshua his orders, encourage him, and make him strong, because he is the one who will cross over leading this people, and he is the one who will hand over to them the land you are about to see.' 29 And so we stayed on in the valley facing Beth-peor.[l]

Notes

- a (3:4) Argob may mean "heap of stones."
- b (3:8) Hermon means "sacred" or "devoted." Sirion and Senir may both mean "breastplate," perhaps from the mountain's shining snow.
- c (3:11) Or "his coffin" or "sarcophagus"; the Hebrew word usually means a bed or couch.
- d (3:11) Hebrew "nine cubits its length and four cubits its width, by the cubit of a man," about 4 by 1.8 meters. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters).
- e (3:14) Jair means "he gives light."
- f (3:14) Havvoth-jair means "tent villages of Jair."
- g (3:15) Machir means "sold." He was Manasseh's son (Genesis 50:23); Manasseh means "causing to forget" (Genesis 41:51).
- h (3:17) Chinnereth (perhaps "harp-shaped") is the Sea of Galilee.
- i (3:17) The Dead Sea.
- j (3:17) Pisgah is a ridge of the Abarim mountains northeast of the Dead Sea, near Mount Nebo.
- k (3:24) Hebrew Adonai YHWH.
- l (3:29) Beth-peor means "house of Peor," a place linked with the worship of the Baal of Peor (Numbers 25).

Chapter 4

1 “And now, Israel, listen to the statutes and the rulings I am teaching you to do, so that you may live, and go in and possess the land that Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, is giving you. 2 Do not add to the word I command you or take anything from it, so that you may keep the commands of Yahweh your God that I am giving you. 3 Your own eyes saw what Yahweh did at Baal-peor.[a] Every man who went after the Baal of Peor, Yahweh your God wiped out from among you, 4 but all of you who clung to Yahweh your God are alive today. 5 See, I have taught you statutes and rulings, as Yahweh my God commanded me, for you to do in the land you are entering to possess. 6 Guard them and practice them, because this will show your wisdom and good sense to the nations. Hearing of all these statutes, they will exclaim, ‘What a wise and discerning people this great nation is!’ 7 For what great nation is there that has gods so near to it as Yahweh our God is to us whenever we call to him? 8 Or what great nation has statutes and ordinances so just as this whole law which I set before you today?
9 “But be on your guard, and watch yourself carefully, so you will not forget what you have seen with your own eyes, or let it slip from your mind for as long as you live. Teach it to your children and to their children. 10 Remember the day you stood in the presence of Yahweh your God at Horeb, when Yahweh told me, ‘Call the people together to me, so that I may have them hear my words, that they may learn to revere me for as long as they live on the earth, and may teach their children so.’ 11 You drew near and stood at the base of the mountain, and the mountain was ablaze with fire reaching into the very heart of the sky, wrapped in darkness, cloud, and thick gloom. 12 Then Yahweh spoke to you out of the fire. You heard words being spoken, but you saw no shape—only a voice. 13 He declared to you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, the Ten Words,[b] and he wrote them on two tablets of stone. 14 And Yahweh commanded me at that time to teach you statutes and rulings, for you to do them in the land you are crossing into to possess.
15 “Therefore be very careful about yourselves, since you saw no form on the day Yahweh spoke to you at Horeb out of the midst of the fire, [16] so that you do not act corruptly by making yourselves a carved image, in the form of any figure, the likeness of male or female, [17] the likeness of any beast that is on the earth, the likeness of any winged bird that flies in the sky, [18] the likeness of anything that creeps on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the water under the earth.

[19] And take heed lest you lift your eyes to heaven and see the sun, the moon, and the stars, the whole host of heaven, and be drawn away to worship and serve them—those Yahweh your God has assigned to all the nations under all of heaven. [20] But Yahweh has taken you and brought you out from Egypt, the iron smelting furnace, to be his own people, his inheritance, as you are today. [21] But Yahweh was angry with me on your account and swore that I would not go across the Jordan or come into the good land that Yahweh your God is giving you to inherit. [22] For I will die in this land, without crossing the Jordan; but you will go over and inherit this good land. [23] Take care not to forget the covenant of Yahweh your God that he made with you, and do not make yourselves a carved image in the form of anything Yahweh your God has forbidden you. [24] For Yahweh your God is a fire that consumes, a jealous God.
[25] "After you have had children and grandchildren and have grown old in the land, if you then become corrupt and make an idol in any shape, and do evil in the sight of Yahweh your God and provoke him, [26] I summon heaven and earth today to testify against you: you will quickly vanish from the land you are about to cross the Jordan to take over. You will not live there long; you will be completely wiped out. [27] Yahweh will scatter you among the peoples, and you will be left few in number among the nations where Yahweh will drive you. [28] There you will serve gods that are the work of human hands, wood and stone, which neither see nor hear nor eat nor smell. [29] But from there you will search for Yahweh your God, and you will find him, provided you seek him with your whole heart and your whole being. [30] When you are in distress and all these things have found you in the latter days, you will return to Yahweh your God and obey his voice. [31] For Yahweh your God is a merciful God. He will not fail you or ruin you, and he will not forget the covenant he made with your forefathers and confirmed by oath.

32 "Go on, ask about the days long past, the ages before you, back to the day God created humankind[c] on the earth. Ask from one horizon of the sky to the other: has any event as great as this ever taken place?
Has anyone ever heard of such a thing? 33 Has any people ever heard the voice of a god[d] speaking from the middle of the fire, as you have heard, and still lived? 34 Or has any god ever tried to go and take a nation for himself from within another nation, by trials, by signs, by wonders, by war, by a strong hand and an outstretched arm, and by great terrors, according to all that Yahweh your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes? 35 To you it was shown, so that you might know that Yahweh, he is God; there is no other besides him. 36 From the sky he let you hear his voice so as to instruct you, and on the earth he let you see his great fire, and out of that fire you heard his words. 37 Because he loved your forefathers, he chose their offspring after them, and he himself, in person[e] and in great strength, brought you out of Egypt, 38 to drive out ahead of you nations bigger and stronger than you, to bring you in and hand over their land to you as your inheritance, as is now happening. 39 Know therefore today, and lay it to your heart, that Yahweh, he is God in heaven above and on the earth beneath; there is no other. 40 Keep his statutes and his commands, which I command you today, so that it may go well with you and with your children after you, and so that you may prolong your days in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you for all time." 41 Then Moses set apart three cities beyond the Jordan, toward the sunrise, 42 so that anyone who killed his neighbor unintentionally, without having hated him in the past, could flee there, and by fleeing to one of these cities he might live: 43 Bezer, in the desert on the tableland, belonged to the Reubenites; Ramoth in Gilead to the Gadites; and Golan in Bashan to the Manassites.[f] 44 This is the instruction[g] that Moses set before the Israelites. 45 These are the testimonies, the statutes, and the rulings that Moses spoke to the Israelites when they came out of Egypt, 46 across the Jordan, in the valley opposite Beth Peor, in the territory of Sihon, the Amorite king who ruled from Heshbon, whom Moses and the Israelites had overcome as they were leaving Egypt. 47 They took possession of his land and the land of Og king of Bashan, the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise, 48 It stretched from Aroer, at the rim of the Arnon gorge, to Mount Sion[h] (that is, Hermon), 49 as well as all the Arabah on the east side of the Jordan down to the Sea of the Arabah, beneath the slopes of Pisgah.

Notes

- a (4:3) Baal-peor means "lord of Peor." See Numbers 25:1–9.
- b (4:13) Hebrew "the ten words," the Ten Commandments (also 10:4). See 5:6–21.
- c (4:32) Or "Adam." Hebrew ʾadam, "humankind," which is also the name of the first man.
- d (4:33) Or "the voice of God." The Septuagint reads "the voice of the living God."
- e (4:37) Hebrew "with his face."
- f (4:43) Bezer means "fortress"; Ramoth means "heights"; Golan may mean "circle" or "exile." Gilead may mean "heap of witness" (Genesis 31:47–48).
- g (4:44) Or "law." Hebrew torah.
- h (4:48) Hebrew Siʾon, a different name from Zion in Jerusalem. The Syriac reads "Sirion" (compare 3:9).

Chapter 5

1 Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: "Listen, Israel, to the statutes and rulings I am announcing in your hearing today. Learn them, and be careful to carry them out. 2 Yahweh our God made a covenant with us at Horeb. 3 Yahweh did not make this covenant with our ancestors, but with us, we who are all of us here alive this day. 4 Face to face Yahweh spoke with you on the mountain, out of the fire. 5 (At that time I was standing between Yahweh and you to relay Yahweh's word to you, since the fire frightened you and you would not climb the mountain.) He said:

6 'I am Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house where you were slaves.[ab]

7 'You shall have no other gods before me.[c]

8 'Do not make yourself a carved image, the likeness[d] of anything in the sky overhead, on the earth beneath, or in the water below the earth. 9 Do not bow down to them or worship them, for I, Yahweh your God, am a jealous God, holding children to account for the wrongdoing of their fathers, to the third and the fourth generation of those who hate me, 10 yet I show steadfast love[e] for a thousand generations[f] to those who love me and keep my commands.

11 'You shall not take up the name of Yahweh your God for an empty purpose,[g] for Yahweh will not hold guiltless whoever takes up his name for an empty purpose.
12 'Keep the Sabbath day[h] holy by observing it, just as Yahweh your God commanded you. 13 Six days you are to labor and do all your work, 14 Yet the seventh day is a Sabbath belonging to Yahweh your God.
On it you shall do no work at all: you, your son, your daughter, your male servant, your female servant, your ox, your donkey, any of your livestock, or the sojourner living inside your gates; that your male servant and female servant may rest as well as you. 15 Remember that you yourself were a slave in the land of Egypt, and that Yahweh your God brought you out of there by a strong hand and an outstretched arm. That is why Yahweh your God has commanded you to keep the Sabbath day.[i]
16 'Honor your father and your mother, as Yahweh your God commanded you, so that your days may be long and that it may go well with you on the soil that Yahweh your God is giving you.[j] 17 'You shall not murder.[k]
18 'And you shall not commit adultery.
19 'And you shall not steal.
20 'And you shall not testify against your neighbor as an empty[l] witness.
21 'And you shall not covet your neighbor's wife, and you shall not crave your neighbor's house or field, his slave, male or female, his ox or donkey, or anything at all that is your neighbor's.'[m] 22 "These are the words Yahweh spoke with a mighty voice to your whole assembly on the mountain, out of the fire, the cloud, and the dense darkness, and he said nothing more. He wrote them on two stone tablets and gave them to me. 23 But when you heard the voice out of the darkness, while the mountain was ablaze with fire, you came to me, all the heads of your tribes and your elders, 24 and you said, 'See, Yahweh our God has shown us his glory and his greatness, and we heard his voice from the midst of the fire; today we have seen that God may speak with a person, and that person lives on. 25 But now, why should we die? This great fire will devour us. If we go on hearing the voice of Yahweh our God any longer, we will die. 26 For what mortal[n] has ever heard the living God's voice speak from out of the fire, as we did, and still lived? 27 You go near and hear all that Yahweh our God says. Then you tell us everything that Yahweh our God tells you, and we will hear and do it.' 28 "Yahweh heard what you said to me, and Yahweh said to me, 'I have heard the words that this people spoke to you. All that they have spoken is well said. 29 If only their hearts were always set like this, to fear me and keep all my commands, so that they and their children might prosper forever! 30 Go and say to them, "Go back to your tents." 31

But you, stand here beside me, and I will tell you the whole command, the statutes and the rulings, that you shall teach them, so they will do them in the land I am giving them to possess.' 32 Take care, then, to act as Yahweh your God has commanded you. Do not turn aside to the right hand or to the left. 33 Walk in the whole way that Yahweh your God has commanded you, so that you may live and prosper and have long life in the land you are going to possess.

Notes

- a (5:6) Verses 6–21 give the Ten Words (4:13) in a form close to Exodus 20:2–17; the main differences are noted at verses 8, 11, 12, 15, 16, 17, 20, and 21. Jewish and Christian traditions divide the Ten Words in different ways; the paragraphing here follows the commands, not any one numbering.
- b (5:6) The Nash Papyrus, a single sheet bought in Egypt and usually dated to the second or first century BC, contains a Hebrew text of the Ten Words followed by the Shema (6:4–5). Before the Dead Sea Scrolls were found, it was the oldest known Hebrew biblical manuscript. Its text of the Ten Words is reported to blend the forms of Exodus 20 and Deuteronomy 5 (for example, it gives the creation reason for the Sabbath found in Exodus 20:11) and to place the command against adultery before the command against murder. These details should be checked against a critical edition.
- c (5:7) Or "besides me" or "in addition to me"; Hebrew "before my face."
- d (5:8) Exodus 20:4 reads "or any likeness"; here the Hebrew has no "or," so the second phrase may explain the first. Some Hebrew manuscripts and ancient versions are reported to read "or" here as well.
- e (5:10) Hebrew hesed, loyal and faithful love, especially within a covenant.

- f (5:10) Or “to thousands.”
- g (5:11) Or “in vain” or “to deceive”; Hebrew “lift up the name … to emptiness.”
- h (5:12) Exodus 20:8 reads “Remember the Sabbath day.” Sabbath means “ceasing” or “rest.”
- i (5:15) In Exodus 20:11 the reason given for the Sabbath is that Yahweh rested on the seventh day of creation. Here the reason is Israel’s release from slavery, and verse 14 adds the ox, the donkey, and the rest for slaves.
- j (5:16) The words “as Yahweh your God commanded you” and “that it may go well with you” are not in Exodus 20:12.
- k (5:17) Hebrew ratsah, the unlawful killing of a person. In verses 18–21 the Hebrew joins each command to the one before it with “and,” which Exodus 20 does not.
- l (5:20) Hebrew shaw’, “empty” or “worthless”; Exodus 20:16 has sheqer, “false.”
- m (5:21) Exodus 20:17 puts the neighbor’s house first and uses the same verb, “covet” (Hebrew hamad), for both clauses. Here the wife comes first, a second verb (hit’awweh, “crave” or “desire”) is used for the house and property, and “his field” is added. The Septuagint also has “his field.”
- n (5:26) Hebrew “who of all flesh,” that is, what mortal.

Chapter 6

1 “Now this is the command—the statutes and the rulings—that Yahweh your God directed me to teach you, for you to carry out in the land you are crossing over to possess, 2 so that all your life you may revere Yahweh your God and observe all his statutes and commandments, which I am giving you—you, your son, and your grandson —in order that you may live long. 3 Listen, then, Israel, and take care to obey, so that you may prosper and become very numerous in a land flowing with milk and honey, just as Yahweh, the God of your forefathers, has promised you.[a] 4 “Hear,[b] Israel: Yahweh is our God; Yahweh is one.[c] 5 You shall love Yahweh your God with all your heart,[d] with all your soul,[e] and with all your strength.[f] 6 These words that I am commanding you today are to stay on your heart. 7 Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you are sitting at home and when you are out on the road, when you lie down and when you get up. 8 Bind them as a sign on your hand, and let them be a headband[g] between your eyes. 9 Inscribe them on the doorframes[h] of your house and on your city gates.

10 “Yahweh your God will bring you into the land that he swore to give you when he made his oath to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—a land with great and splendid cities that you did not build, 11 houses packed with all kinds of good things that you did not put there, cisterns you never dug, vineyards and olive trees you never planted. When you have eaten your fill, 12 be on your guard so that you do not forget Yahweh, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. 13 Fear Yahweh your God, serve him, and take your oaths in his name. 14 Do not go after other gods, gods of the peoples who are all around you, 15 for Yahweh your God, who is in your midst, is a jealous God. Otherwise the anger of Yahweh your God will flare up against you, and he will sweep you off the face of the ground. 16 Do not test Yahweh your God the way you tested him at Massah.[i] 17 Be sure to keep the commands of Yahweh your God, and the testimonies and statutes he has laid on you. 18 Do what is upright and good in Yahweh’s sight, so that things may go well for you, and so that you may enter and take over the good land that Yahweh promised on oath to your forefathers, 19 by pushing all your enemies out of your way, as Yahweh has said.
20 “In days to come, when your son asks you, ‘What is the meaning of the testimonies, the statutes, and the rulings that Yahweh our God has commanded you?’ 21 tell your son, ‘Pharaoh made slaves of us in Egypt, and Yahweh brought us out of Egypt with a strong hand.
22 Yahweh did signs and wonders, great and terrible, against Egypt, against Pharaoh, and against his entire household, while we watched.
23 But us he brought out from there, so that he might bring us in and give us the land that he had sworn to our forefathers. 24 Yahweh commanded us to perform all these statutes and to fear Yahweh our God, for our own good at all times, so that he might keep us alive, as he has to this day. 25 And it will count as righteousness for us if we take care to keep this whole command in the presence of Yahweh our God, as he has commanded us.’

Notes

- a (6:3) The Septuagint adds at the end of the verse, “and these are the ordinances and the judgments which the Lord commanded the children of Israel in the wilderness, when they had gone forth from the land of Egypt" (Brenton). The Nash Papyrus (see 5:6) is reported to have a similar heading before the Shema.

- b (6:4) Hebrew shemaʿ, "hear" or "listen and obey." From this word, verses 4–9 are known in Jewish tradition as the Shema. In many Hebrew manuscripts the last letter of "Hear" and the last letter of "one" are written large.
- c (6:4) Or "Yahweh our God, Yahweh is one," or "Yahweh our God is one Yahweh," or "Yahweh is our God, Yahweh alone." The Hebrew has four words after "Israel," literally "Yahweh our-God Yahweh one," with no verb. "One" may stress that Yahweh is undivided and unique, or that Israel is to worship Yahweh alone. The Septuagint reads "The Lord our God is one Lord," the form quoted in Mark 12:29. The Nash Papyrus (see 5:6) contains this verse; it is reported to differ slightly from the Hebrew text used here.
- d (6:5) Hebrew lebab, the center of thought, will, and feeling. The Septuagint has "mind."
- e (6:5) Or "your whole being" or "your life."
- f (6:5) Hebrew meʾod, literally "muchness," that is, all your power and resources.
- g (6:8) Hebrew totaphot, a word of uncertain meaning. Later Jewish practice understood this verse to refer to tefillin, small boxes containing these words, worn on the arm and forehead.
- h (6:9) Hebrew mezuzot, from which comes the name mezuzah for the small case with these words fixed to a doorpost.
- i (6:16) Massah means "testing" (Exodus 17:7).

Chapter 7

1 "When Yahweh your God brings you into the land you are entering to possess, he will clear away many nations ahead of you—the Hittite and the Girgashite, the Amorite and the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite, seven nations more numerous and powerful than you. 2 When Yahweh your God hands them over to you and you strike them down, you must devote them to destruction. Make no covenant with them, and do not be merciful to them. 3 Do not marry among them. Do not give your daughter to his son, and do not take his daughter for your son, 4 because he would lead your son away from following me, and they would serve other gods. Then Yahweh's anger would blaze against you, and he would destroy you quickly.
5 Rather, this is what you are to do to them: pull down their altars, shatter their standing stones, hack down their Asherah poles,[a] and burn their carved images. 6 For you are a people holy to Yahweh your God. Out of all the peoples on the face of the earth, Yahweh your God has chosen you to be a people that is his treasured possession.

7 Yahweh did not become attached to you and select you because your numbers exceeded those of the other peoples—indeed you were the smallest of all peoples— 8 It was because Yahweh loved you, and because he was keeping the oath he had sworn to your forefathers, that Yahweh brought you out with a strong hand and ransomed you from the house of slavery, out of the grip of Pharaoh, king of Egypt.
9 Know therefore that Yahweh your God, he is God, the faithful God, keeping covenant and loyal love to a thousand generations of those who love him and keep his commandments, 10 and who pays back those who hate him to their faces, destroying them. With the one who hates him he will not delay; he will pay him back to his face. 11 So keep the command, the statutes, and the rulings that I am giving you today, and carry them out.
12 "Because you listen to these rulings and keep them and act on them, Yahweh your God will keep with you the covenant and the steadfast love he swore to your forefathers. 13 and he will love you, bless you, and multiply you; he will bless the fruit of your womb and the fruit of your ground, your grain, your new wine, and your oil, the increase of your herd and the young of your flock, in the land that he swore to your ancestors to give you. 14 You will be blessed beyond every other people. No man or woman among you will be childless, and none of your livestock will be barren. 15 Yahweh will turn every sickness away from you. He will not bring on you any of the dreadful diseases of Egypt that you know about; he will put them on all who hate you instead. 16 And you shall consume all the peoples whom Yahweh your God is giving over to you; your eye shall not spare them, nor shall you serve their gods, for that will be a snare to you.
17 "You may think to yourself, 'These nations outnumber me. How can I drive them out?' 18 But do not be afraid of them. Call to mind what Yahweh your God did to Pharaoh and all Egypt: 19 the great ordeals your eyes witnessed, the signs and the wonders, the strong hand and the outstretched arm by which Yahweh your God brought you out. Yahweh your God will do just the same to all the peoples you are afraid of. 20 Yahweh your God will also send the hornet[b] against them, until even the survivors who hide from you have perished. 21 Do not tremble before them, for Yahweh your God is in your midst, a God great and awe-inspiring. 22 Yahweh your God will clear these nations away before you a little at a time. You will not be allowed to finish them off all at once, or the wild beasts would become too many for you. 23 Yahweh your God will deliver them up to you and throw them into great panic until they are wiped out. 24 He will hand their kings over to you, and you will blot out their names from under the heavens. No one will be able to hold his ground against you until you have destroyed them. 25 You shall burn the images of their gods in the fire. Do not desire the silver and the gold that covers them, and do not take it for yourself, or it will be a trap for you, for it is an abomination[c] to Yahweh your God. 26 Do not bring an abomination into your house, or you will become devoted to destruction as it is. You must regard it as vile and detest it, for it is devoted to destruction.

Notes

- a (7:5) Wooden poles or trees associated with the goddess Asherah.
- b (7:20) Or "panic" or "plague"; the meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain. The Septuagint has "hornets."
- c (7:25) Hebrew to'ebah, something detestable or abhorrent, especially in worship.

Chapter 8

1 "Every command that I give you today you must take care to carry out, so that you may live and grow numerous and go in and possess the land Yahweh swore to your forefathers. 2 And remember the entire journey on which Yahweh your God has led you for forty years in the wilderness, to humble you, putting you to the test in order to learn what was in your heart, whether or not you would observe his commandments. 3 He humbled you, let you go hungry, and then fed you with manna,[a] which neither you nor your forefathers had ever known, so that he might teach you that people do not live on bread alone; rather, people live on every word that comes from Yahweh's mouth. 4 Your clothes did not wear out on your backs, and your feet did not swell, all these forty years. 5 Know then in your heart that Yahweh your God disciplines you just as a man disciplines his son. 6 Keep the commands of Yahweh your God, walking in his ways and fearing him. 7 For Yahweh your God is bringing you into a good land, a land of flowing streams, of springs and underground waters that well up in the valleys and in the hills, 8 a land of wheat and barley, of vines and figs and pomegranates, a land of olive oil and honey,[b] 9 a land where you will never be short of bread to eat and will lack nothing, a land whose rocks contain iron and from whose hills you can mine copper. 10 You will eat until you are full, and you will bless Yahweh your God for the good land he has given you.

11 "Be careful not to forget Yahweh your God by neglecting his commands, his rulings, and his statutes, which I am commanding you today. 12 When you have eaten all you want and have built good houses and are living in them, 13 when your cattle and sheep have multiplied, your silver and gold have increased, and all that you own has grown, 14 do not let your heart become proud so that you forget Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. 15 He led you through the vast and dreadful wilderness, a land of burning[c] serpents and scorpions, of parched ground with no water. He brought water out of hard rock for you.
16 He fed you manna in the wilderness, something your forefathers had never known, to humble you and put you to the test, so that in the end he might do you good. 17 Do not say to yourself, 'My own strength and the power of my own hand have won me this wealth.' 18 Remember Yahweh your God, for it is he who gives you the power to gain wealth, so that he may establish his covenant that he swore to your forefathers, as he is doing today. 19 But if you do forget Yahweh your God and follow other gods and serve them and bow down to them, I warn you solemnly today that you will certainly perish. 20 Like the nations that Yahweh is wiping out before you, so you too will perish, because you would not obey the voice of Yahweh your God.

Notes

- a (8:3) Manna is probably named from the question "What is it?" (Exodus 16:15).
- b (8:8) Probably both bees' honey and the thick syrup made from dates or grapes.
- c (8:15) Hebrew saraph, "burning," perhaps from the painful bite of these snakes (Numbers 21:6).

Chapter 9

1 “Hear, Israel: today you are about to cross the Jordan to go in and dispossess nations bigger and mightier than you, with huge cities walled up to the sky, 2 a people great and tall, the sons of the Anakim, whom you know about, and about whom you have heard it said, ‘Who can make a stand against the sons of Anak?’ 3 Know for certain today that it is Yahweh your God who will cross over in front of you, a consuming fire. He will destroy them; he will bring them down before you, and you will drive them out and make them vanish quickly, as Yahweh has told you. 4 When Yahweh your God has thrust them out of your way, do not say to yourself, ‘Yahweh brought me in to take this land because I am righteous.’ No, it is because these nations are wicked that Yahweh is driving them out before you. 5 You are not going in to take their land because of your righteousness or the uprightness of your heart. It is because of the wickedness of these nations that Yahweh your God is driving them out before you, and to keep the promise Yahweh swore to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. 6 Understand, then, that Yahweh your God is not giving you this good land to possess because of any righteousness of yours, for you are a stiff-necked people.
7 “Remember, and do not ever forget, how you made Yahweh your God angry in the wilderness. From the day you left the land of Egypt until you reached this place, you have been defying Yahweh. 8 At Horeb too you stirred Yahweh to anger, and his anger against you was enough to make him destroy you. 9 I had gone up the mountain to receive the stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant Yahweh had made with you, and I remained on the mountain forty days and forty nights without eating bread or drinking water. 10 Yahweh handed me the two stone tablets, written with the finger of God, and on them were all the words Yahweh had said to you on the mountain from the midst of the fire, on the day the people were assembled. 11 It was at the end of the forty days and forty nights that Yahweh gave me the two stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant. 12 Then Yahweh said to me, ‘Get up, go down from here at once, for the people you brought out of Egypt have behaved wickedly; they have been quick to leave the path

I commanded them, and have made for themselves a cast image.’ 13 Yahweh said further to me, ‘I have watched this people, and see what a stiff-necked people they are! 14 Let me be, so that I may destroy them and wipe their name out from under the heavens. Then I will make you into a nation stronger and larger than they are.’ 15 So I turned and came down from the mountain, and the mountain was burning with fire, and the two tablets of the covenant were in my two hands.
16 When I looked, there you were: you had sinned against Yahweh your God. You had made yourselves a calf of cast metal. How quickly you had left the way Yahweh had commanded you! 17 So I grasped the two tablets, flung them down out of my hands, and smashed them before your eyes. 18 Then, as before, I lay face down before Yahweh forty days and forty nights, eating no bread and drinking no water, on account of every sin you had committed in doing what was evil in Yahweh’s sight and provoking him to anger. 19 For I dreaded the fury and wrath that Yahweh had turned against you, ready to destroy you. But again Yahweh listened to me that time. 20 With Aaron[a] too Yahweh was angry enough to destroy him, so I prayed for Aaron also at that time. 21 As for that sinful thing you had made, the calf, I took it and burned it up. I beat it to pieces and ground it down until it was fine as dust, and I threw the dust into the brook that runs down the mountain.
22 “At Taberah,[b] at Massah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah[c] you angered Yahweh again. 23 And when Yahweh sent you out from Kadesh-barnea with the words, ‘Go up and possess the land I have given you,’ you defied the command of Yahweh your God. You put no trust in him and did not listen to his voice. 24 You have been rebels against Yahweh ever since I have known you.[d] 25 “So I lay face down before Yahweh for those forty days and forty nights, because Yahweh had said he would destroy you. 26 I prayed to Yahweh: ‘Lord Yahweh, do not destroy your people, your own inheritance, whom you ransomed by your greatness and brought out of Egypt with a strong hand. 27 Remember your servants Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Pay no attention to how stubborn this people is, to their wickedness or their sin, 28 lest the land from which you brought us out say, “Because Yahweh was not able to bring them into the land that he had promised them, and because he hated them, he has brought them out to kill them in the wilderness.” 29 But they are your own people and your inheritance, brought out by your great power and your outstretched arm.’

Notes

- a (9:20) The meaning of Aaron’s name is uncertain; it may be of Egyptian origin.
- b (9:22) Taberah means “burning” (Numbers 11:1–3).
- c (9:22) Kibroth-hattaavah means “graves of craving” (Numbers 11:34).
- d (9:24) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint reads “from the day in which he became known to you” (Brenton), and the Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to have a similar reading.

Chapter 10

1 “At that time Yahweh said to me, ‘Carve out two stone tablets like the first pair and climb up to me on the mountain. Make yourself a wooden chest[a] too. 2 I will write on the tablets the words that were on the first tablets, which you smashed, and you are to place them in the chest.’ 3 So I made a chest of acacia wood and carved two stone tablets like the first ones, and I went up the mountain holding the two tablets. 4 He wrote on the tablets, as he had written the first time, the Ten Words that Yahweh had spoken to you on the mountain out of the fire on the day of the assembly, and Yahweh gave them to me. 5 Then I turned, went back down the mountain, and put the tablets in the chest I had made. There they have remained, as Yahweh commanded me. 6 (The Israelites traveled from Beeroth Bene-jaakan[b] to Moserah.[c] Aaron died there and was buried there, and his son Eleazar[d] became priest in his place. 7 From there they traveled to Gudgodah, and from Gudgodah to Jotbathah, a land with streams of running water.[e] 8 At that time Yahweh set the tribe of Levi[f] apart to carry the ark of Yahweh’s covenant, to stand in Yahweh’s presence and minister to him, and to bless in his name, which they do to this day. 9 This is why Levi has no portion or inheritance among his brothers. Yahweh himself is his inheritance, just as Yahweh your God told him.) 10 “I stayed on the mountain forty days and forty nights, as I had the first time. And Yahweh listened to me that time too; Yahweh chose not to destroy you. 11 Yahweh told me, ‘Get up and lead the people on their journey, so that they may go in and take possession of the land I swore to their forefathers to give them.’ 12 “So now, Israel, what does Yahweh your God require of you? Only this: to fear Yahweh your God, to walk in all his ways and love him, to serve Yahweh your God with all your heart and all your soul, 13 and to keep the commands and statutes of Yahweh that I give you today, for your own good. 14 Look: to Yahweh your God belong the heavens, even the highest heavens, and the earth with all that is in it. 15 Yet Yahweh took delight in your forefathers and loved them, and he chose you, their descendants after them, from all the peoples, as you see today.

16 So circumcise your hearts,[g] and stop being stubborn. 17 For Yahweh your God is God over all gods and Lord over all lords, the great God, mighty and awe-inspiring, who plays no favorites and takes no bribes. 18 He upholds the cause of the fatherless and the widow, and he loves the foreigner, providing him with food and clothing. 19 You also must love the foreigner, for you were once foreigners in the land of Egypt. 20 Fear Yahweh your God and serve him. Hold fast to him, and swear your oaths by his name. 21 He is the one you praise; he is your God, who has done for you these great and fearsome things that you have seen with your own eyes. 22 When your forefathers went down to Egypt, they were seventy persons, and now Yahweh your God has made you as numerous as the stars of the sky.

Notes

- a (10:1) Hebrew ʾaron, “chest,” the word used for the ark of the covenant (verse 8).
- b (10:6) Beeroth Bene-jaakan means “wells of the sons of Jaakan.” The Septuagint reads “Beeroth of the sons of Jakim.”
- c (10:6) Moserah may mean “chastening.” Numbers 33:30–38 lists these stopping places in a different order and places Aaron’s death at Mount Hor.
- d (10:6) Eleazar means “God has helped.”
- e (10:7) Gudgodah may mean “cleft”; Jotbathah means “pleasantness.” The Septuagint spells them Gadgad and Etebatha.
- f (10:8) Levi probably means “joined” or “attached” (Genesis 29:34).
- g (10:16) Hebrew “circumcise the foreskin of your hearts.”

Chapter 11

1 “Love Yahweh your God, and always keep what he requires: his statutes, his rulings, and his commands. 2 Consider today—for it is not your children I am speaking to, who have not known or seen it—the discipline of Yahweh your God, his greatness, his mighty hand and outstretched arm, 3 the signs and the deeds he performed in Egypt against Pharaoh king of Egypt and his whole country, 4 and what he did to the Egyptian army, its horses and chariots, in making the waters of the Red Sea flow over them while they were chasing you, so that Yahweh annihilated them to this very day; 5 what he did for you in the wilderness until you arrived here, 6 and what he did to Dathan and Abiram,[a] the sons of Eliab the son of Reuben, how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them, their households, their tents, and every living being in their possession, in the midst of all Israel. 7 Your own eyes have seen every great deed that Yahweh has done.

8 “So keep every command I give you today, so that you will be strong enough to enter and take the land you are crossing over to possess, 9 and so that you may live long in the land Yahweh swore to give to your forefathers and to their descendants, a land flowing with milk and honey. 10 For the land you are about to enter and possess is unlike the land of Egypt, which you left, where you would sow your seed and water it by foot,[b] as in a vegetable garden. 11 But the land you are going over to take is a land of hills and valleys, which drinks water from the rain of heaven, 12 a land Yahweh your God looks after. The eyes of Yahweh your God are always on it, from the start of the year to its close.

13 “And if you indeed listen to my commandments that I command you today, to love Yahweh your God and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul, 14 then I[c] will send rain on your land at the proper time, the autumn rain and the spring rain,[d] and you will gather in your grain, your new wine, and your oil. 15 I will make grass grow in your fields for your livestock, and you will eat your fill. 16 Be on your guard, so that your hearts are not led astray and you turn away to serve other gods and worship them. 17 Then Yahweh’s anger would burn against you. He would close up the sky so that no rain falls and the soil gives no harvest, and you would soon disappear from the good land Yahweh is giving you.

18 "Store up these words of mine in your heart and soul. Tie them as a sign on your hand, and let them be a headband between your eyes. 19 Teach them to your children, talking about them as you sit at home and as you travel the road, as you lie down and as you rise. 20 Write them on the doorframes of your house and on your gates, 21 so that you and your children may live many days in the land Yahweh swore to your forefathers to give them, as long as the heavens stand above the earth. 22 For if you will diligently observe this entire commandment which I am giving you to perform—to love Yahweh your God, to walk in all his ways, and to cling to him— 23 then Yahweh will drive out all these nations from before you, and you will dispossess nations greater and mightier than yourselves. 24 Every place your foot steps on will be yours. Your borders will run from the wilderness to Lebanon, and from the River—the Euphrates—to the western sea.[e] 25 No one will be able to stand against you; Yahweh your God will put the dread and fear of you on all the land on which you tread, just as he told you.
26 "Look: today I am placing before you blessing and curse: 27 a blessing if you obey the commands of Yahweh your God that I am giving you today, 28 and a curse if you disobey the commands of Yahweh your God and leave the way I am commanding you today by following other gods you have not known. 29 When Yahweh your God has brought you into the land you are going to possess, you are to proclaim the blessing on Mount Gerizim and the curse on Mount Ebal.[f] 30 These mountains are across the Jordan, are they not, west of the road where the sun sets, in the land of the Canaanites who live in the Arabah, near Gilgal, beside the great trees[g] of Moreh.[h] 31 For you are about to cross the Jordan to go in and take the land Yahweh your God is giving you. When you have taken it and are living in it, 32 be careful to carry out all the statutes and rulings I am setting before you today.

Notes

- a (11:6) Dathan may mean “belonging to a fountain” (uncertain); Abiram means “my father is exalted”; Eliab means “my God is father”; Reuben means “See, a son!” (Genesis 29:32). See Numbers 16.
- b (11:10) Probably by opening and closing small irrigation channels with the foot, or by treading a water wheel.
- c (11:14) So the Hebrew; the Septuagint has “he will give,” and other ancient witnesses are reported to agree.
- d (11:14) Hebrew “the early rain and the late rain”: the autumn rains that soften the ground for plowing (about October–November) and the spring rains that fill out the grain (about March–April).
- e (11:24) Hebrew “the sea behind,” the Mediterranean; the Hebrew compass faced east.
- f (11:29) Gerizim and Ebal stand on either side of Shechem; the meanings of their names are uncertain. See 27:11–13.
- g (11:30) Or “oaks” or “terebinths.” The Septuagint has the singular, “by the high oak” (Brenton).
- h (11:30) Moreh means “teacher.” Gilgal means “circle,” perhaps of stones.

Chapter 12

1 “These are the statutes and ordinances that you shall be careful to observe in the land that Yahweh, the God of your ancestors, has given you to possess, as long as you live upon the earth. 2 Utterly destroy every place where the nations you are dispossessing served their gods, on the lofty mountains, on the hills, and beneath every green tree. 3 Tear down their altars, shatter their standing stones, burn their Asherah poles, cut to pieces the carved images of their gods, and erase their names from that place. 4 You must not worship Yahweh your God in the way they worship. 5 Instead, you shall seek the place that Yahweh your God will choose out of all your tribes to set his name there as his dwelling,[a] and there you shall go. 6 There you are to bring your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contributions of your hand,[b] your vowed offerings and your freewill offerings, and the firstborn of your cattle and your flocks. 7 There, in the presence of Yahweh your God, you and your households shall eat and be glad in all that you have set your hand to, because Yahweh your God has blessed you.
8 “You must not act as we are acting here today, where everyone does whatever he himself thinks right, 9 for you have not yet reached the rest and the inheritance that Yahweh your God is giving you. 10 But when you cross the Jordan and live in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance, and he gives you rest from all your enemies around you, so that you live in safety, 11 Then, to the place that Yahweh your God chooses for his name to dwell, you shall bring all that I command you: your burnt offerings and your sacrifices, your tithes and the contributions of your hand, and all your finest vowed offerings that you vow to Yahweh. 12 There you shall rejoice before Yahweh your God, along with your sons and daughters and the slaves who serve you, men and women, and with the Levite who lives inside your gates, since no share or inheritance of land has been given him among you. 13 Be careful not to offer up your burnt offerings in just any place you see. 14 Only in the place that Yahweh chooses within one of your tribes shall you offer your burnt offerings, and there you shall do all that I command you.

15 "Nevertheless, whenever you wish, you may slaughter animals and eat meat in any of your towns, according to the blessing that Yahweh your God has given you. Both the unclean and the clean may eat of it, just as they eat gazelle or deer. 16 Only the blood you are not to eat; let it run out onto the ground like water. 17 Within your towns you may not eat the tithe of your grain, your new wine, or your oil, nor the firstborn of your cattle or your flock, nor any of your vowed offerings that you vow, your freewill offerings, or the contributions of your hand. 18 Instead, you shall eat these before Yahweh your God in the place Yahweh your God chooses—you and your children, the slaves who serve you, men and women, and the Levite in your towns—and you shall rejoice before Yahweh your God in every task you undertake. 19 Take care never to abandon the Levite, for as long as you live on your land.

20 "When Yahweh your God widens your borders, as he has promised you, and you say, 'I want to eat meat,' because you long for meat, then eat meat whenever you like. 21 If the place where Yahweh your God chooses to put his name is far away from you, you may slaughter animals from the cattle and sheep Yahweh has given you, in the way I have commanded you, and you may eat them in your own towns whenever you wish. 22 You may eat it just as gazelle or deer is eaten; both the unclean and the clean may eat of it. 23 But hold firm: the blood is not to be eaten, for the blood is the life, and the life must not be eaten together with the flesh. 24 Do not eat it; pour it out on the ground like water. 25 Do not eat it, so that things may go well for you and for your children after you, as you do what is right in Yahweh's sight. 26 But the holy offerings that are due from you, and your vowed offerings, you shall take with you to the place Yahweh chooses. 27 Present your burnt offerings, both the flesh and the blood, on the altar of Yahweh your God. As for your other sacrifices, their blood is poured out at the side of the altar of Yahweh your God, while the flesh you may eat. 28 Listen to all these words I am commanding you and keep them, so that it may go well with you and with your children after you for all time, as you do what is good and right in the sight of Yahweh your God.

29 "When Yahweh your God has cut off before you the nations whose land you are entering to take, and you have dispossessed them and are living in their land, 30 take care that you are not lured into following their ways once they have been wiped out before you. Do not go asking about their gods, 'In what way did these nations serve their gods? I will copy them.' 31 You must not do that for Yahweh your God, for they have done for their gods every detestable thing that Yahweh hates. They even burn their sons and daughters in the fire as offerings to their gods.
32 "Whatever I command you, be careful to do it. You must neither add to it nor subtract from it.[c]

Notes

- a (12:5) Or "to put his name there, to make it dwell." The Hebrew can be read either way.
- b (12:6) Hebrew terumah, a portion "lifted" or set apart from one's goods as an offering.
- c (12:32) Verse 32 is 13:1 in the Hebrew text.

Chapter 13

1 "Suppose a prophet or someone who has dreams appears among you and announces to you a sign or a wonder,[a] 2 and the sign or wonder he told you about takes place, and he says, ‘Let us follow other gods’— gods you have not known—‘and let us serve them.’ 3 You must not listen to the words of that prophet or that dreamer of dreams, for Yahweh your God is testing you, to find out whether you love Yahweh your God with all your heart and with all your soul. 4 It is Yahweh your God whom you must follow, and him you must fear. Keep his commands and listen to his voice; serve him and cling to him. 5 As for that prophet or dreamer of dreams, he is to be put to death, for he preached revolt against Yahweh your God, who brought you out of Egypt’s land and ransomed you from the house of slavery, trying to lead you away from the path Yahweh your God commanded you to follow. In this way you shall cleanse out the evil from among you.

6 “Suppose your brother, the son of your own mother, or your son or your daughter, or the wife you hold in your arms, or the friend who is like your own self, secretly tries to entice you, saying, ‘Come, let us go and serve other gods’—gods that neither you nor your forefathers have known, 7 gods of the surrounding peoples, whether they live close by or far off, from one edge of the earth to the other— 8 do not yield to him or listen to him. Have no pity on him; do not spare him or cover for him. 9 Instead, you must surely kill him. Your own hand must be the first raised against him to put him to death, and after that the hands of all the people. 10 Stone him with stones until he dies, because he tried to turn you away from Yahweh your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery. 11 Then all Israel will hear of it and fear, and never again will anyone among you do such wickedness.
12 “Suppose you hear that in one of the towns Yahweh your God is giving you to live in, 13 some worthless men[b] have come out from among you and have led astray the people of their town, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ gods you have not known. 14 Then you must investigate, examine, and inquire carefully. If the report proves true and the thing is established, that this abominable deed has been committed in your midst, 15 you must put the people of that town to the sword, devoting it to destruction with all that is in it, its cattle included, by the sword. 16 Gather all its plunder into the middle of the town square, and burn the town and all its plunder in the fire as a whole offering[c] to Yahweh your God. It shall remain a heap of ruins forever and never be built again. 17 Nothing from the devoted things shall stick to your hand, in order that Yahweh may turn from the fierceness of his anger and grant you mercy, and have compassion on you and multiply you, as he swore to your ancestors, 18 because you listen to the voice of Yahweh your God, keeping all his commands that I give you today, and doing what is right in the sight of Yahweh your God.

Notes

- a (13:1) Verses 1–18 are numbered 2–19 in the Hebrew text.
- b (13:13) Hebrew "sons of Belial," an expression of uncertain origin for worthless or wicked people.
- c (13:16) Hebrew kalil, "complete," a word used for an offering that is entirely burned.

Chapter 14

1 "You are the children of Yahweh your God. You must not gash yourselves or make yourselves bald on your foreheads[a] on account of the dead, 2 for you are a people holy to Yahweh your God. Yahweh has chosen you out of all the peoples on the face of the earth to be his own people, his treasured possession.

3 "Do not eat anything abominable. 4 These are the animals you may eat: cattle, sheep, and goats, 5 the deer, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex, the antelope, and the mountain sheep.[b] 6 Any animal that has a split hoof, divided into two parts, and that chews the cud, among the animals, you may eat. 7 However, among those that chew the cud or have a divided and split hoof, you must not eat these: the camel, the hare, and the rock badger.[c] They chew the cud, yet their hoof is not split; they are unclean for you. 8 And the pig, because it has a split hoof but does not chew the cud, is unclean for you. You must not eat their flesh or touch their dead bodies.

9 "Among all the creatures living in the water, these you may eat: any with fins and scales may be eaten. 10 But whatever does not have fins and scales you must not eat; it is unclean for you.

11 “Every clean bird you may eat. 12 These, however, you must not eat: the eagle,[d] the bearded vulture, and the black vulture, 13 the red kite, the falcon, and every kind of kite,[e] 14 every kind of raven, 15 the ostrich, the nighthawk, the gull, and every kind of hawk, 16 the little owl, the great owl, the white owl, 17 the pelican, the carrion vulture, the cormorant, 18 the stork, every kind of heron, the hoopoe, and the bat. 19 Every winged insect that swarms is unclean for you; it must not be eaten. 20 You may eat any clean winged creature.
21 “You shall not eat any carcass; you may give it to the resident alien in your gates, that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner; for you are a holy people to Yahweh your God. You shall not cook a kid in its mother’s milk.
22 “Be sure to give a tenth of all the yield of your seed, which the field produces year by year. 23 Before Yahweh your God, in the place where he chooses to settle his name, you are to eat the tithe of your grain, your new wine, and your oil, along with the firstborn of your herds and flocks, that you may learn always to revere Yahweh your God. 24 But if the distance is too great for you, so that you cannot carry the tithe, because the place where Yahweh your God chooses to put his name is too far from you, when Yahweh your God has blessed you, 25 then exchange it for silver. Tie up the silver, take it in your hand, and go to the place Yahweh your God chooses. 26 Spend the silver on anything you wish: cattle, sheep, wine, beer, or whatever you desire.
Then eat there in the presence of Yahweh your God and celebrate, you and your household together. 27 And as for the Levite who lives in your towns, do not abandon him, for he has no portion or inheritance of his own among you.
28 “At the end of every third year, bring out the whole tithe of your harvest for that year and store it up in your towns. 29 And the Levite, because he has no portion or inheritance with you, and the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow in your towns, shall come and eat and be satisfied, that Yahweh your God may bless you in all the work of your hand that you do.

Notes

- a (14:1) Hebrew “make a baldness between your eyes.”

- b (14:5) The identification of several of the animals in this verse is uncertain.
- c (14:7) Hebrew shaphan, the rock hyrax.
- d (14:12) Or "griffon vulture." Many of the birds in verses 12–18 cannot be identified with certainty.
- e (14:13) Hebrew lists three birds here, the second and third written with similar letters; Leviticus 11:14 has only two, and the Septuagint and other ancient witnesses are reported to differ in this list.

Chapter 15

1 "At the end of every seven years you shall grant a release.[a] 2 This is the manner of the release: every creditor is to let go of the claim on what he has lent to his neighbor. He must not demand repayment from his neighbor, his brother, because a release has been proclaimed in Yahweh's honor. 3 You may demand payment from a foreigner, but whatever is owed to you by your brother you must let go. 4 There should, however, be no one in need among you, because Yahweh will surely bless you in the land Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance to possess, 5 if only you will listen closely to the voice of Yahweh your God and take care to keep this whole command that I am giving you today. 6 For Yahweh your God will bless you as he promised; you will make loans to many nations without borrowing, and you will govern many nations while none governs you.
7 "If anyone among you is in need, one of your brothers, in any town of the land Yahweh your God is giving you, do not harden your heart against your poor brother or close your hand to him. 8 Instead, open your hand to him generously, and willingly lend him enough to meet his need, whatever he lacks. 9 Watch out that no base thought enters your heart, such as, 'The seventh year, the year of release, is drawing near,' so that you look on your needy brother with a grudging eye and give him nothing. He may then cry out to Yahweh against you, and you will be guilty of sin. 10 Give to him freely, and do not give with a grudging heart, because for this Yahweh your God will bless you in all your work and in everything you put your hand to. 11 The poor will never disappear from the land. That is why I command you to open your hand freely to your brother, to the poor and needy in your land.

12 “If one of your own people, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, is sold to you and serves you six years, in the seventh year you must set him free. 13 And when you set him free, you must not send him off with nothing. 14 Load him generously with gifts from your flock, your threshing floor, and your winepress. Give to him in the measure that Yahweh your God has blessed you. 15 Remember that you were slaves in the land of Egypt and that Yahweh your God ransomed you. That is why I am giving you this command today. 16 But if he tells you, ‘I do not want to leave you,’ because he loves you and your household and is content with you, 17 then take an awl and push it through his ear into the door, and he will be your servant for good. You shall treat your female slave the same way. 18 Do not think it hard to set him free, because his six years of service to you have been worth twice the wages of a hired worker. And Yahweh your God will bless you in everything you do.
19 “You must set apart for Yahweh your God every firstborn male of your cattle and your flock. Do not put the firstborn of your cattle to work, and do not shear the firstborn of your sheep. 20 Year by year you and your household shall eat them in the presence of Yahweh your God, at the place Yahweh chooses. 21 But if an animal has a defect—if it is lame or blind, or has any serious blemish—it is not to be sacrificed to Yahweh your God. 22 You may eat it in your own towns; the unclean and the clean alike may eat it, as they would a gazelle or a deer. 23
Only you must not eat its blood; pour it out on the ground like water.

Notes

- a (15:1) Hebrew shemittah, a “letting drop,” here the cancellation or suspension of debts.

Chapter 16

1 “Observe the month of Abib (March–April)[a] and keep the Passover for Yahweh your God, for in the month of Abib Yahweh your God brought you out of Egypt by night. 2 You shall sacrifice the Passover animal to Yahweh your God from the flock or the herd, at the place where Yahweh chooses to make his name dwell. 3 You are not to eat anything leavened with it. For seven days eat unleavened bread along with it, the bread of affliction—since you left the land of Egypt in haste —so that you will recall, as long as you live, the day of your departure from the land of Egypt. 4 For seven days no leaven is to be found anywhere in your territory, and none of the meat you sacrifice in the evening on the first day is to be left over until morning. 5 You are not allowed to sacrifice the Passover inside any one of the towns Yahweh your God is giving you, 6 Only at the place where Yahweh your God chooses to make his name dwell shall you sacrifice the Passover, in the evening as the sun goes down,[b] at the time of day you came out of Egypt. 7 You shall cook it and eat it at the place Yahweh your God chooses, and in the morning you may turn back and go home to your tents. 8 For six days you shall eat unleavened bread, and the seventh day shall be a solemn assembly for Yahweh your God. You shall do no work on it.

9 "Count off seven weeks, starting from the day you first put the sickle to the standing grain. 10 Then celebrate the Feast of Weeks[c] to Yahweh your God by bringing a freewill offering from your hand, giving in proportion to the way Yahweh your God has blessed you. 11 And you shall rejoice in the presence of Yahweh your God, at the place he chooses to settle his name: you and your son and daughter, your male and female servants, the Levite in your gates, and the sojourner, the orphan, and the widow in your midst. 12 Remember that you were a slave in Egypt, and take care to keep these statutes.
13 "You shall celebrate the Feast of Booths[d] for seven days, after you have gathered in the yield of your threshing floor and your winepress.
14 You shall rejoice at your feast—you, your son and daughter, your male and female servants, and the Levite, the sojourner, the orphan, and the widow who live in your gates. 15 For seven days you shall hold the feast for Yahweh your God at the site Yahweh selects; for Yahweh your God will bless all your harvest and every work of your hands, and your joy will be complete. 16 Three times a year all your males are to appear before Yahweh your God at the place he chooses: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Booths. No one is to appear before Yahweh with empty hands. 17 Each of you shall bring a gift in keeping with what he can give, according to the blessing that Yahweh your God has given you.

18 "You shall appoint judges and officials in all your towns that Yahweh your God is giving you, tribe by tribe, and they shall judge the people with righteous judgment. 19 You must not pervert justice or show favoritism. Do not accept a bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes of the wise and twists the words of those who are in the right. 20 Pursue justice, nothing but justice, so that you may live and take possession of the land that Yahweh your God is giving you.
21 "Do not plant any kind of tree as an Asherah pole next to the altar you build for Yahweh your God, 22 and do not set up for yourself a sacred stone, which Yahweh your God hates.

Notes

- a (16:1) Hebrew "the month of Abib" ("ear of grain"), the month when the barley ripened, later called Nisan. It is the first month of the year counted from spring (Exodus 12:2; 13:4). The Hebrew calendar is lunar, so the modern equivalent is approximate.
- b (16:6) Hebrew "in the evening, at the going down of the sun." Exodus 12:6 has the Passover lamb slaughtered "between the two evenings," that is, at twilight.
- c (16:10) Hebrew Shavuot, later also called Pentecost, held seven weeks after Passover, in the third month, Sivan (May–June).
- d (16:13) Or "Tabernacles" (Hebrew Sukkot), held in the seventh month, Tishri (September–October); see Leviticus 23:34.

1 "You must not sacrifice to Yahweh your God an ox or a sheep that has a blemish or any defect at all, for that is detestable to Yahweh your God.
2 "Suppose there is found among you, in one of the towns Yahweh your God is giving you, a man or woman who does what is evil in the sight of Yahweh your God by breaking his covenant, 3 and has gone and served other gods and bowed down to them, or to the sun or the moon or any of the host of heaven, which I have forbidden, 4 and it is reported to you and you hear of it. Then you shall make a thorough inquiry, and if it is true and the fact is confirmed that this detestable act has been done in Israel, 5 you shall lead out to your town gates the man or the woman guilty of this wicked deed, and that man or woman shall be stoned until dead. 6 On the evidence of two witnesses or three witnesses the person who is to die shall be executed; he shall not be executed on the evidence of one witness. 7 The hands of the witnesses shall be the first raised against him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people. So you shall burn away the evil from your midst.

8 "If any case arises in your towns that is too hard for you—a matter of bloodshed, of civil rights, or of assault, cases of dispute—then you shall arise and go up to the place that Yahweh your God chooses. 9 Go to the Levitical priests and to the judge who holds office in those days.
Consult them, and they will declare to you the verdict. 10 Then you must act according to the decision they announce to you from that place that Yahweh chooses. Be careful to do exactly as they instruct you. 11 Act according to the instruction they teach you and the ruling they give you. Do not depart from the sentence they pronounce, either to the right or to the left. 12 Anyone who acts arrogantly and will not listen to the priest who stands there to minister before Yahweh your God, or to the judge, that man shall die. So you shall burn away the evil from Israel. 13 All the people will hear of it and be afraid, and they will not act presumptuously again.
14 "When you come into the land Yahweh your God is giving you and have made it yours and are living there, and you say, 'Let me put a king over myself, like all the surrounding nations,' 15 you may indeed set over yourself a king whom Yahweh your God chooses. Set as king over you one from among your own brothers; you may not put a foreigner over you, one who is not your brother. 16 Only he must not acquire great numbers of horses for himself, or send the people back to Egypt to get more horses, since Yahweh has told you, 'You shall never go back that way again.' 17 He must not take many wives for himself, or his heart will turn away, and he must not pile up for himself great amounts of silver and gold. 18 Once he is seated on his royal throne, he is to copy out for himself on a scroll this law,[a] from the text in the keeping of the Levitical priests. 19 It shall be with him, and he shall read in it all the days of his life, so that he may learn to fear Yahweh his God by keeping all the words of this law and these statutes and doing them, 20 so that he will not think himself above his fellow Israelites, nor turn from the commandment to right or left; then he and his descendants will have a long reign in Israel.

Notes

- a (17:18) The Septuagint renders "a copy of this law" as to deuteronomion touto, "this repetition of the law" (Brenton), literally "this second law," from which the book's English name, Deuteronomy, comes.

Chapter 18

1 "The Levitical priests, the whole tribe of Levi, shall have no share or inheritance with Israel. They shall live on the food offerings[a] made to Yahweh, which are his inheritance. 2 They shall have no inheritance among their brothers; Yahweh himself is their inheritance, as he promised them. 3 This shall be the priests' due from the people who offer a sacrifice, whether an ox or a sheep: they shall give the priest the shoulder, the two cheeks, and the stomach. 4 You shall also give him the firstfruits of your grain, your new wine, and your oil, and the first fleece of your sheep. 5 For Yahweh your God has chosen him and his sons out of all your tribes to stand and minister in the name of Yahweh for all time.

6 "If a Levite comes from one of your towns anywhere in Israel where he has been living, and he comes with all the desire of his heart to the place Yahweh chooses, 7 then he may minister in the name of Yahweh his God like all his fellow Levites who stand there before Yahweh.
8 He shall receive an equal portion to eat, besides what he receives from the sale of his family's possessions.[b]

9 "When you enter the land Yahweh your God is giving you, do not learn to copy the detestable practices of those nations. 10 Let no one be found among you who makes his son or daughter pass through the fire, or who practices divination, or tells fortunes, or reads omens, or is a sorcerer, 11 or casts spells, or consults ghosts or familiar spirits, or seeks answers from the dead. 12 Whoever does such things is detestable to Yahweh, and it is because of these detestable things that Yahweh your God is driving those nations out before you. 13 You must be blameless before Yahweh your God. 14 For these nations, which you are about to dispossess, listen to soothsayers and diviners; but as for you, Yahweh your God has not permitted you to do so.

15 "From your own midst, from among your brothers, Yahweh your God will raise up a prophet like me for you. To him you shall listen.
16 This is what you asked of Yahweh your God at Horeb on the day of the assembly, when you said, 'Let us not hear the voice of Yahweh our God again or see this great fire any more, or we will die.' 17 And Yahweh said to me, 'They have spoken well. 18 From among their brothers I will raise up a prophet for them, one like you. My words I will place in his mouth, and he will speak to them all that I command him. 19 And anyone who refuses to listen to my words, which that prophet speaks in my name, I myself will hold accountable. 20 But the prophet who presumes to speak a word in my name that I have not commanded him to speak, or who speaks in the name of other gods, that same prophet shall die.' 21 And if you say in your heart, 'How can we tell which word Yahweh has not spoken?'— 22 If a prophet speaks in Yahweh's name, and the word does not come about or come to pass, that is a word that Yahweh has not spoken; the prophet has spoken it presumptuously; you shall not be afraid of him.

Notes

- a (18:1) Hebrew 'isshe, offerings presented by fire or as food gifts; the exact sense is debated.
- b (18:8) Hebrew obscure; literally "besides his sales according to the fathers."

Chapter 19

1 "When Yahweh your God has cut off the nations whose land he is giving you, and you have driven them out and are living in their cities and houses, 2 you shall set apart three towns for yourselves in the land Yahweh your God is giving you to possess. 3 Prepare the roads, and divide into three parts the territory of the land that Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance, so that anyone who kills a person may flee there. 4 This is the rule for the one who kills someone and flees there to save his life: he must have struck his neighbor unintentionally, without having hated him in the past. 5 For example, a man goes into the forest with his neighbor to cut wood, and as he swings the axe to fell a tree, the head flies off the handle and strikes his neighbor so that he dies. That man may flee to one of these towns and live. 6 Otherwise the avenger of blood,[a] in hot anger, might pursue the killer and overtake him because the way is long, and strike him dead, though he did not deserve death, since he had not hated his neighbor in the past. 7 That is why I command you to set apart three towns for yourselves. 8 And if Yahweh your God enlarges your territory, as he swore to your forefathers, and gives you all the land he promised to give to your forefathers— 9 provided that you carefully observe this whole commandment that I am giving you today, loving Yahweh your God and walking in his ways at all times—then you shall add three more cities to these three. 10 so that innocent blood may not be shed in the land Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance, and so that bloodguilt may not be on you.

11 "But if a man hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him, attacks him, and strikes him a fatal blow so that he dies, and then flees to one of these towns, 12 the elders of his own town shall send for him, have him brought back from there, and deliver him into the hand of the blood avenger, and he shall die. 13 Show him no pity. You must purge the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, so that it may go well with you.

14 "Do not move your neighbor's boundary marker, set up by those who came before you, in the inheritance you will receive in the land Yahweh your God is giving you to possess.

15 "A single witness shall not be enough to convict a person of any crime or offense that he may have committed. A matter shall be established only on the evidence of two witnesses or of three. 16 If a malicious witness rises up against someone to accuse him of wrongdoing, 17 then both parties to the dispute shall stand before Yahweh, before the priests and the judges who are in office in those days. 18 The judges shall investigate thoroughly, and if the witness turns out to be a false witness who has testified falsely against his brother, 19 then you shall do to him what he had intended to do to his brother. So you shall burn away the evil from your midst. 20 Those who remain will hear and fear, and no one will ever again commit such wickedness among you. 21 Show no pity: life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

Notes

- a (19:6) Hebrew go'el haddam, the relative responsible for avenging a kinsman's death.

Chapter 20

1 "When you go out to war against your enemies and see horses and chariots and an army larger than your own, do not be afraid of them; for Yahweh your God is with you, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt. 2 As you approach the battle, the priest is to step forward and address the troops. 3 He shall say to them, 'Hear, Israel: today you are drawing near to battle against your enemies. Do not lose heart. Do not be afraid, do not panic, and do not tremble before them, 4 for Yahweh your God is the one who goes with you to fight for you against your enemies and to save you.' 5 Then the officers shall say to the people: 'Who is the man that has built a new house but has not yet inaugurated it? Let him return home, or he might die in the battle and another man inaugurate it. 6 And is there anyone who has planted a vineyard but has not yet enjoyed it? Let him go home, lest he die in battle and someone else enjoy it. 7 Has anyone become engaged to a woman and not yet married her? Let him go back to his house, or he may die in the battle and another man marry her.' 8 Then the officers shall say further to the people, 'Is any man fearful and faint of heart? He should return home, lest his fellow soldiers lose courage as he has.' 9 When the officers have finished speaking to the people, commanders of the troops shall be appointed to lead them.

10 "When you draw near to a town to fight against it, first offer it terms of peace. 11 If it answers you peaceably and opens its gates to you, then all the people found in it shall serve you at forced labor. 12 But if it will not make peace with you but makes war against you, then you shall besiege it. 13 And when Yahweh your God delivers it into your hand, you shall put every male in it to the sword. 14 But the women, the children, the animals, and whatever else is in the town, all its plunder, you may seize for yourselves, and you may make use of what you take from your enemies, which Yahweh your God has given you. 15 That is the way to deal with all the cities far away from you, those that do not belong to the nations nearby. 16 But in the towns of these peoples that Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance, you must not leave alive anything that breathes. 17 You must devote them to complete destruction—the Hittite, the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, the Hivite, and the Jebusite[a]—as Yahweh your God has commanded you, 18 so that they will not teach you to do all the detestable things they have done for their gods, and so cause you to sin against Yahweh your God.

19 "When you lay siege to a city for many days, fighting against it to take it, do not ruin its trees by putting an axe to them. Eat their fruit, but do not chop them down. Is the tree of the field a man, that it should come under siege from you?[b] 20 Only the trees you know do not bear fruit you may destroy and cut down, to build siegeworks against the town that is making war with you, until it falls.

Notes

- a (20:17) The Septuagint adds "and the Girgashite" (the Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to agree), making seven nations as in 7:1.
- b (20:19) Or "for the tree of the field is man's life." The Hebrew is difficult.

Chapter 21

1 "Suppose a murdered body is discovered lying in a field in the land Yahweh your God is giving you to possess, and no one knows who struck him down. 2 Your elders and judges shall go out and measure from the body to each of the towns around it. 3 Then the elders of whichever town is closest to the body shall take a young cow that has never been put to work or drawn a load under a yoke. 4 and the elders of that town shall take the heifer to a wadi with flowing water, one that has not been tilled or sown, and there in the wadi they shall break the heifer's neck. 5 Then the priests, the sons of Levi, shall come forward, for Yahweh your God has chosen them to serve him and to give blessings in Yahweh's name, and every lawsuit and case of violence is to be decided by what they say. 6 All the elders of that town nearest the slain man shall wash their hands over the heifer whose neck was broken in the valley, 7 and they shall testify, ‘Our hands did not spill this blood, nor did our eyes see it happen. 8 Make atonement, Yahweh, for your people Israel, whom you have redeemed, and do not lay the guilt of innocent blood on your people Israel.’ Then the bloodguilt will be atoned for on their behalf. 9 In this way you will remove from among you the guilt of innocent blood, by doing what is upright in Yahweh’s eyes.

10 “When you march out to fight your enemies, and Yahweh your God hands them over to you and you carry off prisoners, 11 and you see among the captives a beautiful woman and desire her and take her as your wife, 12 then you shall bring her home to your house, and she shall shave her head and trim her nails. 13 and she shall remove her captive’s garments, and stay in your house and mourn her father and mother for a whole month; afterward you may go in to her and be her husband, and she shall be your wife. 14 And if you take no delight in her, you shall let her go where she pleases; but you shall by no means sell her for money, nor deal with her as a slave, because you have dishonored her.
15 “Suppose a man has two wives, one whom he loves and one whom he does not, and each of them has borne him sons, but the eldest son was born to the wife who is not loved. 16 then when he gives his sons their inheritance, he cannot make the son of the favored wife the firstborn ahead of the son of the disliked wife, who is the actual firstborn. 17 He must instead recognize the firstborn, the son of the disliked wife, by giving him a double share of everything he owns; for he is the first of his vigor, and the right of the firstborn belongs to him.
18 “If a man has a stubborn and rebellious son who will not obey his father or his mother, and though they discipline him, he will not listen to them, 19 then his father and mother shall seize him and take him out to the elders of his city, to the gate of the place where he lives, 20 They shall tell the elders of the town, ‘Our son here is defiant and disobedient; he refuses to listen to us. He eats too much and drinks too much.’ 21 Then all the men of his town shall stone him until he dies. In this way you will remove the evil from among you, and all Israel will hear of it and fear.

22 “If a man has committed a crime worthy of death and is put to death, and you hang him on a tree, 23 his corpse shall not hang overnight on the tree, but you shall bury it that same day, for a hanged man is accursed of God;[a] you shall not defile your land, which Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance.

Notes

- a (21:23) Or “an insult to God.” Galatians 3:13 quotes this verse in a form close to the Septuagint.

Chapter 22

1 “If you see your brother’s ox or his sheep straying, do not pretend you have not seen them. Be sure to bring them back to your brother. 2 If your brother does not live near you, or you do not know who he is, take the animal home with you and keep it until he comes looking for it; then give it back to him. 3 Do the same with his donkey, with his cloak, and with anything your brother loses and you find. You must not look the other way. 4 If you see your brother’s donkey or his ox fallen on the road, do not turn away from them. You must help him lift them up again.
5 “A woman shall not wear a man’s gear, and a man shall not put on a woman’s garment, for whoever does such things is detestable to Yahweh your God.
6 “If you come across a bird’s nest beside the road, in any tree or on the ground, with fledglings or eggs, and the mother is sitting on the fledglings or the eggs, you shall not take the mother with her young. 7 Let the mother go free, though you may take the young for yourself, so that things may go well with you and you may live long.
8 “When you build a new house, put a parapet around your roof, so that you do not bring bloodguilt on your house if anyone falls from it.
9 “You shall not sow your vineyard with two kinds of seed, lest the whole produce become forfeit,[a] both the seed you have sown and the yield of the vineyard. 10 Do not plow with an ox and a donkey yoked together. 11 Do not wear cloth woven of wool and linen mixed together.

12 "Make tassels on the four corners of the cloak you wrap around yourself.
13 "Suppose a man marries a woman and goes in to her, and then turns against her, 14 and charges her with shameful conduct and gives her a bad name, saying, 'I married this woman, but when I came near her I found no proof of her virginity.' 15 Then the young woman's father and mother shall bring out the proof of her virginity to the elders of the town at the gate. 16 Her father shall say to the elders, 'I gave my daughter to this man as his wife, and he has turned against her. 17 Now he has accused her of shameful things, claiming, "Your daughter was not a virgin when I found her." Yet here is the evidence that she was.' Then they are to unfold the garment in front of the town's elders. 18 The elders of the town are then to seize the man and discipline him. 19 They shall fine him 2½ pounds of silver[b] and give it to the young woman's father, because he has given a bad name to a virgin of Israel. She shall remain his wife; he may never divorce her as long as he lives. 20 But if the accusation proves true, and the evidence that the girl was a virgin cannot be found, 21 then they shall bring her out to the door of her father's house, and the men of her town shall stone her to death, because she has done a disgraceful thing in Israel by acting as a prostitute in her father's house. So you shall burn away the evil from your midst.
22 "If a man is discovered in bed with another man's wife, both shall die—the man who slept with the woman, and the woman. In this way you shall purge the evil from Israel.
23 "If there is a young woman who is a virgin, pledged to be married to a man, and another man meets her in the town and lies with her, 24 bring the two of them out to that town's gate and stone them until they die—the girl because, though she was inside the town, she raised no cry, and the man because he dishonored the wife of his neighbor. So you shall burn away the evil from your midst. 25 But if it is out in the countryside that the man meets the engaged young woman, and he seizes her and lies with her, then only the man who lay with her shall die. 26 Do nothing to the girl, for there is no sin in her that deserves death. It is just as when a man rises against his neighbor and kills him. 27 For he met her in the open country, and though the engaged young woman cried out, there was no one to rescue her.

28 "If a man meets a young woman who is a virgin and not pledged to be married, and he seizes her and lies with her, and they are discovered, 29 the man who lay with her shall give the young woman's father 20 ounces of silver,[c] and she shall become his wife, because he has humbled her. He may never divorce her as long as he lives.
30 "A man shall not take his father's wife, and so uncover the edge of his father's garment.[d]

Notes

- a (22:9) Hebrew "become holy," that is, forfeited to the sanctuary.
- b (22:19) Hebrew "a hundred of silver," that is, 100 shekels, about 40 ounces or 1.15 kilograms.
- c (22:29) Hebrew "fifty of silver," that is, 50 shekels, about 20 ounces or 575 grams.
- d (22:30) Verse 30 is 23:1 in the Hebrew text. To "uncover the skirt" of the father is to violate his marriage; compare Ruth 3:9.

Chapter 23

1 "No man who has been castrated, whether by crushing or by cutting, may come into the assembly of Yahweh.[a] 2 No one born of a forbidden union[b] may come into the assembly of Yahweh; not even his offspring to the tenth generation may come into Yahweh's assembly. 3 No Ammonite or Moabite may enter the assembly of Yahweh; even to the tenth generation none of them may ever enter the assembly of Yahweh, 4 because they did not meet you with bread and water on your journey when you came out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam the son of Beor, from Pethor of Aram Naharaim,[c] to curse you. 5 Yet Yahweh your God refused to heed Balaam, and turned the curse into a blessing for you, because Yahweh your God loved you. 6 As long as you live, never work for their welfare or their good.
7 "Do not abhor an Edomite, for he is your brother. Do not abhor an Egyptian, because you lived as a foreigner in his land. 8 Their grandchildren, the third generation born to them, may come into Yahweh's assembly.

9 "When you are encamped against your enemies, guard yourself from everything evil. 10 If any man among you is unclean because of something that happened to him at night, he must go outside the camp; he must not come back into the camp. 11 When evening comes he shall bathe in water, and at sunset he may come back into the camp. 12 Mark out a spot outside the camp to which you can go out for your needs. 13 Among your equipment you shall have a digging tool, and when you squat outside, dig a hole with it and turn back and cover your excrement. 14 For Yahweh your God moves about within your camp, to deliver you and to give up your enemies before you; so your camp must be holy, that he may see nothing indecent among you and turn away from you.

15 "Do not hand back to his master a slave who has escaped from his master to you. 16 Let him live with you, among you, in whatever place he chooses within one of your towns, wherever suits him best. Do not oppress him.

17 "No Israelite woman is to become a shrine prostitute,[d] and no Israelite man is to become one. 18 You shall not bring a prostitute's fee or a dog's[e] payment into the house of Yahweh your God for any vow, for both are an abomination to Yahweh your God.

19 "Do not charge your brother interest, whether on money, food, or anything else that may be lent at interest. 20 You may lend at interest to a foreigner, but to your brother you shall not, that Yahweh your God may bless you in all that you undertake in the land you are entering to possess.

21 "When you make a vow to Yahweh your God, do not be slow to fulfill it, for Yahweh your God will certainly require it of you, and you would be guilty of sin. 22 But if you refrain from making a vow, you will not be guilty of sin. 23 Whatever has passed your lips you must be careful to carry out, just as you freely vowed to Yahweh your God with your own mouth.

24 "When you go into your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat as many grapes as you like, until you are full, but you must not put any in your basket. 25 When you go into the grain field of your neighbor, you may pick ears by hand, but you must not swing a sickle at his standing grain.

Notes

- a (23:1) Verses 1–25 are numbered 2–26 in the Hebrew text.
- b (23:2) Hebrew mamzer, a term of uncertain meaning, perhaps one born of incest or of a marriage forbidden by the law.
- c (23:4) Aram-naharaim means "Aram of the two rivers," the region of upper Mesopotamia.
- d (23:17) Hebrew qedeshah (feminine) and qadesh (masculine), literally "consecrated one"; the exact practice referred to is debated.
- e (23:18) "Dog" probably refers to a male prostitute.

Chapter 24

1 "Suppose a man marries a woman, and later she does not find favor in his eyes because he has found in her some matter of indecency, so he writes her a document of divorce, hands it to her, and sends her away from his house. 2 After leaving his house, she goes off and marries another man. 3 If the second husband also dislikes her, writes her a certificate of divorce, puts it in her hand, and sends her out of his house, or if the second man who married her dies, 4 then her first husband, who sent her away, may not take her back to be his wife after she has been defiled, for that would be detestable before Yahweh. You must not bring guilt on the land Yahweh your God is giving you as an inheritance.

5 "When a man has newly married, he shall not go out with the army or be assigned any public duty. He shall be free at home for one year to bring joy to the wife he has taken.

6 "No one shall take a pair of millstones, or even the upper millstone, as security for a debt, for that would be taking a person's livelihood[a] as security.

7 "If a man is caught kidnapping one of his brothers from among the Israelites, and treats him as a slave or sells him, that kidnapper shall die. So you shall burn away the evil from your midst.

8 "In cases of a skin disease,[b] be very careful to do everything the Levitical priests instruct you. As I commanded them, so you shall take care to do. [9] Keep in mind how Yahweh your God dealt with Miriam along the road after you left Egypt.

[10] "If you lend anything at all to your neighbor, you must not enter his house to fetch what he offers as a pledge. [11] Wait outside, and the one who is borrowing from you shall carry the pledge out to you. [12] And if he is a poor man, do not go to sleep with his pledge. [13] Be sure to return the pledge to him at sunset, so that he may sleep in his cloak and bless you. It will be counted as righteousness for you before Yahweh your God.
[14] "Do not exploit a hired worker who is poor and needy, whether he is one of your brothers or one of the foreigners who live in your land within your towns. [15] Give him his wages each day before the sun sets, for he is poor and is counting on it. Otherwise he may cry out against you to Yahweh, and you will be guilty of sin.
[16] "Parents shall not be put to death because of their children, nor children because of their parents; each shall die for his own sin.
[17] "Do not deny justice to the foreigner or the fatherless, and do not take a widow's garment as security. [18] Remember that you were a slave in Egypt and that Yahweh your God ransomed you from there. For this reason I am commanding you to do this.
[19] "When you harvest the grain of your field and overlook a sheaf there, do not turn back for it. Leave it for the foreigner, the orphan, and the widow, so that Yahweh your God may bless you in all the work of your hands. [20] When you beat your olive trees, do not go over the branches a second time. What is left shall be for the foreigner, the fatherless, and the widow. [21] When you gather the grapes of your vineyard, do not glean it afterward. What is left shall be for the foreigner, the fatherless, and the widow. [22] You shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I am commanding you to do this.

Notes

- a (24:6) Hebrew "life" (nephesh).
- b (24:8) Hebrew tsaraʿat, traditionally "leprosy," a term covering various skin diseases; see Leviticus 13–14.

Chapter 25

1 “When men have a quarrel and go to law, and the judges hear the case, they shall declare the innocent man in the right and the guilty man in the wrong. 2 If the one in the wrong deserves a flogging, the judge shall have him laid down and flogged in front of him, with as many lashes as his wrongdoing calls for. 3 Forty blows may be given him, but no more, or else, if he is beaten with more blows than these, your brother would be degraded in your sight.
4 “You shall not put a muzzle on the ox as it threshes.
5 “When brothers live together and one of them dies childless, the widow of the dead man must not marry out of the family to a stranger; her husband’s brother shall come to her and take her to himself as his wife, performing the brother-in-law’s duty[a] toward her. 6 The firstborn son she bears shall stand in the place of the dead brother and bear his name, so that his name is not erased from Israel. 7 But if the man has no wish to marry his brother’s wife, she shall go to the gate, to the elders, and tell them, ‘My husband’s brother declines to establish a name in Israel for his brother; he is unwilling to do a brother-in-law’s duty toward me.’ 8 The elders of his town shall then call for him and talk with him. If he stands firm and says, ‘I have no desire to marry her,’ 9 then his brother’s widow is to approach him while the elders watch, draw his sandal from his foot, and spit in his face. And she shall say, ‘So may it be done to the man who refuses to build up his brother’s household.’ 10 And in Israel his family shall be called ‘The House of the Unsandaled.’ 11 “When men are fighting with one another, and the wife of one comes near to rescue her husband from the hand of the man striking him, and she reaches out and seizes him by his private parts, 12 then you shall cut off her hand. Show her no pity.
13 “You shall not have two kinds of weights in your bag, one heavy, one light. 14 Do not keep two different measures in your house, one larger and one smaller. 15 You shall have a full and honest weight; you shall have a full and honest measure,[b] so that your days may be long in the land Yahweh your God is giving you. 16 For everyone who does such things, everyone who deals dishonestly, is detestable to Yahweh your God.

17 "Remember what Amalek did to you on the road as you were coming out of Egypt, 18 how he met you on the way when you were faint and weary and attacked all the stragglers at your rear. He did not fear God. 19 So when Yahweh your God gives you rest from all the enemies surrounding you in the land he is giving you to inherit and possess, you are to wipe out the memory of Amalek from under heaven. Do not forget.

Notes

- a (25:5) Hebrew yabam, the levirate duty, from Latin levir, "husband's brother."
- b (25:15) Hebrew "ephah," a dry measure of about 3/5 bushel (22 liters), standing here for measures of capacity in general. Verse 14 likewise has "an ephah and an ephah," that is, two different measures.

Chapter 26

1 "Once you have entered the land Yahweh your God is giving you to inherit, have taken possession of it, and are living there, 2 you shall take some of the firstfruits of all the produce of the soil which you gather in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you, and put them in a basket, and go to the site where Yahweh your God chooses to settle his name. 3 You shall go to whoever is priest in those days and say to him, 'Today I declare to Yahweh your God that I have entered the land that Yahweh swore to our ancestors to give us.' 4 Then the priest shall take the basket from your hand and set it down before the altar of Yahweh your God. 5 Then you shall answer in the presence of Yahweh your God, 'My father was a perishing Aramean.[a] He went down into Egypt and sojourned there, few in number; but there he became a great nation, strong and populous. 6 But the Egyptians mistreated us, oppressed us, and imposed harsh slavery on us. 7 Then we cried out to Yahweh, the God of our forefathers, and Yahweh heard our voice and saw our affliction, our toil, and our oppression. 8 And Yahweh brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, with great terror, with signs and with wonders. 9 He led us into this place and has given us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. 10 And now, look, I have brought the first of the fruit of the ground that you, Yahweh, have given me.' Then set it down before Yahweh your God and bow down before Yahweh your God. 11 And you shall rejoice in all the good that Yahweh your God has given to you and to your household, you and the Levite and the foreigner who is among you.

12 "When you have completed the tithing of all your produce in the third year, the year of the tithe, giving it to the Levite, the sojourner, the orphan, and the widow, that they may eat in your gates and be filled, 13 then you shall say in the presence of Yahweh your God, 'I have cleared out of my house the portion that is holy and have handed it over to the Levite, the foreigner, the orphan, and the widow, just as you commanded me. I have not broken or forgotten any of your commands. 14 I have not eaten of it while mourning, nor removed any of it when unclean, nor given any of it for the dead. I have obeyed Yahweh my God; I have done everything you commanded me. 15 Look down from your holy dwelling place, from heaven, and bless your people Israel and the ground you have given us, as you swore to our forefathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.' 16 "This day Yahweh your God commands you to do these statutes and rulings. Be careful to do them with all your heart and with all your soul. 17 Today you have declared that Yahweh is your God, and that you will walk in his ways, keep his statutes, his commands, and his rulings, and obey his voice. 18 And Yahweh has declared today that you are a people belonging to him, his own treasure, just as he told you, and that you are to keep all his commands, 19 and that he will set you high above all the nations he has made, for praise and renown and honor, and that you will be a holy people to Yahweh your God, as he has spoken."

Notes

- a (26:5) Or "a perishing Aramean" or "an Aramean about to perish," probably referring to Jacob. The Septuagint reads "My father abandoned Syria."

Chapter 27

1 Then Moses, together with the elders of Israel, gave the people this charge: "Keep the whole command that I am laying on you today. 2 On the day you cross the Jordan into the land Yahweh your God is giving you, raise up some great stones and coat them with plaster. 3 When you cross over, inscribe on them every word of this law, so that you may enter the land Yahweh your God is giving you, a land flowing with milk and honey, just as Yahweh, the God of your forefathers, promised you. 4 Once you are across the Jordan, set these stones up on Mount Ebal[a] in keeping with today's command, and plaster them with plaster. 5 Build an altar there to Yahweh your God, an altar of stones on which no iron tool has been swung. 6 Make the altar of Yahweh your God out of whole, unhewn stones, and on it offer up burnt offerings to Yahweh your God. 7 Offer peace offerings there too, and eat them, and celebrate in the presence of Yahweh your God. 8 On the stones write every word of this law, clearly and distinctly." 9 Then Moses and the Levitical priests addressed all Israel: "Be still, Israel, and hear! This day you have become the people of Yahweh your God. 10 Therefore listen to the voice of Yahweh your God, and carry out his commands and his statutes, which I am giving you today."

11 On the same day Moses also commanded the people: 12 "After you have crossed the Jordan, these tribes shall take their stand on Mount Gerizim[b] to bless the people: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin. 13 And these shall take their stand on Mount Ebal for the curse: Reuben, Gad, Asher, Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali. 14 The Levites shall then call out loudly to every man of Israel: 15 'A curse on the man who makes an idol, whether carved or cast in metal, a thing Yahweh abhors, made by a craftsman's hands, and sets it up in a hidden place.' Then all the people shall respond, 'Amen.'[c] 16 'A curse on anyone who dishonors his father or his mother.' And all the people shall say, 'Amen.' 17 'A curse on anyone who shifts his neighbor's boundary stone.' And all the people shall say, 'Amen.' 18 'A curse on anyone who makes a blind man lose his way on the road.' And all the people shall say, 'Amen.' 19 'A curse on anyone who twists the justice due to the foreigner, the orphan, or the widow.' And all the people shall say, 'Amen.' 20 'A curse on anyone who lies with his father's wife, for he has uncovered the edge of his father's garment.' And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 21 ‘Cursed be anyone who has intercourse with any animal.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 22 ‘A curse on anyone who lies with his sister, his father’s daughter or his mother’s daughter.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 23 ‘A curse on anyone who lies with his mother-in-law.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 24 ‘A curse on anyone who kills his neighbor where no one sees.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 25 ‘A curse on anyone who accepts a bribe to kill an innocent person.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’ 26 ‘A curse on anyone who does not stand by the words of this law and carry them out.’ And all the people shall say, ‘Amen.’

Notes

- a (27:4) The Samaritan Pentateuch is reported to read “Mount Gerizim” here, and some scholars think that reading may be older; this needs further study.
- b (27:12) Gerizim and Ebal are the two mountains on either side of Shechem.
- c (27:15) Amen, “so be it,” “surely.”

Chapter 28

1 “If you listen faithfully to the voice of Yahweh your God, taking care to keep all his commands that I give you today, Yahweh your God will raise you high above every nation on earth. 2 All these blessings will come upon you and catch up with you, if you listen to the voice of Yahweh your God: 3 Blessed will you be in the town, and blessed will you be in the countryside. 4 Blessed will be the children you bear, the crops of your ground, and the offspring of your animals—the increase of your cattle and the young of your sheep. 5 Blessed will be your basket and your kneading bowl. 6 Blessed will you be in your coming in, and blessed in your going out.

7 “Yahweh will cause your enemies who rise against you to be routed before you. They will march out against you by one road and run from you by seven roads. 8 Yahweh will command blessing to be with you in your storehouses and on everything you set your hand to; he will bless you in the land that Yahweh your God is giving you. 9 Yahweh will set you up as his own holy people, just as he swore to you, if you keep the commandments of Yahweh your God and walk in his ways. 10 Then all the peoples of the earth will see that you are called by the name of Yahweh,[a] and they will stand in fear of you. 11 Yahweh will give you an abundance of good things—in the fruit of your womb, in the young of your livestock, and in the yield of your soil—in the land Yahweh swore to your forefathers to give you. 12 Yahweh will open for you his rich storehouse, the heavens, to send rain on your land in its season and to bless all the work of your hands. You will lend to many nations, and you yourself will borrow from none. 13 Yahweh will make you the head, not the tail; you will be only above, and never beneath, if you obey the commandments of Yahweh your God, which I am commanding you today, to observe and do them, 14 and if you do not turn aside to the right or to the left from any of the words I command you today, to go after other gods and serve them.

15 "But if you will not listen to the voice of Yahweh your God, and are not careful to keep all his commands and statutes that I give you today, then all these curses will come upon you and catch up with you: 16 Cursed will you be in the town, and cursed will you be in the countryside. 17 Cursed will be your basket and your kneading bowl. 18 Cursed shall be your offspring, the produce of your soil, the increase of your herds, and the young of your flocks. 19 Cursed will you be in your coming in, and cursed in your going out.

20 "Yahweh will send against you curse, panic, and frustration in everything you set your hand to do, until you are wiped out and perish swiftly because of the evil of your deeds, because you have abandoned me. 21 Yahweh will make the plague cling to you until he has made an end of you in the land you are entering to possess. 22 Yahweh will strike you with wasting disease, with fever, inflammation, burning heat, and drought,[b] with blight and with mildew. They will hound you until you perish. 23 The sky over your head will be bronze, and the earth beneath you iron. 24 Yahweh will turn the rain of your land into powder and dust; it will come down on you from the sky until you are destroyed.

25 "Yahweh will let you be beaten before your enemies. You will go out against them by one road and flee before them by seven roads, and you will become a horror to all the kingdoms of the earth. 26 Your corpses will be food for every bird of the sky and every beast of the earth, and no one will frighten them away. 27 Yahweh will strike you with the boils of Egypt, with tumors, with scabs, and with an itch that cannot be cured. 28 Yahweh will strike you with madness, blindness, and confusion of mind. 29 At midday you will feel your way like a blind man in darkness, and your paths will lead nowhere. Day after day you will be oppressed and plundered, and there will be no one to save you. 30 You will pledge yourself to a woman, and another man will lie with her. You will build a house and never dwell in it. You will plant a vineyard and not taste its grapes. 31 Your ox will be slaughtered in front of you, yet none of its meat will reach your mouth. Your donkey will be seized in front of you and never come back. Your sheep will be given to your enemies, and there will be no one to help you. 32 Your sons and daughters will be given to another people while you watch, and your eyes will wear themselves out longing for them all day, but your hand will be powerless. 33 A people you have not known will eat up the fruit of your land and all your labor, and you will be nothing but oppressed and crushed all your days. 34 The sights your eyes see will drive you mad. 35 Yahweh will strike you on the knees and legs with painful boils that cannot be healed, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head.

36 "Yahweh will bring you and the king you set over yourself to a nation that neither you nor your forefathers have known, and there you will serve other gods, of wood and stone. 37 You will become an object of horror, a proverb, and a byword among all the peoples to which Yahweh will drive you. 38 You will carry much seed out to the field and gather in little, because the locust will devour it. 39 You will plant vineyards and tend them, but you will neither drink the wine nor gather the grapes, because the worm will eat them. 40 Olive trees you will have all through your borders, but there will be no oil for you to rub on yourself, for the olives will fall off unripe. 41 You will father sons and daughters, but they will not remain yours, for they will go into captivity. 42 The whirring locust will take over all your trees and the fruit of your ground. 43 The foreigner who lives among you will climb higher and higher above you, while you sink lower and lower. 44 He will lend to you, but you will not lend to him. He will be the head, and you will be the tail.

45 “All these curses will come upon you, pursuing you and overtaking you until you are destroyed, because you did not listen to the voice of Yahweh your God or keep the commands and statutes he gave you.
46 They will be a sign and a wonder upon you and your descendants forever. 47 Because you did not serve Yahweh your God with joy and gladness of heart when you had plenty of everything, 48 you will serve your enemies whom Yahweh sends against you, in hunger and thirst, in nakedness, and lacking everything. He will put an iron yoke on your neck until he has destroyed you.
49 Yahweh will raise against you a nation from far off, from the ends of the earth, swift as an eagle in its dive, a nation that speaks a tongue you do not understand, 50 a fierce-faced nation that shows no regard for the old and no mercy to the young. 51 It will eat the young of your livestock and the yield of your soil until you are destroyed. It will leave you no grain, new wine, or oil, no calves of your herds or lambs of your flock, until it has brought you to ruin. 52 It will lay siege to you in all your towns until the high, fortified walls you trust in come down throughout your land. It will besiege you in all your towns throughout the land Yahweh your God has given you. 53 Then, in the siege and in the distress your enemy brings on you, you will eat the fruit of your own womb, the flesh of the sons and daughters whom Yahweh your God has given you. 54 Even the most gentle and refined man among you will look grudgingly at his brother, at the wife he embraces, and at the last of his children who remain, 55 refusing to give any of them the flesh of his children that he is eating, because nothing else is left to him in the siege and distress your enemy will inflict on you in all your towns. 56 The tender and delicate woman among you, so tender and delicate that she would not try to put the sole of her foot on the ground, will begrudge the husband she cherishes, and her son and her daughter, 57 and at the afterbirth that comes out from between her feet and the children she bears, for she will eat them secretly for lack of anything else, in the siege and distress your enemy will inflict on you in your towns.
58 “If you do not take care to observe all the words of this law written in this book, and to revere this glorious and awesome name, Yahweh your God, [59] then Yahweh will bring extraordinary plagues on you and your descendants, great and lasting plagues, and grievous and lasting illnesses. [60] He will bring upon you again every disease of Egypt that terrified you, and they will hold you fast. [61] Yahweh will also bring on you every sickness and every plague not written in this book of the law, until you are destroyed. [62] Though you were as numerous as the stars in the sky, you will be left few in number, because you did not listen to the voice of Yahweh your God. [63] And just as Yahweh took delight in prospering you and increasing your number, so Yahweh will take delight in bringing you to ruin and destroying you; and you shall be plucked from the land you are entering to possess.

[64] "Yahweh will scatter you among all peoples, from one end of the earth to the other, and there you will serve other gods of wood and stone that neither you nor your forefathers have known. [65] Among those nations you will find no ease, no resting place for the sole of your foot. Instead Yahweh will give you there a trembling heart, failing eyes, and a despairing soul. [66] Your life shall hang in suspense before you; night and day you shall be in terror, with no assurance of your life. [67] At daybreak you will say, 'Would that evening were here!' and at nightfall, 'Would that morning were here!' because of the terror gripping your heart and the things your eyes will see. [68] And Yahweh will return you to Egypt in ships, by the route I told you you would never see again; and there you will be put up for sale to your enemies as male and female slaves, but there will be no buyer."

Notes

- a (28:10) Hebrew "that the name of Yahweh is called over you," an expression of ownership.
- b (28:22) Or "sword," following a different vocalization of the Hebrew.

Chapter 29

[1] These are the words of the covenant Yahweh commanded Moses to make with the Israelites in the land of Moab, in addition to the covenant he made with them at Horeb.[a] [2] Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: "You have seen everything Yahweh did before your eyes in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh and all his servants and his whole land— 3 the great trials your eyes saw, the signs, and those great wonders. 4 Yet even now Yahweh has not given you a mind that understands, eyes that see, or ears that hear. 5 I led you forty years in the wilderness. Your clothes did not wear out on you, and your sandals did not wear out on your feet.

6 You ate no bread and drank no wine or strong drink, so that you might know that I am Yahweh your God. 7 And when you reached this place, Sihon king of Heshbon and Og king of Bashan marched out to meet us in battle, and we struck them down. 8 We seized their land and handed it over as an inheritance to Reuben, to Gad, and to half the tribe of Manasseh. 9 Therefore observe the words of this covenant and do them, that you may succeed in all that you do.
10 "All of you are standing today before Yahweh your God—your leaders, your tribes, your elders, and your officers, every man of Israel, 11 your little ones, your wives, and the foreigner in your camp, from the one who cuts your wood to the one who draws your water — 12 so that you may enter into the covenant of Yahweh your God, sealed with an oath, which Yahweh your God is making with you today, 13 in order to establish you today as his people, and that he may be your God, as he promised you and as he swore to your forefathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. 14 And I am making this covenant and this oath not only with you, 15 but with those who stand here with us today in the presence of Yahweh our God, and also with those who are not here with us today.
16 "You know how we lived in the land of Egypt and how we passed through the midst of the nations you passed through. 17 You saw their abominations and their idols of wood and stone, silver and gold, which were among them. 18 Beware, lest there be among you a man or woman, family or tribe, whose heart turns away today from Yahweh our God to go and serve the gods of those nations; lest there be among you a root that produces gall and bitterness, 19 someone who, on hearing the words of this oath, blesses himself in his heart, thinking, 'I will be safe, though I walk in the stubbornness of my heart,' bringing ruin on watered and dry land alike.[b] 20 Yahweh will not be willing to forgive him. Instead the anger and jealousy of Yahweh will smoke against that man, and every curse written in this book will settle on him, and Yahweh will blot out his name from under heaven. 21 Yahweh will single him out from all the tribes of Israel for disaster, according to all the curses of the covenant written in this book of the law. 22 And the generation to come, your children who rise up after you, and the foreigner who comes from a distant land, will see the plagues of that land and the sicknesses with which Yahweh has afflicted it— 23 the whole land burned out with sulfur and salt, nothing sown, nothing sprouting, no plant growing in it, an overthrow like that of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which Yahweh overthrew in his anger and wrath— 24 and all the nations will say, 'Why has Yahweh done this to this land? What was the reason for this great burning anger?' 25 Then people will say, 'It is because they abandoned the covenant of Yahweh, the God of their forefathers, which he made with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt. 26 They went and served other gods and worshiped them, gods they had not known and that he had not allotted to them. 27 That is why Yahweh's anger blazed against this land, so that he brought upon it all the curses recorded in this book. 28 And Yahweh uprooted them from their land in anger and fury and great indignation, and flung them into another land, as it is this day.'

29 "The hidden things belong to Yahweh our God, but the things revealed belong to us and to our children forever,[c] so that we may do all the words of this law.

Notes

- a (29:1) Verse 1 is 28:69 in the Hebrew text, and verses 2–29 are numbered 1–28.
- b (29:19) Hebrew "to sweep away the watered with the dry," probably a proverb meaning total destruction.
- c (29:29) In the Hebrew text the words "to us and to our children" are marked with extraordinary dots (puncta extraordinaria), whose meaning is uncertain.

Chapter 30

1 "When all these things have come upon you, the blessing and the curse I have set before you, and you call them to mind among all the nations where Yahweh your God has driven you, 2 and you return to Yahweh your God and listen to his voice in everything I command you today, you and your children, with all your heart and with all your soul, 3 then Yahweh your God will bring back your captives[a] and have mercy on you; he will gather you again from all the peoples where Yahweh your God has dispersed you. 4 Even if your exiles are at the far edge of the sky, from there Yahweh your God will gather you, and from there he will fetch you. 5 Yahweh your God will bring you into the land your forefathers possessed, and you will possess it. He will do you good and make you more numerous than your forefathers. 6 And Yahweh your God will circumcise your heart and the heart of your descendants, so that you will love Yahweh your God with your whole heart and your whole soul, in order that you may live. 7 And Yahweh your God will lay all these curses on your enemies and on those who hate and persecute you. 8 You will again obey the voice of Yahweh and keep all his commands that I give you today. 9 Yahweh your God will make you overflow with good things in all the work of your hands, in the children you bear, in the young of your animals, and in the crops of your ground. For Yahweh will again take delight in your welfare, as he delighted in your forefathers, 10 when you listen to the voice of Yahweh your God by keeping his commands and his statutes written in this book of the law, and when you turn to Yahweh your God with all your heart and with all your soul.

11 "This command I give you today is not too hard for you, nor is it out of your reach. 12 It is not up in the heavens, so that you should say, 'Who will climb up to heaven for us and bring it down to us, and tell it to us so that we may do it?' 13 Nor is it beyond the sea, so that you need ask, 'Who will go across the sea on our behalf, bring it to us, and have us hear it, so that we may do it?' 14 No, the word is very close to you, in your mouth and in your heart, so that you can do it.
15 "See, today I have laid before you life and good, death and evil. 16 For I command you today to love Yahweh your God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commands, his statutes, and his rulings, so that you may live and multiply, and Yahweh your God will bless you in the land you are entering to possess.[b] 17 But if your heart turns away and you refuse to listen, and you are drawn off to bow to other gods and serve them, 18 I declare to you today that you shall surely perish; you will not prolong your days on the soil that you cross the Jordan to enter and possess. 19 I call heaven and earth to witness against you today: I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. So choose life, that you and your descendants may live, 20 loving Yahweh your God, listening to his voice, and holding fast to him. For he is your life and the length of your days, so that you may dwell in the land Yahweh swore to give to your forefathers, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob."

Notes

- a (30:3) Or "bring you back from captivity."
- b (30:16) The Septuagint begins this verse, "If you hearken to the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day" (Brenton, modernized), a clause missing from the traditional Hebrew text.

Chapter 31

1 Then Moses went and spoke[a] these words to all Israel. 2 And he said to them, "Today I am one hundred twenty years old; I can no longer go out and come in, and Yahweh has said to me, 'You shall not cross this Jordan.' 3 Yahweh your God is the one who will go across in front of you. It is he who will wipe out these nations before you so that you take their place. And Joshua will lead you across, just as Yahweh has said. 4 And Yahweh will deal with them as he dealt with Sihon and Og, the kings of the Amorites, and with their land, which he destroyed. 5 Yahweh will hand them over to you, and you must treat them exactly as the command I have given you requires. 6 Be strong and brave. Do not fear them or tremble before them, for it is Yahweh your God who goes with you. He will not let you go or abandon you."

7 Then Moses called Joshua and said to him in the sight of all Israel, "Be strong and brave, for you will go with this people into the land Yahweh swore to their forefathers to give them, and you will divide it among them as their inheritance. 8 Yahweh himself goes before you; he will be with you. He will not let you go or abandon you. Do not be afraid or dismayed."

9 Moses wrote down this law and gave it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of Yahweh's covenant, and to all the elders of Israel. 10 Then Moses gave them this command: "Every seventh year, at the set time of the year when debts are released, during the Feast of Booths,[b] 11 when all Israel comes to appear in the presence of Yahweh your God at the place he will choose, you shall read this law before all Israel, in their hearing. 12 Assemble the people, men, women, and children, and the sojourner in your gates, so that they may listen and learn to revere Yahweh your God and be careful to observe every word of this law, 13 and that their children, who have not known it, may listen and learn to revere Yahweh your God as long as you live in the land that you are crossing the Jordan to possess." 14 Then Yahweh said to Moses, "Your time to die is drawing near. Summon Joshua, and both of you take your stand in the tent of meeting, and I will give him his charge." So Moses and Joshua went and stood in the tent of meeting. 15 And Yahweh appeared at the tent in a pillar of cloud, and the pillar of cloud stood over the entrance of the tent. 16 Yahweh said to Moses, "Soon you will lie down to rest with your forefathers, and this people will rise up and go whoring after the alien gods of the land into which they are going. They will abandon me and break the covenant I made with them. 17 My anger will be kindled against them on that day, and I will forsake them and conceal my face from them; they will be consumed, and many disasters and distresses will befall them. And they will say on that day, 'Have not these disasters come upon us because our God is not in our midst?' 18 On that day I will indeed turn my face away from them, on account of all the wickedness they have committed by turning to other gods.

19 "Now therefore write this song for yourselves, and teach it to the Israelites; put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the Israelites. 20 For I will bring them into the land flowing with milk and honey that I promised on oath to their forefathers, and when they have eaten until they are full and have become fat, they will go after other gods and serve them, scorning me and breaking my covenant. 21 And when many evils and troubles have found them, this song will testify against them as a witness, for it will not be forgotten from the mouths of their offspring. For I know the plans they are forming even today, before I have brought them into the land I swore to give." 22 So Moses wrote this song down on that day and taught it to the Israelites.

23 And Yahweh[c] commissioned Joshua the son of Nun and said, "Be strong and courageous, for you shall bring the Israelites into the land that I swore to them, and I will be with you."
24 When Moses had finished writing the words of this law in a book, to the very end, 25 he gave this command to the Levites, the bearers of the ark of Yahweh's covenant: 26 "Take this book of the law and put it beside the ark of the covenant of Yahweh your God, so that it may stay there as a witness against you. 27 For I know how rebellious and stiff-necked you are. If even today, while I am still alive among you, you have been rebels against Yahweh, how much more after my death! 28 Gather to me all the elders of your tribes and your officials, that I may speak these words in their ears and call heaven and earth to witness against them. 29 For I know that after my death you will act very corruptly and turn aside from the way I have commanded you. Disaster will meet you in later days, because you will do what Yahweh regards as evil, and anger him through what your hands have made."
30 Then, while the whole assembly of Israel listened, Moses spoke the words of this song from beginning to end:

Notes

- a (31:1) The Septuagint reads "Moses finished speaking" (Brenton), and a Qumran manuscript is reported to agree; the difference involves two similar Hebrew words.
- b (31:10) Held in the seventh month, Tishri (September–October).
- c (31:23) Hebrew "he"; the context shows that Yahweh is meant. The Septuagint makes Moses the subject.

Chapter 32

1 "Give ear, you heavens, and I will speak; let the earth hear the words of my mouth. 2 Let my teaching fall like rain, my speech settle like the dew, like fine showers on new grass, like heavy rains on the green plants. 3 For I will proclaim the name of Yahweh; give greatness to our God!
4 "The Rock—his work is perfect; all his ways are justice. A God of faithfulness and without wrong, righteous and upright is he. 5 Acting corruptly toward him, they are no longer his children, because of their blemish;[a] a perverse and crooked generation. 6 Is this how you repay Yahweh, you foolish and unwise people? Is he not your father, who acquired you,[b] who made you and established you?

7 "Remember the days of long ago; consider the years of generations past. Ask your father, and he will inform you, your elders, and they will tell you. 8 When the Most High[c] gave the nations their inheritance, when he divided the descendants of Adam,[d] he fixed the borders of the peoples according to the number of the sons of Israel.[e] 9 For Yahweh's portion is his people, Jacob his allotted inheritance.
10 "He found him in a desert land, in an empty, howling waste. He encircled him and watched over him; he guarded him like the pupil[f] of his eye. 11 Like an eagle that rouses its nest and hovers over its young, he spread out his wings and took him up, bearing him on his pinions. 12 Yahweh by himself was his guide; there was no alien god beside him. 13 He made him ride on the heights of the land, and he ate the produce of the field. He fed him honey from the rock and oil from the flinty crag, 14 curds from the herd and milk from the flock, with the fat of lambs, rams of Bashan's breed and he-goats, with the choicest kernels of wheat; and you drank wine, the foaming blood of the grape.
15 "But Jeshurun[g] grew fat and kicked— you grew fat, you grew bloated and gorged— he abandoned the God who made him and scorned the Rock of his salvation. 16 They made him jealous with strange gods; they angered him with detestable things. 17 They sacrificed to demons that were no god, to gods they had never known, to new gods lately arrived, whom your forefathers never dreaded. 18 You neglected the Rock that begot you, and forgot the God who gave you birth.
19 "Yahweh saw it and spurned them, provoked by his sons and his daughters. 20 He said, 'I will hide my face from them; I will see what their end will be, for they are a perverse generation, children with no faithfulness in them. 21 They roused my jealousy with a no-god; they angered me with their empty idols.[h] So I will rouse their jealousy with a no-people; I will anger them with a nation that lacks sense. 22 For fire has flared up in my anger, and it burns down to the depths of Sheol;[i] it consumes the earth and its harvest and sets the roots of the mountains ablaze.

23 " 'I will pile up evils on them; I will spend every arrow I have against them. 24 They will be wasted by hunger, devoured by plague and bitter pestilence. I will send the fangs of wild beasts against them, with the venom of things that glide in the dust. 25 Outside, the sword will bereave, and in the inner rooms, terror, for young man and virgin alike, for the nursing infant and the gray-haired man. 26 I said, "I will scatter them,[j] I will erase their memory from among mankind," 27 but I feared the taunting of the enemy, that their foes might misjudge and say, "Our hand has prevailed; Yahweh did not do any of this." ' 28 "For they are a nation void of counsel, and there is no understanding in them. 29 If they were wise, they would grasp this; they would see what their end will be. 30 How could a single man pursue a thousand, and two drive ten thousand into flight, unless their Rock had sold them, unless Yahweh had given them up? 31 For their rock is not like our Rock— even our enemies are judges of that. 32 For their vine comes from the vine of Sodom and from the terraces of Gomorrah; their grapes are full of poison; their clusters taste of bitterness. 33 Their wine is the venom of serpents, the cruel poison of vipers.
34 " 'Is this not stored away with me, sealed up in my treasuries? 35 Vengeance and recompense are mine,[k] for the time when their foot shall slip; for their day of calamity is at hand, and their doom comes swiftly.' 36 For Yahweh will judge his people and relent concerning his servants, when he sees that their power has vanished and none remain, whether bound or free. 37 Then he will say, 'Where are their gods, the rock in which they sought refuge, 38 who ate the fat of their sacrifices and drank the wine of their drink offerings? Let them get up and help you; let them be a shelter over you!
39 "'See now that I, even I, am he, and there is no god beside me; I am the one who puts to death and gives life; I have wounded, and I myself heal, and none can deliver from my hand. 40 For I raise my hand to heaven and say, As I live forever, 41 once I whet my lightning sword and my hand grasps judgment, I will pay back vengeance to my foes and repay those who hate me. 42 I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword will feed on flesh, with the blood of the slain and the captives, from the heads of the long-haired leaders of the enemy.'[l]

43 "Shout for joy, you nations, over his people,[m] for he will avenge the blood of his servants. He will pay back vengeance to his foes and make atonement for his land and his people."[n]

44 Moses came and recited all the words of this song in the ears of the people, he and Hoshea[o] son of Nun. 45 When Moses had finished speaking all these words to all Israel, 46 he said to them, "Set your hearts on all the words I testify to you today, so that you may command your children to take care to do every word of this law. 47 For this is no empty word for you; it is your very life. Through this word your days will be long on the soil you are going over the Jordan to possess."

48 That same day Yahweh spoke to Moses: 49 "Go up this Abarim mountain range,[p] to Mount Nebo, in the land of Moab across from Jericho, and look at the land of Canaan, which I am giving to the Israelites for a possession; 50 and die on the mountain you are about to ascend, and be gathered to your people, as your brother Aaron died on Mount Hor and was gathered to his people, 51 because you both broke faith with me among the Israelites at the waters of Meribahkadesh[q] in the Wilderness of Zin, by failing to uphold my holiness among the Israelites. 52 You will see the land from a distance, but you will not go into the land I am giving to the Israelites."

Notes

- a (32:5) The Hebrew of this line is obscure. The Septuagint reads "spotted children" (Brenton).
- b (32:6) Or "created you."
- c (32:8) Hebrew 'Elyon, a title of God meaning "highest."
- d (32:8) Or "humankind"; Hebrew "the sons of Adam."
- e (32:8) So the traditional Hebrew text (MT). A Hebrew manuscript from Qumran (4QDeut-j) reads "the sons of God," and many scholars regard that as the earlier reading. The Septuagint reads "the angels of God" (Brenton), and some Greek manuscripts are reported to read "the sons of God." The difference bears on whether the nations are allotted to heavenly beings under the Most High (compare 4:19; 29:26). This needs scholarly review.
- f (32:10) Hebrew "the little man of his eye."

- g (32:15) Jeshurun means "upright one," a poetic name for Israel. The Septuagint reads "So Jacob ate and was filled, and the beloved one kicked" (Brenton).
- h (32:21) Hebrew hebel, "vapor" or "breath."
- i (32:22) Sheol is the realm of the dead.
- j (32:26) Hebrew uncertain; perhaps "cut them in pieces" or "blow them away."
- k (32:35) The Septuagint reads "In the day of vengeance I will recompense" (Brenton). Romans 12:19 and Hebrews 10:30 quote this line as "Vengeance is mine; I will repay."
- l (32:42) Or "from the heads of the enemy's leaders."
- m (32:43) Or "Praise his people, you nations." The traditional Hebrew wording is brief and can be read several ways.
- n (32:43) This verse is much longer in other ancient witnesses. The Septuagint reads (Brenton, modernized): "Rejoice, you heavens, with him, and let all the angels of God worship him; rejoice, you Gentiles, with his people, and let all the sons of God strengthen themselves in him; for he will avenge the blood of his sons, and he will render vengeance, and recompense justice to his enemies, and will reward those who hate him; and the Lord shall purge the land of his people." A Hebrew manuscript from Qumran (4QDeut-q) is reported to have a longer text than the traditional Hebrew as well, including a call to the heavens to rejoice and to the gods (or heavenly beings) to bow down to him. Hebrews 1:6 and Romans 15:10 appear to draw on the longer form. This needs scholarly review.
- o (32:44) Hoshea means "salvation," the earlier name of Joshua (Numbers 13:16). The Septuagint reads "Joshua" (Brenton, "Joshua the son of Naue"), and it also begins the verse, "And Moses wrote this song in that day, and taught it to the children of Israel."
- p (32:49) Abarim means "regions beyond," the range east of the Jordan facing Jericho.
- q (32:51) Meribah means "quarreling"; see Numbers 20:1–13.

Chapter 33

1 Here is the blessing which Moses, the man of God, spoke over the Israelites before he died. 2 He said: "Yahweh came from Sinai, and rose from Seir upon them; he shone forth from Mount Paran, and came with ten thousands of holy ones;[a] at his right hand was a flaming fire[b] for them. 3 Truly he loves the peoples;[c] all his holy ones are in your hand. They sit at your feet, each receiving your words. 4 Moses gave us a law, a possession for the assembly of Jacob. 5 And there was a king in Jeshurun, when the heads of the people gathered, the tribes of Israel together.
6 "Let Reuben live and not die, though his men be few."

7 And this he said for Judah: “Hear, Yahweh, the voice of Judah, and bring him in to his people. With his own hands he fights for his cause;[d] be his help against his foes.” 8 For Levi he said: “Your Thummim and your Urim[e] belong to your faithful man, whom you tested at Massah, with whom you strove at the waters of Meribah; 9 who said of his father and of his mother, ‘I regard them not’; he did not acknowledge his brothers, nor know his own children. For they have observed your word and kept your covenant. 10 They teach your rulings to Jacob and your law to Israel; they set incense before you[f] and whole burnt offerings on your altar.
11 Bless, Yahweh, his strength, and take pleasure in the work of his hands. Smash the loins of his attackers, of those who hate him, so that they rise no more.” 12 For Benjamin he said: “The one Yahweh loves dwells in safety beside him. He shelters him all day long, and he rests between his shoulders.”[g] 13 For Joseph he said: “May his land be blessed by Yahweh with the choicest gifts of heaven, the dew, and of the deep that crouches below, 14 with the choicest yield of the sun and the rich produce of the months,[h] 15 with the finest things of the ancient mountains and the wealth of the hills that last forever, 16 and with the choicest gifts of the earth and its fullness, and the good will of him who lived in the bush. May they come on the head of Joseph, on the brow of the prince among his brothers. 17 His firstborn bull has majesty, and his horns are the horns of the wild ox; with them he shall gore peoples, every one, to earth’s farthest limits; they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.” 18 For Zebulun he said: “Rejoice, Zebulun, as you go out, and you, Issachar, in your tents. 19 They will summon peoples to the mountain; there they will offer right sacrifices, for they will draw on the wealth of the seas and the treasures hidden in the sand.” 20 For Gad he said: “Blessed be the one who makes Gad’s land wide!
Gad lies in wait like a lioness and tears off arm and scalp alike. 21 He chose the first part for himself, for a ruler’s portion was kept for him there. He came with the heads of the people; he carried out the justice of Yahweh and his rulings for Israel."

22 For Dan he said: "Dan is a lion's whelp that springs out from Bashan."

23 For Naphtali he said: "Naphtali, filled with favor and full of Yahweh's blessing, take possession of the sea[i] and the south."

24 For Asher he said: "Asher is blessed above the other sons; let his brothers look on him with favor, and may he bathe his feet in oil. 25 Your bolts will be of iron and bronze, and your strength[j] will last as long as your days.

26 "There is none like God, Jeshurun, who rides the heavens to your aid, and the clouds in his majesty. 27 The God of old is your dwelling place,[k] and underneath are the arms that last forever. He drove out the enemy before you and said, 'Destroy!' 28 So Israel dwells in safety, the spring of Jacob undisturbed,[l] in a land of grain and new wine, where the heavens drip with dew. 29 How happy you are, Israel! Who is like you, a people saved by Yahweh, the shield that helps you and the sword of your triumph? Your enemies will come cringing to you, and you will tread upon their high places."[m]

Notes

- a (33:2) Or "from Ribeboth-kodesh," perhaps a place name. The Septuagint reads "with the ten thousands of Kadesh" (Brenton, "Cades").
- b (33:2) Hebrew uncertain. The written Hebrew has a single obscure word; it is traditionally read as two words, "fire of law." The Septuagint reads "on his right hand were his angels with him" (Brenton).
- c (33:3) Or "his people." The Septuagint reads "he spared his people" (Brenton).
- d (33:7) Or "his hands are enough for him."
- e (33:8) The Urim and Thummim were the priestly lots used to seek God's will; the names may mean "lights" and "perfections." The Septuagint begins, "Give to Levi" (Brenton), and a Qumran manuscript is reported to read similarly.
- f (33:10) Hebrew "in your nostrils."
- g (33:12) Or "and he dwells among his slopes," perhaps a reference to the temple hill in Benjamin's territory.
- h (33:14) Or "moons."
- i (33:23) Or "the west." Hebrew yam can mean "sea" or "west"; here perhaps the Sea of Galilee.
- j (33:25) Hebrew uncertain; the word may mean "strength" or "rest."
- k (33:27) Or "refuge."

- l (33:28) Or “alone.”
- m (33:29) Or “trample on their backs.”

Chapter 34

1 Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the summit of Pisgah, which faces Jericho, and Yahweh showed him the whole land: Gilead as far as Dan, 2 all of Naphtali, the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, all the land of Judah up to the sea in the west,[a] 3 the Negev,[b] and the plain of the valley of Jericho, the city of palm trees, as far as Zoar. 4 Then Yahweh said to him, “This is the land I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob when I said, ‘To your offspring I will give it.’ I have shown it to you, and you have seen it, but you yourself will not go over there.”
5 So Moses, the servant of Yahweh, died there in the land of Moab, as Yahweh had said.[c] 6 And he buried him[d] in the valley in the land of Moab opposite Beth Peor; but his burial place is unknown to this day.
7 Moses was 120 years old when he died. His sight had not grown dim, and his vigor had not left him. 8 The Israelites mourned for Moses in the plains of Moab thirty days, until the days of weeping in mourning for Moses were complete.
9 Now Joshua son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom, since Moses had placed his hands upon him, and the Israelites obeyed him and did what Yahweh had commanded Moses.
10 Never since has a prophet arisen in Israel like Moses, whom Yahweh knew face to face, 11 none like him for all the signs and wonders Yahweh sent him to perform in Egypt against Pharaoh and against all his officials and his whole land, 12 and for all the mighty deeds and all the great and awesome acts that Moses did in the sight of all Israel.

Notes

- a (34:2) That is, the Mediterranean.
- b (34:3) Negev means “dry land,” the arid south of Judah.
- c (34:5) Hebrew “at the mouth of Yahweh.” Later Jewish tradition read this as “by the kiss of Yahweh.”
- d (34:6) That is, Yahweh buried him. Or “he was buried.” The Septuagint reads “they buried him” (Brenton).

Joshua

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 After the death of Moses the servant of Yahweh, Yahweh said to Joshua[a] the son of Nun,[b] Moses' assistant, 2 "My servant Moses has died. So now get up and go across this Jordan,[c] you and all these people, to the land I am about to give them—to the Israelites. 3 Every place on which the sole of your foot treads I have given to you, as I promised Moses. 4 Your territory will stretch from the wilderness and this Lebanon[d] to the great river, the Euphrates—the whole land of the Hittites—and west to the Great Sea[e] where the sun goes down. 5 No one will be able to stand before you all the days of your life. As I was with Moses, so I will be with you. I will not fail you or forsake you.
6 Be strong and courageous, for you will cause this people to inherit the land that I swore to their fathers to give them. 7 Just be strong and very bold, and take care to carry out the whole law that my servant Moses commanded you. Do not stray from it to the right or the left, so that you will prosper[f] wherever you go. 8 This book of the law must not depart from your mouth, but you are to meditate[g] on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do according to all that is written in it. For then you will make your way prosperous, and then you will succeed. 9 Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous.
Do not be terrified or dismayed, for Yahweh your God is with you wherever you go."
10 Then Joshua commanded the officers of the people, saying, 11 "Go through the camp and give the people this order: 'Get your provisions ready, because in three days you will cross this Jordan to enter and take the land Yahweh your God is giving you as your possession.'" 12 To the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh Joshua said, 13 "Remember the word that Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded you, saying, 'Yahweh your God is giving you rest and will give you this land.' 14 Your wives, children, and livestock may stay in the land Moses gave you east of the Jordan,[h] but all of you who are mighty warriors must cross over armed[i] ahead of your brothers and help them, 15 until Yahweh gives your brothers rest as he has given you, and they also take possession of the land that Yahweh your God is giving them. Then you may return to the land of your possession and possess it, the land that Moses the servant of Yahweh gave you beyond the Jordan toward the sunrise." 16 They answered Joshua, saying, "All that you have commanded us we will do, and wherever you send us we will go. 17 Just as we obeyed Moses in all things, so we will obey you. Only may Yahweh your God be with you as he was with Moses. 18 "Anyone who rebels against your order and will not obey your words, whatever you command him, shall be put to death. Just be strong and courageous."

Notes

- a (1:1) Hebrew Yehoshua', "Yahweh is salvation" (or "Yahweh saves"). His earlier name was Hoshea, "salvation" (Numbers 13:16). The Greek form of the name is Iesous, "Jesus."
- b (1:1) Nun may mean "fish." The Septuagint spells it Naue.
- c (1:2) Hebrew Yarden, probably "the one that goes down," fitting the river's steep descent to the Dead Sea.
- d (1:4) Lebanon means "white," perhaps from its snowy peaks or limestone cliffs. The Septuagint reads "Antilibanus."
- e (1:4) That is, the Mediterranean Sea.
- f (1:7) Or "act wisely"; so in verse 8.
- g (1:8) Hebrew hagah, to murmur or read in an undertone (compare Psalm 1:2).
- h (1:14) That is, east of the Jordan.
- i (1:14) Or "in battle formation"; the Hebrew ḥamushim is related to the word for "five," perhaps describing an army in five divisions.

Chapter 2

1 Joshua the son of Nun secretly sent two men as spies from Shittim,[a] saying, "Go, look over the land, especially Jericho."[b] So they went and came into the house of a prostitute[c] whose name was Rahab,[d] and lodged there. 2 It was told the king of Jericho, "Look, men from the Israelites have come here tonight to search out the land." 3 Then the king of Jericho sent this message to Rahab: "Bring forth the men who came to you, the ones now in your house, for they came to scout out all the land." 4 The woman, however, had taken the two men and hidden them. She replied, "True, men did come to me, though I had no idea where they were from. 5 At dark, when the gate was about to close, the men left. Where they went I do not know. Chase after them quickly, and you will catch them." 6 But she had brought them up to the roof and hidden them under the stalks of flax that she had laid out on the roof. 7 The men chased after them along the road to the Jordan, toward the fords, and as soon as the pursuers had gone out, the gate was shut behind them.

8 Before the men lay down, she came up to them on the roof 9 and said to the men, "I know that Yahweh has given the land to you, that dread of you has fallen on us, and that everyone living in the land is melting away because of you. 10 For we have heard how Yahweh dried up the water of the Red Sea[e] before you when you came out of Egypt, and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon and Og, whom you devoted to destruction.[f] 11 When we heard it, our hearts melted, and no courage remained in anyone because of you, for Yahweh your God, he is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. 12 Now then, please swear to me by Yahweh, since I have dealt kindly with you, that you also will deal kindly with my father's house, and give me a sure sign, 13 and that you will let my father, my mother, my brothers, my sisters, and everyone belonging to them live, and rescue our lives from death." 14 The men said to her, "We pledge our own lives for yours, even to the death![g] If you do not reveal this business of ours, then when Yahweh gives us the land we will treat you with kindness and loyalty."

15 Then she let them down by a rope through the window, for her house was in the town wall, and she lived in the wall. 16 She said to them, "Go into the hill country, so that the pursuers do not meet you. Hide there three days until the pursuers have returned, and afterward you may go on your way." 17 The men said to her, "We will be free from this oath of yours that you have made us swear, 18 unless, as we enter the land, you fasten this cord of scarlet thread to the window by which you lowered us, and bring your father, mother, brothers, and all your father's household together into your house. [19] Anyone who goes out from the doors of your house into the street will have his blood on his own head, and we will be free of blame. But for anyone with you in the house, his blood will be on our heads if any hand is laid on him. [20] But if you tell this business of ours, then we will be free from your oath that you have made us swear." [21] She said, "According to your words, so be it." Then she sent them away, and they departed. And she tied the scarlet cord in the window.

[22] They went and came into the hill country and stayed there three days, until the pursuers returned. The pursuers searched all along the way but did not find them. [23] The two men then came back down from the hill country, crossed the river, and came to Joshua son of Nun, and reported to him everything that had happened to them. [24] They said to Joshua, "Truly Yahweh has given all the land into our hands, and all the inhabitants of the land melt away before us."

Notes

- a (2:1) Shittim means "acacia trees" (Numbers 25:1).
- b (2:1) Jericho may mean "moon city," from yareaḥ, "moon," or "fragrant place," from reaḥ, "scent." The meaning is uncertain.
- c (2:1) Hebrew zonah. Josephus and the Aramaic Targum understood her as an innkeeper, but the Hebrew word means "prostitute," as the Septuagint (pornē) and the New Testament (Hebrews 11:31; James 2:25) take it.
- d (2:1) Rahab means "broad" or "wide." She appears in the genealogy of Jesus (Matthew 1:5).
- e (2:10) Hebrew Yam Suph, "Sea of Reeds."
- f (2:10) Hebrew ḥaram, to give something over completely to Yahweh, usually by destroying it. See the note at 6:17.
- g (2:14) Literally "Our life in place of yours, to die."

[1] Early in the morning Joshua got up, and he and all the Israelites set out from Shittim and came to the Jordan; there they stayed before crossing over. [2] At the end of three days the officers went through the middle of the camp [3] and commanded the people, saying, "When you see the ark of the covenant of Yahweh your God being carried by the Levitical priests, then you are to set out from your place and follow it. [4] There must be a space between you and it of about 3,000 feet,[a] measured out. Stay back from it, so that you will know which way to go, since you have not traveled this way before." 5 Joshua said to the people, "Consecrate yourselves, for tomorrow Yahweh will do wonders among you." 6 To the priests Joshua said, "Lift up the ark of the covenant and cross over ahead of the people." They lifted it and walked ahead of the people.

7 Yahweh said to Joshua, "Today I will begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, so that they may know that as I was with Moses, so I will be with you. 8 You yourself are to command the priests carrying the ark of the covenant: 'When you reach the edge of the Jordan's waters, stand still in the Jordan.'"

9 Joshua said to the Israelites, "Come here and listen to the words of Yahweh your God." 10 Joshua said, "By this you will know that the living God is among you, and that he will surely drive out before you the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Hivites, the Perizzites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, and the Jebusites. 11 Look, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth goes ahead of you into the Jordan. 12 Now therefore take twelve men from the tribes of Israel, one man from each tribe. 13 When the soles of the feet of the priests who carry the ark of Yahweh, the Lord of all the earth, rest in the waters of the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan will be cut off, the waters coming down from above, and they will stand in one heap."

14 So when the people set out from their tents to cross over the Jordan, with the priests carrying the ark of the covenant before the people, 15 and when those carrying the ark reached the Jordan and the priests' feet touched the water's edge (the Jordan overflows all its banks throughout the harvest season),[b] 16 the waters flowing down from upstream stopped and stood up in a single heap, a great distance away at Adam,[c] the city next to Zarethan,[d] while the waters running down to the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea,[e] were entirely cut off, and the people crossed over facing Jericho. 17 The priests who carried the ark of the covenant of Yahweh stood firmly on dry ground in the Jordan's middle while all Israel crossed over on dry ground, until the entire nation had finished crossing the Jordan.

Notes

- a (3:4) Hebrew “two thousand cubits,” about 900 meters.
- b (3:15) That is, the barley and wheat harvest in spring (April–May), when the Jordan was swollen with rain and melting snow from Mount Hermon. Compare 4:19.
- c (3:16) Adam means “red” or “earth,” perhaps from the color of its soil. It is probably Tell ed-Damiyeh, about 18 miles (30 kilometers) north of Jericho. Medieval Arabic sources report that landslides there blocked the Jordan in A.D. 1267, and an earthquake did so again in 1927. The Hebrew reads “at Adam,” following the qere (the reading tradition); the written text has “in Adam.”
- d (3:16) The location of Zarethan is uncertain.
- e (3:16) That is, the Dead Sea.

Chapter 4

1 When all the nation had finished crossing over the Jordan, Yahweh said to Joshua, 2 “Take for yourselves twelve men from the people, one man from each tribe, 3 and tell them: ‘From this spot in the middle of the Jordan, where the priests’ feet stood firm, pick up twelve stones for yourselves, carry them across with you, and set them down in the place where you will stay tonight.’” 4 Then Joshua called the twelve men whom he had appointed from the Israelites, one man from each tribe. 5 Joshua said to them, “Cross over before the ark of Yahweh your God into the middle of the Jordan, and each of you lift a stone on his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the Israelites, 6 so that this may be a sign among you. When your children ask in time to come, ‘What do these stones mean to you?’ 7 you are to tell them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of Yahweh. When it crossed over the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan were cut off. So these stones are to be a memorial to the Israelites forever.”
8 The Israelites did exactly as Joshua had ordered: they picked up twelve stones from the Jordan’s middle, matching the number of the tribes of Israel, as Yahweh had told Joshua, carried them to their campsite, and set them down there. 9 Joshua also set up twelve stones in the middle of the Jordan,[a] in the place where the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant had stood, and they are there to this day.

10 The priests who carried the ark stayed standing in the Jordan's middle until everything Yahweh had commanded Joshua to tell the people was done, in keeping with all that Moses had ordered Joshua.
And the people hurried across. 11 When all the people had finished crossing over, the ark of Yahweh and the priests crossed over before the people. 12 The Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh crossed over armed before the Israelites, as Moses had told them. 13 About forty thousand armed for war crossed over before Yahweh for battle, to the plains of Jericho. 14 That day Yahweh made Joshua great in the eyes of all Israel, and they stood in awe of him all his life, as they had of Moses.
15 Yahweh said to Joshua, 16 "Command the priests carrying the ark of the testimony to come up out of the Jordan." 17 So Joshua commanded the priests, saying, "Come up out of the Jordan." 18 When the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of Yahweh came up from the middle of the Jordan, and the soles of the priests' feet were lifted up onto dry ground, the waters of the Jordan returned to their place and ran over all its banks as before.
19 The people came up out of the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month (in March–April),[b] and they camped at Gilgal[c] on the east border of Jericho. 20 As for the twelve stones taken from the Jordan, Joshua set them up at Gilgal. 21 He said to the Israelites, "When your children ask their fathers in time to come, 'What are these stones?' 22 then you are to let your children know, 'Israel crossed over this Jordan on dry ground.' 23 For Yahweh your God dried up the waters of the Jordan before you until you had crossed over, as Yahweh your God did to the Red Sea, which he dried up before us until we had crossed over, 24 so that all the peoples of the earth may know that the hand of Yahweh is mighty, and that you may fear Yahweh your God forever."

Notes

- a (4:9) Or "Joshua set up the twelve stones that had been in the middle of the Jordan." The Septuagint reads "other twelve stones," and the Latin Vulgate also speaks of a second set in the riverbed.

- b (4:19) Hebrew “in the first month,” counted from the spring new year of Israel’s religious calendar (Exodus 12:2). It was called Abib and later Nisan. Because the Hebrew months were lunar, it fell in March–April. The tenth day was the day the Passover lamb was chosen (Exodus 12:3).
- c (4:19) Gilgal means “circle,” probably a circle of stones. Joshua 5:9 links the name with galal, “to roll away.”

Chapter 5

1 When the kings of the Amorites on the Jordan’s west side, together with all the kings of the Canaanites by the sea, heard how Yahweh had dried up the Jordan’s waters in front of the Israelites until we[a] crossed over, their hearts melted, and they had no spirit left to face the Israelites.
2 Yahweh said to Joshua at that time,[b] “Make yourself flint knives and circumcise the Israelites a second time.” 3 So Joshua made flint knives for himself and circumcised the Israelites at Gibeath-haaraloth.[c] 4 This is the reason Joshua circumcised them: all the people who came out of Egypt, the males, all the men of war, had died in the wilderness on the way after they came out of Egypt. 5 All the people who came out of Egypt had been circumcised, but none of those born in the wilderness on the journey out of Egypt had been. 6 The Israelites had walked in the wilderness forty years, until the whole nation—the men of war who left Egypt—died out, because they had not obeyed Yahweh’s voice. Yahweh had sworn to them that he would not let them see the land he swore to their fathers to give us, a land flowing with milk and honey.[d] 7 Their sons, whom he raised up in their place, were the ones Joshua circumcised, since they were uncircumcised, not having been circumcised during the journey. 8 When they had finished circumcising all the nation, they stayed in their places in the camp until they were healed. 9 Yahweh said to Joshua, “This day I have rolled off[e] you the disgrace of Egypt.” That is why the place is named Gilgal to this day.
10 While the Israelites were camped at Gilgal, they kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the month (in March–April),[f] at evening, in the plains of Jericho. 11 The day after the Passover, on that very day, they ate unleavened bread and roasted grain[g] from the produce of the land. 12 The manna stopped the next day, when they ate the land's produce; the Israelites had no more manna, and that year they ate from the crops of Canaan.

13 When Joshua was by Jericho, he lifted up his eyes and looked, and there was a man standing before him with his drawn sword in his hand. Joshua went to him and said to him, "Are you for us or for our adversaries?" 14 "No," he said, "but I have just now come as commander of Yahweh's army." Joshua fell with his face to the ground, worshiped, and asked him, "What does my lord have to say to his servant?" 15 The commander of Yahweh's army said to Joshua, "Take off your sandal from your foot, for the place where you are standing is holy." And Joshua did so.

Notes

- a (5:1) So the Hebrew written text (ketiv). The qere (the reading tradition), many Hebrew manuscripts, and the ancient versions read "they."
- b (5:2) The Qumran scroll 4QJosh-a (about 150–50 B.C.) is arranged differently here. In it, the end of the account of the reading of the Law (8:34–35) comes right before this verse, linked by a transitional sentence not found in other witnesses. In that order, the covenant reading, and perhaps the building of the altar, took place at Gilgal right after the Jordan crossing. Josephus (Antiquities 5.16–20) also places an altar soon after the crossing. Compare the note at 8:30.
- c (5:3) Gibeath-haaraloth means "hill of the foreskins."
- d (5:6) In verses 4–6 the Septuagint has a different text. It says that some of those who came out of Egypt had been uncircumcised, and that Israel wandered forty-two years in the wilderness.
- e (5:9) Hebrew galal, which sounds like Gilgal; see the note at 4:19.
- f (5:10) Hebrew "on the fourteenth day of the month," that is, the first month of the spring-start religious calendar (4:19). It was called Abib or Nisan and fell in March–April. The exact correspondence varies from year to year with the lunar calendar.
- g (5:11) The Septuagint lacks "on the day after the Passover."

Chapter 6

1 Now Jericho was shut up tight because of the Israelites. No one went out and no one came in. 2 Yahweh said to Joshua, "See, I have given into your hand Jericho and its king, the mighty men of valor. 3 You are to march around the city, all the men of war, going around the city once. You are to do this for six days. 4 Seven priests are to carry seven rams' horn trumpets[a] before the ark; on the seventh day, march around the city seven times, with the priests blowing the trumpets.

5 When they make a long blast with the ram's horn, as soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people are to shout with a great shout, and the wall of the city will fall down flat,[b] and the people are to go up, each man straight before him."
6 Joshua son of Nun called the priests and told them, "Pick up the ark of the covenant, and have seven priests carry seven rams' horn trumpets in front of Yahweh's ark." 7 He[c] told the people, "Advance, and march around the city, with the armed men going ahead of Yahweh's ark." 8 Just as Joshua had spoken to the people, the seven priests carrying the seven trumpets of rams' horns before Yahweh went forward and blew the trumpets, with the ark of the covenant of Yahweh following them. 9 The armed men went before the priests who blew the trumpets, and the rear guard went after the ark, with the trumpets blowing continually. 10 But Joshua commanded the people, "You are not to shout or let your voice be heard, nor let a word go out of your mouth, until the day I tell you to shout. Then you are to shout." 11 So he had Yahweh's ark carried around the city once. Then they went back into the camp and spent the night there.
12 Joshua rose early in the morning, and the priests took up the ark of Yahweh. 13 The seven priests with the seven rams' horn trumpets walked ahead of Yahweh's ark, blowing the trumpets without stopping, with the armed men in front of them and the rear guard behind the ark, while the trumpets sounded without stopping. 14 On the second day they marched around the city once and returned to the camp. They did this for six days.
15 On the seventh day they rose at daybreak and went around the city in that same fashion seven times; only on that day did they circle it seven times. 16 On the seventh circuit, as the priests blew the trumpets, Joshua told the people, "Shout! Yahweh has given you the city. 17 The city and all that is in it belongs to Yahweh, set apart[d] for destruction. Only Rahab the prostitute will live, along with everyone in the house with her, because she hid the messengers whom we sent. 18 As for you, stay away from what is set apart for destruction, or you will set it apart and then take some of it, making Israel's camp subject to destruction and bringing trouble[e] on it. 19 But all silver and gold, and vessels of bronze and iron, are holy to Yahweh. They are to go into the treasury of Yahweh." 20 So the people shouted when the trumpets sounded. When they heard the trumpet blast, they gave a great shout, and the wall collapsed where it stood. Then the people went up into the city, each man straight ahead, and took it. 21 They devoted to destruction all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, sheep, and donkey, with the edge of the sword.

22 Joshua instructed the two spies, "Go to that prostitute's house, and from there bring the woman out with everything that is hers, as you swore to her." 23 The young men who had been the spies went in and brought out Rahab, with her father, mother, brothers, and everyone belonging to her; they brought out all her family and placed them outside Israel's camp. 24 They put the city to the torch with all it contained; the silver and gold, however, along with the bronze and iron vessels, they deposited in the treasury of Yahweh's house. 25 Joshua spared Rahab the prostitute, her father's household, and everyone belonging to her. She has lived among the Israelites to this day, because she hid the messengers Joshua sent to spy out Jericho.
26 At that time Joshua put them under an oath: "Cursed before Yahweh is the man who gets up and builds this city, Jericho. He will lay its foundation at the cost of his firstborn, and set up its gates at the price of his youngest."[f] 27 So Yahweh was with Joshua, and his fame was in all the land.

Notes

- a (6:4) Hebrew shofarot hayyovelim, "ram's-horn trumpets"; the word yovel, "ram," also gave its name to the Jubilee (Leviticus 25).
- b (6:5) Literally "will fall in its place."
- c (6:7) So the qere (the reading tradition), the Septuagint, and other witnesses. The Hebrew written text (ketiv) reads "They."
- d (6:17) Hebrew ḥerem, something given over completely to Yahweh, which could not be used by people. In war this usually meant its total destruction; so throughout this book.
- e (6:18) Hebrew ʿakhar, "trouble"; compare the Valley of Achor in 7:26.

- f (6:26) The Septuagint adds, “And so did Hozan of Bethel. He laid its foundation with Abiron his firstborn, and set up its gates with his youngest surviving son.” Compare the fulfillment in 1 Kings 16:34, where the builder is Hiel of Bethel and his sons are Abiram and Segub.

Chapter 7

1 But the Israelites acted unfaithfully in regard to the devoted things, for Achan[a] the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi,[b] the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the devoted things. And the anger of Yahweh burned against the Israelites.
2 Joshua sent men from Jericho to Ai,[c] which is near Beth-aven,[d] east of Bethel,[e] and said to them, “Go up and spy out the land.” So the men went up and spied out Ai. 3 They went back to Joshua and told him, “There is no need for all the people to go up. Send up two or three thousand men to attack Ai. Do not wear out all the people by sending them there, for the people of Ai are few.” 4 So some three thousand of the people went up, but they ran from the men of Ai. 5 The men of Ai struck down about thirty-six of them, and chased them from before the gate as far as Shebarim,[f] and struck them down on the descent.
And the hearts of the people melted and became like water.
6 Then Joshua tore his clothes and fell on his face to the earth before the ark of Yahweh until the evening, he and the elders of Israel, and they put dust on their heads. 7 Joshua said, “Alas, Lord Yahweh, why have you brought this people over the Jordan at all, to give us into the hand of the Amorites, to destroy us? If only we had been content to dwell beyond the Jordan! 8 O Lord, what can I say, now that Israel has turned their backs before their enemies? 9 For the Canaanites and all the inhabitants of the land will hear of it, and will surround us and cut off our name from the earth. And what will you do for your great name?”
10 Yahweh said to Joshua, “Get up! Why have you fallen on your face?
11 Israel has sinned! They have violated the covenant I laid on them; they have taken some of the things set apart for destruction, and they have stolen, lied, and hidden them among their own possessions. 12 Therefore the Israelites cannot stand before their enemies. They turn their backs before their enemies, because they have become devoted to destruction. I will not be with you anymore unless you destroy the devoted things from among you. 13 Rise, consecrate the people, and tell them, 'Consecrate yourselves for tomorrow, because Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: "Things set apart for destruction are among you, Israel. You will be unable to stand against your enemies until you remove those things from your midst." 14 In the morning you are to come near by your tribes. The tribe that Yahweh takes[g] is to come near by clans, the clan that Yahweh takes is to come near by households, and the household that Yahweh takes is to come near man by man. 15 Whoever is found with the things set apart for destruction shall be burned with fire, along with all he owns, because he broke the covenant of Yahweh and did a disgraceful thing[h] in Israel.'"

16 Joshua got up early the next morning and had the tribes of Israel step forward one at a time, and the tribe of Judah was taken. 17 He had the clans of Judah come forward, and the Zerahite clan was taken. Then he had the Zerahite clan come forward man by man,[i] and Zabdi was taken. 18 He brought near his household man by man, and Achan the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, of the tribe of Judah, was taken. 19 Then Joshua said to Achan, "My son, give glory to Yahweh, the God of Israel, and give praise to him.[j] Tell me now what you have done. Do not hide it from me." 20 Achan answered Joshua, "Truly I have sinned against Yahweh, the God of Israel, and this is what I did: 21 Among the plunder I saw a lovely robe from Shinar,[k] about 5 pounds of silver,[l] and a bar of gold of about 20 ounces,[m] and I wanted them, so I took them. Look, they are buried in the ground inside my tent, with the silver under it."

22 So Joshua sent messengers, and they ran to the tent, and there it was, hidden in his tent with the silver underneath. 23 They took them from the middle of the tent and brought them to Joshua and to all the Israelites, and they laid them out before Yahweh. 24 Then Joshua, and all Israel with him, took Achan the son of Zerah, and the silver, the cloak, the bar of gold, his sons, his daughters, his oxen, his donkeys, his sheep, his tent, and all that he had, and they brought them up to the Valley of Achor. 25 Joshua said, "Why did you bring trouble on us? Today Yahweh brings trouble on you." Then all Israel pelted him with stones; they burned the rest in the fire and pelted them with stones. 26 Over him they piled a great heap of stones, which is still there today. Then Yahweh turned back from the fierceness of his anger. For this reason that place has been called the Valley of Achor[n] to this day.

Notes

- a (7:1) The Septuagint and 1 Chronicles 2:7 call him Achar, "trouble," which makes a wordplay with the Valley of Achor (verses 25–26).
- b (7:1) The Septuagint has Zambri; 1 Chronicles 2:6 has Zimri.
- c (7:2) Ai (Hebrew haʿai, always with the article) means "the ruin" or "the heap."
- d (7:2) Beth-aven means "house of wickedness" (or "of nothingness"). Hosea 4:15 later uses the name mockingly for Bethel.
- e (7:2) Bethel means "house of God" (Genesis 28:19).
- f (7:5) Or "the quarries"; the Hebrew word means "breakings."
- g (7:14) That is, the tribe that is selected, probably by casting the lot.
- h (7:15) Or "a disgraceful folly" (Hebrew nevalah).
- i (7:17) Some Hebrew manuscripts, the Septuagint, and the Syriac read "by households," as in verse 14.
- j (7:19) Or "and make confession to him." This was a formula calling someone to tell the truth under oath (compare John 9:24).
- k (7:21) That is, Babylonia. The Septuagint reads "an embroidered cloak."
- l (7:21) Hebrew "200 shekels," about 2.3 kilograms.
- m (7:21) Hebrew "50 shekels," about 575 grams. Literally "a tongue of gold," that is, a wedge-shaped ingot.
- n (7:26) Achor means "trouble." Compare Hosea 2:15 and Isaiah 65:10, where the valley becomes a place of hope.

Chapter 8

1 Yahweh said to Joshua, "Do not be afraid or discouraged. Take the whole army with you and go up to Ai. Look, I have handed over to you the king of Ai, his people, his city, and his land. 2 Do to Ai and its king what you did to Jericho and its king; but you may keep its plunder and livestock for yourselves. Set an ambush behind the city." 3 So Joshua and all the men of war arose to go up to Ai. Joshua chose thirty thousand mighty men of valor and sent them out by night. 4 He commanded them, "Listen, you are to lie in wait behind the city; do not go very far from it, and all of you stay ready. 5 I and all the people who are with me will approach the city. When they come out against us as at the first, we will flee before them. 6 They will come out after us until we have lured them away from the city, for they will say, 'They are running from us, as before.' So we will run from them. 7 Then you are to rise up from the ambush and seize the city, for Yahweh your God will give it into your hand. 8 When you have taken the city, you are to set the city on fire. You are to do according to the word of Yahweh. See, I have commanded you." 9 So Joshua sent them out, and they went to the place of ambush and stayed between Bethel and Ai, west of Ai. But Joshua spent that night among the people.

10 Early in the morning Joshua assembled the people, and he and the elders of Israel went up ahead of them to Ai. 11 All the men of war who were with him went up and drew near and came before the city, and they camped north of Ai, with the valley between them and Ai.
12 He took about five thousand men and set them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, west of the city. 13 So the people took their positions, the main camp north of the city and its rear guard to the west. And that night Joshua went into the middle of the valley.[a] 14 When the king of Ai saw this, he and his whole people, the men of the city, hurried and got up early to meet Israel in battle at the appointed place[b] facing the Arabah; but he did not know that an ambush lay behind the city. 15 Joshua and all Israel let themselves be beaten before them and fled by the way of the wilderness. 16 All the people in the city[c] were summoned to chase after them, and as they chased Joshua they were lured away from the city. 17 Not a man was left in Ai or Bethel[d] who did not go out after Israel. They left the city open and pursued Israel.
18 Yahweh then said to Joshua, "Hold out toward Ai the javelin[e] in your hand, for I am giving it into your hand." So Joshua held out toward the city the javelin in his hand. 19 As soon as he stretched out his hand, the men in ambush sprang up from their place and ran. They went into the city, took it, and quickly set it on fire. 20 The men of Ai turned and looked behind them, and saw the city's smoke rising to the sky; they had no strength to run either way, for the people who had been fleeing toward the wilderness turned on those chasing them. 21 Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had taken the city and that smoke was rising from it, so they turned around and attacked the men of Ai. 22 The others from the city came out to meet them, so that the men of Ai were caught in the middle of Israel, with some on one side and some on the other. Israel cut them down until no one was left alive or escaped. 23 But the king of Ai they took alive and brought him to Joshua.

24 When Israel had finished killing all the people of Ai in the open fields and the wilderness where they had chased them, and every one of them had fallen by the sword to the last man, all Israel went back to Ai and put it to the sword. 25 All who fell that day, both men and women, were twelve thousand, all the people of Ai. 26 For Joshua did not pull back the hand that held out the javelin until he had set apart all who lived in Ai for destruction.[f] 27 Only the livestock and the spoil of that city Israel took as plunder for themselves, according to the word of Yahweh that he commanded Joshua. 28 Joshua burned Ai and made it a mound[g] forever, a waste to this day. 29 He hung the king of Ai on a tree until evening, and at sunset Joshua gave the order, and they took his body down from the tree and threw it at the entrance of the city gate. Over it they raised a large pile of stones, which is still there.

30 Then Joshua built an altar[h] to Yahweh, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal,[i] 31 just as Moses, Yahweh's servant, had commanded the Israelites and as it is written in the book of the law of Moses: an altar of uncut stones that no iron tool had touched. On it they offered burnt offerings to Yahweh and sacrificed peace offerings. 32 There, in the presence of the Israelites, he wrote on the stones a copy of the law of Moses, which he had written. 33 All Israel—the foreign resident as well as the native-born—with their elders, officers, and judges, stood on both sides of the ark facing the Levitical priests who carried the ark of the covenant of Yahweh, half toward Mount Gerizim[j] and half toward Mount Ebal, as Moses the servant of Yahweh had earlier commanded for blessing the people of Israel. 34 Afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessing and the curse, according to all that is written in the book of the law. 35 Of everything Moses had commanded, there was not a word that Joshua failed to read before the entire assembly of Israel, including the women, the little children, and the foreign residents living among them.

Notes

- a (8:13) Some Hebrew manuscripts read "spent that night" (compare verse 9). The Septuagint lacks most of verses 11b–13; it does not mention the second ambush of five thousand men.
- b (8:14) Hebrew mo'ed; or, with a small change, "at the descent." The Septuagint lacks this phrase.
- c (8:16) The Hebrew written text (ketiv) reads "in the city"; the qere (the reading tradition) reads "in Ai."
- d (8:17) The Septuagint lacks "or Bethel."
- e (8:18) Or "scimitar" (Hebrew kidon); a curved sword is possible. The Septuagint reads "spear."
- f (8:26) The Septuagint lacks this verse.
- g (8:28) Hebrew tel, a mound of ruins, the word that gave its name to the archaeological "tell." The name Ai means "the ruin" (see the note at 7:2).
- h (8:30) The Hebrew text places the altar and the covenant reading on Mount Ebal (verses 30–35) here. The Septuagint places them after 9:2. The Qumran scroll 4QJosh-a apparently placed at least the reading of the Law (verses 34–35) right after the Jordan crossing, before 5:2 (see the note there). These different placements suggest that the passage was positioned differently in different early forms of the text. Compare Deuteronomy 11:29; 27:1–26.
- i (8:30) Ebal may mean "bare" or "stony." Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim stand on either side of Shechem.
- j (8:33) Gerizim may mean "those cut off." The Samaritans later regarded it as the chosen place of worship (compare John 4:20).

Chapter 9

1 When all the kings west of the Jordan heard about this—those in the hill country, the lowland,[a] and along the whole coast of the Great Sea toward Lebanon: the Hittites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites— 2 they gathered together with one accord to fight against Joshua and Israel.[b] 3 But when the inhabitants of Gibeon[c] heard what Joshua had done to Jericho and to Ai, 4 they also acted craftily. They went and disguised themselves as envoys,[d] and took worn-out sacks for their donkeys, and wineskins that were worn-out, torn, and mended, 5 with worn-out, patched sandals on their feet and worn-out clothes on them. And all the bread of their provisions was dry and crumbly. 6 They went to Joshua at the camp at Gilgal and said to him and to the men of Israel, "We have come from a distant country. Now therefore make a covenant with us." 7 The men of Israel replied to the Hivites, "Maybe you live among us; how then could we make a covenant with you?" 8 They told Joshua, "We are your servants." But Joshua demanded, "Who are you, and from where have you come?" 9 They answered,

"Your servants have come from a very distant country because of the name of Yahweh your God, for we have heard news of him, and of all he did in Egypt, 10 and all that he did to the two kings of the Amorites who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon king of Heshbon and to Og king of Bashan, who was at Ashtaroth. 11 So our elders and everyone living in our land told us, 'Take provisions for the journey, go meet them, and tell them: "We are your servants; so now make a covenant with us."' 12 This bread of ours was still warm when we took it from our houses as food for the journey on the day we left to come to you; but now look, it is dry and crumbling. 13 These wineskins were new when we filled them, and see, they are torn. And these clothes and sandals of ours are worn out from the very long journey." 14 So the men took some of their provisions, but they did not ask counsel from the mouth of Yahweh. 15 Joshua made peace with them and made a covenant with them, to let them live, and the leaders of the congregation swore an oath to them.
16 At the end of three days after they had made a covenant with them, they heard that they were their neighbors and that they lived among them. 17 So the Israelites set out and came to their cities on the third day. Their cities were Gibeon, Chephirah, Beeroth, and Kiriathjearim.[e] 18 But the Israelites did not strike them, because the leaders of the congregation had sworn to them by Yahweh, the God of Israel.
Then all the congregation grumbled against the leaders. 19 But all the leaders said to all the congregation, "We have sworn to them by Yahweh, the God of Israel, and now we cannot touch them. 20 This is what we will do: we will let them live, so that no wrath will fall on us because of the oath we swore to them." 21 The leaders added, "Let them live." So they became woodcutters and water carriers for the whole congregation, as the leaders had decided concerning them.
22 Joshua called them and said, "Why did you trick us by saying, 'We live very far from you,' when you actually live among us? 23 Now therefore you are cursed, and some of you will never cease to be slaves, cutters of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God." 24 They answered Joshua, "Because it was clearly told to your servants that Yahweh your God had commanded his servant Moses to give you all the land and to destroy all the inhabitants of the land before you, we feared greatly for our lives because of you and did this thing. 25 Now, see, we are in your hand. Do to us whatever seems good and right in your sight." 26 So he did this to them: he delivered them out of the hand of the Israelites, and they did not kill them. 27 That day Joshua made them cutters of wood and drawers of water for the congregation and for the altar of Yahweh, to this day, at the place that he would choose.

Notes

- a (9:1) Hebrew shephelah, the low foothills between the hill country of Judah and the coastal plain.
- b (9:2) Here the Septuagint has the account of the altar on Mount Ebal and the reading of the Law (Hebrew 8:30–35), as 9:2a–f. In it the passage begins, "Then Joshua built an altar to the Lord, the God of Israel, on Mount Gaibal." See the note at 8:30.
- c (9:3) Gibeon means "hill" or "hilltop place" (from giv'ah, "hill"). It is probably el-Jib, about 6 miles (10 kilometers) northwest of Jerusalem.
- d (9:4) The Hebrew word is uncertain. With a one-letter difference, some Hebrew manuscripts and the ancient versions read "they took provisions" (compare verse 12). The Septuagint reads "they made provision and prepared themselves."
- e (9:17) Kiriath-jearim means "city of forests." Beeroth means "wells," and Chephirah may mean "village" or "lioness."

Chapter 10

1 When Adoni-zedek[a] king of Jerusalem[b] heard that Joshua had captured Ai and devoted it to destruction, doing to Ai and its king as he had done to Jericho and its king, and that the inhabitants of Gibeon had made peace with Israel and were among them, 2 he[c] feared greatly, because Gibeon was a great city, like one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than Ai, and all its men were mighty. 3 Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem sent word to Hoham king of Hebron,[d] Piram king of Jarmuth, Japhia king of Lachish, and Debir king of Eglon,[e] saying, 4 "Come up and help me attack Gibeon, because it has made peace with Joshua and the Israelites." 5 So the five Amorite kings—the kings of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Eglon—joined forces and marched up with all their armies; they camped by Gibeon and attacked it.

6 The men of Gibeon sent to Joshua at the camp at Gilgal, saying, "Do not withdraw your hand from your servants. Come up to us quickly and save us and help us, for all the kings of the Amorites who live in the hill country have gathered against us." 7 So Joshua went up from Gilgal, he and all the people of war with him, and all the mighty men of valor. 8 Yahweh said to Joshua, "Do not fear them, for I have given them into your hand. Not a man of them will stand before you." 9 Joshua came against them suddenly, after marching all night from Gilgal. 10 Yahweh threw them into a panic before Israel, and he[f] struck them with a great slaughter at Gibeon and chased them by the way of the ascent of Beth-horon,[g] and struck them as far as Azekah and Makkedah. 11 As they ran from Israel down the slope of Beth-horon, Yahweh hurled huge stones from the sky on them all the way to Azekah, and they died; the hailstones killed more of them than the Israelites killed with the sword.
12 Then Joshua spoke to Yahweh on the day when Yahweh gave the Amorites over to the Israelites, and he said in the sight of Israel,[h] "Sun, be still[i] at Gibeon, and moon, in the Valley of Aijalon."[j] 13 And the sun stood still, and the moon stopped, until the nation took vengeance on its enemies. Is this not written in the Book of Jashar?[k] The sun stopped in the middle of the heavens and did not hurry to go down for about a whole day.[l] 14 There has never been a day like it, before or since, when Yahweh heeded the voice of a man; for Yahweh was fighting for Israel.
15 Then Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.[m] 16 These five kings fled and hid themselves in the cave at Makkedah.
17 It was told to Joshua, "The five kings have been found, hidden in the cave at Makkedah." 18 Joshua said, "Roll great stones against the mouth of the cave and set men by it to guard them. 19 But do not stop there. Chase your enemies and attack them from behind; do not let them reach their cities, for Yahweh your God has handed them over to you." 20 When Joshua and the Israelites had finished a very great slaughter of them, until they were finished off, and the survivors had reached their fortified cities, 21 all the people returned safely to Joshua in the camp at Makkedah. No one moved his tongue against any of the Israelites.

22 Then Joshua said, "Open the mouth of the cave and bring out to me these five kings from the cave." 23 They did so and brought out to him these five kings from the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Eglon. 24 When they brought these kings out to Joshua, Joshua summoned all the men of Israel and said to the chiefs of the men of war who had gone with him, "Come near, put your feet on the necks of these kings." So they came near and put their feet on their necks.
25 Joshua told them, "Do not be afraid or discouraged; be strong and courageous. This is what Yahweh will do to all the enemies you fight."
26 After that Joshua killed them and hung them on five trees, and they remained hanging there until evening. 27 As the sun was setting Joshua gave a command, and they lowered them from the trees and threw them into the cave in which they had hidden; over its mouth they placed great stones, which remain to this very day.
28 Joshua captured Makkedah that day, put it and its king to the sword, and set every person in it apart for destruction, leaving no survivor. The king of Makkedah he treated just like the king of Jericho.
29 Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Makkedah to Libnah and fought against Libnah. 30 Yahweh also gave it and its king into Israel's hand. Joshua put it to the sword along with everyone in it, leaving no survivor there, and he treated its king as he had treated the king of Jericho.
31 Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Libnah to Lachish, and camped against it and fought against it. 32 Yahweh handed Lachish over to Israel, who captured it on the second day and put it and everyone in it to the sword, just as he had done to Libnah.
33 Then Horam king of Gezer came up to help Lachish, and Joshua struck him and his people until he left him no survivor.

34 Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Lachish to Eglon, and they camped against it and fought against it. 35 On that day they took it and killed everyone in it with the sword; he set every person in it apart for destruction that day, as he had done to Lachish.
36 Then Joshua and all Israel with him went up from Eglon to Hebron, and they fought against it. 37 They captured it and put it, its king, its towns, and everyone in it to the sword; he left no survivor, just as at Eglon, and set it and every person in it apart for destruction.
38 Then Joshua and all Israel with him turned back to Debir[n] and attacked it. 39 He captured it, its king, and all its towns, put them to the sword, and set every person in it apart for destruction, leaving no survivor. What he had done to Hebron, and to Libnah and its king, he did to Debir and its king.
40 So Joshua struck the whole land, the hill country, the Negev,[o] the lowland, and the slopes, and all their kings. He left no survivor, but devoted to destruction all that breathed, as Yahweh, the God of Israel, commanded. 41 Joshua conquered them from Kadesh-barnea[p] to Gaza, and the whole region of Goshen up to Gibeon. 42 Joshua captured all these kings and their land at one time, because Yahweh, the God of Israel, fought for Israel. 43 Then Joshua returned, and all Israel with him, to the camp at Gilgal.

Notes

- a (10:1) Adoni-zedek means "my lord is righteous" (or "my lord is Zedek," a divine name). Compare Melchizedek, king of Salem (Genesis 14:18). The Septuagint reads Adonibezek (compare Judges 1:5–7).
- b (10:1) The meaning of Jerusalem is uncertain; it is perhaps "foundation of Shalem," the name of a god, though it was later understood as "city of peace."
- c (10:2) Hebrew "they."
- d (10:3) Hebron may mean "alliance" or "association." It was earlier called Kiriath-arba (14:15).
- e (10:3) The Septuagint reads "Dabin king of Odollam" (that is, Adullam) here and in verses 5 and 23, though it has Eglon in verses 34–37.
- f (10:10) That is, Joshua (or Israel).
- g (10:10) Beth-horon probably means "house of Horon," a Canaanite god, or perhaps "house of the hollow." The road climbed from the coastal lowland through Upper and Lower Beth-horon.

- h (10:12) The Hebrew can also mean “and he said, in the sight of Israel.” The Septuagint reads only “and Joshua said.”
- i (10:12) Hebrew dom, “be still, be silent,” or “stop.” Some interpreters take the poetry as a request that the sun stop shining (cease its scorching heat, or be darkened by the storm of verse 11) rather than stop moving. The lines are poetry, and the prose that follows takes them literally.
- j (10:12) Aijalon means “place of deer” (from ’ayyal, “deer”). The valley lies west of Gibeon, so the sun stood over Gibeon to the east and the moon over Aijalon to the west, which may suggest an early morning scene.
- k (10:13) Jashar means “the upright one.” The Book of Jashar was an early collection of poetry, now lost, that is also cited in 2 Samuel 1:18 (David’s lament). The Septuagint lacks the question “Is this not written in the Book of Jashar?” here. The Septuagint of 1 Kings 8:53 cites a “book of song,” which may be the same work under a slightly different name.
- l (10:13) Literally “as a complete day” (Hebrew keyom tamim). The time is not given in hours.
- m (10:15) The Septuagint lacks this verse, which anticipates verse 43; verse 21 places the camp at Makkedah.
- n (10:38) Debir means “back room” or “inner sanctuary.” It was earlier called Kiriath-sepher, “city of the book” (15:15).
- o (10:40) Negev means “dry land,” the arid region in the south of Judah.
- p (10:41) Kadesh-barnea means “holy place of Barnea”; it was the main oasis of the Sinai wanderings (Numbers 13:26; 32:8).

Chapter 11

1 Jabin[a] king of Hazor[b] heard of these events and sent messages to Jobab king of Madon, to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph, 2 and the kings in the northern hill country, in the Arabah south of Chinneroth,[c] in the lowland, and in Naphoth-dor[d] to the west, 3 the Canaanites to the east and west, the Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, and Jebusites in the hill country, and the Hivites at the foot of Hermon in the land of Mizpah.[e] 4 They came out, they and all their armies with them, a great people, as many as the sand that is on the seashore, with very many horses and chariots. 5 All these kings met by appointment, and they came and camped together at the waters of Merom[f] to fight against Israel.
6 Yahweh told Joshua, “Do not fear them; about this time tomorrow I will hand them all over to Israel, killed. You are to cut the hamstrings of their horses and burn their chariots in the fire.” 7 So Joshua and all his fighting men came against them suddenly at the waters of Merom and attacked them. 8 Yahweh handed them over to Israel, who defeated them and pursued them to Great Sidon, to Misrephoth-maim,[g] and east to the Valley of Mizpeh, striking them down until none were left. 9 Joshua did to them as Yahweh told him. He hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots with fire.

10 At that time Joshua turned back, captured Hazor, and killed its king with the sword; Hazor had formerly been the head of all those kingdoms. 11 They put to the sword every person in it, setting them apart for destruction; nothing that breathed remained, and Hazor itself he burned with fire. 12 Joshua captured all the cities of those kings, and all their kings, and put them to the sword, setting them apart for destruction, as Moses the servant of Yahweh had commanded. 13 Yet Israel burned none of the cities standing on their mounds,[h] apart from Hazor alone, which Joshua burned. 14 The Israelites took for themselves all the plunder of these cities, and the livestock; but they put every person to the sword until they had wiped them out, leaving no one alive who breathed. 15 Just as Yahweh had commanded Moses his servant, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He left nothing undone of all that Yahweh had commanded Moses.

16 So Joshua took all that land, the hill country, all the Negev, all the land of Goshen, the lowland, the Arabah, and the hill country of Israel and its lowland, 17 from Mount Halak,[i] which rises toward Seir, all the way to Baal-gad[j] in the Valley of Lebanon at the foot of Mount Hermon. He captured all their kings, struck them down, and put them to death. 18 Joshua made war a long time with all those kings. 19 There was not a city that made peace with the Israelites except the Hivites, the inhabitants of Gibeon. They took them all in battle. 20 For it was Yahweh's doing to harden their hearts so that they would meet Israel in battle, and so be set apart for destruction without mercy, being wiped out as Yahweh had commanded Moses.

21 Joshua went at that time and eliminated the Anakim[k] who lived in the hill country—in Hebron, Debir, and Anab, and in the entire hill country of Judah and of Israel; he set them apart for destruction along with their cities. 22 There were no Anakim left in the land of the Israelites. Only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod did some remain. 23 Thus Joshua took the entire land, just as Yahweh had told Moses, and gave it to Israel as an inheritance, divided among their tribes. Then the land had rest from war.

Notes

- a (11:1) Jabin may mean "he understands" or "he discerns." A later Jabin king of Hazor appears in Judges 4.
- b (11:1) Hazor probably means "enclosure" or "settlement." It was the largest city of Canaan, north of the Sea of Galilee.
- c (11:2) That is, the Sea of Galilee; Chinnereth may mean "harp-shaped."
- d (11:2) Or "the heights of Dor," a coastal town south of Mount Carmel.
- e (11:3) Mizpah means "watchtower" or "lookout"; so also Mizpeh in verse 8.
- f (11:5) Merom means "height."
- g (11:8) Misrephoth-maim may mean "burnings at the water" (perhaps lime kilns or salt pans), or "hot springs."
- h (11:13) Hebrew tel; see the note at 8:28.
- i (11:17) Halak means "smooth" or "bare."
- j (11:17) Baal-gad means "lord of fortune," or "Baal of Gad" (a god of luck).
- k (11:21) Anakim probably means "people of the neck," that is, long-necked or tall. They were remembered as giants (Numbers 13:33; Deuteronomy 2:10–11).

Chapter 12

1 These are the kings of the land whom the Israelites defeated and whose territory they took across the Jordan to the east, from the Arnon Valley to Mount Hermon, including the whole eastern Arabah: 2 Sihon king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon and ruled from Aroer, which is on the edge of the valley of the Arnon, and from the middle of the valley, and half of Gilead, as far as the river Jabbok, the border of the Ammonites, 3 and the Arabah as far as the Sea of Chinneroth eastward, and as far as the Sea of the Arabah, the Salt Sea, eastward toward Beth-jeshimoth, and on the south below the slopes of Pisgah;[a] 4 and the territory of Og king of Bashan, one of the remnant of the Rephaim,[b] who lived at Ashtaroth and at Edrei 5 and ruled in Mount Hermon, in Salecah, and in the whole of Bashan, to the territory of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and over the half of Gilead reaching the border of Sihon, king of Heshbon. 6 Moses the servant of Yahweh and the Israelites struck them, and Moses the servant of Yahweh gave it as a possession to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

7 These are the kings of the land that Joshua and the Israelites defeated on the west side of the Jordan, from Baal-gad in the Valley of Lebanon as far as Mount Halak, which rises toward Seir. Joshua then gave their land to Israel's tribes as a possession, divided into portions, 8 in the hill country and the lowland, the Arabah and the slopes, the wilderness and the Negev: the land of the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites: 9 the king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Bethel, one; 10 the king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one; 11 the king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one; 12 the king of Eglon, one; the king of Gezer, one; 13 the king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one; 14 the king of Hormah,[c] one; the king of Arad, one; 15 the king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one; 16 the king of Makkedah, one; the king of Bethel, one; 17 the king of Tappuah, one; the king of Hepher, one; 18 the king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one;[d] 19 the king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one; 20 the king of Shimron-meron, one; the king of Achshaph, one; 21 the king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one; 22 the king of Kedesh, one; the king of Jokneam in Carmel, one; 23 the king of Dor in Naphath-dor, one; the king of Goiim[e] in Gilgal, one; 24 the king of Tirzah, one: in all, thirty-one kings.[f]

Notes

- a (12:3) Pisgah means "cleft" or "peak." From its summit Moses viewed the land (Deuteronomy 34:1).
- b (12:4) The Rephaim were an ancient people remembered as giants (Deuteronomy 3:11). The word is also used for the shades of the dead.
- c (12:14) Hormah means "devotion to destruction" (from ḥaram; Numbers 21:3).
- d (12:18) Or "the king of Aphek in Sharon." The Septuagint reads "the king of Ophek of Aroc."
- e (12:23) Goiim means "nations." The Septuagint reads "Gei of Galilee," which suits the northern setting (compare Isaiah 9:1).
- f (12:24) The Septuagint lists twenty-nine kings, with differences in several names.

Chapter 13

1 Joshua was now old, well along in years, and Yahweh said to him, "You have grown old and are well along in years, yet a great deal of the land is still to be taken. 2 This is the land that still remains: all the regions of the Philistines and all those of the Geshurites 3 (from the Shihor,[a] east of Egypt, north to the boundary of Ekron, counted as Canaanite; the five rulers[b] of the Philistines were those of Gaza, Ashdod, Ashkelon, Gath, and Ekron), and the Avvim 4 in the south; all the land of the Canaanites, and Mearah that belongs to the Sido-nians, as far as Aphek, to the border of the Amorites; 5 and the land of the Gebalites,[c] and all Lebanon toward the sunrise, from Baal-gad below Mount Hermon to Lebo-hamath.[d] 6 All the inhabitants of the hill country from Lebanon to Misrephoth-maim, all the Sidonians, I myself will drive them out from before the Israelites. Only allot it to Israel for an inheritance, as I have commanded you. 7 Now therefore divide this land for an inheritance to the nine tribes and the half-tribe of Manasseh."

8 Together with the other half of Manasseh,[e] the Reubenites and Gadites received the inheritance Moses gave them east of the Jordan, just as Moses the servant of Yahweh had given it to them: 9 from Aroer, which sits on the rim of the Arnon gorge, and from the city in the gorge's middle, with the entire tableland[f] from Medeba to Dibon, 10 and all the cities of Sihon king of the Amorites, who reigned in Heshbon, as far as the border of the Ammonites, 11 and Gilead, and the territory of the Geshurites and Maacathites, and all Mount Hermon, and all Bashan as far as Salecah, 12 the whole realm of Og in Bashan, who had reigned at Ashtaroth and at Edrei; he alone remained of the remnant of the Rephaim. Moses had defeated these and driven them out. 13 But the Israelites did not drive out the Geshurites or the Maacathites, and Geshur and Maacath live in the midst of Israel to this day. 14 Only to the tribe of Levi did he give no inheritance; the fire offerings to Yahweh, the God of Israel, are their inheritance, as he had told him.[g] 15 To the tribe of the Reubenites, by their clans, Moses gave an inheritance. 16 Their territory was from Aroer, which is on the edge of the valley of the Arnon, and the city that is in the middle of the valley, and all the tableland by Medeba; 17 Heshbon and all its cities that are in the tableland: Dibon, Bamoth-baal,[h] Beth-baal-meon, 18 Jahaz, Kedemoth, Mephaath, 19 Kiriathaim, Sibmah, and Zereth-shahar on the hill of the valley, 20 Beth-peor, the slopes of Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth, 21 all the cities of the tableland and the whole kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites, who ruled in Heshbon, whom Moses defeated along with the chiefs of Midian—Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba—the princes of Sihon who lived in the land. 22 Balaam also, the son of Beor, the diviner, the Israelites killed with the sword among the rest of their slain. 23 The border of the Reubenites was the Jordan and its region.[i] This was the inheritance of the Reubenites according to their clans, the cities with their villages.

24 Moses gave an inheritance to the tribe of Gad, to the Gadites, according to their clans. 25 Their territory was Jazer and all the cities of Gilead, and half the land of the Ammonites, as far as Aroer, which is east of Rabbah, 26 and from Heshbon to Ramath-mizpeh and Betonim, and from Mahanaim[j] to the territory of Debir,[k] 27 and in the valley, Beth-haram, Beth-nimrah, Succoth,[l] and Zaphon, the rest of the kingdom of Sihon king of Heshbon, with the Jordan as its boundary, as far as the end of the Sea of Chinnereth, beyond the Jordan eastward. 28 This is the inheritance of the Gadites according to their clans, the cities with their villages.
29 Moses gave an inheritance to the half-tribe of Manasseh. It was for the half-tribe of the Manassites according to their clans. 30 Their territory was from Mahanaim, all Bashan, all the kingdom of Og king of Bashan, and all Havvoth-jair,[m] which are in Bashan, sixty cities, 31 and half of Gilead, with Ashtaroth and Edrei, cities of the realm of Og in Bashan. These went to the sons of Machir, Manasseh's son—to half of Machir's sons, by their clans.
32 These are the inheritances Moses distributed in the plains of Moab, east of Jericho across the Jordan. 33 But to the tribe of Levi Moses gave no inheritance. Yahweh, the God of Israel, is their inheritance, as he said to them.[n]

Notes

- a (13:3) Shihor means "black" or "the pool of Horus," probably an eastern branch of the Nile or a stream on Egypt's border.

- b (13:3) Hebrew seren, a Philistine word for the rulers of their five cities; it may be related to Greek tyrannos.
- c (13:5) That is, the people of Gebal (Byblos), on the coast north of Beirut.
- d (13:5) Or "to the entrance of Hamath."
- e (13:8) Hebrew "With it," referring back to the half-tribe of Manasseh in verse 7.
- f (13:9) Hebrew mishor, "level land," the plateau east of the Dead Sea; so throughout this chapter.
- g (13:14) The Septuagint adds, "This is the division that Moses made for the Israelites in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan, by Jericho" (compare verse 32).
- h (13:17) Bamoth-baal means "high places of Baal."
- i (13:23) Or "The border of the Reubenites was the Jordan, as a boundary."
- j (13:26) Mahanaim means "two camps" (Genesis 32:2).
- k (13:26) Hebrew Lidbir, perhaps the same as Lo-debar (2 Samuel 9:4).
- l (13:27) Succoth means "booths" (Genesis 33:17).
- m (13:30) Havvoth-jair means "tent villages of Jair" (Numbers 32:41).
- n (13:33) The Septuagint lacks this verse.

Chapter 14

1 These are the inheritances the Israelites received in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar[a] the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the heads of the families of the Israelite tribes distributed to them. 2 Their inheritance was by lot, as Yahweh had commanded through Moses, for the nine tribes and the half-tribe. 3 For Moses had given the inheritance of the two and a half tribes beyond the Jordan, but to the Levites he gave no inheritance among them. 4 For the descendants of Joseph formed two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. The Levites received no share in the land except cities to live in, along with pastureland for their livestock and goods. 5 The Israelites did as Yahweh commanded Moses, and they divided the land.
6 Then the people of Judah came to Joshua at Gilgal. Caleb[b] the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite[c] said to him, "You know what Yahweh said to Moses the man of God at Kadesh-barnea concerning you and me. 7 I was forty years old when Moses the servant of Yahweh sent me from Kadesh-barnea to scout the land, and I reported to him what was in my heart. 8 But my brothers who went up with me made the heart of the people melt, while I wholly followed Yahweh my God. 9 On that day Moses swore, 'The land your foot has walked on will surely be your inheritance and your children's forever, because you have followed Yahweh my God fully.' [10] And now, see, Yahweh has kept me alive, as he said, these forty-five years since the time that Yahweh spoke this word to Moses, while Israel walked in the wilderness. And now, see, I am today eighty-five years old. [11] I am as strong today as on the day Moses sent me; my strength now equals my strength then, for fighting and for going out and coming in. [12] So now give me this hill country about which Yahweh spoke that day, since you heard then that the Anakim were there, in great fortified cities. Perhaps Yahweh will be with me and I will drive them out, as Yahweh said." [13] Then Joshua blessed him, and he gave Hebron to Caleb the son of Jephunneh for an inheritance. [14] Therefore Hebron became the inheritance of Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite to this day, because he wholly followed Yahweh, the God of Israel. [15] Hebron's name was formerly Kiriath-arba;[d] Arba[e] was the greatest man among the Anakim. Then the land had rest from war.

Notes

- a (14:1) Eleazar means "God has helped."
- b (14:6) Caleb means "dog," perhaps in the sense of a loyal servant. Some connect the name with kol-lev, "whole heart," in light of verses 8–9 and 14.
- c (14:6) The Kenizzites were a clan related to Edom (Genesis 15:19; 36:11). Caleb's family had been joined to the tribe of Judah.
- d (14:15) Kiriath-arba means "city of four" or "city of Arba."
- e (14:15) The Septuagint reads, "The name of Hebron formerly was the city of Argob; it is the mother city of the Anakim."

Chapter 15

[1] The portion for the tribe of Judah, by their clans, extended south to the border of Edom, to the wilderness of Zin at the far south. [2] Their southern border ran from the end of the Salt Sea, from the bay that faces southward. [3] It went out southward of the ascent of Akrabbim,[a] passed along to Zin, went up south of Kadesh-barnea, passed along by Hezron, went up to Addar, and turned about to Karka. [4] It passed along to Azmon, went out by the Brook of Egypt,[b] and the border ended at the sea. This will be your southern border. [5] The eastern boundary was the Salt Sea, as far as the Jordan's mouth. The northern side's border began at the sea's inlet, at the mouth of the Jordan. [6]

The border went up to Beth-hoglah and passed along north of Beth-arabah. The border went up to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben.
7 From the Valley of Achor the border went up to Debir and then north, turning toward Gilgal, which faces the ascent of Adummim,[c] south of the valley. It continued to the waters of En-shemesh[d] and ended at En-rogel.[e] 8 Then the border climbed by the Valley of the Son of Hinnom[f] along the Jebusite's southern ridge (which is Jerusalem).
From there it ran up to the peak of the mountain that stands opposite the Valley of Hinnom on its west side, at the far north end of the Valley of Rephaim. 9 Then the border was drawn from the top of the mountain to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah,[g] went out to the cities of Mount Ephron, and the border was drawn to Baalah (that is, Kiriath-jearim). 10 The border turned about from Baalah westward to Mount Seir, passed along to the northern shoulder of Mount Jearim (that is, Chesalon), went down to Beth-shemesh,[h] and passed along by Timnah. 11 The border proceeded to the ridge north of Ekron, bent around to Shikkeron, went across Mount Baalah, and reached Jabneel; its end was at the sea. 12 The western border was the Great Sea with its coastline. This is the border all around the people of Judah according to their clans.
13 To Caleb the son of Jephunneh he gave a portion among the people of Judah, according to the command of Yahweh to Joshua, Kiriath-arba (Arba was the father of Anak), that is, Hebron. 14 Caleb drove out from there the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai, the descendants of Anak. 15 He went up from there against the inhabitants of Debir. Now the name of Debir formerly was Kiriath-sepher.[i] 16 Caleb said, "To the man who attacks Kiriath-sepher and takes it, I will give my daughter Achsah[j] as his wife." 17 Othniel[k] son of Kenaz, Caleb's brother, took it, and Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah as wife. 18 When she arrived, she urged him to ask her father for a field. She dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb asked her, "What do you want?" 19 She replied, "Give me a blessing.[l] Since you have given me land in the Negev, give me springs of water also." So he gave her the upper and lower springs.

20 This is the inheritance of the tribe of the people of Judah according to their clans. 21 The cities at the farthest limits of the tribe of the people of Judah, toward the border of Edom in the Negev, were Kabzeel, Eder, Jagur, 22 Kinah, Dimonah, Adadah, 23 Kedesh, Hazor, Ithnan, 24 Ziph, Telem, Bealoth, 25 Hazor-hadattah and Kerioth-hezron (that is, Hazor), 26 also Amam, Shema, and Moladah, 27 also Hazargaddah, Heshmon, and Beth-pelet, 28 also Hazar-shual, Beersheba,[m] and Biziothiah, 29 Baalah, Iim, Ezem, 30 Eltolad, Chesil, Hormah, 31 Zik-lag, Madmannah, Sansannah, 32 Lebaoth, Shilhim, Ain, and Rimmon —twenty-nine cities in all, with their villages.[n] 33 In the lowland there were Eshtaol, Zorah, and Ashnah, 34 along with Zanoah, En-gannim, Tappuah, and Enam, 35 also Jarmuth, Adul-lam, Socoh, and Azekah, 36 and Shaaraim, Adithaim, Gederah, and Gederothaim—fourteen cities and their villages.
37 Zenan, Hadashah, Migdal-gad, 38 Dilean, Mizpeh, Joktheel, 39 Lachish, Bozkath, Eglon, 40 Cabbon, Lahmam, Chitlish, 41 Gederoth, Bethdagon, Naamah, and Makkedah: sixteen cities with their villages.
42 Libnah, Ether, Ashan, 43 Iphtah, Ashnah, Nezib, 44 Keilah, Achzib, and Mareshah: nine cities with their villages.
45 Ekron with its towns[o] and its villages; 46 from Ekron to the sea, all that were by the side of Ashdod, with their villages. 47 Ashdod, with its towns and villages; Gaza, with its towns and villages, up to the Brook of Egypt; and the Great Sea with its shore.
48 In the hill country: Shamir, Jattir, Socoh, 49 Dannah, Kiriath-sannah (that is, Debir), 50 Anab, Eshtemoh, Anim, 51 Goshen, Holon, and Giloh: eleven cities with their villages.
52 Arab, Dumah, Eshan, 53 Janim, Beth-tappuah, Aphekah, 54 Humtah, Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), and Zior—nine cities and their villages.
55 Also Maon, Carmel, Ziph, and Juttah, 56 then Jezreel, Jokdeam, and Zanoah, 57 Kain, Gibeah, and Timnah—ten cities and their villages.
58 Halhul, Beth-zur, Gedor, 59 Maarath, Beth-anoth, and Eltekon: six cities with their villages.[p] 60 Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim) and Rabbah: two cities with their villages.

61 In the wilderness: Beth-arabah, Middin, Secacah, 62 Nibshan, the City of Salt,[q] and En-gedi:[r] six cities with their villages.
63 As for the Jebusites living in Jerusalem, the people of Judah were unable to drive them out, and so the Jebusites have lived with the people of Judah in Jerusalem to this day.

Notes

- a (15:3) Akrabbim means "scorpions."
- b (15:4) Hebrew naḥal Mitsrayim, the Wadi el-Arish in northern Sinai.
- c (15:7) Adummim means "red (places)," probably from the red rock along the road from Jericho to Jerusalem.
- d (15:7) En-shemesh means "spring of the sun."
- e (15:7) En-rogel may mean "spring of the fuller" or "spring of the foot."
- f (15:8) Hebrew Ge ben-Hinnom. The Hebrew Ge-Hinnom later became the Greek Gehenna, a name for the place of judgment (Matthew 5:22).
- g (15:9) Or "the spring of Me-nephtoah." Nephtoah may mean "opening."
- h (15:10) Beth-shemesh means "house of the sun."
- i (15:15) Kiriath-sepher means "city of the book" (or "city of the scribe"). The Septuagint reads "city of letters." Verse 49 calls it Kiriath-sannah.
- j (15:16) Achsah means "anklet."
- k (15:17) Othniel may mean "God is my strength" (or "lion of God"). He became Israel's first judge (Judges 3:9–11).
- l (15:19) That is, a gift.
- m (15:28) Beersheba means "well of seven" or "well of the oath" (Genesis 21:31).
- n (15:32) The names listed in verses 21–32 number more than twenty-nine. Some names may be combined (for example, Ain and Rimmon, which are one place, En-rimmon, in Nehemiah 11:29), or some may have been added to the list later.
- o (15:45) Hebrew "daughters," that is, dependent towns; so throughout these lists.
- p (15:59) The Septuagint adds another district of eleven cities here: "Tekoa, Ephrathah (that is, Bethlehem), Peor, Etam, Culon, Tatam, Thobes, Carem, Gallim, Bether, and Manocho: eleven cities with their villages." This district is missing from the Hebrew text, probably through an accidental omission by a copyist whose eye jumped from one "with their villages" to the next.
- q (15:62) Hebrew 'Ir-hammelaḥ.
- r (15:62) En-gedi means "spring of the young goat."

Chapter 16

1 The lot for the descendants of Joseph ran from the Jordan at Jericho, east of the waters of Jericho, through the wilderness, going up from Jericho into the hill country of Bethel. 2 Then it went from Bethel to Luz[a] and passed along to Ataroth, the territory of the Archites. 3 Then it went down westward to the territory of the Japhletites, as far as the territory of Lower Beth-horon, and to Gezer, and it ended at the sea. 4 The people of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, received their inheritance.

5 The territory of the people of Ephraim[b] according to their clans was this: the border of their inheritance on the east was Ataroth-addar as far as Upper Beth-horon, 6 and the border went out to the sea. On the north was Michmethath. Then on the east the border turned around toward Taanath-shiloh and passed along beyond it on the east to Janoah. 7 Then it went down from Janoah to Ataroth and to Naarah, touched Jericho, and went out to the Jordan. 8 From Tappuah the border ran west to Brook Kanah[c] and ended at the sea. This was the inheritance of the tribe of Ephraim's descendants, by their clans, 9 along with the cities set aside for the Ephraimites within the inheritance of Manasseh's descendants—all those cities and their villages. 10 But they did not drive out the Canaanites living in Gezer, so the Canaanites live among the Ephraimites to this day, serving as forced laborers.[d]

Notes

- a (16:2) Luz means "almond tree." It was the older name of Bethel (Genesis 28:19), but here the two seem to be distinguished.
- b (16:5) Ephraim means "doubly fruitful" (Genesis 41:52).
- c (16:8) Kanah means "reed."
- d (16:10) The Septuagint lacks "and they have become forced laborers." Instead it adds, "until Pharaoh king of Egypt went up and took it and burned it with fire, and the Canaanites and Perizzites and those living in Gaza they destroyed, and Pharaoh gave them as a dowry to his daughter." Compare 1 Kings 9:16.

Chapter 17

1 This was the allotment for the tribe of Manasseh,[a] for he was the firstborn of Joseph. To Machir the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, because he was a man of war, were allotted Gilead and Bashan. 2 Portions were also allotted to the rest of Manasseh's descendants, clan by clan: the descendants of Abiezer, of Helek, of Asriel, of Shechem, of Hepher, and of Shemida. These were the male descendants of Manasseh son of Joseph, by their clans.

3 Zelophehad son of Hepher, son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, only daughters, whose names were Mahlah, Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. 4 They approached Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the leaders, saying, "Yahweh commanded Moses to give us an inheritance among our brothers." So, at Yahweh's command, he gave them an inheritance among their father's brothers. 5 So ten portions fell to Manasseh, besides the land of Gilead and Bashan across the Jordan, 6 since Manasseh's daughters received an inheritance along with his sons. The land of Gilead went to the rest of Manasseh's descendants.

7 Manasseh's territory extended from Asher to Michmethath, east of Shechem; then the border ran south toward those living at En-tappuah. 8 The land of Tappuah[b] belonged to Manasseh, but the town of Tappuah on the border of Manasseh belonged to the people of Ephraim. 9 Then the border went down to the brook Kanah. South of the brook, these cities belonged to Ephraim among the cities of Manasseh. The territory of Manasseh lay on the north side of the brook and ended at the sea, 10 The land to the south belonged to Ephraim and to the north to Manasseh, with the sea as its boundary. On the north it touched Asher, and on the east Issachar. 11 In Issachar and Asher, Manasseh also held Beth-shean and its towns, Ibleam and its towns, and the inhabitants of Dor, En-dor, Taanach, and Megiddo with their towns; the third being Naphath.[c] 12 Yet the Manassites were unable to take those cities, because the Canaanites were determined to stay in that land. 13 When the Israelites grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but did not utterly drive them out.

14 The descendants of Joseph said to Joshua, "Why have you given me only one lot and one portion as an inheritance, when I am a numerous people whom Yahweh has blessed until now?" 15 Joshua answered them, "If you are so numerous, go up on your own to the forest and clear land for yourselves in the country of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, since the hill country of Ephraim is too small for you." 16 The descendants of Joseph said, "The hill country is not enough for us, and all the Canaanites living in the valley lands, in Beth-shean and its towns and in the Valley of Jezreel,[d] have iron chariots." 17 Then Joshua spoke to the house of Joseph—Ephraim and Manasseh—saying, “You are a numerous people with great power; you will not have just one lot, 18 for the hill country will be yours. Though it is forested, you will clear it and own it to its farthest limits. You will drive out the Canaanites, even though they have iron chariots and are strong.”

Notes

- a (17:1) Manasseh means “making forget” (Genesis 41:51). Parts of this chapter (verses 1–5 and 11–15) are preserved in the Qumran scroll 4QJosh-b (about 50 B.C.), which agrees closely with the Hebrew text.
- b (17:8) Tappuah means “apple” (or another fruit tree); so also En-tappuah, “apple spring,” in verse 7.
- c (17:11) Or “the three heights.” The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint lacks Ibleam and En-dor here and reads “the third part of Napheth.”
- d (17:16) Jezreel means “God sows.”

Chapter 18

1 The whole congregation of the Israelites gathered at Shiloh[a] and set up the tent of meeting there, with the land under their control.
2 Seven tribes among the Israelites still had not received their inheritance. 3 So Joshua told the Israelites, “How long will you delay entering to take possession of the land that Yahweh, the God of your fathers, has given you? 4 Choose three men from each tribe, and I will send them out to travel through the land. They are to write a description of it according to how they will be inherited, and then return to me. 5 They are to divide it into seven parts. Judah will stay in its territory to the south, and the house of Joseph will stay in its territory to the north. 6 You are to write a description of the land in seven divisions and bring it here to me. I will cast lots for you here before Yahweh our God. 7 For the Levites have no portion among you, for the priesthood of Yahweh is their inheritance. And Gad and Reuben and the half-tribe of Manasseh have received their inheritance beyond the Jordan eastward, which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave them.”
8 The men set out, and Joshua instructed those who went to describe the land in writing: “Go and walk through the land, write a description of it, and come back to me. Here at Shiloh, before Yahweh, I will cast lots for you." 9 So the men went and traveled through the land, and they recorded it in a book, city by city, in seven divisions. Then they returned to Joshua in the camp at Shiloh. 10 Joshua cast lots for them at Shiloh before Yahweh. There Joshua apportioned the land to the Israelites according to their divisions.

11 The lot for the tribe of Benjamin's descendants[b] came up, by their clans, and the territory assigned to them lay between the descendants of Judah and of Joseph. 12 Their northern boundary started at the Jordan, climbed to the slope north of Jericho, then went up west through the hill country and ended at the wilderness of Beth-aven. 13 From there the border crossed south toward Luz, to Luz's slope (that is, Bethel), and descended to Ataroth-addar, on the hill south of Lower Beth-horon. 14 Then the boundary turned and curved along the west side toward the south, from the hill facing Beth-horon on the south, and finished at Kiriath-baal (that is, Kiriath-jearim), a city of Judah's descendants. That was the western side. 15 The southern side began at the outskirts of Kiriath-jearim. The border went out westward[c] and went to the spring of the waters of Nephtoah. 16 The border descended to the foot of the mountain facing the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, at the north end of the Valley of Rephaim, ran down the Hinnom Valley along the Jebusite's southern slope, and reached En-rogel. 17 Then it bent in a northerly direction, going out to En-shemesh, and from there to Geliloth, which is opposite the ascent of Adummim.
Then it went down to the stone of Bohan the son of Reuben, 18 passed on to the north of the shoulder of Beth-arabah,[d] and went down to the Arabah. 19 The border continued north of the slope of Beth-hoglah and ended at the Salt Sea's northern inlet, at the Jordan's southern end. That was the southern boundary. 20 The Jordan bounded it on the east. This was the inheritance of Benjamin's descendants by their clans, with its boundaries all around.
21 The cities of the tribe of Benjamin, by their clans, were Jericho, Bethhoglah, and Emek-keziz, 22 also Beth-arabah, Zemaraim, and Bethel, 23 also Avvim, Parah, and Ophrah, 24 and Chephar-ammoni, Ophni, and Geba—twelve cities and their villages. 25 Gibeon, Ramah,[e] Beeroth, 26 Mizpeh, Chephirah, Mozah, 27 Rekem, Irpeel, Taralah, 28 Zela, Haeleph, the Jebusite city (that is, Jerusalem), Gibeath,[f] and Kiriath[g]—fourteen cities and their villages. This was the inheritance of Benjamin's descendants, by their clans.

Notes

- a (18:1) Shiloh may mean "place of rest" or "tranquility." It became the site of the sanctuary through the period of the judges (1 Samuel 1–4).
- b (18:11) Benjamin means "son of the right hand" or "son of the south" (Genesis 35:18).
- c (18:15) Or "to the west." The text is difficult; the Septuagint reads "to Gasin."
- d (18:18) The Hebrew reads "to the shoulder opposite the Arabah." Some ancient witnesses read "Beth-arabah," as in 15:6.
- e (18:25) Ramah means "height."
- f (18:28) Gibeath means "hill." This is probably Gibeah, Saul's town (1 Samuel 10:26).
- g (18:28) Hebrew Qiryat, "city." Some propose reading Kiriath-jearim, but 18:14 assigns that city to Judah.

Chapter 19

1 The second lot fell to Simeon,[a] to the tribe of Simeon's descendants by their clans, and their inheritance lay within the inheritance of Judah's descendants. 2 Their inheritance included Beersheba, Sheba,[b] and Moladah, 3 also Hazar-shual, Balah, and Ezem, 4 also Eltolad, Bethul, and Hormah, 5 also Ziklag, Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susah, 6 also Beth-lebaoth and Sharuhen—thirteen cities and their villages; 7 Ain, Rimmon, Ether, and Ashan: four cities with their villages, 8 as well as all the villages around these cities up to Baalath-beer, Ramah in the Negev. This was the inheritance of Simeon's tribe, by their clans. 9 Simeon's inheritance was taken from Judah's territory, because Judah's portion was too large for them; so the Simeonites received their inheritance within Judah's.
10 The third lot came up for Zebulun's descendants,[c] by their clans.
Their inherited territory extended to Sarid. 11 Then their border went up westward and on to Maralah, touched Dabbesheth, then the brook that is east of Jokneam. 12 From Sarid it went in the other direction eastward toward the sunrise to the border of Chisloth-tabor. From there it went to Daberath, then up to Japhia. 13 From there it crossed eastward, toward the sunrise, to Gath-hepher and Eth-kazin, and continued to Rimmon, where it curved toward Neah. 14 Then on the north the border turned about to Hannathon, and it ended at the Valley of Iphtahel, 15 with Kattath, Nahalal, Shimron, Idalah, and Bethlehem[d]—twelve cities and their villages. 16 That was the inheritance of Zebulun's descendants by their clans—these cities and their villages.

17 The fourth lot fell to Issachar,[e] to Issachar's descendants by their clans. 18 Their territory included Jezreel, Chesulloth, Shunem, 19 Hapharaim, Shion, Anaharath, 20 Rabbith, Kishion, Ebez, 21 Remeth, En-gannim, En-haddah, and Beth-pazzez. 22 The border also touched Tabor, Shahazumah, and Beth-shemesh, and their border ended at the Jordan: sixteen cities with their villages. 23 That was the inheritance of Issachar's tribe by their clans—the cities and their villages.
24 The fifth lot fell to the tribe of Asher's descendants[f] by their clans.
25 Their territory included Helkath, Hali, Beten, Achshaph, 26 also Allammelech, Amad, and Mishal. On the west it reached Carmel[g] and Shihor-libnath. 27 Then it turned east toward Beth-dagon, reached Zebulun and the Valley of Iphtahel, and went north to Beth-emek and Neiel, continuing north to Cabul, 28 Ebron,[h] Rehob, Hammon, and Kanah, as far as Great Sidon. 29 Then the border turned toward Ramah and the fortified city of Tyre.[i] It then turned to Hosah and ended at the sea; there were also Mahalab,[j] Achzib, 30 Ummah, Aphek, and Rehob: twenty-two cities with their villages. 31 That was the inheritance of Asher's tribe by their clans—these cities and their villages.
32 The sixth lot fell to Naphtali's descendants,[k] by their clans. 33 Their border ran from Heleph and the oak at Zaanannim, with Adami-nekeb and Jabneel, to Lakkum, and ended at the Jordan. 34 Then the border turned westward to Aznoth-tabor and went from there to Hukkok, touching Zebulun on the south and Asher on the west and Judah[l] at the Jordan on the east. 35 The fortified cities were Ziddim, Zer, Hammath, Rakkath, Chinnereth, 36 Adamah, Ramah, Hazor, 37 Kedesh, Edrei, En-hazor, 38 Yiron, Migdal-el, Horem, Beth-anath, and Beth-shemesh: nineteen cities with their villages. 39 That was the inheritance of Naphtali's tribe by their clans—the cities and their villages.

40 The seventh lot fell to Dan's tribe[m] by their clans. 41 Their inherited territory included Zorah, Eshtaol, and Ir-shemesh, 42 also Shaalabbin, Aijalon, and Ithlah, 43 also Elon, Timnah, and Ekron, 44 also Eltekeh, Gibbethon, and Baalath, 45 also Jehud, Bene-berak, and Gath-rimmon, 46 and Me-jarkon and Rakkon with the territory over against Joppa.
47 When the territory of the Danites slipped from them,[n] the Danites went up, fought against Leshem, took it, and put it to the sword; they occupied it and lived there, and they called Leshem "Dan," after the name of their ancestor Dan. 48 That was the inheritance of Dan's tribe by their clans—these cities and their villages.
49 After they had finished distributing the lands as inheritances, the Israelites gave Joshua son of Nun an inheritance among them. 50
By command of Yahweh they gave him the city that he asked for, Timnath-serah[o] in the hill country of Ephraim. He rebuilt the city and settled in it.
51 These are the inheritances that Eleazar the priest, Joshua son of Nun, and the family heads of the tribes of Israel distributed by lot at Shiloh, before Yahweh, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. So they completed the dividing of the land.

Notes

- a (19:1) Simeon means "heard" (Genesis 29:33).
- b (19:2) Or "Shema," as in 15:26 and 1 Chronicles 4:28; the list totals thirteen only if Sheba is a repetition of Beersheba.
- c (19:10) Zebulun may mean "honor" or "dwelling" (Genesis 30:20).
- d (19:15) This is a Bethlehem in Galilee, about 7 miles (11 kilometers) northwest of Nazareth, not Bethlehem of Judah.
- e (19:17) Issachar sounds like the Hebrew for "there is a reward" (Genesis 30:18).
- f (19:24) Asher means "happy" or "blessed" (Genesis 30:13).
- g (19:26) Carmel means "garden land" or "orchard."
- h (19:28) Some Hebrew manuscripts read Abdon (compare 21:30).
- i (19:29) Tyre (Hebrew Tsor) means "rock."
- j (19:29) Hebrew "from Hebel"; the reading Mahalab, a town known from Assyrian records, involves a slight change.
- k (19:32) Naphtali means "my wrestling" (Genesis 30:8).
- l (19:34) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint lacks "and Judah." The phrase may refer to Jair's towns east of the Jordan (1 Chronicles 2:21–23), or the text may be damaged.
- m (19:40) Dan means "he judged" or "judge" (Genesis 30:6).

- n (19:47) Literally “went out from them.” The Septuagint has a different text in verses 47–48. It says that the Amorites pressed the Danites into the hill country and did not let them come down into the valley, that the Danites took Lachish (the Hebrew has Leshem) and called it Lasendan, and that the Amorites stayed in Edom and Shaalbim until Ephraim made them pay tribute. Compare Judges 1:34–35; 18:27–29.
- o (19:50) Timnath-serah means “portion that remains” (or “extra portion”). Judges 2:9 calls it Timnath-heres, “portion of the sun,” and Serah may be a deliberate reversal of the letters. The Septuagint spells it Thamnasarach.

Chapter 20

1 Then Yahweh spoke to Joshua, saying, 2 “Speak to the Israelites, saying, ‘Appoint the cities of refuge, of which I spoke to you through Moses, 3 so that the manslayer who strikes any person unintentionally, without knowing it, may flee there. They are to be for you a refuge from the avenger of blood.[a] 4 He shall flee to one of these cities, stand at the entrance of its gate, and state his case to that city’s elders. They shall then bring him into the city, give him a place, and he shall live among them.[b] 5 If the avenger of blood pursues him, they are not to give up the manslayer into his hand, because he struck his neighbor without knowing it and did not hate him in the past. 6 He must live in that city until the assembly has judged his case, and until the high priest serving at that time has died. Only then may the killer return to the town from which he fled, to his own home.’”

7 So they set apart Kedesh[c] in Galilee[d] in the hill country of Naphtali, Shechem[e] in the hill country of Ephraim, and Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron) in the hill country of Judah. 8 On the east side of the Jordan, opposite Jericho, they set apart Bezer, in the wilderness on the tableland, belonging to Reuben; Ramoth in Gilead, belonging to Gad; and Golan in Bashan, belonging to Manasseh. 9 These were the cities set aside for all the Israelites, and for the foreign resident among them, so that anyone who killed a person accidentally could flee there and not be killed by the avenger of blood before standing trial before the congregation.

Notes

- a (20:3) Hebrew go'el haddam, the nearest relative, whose duty was to take responsibility for a family member's death. The same word go'el means "redeemer" elsewhere (Ruth 4:1–6).
- b (20:4) The Septuagint lacks verses 4–6 and the phrase "without knowing it" in verse 3. In verse 3 it reads instead, "until he stands before the congregation for judgment." The longer Hebrew text echoes Deuteronomy 19:1–13, while the shorter Greek text echoes Numbers 35:9–28.
- c (20:7) Kedesh means "holy place."
- d (20:7) Galilee (Hebrew Galil) means "circle" or "district."
- e (20:7) Shechem means "shoulder" or "ridge," perhaps from its position on the saddle between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim.

Chapter 21

1 Then the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites came to Eleazar the priest and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the heads of the fathers' houses of the tribes of the Israelites. 2 At Shiloh in the land of Canaan they told them, "Yahweh commanded through Moses that we be given towns to live in, with pastureland for our livestock." 3 So by command of Yahweh the Israelites gave to the Levites from their inheritance these cities and their pasturelands.
4 The first lot fell to the Kohathite clans. The Levites who were descendants of Aaron the priest received thirteen cities by lot from the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin. 5 The remaining Kohathites received ten cities by lot from the clans of Ephraim, from Dan, and from half of Manasseh. 6 The Gershonites received thirteen cities by lot from the clans of Issachar, Asher, Naphtali, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. 7 The Merarites, by their clans, received twelve cities from Reuben, Gad, and Zebulun. 8 The Israelites gave these cities with their pastures to the Levites by lot, as Yahweh had commanded through Moses.
9 From the tribes of Judah and Simeon they gave these cities, listed by name, 10 which went to Aaron's descendants, of the Kohathite clans of Levi's descendants, since the first lot was theirs. 11 They gave them Kiriath-arba (Arba was the father of Anak), that is, Hebron, in the hill country of Judah, with the pasturelands around it. 12 The fields around the city and its villages, however, were given to Caleb son of Jephunneh as his own.

13 To Aaron the priest's descendants they gave Hebron, a city of refuge for the killer, with its pastures, along with Libnah and its pastures, 14 Jattir with its pasturelands, Eshtemoa with its pasturelands, 15 Holon with its pasturelands, Debir with its pasturelands, 16 Ain,[a] Juttah, and Beth-shemesh, each with its pastures—nine cities from these two tribes. 17 Then out of the tribe of Benjamin: Gibeon with its pasture-lands, Geba with its pasturelands, 18 Anathoth[b] with its pasturelands, and Almon with its pasturelands: four cities. 19 Altogether the cities of Aaron's descendants, the priests, were thirteen cities with their pastures.
20 As for the remaining Kohathite clans of the Levites, their allotted cities came from the tribe of Ephraim. 21 They were given Shechem, a city of refuge for the killer, with its pastures in the hill country of Ephraim, and Gezer with its pastures, 22 Kibzaim with its pasturelands, Beth-horon with its pasturelands: four cities. 23 From the tribe of Dan: Elteke and Gibbethon, each with its pastures, 24 Aijalon with its pasturelands, Gath-rimmon with its pasturelands: four cities. 25 From the half-tribe of Manasseh: Taanach and Gath-rimmon,[c] each with its pastures—two cities. 26 In all, the cities for the clans of the remaining Kohathites were ten, with their pastures.
27 To the Gershonites, a Levite clan, they gave from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Golan in Bashan, a city of refuge for the killer, and Beeshterah,[d] each with its pastures—two cities. 28 From the tribe of Issachar: Kishion and Daberath, each with its pastures, 29 Jarmuth with its pasturelands, En-gannim with its pasturelands: four cities. 30
From the tribe of Asher: Mishal and Abdon, each with its pastures, 31 Helkath with its pasturelands, and Rehob with its pasturelands: four cities. 32 From the tribe of Naphtali: Kedesh in Galilee, a city of refuge for the killer, Hammoth-dor, and Kartan, each with its pastures—three cities. 33 Altogether the cities of the Gershonite clans were thirteen, with their pastures.
34 To the rest of the Levites, the Merarite clans, they gave from the tribe of Zebulun: Jokneam and Kartah, each with its pastures, 35 Dimnah with its pasturelands, Nahalal with its pasturelands: four cities. 36
From the tribe of Reuben:[e] Bezer and Jahaz, each with its pastures, 37

Kedemoth with its pasturelands, and Mephaath with its pasturelands: four cities. 38 From the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead, a city of refuge for the killer, and Mahanaim, each with its pastures, 39 Heshbon and Jazer, each with its pastures—four cities in all. 40 All the cities allotted to the Merarite clans, the rest of the Levite families, came to twelve.
41 The cities of the Levites in the midst of the possession of the Israelites were in all forty-eight cities with their pasturelands. 42 Each of these cities had pastureland surrounding it; this was true of all of them.[f]
43 So Yahweh gave Israel all the land he had sworn to give their fathers, and they took possession of it and settled in it. 44 Yahweh gave them rest on every side just as he had sworn to their fathers. Not one of all their enemies had withstood them, for Yahweh had given all their enemies into their hands. 45 Of all the good promises Yahweh had made to the house of Israel, not one word failed; every one came true.

Notes

- a (21:16) Ain means "spring." The Septuagint and 1 Chronicles 6:59 read Ashan.
- b (21:18) Anathoth was later the hometown of the prophet Jeremiah (Jeremiah 1:1).
- c (21:25) The repetition of Gath-rimmon from verse 24 is probably a copying error. 1 Chronicles 6:70 has Bileam (that is, Ibleam), and the Septuagint reads Iebatha.
- d (21:27) Be-eshterah is probably a contraction of Beth-ashtarah, "house of Astarte." 1 Chronicles 6:71 has Ashtaroth.
- e (21:36) Verses 36–37 are lacking in many Hebrew manuscripts and in some printed editions of the Hebrew Bible, though the edition followed here includes them. They are present in the Septuagint and in 1 Chronicles 6:78–79, and the totals in verses 7 and 40 (twelve cities) require them.
- f (21:42) The Septuagint adds, "And Joshua finished dividing the land by its borders. And the Israelites gave a portion to Joshua by the command of the Lord. They gave him the city that he asked for, Thamnasachar in the hill country of Ephraim. And Joshua built the city and lived in it. And Joshua took the flint knives with which he had circumcised the Israelites who were born in the wilderness on the way, and put them in Thamnasachar." Compare 19:49–50 and 24:31 (Septuagint).

Chapter 22

1 Then Joshua summoned the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh 2 and said to them, "You have kept all that Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded you, and you have obeyed my voice in all that I have commanded you. 3 All these many days, up to this day, you have not abandoned your brothers, but have kept the charge Yahweh your God gave you. 4 And now Yahweh your God has given rest to your brothers, as he promised them. Therefore turn now and go to your tents, to the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of Yahweh gave you beyond the Jordan. 5 Only be very careful to observe the commandment and the law that Moses the servant of Yahweh commanded you, to love Yahweh your God, to walk in all his ways, to keep his commandments, to hold fast to him, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul." 6 So Joshua blessed them and sent them away, and they went to their tents.

7 To one half of the tribe of Manasseh Moses had given land in Bashan, while to the other half Joshua gave land alongside their brothers west of the Jordan. When Joshua sent them home to their tents and blessed them, 8 he said to them, "Go back to your tents with great wealth and with very much livestock, with silver, gold, bronze, and iron, and with very many garments. Divide the spoil of your enemies with your brothers."

9 So the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh left the Israelites at Shiloh in the land of Canaan and went back to Gilead, the land they owned, which they had taken by Yahweh's command through Moses.

10 When they reached the district[a] of the Jordan in the land of Canaan, the Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh built an altar there beside the Jordan, an altar that was impressive in size. 11 The Israelites were told, "The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh have built an altar at the border of Canaan, in the Jordan district, on the side that faces the Israelites." 12 When the Israelites heard this, the whole congregation of Israel assembled at Shiloh to go to war against them.

13 Then the Israelites sent to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, Phinehas[b] the son of Eleazar the priest, 14 and with him ten chiefs, one from each of the fathers' houses of each of the tribes of Israel, every one of them the head of a fathers' house among the clans[c] of Israel. 15 They came to the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, and they said to them, 16 "This is the word of the whole congregation of Yahweh: 'What is this unfaithfulness you have shown toward the God of Israel, turning away today from following Yahweh by building yourselves an altar and rebelling against Yahweh today? 17 Was the iniquity of Peor[d] too little for us, from which we are not yet cleansed to this day, though a plague struck the congregation of Yahweh, 18 that you too must turn away this day from following Yahweh? If you too rebel against Yahweh today, then tomorrow he will be angry with the whole congregation of Israel. 19 Yet if you find the land you hold to be unclean, then cross to Yahweh's own land, where his tabernacle stands, and settle among us. But never rebel against Yahweh, nor make us rebels, by raising an altar for yourselves apart from the altar of Yahweh our God. 20 Did not Achan son of Zerah act unfaithfully regarding what was set apart for destruction, so that wrath fell on the whole congregation of Israel? He was not the only one to die for his iniquity.'"

21 The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh answered the heads of the families of Israel: 22 "The Mighty One, God, Yahweh! The Mighty One, God, Yahweh![e] He knows, and Israel too shall know! If this was rebellion or unfaithfulness toward Yahweh, do not save us today 23 by building an altar to turn away from Yahweh. And if our purpose was to offer on it burnt offerings, grain offerings, or peace offerings, may Yahweh himself require an account. 24 No! We acted from a worry that in days to come your children would say to our children, 'What business do you have with Yahweh, the God of Israel? 25 For Yahweh has made the Jordan a boundary between us and you, you Reubenites and Gadites. You have no portion in Yahweh.' So your children might make our children cease to fear Yahweh. 26 That is why we said, 'Let us get ready to build an altar—not for burnt offering and not for sacrifice, 27 but to be a witness between you and us, and between our generations after us, that we do serve Yahweh before him with our burnt offerings, our sacrifices, and our peace offerings; then your children will not be able to tell our children in days to come, "You have no share in Yahweh."' 28 And we thought, 'If they ever say this to us or to our descendants in the future, we will reply, "See the likeness of Yahweh's altar, which our fathers built, not for burnt offerings or sacrifices, but as a witness between you and us."' [29] Far be it from us that we should rebel against Yahweh and turn away this day from following Yahweh by building an altar for burnt offering, grain offering, or sacrifice, other than the altar of Yahweh our God that stands before his tabernacle!" [30] When Phinehas the priest, with the leaders of the congregation, the heads of Israel's families who were with him, heard the words spoken by the Reubenites, Gadites, and Manassites, it pleased them. [31] Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest told the Reubenites, Gadites, and Manassites, "Today we know that Yahweh is among us, since you have not committed this act of unfaithfulness against Yahweh. You have now rescued the Israelites from Yahweh's hand."

[32] Phinehas son of Eleazar the priest and the leaders then turned back from the Reubenites and Gadites in Gilead and returned to Canaan, to the Israelites, and gave them the report. [33] The report pleased the Israelites, and they blessed God. They said no more about going to war to destroy the land in which the Reubenites and Gadites lived. [34] The Reubenites and Gadites named the altar Witness,[f] saying, "It is a witness between us that Yahweh is God."

Notes

- a (22:10) Hebrew gelilot, "circles" or "districts," possibly a place name, Geliloth; so in verse 11. The Septuagint reads "Galaad" (Gilead).
- b (22:13) Phinehas is an Egyptian name, probably meaning "the Nubian" (Numbers 25:7).
- c (22:14) Hebrew "thousands," a term for clan divisions; so in verses 21 and 30.
- d (22:17) See Numbers 25:1–9.
- e (22:22) Hebrew El Elohim Yahweh, three names for God, repeated as a solemn oath.
- f (22:34) Hebrew 'ed, "witness." The name is not in the standard Hebrew text, which reads "called the altar, 'For it is a witness…'" Some Hebrew manuscripts and the Syriac supply it. The Septuagint reads, "Joshua gave a name to the altar… and said, 'It is a witness in the midst of them.'"

Chapter 23

[1] Long afterward, when Yahweh had given Israel rest from all their enemies around them, and Joshua had grown old and was well along in years, 2 Joshua called together all Israel—its elders, heads, judges, and officers—and told them, "I am old and well along in years. 3 You have seen all that Yahweh your God has done to all these nations for your sake, for it is Yahweh your God who has fought for you. 4 Look, I have assigned to you, as an inheritance for your tribes, the nations that remain, as well as all the nations I have cut off, from the Jordan to the Great Sea on the west. 5 Yahweh your God himself will thrust them out from before you and drive them away from you, and you will take possession of their land, as Yahweh your God promised you.

6 So be very strong to keep and do everything written in the book of the law of Moses, without turning from it to the right or to the left, 7 so that you do not mingle with these nations left among you, mention the names of their gods, swear by them, serve them, or bow down to them, 8 but you are to cling to Yahweh your God just as you have done to this day. 9 For Yahweh has driven out great and mighty nations ahead of you; as for you, up to this day no one has withstood you. 10 A single one of you chases a thousand, because Yahweh your God is the one fighting for you, as he promised you. 11 Be very careful, therefore, for your own sakes, to love Yahweh your God. 12 For if you turn away and hold fast to the survivors of these nations that remain among you, and intermarry with them and mix with them and they with you, 13 know for certain that Yahweh your God will not go on driving these nations out ahead of you. They will become snares and traps for you, whips on your sides and thorns in your eyes, until you perish from this good land Yahweh your God has given you.
14 "I am now about to go the way of all the earth. All of you know in your hearts and souls that not one of all the good things Yahweh your God spoke concerning you has failed. Everything has come true for you; not one of them has failed. 15 But just as every good thing Yahweh your God promised you has come to you, so Yahweh will bring on you every evil thing until he has wiped you out from this good land that Yahweh your God has given you, 16 if you break the covenant of Yahweh your God that he commanded you, and go serve other gods and bow down to them. Then Yahweh's anger will burn against you, and you will quickly perish from the good land he has given you."[a]

Notes

- a (23:16) The Septuagint lacks the last sentence of this verse ("Then the anger of Yahweh…").

Chapter 24

1 Joshua assembled all the tribes of Israel at Shechem[a] and called for the elders, heads, judges, and officers of Israel, and they stood before God. 2 Joshua told all the people, "Here is what Yahweh, Israel's God, declares: 'In ancient times your fathers lived on the other side of the River,[b] namely Terah, the father of Abraham and the father of Nahor, and they served other gods. 3 But I took your father Abraham from beyond the River, led him through the whole land of Canaan, and multiplied his offspring. I gave him Isaac. 4 To Isaac I gave Jacob and Esau; to Esau I gave Mount Seir's hill country as a possession, while Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt. 5 Then I sent Moses and Aaron, and I struck Egypt with what I did in its midst, and afterward
I brought you out.[c] 6 I brought your fathers out of Egypt, and you came to the sea. The Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horsemen to the Red Sea. 7 When they cried out to Yahweh, he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea down over them and covered them. Your eyes witnessed what I did to the Egyptians. Afterward you stayed for many days in the wilderness.
8 I brought you into the land of the Amorites who lived east of the Jordan; they fought against you, but I handed them over to you, and you took their land, and I destroyed them ahead of you. 9 Then Balak the son of Zippor, king of Moab, arose and fought against Israel. He sent and called Balaam the son of Beor to curse you, 10 but I refused to listen to Balaam, so he actually blessed you, and I rescued you from his hand. 11 You went over the Jordan and reached Jericho; Jericho's leaders[d] fought you, and so did the Amorites, Perizzites, Canaanites, Hittites, Girgashites, Hivites, and Jebusites, but I delivered them into your hand. 12 I sent the hornet[e] ahead of you, and it drove out the two kings of the Amorites[f] before you—not by your sword or your bow. 13

I gave you a land you had not tilled and cities you had not built; you now live in them and eat from vineyards and olive orchards that you never planted.'
14 "So now fear Yahweh and serve him with integrity and faithfulness.
Throw away the gods your fathers served beyond the River and in Egypt, and serve Yahweh. 15 But if serving Yahweh seems wrong to you, choose today whom you will serve: the gods your fathers served beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites in whose land you are living. As for me and my household, we will serve Yahweh." 16 Then the people answered, "Far be it from us that we should forsake Yahweh to serve other gods, 17 For it is Yahweh our God who brought up both us and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, from the house of slavery, who performed those great signs before our eyes and kept us safe throughout the journey we made and among every nation we passed through. 18 Yahweh also drove all the peoples out ahead of us, namely the Amorites who lived in this land. We too, therefore, will serve Yahweh, for he is our God." 19 But Joshua said to the people, "You are not able to serve Yahweh, for he is a holy God. He is a jealous God. He will not forgive your transgressions or your sins. 20 If you forsake Yahweh and serve foreign gods, then he will turn and do you harm and consume you, after having done you good." 21 The people said to Joshua, "No, but we will serve Yahweh." 22 Then Joshua said to the people, "You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen Yahweh, to serve him." And they said, "We are witnesses." 23 He said, "Then put away the foreign gods that are among you, and incline your heart to Yahweh, the God of Israel." 24 The people answered Joshua, "We will serve Yahweh our God and obey his voice." 25 That day Joshua made a covenant with the people, and at Shechem[g] he set statutes and ordinances before them.
26 Joshua wrote these words in the Book of the Law of God. And he took a large stone and set it up there under the oak[h] that was by the sanctuary of Yahweh. 27 Joshua told all the people, "Look, this stone will witness against us, for it has heard all the words Yahweh spoke to us; it will witness against you if you are false to your God." 28 So Joshua sent the people away, every man to his inheritance.

29 After these things Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Yahweh, died, being 110 years old.[i] 30 They buried him within his own inheritance at Timnath-serah in the hill country of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash.[j] 31 Israel served Yahweh all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua and had known all the work that Yahweh did for Israel.[k] 32 Joseph's bones, which the Israelites had carried up from Egypt, were buried at Shechem in the parcel of land that Jacob had purchased from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for a hundred pieces of money;[l] it became an inheritance for Joseph's descendants.
33 Eleazar son of Aaron also died, and he was buried at Gibeah,[m] the property of his son Phinehas, who had been granted it in Ephraim's hill country.[n]

Notes

- a (24:1) The Septuagint reads Shiloh here and in verse 25. Shechem was the site of Abraham's first altar in the land (Genesis 12:6–7) and of Jacob's burial of foreign gods (Genesis 35:4).
- b (24:2) That is, the Euphrates; so in verses 3, 14, and 15.
- c (24:5) The Septuagint has a shorter text in verses 5–7. It lacks "I sent Moses and Aaron" and some other phrases.
- d (24:11) Hebrew ba'ale, "the lords" or "citizens."
- e (24:12) Or "panic" or "terror" (Hebrew tsir'ah). Compare Exodus 23:28 and Deuteronomy 7:20.
- f (24:12) The Septuagint reads "twelve kings of the Amorites." The Hebrew "two kings" refers to Sihon and Og (2:10).
- g (24:25) The Septuagint reads "at Shiloh, before the tabernacle of the God of Israel."
- h (24:26) Or "terebinth," a large tree. Compare Genesis 35:4, where Jacob hid foreign gods under the oak near Shechem.
- i (24:29) An age of 110 years was considered the ideal life span in Egypt. Joseph died at the same age (Genesis 50:26).
- j (24:30) Gaash may mean "quaking" or "shaking."
- k (24:31) The Septuagint places this verse before Joshua's death (as verse 29). After the burial account it adds that Joshua's flint blades, used to circumcise the Israelites at Gilgal once he had led them out of Egypt, were laid beside him in his grave, just as the Lord had commanded, and that they remain there to this day. Compare the Septuagint addition at 21:42.
- l (24:32) Hebrew "for a hundred qesitah," a unit of uncertain value, perhaps a weight of silver; it appears elsewhere only in Genesis 33:19 and Job 42:11. The Septuagint reads "for a hundred ewe-lambs." Compare Genesis 33:19; Acts 7:16.

- m (24:33) Gibeah means “hill.” The Septuagint reads Gabaar.
- n (24:33) The Septuagint adds a longer ending: “On that day the Israelites took the ark of God and carried it around among them. And Phinehas served as priest in place of Eleazar his father until he died, and he was buried in his own place, Gabaar. And the Israelites went away, each to his own place and to his own city. And the Israelites worshiped Astarte and Ashtaroth and the gods of the nations around them. And the Lord gave them into the hands of Eglon king of Moab, and he ruled over them eighteen years.” This addition links the book to Judges 2:6–13 and 3:12–14.

Judges

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 After the death of Joshua,[a] the Israelites asked Yahweh, "Who will go up first for us against the Canaanites, to fight against them?" 2 Yahweh said, "Judah will go up. Look, I have given the land into his hand." 3 Then Judah said to Simeon his brother, "Come up with me into my allotted territory, and let us fight against the Canaanites. Then I also will go with you into your allotted territory." So Simeon went with him. 4 Judah marched out, and Yahweh delivered the Canaanites and Perizzites to them. At Bezek they killed ten thousand men. 5 At Bezek they located Adoni-bezek[b] and fought him; the Canaanites and Perizzites were routed. 6 Adoni-bezek fled, but they pursued him, caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his big toes. 7 Adoni-bezek confessed, "Seventy kings, each missing his thumbs and big toes, scavenged leftovers beneath my table. God has paid me back exactly what I did to them." They led him to Jerusalem, and he died in that city.
8 The men of Judah fought against Jerusalem and captured it. They struck it with the edge of the sword and set the city on fire. 9 Afterward the men of Judah went down to fight against the Canaanites who lived in the hill country, in the Negev,[c] and in the lowland. 10 Judah then advanced on the Canaanite inhabitants of Hebron (its older name was Kiriath-arba[d]), and struck down Sheshai, Ahiman, and Talmai.
11 From there they went against the inhabitants of Debir. (The name of Debir was formerly Kiriath-sepher.[e]) 12 Caleb declared, "Whoever assaults and takes Kiriath-sepher, I will give him my daughter Achsah as a bride." 13 Othniel[f] son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother, took the town, and Caleb gave him his daughter Achsah as a wife. 14 On her wedding day she persuaded Othniel to request a field from her father.

She dismounted from her donkey, and Caleb asked, "What would you like?" 15 "Grant me one more favor," she told him. "You have placed me in the dry southland, the Negev, so give me springs as well." Caleb then gave her the upper pools and the lower pools.[g]

16 The Kenite's descendants,[h] kin of Moses' father-in-law, left the City of Palms[i] and went with Judah's people to the Judean desert in the Negev near Arad, where they settled among the people. 17 Judah marched with his brother tribe Simeon, and together they defeated the Canaanites of Zephath and put the town under the ban.[j] The town was renamed Hormah. 18 Judah also captured Gaza with its territory, Ashkelon with its territory, and Ekron with its territory.[k] 19 Yahweh was on Judah's side, and Judah occupied the hill country. But they failed to expel the people living on the coastal plain, since those people owned iron-clad chariots.[l] 20 They gave Hebron to Caleb, as Moses had said, and he drove out from there the three sons of Anak. 21 But the Benjaminites did not drive out the Jebusites who lived in Jerusalem, so the Jebusites have lived with the Benjaminites in Jerusalem to this day.

22 The house of Joseph also went up against Bethel, and Yahweh was with them. 23 The house of Joseph sent spies to Bethel. (The name of the city was formerly Luz.) 24 The scouts saw a man leaving the town and told him, "Tell us the way in, and we will treat you mercifully." 25 He showed them the way into the city, and they struck the city with the edge of the sword, but they let the man and all his family go. 26 The man went to Hittite country, built a town there, and called it Luz, the name it still bears today.

27 Manasseh did not dispossess the residents of Beth-shean with its dependent villages,[m] or of Taanach with its villages, or of Dor, Ibleam, or Megiddo and their villages, because the Canaanites stubbornly held on to that territory. 28 When Israel grew strong, they put the Canaanites to forced labor, but they did not drive them out completely.

29 Ephraim did not drive out the Canaanites who lived in Gezer, so the Canaanites lived among them in Gezer.

30 Zebulun failed to evict the people of Kitron and Nahalol, so the Canaanites lived among them as forced laborers.
31 Asher failed to dispossess the residents of Acco, Sidon, Ahlab, Achzib, Helbah, Aphik, and Rehob. 32 So the Asherites lived among the Canaanites, the inhabitants of the land, for they did not drive them out.
33 Naphtali failed to evict the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and of Beth-anath, so Naphtali settled among the Canaanites already native to the land. Even so, those two towns' people were reduced to servitude as forced laborers for Naphtali.
34 The Amorites forced the tribe of Dan up into the hills and refused to let them descend onto the lowland. 35 The Amorites held firmly to Har-heres,[n] Aijalon, and Shaalbim, but the tribe of Joseph overpowered them and made them forced laborers. 36 The border of the Amorites[o] ran from the Ascent of Akrabbim,[p] from Sela and upward.

Notes

- a (1:1) The Septuagint of Judges survives in two main Greek forms, the B text (Codex Vaticanus and related manuscripts) and the A text (Codex Alexandrinus and related manuscripts). They differ often in wording and sometimes in sense; significant differences are noted. Joshua means "Yahweh is salvation."
- b (1:5) Adoni-bezek means "lord of Bezek."
- c (1:9) The Negev is the dry southern region of Judah; the word also means "south."
- d (1:10) Kiriath-arba means "city of Arba" or "city of four." Hebron perhaps means "alliance."
- e (1:11) Kiriath-sepher means "town of the book" or "town of the scribe."
- f (1:13) Othniel perhaps means "my strength is God" or "lion of God"; the meaning is uncertain.
- g (1:15) Or "Gulloth-illith and Gulloth-tahtith"; gulloth means "basins" or "pools." Compare Joshua 15:16–19.
- h (1:16) The Septuagint (B text, as in Brenton) names him: "the sons of Jothor (Jethro) the Kenite." Compare 4:11, which calls Moses' father-in-law Hobab.
- i (1:16) That is, Jericho (Deuteronomy 34:3).
- j (1:17) Hebrew charam, to give over completely to God, usually by destruction. Hormah sounds like the word for "devoted to destruction."
- k (1:18) The Septuagint reads the opposite: "But Judah did not take possession of Gaza and its territory, nor Ashkelon and its territory, nor Ekron and its territory, nor Ashdod and the land around it." This agrees with verse 19 and with the later history of the Philistine cities.

- l (1:19) Hebrew rekeb barzel. The Septuagint (B text) takes rekeb as a name: "because Rechab prevented them."
- m (1:27) Hebrew "daughters," the usual term for the smaller towns dependent on a city; so throughout this verse.
- n (1:35) Har-heres means "mountain of the sun." Compare Ir-shemesh ("city of the sun") in Joshua 19:41.
- o (1:36) Some Septuagint manuscripts and many scholars read "Edomites," which fits the location of the Ascent of Akrabbim.
- p (1:36) Akrabbim means "scorpions." Sela means "rock."

1 Yahweh's messenger came from Gilgal up to Bochim.[a] He announced, "I led you out of Egypt and into the country I promised your ancestors. I told you, 'I will never annul my covenant with you, 2 and you must make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you must tear down their altars.' But you have not obeyed my voice. What is this you have done? 3 So now I say, I will not drive them out before you, but they will become thorns in your sides,[b] and their gods will be a snare to you." 4 When Yahweh's messenger finished speaking to all Israel, the people broke into loud weeping. 5 So they called the name of that place Bochim, and they sacrificed there to Yahweh.

6 Joshua dismissed the people, and the Israelites each went to occupy their own allotted land. 7 The people served Yahweh all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders who outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great work that Yahweh had done for Israel. 8 Joshua son of Nun, the servant of Yahweh, died at the age of a hundred and ten years. 9 They buried him within the boundary of his inheritance at Timnath-heres,[c] in the hill country of Ephraim, north of Mount Gaash. 10 And all that generation also were gathered to their fathers. Another generation arose after them who did not know Yahweh or the work that he had done for Israel.

11 The Israelites did evil in Yahweh's sight, worshiping the Baals.[d] 12 They abandoned Yahweh, the God their ancestors had worshiped, who had rescued them from Egypt. They followed other gods, those of the neighboring peoples, bowing before them and making Yahweh furious. 13 They abandoned Yahweh and served Baal and the Ashtaroth.[e] 14 Yahweh's fury blazed against Israel, so he surrendered them to raiders who looted them. He turned them over to the enemies surrounding them, and they lost all power to resist. 15 Whenever they went out, the hand of Yahweh was against them for harm, as Yahweh had said and as Yahweh had sworn to them. And they were in great distress.

16 Then Yahweh raised up judges,[f] who saved them from the hand of those who plundered them. 17 Still, they would not even heed their judges. They chased after other gods like a prostitute, and bowed to them. They swerved quickly from the road their ancestors had followed, which was obedience to Yahweh's commands. They did not follow it. 18 Whenever Yahweh appointed a judge for them, he stood with that judge and rescued them from their enemies throughout the judge's lifetime. Yahweh took pity on them as they groaned under their oppressors and tormentors. 19 But whenever the judge died, they turned back and acted more corruptly than their fathers, going after other gods to serve them and to bow down to them. They did not give up any of their practices or their stubborn ways.

20 So the anger of Yahweh burned against Israel, and he said, "Because this nation has broken my covenant that I commanded their fathers and has not obeyed my voice, 21 I in turn will no longer drive out before them any of the nations that Joshua left when he died, 22 in order to put Israel to the test through them, to see whether they would follow Yahweh's path as their ancestors did, or not." 23 This is why Yahweh let those nations remain; he did not hurry to dislodge them, and he never handed them over to Joshua.

Notes

- a (2:1) Bochim means "weepers" (verse 5). The Septuagint adds "and to Bethel and to the house of Israel."
- b (2:3) Hebrew "they will be sides to you." "Thorns in" is supplied from the similar warnings in Numbers 33:55 and Joshua 23:13. The Septuagint reads "they will be distresses to you," and the Latin Vulgate "enemies."
- c (2:9) Timnath-heres means "portion of the sun." In Joshua 19:50 and 24:30 the name is Timnath-serah ("remaining portion"), with two letters reversed.
- d (2:11) Baal means "lord" or "master," the title of the Canaanite storm god. The plural refers to the local forms of his worship.

- e (2:13) Ashtaroth is the plural of Ashtoreth (Astarte), a Canaanite goddess of fertility and war.
- f (2:16) Hebrew shophetim, leaders who delivered Israel and governed it, not only judges in a court of law.

Chapter 3

1 Now these are the nations that Yahweh left in order to test Israel by them, all who had not known any of the wars of Canaan. 2 It was only so that the generations of the Israelites might know war, to teach it to those who had not known it before: 3 These were the five Philistine lords,[a] every Canaanite, the Sidonians, and the Hivites who made their home in the Lebanon highlands, stretching from Baal-hermon's mountain to the approach to Hamath.[b] 4 They were left to test Israel by them, to know whether they would obey the commands of Yahweh, which he commanded their fathers by the hand of Moses. 5 So the Israelites lived among the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites. 6 They took their daughters as wives for themselves and gave their own daughters to their sons, and they served their gods.
7 The Israelites did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh. They forgot Yahweh their God and served the Baals and the Asheroth.[c] 8 So the anger of Yahweh burned against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of Cushan-rishathaim[d] king of Aram-naharaim,[e] and the Israelites served Cushan-rishathaim eight years. 9 When the Israelites cried out to Yahweh, Yahweh raised up a savior for the Israelites, who saved them: Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother. 10 The Spirit of Yahweh came upon him, and he judged Israel. He went out to war, and Yahweh gave Cushan-rishathaim king of Aram into his hand, and his hand prevailed over Cushan-rishathaim. 11 So the land had rest forty years. Then Othniel son of Kenaz died.
12 Again the Israelites did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh, and Yahweh strengthened Eglon[f] king of Moab against Israel, because they had done what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh. 13 He gathered to himself the Ammonites and the Amalekites, and he went and struck Israel, and they took possession of the City of Palms. 14 And the Israelites served Eglon king of Moab eighteen years.

15 Then the Israelites cried out to Yahweh, and Yahweh raised up a savior for them, Ehud[g] son of Gera, the Benjaminite, a man who was left-handed.[h] The Israelites sent tribute by him to Eglon king of Moab.
16 Ehud made himself a sword with two edges, about a foot[i] long, and he strapped it under his clothes on his right thigh. 17 He presented the tribute to Eglon king of Moab. Now Eglon was a very fat man.
18 When Ehud had finished presenting the tribute, he sent away the people who had carried the tribute. 19 But he himself turned back at the carved images[j] near Gilgal and said, "I have a secret message for you, O king." The king said, "Silence!" And all who stood by him went out from him. 20 Ehud came to him as he was sitting alone in his cool upper room. Ehud said, "I have a message from God for you." And he rose from his seat. 21 Ehud reached with his left hand, took the sword from his right thigh, and thrust it into his belly. 22 The handle also went in after the blade, and the fat closed over the blade, for he did not pull the sword out of his belly. And the dung came out.[k] 23 Then Ehud went out to the porch[l] and shut the doors of the upper room behind him and locked them. 24 When he had gone out, the king's servants came, and they saw that the doors of the upper room were locked. They said, "Surely he is relieving himself[m] in the inner room of the cool chamber." 25 They waited so long that they were ashamed, but he still would not unlock the upstairs room. Finally they fetched the key and unlocked it, and there lay their master, sprawled dead on the floor.
26 Ehud escaped while they delayed. He passed beyond the carved images and escaped to Seirah. 27 When he arrived, he sounded the ram's horn in the hill country of Ephraim, and the Israelites went down with him from the hill country, with him at their head. 28 He said to them, "Follow me, for Yahweh has given your enemies, Moab, into your hand." So they went down after him and seized the fords of the Jordan against Moab, and they did not allow anyone to cross. 29 At that time they struck down about ten thousand men of Moab, all strong, all able men; not one escaped. 30 So Moab was subdued that day under the hand of Israel, and the land had rest eighty years.

31 Next came Shamgar, Anath's son,[n] who killed six hundred Philistines using a cattle prod. He, too, rescued Israel.

Notes

- a (3:3) Hebrew seren, a Philistine title, perhaps related to the Greek word tyrannos.
- b (3:3) Or "the entrance of Hamath."
- c (3:7) The Asheroth were wooden poles or images associated with the goddess Asherah. The Septuagint reads "the groves."
- d (3:8) Cushan-rishathaim means "Cushan of double wickedness," probably a mocking form of a foreign name.
- e (3:8) That is, "Aram of the two rivers," upper Mesopotamia.
- f (3:12) Eglon sounds like the Hebrew word for "calf" (egel).
- g (3:15) Ehud perhaps means "where is the glory?"; the meaning is uncertain.
- h (3:15) Hebrew "restricted in his right hand." The same expression is used of the Benjaminite slingers in 20:16. Benjamin means "son of the right hand."
- i (3:16) Hebrew gomed, a measure found only here, perhaps a short cubit of about 13 inches (33 cm). The Septuagint reads "a span" (about 9 inches, 23 cm).
- j (3:19) Or "the stone quarries" (also in verse 26). Hebrew pesilim usually means carved idols.
- k (3:22) The meaning of the rare Hebrew word parshedon is uncertain. The Septuagint (B text) lacks this clause.
- l (3:23) The meaning of the rare Hebrew word misderon is uncertain; perhaps "vestibule" or "latrine."
- m (3:24) Hebrew "covering his feet," a polite expression.
- n (3:31) Anath was a Canaanite goddess of war; "son of Anath" may refer to Shamgar's town (Beth-anath) or describe him as a warrior.

Chapter 4

1 After Ehud died, the Israelites again did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh. 2 So Yahweh sold them into the hand of Jabin[a] king of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor. The commander of his army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-hagoyim.[b] 3 Then the Israelites cried out to Yahweh, for he had nine hundred chariots of iron, and he had oppressed the Israelites harshly for twenty years.
4 Now Deborah,[c] a prophetess, the wife of Lappidoth,[d] was judging Israel at that time. 5 She held court beneath Deborah's Palm, between Ramah and Bethel in Ephraim's hill country, and Israelites came to her for rulings. 6 She summoned Barak[e] son of Abinoam from Kedesh in Naphtali and told him, "Yahweh, the God of Israel, commands you: Go, assemble at Mount Tabor, bringing ten thousand men of Naphtali and Zebulun. 7 I will lure Sisera, Jabin's army commander, to the Kishon wadi to meet you, with his chariots and soldiers, and I will give him to you.'" 8 Barak said to her, "If you will go with me, I will go, but if you will not go with me, I will not go."[f] 9 She said, "I will certainly go with you. Nevertheless, the road you are taking will not lead to your glory, for Yahweh will sell Sisera into the hand of a woman." Then Deborah arose and went with Barak to Kedesh. 10 Barak summoned Zebulun and Naphtali to assemble at Kedesh. Ten thousand men marched out behind him,[g] and Deborah went along as well.

11 Heber the Kenite had split off from the other Kenites, who descended from Hobab, Moses' brother-in-law. He had set up his tent far off, by the great tree at Zaanannim,[h] close to Kedesh.
12 When Sisera was told that Barak son of Abinoam had gone up to Mount Tabor, 13 Sisera called out all his chariots, nine hundred char-iots of iron, and all the people who were with him, from Haroshethhagoyim to the Kishon River. 14 Deborah urged Barak, "Go! This very day Yahweh hands Sisera over to you. Isn't Yahweh marching ahead of you?" So Barak descended Mount Tabor, ten thousand men behind him. 15 And Yahweh threw Sisera and all his chariots and all his army into panic before Barak by the edge of the sword. Sisera got down from his chariot and fled on foot. 16 Barak chased the chariots and the troops as far as Harosheth-haggoyim, and Sisera's whole army was put to the sword. Not a single man survived.
17 But Sisera fled on foot to the tent of Jael,[i] the wife of Heber the Kenite, for there was peace between Jabin king of Hazor and the house of Heber the Kenite. 18 Jael went out to greet Sisera and told him, "Come in, sir, come in with me; have no fear." He went into her tent, and she hid him under a blanket. 19 He asked her, "May I have a sip of water? I am parched." She opened a milk skin, gave him a drink, and covered him up again. 20 He said to her, "Stand at the entrance of the tent, and if anyone comes and asks you, 'Is anyone here?' say, 'No.'" 21 Then Heber's wife Jael took a tent peg and a mallet. She crept up to him and hammered the peg through his skull into the ground, as he lay in a deep sleep of exhaustion. And he died.[j] 22 And just then, as Barak was pursuing Sisera, Jael came out to meet him and said to him, "Come, and I will show you the man you are looking for." So he went in with her, and there was Sisera lying dead, with the tent peg in his temple.

23 So on that day God subdued Jabin king of Canaan before the Israelites. 24 The Israelites' grip on Jabin, the king of Canaan, grew steadily stronger, until at last they wiped him out.

Notes

- a (4:2) Jabin means "he understands." A king of Hazor of the same name appears in Joshua 11:1.
- b (4:2) Harosheth-hagoyim perhaps means "woodland of the nations" or "cultivated land of the nations."
- c (4:4) Deborah means "bee."
- d (4:4) Or "a woman of fire" or "a fiery woman." Lappidoth means "torches," and may be a name or a description.
- e (4:6) Barak means "lightning." Abinoam means "my father is pleasantness."
- f (4:8) The Septuagint adds: "for I do not know the day on which the angel of Yahweh will give me success."
- g (4:10) Hebrew "at his feet," that is, following him; also in verse 15 of chapter 5.
- h (4:11) Or "the oak of Zaanannim." The Septuagint reads "the oak of the covetous ones." Hobab is perhaps the same person as Jethro (Exodus 3:1) or a son of Reuel (Numbers 10:29); the Hebrew word for "father-in-law" can also mean "brother-in-law."
- i (4:17) Jael means "mountain goat."
- j (4:21) Or "he was fast asleep and exhausted. So he died." The Hebrew is difficult. The Septuagint reads "and he fainted away, and darkness fell upon him, and he died."

Chapter 5

1 Then Deborah and Barak son of Abinoam sang on that day: 2 "When locks hang loose[a] in Israel, when the people offer themselves willingly, bless Yahweh! 3 Hear, O kings; listen, O rulers! I, to Yahweh I will sing; I will make music to Yahweh, the God of Israel. 4 Yahweh, as you came out of Seir, as you strode from Edom's fields, the earth shook, the skies poured rain, the clouds dripped water. 5 The mountains quaked[b] before Yahweh, the One of Sinai,[c] before Yahweh, the God of Israel.

6 In Shamgar son of Anath's time, in Jael's time, the main roads stood empty,[d] and caravans took the byways. 7 Village life[e] ceased in Israel; it ceased until I, Deborah, arose,[f] until I arose, a mother in Israel. 8 They chose new gods; then war was in the gates.[g] Was a shield or a spear to be seen among forty thousand in Israel? 9 My heart goes out to the commanders of Israel, those who offered themselves willingly among the people. Bless Yahweh! 10 You who ride on white[h] donkeys, you who sit on rich carpets,[i] and you who walk on the road, tell of it!
[j] 11 Louder than the voice of the archers[k] at the watering places, there they recount the righteous acts of Yahweh, the righteous acts of his villagers in Israel. Then the people of Yahweh went down to the gates.
12 "Awake, awake, Deborah! Awake, awake, sing a song! Arise, Barak, and take your captives captive, son of Abinoam. 13 Then the survivors came down to the nobles; the people of Yahweh came down for me against the mighty.[l] 14 From Ephraim came those whose root is in Amalek;[m] after you, Benjamin, with your kinsmen. From Machir came down commanders, and from Zebulun those who carry the officer's staff.[n] 15 Issachar's chieftains marched with Deborah, and Issachar stood by Barak; they plunged into the valley on his heels.
Among Reuben's divisions there was much soul-searching.[o] 16 Why did you linger among the sheep pens,[p] listening to shepherds pipe to their flocks? Among Reuben's divisions there was much hesitation. 17 Gilead remained across the Jordan; and Dan, why did he loiter near the ships?[q] Asher stayed on the seashore and lingered in his harbors.
18 Zebulun's people risked their lives, facing death; and Naphtali too, on the open hills.
19 "Kings came; they fought; then the kings of Canaan fought at Taanach, by the waters of Megiddo. They took no plunder of silver. 20
From heaven the stars fought; from their courses they fought against Sisera. 21 The river Kishon carried them off, that ancient[r] river, the Kishon. Advance, my spirit, with might![s] 22 Then the horses' hooves hammered with the galloping, the galloping of his mighty steeds. 23
'Curse Meroz,'[t] said Yahweh's messenger, 'curse her people bitterly, for they never came to aid Yahweh, to aid Yahweh against the warriors.'

24 “Most blessed of women is Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite; of women in tents she is most blessed. 25 He asked for water; she gave him milk; in a bowl fit for nobles she brought him curds. 26 She put her hand to the tent peg and her right hand to the workman’s hammer.
She struck Sisera; she crushed his head; she shattered and pierced his temple. 27 At her feet he crumpled, collapsed, and lay still; at her feet he crumpled and fell; right where he crumpled, he lay dead.
28 “At the window she peered out and cried, Sisera’s mother, from behind the lattice: ‘Why is his chariot delayed? Why is the sound of his chariot wheels so late?’ 29 The wisest of her ladies answer her; indeed, she repeats her own words to herself: 30 ‘Are they not finding and dividing the spoil? A girl, two girls[u] for every man; spoil of dyed cloth for Sisera, spoil of dyed cloth embroidered, dyed cloth, doubly embroidered, for the neck of the plunderer?’[v] 31 “So may all your enemies perish, O Yahweh! But may those who love him be like the sun when it rises in its might.” And the land had rest forty years.

Notes

- a (5:2) Or “When leaders take the lead.” The Hebrew phrase bifroaʿ peraʿot is one of many difficult expressions in this ancient poem. It may refer to warriors letting their hair hang loose as a sign of dedication (compare Numbers 6:5), or to leaders taking command. The Septuagint (B text) reads “When a revelation was made in Israel”; other Greek manuscripts understand it of rulers taking command.
- b (5:5) Or “flowed” or “melted.” The Hebrew may come from a verb meaning “quake” (as the Septuagint, “were shaken”) or from one meaning “flow.”
- c (5:5) Or “this is Sinai,” or “even Sinai.” Many scholars take Hebrew zeh sinai as an ancient title, “the One of Sinai” (compare Psalm 68:8).
- d (5:6) Or “caravans ceased.”
- e (5:7) Or “Warriors.” The meaning of Hebrew perazon (also in verse 11) is uncertain; it may mean the people of unwalled villages, or rulers or warriors. The Septuagint (B text) reads “the mighty men.”
- f (5:7) Or “until you arose, Deborah, until you arose.” The Hebrew form qamti can be read as an old second-person form, which the Septuagint follows (“until Deborah arose”).
- g (5:8) The Hebrew of this line is very difficult. The Septuagint (B text) agrees with “They chose new gods”; some translators read “God chose new leaders.” The second clause is also uncertain (“then there was fighting in the gates,” or “then there was bread of barley”).

- h (5:10) Or “tawny.” The Septuagint (B text) reads “at noonday,” taking the Hebrew word as tsohorayim.
- i (5:10) The meaning of Hebrew middin is uncertain; perhaps “saddle blankets.” The Septuagint (B text) reads “on the judgment seat,” relating it to the word for “judgment.”
- j (5:10) Or “consider it!” or “sing of it!”
- k (5:11) Or “of those who divide the flocks,” or “of the musicians.” The meaning of Hebrew mechatsetsim is uncertain. The Septuagint (B text) reads “from the noise of disturbers among the drawers of water.”
- l (5:13) The Hebrew of verse 13 is difficult and has been read in several ways. The Septuagint (B text) reads “Then the remnant went down to the strong; the people of Yahweh went down for him among the mighty from me.”
- m (5:14) The meaning is uncertain; perhaps Ephraim had settled in land once held by Amalek (compare 12:15). The Septuagint (B text) reads “Ephraim rooted them out in Amalek.”
- n (5:14) Or “the staff of the scribe,” or “the rod of the marshal.” Hebrew shebet sopher.
- o (5:15) Hebrew chiqqe-leb, “decisions of heart.” Many Hebrew manuscripts and the parallel line in verse 16 read chiqre-leb, “searchings of heart,” a difference of one letter. The Septuagint (B text) reads “great pangs reached to the heart.”
- p (5:16) Or “saddlebags” or “campfires.” The meaning of Hebrew mishpetayim is uncertain.
- q (5:17) Or “why did he serve as an alien on ships?” The Hebrew verb gur means to stay as a resident alien.
- r (5:21) The meaning of Hebrew qedumim is uncertain; perhaps “ancient,” or “onrushing,” or “of battles.”
- s (5:21) Or “You trampled the strong, O my soul!” The Septuagint (B text) reads “my mighty soul will trample him down.”
- t (5:23) The location of Meroz is unknown.
- u (5:30) Hebrew “a womb, two wombs,” a crude soldiers’ term for captive women.
- v (5:30) The Hebrew of the last line is difficult; some read “for my neck as plunder,” or “for the neck of the queen.” The Septuagint (B text) has “he will surely be gracious to every man … they are the spoils for his neck.”

Chapter 6

1 The Israelites did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh, and Yahweh gave them into the hand of Midian seven years. 2 The hand of Midian prevailed over Israel. Because of Midian the Israelites made for themselves the dens that are in the mountains, and the caves and the strongholds. 3 For whenever Israel had sown seed, Midian and Amalek and the people of the east would come up and attack them. 4

They would camp against them and destroy the produce of the land as far as Gaza, and they left no sustenance in Israel, neither sheep nor ox nor donkey. 5 They arrived with their herds and tents, as numerous as locusts. They and their camels were beyond counting, and they invaded the land to devastate it. 6 So Israel was brought very low because of Midian, and the Israelites cried out to Yahweh.
7 When the Israelites cried out to Yahweh on account of Midian,[a] 8 Yahweh sent a prophet to the Israelites, who told them, "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: 'I rescued you from Egypt and freed you from the house of slavery. 9 I rescued you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all who oppressed you. I drove them out before you and gave you their land. 10 I told you, "I am Yahweh your God; do not worship the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you live." But you ignored me.'"
11 The messenger of Yahweh arrived and sat beneath the oak tree in Ophrah, a town of Joash, from the clan of Abiezer. Joash's son Gideon[b] was threshing wheat inside a winepress, to keep it out of Midian's sight. 12 The angel of Yahweh appeared to him and said to him, "Yahweh is with you, mighty warrior." 13 Gideon replied, "Please, sir, if Yahweh is with us, why has all this disaster come upon us? Where are the marvels our ancestors described to us, saying, 'Didn't Yahweh lead us out of Egypt?' But now Yahweh has deserted us and handed us over to Midian." 14 Yahweh turned to him and said, "Go, with all the strength you possess, and deliver Israel from Midian's grip. Am I not the one sending you?" 15 He said to him, "Please, Lord, how can I save Israel? Look, my clan is the weakest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house." 16 Yahweh answered him, "I will be with you, and you will defeat Midian as though it were a single man." 17 He said to him, "If I have found favor in your eyes, then give me a sign that it is you who are speaking with me. 18 Please stay here until I come back with my gift and set it down in front of you." He answered, "I will wait until you come back."
19 So Gideon went in and prepared a young goat, and unleavened cakes from about three-fifths of a bushel[c] of flour. He put the meat in a basket and the broth in a pot, and brought them out to him under the oak and presented them. 20 The angel of God said to him, “Take the meat and the unleavened cakes, put them on this rock, and pour out the broth.” And he did so. 21 Then the angel of Yahweh reached out the tip of the staff that was in his hand and touched the meat and the unleavened cakes. Fire went up from the rock and consumed the meat and the unleavened cakes. And the angel of Yahweh vanished from his sight. 22 Then Gideon saw that he was the angel of Yahweh.

And Gideon said, “Alas, Lord Yahweh! For I have seen the angel of Yahweh face to face.” 23 But Yahweh said to him, “Peace be to you. Do not be afraid; you will not die.” 24 So Gideon built an altar there to Yahweh and called it Yahweh Shalom.[d] To this day it still stands at Ophrah of the Abiezrites.
25 The same night Yahweh instructed him, “Take your father’s second bull, a seven-year-old,[e] Demolish your father’s altar to Baal, and chop down the Asherah pole[f] beside it. 26 Then build an altar to Yahweh your God on the top of this stronghold, laid out in proper order.
Take the second bull and offer it as a burnt offering with the wood of the Asherah that you cut down.” 27 So Gideon took ten men from his servants and did as Yahweh had told him. But because he was too afraid of his father’s household and the men of the city to do it by day, he did it by night.
28 When the townsmen got up early next morning, they saw Baal’s altar demolished, the Asherah pole beside it hacked down, and the second bull offered on a newly built altar. 29 They said to one another, “Who has done this thing?” When they had inquired and searched, they said, “Gideon son of Joash has done this thing.” 30 The townsmen demanded of Joash, “Hand over your son for execution! He demolished Baal’s altar and chopped down the Asherah pole next to it.” 31 But Joash said to all who stood against him, “Will you contend for Baal? Will you save him? Whoever contends for him will be put to death by morning. If he is a god, let him contend for himself, because someone has torn down his altar.” 32 So on that day Gideon was called Jerubbaal,[g] that is to say, “Let Baal contend against him,” because he tore down his altar.

33 Then all of Midian, Amalek, and the eastern peoples joined forces, crossed the Jordan, and encamped in the Jezreel Valley. 34 But the Spirit of Yahweh clothed[h] Gideon, and he sounded the ram's horn, and the Abiezrites were called out to follow him. 35 He dispatched messengers across the territory of Manasseh, calling its men to arms behind him.
He also sent word to Asher, Zebulun, and Naphtali, and those tribes marched out to join them.
36 Then Gideon said to God, "If you will save Israel by my hand, as you have said, 37 watch, I will put out a wool fleece on the threshing floor.
If dew gathers only on the fleece while the surrounding earth stays dry, I will be sure that you plan to save Israel through my action, as you promised." 38 And so it happened. He got up early the next day, wrung out the fleece, and squeezed out a bowlful of dew. 39 Gideon pleaded with God, "Please don't be furious with me, but let me ask once more. Allow me one more test with the fleece: this time let the fleece alone stay dry, and let dew cover the ground around it." 40 God did that during the night. Only the fleece was dry, while the ground all around was covered with dew.

Notes

- a (6:7) The Dead Sea Scroll 4QJudg[a], one of the oldest surviving manuscripts of Judges, lacks verses 7–10; its text passes directly from verse 6 to verse 11. Many scholars regard these verses, which are present in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, as a later addition to the story.
- b (6:11) Gideon probably means "hacker" or "one who cuts down" (compare verses 25–32). Joash means "Yahweh has given." Ophrah perhaps means "fawn."
- c (6:19) Hebrew "an ephah," about 22 liters (L).
- d (6:24) Yahweh Shalom means "Yahweh is peace."
- e (6:25) The Hebrew is difficult; perhaps "the young bull of your father, and a second bull seven years old." The Septuagint (B text) agrees with the Hebrew: "the young bullock … even the second bullock of seven years old."
- f (6:25) A wooden pole or image associated with the goddess Asherah; also in verses 26, 28, and 30.
- g (6:32) Jerubbaal means "Let Baal contend." In 2 Samuel 11:21 the name is changed to Jerubbesheth, replacing Baal with bosheth, "shame."
- h (6:34) That is, took possession of him; Hebrew "put on Gideon like a garment."

Chapter 7

1 Early next morning Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) and his whole army set up camp at the spring of Harod.[a] Midian's camp lay to the north, beneath Moreh hill,[b] in the valley.
2 Yahweh said to Gideon, "The people who are with you are too many for me to give Midian into their hand, or Israel would boast against me, saying, 'My own hand has saved me.' 3 So now, proclaim in the hearing of the people, 'Whoever is fearful and trembling, let him turn back and leave Mount Gilead.'"[c] Then twenty-two thousand of the people turned back, and ten thousand remained.
4 Yahweh told Gideon, "You still have too many men. Lead them down to the water, and I will sort them out there for you. Of anyone I say, 'This man goes with you,' that man goes; of anyone I say, 'This man does not go with you,' that man stays behind." 5 So he brought the people down to the water, and Yahweh said to Gideon, "Everyone who laps the water with his tongue, as a dog laps, you shall set by himself; likewise everyone who kneels down to drink." 6 The number of those who lapped, putting their hand to their mouths,[d] was three hundred men, and all the rest of the people knelt down to drink water.
7 Yahweh said to Gideon, "With the three hundred men who lapped I will save you and give Midian into your hand. Let all the rest of the people go, each to his home." 8 So they took the people's provisions in their hand, and their ram's horns, and he sent all the rest of the men of Israel each to his tent, but he kept the three hundred men.
The camp of Midian was below him in the valley.
9 That same night Yahweh said to him, "Get up, go down against the camp, for I have given it into your hand. 10 If you are afraid to attack, go down to the camp with your servant Purah. 11 You will listen to their talk, and after that you will find the nerve to attack the camp."
So he and his servant Purah crept down to where the armed sentries were posted at the camp's edge. 12 The Midianites, Amalekites, and all the eastern peoples had spread across the valley like a swarm of locusts, and their camels were as countless as the sand along the seashore. 13 When Gideon arrived, there was a man telling his comrade a dream. He said, "Look, I had a dream, and there was a round loaf of barley bread tumbling into the camp of Midian. It came to the tent and struck it so that it fell, and turned it upside down, and the tent collapsed." 14 His companion replied, "That can only mean the sword of Gideon, the Israelite son of Joash. God has delivered Midian, and the entire army with it, into his power." 15 When Gideon heard the dream described and explained, he knelt in worship. He went back to Israel's camp and called, "Rise! Yahweh has put the Midianite camp in your power." 16 He split the three hundred men into three divisions. He gave every man a ram's horn and an empty jar, with a torch burning in each jar. 17 He said to them, "Watch me and do the same. When I come to the edge of the camp, do as I do.

18 When I and all who are with me blow the ram's horn, then you also blow the ram's horns all around the camp and shout, 'For Yahweh and for Gideon!'" 19 Gideon and his hundred men reached the camp's perimeter at the start of the middle watch (about ten at night),[e] just after the sentries had been changed. They blew their horns and smashed the jars they were holding. 20 The three companies blew the ram's horns and broke the jars. They held the torches in their left hands and the ram's horns in their right hands to blow, and they cried out, "A sword for Yahweh and for Gideon!" 21 Each man stood in his place around the camp, and all the camp ran; they cried out and fled. 22 When the three hundred horns sounded, Yahweh turned every man's sword against his fellow soldier throughout the camp. The army fled toward Beth-shittah and on to Zererah, to the border of Abel-meholah near Tabbath. 23 Israelites from Naphtali, Asher, and all of Manasseh were called up and joined the chase after Midian.
24 Gideon dispatched messengers across Ephraim's hill country with this order: "Come down and attack Midian! Seize the fords of the Jordan before they reach them, as far as Beth-barah." All the Ephraimite men were called up, and they held the fords as far as Beth-barah, and the Jordan itself. 25 They captured two Midianite commanders, Oreb and Zeeb.[f] Oreb they killed on the rock that bears his name, and Zeeb at the winepress called after him. They kept chasing Midian, then carried the heads of Oreb and Zeeb across the Jordan to Gideon.

Notes

- a (7:1) Harod means "trembling" (compare verse 3).
- b (7:1) Moreh means "teacher" or "one who gives oracles."
- c (7:3) Gilead lies east of the Jordan, far from Gideon's camp; many scholars suspect an early copying error, perhaps for Mount Gilboa, or take the Hebrew verb (found only here) to mean "and hurry away from Mount Gilead."
- d (7:6) In the Hebrew the words "putting their hand to their mouths" stand in verse 6 with those who lapped; the Septuagint (B text) agrees. Some scholars think the phrase originally belonged at the end of verse 5 with those who knelt.
- e (7:19) Hebrew "the middle watch." In the Old Testament the night was divided into three watches: evening (until about 10 p.m.), middle (until about 2 a.m.), and morning (until about 6 a.m.).
- f (7:25) Oreb means "raven," and Zeeb means "wolf."

Chapter 8

1 The Ephraimites demanded of Gideon, "Why did you treat us this way? You never called us when you set out to fight Midian!" They berated him harshly. 2 He said to them, "What have I done now in comparison with you? Is not the gleaning of the grapes of Ephraim better than the grape harvest of Abiezer? 3 God handed Midian's commanders, Oreb and Zeeb, over to you. What could I possibly accomplish next to you?" When he said this, their resentment cooled.
4 Gideon came to the Jordan and crossed over, he and the three hundred men who were with him, exhausted yet pursuing. 5 He said to the men of Succoth,[a] "Please give loaves of bread to the people who follow me, for they are exhausted, and I am pursuing Zebah and Zalmunna,[b] the kings of Midian." 6 But the officials of Succoth said, "Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your army?" 7 Gideon said, "Because of this, when Yahweh has given Zebah and Zalmunna into my hand, I will thresh[c] your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and with briers." 8 From there he went up to Penuel[d] and spoke to them in the same way, and the men of Penuel answered him as the men of Succoth had answered. 9 He warned the men of Penuel, "When I return victorious, I will demolish this tower." 10 Now Zebah and Zalmunna were in Karkor, and their army with them, about fifteen thousand men, all who were left of the whole army of the people of the east; for those who had fallen were a hundred and twenty thousand men who drew the sword. 11 Gideon took the caravan route east of Nobah and Jogbehah and attacked the enemy camp, which was off its guard. 12 Zebah and Zalmunna fled, and he pursued them. He captured the two kings of Midian, Zebah and Zalmunna, and threw the whole army into panic.

13 Then Gideon son of Joash returned from the battle by the Ascent of Heres.[e] 14 He captured a young man of the men of Succoth and questioned him, and the young man wrote down for him the officials of Succoth and its elders, seventy-seven men. 15 Then he came to the men of Succoth and said, "Here are Zebah and Zalmunna, about whom you taunted me, saying, 'Are the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna already in your hand, that we should give bread to your exhausted men?'" 16 He seized the town's elders, gathered thorn bushes and thistles from the wilderness, and used them to give the men of Succoth a painful lesson.[f] 17 He tore down the tower of Penuel and killed the men of the city.
18 Then he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "What kind of men were they whom you killed at Tabor?" They said, "As you are, so were they, each one resembling the son of a king." 19 He said, "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As Yahweh lives, if you had let them live, I would not kill you." 20 He said to Jether his firstborn, "Get up, kill them!" But the young man did not draw his sword, for he was afraid, because he was still a young man. 21 Zebah and Zalmunna replied, "Do it yourself, strike us down, for a man's strength matches his years." Gideon stood up, killed Zebah and Zalmunna, and removed the crescent ornaments from their camels' necks.
22 The Israelites told Gideon, "Be our ruler, you, then your son, and then your grandson, since you rescued us from Midian's power." 23 Gideon said to them, "I will not rule over you, and my son will not rule over you. Yahweh will rule over you." 24 Then Gideon told them, "I have one request: each of you, hand over the earrings you took as plunder." (The enemy wore gold earrings, as Ishmaelites did.[g]) 25 They said, "We will gladly give them." So they spread out a garment, and every man threw on it the earrings from his spoil. 26 The gold earrings he had requested weighed about forty-three pounds,[h] not counting the crescent ornaments, pendants, and purple robes worn by Midian's kings, or the chains around the camels' necks. 27 Gideon made it into an ephod[i] and put it in his city, in Ophrah. And all Israel prostituted themselves after it there, and it became a snare to Gideon and to his house. 28 So Midian was subdued before the Israelites, and they did not raise their heads again. And the land had rest forty years in the days of Gideon.

29 Jerubbaal son of Joash went and lived in his own house. 30 Gideon had seventy sons, his own offspring,[j] for he had many wives. 31 His concubine who was in Shechem also bore him a son, and he named him Abimelech.[k] 32 Gideon son of Joash died at a ripe old age and was buried in his father Joash's tomb at Ophrah, the town of the Abiezrites.
33 As soon as Gideon died, the Israelites turned again and prostituted themselves after the Baals, and they made Baal-berith[l] their god. 34
The Israelites did not remember Yahweh their God, who had rescued them from the hand of all their enemies on every side, 35 and they did not show kindness to the house of Jerubbaal (that is, Gideon) in return for all the good that he had done for Israel.

Notes

- a (8:5) Succoth means "booths" or "shelters."
- b (8:5) Zebah means "sacrifice," and Zalmunna perhaps "protection withheld." The names may be deliberate distortions of the kings' real names.
- c (8:7) Or "tear." The Septuagint (B text) reads "tear your flesh with the thorns of the wilderness and the Barkenim," keeping the Hebrew word for "briers" as a name.
- d (8:8) Penuel means "face of God" (Genesis 32:30).
- e (8:13) Or "from the battle before sunrise." Heres means "sun."
- f (8:16) So the Hebrew, "made to know." Many scholars read "threshed" (compare verse 7), a slight difference in the Hebrew letters; the Septuagint (B text) reads "tore."
- g (8:24) Here a general term for desert traders. Compare Genesis 37:25–28, where Ishmaelites and Midianites are mentioned together.
- h (8:26) Hebrew "1,700 shekels," about 19.5 kilograms (kg).
- i (8:27) An ephod was a priestly garment (Exodus 28:6–14), but here it seems to be an object used in worship or for seeking oracles.
- j (8:30) Hebrew "who came out of his thigh."

- k (8:31) Abimelech means “my father is king.”
- l (8:33) Baal-berith means “lord of the covenant.” Compare El-berith in 9:46.

Chapter 9

1 Abimelech, Jerubbaal’s son, traveled to Shechem, to his mother’s brothers, and addressed them and his mother’s whole extended family: 2 “Put this question to all of Shechem’s leaders:[a] ‘Which would you prefer, rule by seventy men, all of Jerubbaal’s sons, or rule by a single man? Remember that I am your own flesh and blood.’” 3 His mother’s brothers repeated his proposal to every one of Shechem’s leading citizens, and their loyalties swung toward Abimelech, since they reasoned, “He is our own flesh and blood.” 4 They gave him seventy pieces of silver[b] from the house of Baal-berith, and with it Abimelech hired worthless and reckless men, who followed him. 5 He went to his father’s house at Ophrah and killed his brothers, the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy men, on one stone. But Jotham,[c] the youngest son of Jerubbaal, was left, for he hid himself. 6 Then all the leaders of Shechem and all Beth-millo[d] gathered together and went and made Abimelech king by the oak of the pillar[e] at Shechem.
7 When Jotham was told, he went and stood on the top of Mount Gerizim and raised his voice and called out to them: “Listen to me, leaders of Shechem, so that God may listen to you. 8 The trees once went out to anoint a king over themselves. They said to the olive tree, ‘Reign over us.’ 9 But the olive tree said to them, ‘Should I give up my rich oil, by which gods and people are honored, and go to sway over the trees?’ 10 Then the trees said to the fig tree, ‘You come and reign over us.’ 11 But the fig tree answered, ‘Am I to abandon my sweet, rich fruit and go off to wave above the other trees?’ 12 Then the trees said to the vine, ‘You come and reign over us.’ 13 But the vine said to them, ‘Should I give up my new wine, which cheers gods and people, and go to sway over the trees?’ 14 Then all the trees said to the bramble, ‘You come and reign over us.’ 15 And the bramble said to the trees, ‘If you are truly anointing me king over you, then come and take refuge in my shade. But if not, let fire come out of the bramble and consume the cedars of Lebanon.’

16 "Now consider: did you behave honestly and sincerely when you crowned Abimelech? Have you treated Jerubbaal and his family fairly, and repaid him in keeping with what he did? 17 for my father fought for you and risked his life and rescued you from the hand of Midian, 18 and you have risen up against my father's house today and killed his sons, seventy men, on one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his slave woman, king over the leaders of Shechem, because he is your brother— 19 if you have indeed dealt honestly and sincerely with Jerubbaal and his family today, then enjoy Abimelech, and may he enjoy you too. 20 If not, may fire blaze out from Abimelech and devour Shechem's leaders and Beth-millo, and may fire blaze out from Shechem's leaders and Beth-millo and devour Abimelech." 21 Then Jotham ran away and fled and went to Beer,[f] and he lived there because of Abimelech his brother.
22 Abimelech ruled over Israel three years. 23 Then God sent an evil spirit between Abimelech and the leaders of Shechem, and the leaders of Shechem dealt treacherously with Abimelech, 24 This was to bring retribution for the violence against Jerubbaal's seventy sons, laying their blood on their brother Abimelech, who murdered them, and on the Shechemite leaders, who had backed him in killing his brothers. 25
The leading men of Shechem stationed ambushers for him along the mountain summits, and they plundered every traveler on that route.
Abimelech was told about it.
26 Gaal, Ebed's son,[g] arrived with his brothers and settled in Shechem, and the city's leading men came to trust him. 27 They went to the countryside, harvested their vineyards, trampled the grapes, and held a celebration.[h] In the temple of their god they feasted, drank, and cursed Abimelech. 28 Gaal son of Ebed said, "Who is Abimelech, and who is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubbaal, and is not Zebul his officer? Serve the men of Hamor, the father of Shechem! But why should we serve him? 29 If only I commanded this people! I would remove Abimelech." He taunted Abimelech,[i] "Build up your forces and come out to battle!" 30 When Zebul the ruler of the city heard the words of Gaal son of Ebed, his anger burned. 31 He sent messengers to Abimelech in secret,[j] with this message: “Gaal, Ebed’s son, and his brothers have arrived in Shechem, where they are turning the city against you. 32 So now, get up by night, you and the people who are with you, and lie in ambush in the field. 33 At sunrise tomorrow, be up early and storm the town. When he and his men march out against you, deal with them as the opportunity allows.” 34 So Abimelech and all the people who were with him got up by night and lay in ambush against Shechem in four companies. 35 Gaal son of Ebed went out and took his stand at the town gate’s entrance. Abimelech and his troops emerged from their hiding place. 36 Gaal spotted the troops and said to Zebul, “Look, men are descending from the mountaintops!” Zebul answered, “Those are just the shadows of the hills, which look like men.” 37 Gaal spoke again and said, “Look, people are coming down from the center of the land,[k] and one company is coming by the way of the Diviners’ Oak.”[l] 38 Zebul retorted, “Where is your big talk now? You asked, ‘Who is Abimelech, that we must serve him?’ Aren’t these the very men you sneered at? Go on out and fight them.” 39 So Gaal went out at the head of the leaders of Shechem and fought against Abimelech. 40 Abimelech chased him, and he fled before him, and many fell wounded, up to the entrance of the gate. 41 Abimelech remained in Arumah, and Zebul expelled Gaal and his kinsmen from Shechem, so that they could no longer live there.

42 On the next day the people went out into the field, and Abimelech was told. 43 He divided the troops into three companies and hid them in the fields. When he saw the citizens emerging from the town, he sprang up, attacked them, and cut them down. 44 Abimelech and the companies that were with him rushed forward and stood at the entrance of the city gate, while the two companies rushed upon all who were in the field and struck them down. 45 Abimelech fought against the city all that day. He captured the city and killed the people who were in it, and he tore down the city and sowed it with salt.
46 When all the leaders of the Tower of Shechem heard of it, they went into the stronghold[m] of the house of El-berith.[n] 47 Abimelech was told that all the leaders of the Tower of Shechem had gathered together. 48 So Abimelech went up to Mount Zalmon,[o] he and all the people who were with him. Abimelech took an axe in his hand, cut down a bundle of brushwood, lifted it up, and put it on his shoulder. He said to the people who were with him, “What you have seen me do, hurry and do as I have done.” 49 Each of the soldiers likewise chopped down a branch and followed Abimelech. They piled the branches against the tower and set it ablaze with the people inside, so that everyone in the Shechem Tower died, about a thousand men and women.

50 Then Abimelech went to Thebez, camped against Thebez, and captured it. 51 Inside the town stood a fortified tower, and every man and woman, the town’s leaders included, fled into it, locked the door behind them, and climbed onto the tower’s roof. 52 Abimelech came to the tower and fought against it, and he drew near to the door of the tower to burn it with fire. 53 But a certain woman threw an upper millstone on Abimelech’s head and crushed his skull. 54 He shouted urgently to his armor-bearer, “Pull out your blade and finish me off, or they will say about me, ‘A woman killed him!’” The servant ran him through, and Abimelech was dead. 55 When the men of Israel saw that Abimelech was dead, they went each to his home.
56 In this way God paid Abimelech back for the crime he had committed against his father by murdering seventy brothers. 57 God also paid back the Shechemites for all their wickedness, and Jotham son of Jerubbaal’s curse fell upon them.

Notes

- a (9:2) Or “citizens” or “lords”; Hebrew ba‘ale, plural of baal, “owner, lord.” So throughout this chapter.
- b (9:4) Hebrew “seventy of silver,” probably shekels, about 1¾ pounds (800 grams, g).
- c (9:5) Jotham means “Yahweh is perfect.”
- d (9:6) Beth-millo means “house of the fill,” probably a fortified structure built on an earth platform.
- e (9:6) Hebrew elon mutstsab. The Septuagint (B text) reads “by the oak of the station” and adds a second rendering of the same Hebrew word (“of the finder”); the A text lacks the addition.
- f (9:21) Beer means “well.”
- g (9:26) Gaal perhaps means “loathing,” and Ebed means “servant” or “slave.” The Septuagint (B text) reads “Gaal son of Jobel.”

- h (9:27) Hebrew hillulim, a festival of praise held at the grape harvest. The Septuagint (B text) keeps the Hebrew word ("made ellulim"); the A text reads "made dances."
- i (9:29) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint reads "I would say to Abimelech."
- j (9:31) Or "at Tormah." The meaning of Hebrew betormah, found only here, is uncertain; some read "at Arumah" (verse 41).
- k (9:37) Hebrew "the navel of the land."
- l (9:37) Hebrew elon me'onenim. The Septuagint (B text) keeps the Hebrew words as a name; the A text translates them, "the way of the oak of the seers."
- m (9:46) Or "inner chamber." The meaning of Hebrew tseriach is uncertain; also in verse 49.
- n (9:46) El-berith means "God of the covenant." Compare Baal-berith in 8:33 and 9:4.
- o (9:48) Zalmon means "dark" or "shady."

Chapter 10

1 After Abimelech, Tola son of Puah, son of Dodo, from the tribe of Issachar, came forward to deliver Israel. He lived in Shamir in Ephraim's hill country. 2 He judged Israel twenty-three years. Then he died and was buried at Shamir.
3 After him rose Jair the Gileadite, who judged Israel twenty-two years. 4 He had thirty sons who rode on thirty donkeys, and they had thirty towns,[a] which are called Havvoth-jair[b] to this day; they are in the land of Gilead. 5 And Jair died and was buried at Kamon.
6 The Israelites went back to doing evil in Yahweh's sight. They worshiped the Baals and Ashtaroth and the deities of Aram, Sidon, Moab, Ammon, and Philistia. They deserted Yahweh and no longer served him. 7 So the anger of Yahweh burned against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of the Philistines and into the hand of the Ammonites, 8 and that year they crushed and battered the Israelites.
For eighteen years they tyrannized all the Israelites east of the Jordan in Gilead, the Amorite country. 9 The Ammonites also crossed the Jordan to fight against Judah, against Benjamin, and against the house of Ephraim, so that Israel was in great distress.
10 Then the Israelites called to Yahweh for help: "We have wronged you; we have forsaken our God and worshiped the Baals." 11 And Yahweh said to the Israelites, "Did I not save you from the Egyptians, from the Amorites, from the Ammonites, from the Philistines? 12 The Sidonians, Amalek, and Maon[c] oppressed you, and you cried out to me, and I saved you from their hand. 13 Yet you have abandoned me and served other gods; therefore I will no longer save you. 14 Off with you! Call on the gods you picked yourselves. Let them rescue you when you are in trouble." 15 The Israelites pleaded with Yahweh, "We have sinned. Treat us however you see fit; only deliver us today." 16 So they put away the foreign gods from among them and served Yahweh, and he could no longer bear the misery of Israel.[d]

17 Then the Ammonites were called to arms, and they camped in Gilead. And the Israelites gathered together and camped at Mizpah. 18 The people, the leaders of Gilead, said to one another, "Who is the man who will begin to fight against the Ammonites? He will be head over all the inhabitants of Gilead."

Notes

- a (10:4) There is a play on words in the Hebrew: ʿayarim means both "donkeys" and "towns."
- b (10:4) Havvoth-jair means "villages of Jair" (compare Numbers 32:41).
- c (10:12) The Septuagint reads "Midian."
- d (10:16) Hebrew "his soul was short with the misery of Israel," that is, he became impatient with their suffering.

Chapter 11

1 Jephthah[a] the Gileadite was a great warrior, though he was the son of a prostitute. His father was Gilead. 2 Gilead's wife also bore him sons. When his wife's sons grew up, they drove Jephthah out and said to him, "You will not have an inheritance in our father's house, for you are the son of another woman." 3 Jephthah ran away from his brothers and settled in Tob. A band of outlaws gathered around him and joined his raids.

4 After some time the Ammonites fought against Israel. 5 When Ammon went to war with Israel, Gilead's elders hurried to fetch Jephthah from Tob. 6 They told him, "Be our commander, and we will battle the Ammonites." 7 But Jephthah said to the elders of Gilead, "Did you not hate me and drive me out of my father's house? Why have you come to me now, when you are in distress?" 8 Gilead's elders replied to Jephthah, “That is exactly why we are back. Come with us and fight the Ammonites, and you will govern everyone who lives in Gilead.” 9 Jephthah answered Gilead’s elders, “If you take me home to fight Ammon, and Yahweh delivers them to me, will I truly become your head?” 10 Gilead’s elders replied, “Yahweh is our witness; we will certainly do what you have said.” 11 So Jephthah went with the elders of Gilead, and the people made him head and commander over them. And Jephthah spoke all his words before Yahweh at Mizpah.

12 Then Jephthah sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites, saying, “What is there between you and me, that you have come to me to fight against my land?” 13 The king of the Ammonites said to the messengers of Jephthah, “Because Israel took away my land when they came up from Egypt, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok and the Jordan. So now restore it peaceably.” 14 Jephthah again sent messengers to the king of the Ammonites 15 “This is what Jephthah says: Israel never seized Moabite or Ammonite land. 16 For when they came up from Egypt, Israel went through the wilderness to the Red Sea[b] and came to Kadesh. 17 Then Israel sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, ‘Please let us pass through your land,’ but the king of Edom would not listen. They also sent to the king of Moab, but he was not willing. So Israel stayed at Kadesh. 18 Next they traveled through the desert, skirting Edom and Moab, reached the territory east of Moab, and encamped across the Arnon. They stayed out of Moabite land altogether, because the Arnon marked Moab’s frontier. 19 Israel then sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, king of Heshbon, and Israel said to him, ‘Please let us pass through your land to our place.’ 20 But Sihon did not trust Israel to pass through his territory. So Sihon gathered all his people and camped at Jahaz and fought against Israel. 21 Yahweh, Israel’s God, delivered Sihon and his entire army to Israel, who defeated them. So Israel took over every acre belonging to the Amorites who lived there. 22 They seized the whole Amorite region: the Arnon marked its southern edge, the Jabbok its northern edge, the desert lay on the east, and the Jordan on the west. 23 So now Yahweh, the God of Israel, has dispossessed the Amorites before his people Israel; and are you to take possession of it? 24 Will you not possess what Chemosh your god gives you to possess? And all that Yahweh our God has dispossessed before us, we will possess. 25 Are you any better than Balak son of Zippor, king of Moab? Did he ever pick a quarrel with Israel, or go to war with them? 26 Israel has lived in Heshbon and Aroer and their dependent villages, and in every town along the Arnon's banks, for three centuries. Why have you made no effort to retake them in all that time? 27 I have not sinned against you, but you are doing me wrong by fighting against me. May Yahweh, the Judge, decide today between the Israelites and the Ammonites." 28 The Ammonite king, however, ignored the message Jephthah had sent him.

29 Then Yahweh's Spirit took hold of Jephthah. He crossed Gilead and Manasseh, came to Mizpah in Gilead, and from there advanced against the Ammonites. 30 Jephthah made Yahweh a vow: "If you truly hand the Ammonites over to me, 31 then whatever[c] comes out of the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the Ammonites will belong to Yahweh, and I will offer it up as a burnt offering." 32 So Jephthah crossed over to the Ammonites to fight against them, and Yahweh gave them into his hand. 33 He cut them down over a stretch from Aroer to the vicinity of Minnith, twenty towns, then on to Abel-keramim,[d] inflicting enormous losses. In this way Ammon was brought low beneath Israel.

34 When Jephthah reached his house in Mizpah, out ran his daughter to greet him, dancing and playing a hand drum. She was his only child; he had no son and no other daughter. 35 When he saw her, he tore his clothes and said, "Alas, my daughter! You have brought me very low, and you have become one of those who trouble me. For I have opened my mouth to Yahweh, and I cannot take it back." 36 She told him, "Father, you made a promise to Yahweh; do to me what you vowed, since Yahweh has avenged you on your enemies the Ammonites." 37 She added, "Grant me this one request: let me be for two months, so I can roam[e] the hills and mourn my virginity with my friends." 38 He said, "Go." And he sent her away for two months. She went with her companions and wept over her virginity on the mountains. 39 Two months later she came home to her father, and he fulfilled the vow he had sworn. She never had relations with any man.[f] From this arose a custom in Israel 40 that the daughters of Israel went year by year to commemorate[g] the daughter of Jephthah the Gileadite four days in the year.

Notes

- a (11:1) Jephthah means "he opens" or "he sets free."
- b (11:16) Hebrew yam suf, literally "Sea of Reeds."
- c (11:31) Or "whoever." The Hebrew can refer to a person or an animal. Houses of the time often sheltered animals on the ground floor.
- d (11:33) Abel-keramim means "meadow of vineyards."
- e (11:37) So the Hebrew, "go down." Many scholars, with a small change of the Hebrew, read "wander."
- f (11:39) Some interpreters, ancient and modern, understand verses 39–40 to mean that Jephthah dedicated his daughter to lifelong virginity rather than offering her as a sacrifice; the plain sense of verse 31 is a burnt offering.
- g (11:40) Or "to lament" or "to recount the story of." The meaning of the Hebrew verb is uncertain.

Chapter 12

1 The Ephraimite men were mobilized and crossed to Zaphon.[a] They confronted Jephthah: "Why did you march against the Ammonites without summoning us to join you? We will set fire to your house with you inside it!" 2 Jephthah answered, "My people and I were locked in a bitter struggle with the Ammonites. I appealed to you for help, but you never rescued me from them. 3 When I saw that you would not save me, I took my life in my hand and crossed over to the Ammonites, and Yahweh gave them into my hand. Why then have you come up to me this day to fight against me?" 4 Jephthah mustered all of Gilead's men and fought Ephraim. Gilead's men defeated Ephraim, who had taunted them: "You Gileadites are deserters from Ephraim, living between Ephraim and Manasseh."[b] 5 The Gileadites captured the fords of the Jordan against Ephraim. Whenever any of the fugitives of Ephraim said, "Let me cross over," the men of Gilead would say to him, "Are you an Ephraimite?" If he said, "No," 6 they told him, "Say 'Shibboleth,'"[c] and if he said "Sibboleth," unable to pronounce it correctly, they seized him and killed him at the Jordan crossing. At that time forty-two thousand[d] Ephraimites died.

7 Jephthah judged Israel six years. Then Jephthah the Gileadite died and was buried in one of the cities of Gilead.[e] 8 After him Ibzan of Bethlehem[f] judged Israel. 9 He had thirty sons and thirty daughters. He gave his daughters in marriage outside his clan and brought in thirty daughters from outside for his sons. He judged Israel seven years. 10 Then Ibzan died and was buried at Bethlehem.
11 After him Elon the Zebulunite judged Israel. He judged Israel ten years. 12 Then Elon the Zebulunite died and was buried at Aijalon in the land of Zebulun.
13 After him Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite judged Israel. 14 He had forty sons and thirty grandsons, who rode on seventy donkeys. He judged Israel eight years. 15 Then Abdon son of Hillel the Pirathonite died and was buried at Pirathon in the land of Ephraim, in the hill country of the Amalekites.

Notes

- a (12:1) Or "northward." Zaphon was a town in the Jordan Valley (Joshua 13:27).
- b (12:4) The meaning of the Ephraimites' taunt is uncertain. The Septuagint (B text) makes it the escaped Ephraimites who say, "You are of Gilead in the midst of Ephraim and in the midst of Manasseh."
- c (12:6) Hebrew shibboleth means "ear of grain" or "flowing stream." The Ephraimites' dialect evidently lacked the "sh" sound, so they said "sibboleth" with an "s." The Septuagint (B text) translates the word as "ear of grain" (Stachys); the A text translates it as "watchword."
- d (12:6) Or "forty-two units"; on the Hebrew word elef ("thousand," perhaps also "clan" or "military unit"), compare 20:2.
- e (12:7) So the Hebrew, "in the cities of Gilead." The Septuagint reads "in his city, in Gilead."
- f (12:8) Probably the Bethlehem in Zebulun (Joshua 19:15), not Bethlehem of Judah.

Chapter 13

1 The Israelites again did what was evil in the eyes of Yahweh, and Yahweh gave them into the hand of the Philistines for forty years.
2 There was a man from Zorah, of the Danite clan, named Manoah.[a]
His wife was infertile and had no children. 3 The messenger of Yahweh appeared to the woman and told her, "You have never been able to bear a child, yet you will conceive and give birth to a son. 4 Now take care that you drink no wine or other liquor, and avoid every unclean food, 5 You will become pregnant and bear a son. A razor must never touch his head, because the boy will be a Nazirite[b] consecrated to God from birth, and he will begin delivering Israel from Philistine power." 6 Then the woman came and told her husband, saying, "A man of God came to me, and his appearance was like the appearance of the angel of God, very awesome. I did not ask him where he came from, and he did not tell me his name, 7 yet he told me, 'You are going to conceive and bear a son. Starting now, avoid wine and other liquor, and eat nothing unclean, because the child will be a Nazirite, consecrated to God from birth right up to the day of his death.'" 8 Then Manoah prayed to Yahweh and said, "O Lord, please let the man of God whom you sent come to us again and teach us what we should do for the boy who will be born." 9 God listened to the voice of Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman as she was sitting in the field. But Manoah her husband was not with her.

10 So the woman ran quickly and told her husband, saying to him, "Look, the man who came to me the other day has appeared to me." 11 Manoah got up and went after his wife. He approached the man and asked, "Are you the one who spoke with my wife?" "Yes," he said.
12 Manoah asked, "When your promise comes true, how should the boy be raised, and what will he do?" 13 The angel of Yahweh said to Manoah, "Of all that I said to the woman let her be careful. 14 She may not eat anything that comes from the vine, neither let her drink wine or strong drink, nor eat anything unclean. All that I commanded her let her observe." 15 Manoah told Yahweh's messenger, "Let us hold you here while we cook a young goat for you." 16 Yahweh's messenger told Manoah, "Even if you urge me to stay, I won't touch your food. But should you want to prepare a burnt offering, present it to Yahweh." (Manoah did not realize he was speaking with Yahweh's messenger.) 17 Manoah asked Yahweh's messenger, "What is your name, so we can honor you when your word comes true?" 18 And the angel of Yahweh said to him, "Why do you ask my name, seeing it is wonderful?"[c] 19 So Manoah took the young goat with the grain offering and offered it on the rock to Yahweh, and he[d] did a wonderful thing while Manoah and his wife were watching. 20 As the flame rose from the altar toward the sky, Yahweh's messenger ascended in it. Manoah and his wife saw this and fell face down on the ground. 21 The angel of Yahweh did not appear again to Manoah and to his wife. Then Manoah knew that he was the angel of Yahweh. 22 Manoah told his wife, "We are certain to die, because we have seen God." 23 But his wife said to him, "If Yahweh had wanted to kill us, he would not have accepted a burnt offering and a grain offering from our hands, nor shown us all these things, nor now announced to us such things as these."

24 The woman bore a son and called his name Samson.[e] The boy grew, and Yahweh blessed him. 25 Yahweh's Spirit began to move him at Mahaneh-dan,[f] between Zorah and Eshtaol.

Notes

- a (13:2) Manoah means "rest."
- b (13:5) Nazirite means "one consecrated" or "separated" (see Numbers 6:1–21). The Septuagint (B text) keeps the Hebrew word (Nazir); the A text reads Naziraios, a form close to the wording of Matthew 2:23.
- c (13:18) Hebrew pil'i, "wonderful, beyond understanding"; compare Isaiah 9:6.
- d (13:19) Hebrew "and he did wonderfully," referring to the angel. The Septuagint (A text) reads "offered it to Yahweh, who does wonders."
- e (13:24) Samson (Hebrew Shimshon) is related to shemesh, "sun," perhaps meaning "little sun" or "of the sun." Beth-shemesh, "house of the sun," lay near Zorah.
- f (13:25) Mahaneh-dan means "camp of Dan" (compare 18:12).

Chapter 14

1 Samson went to Timnah, and in Timnah he noticed a young Philistine woman. 2 He returned and told his parents, "At Timnah I saw a Philistine woman. Get her for me as a wife." 3 His parents objected, "Can't you find a wife among your own relatives or in all our people? Must you take one from the pagan Philistines?" But Samson insisted to his father, "Get her for me! She is the one who pleases me." 4 His parents did not realize this was from Yahweh, who was looking for a pretext to confront the Philistines, since they were then Israel's rulers.
5 Samson and his parents went down to Timnah, and as they approached the vineyards there, a young lion suddenly came roaring at him. 6 Yahweh's Spirit seized him, and bare-handed he ripped the lion apart as if it were a kid. But he said nothing to his parents about what he had done. 7 He went down and spoke with the woman, and Samson found her pleasing.

8 After some days he returned to take her, and he turned aside to see the carcass of the lion. And look, there was a swarm of bees in the body of the lion, and honey. 9 He scraped it out into his hands and went on, eating as he went. He came to his father and mother and gave some to them, and they ate. But he did not tell them that he had scraped the honey from the body of the lion.
10 His father visited the woman, and Samson held a banquet there, as young men customarily did. 11 When they saw him,[a] they brought thirty companions to be with him. 12 Samson told them, "Let me pose a riddle for you. If you solve it and give me the answer before the week-long feast ends, I will award you thirty linen shirts and thirty sets of fine clothing. 13 If you are unable to solve it, the thirty linen shirts and thirty sets of fine clothing will be mine." They answered, "Go ahead, tell us your riddle, and we will listen." 14 He said to them, "Out of the eater came something to eat, and out of the strong came something sweet." And for three days they could not solve the riddle.
15 On the seventh day[b] they said to Samson's wife, "Entice your husband to tell us the riddle, or we will burn you and your father's house with fire. Have you invited us here to impoverish us?" 16 Samson's wife sobbed against him and said, "All you feel for me is hatred! There is no love in you. You gave my countrymen a riddle and never told me the answer." He replied, "I haven't even told my own parents, so why would I tell you?" 17 She sobbed in front of him throughout the feast's seven days, and on day seven, because she badgered him so, he gave her the answer. She then explained the riddle to her countrymen. 18 And the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before the sun went down,[c] "What is sweeter than honey? What is stronger than a lion?" And he said to them, "If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have found out my riddle." 19 Then Yahweh's Spirit came powerfully over him. Down to Ashkelon he went, struck dead thirty of its men, stripped them, and handed their clothes to the guests who had solved the riddle. Furious, he returned to his father's house. 20 And Samson's wife was given to his companion, who had been his best man.

Notes

- a (14:11) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint. With different vowels the Hebrew could be read "Because they feared him."
- b (14:15) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint and some other ancient versions read "the fourth day," which fits better with verses 14 and 17.
- c (14:18) Hebrew harsah, "toward the sun" (a rare word for the sun). Many scholars, with a change of one letter, read "before he went into the bridal chamber." The Septuagint (B text) reads "before sunrise."

Chapter 15

1 Some time later, around wheat harvest (in May–June),[a] Samson visited his wife, bringing a kid goat as a gift. "I am going to my wife's room," he said. But her father refused to admit him. 2 Her father explained, "I was convinced you despised her, so I gave her to the man who stood as your best man. Isn't her kid sister prettier? Have her instead." 3 Samson said to them, "This time I shall be blameless toward the Philistines when I do them harm." 4 So Samson went and caught three hundred foxes[b] and took torches. He turned them tail to tail and put a torch between each pair of tails. 5 He lit the torches and released the foxes into the Philistines' ripe grain, burning up the stacked sheaves and the standing crops, along with the vineyards and olive orchards. 6 Then the Philistines said, "Who has done this?" And they said, "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he took his wife and gave her to his companion." And the Philistines came up and burned her and her father with fire. 7 Samson answered them, "Since you have behaved this way, I swear I will take revenge on you. Only then will I quit." 8 He attacked them savagely, slaughtering many,[c] then went down and took refuge in a rocky crevice at Etam.
9 Then the Philistines came up and camped in Judah and spread out at Lehi.[d] 10 And the men of Judah said, "Why have you come up against us?" They said, "We have come up to bind Samson, to do to him as he did to us." 11 Then three thousand men of Judah went down to the cleft of the rock of Etam and said to Samson, "Do you not know that the Philistines rule over us? What then is this that you have done to us?" And he said to them, "As they did to me, so have I done to them." 12 They said, "We came down to bind you and deliver you into Philistine custody." Samson replied, "Promise me you will not kill me yourselves." 13 "No," they answered, "we only mean to tie you and give you to them. We swear we will not put you to death." They fastened him with two new cords and led him up from the rock.

14 As he arrived at Lehi, the Philistines rushed toward him shouting. Yahweh's Spirit came upon him with power, and the cords binding his arms turned to burnt flax and dropped from his wrists. 15 He found a fresh jawbone of a donkey, put out his hand, took it, and with it he struck down a thousand men. 16 And Samson said, "With the jawbone of a donkey, heaps upon heaps,[e] with the jawbone of a donkey I have struck down a thousand men." 17 When he had finished speaking, he threw away the jawbone from his hand. And that place was called Ramath-lehi.[f]
18 Burning with thirst, he cried out to Yahweh, "You granted this tremendous victory through your servant. Must I now perish from thirst and land in the hands of these pagans?" 19 God then split open a hollow in the earth at Lehi, and water gushed out. Samson drank, his strength came back, and he revived. That is why the spring is called En-hakkore,[g] and it remains at Lehi today. 20 And he judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty years.

Notes

- a (15:1) The wheat harvest followed the barley harvest and came in late spring, roughly the Hebrew month Sivan (Pentecost/Shavuot), in May–June.
- b (15:4) Or "jackals."
- c (15:8) Hebrew "leg upon thigh," an idiom for a crushing defeat.
- d (15:9) Lehi means "jawbone."
- e (15:16) Hebrew hamor homoratayim, a play on words: hamor means "donkey," and homer means "heap." The Septuagint reads "I have utterly destroyed them."
- f (15:17) Ramath-lehi means "height of the jawbone." The Septuagint (B text) understands it as "the lifting (or throwing away) of the jawbone."
- g (15:19) En-hakkore means "spring of the one who called." The Septuagint (B text) reads "Well of the invoker."

Chapter 16

1 Samson visited Gaza, where he noticed a prostitute and went in to spend the night with her. 2 The people of Gaza heard, "Samson is here!" They encircled the town and waited in ambush at the city gate all night, staying quiet and thinking, "At first light we will kill him." 3 But Samson stayed in bed only till midnight. Then he rose, grabbed the town gate's double doors with both posts, tore them loose along with the bar, hoisted them onto his shoulders, and hauled them up to the summit of the hill facing Hebron.
4 After this he loved a woman in the Valley of Sorek,[a] whose name was Delilah.[b] 5 The Philistine rulers approached her and said, "Coax him. Find the secret of his tremendous strength and how we can overpower him and tie him up to subdue him. Each of us will pay you eleven hundred silver coins."[c] 6 Delilah asked Samson, "Tell me, what is the secret of your great strength, and how could you be tied up and subdued?" 7 Samson told her, "If anyone binds me with seven fresh bowstrings,[d] still damp and unused, I will lose my strength and be like everyone else." 8 Then the lords of the Philistines brought up to her seven fresh bowstrings that had not been dried, and she bound him with them. 9 She had men waiting in ambush in the next room. She shouted, "Samson, the Philistines are on you!" But he snapped the strings like a flax thread that singes in a flame. His secret remained undiscovered.
10 Delilah accused Samson, "You made a fool of me and lied to me. Now tell me honestly how you can be tied up." 11 He told her, "If anyone ties me firmly with new ropes that have never been used, I will lose my strength and be like everyone else." 12 Delilah took fresh ropes and bound him, then screamed, "Samson, the Philistines are on you!" The ambushers lay waiting in the next room. But he snapped the ropes off his arms like so much thread.
13 Delilah complained to Samson, "So far you have mocked me and lied. Say how someone might tie you up." He said, "Weave the seven braids of my hair into the loom's fabric."[e] 14 She secured it with the pin and shouted, "Samson, the Philistines are on you!" He woke up and yanked out the pin, the loom, and the fabric.

15 Then she said, “How can you claim to love me when your heart is elsewhere? Three times now you have made fun of me, and you still have not revealed what makes you so strong.” 16 Day after day she nagged him with her pleading until he felt sick enough to die. 17 So he opened his whole heart to her: “A blade has never been used on my head, since I have been set apart for God as a Nazirite from the day of my birth. Shave my head and my strength will drain away; I will turn weak and become like any ordinary man.” 18 Delilah saw that he had finally told her everything, so she sent word summoning the Philistine rulers: “Come one more time; he has confided in me completely.” The rulers came to her, carrying the silver.
19 She made him sleep on her knees. And she called a man and had him shave off the seven locks of his head. Then she began to humble[f] him, and his strength left him. 20 She shouted, “Samson, the Philistines are on you!” Waking from his sleep, he thought, “I will break free as before, with a shake.” He had no idea that Yahweh had abandoned him. 21 And the Philistines seized him and gouged out his eyes and brought him down to Gaza and bound him with bronze shackles. And he ground grain in the prison. 22 But the hair of his head began to grow again after it had been shaved.
23 The Philistine rulers assembled for a great sacrificial feast to their god Dagon[g] and for rejoicing, saying, “Our god has put Samson, our enemy, in our hands.” 24 When the crowd saw him, they praised their god: “Our god has put into our power the foe who ravaged our land and killed so many of us!” 25 When their hearts were merry, they said, “Call Samson, so that he may entertain us.” So they called Samson out of the prison, and he entertained them. They made him stand between the pillars. 26 Samson said to the boy leading him, “Place my hands on the pillars that support the building, so I can lean on them.” 27 The building was crowded, full of men and women. Every Philistine ruler was present, and some three thousand more were up on the roof, watching Samson perform.
28 Samson prayed to Yahweh: “Lord Yahweh, remember me! Give me strength just this one time, God, so that with a single blow I may repay the Philistines for my two eyes.” 29 Samson felt for the two central columns that supported the building. He braced himself against them, one under his right hand and the other under his left. 30 And Samson said, “Let me die with the Philistines!” Then he bent with all his might, and the house fell upon the lords and upon all the people who were in it. So the dead whom he killed at his death were more than those whom he had killed during his life. 31 His brothers and his father’s whole house came down, collected him, carried him back, and buried him between Zorah and Eshtaol in the burial place of his father Manoah. For twenty years he had been Israel’s judge.

Notes

- a (16:4) Sorek means “choice vine.” The Septuagint (B text) keeps the Hebrew as a name (Alsorech); the A text reads “the brook of Sorek.”
- b (16:4) The meaning of Delilah is uncertain; it may be related to dallah, “hair, threads,” or to dalal, “to be weak, small.”
- c (16:5) Probably shekels; 1,100 shekels weighed about 28 pounds (12.6 kilograms, kg). Hebrew “a thousand and a hundred of silver.”
- d (16:7) Or “cords” or “sinews”; Hebrew yetarim, used of bowstrings and tent cords.
- e (16:13) The Hebrew here appears to be shorter, perhaps because a scribe’s eye skipped between similar words. The Septuagint has a longer text: “If you weave the seven locks of my head with the web and fasten them with the pin into the wall, then I shall become weak and be like any other man.” And in verse 14: “And while he slept, Delilah took the seven locks of his head and wove them into the web.”
- f (16:19) Or “to afflict” or “to subdue.” The Septuagint reads “and she began to humble him”; some scholars read “he began to grow weak.”
- g (16:23) Dagon was a grain or storm god worshiped in Mesopotamia, Syria, and Philistia.

Chapter 17

1 There was a man of the hill country of Ephraim whose name was Micah.[a] 2 He said to his mother, “The eleven hundred pieces of silver[b] that were taken from you, about which you uttered a curse and also spoke it in my hearing—look, the silver is with me; I took it.” And his mother said, “Blessed be my son by Yahweh.” 3 He returned the eleven hundred pieces of silver to his mother. And his mother said, “I solemnly dedicate the silver to Yahweh from my hand for my son, to make a carved image and a cast image. So now I will return it to you.” 4 When he gave the silver back to her, she took two hundred shekels of it to a silversmith, who fashioned a carved idol and a molten one.

These stood in Micah's house. 5 This Micah owned a shrine.[c] He had an ephod made, and household idols,[d] and appointed[e] one of his own sons to be his priest. 6 In those days there was no king in Israel.
Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.
7 There was a young Levite from Bethlehem in Judah, belonging to the Judah clan, who was staying there as a resident foreigner. 8
He left Bethlehem in Judah to live wherever he could find lodging.
On his way he reached Micah's house in Ephraim's hill country. 9 Micah asked him, "Where are you from?" He said, "I am a Levite of Bethlehem in Judah, looking for a place to stay." 10 Micah said to him, "Stay with me, and be to me a father and a priest, and I will give you ten pieces of silver[f] a year and a set of clothes and your food." So the Levite went in. 11 The Levite agreed to live with Micah, and the young man became like a son to him. 12 Micah ordained the Levite, and the young man became his priest, and he was in the house of Micah. 13 Micah concluded, "Now I am certain that Yahweh will do me good, since a Levite is my priest."

Notes

- a (17:1) Micah (here Hebrew Mikayehu, verses 1 and 4; elsewhere Mikah) means "Who is like Yahweh?"
- b (17:2) Probably shekels; 1,100 shekels weighed about 28 pounds (12.6 kilograms, kg). Verse 4's two hundred pieces weighed about 5 pounds (2.3 kg).
- c (17:5) Hebrew "a house of God" (or "of gods").
- d (17:5) Hebrew teraphim, small household idols, perhaps also used in divination.
- e (17:5) Hebrew "filled the hand of," an idiom for installing a priest; also in verse 12.
- f (17:10) Probably shekels; ten shekels weighed about 4 ounces (115 grams, g).

Chapter 18

1 At that time Israel had no king. And at that time the Danite clan was still seeking a place to settle, because it had not yet received an allotment among Israel's tribes. 2 From their clans, from Zorah and Eshtaol, the Danites picked five capable men to scout and map the land. Their instructions: "Go, survey the country." They reached Ephraim's hill country, arrived at Micah's house, and spent the night.
3 Near Micah's house, the young Levite's accent gave him away to them. They stopped and asked him, "Who brought you here? What is your business in this place? What is your stake here?" 4 He explained, "Micah made an arrangement with me. He pays me, and I serve as his priest." 5 They said, "Ask God, so we can learn whether our mission will succeed." 6 The priest told them, "Go in peace. Yahweh is watching over the mission you are on."

7 The five men left and reached Laish. They watched the people living there: they were secure, like the Sidonians, calm and trusting, wanting nothing the earth could supply, and prosperous.[a] They lived far from Sidon, with no ties to anyone.[b] 8 When the five returned to their kinsmen at Zorah and Eshtaol, the kinsmen asked, "What did you find out?" 9 They answered, "Let's march against them! We saw that land, and it is excellent. Why are you sitting still? Don't hesitate; go and capture the country. 10 When you arrive, you will find a trusting people and a wide-open country. God has delivered it to you, a place that lacks nothing the earth can provide." 11 So six hundred men of the clan of the Danites, armed with weapons of war, set out from Zorah and Eshtaol, 12 They went up and pitched camp at Kiriath-jearim in Judah. For that reason the spot has been named Mahaneh-dan[c] ever since; it lies west[d] of Kiriath-jearim. 13 And they passed on from there to the hill country of Ephraim and came to the house of Micah.
14 The five men who had scouted the Laish region said to their kinsmen, "Did you know that one of these houses holds an ephod, household idols, a carved image, and a cast idol? Think about what to do." 15 And they turned aside there and came to the house of the young Levite, at the house of Micah, and asked him about his welfare.
16 The six hundred Danite men, equipped for battle, stood beside the entrance to the gateway. 17 The five men who had scouted the land went inside and removed the carved idol, the ephod, the household gods, and the molten idol. Meanwhile the priest was standing by the gateway's entrance with the six hundred armed warriors. 18 When these went into Micah's house and took the carved image, the ephod, the household gods, and the cast image, the priest said to them, "What are you doing?" 19 They told him, "Silence! Cover your mouth with your hand, and come along as our father and priest. Would you rather serve one man's household as priest, or serve a whole tribe and clan of Israel?" 20 The priest was delighted. He took the ephod, the idols, and the carved image and joined the Danite company. 21 Then they turned and left, placing the children, the livestock, and the baggage ahead of them.

22 They were some distance from Micah's house when the men living in the neighborhood were rallied, and they caught up with the Danites. 23 Calling out to the Danites, who looked back at them, they asked Micah, "What is wrong? Why have you brought such a crowd?" 24 He replied, "You carry off the gods I made, along with my priest, and leave. What do I have left? And you ask me, 'What's wrong?'" 25 The Danites warned him, "Keep your voice down around us, or some hot-tempered men may attack you, and you and your family will lose your lives." 26 Then the Danites went their way. And when Micah saw that they were too strong for him, he turned and went back to his home.
27 They carried off Micah's handiwork and his priest, and reached Laish, a calm and unsuspecting people. They slaughtered them with swords and burned the town to the ground. 28 No one came to rescue the city, because it lay a long way from Sidon and had no dealings with outsiders. It was situated in the valley by Beth-rehob. The Danites reconstructed the city and made it their home. 29 They renamed the town Dan after their ancestor Dan, Israel's son; its earlier name had been Laish. 30 And the Danites set up the carved image for themselves, and Jonathan son of Gershom, son of Moses,[e] he and his sons were priests to the tribe of the Danites until the day of the captivity of the land.[f] 31 They kept Micah's carved image for themselves all the time God's house stood at Shiloh.

Notes

- a (18:7) The meaning of the Hebrew of this clause is uncertain.
- b (18:7) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint (B text). The A text, followed by some scholars, reads "with Aram" (Syria), a difference of one letter in Hebrew (adam, "anyone," and aram).
- c (18:12) Mahaneh-dan means "camp of Dan."
- d (18:12) Hebrew "behind," that is, west.
- e (18:30) Most manuscripts of the Hebrew text read "Manasseh," but the letter n (nun) is written above the line, raised or "suspended" between the other letters, the only suspended nun in the Hebrew Bible. Without it the word reads "Moses." Jewish tradition (Talmud, Bava Batra 109b) explains that the scribes added the nun to spare Moses the shame of a grandson who served as an idolatrous priest, while marking it as an addition. The Septuagint A text and the Latin Vulgate read "Moses"; the B text reads "Manasseh." Gershom was the son of Moses (Exodus 2:22).

- f (18:30) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint. Some scholars, with a slight change of the Hebrew, read "the captivity of the ark" (compare 1 Samuel 4:11, 21–22). The captivity of the land may refer to the Assyrian deportations in 734–732 B.C. or 722 B.C.

Chapter 19

1 In those days Israel had no king. A certain Levite was living in a remote corner of Ephraim's hill country, and from Bethlehem in Judah he took a concubine. 2 His concubine became angry with him[a] and left, going back to her father's home in Bethlehem in Judah. She remained there four months. 3 Her husband set out to follow her and win her over, so she would return. He took along his servant and two donkeys. She brought him into her father's home, and when the young woman's father spotted him, he welcomed him gladly. 4 His father-in-law, the young woman's father, persuaded him to stay, and he lodged with them for three days, eating, drinking, and sleeping there. 5 On the fourth morning they got up early and he was ready to leave, but the girl's father urged his son-in-law, "Refresh yourself with a bite to eat, then you can go." 6 The two men sat down together to eat and drink. Then the young woman's father urged the man, "Won't you agree to stay the night and enjoy yourself?" 7 When the man stood to leave, his father-in-law pressed him, and he stayed another night. 8 On the fifth day he rose at dawn to leave. But the young woman's father urged him, "Eat something first and wait until the afternoon." So the two of them dined together. 9 When the man, his concubine, and his servant stood to go, his wife's father, the young woman's father, told him, "Look, evening is coming on and the day is nearly gone. Stay one more night. See, the sun is setting. Spend the night here and enjoy yourself. You can get up early tomorrow, begin your trip, and head home." 10 But the man refused to stay another night. He rose and left, and reached a point across from Jebus (that is, Jerusalem). His two saddled donkeys were with him, along with his concubine. 11 By the time they were close to Jebus, the day was nearly gone, and the servant suggested to his master, “Let’s turn off to this Jebusite town and stay the night there.” 12 His master answered, “We won’t detour into a foreign city whose inhabitants are not Israelites. We will continue to Gibeah.” 13 He told his servant, “Let’s try to reach one of these towns and stay the night in Gibeah or Ramah.” 14 So they passed on and went their way. And the sun went down on them near Gibeah, which belongs to Benjamin, 15 and they stopped there to spend the night in Gibeah. He went in and took a seat in the town’s public square, but nobody offered them a home for the night.

16 Then an old man came along from his work in the fields that evening. He was originally from Ephraim’s hill country and was living in Gibeah, though the townspeople were Benjaminites. 17 The old man looked up and noticed the traveler in the town square.
“Where are you headed?” he asked. “Where did you come from?” 18
He answered, “We are traveling from Bethlehem in Judah toward a remote corner of Ephraim’s hill country, which is my home. I had gone to Bethlehem in Judah, and now I am heading to the house of Yahweh,[b] but nobody has invited me into a home. 19 We carry our own straw and feed for the donkeys, plus bread and wine for me, for your servant woman, and for the young man traveling with us. We need nothing else.” 20 The old man replied, “You are welcome. Whatever you require, I will provide. Just don’t sleep out in the open square.” 21 He led them to his house and fed the donkeys. The travelers bathed their feet, then ate and drank.
22 While they were enjoying themselves, a gang of the town’s scoundrels[c] ringed the house and hammered on its door. They shouted to the elderly owner, “Send out the man who has come to your house, so that we can have sex with him.” 23 The owner of the house stepped outside and pleaded with them, “No, my friends, please don’t do such a wicked thing. This man is my guest; don’t commit this outrage. 24 Here are my daughter, a virgin, and his concubine. Let me send them out. Abuse them and treat them however you like, but do not commit such an atrocity against this man.” 25 The men refused to heed him. So the man grabbed his concubine and shoved her outside to them. They raped her and tortured her throughout the night until morning, and at first light released her. 26 And as morning appeared, the woman came and fell down at the door of the man's house where her master was, until it was light.

27 When her master rose that morning and opened the house door to continue his journey, there lay his concubine at the entrance, her hands stretched out on the threshold. 28 "Get up," he told her, "we are leaving." She did not respond.[d] He loaded her on the donkey and started for home. 29 Once inside his house, he picked up a knife, took hold of his concubine, cut her body apart into twelve parts, and sent them to every part of Israel. 30 Everyone who saw it said, "Never has such a deed been done or witnessed since the day Israel left Egypt. Think about it, discuss it, and speak up!"

Notes

- a (19:2) Hebrew "played the harlot against him" (zanah). Some Greek manuscripts read "was angry with him," perhaps reflecting a different Hebrew verb; the Septuagint (B text) reads "departed from him."
- b (19:18) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint reads "to my house," which fits verse 29; the Hebrew may have arisen from a misread abbreviation.
- c (19:22) Hebrew beliya'al, "worthlessness."
- d (19:28) The Septuagint adds "for she was dead."

Chapter 20

1 All Israel, from Dan down to Beersheba and from Gilead too, marched out, and the community gathered as one person before Yahweh at Mizpah. 2 The leaders of every tribe of Israel took their positions in the gathering of God's people: four hundred thousand[a] infantrymen carrying swords. 3 (The Benjaminites heard that the Israelites had gone to Mizpah.) The Israelites demanded, "Explain how this wicked deed came about." 4 And the Levite, the husband of the woman who was murdered, answered and said, "I came to Gibeah that belongs to Benjamin, I and my concubine, to spend the night. 5 During the night the lords of Gibeah attacked me, surrounding the house. They intended to murder me, and they raped my concubine so savagely that she died. 6 I took my concubine, cut her into pieces, and sent them across Israel's whole territory, because they have done a vile and shameful thing in Israel. 7 Look, you Israelites, all of you, give your advice and counsel here." 8 The entire people rose together and swore, "None of us will return to his tent or go back to his home. 9 But now this is what we will do to Gibeah: we will go up against it by lot, 10 We will pick one man in ten from all Israel's tribes, one in a hundred, and one in a thousand, to gather food for the army. Then, once the troops arrive, they will punish Gibeah in Benjamin for the disgraceful crime it committed in Israel." 11 So the men of Israel assembled against the town, united as a single body.

12 The tribes of Israel sent envoys to every clan of Benjamin with this question: "What is this crime committed among you? 13 Surrender those scoundrels in Gibeah, so that we may execute them and cleanse Israel of this evil." But the Benjaminites refused to obey their fellow Israelites. 14 Then the Benjaminites came together out of the cities to Gibeah to go out to battle against the Israelites. 15 On that day the Benjaminites recruited from their towns twenty-six thousand[b] swordsmen, in addition to seven hundred elite troops from Gibeah's population. 16 Among all these troops were seven hundred select men who were left-handed;[c] each could sling a stone at a hair's width and never miss. 17 The men of Israel, not counting Benjamin, numbered four hundred thousand sword-bearers, every one a seasoned warrior.
18 The Israelites set out for Bethel and asked God, "Which of us should march first against the Benjaminites?" Yahweh answered, "Judah goes first."
19 Then the Israelites rose in the morning and camped against Gibeah.
20 The men of Israel marched against Benjamin and took positions opposite them at Gibeah. 21 The Benjaminites came out of Gibeah and destroyed on that day twenty-two thousand men of the Israelites. 22 But the Israelite soldiers rallied their courage and again assembled in the same location they had occupied the day before. 23 The Israelites went and wept in Yahweh's presence until evening, and they asked Yahweh, "Should we once more march out to battle against our kinsmen the Benjaminites?" Yahweh said, "March against them."

24 So the Israelites came near against the Benjaminites the second day. 25 And Benjamin went against them out of Gibeah the second day, and destroyed eighteen thousand men of the Israelites. All these were men who drew the sword. 26 Then all the Israelites, the whole army, went up and came to Bethel and wept. They sat there before Yahweh and fasted that day until evening, and offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before Yahweh. 27 And the Israelites inquired of Yahweh (for the ark of the covenant of God was there in those days, 28 Phinehas, Eleazar's son and Aaron's grandson, served before it in those years). The Israelites asked, "Should we go out to battle against our kinsmen the Benjaminites once more, or give up?" Yahweh replied, "Attack! Tomorrow I will hand them over to you." 29 So Israel set men in ambush around Gibeah. 30 On the third day the Israelites again marched against the Benjaminites and took up positions facing Gibeah, as they had done before. 31 The Benjaminites advanced against Israel's army and were lured away from the town.
Just as earlier, they began wounding and killing Israelites along the roads, one leading to Bethel, another toward Gibeah, and in the fields, about thirty Israelites in all. 32 And the Benjaminites said, "They are defeated before us, as at the first." But the Israelites said, "Let us flee and draw them away from the city to the highways." 33 All Israel's men left their positions and formed their line at Baal-tamar,[d] while the ambush force burst from its cover west of Geba.[e] 34 Ten thousand picked soldiers from throughout Israel advanced on Gibeah, and the fighting was fierce. The Benjaminites had no idea that catastrophe was approaching. 35 Yahweh gave Israel victory over Benjamin, and on that day Israel killed 25,100 Benjaminite swordsmen.
36 The Benjaminites realized they were losing. Israel's soldiers had retreated before them, counting on the troops they had hidden near Gibeah. 37 The ambushers raced into Gibeah, spread out, and put the entire town to the sword. 38 The agreed signal between the Israelite army and the hidden troops was a tall column of smoke rising from the town 39 was the cue for Israel's troops to turn and fight.
Benjamin had started to wound and kill some thirty Israelites. They told themselves, "We are beating them just as in the first battle!" 40

But when the column of smoke started to climb from the town, the Benjaminites looked back, and the whole town was rising in flames to the sky. 41 Then the men of Israel turned, and the men of Benjamin were dismayed, for they saw that disaster was close upon them. 42 They turned away from the Israelites toward the desert, but the battle caught up with them, and men from the towns cut them down in the middle of the fight. 43 They encircled the Benjaminites, chased them down, and trampled them from Nohah[f] to a point east of Gibeah. 44 Eighteen thousand men of Benjamin fell; all of them were men of valor. 45 The survivors turned and ran for the desert, to the rock of Rimmon. Along the roads five thousand of them were cut down,[g] and the pursuit pressed on as far as Gidom, where two thousand more fell. 46 So all who fell that day of Benjamin were twenty-five thousand men who drew the sword, all of them men of valor. 47 But six hundred men turned and ran into the wilderness to Rimmon's rock, where they stayed for four months. 48 The Israelites then went back and attacked the rest of Benjamin, killing the inhabitants of every town, human and animal, everything they came across. They also burned every town they reached.

Notes

- a (20:2) The Hebrew word elef, "thousand," may in some contexts denote a clan or military unit rather than an exact count; the numbers are given here as written. So throughout this chapter.
- b (20:15) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint (B text) reads "twenty-three thousand"; compare verses 35 and 46.
- c (20:16) Hebrew "bound in the right hand," as in 3:15. The Septuagint reads "able to use both hands alike."
- d (20:33) Baal-tamar means "lord of the palm tree."
- e (20:33) Maareh-geba probably means "the open area of Geba (or Gibeah)"; the Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint keeps it as a name.
- f (20:43) Or "from their resting place"; Hebrew menuhah. The Septuagint reads "from Nua."
- g (20:45) Hebrew "gleaned," that is, picked off like gleanings.

Chapter 21

1 At Mizpah the Israelites had taken an oath: "None of us will marry his daughter to a Benjaminite." 2 The people came to Bethel and sat in God's presence until evening, crying aloud in bitter grief. 3 They asked, "Why, Yahweh, God of Israel, has this befallen Israel, so that one of our tribes is missing today?" 4 Early the next day the people got up, built an altar there, and presented burnt offerings and fellowship offerings. 5 The Israelites asked, "Is there any tribe of Israel that did not join the gathering before Yahweh?" They had taken a binding oath that whoever failed to appear before Yahweh at Mizpah must be put to death. 6 The Israelites felt sorry for their kinsmen the Benjaminites and said, "Today one tribe has been cut off from Israel.

7 What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since we have sworn by Yahweh that we will not give them any of our daughters for wives?"
8 They asked, "Which of Israel's tribes failed to come to Yahweh at Mizpah?" They discovered that nobody from Jabesh-gilead had joined the gathering in the camp. 9 For when the people were mustered, look, not one of the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead was there. 10 So the assembly sent twelve thousand of its best soldiers with this command: "Go and kill the people of Jabesh-gilead by the sword, women and children included. 11 Here is what you must do: put to death every man, and every woman who has had intercourse with a man."[a] 12 And they found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young virgins who had not known a man by lying with him, and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the land of Canaan.
13 Then the whole congregation sent word to the Benjaminites who were at the rock of Rimmon and proclaimed peace to them. 14 At that point Benjamin returned, and the survivors were given the Jabeshgilead women who had been left alive. Even so, the women did not suffice.[b] 15 And the people had compassion on Benjamin because Yahweh had made a breach in the tribes of Israel.
16 Then the elders of the congregation said, "What shall we do for wives for those who are left, since the women are destroyed out of Benjamin?" 17 And they said, "There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, so that a tribe not be blotted out from Israel. 18 Yet we cannot give them wives from our daughters." For the Israelites had sworn, “Cursed be he who gives a wife to Benjamin.” 19 Then they remembered, “Yahweh’s annual festival is being held at Shiloh,[c] which is north of Bethel, east of the road from Bethel to Shechem, and south of Lebonah.” 20 And they commanded the Benjaminites, saying, “Go and lie in ambush in the vineyards 21 and keep watch. When Shiloh’s young women come out to join the dancing, run from the vineyards, grab a wife each from among them, and head for Benjamin’s territory. 22 If their fathers or brothers come to us with complaints, we will tell them, ‘Be generous and let us keep them, since we did not capture a wife for each of them in the war, and you did not give them away yourselves, or you would now be guilty.’”[d] 23 The Benjaminites did that. They carried off as many wives as they needed from the dancing women. Then they went home to their own land, rebuilt their towns, and settled in them. 24 The Israelites dispersed from that place, each man to his own tribe and clan, each to his own allotted land. 25 In those days there was no king in Israel. Everyone did what was right in his own eyes.

Notes

- a (21:11) The Septuagint adds “but the virgins you shall save alive. And they did so.”
- b (21:14) Hebrew “but they did not find enough for them.” The Septuagint reads “and it pleased them so.”
- c (21:19) Probably the autumn Festival of Booths (Tabernacles), held at the end of the grape harvest in the seventh month (in September–October); compare the vineyards in verses 20–21. This identification is not certain.
- d (21:22) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. The Greek manuscripts differ in this verse.

Ruth

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 During the era when judges governed Israel, famine struck, and a man from Bethlehem[a] in Judah left with his wife and both sons, to reside as foreigners in Moabite territory. 2 The man's name was Elimelech,[b] his wife's was Naomi,[c] and his two sons were called Mahlon[d] and Chilion.[e] The family belonged to Ephrath, near Bethlehem in Judah. Having reached Moabite territory, they settled there. 3 Then Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died, leaving her alone with her two sons. 4 Both sons married Moabite women. The first wife's name was Orpah,[f] the second's was Ruth.[g] After they had lived there some ten years, 5 Then Mahlon and Chilion both died as well, and the woman was left bereft, without her two boys or her husband.
6 Naomi prepared to leave Moab with her two daughters-in-law and head home, because word had reached her in Moab that Yahweh had turned his attention to his people and supplied them with bread.[h] 7 So she departed the place of her stay, accompanied by her two sons' wives, and the three took the road back toward the land of Judah. 8 Naomi urged each of her daughters-in-law, "Go on back, both of you, to your own mothers' homes. May Yahweh show faithful love[i] to you, just as you showed it to the departed and to me. 9 May Yahweh let each of you find peace in a new husband's household!" She kissed them goodbye, but they began sobbing aloud. 10 They protested, "No, we are returning with you, to your people." 11 Naomi replied, "Go home, my girls. Why come along with me? Am I still carrying sons in my body who could become your husbands? 12 Go home, my girls, and be on your way. I am too old to take a husband. Even supposing I had hope, and were married tonight, and gave birth to sons, 13 would you hold off until they were grown? Would you stay unmarried for their sake? Certainly not, my girls! My lot is far more bitter than yours, because Yahweh's own hand has struck me down." 14 Then they lifted up their voices and wept again. And Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clung to her.

15 Naomi said, "See, your brother's widow has gone home to her people and her gods. Follow her back." 16 Ruth replied, "Do not press me to abandon you or to turn back from going with you. Wherever you travel, I will travel, and wherever you stay overnight, so will I. Your people will be mine, and your God will be my God. 17 Where you die, I die, and I will be laid in the ground beside you. May Yahweh punish me severely if anything other than death separates you and me." 18 Seeing how firmly Ruth had resolved to accompany her, Naomi stopped arguing.

19 The two of them traveled on until they arrived in Bethlehem. Their arrival set the entire town buzzing, and the local women exclaimed, "Can this really be Naomi?" 20 She told them, "Don't call me Naomi. Call me Mara,[j] because Shaddai[k] has embittered my life terribly. 21 I left here with plenty, but Yahweh has returned me with nothing. Why call me Naomi, now that Yahweh has stood as a witness against me[l] and Shaddai has sent disaster on me?"

22 That is how Naomi came back, along with Ruth, her Moabite daughter-in-law, who had come with her out of Moab. They reached Bethlehem just as the barley harvest was starting (in March–April).[m]

Notes

- a (1:1) Bethlehem means "house of bread."
- b (1:2) Elimelech means "my God is king."
- c (1:2) Naomi means "pleasant" or "my pleasantness."
- d (1:2) The meaning of Mahlon is uncertain; it is often explained as "sickly" or "weakness."
- e (1:2) Chilion probably means "failing," "finished," or "consumption."
- f (1:4) The meaning of Orpah is uncertain; it is often connected with ʿoref, "back of the neck," as one who turned back (verse 14).
- g (1:4) The meaning of Ruth is uncertain; it is often explained as "friend" or "companion," or as "refreshment."
- h (1:6) Hebrew lehem, "bread," echoing the name Bethlehem.
- i (1:8) Hebrew hesed, "steadfast love, loyal kindness," a key word in Ruth (2:20; 3:10).
- j (1:20) Mara means "bitter."

- k (1:20) A divine name, traditionally translated “the Almighty”; its original meaning is uncertain. Also in verse 21. The Septuagint reads “the Mighty One.”
- l (1:21) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint and some other ancient versions read “has humbled me,” from the same Hebrew letters with different vowels.
- m (1:22) The barley harvest began around Passover in the first month of the spring-start calendar, Nisan (in March–April), and lasted about seven weeks until the wheat harvest ended at Pentecost/Shavuot (2:23). Today barley in this region is reaped mainly in April.

Chapter 2

1 Naomi had a kinsman through her husband, a man of standing[a] from Elimelech’s family, named Boaz.[b] 2 Ruth the Moabite said to Naomi, “Allow me to go out into the fields and pick up leftover grain behind anyone who is kind enough to permit it.” Naomi answered, “Go ahead, my daughter.” 3 Off she went, and into a field, where she began collecting grain behind the harvesters. As it happened, the plot she chose belonged to Boaz, a member of Elimelech’s clan. 4 And look, Boaz came from Bethlehem. And he said to the reapers, “Yahweh be with you!” And they answered, “Yahweh bless you.” 5 Boaz asked the servant in charge of the harvesters, “Who is that young woman with you?” 6 The foreman answered, “She is a Moabite girl who came back along with Naomi from Moab. 7 She asked, ‘May I please follow the harvesters and collect fallen heads of grain among the bundles?’ She came, and from first thing this morning until just now she has stayed at it, pausing only briefly in the hut.”[c] 8 Boaz then spoke to Ruth: “Listen to me, my daughter. Don’t go off to gather in someone else’s field, and don’t move on from here.
Stay right beside the young women who work for me. 9 Keep watch on the field where the men are cutting grain, and trail behind the women. I have ordered the young men to leave you alone. Whenever you are thirsty, walk over to the water jars and drink what the men have drawn.” 10 Ruth dropped with her face to the ground, bowing low, and asked him, “Why are you so generous, noticing me, when I am a foreigner?”[d] 11 Boaz answered, “Everything you have done for your husband’s mother since your husband died has been reported to me in full: how you abandoned your own father, your mother, and your homeland, to settle among a nation you had never known. 12 May Yahweh pay you back for your deeds, and may you receive full wages from Yahweh, the God of Israel, beneath whose wings[e] you have come for shelter." 13 She responded, "May I always find such approval from you, sir. You have reassured me and spoken tenderly to your servant, though I do not even rank with your hired women." 14 At mealtime Boaz invited her, "Join us here, help yourself to the bread, and dip a piece into the sour wine." Ruth took her place next to the harvesters, and he passed her roasted kernels. She ate her fill and still had food left over. 15 When she got up to resume gathering, Boaz ordered his workers, "Even let her pick among the bundled stalks, and don't embarrass her. 16 Even pull a few stalks out of the bundles and drop them for her to pick up. Don't scold her." 17 So she gleaned in the field until evening. Then she beat out what she had gleaned, and it was about three-fifths of a bushel[f] of barley. 18 She lifted up what she had gathered and went back into town. Her husband's mother saw how much she had collected. Ruth also took out the leftovers from her meal and handed them to Naomi. 19 Her mother-in-law asked, "Where did you gather grain today? Where were you working? A blessing on whoever noticed you!" Ruth described to her mother-in-law whose field she had worked in, and said, "The man I worked for today is named Boaz." 20 Naomi said to her daughter-in-law, "May Yahweh bless him, for his loyal love has not left the living or the dead!" Then Naomi added, "That man is one of our close kinsmen, among those with the duty to redeem for our family."[g] 21 Ruth the Moabite continued, "He also told me, 'Stay with my workers until they have brought in my whole harvest.'" 22 Naomi told her daughter-in-law Ruth, "It is wise, my daughter, for you to work with his young women, so that no one harms you in a different field." 23 So she stayed close to Boaz's young women, gathering grain until both the barley and the wheat harvests were over (in May–June).[h] And she kept living with her mother-in-law.

Notes

- a (2:1) Or "a man of standing" or "a man of wealth"; Hebrew gibbor hayil. Compare "a worthy woman" ('eshet hayil) in 3:11.

- b (2:1) The meaning of Boaz is uncertain; it is often explained as “in him is strength” or “quickness.” Boaz was also the name of one of the two bronze pillars of Solomon’s temple (1 Kings 7:21).
- c (2:7) The meaning of the Hebrew of the last part of this verse is uncertain. The Septuagint reads “and she stood from morning until evening and has not rested in the field even a little.”
- d (2:10) The Hebrew contains a pun: the verb “take notice” (hikkir) sounds like the word “foreigner” (nokriyyah).
- e (2:12) Hebrew kanaf, “wing,” also “edge of a garment”; compare 3:9.
- f (2:17) Hebrew “about an ephah”; an ephah was about 22 liters (L). That much threshed barley would weigh roughly 30 pounds (13–14 kilograms, kg), a remarkably large amount for one day’s gleaning.
- g (2:20) Hebrew go’el (plural go’alim), the close relative who had the duty to buy back family land, to redeem a relative sold into slavery, to avenge a relative’s death, and, in Ruth, to provide an heir for the dead (Leviticus 25:25–55; Numbers 35:19; Deuteronomy 25:5–10). Also in 3:9, 12–13; 4:1–8, 14.
- h (2:23) The barley harvest, beginning in March–April, was followed by the wheat harvest, which ended around Pentecost/Shavuot in the third month, Sivan (in May–June): about seven weeks in all.

Chapter 3

1 Her mother-in-law Naomi then said, “My daughter, should I not look for a secure home for you, where things will go well for you? 2 Boaz, whose women you worked beside, is our kinsman. Tonight he will be winnowing his barley on the threshing floor. 3 So bathe, put on perfume, dress in your best cloak,[a] and go to the threshing floor. Keep out of his sight until he has finished his meal and drink. 4 When he lies down, make a mental note of where he sleeps. Go there, lift the cover from his feet, and lie down. He will explain what you should do.” 5 Ruth told her, “Whatever you tell me,[b] I will carry out.” 6 She went down to the threshing floor and carried out all her mother-in-law’s instructions. 7 After Boaz had finished eating and drinking, and was in good spirits, he went to sleep beside the grain pile. She slipped in quietly, lifted the covering from his feet, and lay down. 8 In the middle of the night the man woke with a start, rolled over, and discovered a woman lying by his feet! 9 He said, “Who are you?” And she answered, “I am Ruth, your female servant. Spread your wing[c] over your female servant, for you are a family redeemer.” 10 He said, "Yahweh bless you, my daughter! This latest act of loyalty is even finer than your first, since you have not chased after the younger men, rich or poor. 11 Now, my daughter, have no fear. I will do everything you request, since everyone in my town's gate[d] knows you are a woman of excellent character. 12 It is true that I am a kinsmanredeemer. Yet there is another man who is a nearer relative than I am. 13 Stay here for the night. In the morning, if he is willing to act as your redeemer, fine, let him do so. If he is unwilling, then I swear by the life of Yahweh that I will redeem you myself. Now sleep until morning."

14 She slept by his feet till dawn, and got up while it was still too dark for anyone to make out a face. He said, "No one must find out that a woman visited the threshing floor." 15 Then he said, "Hand me the cloak you have on, and hold it open." She held it out, and he scooped in six measures[e] of barley, laying the load across her shoulders.
Then she[f] returned to the town. 16 When she reached her mother-in-law, Naomi inquired, "How did things turn out, my daughter?" Ruth recounted everything the man had done for her, 17 and added, "These six measures of barley are his gift to me, because he told me,[g] 'Do not go home to your mother-in-law with nothing.'" 18 Naomi answered, "Sit tight, my daughter, until you find out how things stand. The man will not relax until he has settled this affair today."

Notes

- a (3:3) So the traditional reading (qere), "go down"; the written Hebrew text (ketiv) has "I will go down." A similar difference occurs in verse 4 ("lie down").
- b (3:5) The traditional reading (qere) adds "to me."
- c (3:9) Hebrew kanaf, "wing" or "edge of a garment," a request for marriage and protection; compare 2:12 and Ezekiel 16:8.
- d (3:11) Hebrew "all the gate of my people."
- e (3:15) The Hebrew does not name the unit. Six ephahs would be far too heavy to carry; six seahs (about 4 bushels, 1 seah being about 7.3 liters) or six omers would be possible. The Septuagint reads "six measures."
- f (3:15) So most Hebrew manuscripts. Some Hebrew manuscripts, the Syriac, and the Latin Vulgate read "she."
- g (3:17) The traditional reading (qere) adds "to me"; the written Hebrew text (ketiv) lacks it.

Chapter 4

1 Meanwhile Boaz climbed to the town gate and seated himself there.
Just then the redeemer he had mentioned walked past. Boaz called,
"Come over, my friend,[a] and sit here." So he came over and sat. 2
And he took ten men of the elders of the city and said, "Sit down here." So they sat down. 3 He addressed the redeemer: "Naomi, who has returned from Moab, is putting up for sale the plot that belonged to our kinsman Elimelech. 4 I decided to bring it to your attention: purchase it before these people seated here and before my people's elders. If you want to redeem it, do so. If you[b] don't, tell me so that I know, because nobody else has the right to redeem it except you, and I am next after you." He answered, "I will redeem it." 5 Boaz continued, "On the day you acquire the land from Naomi, you also take on[c] Ruth the Moabite, the dead man's widow, so that his name will be carried on with his inherited property." 6 The redeemer answered, "Then I am unable to redeem it, since that could ruin my own estate. You exercise my redemption right yourself, because I cannot." 7 In earlier days in Israel, this was how redemption and exchange were validated: one party removed his sandal and handed it to the other.
That was the way of making a transaction official in Israel. 8 So when the redeemer told Boaz, "Purchase it yourself," he took off his sandal. 9 Boaz addressed the elders and everyone present: "Today you are witnesses that I am buying from Naomi every possession of Elimelech, Chilion, and Mahlon. 10 I am also taking Ruth the Moabite, Mahlon's widow, to be my wife, so that the dead man's name will continue on his inherited land and not disappear from his family or from the records at his hometown's gate. Today you are my witnesses." 11 All the people gathered at the gate, along with the elders, answered, "We are witnesses! May Yahweh make the wife entering your home like Rachel and Leah, the two who together built the family of Israel.
May you prosper in Ephrathah and gain fame in Bethlehem. 12 and may your family prosper like Perez's, the son Tamar bore for Judah, through the children Yahweh gives you by this young woman." 13 So Boaz took Ruth, and she became his wife. And he went in to her, and Yahweh gave her conception, and she bore a son. 14 The women told Naomi, “Praise be to Yahweh, who has not left you today without a family redeemer! May the child’s name become famous throughout Israel! 15 He will restore your vitality and care for you when you are old, for he was born to your daughter-in-law. She loves you, and she has proven better to you than seven sons.” 16 Naomi picked up the baby, held him against her chest, and took care of him. 17 The neighbor women gave him his name, announcing, “Naomi has a son!” They called him Obed.[d] He would become Jesse’s father, and so David’s grandfather.

18 This is the genealogy of Perez. To Perez was born Hezron, 19 to Hezron was born Ram, to Ram was born Amminadab, 20 to Amminadab was born Nahshon, to Nahshon was born Salmah,[e] 21 Salmon fathered Boaz, Boaz fathered Obed, 22 Obed fathered Jesse, and Jesse fathered David.

Notes

- a (4:1) Hebrew peloni almoni, “so-and-so,” an expression used when a name is withheld.
- b (4:4) So many Hebrew manuscripts, the Septuagint, the Syriac, and the Latin Vulgate. The Hebrew text reads “if he.”
- c (4:5) So the traditional reading (qere), the Septuagint, and the Latin Vulgate (“you acquire”). The written Hebrew text (ketiv) reads “I acquire.” The Hebrew text also reads “and from Ruth”; the translation follows a widely accepted correction, “also Ruth” (compare verse 10).
- d (4:17) Obed means “servant” or “worshiper,” perhaps short for Obadiah, “servant of Yahweh.”
- e (4:20) Hebrew Salmah; in verse 21 Salmon. The Septuagint has “Salmon” in both verses.

1 Samuel

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 There was a certain man from Ramathaim-zophim,[a] in the hill country of Ephraim, whose name was Elkanah[b] son of Jeroham, son of Elihu, son of Tohu, son of Zuph, an Ephraimite. 2 He had two wives.
One was named Hannah[c] and the other Peninnah.[d] Peninnah had children, but Hannah had none.
3 That man would go up from his town each year to bow down and sacrifice to Yahweh[e] of Armies[f] at Shiloh,[g] where Eli's[h] two sons, Hophni[i] and Phinehas,[j] were Yahweh's priests. 4 On the day when Elkanah sacrificed, he gave shares of the meat to Peninnah his wife and to each of her sons and daughters, 5 but to Hannah he gave a double share,[k] for it was Hannah he loved, though Yahweh had shut up her womb. 6 Her rival would taunt her bitterly to provoke her, because Yahweh had closed her womb. 7 So it went on year after year. Every time Hannah went up to the house of Yahweh, her rival provoked her, and she wept and would not eat. 8 Her husband Elkanah would say to her, "Hannah, why are you crying? Why will you not eat? Why is your heart so sad? Am I not worth more to you than ten sons?"
9 One time at Shiloh, when the meal of eating and drinking was over, Hannah stood up.[l] The priest Eli was seated on a chair by the doorpost of Yahweh's temple. 10 Deeply distressed, she prayed to Yahweh and wept bitterly. 11 She took a vow: "Yahweh of Armies, if you will look closely at your servant's suffering and remember me, if you will not forget me but give your servant a baby boy, I will give him to Yahweh for as long as he lives, and a razor will never be used on his head."[m] 12 As she kept on praying before Yahweh, Eli was watching her mouth.
13 Hannah was speaking in her heart; only her lips were moving, and her voice could not be heard. So Eli supposed she was drunk. 14 Eli said to her, "How long will you go on being drunk? Get rid of your wine." 15 Hannah replied, "No, my lord, I am a woman with a heavy heart. I have had no wine or beer; I have been pouring out my soul to Yahweh. 16 Do not count your servant as a worthless woman,[n] for all this time I have been speaking out of my great anguish and grief." 17 Eli said, "Go in peace, and may the God of Israel give you the request you made to him." 18 "May your servant find favor with you," she said. Then the woman left and had something to eat, and her face did not look sad any longer.[o]

19 They rose early in the morning and bowed down before Yahweh; then they went back home to Ramah. Elkanah knew his wife Hannah, and Yahweh remembered her. 20 When the time came, Hannah conceived and gave birth to a son. She called him Samuel,[p] explaining, "I asked Yahweh for him."

21 Then Elkanah went up, he and his whole household, to offer Yahweh the yearly sacrifice and to pay his vow. 22 But Hannah did not go up. She told her husband, "Not until the child is weaned. Then I will take him, and he will appear before Yahweh and stay there for good."[q] 23 Her husband Elkanah said to her, "Do whatever you think is good. Wait here until you have weaned him. Only may Yahweh confirm his word."[r] So the woman remained and nursed her son until she weaned him. 24 When she had weaned him, she took him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull,[s] about three-fifths of a bushel of flour,[t] and a skin of wine, and brought him to the house of Yahweh at Shiloh. The child was still young. 25 Then they slaughtered the bull and took the boy to Eli. 26 She said, "Excuse me, my lord! As you live, my lord, I am that woman who was standing near you here, praying to Yahweh. 27 For this child I prayed, and Yahweh has granted me what I asked of him. 28 So I in turn have lent him to Yahweh.[u] For as long as he lives he is lent to Yahweh." And he[v] worshiped Yahweh there.

Notes

- a (1:1) Ramathaim-zophim means "two heights of the Zuphites" (compare "Zuph" later in the verse). The town is called Ramah, "height," in verse 19. The Septuagint reads "Armathaim Zipha" (Brenton, "Armathaim Sipha"); its exact site is uncertain.

- b (1:1) Elkanah means “God has created” or “God has acquired.” The Septuagint spells the names in this genealogy differently (Brenton: Helkana, Jeremeel, Elius, Thocca, Suph).
- c (1:2) Hannah means “grace” or “favor.” The Septuagint spells it “Anna.”
- d (1:2) Peninnah may mean “coral” or “pearl” (uncertain).
- e (1:3) Yahweh is the personal name of Israel’s God (Hebrew YHWH), which many English versions replace with “the LORD.” This translation writes the name.
- f (1:3) Hebrew Yahweh tseba’ot, traditionally “the LORD of hosts” (or “Yahweh Sabaoth”). The armies may be Israel’s forces, the heavenly host, or both. This is the first time the title appears in the Bible; it occurs often in Samuel, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi. The Septuagint keeps the Hebrew word: “Lord God of Sabaoth” (Brenton, 1:11).
- g (1:3) Shiloh, where the tent of meeting stood in this period (Joshua 18:1), is about 20 miles (30 kilometers) north of Jerusalem; the name may mean “place of rest” (uncertain).
- h (1:3) Eli probably means “exalted” or “my God” (uncertain).
- i (1:3) Hophni is probably an Egyptian name, perhaps “tadpole” (uncertain).
- j (1:3) Phinehas is an Egyptian name meaning “the Nubian.”
- k (1:5) The Hebrew is difficult. Literally “one portion of two faces,” perhaps “a double portion” or “a choice portion”; some take it to mean “only one portion.” The Septuagint reads “a prime portion, because she had no child” (Brenton).
- l (1:9) The Septuagint adds, “and stood before the Lord” (Brenton).
- m (1:11) The Septuagint adds, “and he will drink no wine or strong drink” (Brenton, modernized). Compare the Nazirite vow in Numbers 6:1–8 and Samson in Judges 13:5.
- n (1:16) Hebrew “a daughter of Belial,” an expression for a worthless or wicked person.
- o (1:18) The Septuagint reads, “and entered into her lodging, and ate and drank with her husband” (Brenton, modernized).
- p (1:20) Samuel (Hebrew Shemu’el) probably means “name of God” or “heard by God.” Hannah’s explanation is a wordplay on the verb sha’al, “to ask,” which is the root of the name Saul (Sha’ul). The pun may hint at the story of Saul, the king Israel “asked for” (8:10; 12:13).
- q (1:22) Or “for all time.” 4QSam-a is reported to add that she would dedicate him as a Nazirite for all time (compare verse 11).
- r (1:23) So the traditional Hebrew text (MT). The Septuagint reads “may the Lord establish that which comes out of your mouth” (Brenton, modernized), and 4QSam-a is reported to agree with the Greek.
- s (1:24) So the Septuagint (Brenton, “a calf of three years old”), 4QSam-a (as reported), and other ancient witnesses. The traditional Hebrew text reads “with three bulls,” but verse 25 mentions only one bull; dividing the Hebrew letters differently gives “a three-year-old bull.”

- t (1:24) Hebrew "an ephah of flour," a dry measure of about 22 liters.
- u (1:28) Hebrew sha'ul, "asked" or "lent," the same form as the name Saul. The verse plays on the root "ask" used in verses 17, 20, and 27.
- v (1:28) That is, Elkanah, or possibly Samuel. Some Hebrew manuscripts read "they." The Septuagint instead reads "and she said" (Brenton) and goes straight into Hannah's song.

Chapter 2

1 Then Hannah prayed and said,[a] "My heart exults in Yahweh; my horn[b] is raised high in Yahweh.[c] My mouth gapes wide against my enemies, for I take joy in your rescue. 2 No one is holy like Yahweh; indeed, there is no one besides you, and there is no rock like our God.[d] 3 Stop piling up proud words; let no arrogance come from your mouth, for Yahweh is a God who knows, and by him actions are weighed.[e] 4 The bows of the mighty are broken, while those who stumbled are wrapped in strength. 5 Those who had plenty now hire themselves out for bread, while the hungry hunger no more.[f] The childless woman has borne seven, but the mother of many pines away. 6 Yahweh puts to death and brings to life; he brings down to Sheol[g] and raises up. 7 Yahweh makes poor and makes rich; he humbles, and he also exalts. 8 He lifts the poor from the dust; from the ash heap he raises the needy, to seat them with nobles and give them a throne of honor as their inheritance. For the pillars of the earth belong to Yahweh, and on them he has set the world.[h] 9 He guards the feet of his faithful ones, but the wicked are silenced in darkness, for no one prevails by strength. 10 Those who contend with Yahweh will be shattered;[i] he will thunder against them from heaven. Yahweh will judge to the ends of the earth; he will give power to his king and lift up the horn of his anointed."[j]

11 Then Elkanah went home to Ramah, but the boy remained to serve Yahweh in the presence of Eli the priest.[k]

12 Eli's sons, however, were scoundrels;[l] they paid no attention to Yahweh 13 or to what the priests were entitled to from the people.[m] Each time someone offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant would arrive with a three-pronged fork in his hand while the meat was still boiling, 14 and he would thrust it into the pan or kettle or cauldron or pot. Whatever the fork brought up, the priest took for himself. This is how they treated all the Israelites who came there to Shiloh. 15 What is more, even before they burned the fat, the priest's servant used to come and tell the man offering the sacrifice, "Hand over meat for the priest to roast. He will not accept boiled meat from you, only raw." 16 And if the man answered him, "The fat must be burned first; after that, take as much as you like," he would reply, "No, you will hand it over now, and if not, I will take it by force." 17 So the young men's sin was very great in Yahweh's sight, for the men treated Yahweh's offering with contempt.

18 But Samuel was serving before Yahweh, a boy dressed in a linen ephod.[n] 19 Every year his mother would make him a little robe and bring it to him when she came up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. 20 And Eli would bless Elkanah and his wife and say, "May Yahweh give you offspring from this woman in exchange for the one she asked for and lent to Yahweh."[o] Then they would return home. 21 Yahweh visited Hannah, and she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. Meanwhile the boy Samuel grew up before Yahweh.
22 Now Eli was very old, and word kept reaching him of everything his sons were doing to all Israel and of how they lay with the women who served at the door of the tent of meeting.[p] 23 He said to them, "Why do you do such things? From all these people I hear reports of your wicked deeds. 24 No, my sons. What I hear Yahweh's people spreading about you is not a good report. 25 If one person sins against another, God[q] may mediate for him; but if someone sins against Yahweh, who can plead for him?" But they would not listen to their father, for it was Yahweh's will to put them to death.
26 Meanwhile the boy Samuel kept growing, both in stature and in favor with Yahweh and with people.
27 A man of God came to Eli and said to him, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Did I not reveal myself plainly to your father's house when they were in Egypt, slaves to Pharaoh's house?[r] 28 Out of all the tribes of Israel I chose him to be my priest, to go up to my altar, to burn incense, and to carry the ephod before me. I gave your father's house all the food offerings of the Israelites. 29 Why then do you trample[s] on my sacrifices and on the offerings I ordered for my dwelling? Why do you honor your sons above me, growing fat on the best part of every offering of Israel my people?' 30 "Therefore Yahweh, the God of Israel, declares: 'I said that your house and your father's house would walk before me forever.' But now Yahweh declares: 'Far be it from me! For I honor only those who honor me, and those who think little of me will be brought low. 31 Look, days are coming when I will cut off your arm[t] and the arm of your father's house, until there is no old man left in your house. 32 You will look with envy on all the good that is done for Israel,[u] and never will there be an old man in your house. 33 Any of yours whom I do not cut off from my altar will be spared only to wear out your[v] eyes and grieve your heart, and all the increase of your house will die as men in their prime.[w] 34 And what happens to your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, will be the sign to you: on one day both of them will die. 35 I will raise up for myself a faithful priest, who will act in keeping with what is in my heart and mind. I will build him a lasting house, and he will walk before my anointed one forever. 36 Whoever is left in your house will come and bow down to him for a small silver coin[x] or a loaf of bread, and will say, "Please assign me to one of the priestly duties, so that I can have a scrap of bread to eat."'"

Notes

- a (2:1) The Song of Hannah (2:1–10) is a poem of praise for God who reverses human fortunes; compare Mary's song in Luke 1:46–55. The Septuagint and 4QSam-a differ from the traditional Hebrew text in several lines, as noted below. This needs scholarly review.
- b (2:1) The horn is an image of strength and dignity, taken from the horns of a wild ox.
- c (2:1) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "in my God" (Brenton), and some Hebrew manuscripts are reported to agree.
- d (2:2) The Septuagint reads "For there is none holy as the Lord, and there is none righteous as our God: there is none holy besides you" (Brenton, modernized), without the line about the rock.
- e (2:3) Or "and actions are not weighed," following the written Hebrew (ketiv), which has "not" rather than "by him." The Septuagint reads "and God prepares his own designs" (Brenton, modernized).
- f (2:5) Hebrew uncertain; literally "and the hungry cease." The Septuagint reads "and the hungry have forsaken the land" (Brenton).
- g (2:6) Sheol is the realm of the dead (the grave, the underworld).

- h (2:8) The Septuagint lacks these two lines and instead reads, "granting his request to the one who prays; and he blesses the years of the righteous" (Brenton, modernized), at the start of verse 9; it also lacks the first two lines of verse 9 as they stand in Hebrew. 4QSam-a is reported to agree with the Greek here in part.
- i (2:10) So the Hebrew as traditionally read (qere); the written text (ketiv) has the singular, "the one who contends with him." The Septuagint reads, "The Lord will weaken his adversary; the Lord is holy" (Brenton).
- j (2:10) Hebrew mashiaḥ, "anointed one," from which the title "Messiah" comes. In the Septuagint, this verse is much longer. After "the Lord is holy" it adds, in words close to Jeremiah 9:23–24: "Let the wise man not boast in his wisdom, nor the mighty man in his strength, nor the rich man in his wealth; but let the one who boasts boast in this, to understand and know the Lord, and to do justice and righteousness in the midst of the earth" (Brenton, modernized). 4QSam-a is reported to contain part of this addition. This needs scholarly review.
- k (2:11) The Septuagint begins the verse, "And she left him there before the Lord, and departed to Armathaim" (Brenton, modernized).
- l (2:12) Hebrew "sons of Belial," that is, worthless or wicked men.
- m (2:13) Or "the priests' custom with the people." Hebrew mishpat, "judgment, right, custom." Compare the priests' legal portion in Leviticus 7:31–34 and Deuteronomy 18:3.
- n (2:18) The linen ephod here is a simple priestly garment worn by those serving at the sanctuary (compare 22:18; 2 Samuel 6:14), not the high priest's ornate ephod of Exodus 28.
- o (2:20) So 4QSam-a (as reported) and the Septuagint (Brenton, "in return for the loan which you have lent to the Lord," modernized). The traditional Hebrew text reads "in place of the request which he asked of Yahweh." Again the verb plays on the name Saul (see 1:20).
- p (2:22) The Septuagint lacks this clause about the women at the entrance (Brenton), and 4QSam-a is reported to lack it as well. Compare Exodus 38:8.
- q (2:25) Or "the judges" (Hebrew 'elohim). God, or those acting for him, can settle a dispute between people.
- r (2:27) The Septuagint reads "when they were servants in Egypt to the house of Pharaoh" (Brenton, modernized), and 4QSam-a is reported to have "servants."
- s (2:29) Hebrew uncertain; literally "kick at" (compare Deuteronomy 32:15). The Septuagint reads "look upon … with a shameless eye" (Brenton, modernized).
- t (2:31) The arm is a symbol of strength and vigor.
- u (2:32) Hebrew uncertain; literally "you will see an adversary of the dwelling in all that he does good to Israel." The Septuagint lacks this line (Brenton).
- v (2:33) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "his eyes … his soul" (Brenton), and 4QSam-a is reported to agree.
- w (2:33) So the traditional Hebrew text, "will die as men." The Septuagint reads "will fall by the sword of men" (Brenton), and 4QSam-a is reported to agree.

- x (2:36) Hebrew 'agorah, a small coin or weight of silver, probably a fraction of a shekel (11.5 grams). The exact value is unknown.

Chapter 3

1 The boy Samuel was serving Yahweh under Eli. In those days the word of Yahweh was rare; visions did not come often.[a] 2 At that time Eli, whose eyes had grown so dim that he was unable to see, was lying in his usual place. 3 The lamp of God had not yet gone out,[b] and Samuel was lying down in the temple of Yahweh, where the ark of God was. 4 Then Yahweh called Samuel,[c] and he answered, "Here I am!" 5 He ran to Eli and said, "Here I am, for you called me."
Eli said, "I did not call. Lie down again." And he went and lay down.
6 Yahweh called yet again, "Samuel!" Samuel got up, went to Eli, and said, "Here I am, for you called me." Eli answered, "I did not call, my son. Lie down again." 7 Samuel did not yet know Yahweh: the word of Yahweh had not yet been revealed to him. 8 Yahweh called Samuel a third time. Samuel rose and went to Eli. "Here I am," he said, "since you called me." Then Eli realized that it was Yahweh who was calling the boy. 9 Eli told Samuel, "Go back to bed, and if he calls you, say, 'Speak, Yahweh, for your servant is listening.'" Samuel went and lay in his own place.
10 Yahweh came and stood there, and called as he had the other times, "Samuel! Samuel!" And Samuel said, "Speak, for your servant is listening." 11 Yahweh said to Samuel, "Watch: I am about to do a thing in Israel that will make both ears of everyone who hears of it ring.
12 On that day I will carry out against Eli everything I have spoken about his house, from beginning to end. 13 I have told him that I am going to judge his house for all time, for the iniquity that he knew of: his sons were bringing a curse on themselves,[d] and he did not restrain them. 14 Therefore I have sworn to the house of Eli that the guilt of Eli's house will never be wiped away by sacrifice or offering." 15 Samuel stayed in bed until morning, and then he unlocked the doors of Yahweh's house. He was afraid to report the vision to Eli. 16 Then Eli called Samuel and said, "Samuel, my son." He answered, "Here I am." 17 Eli asked, "What was the word he spoke to you? Do not hide it from me. May God deal with you severely, and more so, if you hide from me anything of all that he told you." 18 So Samuel told him everything and hid nothing from him. Then Eli said, "He is Yahweh. Let him do what seems good to him."

19 Samuel grew up, and Yahweh was with him and let none of his words fall to the ground.[e] 20 All Israel from Dan to Beersheba[f] recognized that Samuel had been confirmed as a prophet of Yahweh. 21 Yahweh continued to appear at Shiloh, for at Shiloh Yahweh revealed himself to Samuel through the word of Yahweh.[g]

Notes

- a (3:1) Literally "vision was not breaking through." The Septuagint reads "there was no distinct vision" (Brenton).
- b (3:3) That is, it was still night, before dawn. The lampstand in the sanctuary burned from evening until morning (Exodus 27:20–21; Leviticus 24:2–3).
- c (3:4) The Septuagint reads "called Samuel, Samuel" (Brenton has "called, Samuel, Samuel"), and some ancient witnesses agree; compare verse 10.
- d (3:13) So the traditional Hebrew text, "were cursing themselves" (or "were treating it lightly"). The Septuagint reads "his sons spoke evil against God" (Brenton). Jewish tradition lists this verse among the places where scribes altered "God" to avoid writing a curse against him, and many scholars think "cursing God" is original.
- e (3:19) That is, everything Samuel said came true.
- f (3:20) Dan in the far north and Beersheba in the south; the phrase means the whole land.
- g (3:21) The Septuagint adds, "and Samuel was trusted by all Israel as a prophet of the Lord from one end of the land to the other; and Eli was very old, and his sons kept going on in wickedness, and their way was evil before the Lord" (Brenton, modernized). Some of this may belong with 4:1.

Chapter 4

1 And the word of Samuel came to all Israel. Now Israel went out to meet the Philistines in battle.[a] They pitched camp beside Ebenezer,[b] while the Philistines pitched camp in Aphek. 2 The Philistines arrayed themselves against Israel, and when the battle spread out, Israel was struck down before the Philistines, and about four thousand men were killed in the ranks in the field. 3 When the army came back to camp, the elders of Israel asked, "Why did Yahweh bring defeat on us today at the hands of the Philistines? Let us fetch the ark of Yahweh's covenant from Shiloh, so that it will be with us and deliver us from our enemies' grasp." 4 The people therefore sent men to Shiloh and had them bring from there the ark of the covenant of Yahweh of Armies, who sits above the cherubim.[c] Eli's two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, accompanied the ark of God's covenant.

5 When the ark of Yahweh's covenant came into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, so that the earth rang. 6 Hearing the noise of the shouting, the Philistines said, "What is this great shouting in the Hebrews' camp?" When they learned that the ark of Yahweh had come into the camp, 7 the Philistines were frightened. They said, "God has come into the camp."[d] And they said, "Woe to us! Nothing like this has happened before. 8 Who will deliver us from the power of these mighty gods? They are the very gods who struck down the Egyptians with all sorts of plagues in the wilderness.[e] 9 Take courage and be men, Philistines, or you will end up serving the Hebrews just as they have served you. Be men and fight!"
10 So the Philistines fought, and Israel was defeated, and every man fled to his tent. The slaughter was very great: thirty thousand foot soldiers of Israel fell. 11 The ark of God was taken, and both sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.
12 A Benjamite ran from the battle ranks and reached Shiloh that same day, his clothes torn and earth on his head.[f] 13 When he arrived, Eli was sitting on his seat beside the road, watching,[g] for his heart trembled for the ark of God. When the man came into the town to tell the news, the whole town cried out. 14 Hearing the sound of the outcry, Eli asked, "What is this uproar?" The man hurried over and told Eli. 15 Eli was ninety-eight years old,[h] and his eyes were fixed so that he could not see. 16 The man said to Eli, "I have come from the battle; I fled from the ranks today." Eli asked, "How did things go, my son?" 17 The messenger answered, "Israel has fled before the Philistines, and there has been a great slaughter among the troops. Your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, are dead, and the ark of God has been taken."
18 At the mention of the ark of God, Eli toppled backward off his seat beside the gate, broke his neck, and died, for he was an old man and heavy. He had judged Israel forty years.[i]

19 Now the wife of Phinehas, his daughter-in-law, was with child and close to delivery. Hearing the report that the ark of God was taken and that her father-in-law and husband were dead, she bent down and gave birth, for her pains came upon her suddenly. 20 As she was dying, the women attending her said, "Do not be afraid, for you have given birth to a son." But she did not answer or pay attention. 21 She named the boy Ichabod,[j] saying, "The glory has gone into exile from Israel," because of the capture of the ark of God and because of her father-in-law and her husband. 22 She said, "The glory has gone into exile from Israel, for the ark of God has been taken."

Notes

- a (4:1) The Septuagint begins, "And it came to pass in those days that the Philistines gathered themselves together against Israel to war, and Israel went out to meet them" (Brenton, modernized).
- b (4:1) Ebenezer means "stone of help." The place receives this name in 7:12; the narrator uses the name known to his readers.
- c (4:4) The cherubim were winged figures above the cover of the ark (Exodus 25:18–22), pictured as the throne of the invisible God.
- d (4:7) Or "gods have come into the camp." The Septuagint reads "These are the gods that have come to them into the camp" (Brenton, modernized).
- e (4:8) Or "with every kind of plague and in the wilderness." The Philistines' version of the exodus story is confused, which may be intended. The Septuagint reads "with every plague, and in the wilderness" (Brenton).
- f (4:12) Torn clothes and earth on the head were signs of mourning and disaster.
- g (4:13) So the traditional reading. The written Hebrew (ketiv) is unclear; the Septuagint reads "upon the seat by the gate looking along the way" (Brenton).
- h (4:15) The Septuagint reads "ninety years old" (Brenton).
- i (4:18) The Septuagint reads "twenty years" (Brenton).
- j (4:21) Ichabod is usually understood as "Where is the glory?" or "No glory." The Septuagint has a different form, "Uaibarchaboth" (Brenton, "Uæbarchaboth"), perhaps meaning "Woe for the glory."

Chapter 5

1 After capturing the ark of God, the Philistines carried it from Ebenezer to Ashdod.[a] 2 The Philistines took the ark of God, carried it into the temple of Dagon,[b] and set it up beside Dagon. 3 The people of Ashdod rose early the following morning, and there was Dagon, lying face down on the ground in front of Yahweh's ark. They lifted Dagon up and set him in his place again. 4 But when they got up early the following morning, there was Dagon again, fallen on his face to the ground before the ark of Yahweh. Dagon's head and both his hands lay broken off on the threshold; only his trunk[c] was left. 5 That is why, to this day, neither the priests of Dagon nor anyone who enters Dagon's temple steps on the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod.

6 Yahweh's hand weighed heavily on the people of Ashdod. He devastated them and struck them with tumors,[d] both Ashdod and its territory. 7 When the people of Ashdod realized what was going on, they said, "The ark of Israel's God cannot remain with us, because his hand is heavy on us and on our god Dagon." 8 So they sent for all the rulers of the Philistines,[e] gathered them, and asked, "What should we do with the ark of the God of Israel?" They answered, "Let the ark of the God of Israel be moved on to Gath." So they moved the ark of the God of Israel there. 9 But after they had moved it, Yahweh's hand was against that city, causing a very great panic. He struck the people of the city, from the least to the greatest, and tumors broke out on them. 10 Next they sent the ark of God off to Ekron. As the ark of God entered Ekron, the Ekronites shouted, "They have carried the ark of the God of Israel to us so that it will kill us and our people!" 11 They sent and gathered all the rulers of the Philistines and said, "Send off the ark of the God of Israel and let it return to where it belongs, or it will kill us and our people." For deadly panic had gripped the whole city; God's hand was very heavy there. 12 And the men who did not die were struck with the tumors, and the cry of the city rose up to the heavens.

Notes

- a (5:1) Ashdod, Gath, and Ekron (verses 8–10), with Gaza and Ashkelon, were the five chief cities of the Philistines (6:17). The Septuagint calls them Azotus, Geth, Accaron, Gaza, and Ascalon (Brenton); at verse 10 it reads "Ascalon" instead of Ekron.
- b (5:2) Dagon was a West Semitic grain god worshiped by the Philistines (Judges 16:23). The name is probably related to dagan, "grain," though it was once linked with dag, "fish."
- c (5:4) So the Septuagint, "stump" or "trunk" (Brenton, "stump"). The traditional Hebrew text reads "only Dagon was left on him."

- d (5:6) Hebrew ʾophalim, probably swellings or boils (perhaps the buboes of bubonic plague); the traditional reading (qere) is teḥorim, a word of similar meaning. The Septuagint adds that the hand of the Lord "brought evil upon them, and it burst out upon them into the ships, and mice sprang up in the midst of their country, and there was a great and indiscriminate death in the city" (Brenton, modernized). Compare the gold mice in 6:4–5.
- e (5:8) Hebrew seren, a title used only of the Philistine rulers, perhaps related to the Greek word tyrannos, "ruler."

Chapter 6

1 The ark of Yahweh had been in Philistine territory for seven months.[a] 2 Then the Philistines called in the priests and the diviners and asked, "What should we do with the ark of Yahweh? Tell us how we should send it back to its place." 3 They replied, "If you send away the ark of the God of Israel, do not send it away empty, but by all means pay him back with a guilt offering.[b] Then you will be healed, and you will learn why his hand has not turned away from you." 4 "What is the guilt offering we should send him?" they asked.
They replied, "Five gold tumors and five gold mice, one apiece for the Philistine rulers, since there was a single plague on all of you and your rulers alike. 5 So make models of your tumors and models of the mice that are ravaging the land, and give glory to the God of Israel. Perhaps he will lighten his hand on you, on your gods, and on your land. 6 Why should you harden your hearts as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? After he had dealt harshly with them, did they not let the people go, and they departed? 7 So now prepare a new cart, and take two milk cows that have never borne a yoke.
Harness the cows to the cart, and bring their calves home behind them. 8 Then take Yahweh's ark and load it on the cart. Place the gold objects that you are sending as a guilt offering in a box beside it, and send it off to go its way. 9 And watch: if it goes up by the road to its own territory, toward Beth-shemesh,[c] then it is he who has brought this great disaster on us. But if not, we will know that it was not his hand that struck us; it happened to us by chance." 10 The men did so. They took two cows that had calved and hitched them to the cart, and shut their calves up at home. 11 They put the ark of Yahweh on the cart, together with the box holding the gold mice and the models of their tumors. 12 The cows took the straight way along the road to Beth-shemesh. They went on the one highway, lowing as they walked, turning neither right nor left, while the rulers of the Philistines walked behind them up to the edge of Beth-shemesh.

13 The people of Beth-shemesh were harvesting wheat in the valley.[d] When they looked up and saw the ark, they were overjoyed. 14 The cart reached the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh and halted beside a large stone. The people chopped up the cart's wood and offered the cows as a burnt offering to Yahweh. 15 The Levites lifted down Yahweh's ark along with the box that held the gold objects and set them on the large stone. On that day the men of Beth-shemesh presented burnt offerings and other sacrifices to Yahweh. 16 When the five rulers of the Philistines had seen this, they returned to Ekron that same day.

17 These are the gold tumors which the Philistines paid back to Yahweh as a guilt offering: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, one for Ashkelon, one for Gath, one for Ekron. 18 The number of gold mice equaled the number of Philistine cities under the five rulers, both fortified cities and country villages. The large stone[e] where they placed Yahweh's ark still stands as a witness in the field of Joshua of Beth-shemesh.

19 But Yahweh struck down some of the men of Beth-shemesh because they looked into the ark of Yahweh. He struck down seventy men[f] of the people. And the people mourned because Yahweh had struck the people with a great slaughter. 20 The men of Beth-shemesh asked, "Who is able to stand in the presence of Yahweh, this holy God? Where can the ark go from here, away from us?" 21 They sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim[g] with this message: "The Philistines have brought back Yahweh's ark. Come down and carry it up to your town."

Notes

- a (6:1) The Septuagint adds, "and their land brought forth swarms of mice" (Brenton, modernized).

- b (6:3) Hebrew 'asham, the offering that makes amends for a wrong done (Leviticus 5:14–6:7).
- c (6:9) Beth-shemesh means "house of the sun." It lay in Israelite territory about 15 miles (24 kilometers) west of Jerusalem.
- d (6:13) The wheat harvest came in May–June.
- e (6:18) So some Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint (Brenton, "the great stone"). The traditional Hebrew text reads "Abel," perhaps "meadow" or "mourning." The Hebrew words for "stone" and "meadow" differ by one letter.
- f (6:19) So some Hebrew manuscripts and Josephus (as reported). Most Hebrew manuscripts read "seventy men, fifty thousand men," and the Septuagint reads "seventy men, and fifty thousand men" (Brenton). The larger figure, oddly attached without "and" in the Hebrew, is probably a later addition. The Septuagint also begins the verse differently: "And the sons of Jechonias were not pleased with the men of Bethshemesh, because they saw the ark of the Lord" (Brenton, modernized).
- g (6:21) Kiriath-jearim means "town of forests." It lay about 9 miles (15 kilometers) west of Jerusalem.

Chapter 7

1 So the men of Kiriath-jearim came and brought up the ark of Yahweh and took it into the house of Abinadab[a] on the hill, and they set apart Eleazar his son to keep watch over the ark of Yahweh.
2 From the day the ark came to rest at Kiriath-jearim, a long time passed, twenty years in all, and the whole house of Israel mourned[b] after Yahweh. 3 Samuel told all the house of Israel, "If you are coming back to Yahweh with your whole heart, remove the foreign gods and the Ashtoreths[c] from your midst. Direct your hearts to Yahweh and serve only him, and he will deliver you from Philistine rule." 4 So the Israelites removed the Baals[d] and the Ashtoreths and served Yahweh alone.
5 Then Samuel said, "Bring all Israel together at Mizpah,[e] and I will pray to Yahweh for you." 6 So they gathered at Mizpah, drew water and poured it out before Yahweh, and fasted that day. There they said, "We have sinned against Yahweh." And Samuel judged the Israelites at Mizpah.
7 When the Philistines heard that the Israelites had gathered at Mizpah, the rulers of the Philistines went up against Israel. Hearing of it, the Israelites were afraid of the Philistines. 8 The Israelites said to Samuel, "Keep on crying to Yahweh our God for us, so that he may rescue us from the Philistines." [9] So Samuel took a nursing lamb and offered it whole as a burnt offering to Yahweh. Samuel cried out to Yahweh for Israel, and Yahweh answered him. [10] While Samuel was presenting the burnt offering, the Philistines moved in to attack Israel. That day, however, Yahweh thundered loudly against the Philistines, threw them into confusion, and they were routed by Israel. [11] The men of Israel went out from Mizpah and chased the Philistines, striking them down as far as a point below Beth-car.[f] [12] Samuel took a stone, set it up between Mizpah and Shen,[g] and named it Ebenezer,[h] saying, "Yahweh has helped us all the way to here." [13] So the Philistines were humbled and did not again come into Israel's territory. The hand of Yahweh was against the Philistines all the days of Samuel. [14] The towns that the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron to Gath, and Israel freed their territory from the Philistines' control. There was also peace between Israel and the Amorites.

[15] Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. [16] Year by year he went on a circuit to Bethel, Gilgal, and Mizpah, and judged Israel at all these places. [17] Then he would return to Ramah, because his house was there, and there too he judged Israel. And he built an altar there to Yahweh.

Notes

- a (7:1) Abinadab means "my father is generous" or "my father is noble." Eleazar means "God has helped."
- b (7:2) Or "longed"; the Hebrew verb is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "all the house of Israel looked after the Lord" (Brenton).
- c (7:3) Ashtoreth (plural Ashtaroth) was a Canaanite goddess of fertility and war, called Astarte by the Greeks. The Hebrew vowels may imitate boshet, "shame."
- d (7:4) Baal, "lord" or "owner," was the Canaanite storm god; the plural refers to his local forms and images.
- e (7:5) Mizpah means "watchtower." This Mizpah was in Benjamin, about 8 miles (13 kilometers) north of Jerusalem.
- f (7:11) Beth-car means "house of the lamb" or "house of pasture" (uncertain); the site is unknown.
- g (7:12) Shen means "tooth," perhaps a rocky crag. The Septuagint reads "the old city" (Brenton), which suggests the Hebrew name Jeshanah (2 Chronicles 13:19).
- h (7:12) Ebenezer means "stone of help."

Chapter 8

1 When Samuel had become old, he made his sons judges over Israel.
2 His firstborn son was named Joel,[a] and his second, Abijah;[b] they judged at Beersheba. 3 His sons, however, did not walk in his ways but leaned toward gain; they took bribes and bent justice.
4 So all the elders of Israel gathered together and came to Samuel at Ramah. 5 They told him, "You have grown old, and your sons do not live as you have. So now set a king over us to judge us, like all the other nations." 6 But the request displeased Samuel when they said, "Give us a king to judge us." So Samuel prayed to Yahweh. 7 Yahweh said to Samuel, "Listen to the people in all that they tell you, for it is not you they have rejected, but me; they do not want me to be king over them. 8 Just as they have done from the day I brought them up out of Egypt until today, abandoning me and serving other gods, so they are also doing to you. 9 Now then, listen to them; but warn them solemnly, and tell them the practice[c] of the king who will reign over them."
10 So Samuel told all the words of Yahweh to the people who had asked him for a king. 11 He said, "This will be the king's way with you, the king who will reign over you: he will take your sons and put them on his chariots and among his horsemen, and they will run before his chariots. 12 He will set some as officers over thousands and officers over fifties, and some to plow his plowland and reap his harvest and make his weapons and the fittings of his chariots. 13 He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. 14 He will take your finest fields, vineyards, and olive orchards and give them to his courtiers. 15 Of your seed and your vineyards he will take a tenth, and give it to his court officers[d] and his officials. 16 He will take your male and female slaves, the finest of your young men,[e] and your donkeys, and put them to work for himself. 17 Of your flocks he will take a tenth, and you yourselves will be his slaves. 18 On that day you will cry out because of the king you have chosen for yourselves, but Yahweh will not answer you on that day." 19 But the people refused to listen to Samuel. "No!" they said. "There must be a king over us. 20 Then we too will be like all the nations, and our king will judge us and go out before us and fight our battles." 21 When Samuel had heard all the people's words, he repeated them in Yahweh's hearing. 22 Yahweh said to Samuel, "Listen to their voice and make them a king." So Samuel told the men of Israel, "Go, every man to his own town."

Notes

- a (8:2) Joel means "Yahweh is God."
- b (8:2) Abijah means "my father is Yahweh." The Septuagint calls him "Abia" (Brenton).
- c (8:9) Hebrew mishpat, "judgment, right, custom"; here the king's way of doing things, his claims on the people. Compare Deuteronomy 17:14–20.
- d (8:15) Hebrew saris, often "eunuch," but also used more broadly of a court official.
- e (8:16) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "your good herds" (Brenton), which may reflect a Hebrew word for "cattle" differing by one letter.

Chapter 9

1 There was a man from Benjamin named Kish.[a] He was the son of Abiel, son of Zeror, son of Becorath, son of Aphiah, a Benjamite and a man of means and importance.[b] 2 He had a son named Saul,[c] a fine young man; none of the Israelites was finer than he. From his shoulders up he stood taller than all the people.
3 Now the she-donkeys belonging to Kish the father of Saul had wandered off. Kish told Saul his son, "Take along with you one of the young men, and arise, go and search for the donkeys." 4 He passed through the hill country of Ephraim and through the land of Shalishah,[d] but they did not find them. Then they passed through the land of Shaalim, and they were not there. Then he passed through the land of Benjamin, and they did not find them.
5 When they reached the land of Zuph, Saul told the young man with him, "Come, we should go back, lest my father leave off caring about the donkeys and become anxious over us." 6 But the servant said to him, "Listen, there is a man of God in this town, and the man is held in honor; everything he says surely comes about. Let us go there now.
Perhaps he can tell us about the journey we have set out on." 7 Saul said to his young man, "Suppose we go; what shall we take to the man? The bread is used up from our sacks, and we have no present to bring the man of God. What is there with us?" [8] The servant answered Saul again, "Look, I have here in my hand a quarter of a silver coin, about a tenth of an ounce.[e] I will give it to the man of God, and he will tell us our way." [9] (Formerly in Israel, a man who set out to inquire of God would say, "Come, let us go to the seer," since today's prophet[f] was called a seer in those days.) [10] Saul said to his servant, "Well spoken. Come, let us go." So they went to the town where the man of God was.

[11] As they climbed the ascent to the town, they came upon girls going out to draw water, and they said to them, "Is the seer here?" [12] "He is," they answered. "He is just ahead of you. Hurry, because he arrived in the town today; the people are holding a sacrifice at the high place[g] today. [13] The moment you go into the town you will find him, before he climbs to the high place to eat. The people will not eat until he comes, for he blesses the sacrifice; afterward those who are invited eat. So go up now, for you will find him at once." [14] So they went up to the town. Just as they were coming into the middle of the town, Samuel came out facing them, going up to the high place.

[15] Now one day before Saul came, Yahweh had revealed this to Samuel:[h] [16] "About this time tomorrow I will send to you a man out of Benjamin's land, and you shall anoint him as leader[i] over my people Israel. He will save my people from the hand of the Philistines, for I have looked upon my people,[j] because their cry has come to me." [17] When Samuel saw Saul, Yahweh told him, "Here is the man I spoke to you about. He is the one who will hold my people in check."[k] [18] Saul approached Samuel in the gateway and said, "Tell me, please, where is the seer's house?" [19] "I am the seer," Samuel replied to Saul. "Walk ahead of me up to the high place; you are to eat with me today. At dawn I will let you go, and I will tell you all that is in your heart. [20] As for your donkeys that were lost three days ago, do not trouble yourself about them, for they have been found. And to whom does all Israel's desire turn, if not to you and to all your father's house?" [21] Saul answered, "Am I not a Benjamite, from the smallest of the tribes of Israel? And is not my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then do you say such a thing to me?"

22 Samuel took Saul and his servant, led them into the hall, and gave them a place at the head of those who had been invited, about thirty men.[l] 23 Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion I gave you, the one I told you to set aside." 24 The cook lifted the thigh and what was on it[m] and put it down before Saul. Samuel said, "Here is the portion that was reserved. Put it in front of you and eat, because it was kept for you for this appointed time, from when I said, 'I have invited the people.'"[n] So Saul ate with Samuel that day.
25 After they came down from the high place into the town, he talked with Saul on the roof.[o] 26 They rose early, and at daybreak Samuel called to Saul on the roof, "Get up, so that I can send you on your way." Saul got up, and the two of them, Saul and Samuel, went out of doors. 27 When they had come down to the far end of the town, Samuel told Saul, "Tell the young man to pass on before us," and he passed on. "But as for you, stand here a while, so that I may let you hear the word of God."

Notes

- a (9:1) Kish probably means "gift" or "bow" (uncertain). The Septuagint spells the names in this genealogy differently (Brenton: Kis, Abiel, Jared, Bachir, Aphec).
- b (9:1) Or "a mighty man of valor." Hebrew gibbor ḥayil can refer to wealth, strength, or social standing.
- c (9:2) Saul (Hebrew Sha'ul) means "asked for" (see 1:20 and 8:10).
- d (9:4) The locations of Shalishah, Shaalim, and Zuph (verse 5) are uncertain.
- e (9:8) Hebrew "a quarter of a shekel of silver," about 3 grams. Coins were not yet in use; the silver would have been weighed.
- f (9:9) Hebrew navi'. Seer is Hebrew ro'eh, "one who sees."
- g (9:12) Hebrew bamah, an elevated place of worship, often on a hill.
- h (9:15) Literally "had uncovered Samuel's ear."
- i (9:16) Hebrew nagid, "leader" or "prince," a title for one designated by God to rule, used here instead of "king."
- j (9:16) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "I have looked upon the humiliation of my people" (Brenton); compare Exodus 3:7.
- k (9:17) Or "will rule." The Hebrew verb usually means "restrain."
- l (9:22) The Septuagint reads "about seventy men" (Brenton).
- m (9:24) Or "the thigh and the fat tail." The Hebrew is uncertain.

- n (9:24) Hebrew uncertain; literally "for at the appointed time it was kept for you, saying, 'I have invited the people.'" The Septuagint reads, "for it is set before you as a testimony in preference to the others; take of it" (Brenton, modernized).
- o (9:25) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads, "and they prepared a lodging for Saul on the roof, and he lay down" (Brenton). Roofs were flat and used as living space.

Chapter 10

1 Samuel took a flask of oil, poured it over Saul's head, kissed him, and said, "Has Yahweh not anointed you ruler over his inheritance?
[a] 2 When you depart from me today, you will find two men by Rachel's tomb on the border of Benjamin, at Zelzah.[b] They will tell you, 'The donkeys you set out to seek are found. Now your father has dropped the matter of the donkeys and is anxious about you, saying, "What shall I do about my son?"' 3 Then you will go on from there and come to the oak[c] of Tabor. There three men will meet you on their way up to God at Bethel: one carries three kids, another three loaves of bread, and another a skin of wine. 4 They will greet you and give you two loaves of bread, which you are to accept from their hand. 5 After that you will come to Gibeath-elohim,[d] the place of the Philistine garrison.[e] When you arrive there at the town, you will meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place, with lute, hand drum, pipe, and harp going before them, while they prophesy. 6 Then the Spirit of Yahweh will rush upon you, and you will prophesy with them and be changed into another man. 7 When these signs have come upon you, do what the occasion calls for, for God is with you. 8 Then go ahead of me to Gilgal.[f] I will come to you there to present burnt offerings and offer peace offerings. Wait seven days until I arrive and tell you what to do." 9 When Saul turned to leave Samuel, God changed his heart, and all those signs happened the same day. 10 When they came there to the hill, a band of prophets met him, and the Spirit of God rushed upon him, and he prophesied among them. 11 Everyone who had known him earlier saw him prophesying with the prophets, and the people asked each other, "What has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul one of the prophets too?" 12 A man from there answered, "And who is their father?"[g] So it became a proverb: "Is Saul also among the prophets?" 13 When he had finished prophesying, he came to the high place.

14 Saul's uncle asked him and his servant, "Where did you go?" "To search for the donkeys," he said. "When we found that they were missing, we went to Samuel." 15 Saul's uncle said, "Please tell me what Samuel said to you." 16 Saul told his uncle, "He let us know for certain that the donkeys were found." But about the matter of the kingdom, of which Samuel had spoken, he told him nothing.
17 Then Samuel called the people together to Yahweh at Mizpah. 18 He said to the Israelites, "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: 'I brought Israel up out of Egypt, and I rescued you from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of all the kingdoms that oppressed you.' 19 But today you have rejected your God, who saves you from all your troubles and distresses. And you have said,[h] 'No! Set a king over us.' Now therefore present yourselves before Yahweh by your tribes and by your thousands."[i]
20 Then Samuel brought all the tribes of Israel near, and the tribe of Benjamin was taken by lot. 21 He brought the tribe of Benjamin near by its families, and the family of the Matrites was taken; and Saul son of Kish was taken.[j] But when they looked for him, he could not be found. 22 So they inquired again of Yahweh, "Has the man come here yet?"[k] And Yahweh said, "There he is, hidden among the baggage."
23 They ran and brought him from there. When he stood among the people, he was taller than any of them from his shoulders up. 24 Samuel said to all the people, "Do you see the one whom Yahweh has chosen? There is no one like him among all the people." And all the people shouted, "Long live the king!"
25 Samuel explained to the people the way the kingship works,[l] wrote it down in a book, and placed it in front of Yahweh. Then Samuel dismissed everyone to go home. 26 Saul also went home to Gibeah, and with him went the warriors[m] whose hearts God had touched. 27 But some worthless men[n] said, "How can this man save us?" They despised him and brought him no gift. But he kept silent.[o] [Nahash king of the Ammonites had been crushing the Gadites and the Reubenites with great cruelty, putting out the right eye of every one of them and letting no one rescue Israel. Among the Israelites east of the Jordan no man remained whose right eye Nahash king of the Ammonites had not put out, except seven thousand men who escaped from the Ammonites and made their way into Jabesh-gilead.][p]

Notes

- a (10:1) The Septuagint has a longer text: "Has the Lord not anointed you as ruler over his people, over Israel? You will govern the Lord's people and save them from the grip of their enemies; and here is your sign that the Lord has anointed you as ruler over his inheritance" (Brenton, modernized). The traditional Hebrew text has probably lost the middle of the verse by a copying error, the eye of a scribe skipping from one "the Lord has anointed you" to the next.
- b (10:2) Zelzah is otherwise unknown; the Septuagint reads differently (Brenton, "exulting greatly").
- c (10:3) Or "great tree" or "terebinth."
- d (10:5) Gibeath-elohim means "the hill of God." The Septuagint reads "the hill of God" (Brenton).
- e (10:5) Or "a garrison commander" or "a pillar." Hebrew netsib; the Septuagint takes it as a name, "Nasib the Philistine" (Brenton).
- f (10:8) Gilgal means "circle" (of stones), near Jericho (Joshua 4:19–20).
- g (10:12) That is, prophets do not inherit their calling; anyone may receive the Spirit. The Septuagint reads "And who is his father?" (Brenton).
- h (10:19) So many Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint (Brenton, "Nay"). The traditional Hebrew text reads "you said to him," using a word that sounds the same as "no."
- i (10:19) Or "by your clans." The Hebrew word 'eleph, "thousand," can also mean a clan or military unit.
- j (10:21) The Septuagint adds, "and they brought near the family of Matri, man by man" (Brenton has "they bring near the family of Mattari, man by man"), a step that appears to have dropped out of the Hebrew.
- k (10:22) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "Will the man come here?" (Brenton).
- l (10:25) Or "the custom of the kingdom." Hebrew mishpat hammelukah; compare 8:9–11 and Deuteronomy 17:14–20.
- m (10:26) Hebrew "the force" or "the valiant men"; the Septuagint reads "sons of strength," that is, warriors (Brenton has "mighty men").
- n (10:27) Hebrew "sons of Belial."
- o (10:27) So the traditional Hebrew text, literally "and he was like one keeping silent." With a slight change in the Hebrew letters, 4QSam-a and the Septuagint read instead "And about a month later" (Brenton, at the start of 11:1, "And it came to pass about a month after this"), which leads into chapter 11.

- p (10:27) The bracketed paragraph is found in 4QSam-a, a Hebrew manuscript of Samuel from Qumran (first century BC), between 10:27 and 11:1. It is not in the traditional Hebrew text or the Septuagint, but Josephus (Jewish Antiquities, book 6) retells the same events, which suggests that he knew a text that had it. Many scholars think the traditional Hebrew text lost the paragraph by a copying error; others think it was added to explain Nahash's demand in 11:2. The wording here is this translation's own rendering of the reported text; the scroll is damaged in places. This needs scholarly review.

Chapter 11

1 Then Nahash[a] the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabesh-gilead.[b] All the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, "Make a treaty with us, and we will serve you." 2 But Nahash the Ammonite told them, "On this term I will cut a covenant with you, that I put out every right eye of yours, and so lay disgrace on all Israel." 3 The elders of Jabesh said to him, "Hold off from us for seven days, and we will send messengers into every border of Israel. Then, if no one comes to save us, we will come out to you." 4 When the messengers came to Gibeah of Saul and told these things in the people's hearing, all the people lifted up their voices and wept.
5 Now Saul was just then coming from the field after the oxen. Saul said, "Why are the people weeping?" And they related to him the words of the men of Jabesh. 6 When Saul heard these words, the Spirit of God rushed upon him, and his anger burned hot. 7 He took a pair of oxen, cut them into pieces, and sent the pieces by messengers across the whole territory of Israel with this word: "Whoever does not march out behind Saul and Samuel will have this done to his oxen!" Terror from Yahweh fell on the people, and they came out together as one. 8 Saul mustered them at Bezek: there were three hundred thousand men of Israel and thirty thousand men of Judah.[c] 9 They told the messengers who had come, "Say this to the men of Jabesh-gilead:
'Tomorrow, by the time the sun is hot, you will have rescue.'" When the messengers came and told the men of Jabesh, they were glad. 10 Then the men of Jabesh said to the Ammonites, "Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may deal with us however you please." 11 The next day Saul arranged the people in three companies. They broke into the middle of the camp during the morning watch[d] and struck down the Ammonites until the heat of the day. Those who were left were so scattered that not two of them were left together.

12 Then the people said to Samuel, “Who was it that said, ‘Shall Saul reign over us?’ Hand the men over, and we will put them to death.” 13 But Saul said, “No one will be put to death this day, for today Yahweh has brought rescue to Israel.”
14 Samuel said to the people, “Come, let us go to Gilgal and there renew the kingship.” 15 So all the people went to Gilgal, and there at Gilgal they made Saul king before Yahweh.[e] There they offered peace offerings before Yahweh, and there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced greatly.

Notes

- a (11:1) Nahash means “serpent.” On the paragraph that some ancient witnesses place before this verse, see the note at 10:27. In the Septuagint and 4QSam-a (as reported), the verse begins “And about a month later” (Brenton, “And it came to pass about a month after this”).
- b (11:1) Jabesh-gilead was a town east of the Jordan, in Gilead; Jabesh means “dry.” Compare Judges 21:8–14.
- c (11:8) The Septuagint reads “six hundred thousand” and “seventy thousand” (Brenton). The Hebrew word ’eleph, “thousand,” may also mean a military unit, which would make the figures much smaller.
- d (11:11) Hebrew “in the morning watch,” the last of the three watches of the night, from about 2 a.m. until about 6 a.m.
- e (11:15) The Septuagint reads “and Samuel anointed Saul there to be king before the Lord” (Brenton), and it ends the verse, “and Samuel and all Israel rejoiced greatly” (Brenton, modernized).

Chapter 12

1 Samuel said to all Israel, “I have listened to your voice in all that you said to me, and I have set a king over you. 2 Now look, the king walks before you. As for me, I am old and gray-headed, and my sons, look, they are with you. I have walked before you from my youth until this day. 3 Here I stand. Bear witness against me in the presence of Yahweh and his anointed. Have I taken anyone’s ox or donkey? Whom have I cheated? Whom have I crushed? From whom have I taken a bribe, that I should shut my eyes with it?[a] Say so, and I will pay it back.” 4 They said, “You have not defrauded us or crushed us, nor taken anything at all from anyone's hand." 5 He said to them,

"Yahweh is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand." And they said,[b] "He is witness."
6 Samuel said to the people, "Yahweh is witness,[c] who appointed Moses and Aaron and brought your fathers up from the land of Egypt.
7 Now stand here, and I will argue my case with you before Yahweh concerning all the righteous deeds that Yahweh did for you and your fathers. 8 When Jacob went into Egypt,[d] and your fathers cried out to Yahweh, Yahweh sent Moses and Aaron, who brought your fathers out of Egypt and settled them in this place. 9 But they forgot Yahweh their God, and he handed them over to Sisera, the commander of Hazor's army,[e] to the Philistines, and to the king of Moab, who made war on them. 10 Then they cried out to Yahweh and said, 'We have sinned, for we have forsaken Yahweh and served the Baals and the Ashtoreths. But now rescue us from the hand of our enemies, and we will serve you.' 11 And Yahweh sent Jerubbaal,[f] Bedan,[g] Jephthah, and Samuel,[h] and rescued you from the hand of your enemies on every side, and you lived in security. 12 But when you saw that Nahash king of the Ammonites was moving against you, you told me, 'No, we want a king to reign over us,' when Yahweh your God was your king. 13 Now look, here is the king whom you chose, for whom you asked. See, Yahweh has set a king over you. 14 If you will fear Yahweh and serve him and listen to his voice and not rebel against Yahweh's command, and if both you and the king who reigns over you follow Yahweh your God, all will be well.[i] 15 But if you will not listen to Yahweh's voice, but rebel against Yahweh's command, then the hand of Yahweh will be against you, as it was against your fathers.[j] 16 Now therefore take your stand and see this great thing that Yahweh will do before your eyes.
17 Is it not wheat harvest today?[k] I will call on Yahweh, and he will send thunder and rain. Then you will know and see that the wrong you have done in Yahweh's sight is great, in asking for yourselves a king." 18 So Samuel called on Yahweh, and Yahweh sent thunder and rain that day, and all the people greatly feared Yahweh and Samuel.

19 All the people said to Samuel, “Pray for your servants to Yahweh your God, that we do not die; for we have added to all our sins this evil of asking for ourselves a king.” 20 Samuel said to the people, “Fear not. You have indeed done all this evil; only, do not turn away from following Yahweh, but serve Yahweh with all your heart. 21 Do not turn aside after empty things,[l] which neither profit nor rescue, for they are empty. 22 For Yahweh will not abandon his people, for the sake of his great name, because it has pleased Yahweh to make you a people for himself. 23 As for me, I would never sin against Yahweh by giving up praying for you. I will teach you the good and upright way. 24 Only fear Yahweh and serve him faithfully with all your heart, for consider what great things he has done for you. 25 But if you keep on doing evil, you will be swept off, you and your king alike.”

Notes

- a (12:3) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads “a bribe, even a sandal? Testify against me” (Brenton, modernized), and Sirach 46:19 is reported to reflect a similar text.
- b (12:5) So many Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint. The traditional Hebrew text reads “he said.”
- c (12:6) “Is witness” is supplied from the Septuagint (Brenton: “The Lord who appointed Moses and Aaron is witness”); the Hebrew lacks the word.
- d (12:8) The Septuagint adds, “and his sons, and Egypt humbled them” (Brenton, modernized).
- e (12:9) The Septuagint reads “Sisera, commander of the army of Jabin king of Hazor” (Brenton has “Sisara captain of the host of Jabis king of Asor”).
- f (12:11) Jerubbaal is another name for Gideon (Judges 6:32).
- g (12:11) So the traditional Hebrew text; Bedan is not named in Judges. The Septuagint reads “Barak” (Brenton, “Barac”), which fits Judges 4–5.
- h (12:11) So the traditional Hebrew text. Some ancient witnesses, including the Syriac, are reported to read “Samson.”
- i (12:14) “All will be well” is supplied; the Hebrew sentence breaks off after “your God.”
- j (12:15) Literally “against you and against your fathers,” as in the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads “against you and against your king” (Brenton, “upon you and upon your king”).
- k (12:17) The wheat harvest came in May–June, the dry season, when rain was very rare.
- l (12:21) Hebrew tohu, “emptiness,” the word used in Genesis 1:2 (“formless”).

Chapter 13

1 Saul was [...] years old when he became king, and he reigned [...] two years over Israel.[a] 2 Saul chose for himself three thousand men of Israel. Two thousand were with Saul at Michmash[b] and in the hill country of Bethel, and a thousand were with Jonathan[c] at Gibeah of Benjamin. The rest of the people he sent away, each to his tent. 3 Jonathan struck down the Philistine garrison[d] at Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. Then Saul had the ram's horn blown throughout the land, saying, "Let the Hebrews hear!"[e] 4 And all Israel heard the news: "Saul has struck down the Philistine garrison, and Israel has also become a stench to the Philistines." And the people were called out after Saul to Gilgal.
5 The Philistines gathered to fight with Israel: thirty thousand chariots,[f] six thousand horsemen, and people as many as the sand on the shore of the sea. They came up and camped at Michmash, east of Beth-aven.[g] 6 The men of Israel saw they were in trouble, for the army was under heavy pressure, and they hid in caves, thickets, rocks, pits,[h] and cisterns. 7 Some Hebrews even crossed the Jordan to the land of Gad and Gilead. But Saul was still at Gilgal, and all the people followed him trembling.
8 He waited seven days, the time set by Samuel, but Samuel did not come to Gilgal, and the people began to scatter from him. 9 So Saul said, "Bring the burnt offering and the peace offerings here to me."
And he offered the burnt offering. 10 Just as he finished offering the burnt offering, there was Samuel coming. Saul went out to meet him and to greet him.[i] 11 "What did you do?" Samuel asked. Saul replied, "I saw the people slipping away from me, you had not come by the appointed day, and the Philistines were massing at Michmash, 12 so I said to myself, 'The Philistines will now march down against me at Gilgal, and I have not yet sought Yahweh's favor.' So I made myself offer the burnt offering." 13 "You have behaved foolishly," Samuel told Saul. "You did not obey the command Yahweh your God gave you.
Otherwise Yahweh would have established your rule over Israel for all time. 14 But now your kingdom will not last. Yahweh has sought out for himself a man after his own heart, and Yahweh has appointed him leader over his people, because you have not kept what Yahweh commanded you." 15 Then Samuel arose and went up from Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin.[j]

Saul counted the people who were present with him, about six hundred men. 16 Saul and Jonathan his son, and the people found with them, stayed in Geba of Benjamin, and the Philistines were encamped in Michmash. 17 Raiders came out of the camp of the Philistines in three companies. One company turned toward the road to Ophrah, to the land of Shual; 18 another company turned toward the road to Beth-horon; and another company turned toward the border road that looks down on the Valley of Zeboim,[k] toward the wilderness.
19 Now no blacksmith could be found in all the land of Israel, for the Philistines had said, "Otherwise the Hebrews will make themselves swords or spears." 20 So every Israelite went down to the Philistines to have his plowshare, mattock, axe, or sickle sharpened.[l] 21 The charge was about a quarter of an ounce of silver[m] for the plowshares and the mattocks, and about an eighth of an ounce[n] for the forks and the axes and for setting the goads. 22 So on the day of battle not one of the people with Saul and Jonathan carried a sword or spear; only Saul and his son Jonathan did.
23 And the Philistine garrison went out to the pass of Michmash.

Notes

- a (13:1) The Hebrew text of this verse is incomplete. It reads literally, "Saul was a year old when he became king, and he reigned two years over Israel." A number has evidently been lost before "year," and probably before "two years" as well. The verse is absent from the Septuagint (Brenton). Acts 13:21 gives Saul's reign as forty years, and Josephus is reported to give twenty or forty years in different passages; some later Greek manuscripts are reported to read "thirty years old." The bracketed gaps mark the missing numbers. This needs scholarly review.
- b (13:2) Michmash was a town about 7 miles (11 kilometers) northeast of Jerusalem.
- c (13:2) Jonathan means "Yahweh has given."
- d (13:3) Or "the garrison commander" or "the Philistine pillar." Hebrew netsib; the Septuagint reads "Nasib the Philistine" (Brenton). Likewise in verse 4.
- e (13:3) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "The slaves have revolted" (Brenton, "The servants have despised us"), taking the Hebrew letters differently.

- f (13:5) So the traditional Hebrew text and the Septuagint (Brenton). Some Greek manuscripts and the Syriac are reported to read “three thousand,” which may be original.
- g (13:5) Beth-aven means “house of wickedness,” possibly a mocking name for Bethel (“house of God”); compare Hosea 4:15.
- h (13:6) Or “in tombs” or “in strongholds.” The Hebrew word is rare.
- i (13:10) Literally “to bless him.”
- j (13:15) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint has a longer text: “and departed from Gilgal, and the rest of the people went up after Saul to meet the men of war, when they had come out of Gilgal to Gibeah of Benjamin” (Brenton, modernized and slightly simplified). The Hebrew may have lost words by a copying error.
- k (13:18) Zeboim means “hyenas.”
- l (13:20) So the Septuagint (Brenton, “sickle”). The Hebrew repeats the word for “plowshare.”
- m (13:21) Hebrew pim, a weight found in excavations, about two-thirds of a shekel, about 8 grams. The meaning of this verse was unknown until such weights were found; the Septuagint reads “three shekels” (Brenton).
- n (13:21) Hebrew “a third of a shekel,” about 4 grams.

Chapter 14

1 One day Jonathan son of Saul said to the young man carrying his armor, “Come, let us go across to the Philistine outpost over on that side.” But he did not tell his father. 2 Saul was staying at the outskirts of Gibeah under the pomegranate tree at Migron, and the people with him were about six hundred men. 3 Ahijah[a] son of Ahitub, brother of Ichabod, son of Phinehas, son of Eli, the priest of Yahweh at Shiloh, wore the ephod.[b] The people did not know Jonathan had left. 4 On each side of the pass through which Jonathan intended to reach the Philistine outpost stood a rocky cliff. One was named Bozez, and the other Seneh.[c] 5 The one crag rose on the north in front of Michmash, and the other on the south in front of Geba.

6 Jonathan told the young man who bore his armor, “Come on, let us cross over to the outpost of these uncircumcised men. Perhaps Yahweh will work on our behalf, for nothing keeps Yahweh from giving victory, whether through many or through few.” 7 His armor-bearer answered, “Do whatever you have in mind. Go ahead; I am with you, heart and soul.”[d] 8 Then Jonathan said, “Look, we will cross over to the men and let them see us. 9 If they say to us, 'Stand still until we reach you,' then we will stand where we are and not go up to them. 10 But if they say, 'Come up to us,' then we will go up, for Yahweh has given them into our hand. This will be the sign to us." 11 The two of them let the Philistine outpost see them. "Look," said the Philistines, "the Hebrews are coming out of the holes they were hiding in." 12 The men of the garrison called out to Jonathan and his armor-bearer, "Climb up to us, and we will let you know something!" Jonathan told his armor-bearer, "Climb up after me, for Yahweh has delivered them into Israel's hands." 13 Then Jonathan climbed up on his hands and feet, and his armor-bearer after him. They fell before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer finished them off behind him. 14 In that first attack Jonathan and his armor-bearer killed about twenty men, in an area of roughly half an acre.[e] 15 Terror spread through the camp, in the field, and among all the people. The garrison and the raiders also trembled. The earth quaked, and it became a terror from God.[f] 16 Saul's lookouts in Gibeah of Benjamin looked, and there was the crowd, melting away and running here and there.[g] 17 Then Saul said to the people who were with him, "Count now and see who has gone from us." When they had counted, Jonathan and his armor-bearer were not there. 18 Saul told Ahijah, "Bring near the ark of God."[h] For the ark of God was with the Israelites at that time. 19 While Saul was talking to the priest, the uproar in the camp of the Philistines kept growing louder and louder. So Saul said to the priest, "Withdraw your hand." 20 Then Saul and all the people with him were called together, and they went into the battle. And there was every man's sword against his fellow, in very great confusion. 21 The Hebrews who had been with the Philistines before, who had gone up with them into the camp, also turned[i] to be with the Israelites who were with Saul and Jonathan. 22 Likewise all the men of Israel who had hidden themselves in the hill country of Ephraim heard that the Philistines had fled, and they too pursued hard after them in the battle. 23 So Yahweh saved Israel that day, and the battle passed beyond Beth-aven.[j] 24 The men of Israel were hard pressed that day, for Saul had bound the people under an oath, saying, "Cursed is the man who eats any food before evening, until I have taken vengeance on my enemies."[k] So none of the people tasted food. 25 All the people[l] came into the forest, and there was honey on the ground. 26 When the people entered the forest, there was the honey dripping, but no one put his hand to his mouth, for the people feared the oath. 27 But Jonathan had not heard when his father bound the people with the oath. So he reached out the tip of the staff that was in his hand and dipped it in the honeycomb and brought his hand to his mouth, and his eyes brightened.[m] 28 Then one of the people said, "Your father strictly bound the people with an oath, saying, 'Cursed is the man who eats food today.'" And the people were faint. 29 Jonathan said, "My father has brought trouble on the land. See how my eyes have brightened because I tasted a little of this honey. 30 How much better it would have been if the people had eaten today without restraint from the spoil of their enemies! As it is, the Philistines have not suffered a great defeat."

31 They struck down the Philistines that day from Michmash to Aijalon, and the people were very faint. 32 The people rushed greedily on the plunder. They took sheep and cattle and calves, slaughtered them on the ground, and the people ate them with the blood. 33 Then they told Saul, "Look, the people are sinning against Yahweh by eating with the blood." He said, "You have dealt faithlessly. Roll a large stone to me here today."[n] 34 Saul said, "Spread out among the troops and tell them: 'Every man is to bring me his ox, and every man his sheep. Butcher them on this stone and then eat, and do not sin against Yahweh by eating meat that still has blood in it.'" That night every one of them led his ox there and butchered it. 35 Saul built an altar to Yahweh; this was the first altar that he built to Yahweh.

36 Saul said, "Let us go down after the Philistines in the night and plunder them until daylight, and leave not one of them alive." "Do whatever you think best," they said. But the priest said, "Let us approach God here first." 37 So Saul asked counsel of God, "Shall I go down after the Philistines? Will you give them into the hand of Israel?" But he did not answer him that day. 38 Saul said, "Draw near here, all the leaders[o] of the people; learn and see in what way this sin has happened today. 39 As Yahweh lives, who gives Israel victory, even if the guilt is in my son Jonathan, he must die." Yet no one among all the people answered him. 40 Then he said to all Israel, "You be on one side, and I and my son Jonathan will be on the other side." The people said to Saul, "Do what seems good to you." 41 Therefore Saul said to Yahweh, the God of Israel, "Give Thummim."[p] And Jonathan and Saul were taken by lot, and the people went free. 42 Saul said, "Cast lots between me and Jonathan my son." And Jonathan was taken.[q] 43 Saul said to Jonathan, "Tell me what you have done." Jonathan told him, "I did indeed taste a little honey with the end of the rod in my hand. Here I am; I must die." 44 Saul said, "May God do so, and more also; you shall surely die, Jonathan." 45 The people said to Saul, "Must Jonathan die, when he has won this great victory for Israel? Never! As Yahweh lives, not a hair of his head will fall to the ground, for what he did today he did with God's help." So the people rescued Jonathan from death. 46 Then Saul went up from pursuing the Philistines, and the Philistines went to their own place.

47 When Saul had taken the kingship over Israel, he made war all around against all his enemies: Moab, the Ammonites, Edom, the kings of Zobah, and the Philistines. Wherever he turned, he inflicted punishment.[r] 48 He acted valiantly and struck down the Amalekites, and rescued Israel from the hand of those who plundered them.
49 Saul's sons were Jonathan, Ishvi,[s] and Malchi-shua.[t] His two daughters were named Merab, the older, and Michal, the younger.[u] 50 The name of Saul's wife was Ahinoam,[v] daughter of Ahimaaz. His army's commander was named Abner,[w] son of Ner, Saul's uncle. 51 Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Abner was the son of Abiel.
52 There was fierce war against the Philistines all the days of Saul. Whenever Saul saw any mighty man or any valiant man, he took him into his service.

Notes

- a (14:3) Ahijah means "brother of Yahweh" or "Yahweh is my brother."
- b (14:3) The ephod here is a priestly garment used in seeking God's answer (compare 23:9–12).
- c (14:4) Bozez perhaps means "shining" and Seneh "thorny" (both uncertain).
- d (14:7) So the traditional Hebrew text, literally "Turn; here I am with you as your heart." The Septuagint reads "my heart is as your heart" (Brenton, modernized).

- e (14:14) Hebrew "in about half a furrow of a yoke of field," probably half the area that a pair of oxen could plow in a day. The phrase is obscure; the Septuagint reads differently, "with darts and slings and stones of the field" (Brenton, modernized). This needs scholarly review.
- f (14:15) Or "a very great terror."
- g (14:16) So the traditional Hebrew text, literally "and it went and hither." The Septuagint reads "thrown into confusion on every side" (Brenton, modernized).
- h (14:18) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads, "Bring the ephod, for he wore the ephod at that time before Israel" (Brenton, modernized), which agrees with verse 3 and with verse 19.
- i (14:21) So the Septuagint and other ancient witnesses. The Hebrew reads "who had gone up with them into the camp all around, they also."
- j (14:23) The Septuagint adds, "and all the people with Saul were about ten thousand men, and the fighting spread through every city of the hill country of Ephraim" (Brenton, modernized and condensed).
- k (14:24) The Septuagint begins the verse, "And Saul committed a great error of ignorance in that day" (Brenton, modernized).
- l (14:25) Hebrew "all the land." The Hebrew of verses 25–26 is difficult.
- m (14:27) So the ketiv (written text); the qere (traditional reading) is "his eyes saw clearly."
- n (14:33) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "Out of Gittaim roll a great stone to me here" (Brenton, modernized).
- o (14:38) Hebrew "cornerstones," a picture of leaders.
- p (14:41) So the traditional Hebrew text, literally "Give perfect," where the Hebrew word may be read as Thummim. The Septuagint has a longer text, reading in Greek "why have you not answered your servant this day? Is the guilt in me or in my son Jonathan? Lord God of Israel, give clear signs; and if the lot should declare this, give to your people Israel, give holiness" (Brenton, modernized). Many scholars think the Greek reflects a Hebrew text that read, "If this guilt is in me or in my son Jonathan, give Urim; but if it is in your people Israel, give Thummim," and that the traditional text lost words by a copying error. Urim and Thummim were the sacred lots (Exodus 28:30). This needs scholarly review.
- q (14:42) The Septuagint adds, "whomever the Lord shall take by lot, let him die. And the people said to Saul, This thing is not to be done. And Saul prevailed against the people" (Brenton, modernized).
- r (14:47) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "he was victorious" (Brenton), from a Hebrew word with similar letters.
- s (14:49) The Septuagint reads "Jessiu" (Brenton). Ishvi may be another name for Abinadab (31:2; 1 Chronicles 8:33) or for Ish-bosheth (2 Samuel 2:8). Ishvi perhaps means "man of Yahweh" (uncertain).
- t (14:49) Malchi-shua means "my king is salvation" or "king of wealth" (uncertain).

- u (14:49) Merab perhaps means “increase”; Michal perhaps means “who is like God?” (both uncertain).
- v (14:50) Ahinoam means “my brother is pleasantness.”
- w (14:50) Abner means “my father is a lamp.”

Chapter 15

1 Samuel said to Saul, “It was I whom Yahweh sent to anoint you king over his people, over Israel. Now therefore listen to the sound of the words of Yahweh. 2 This is what Yahweh of Armies says: ‘I will punish what Amalek did to Israel, how he set himself against him on the way when he came up out of Egypt.[a] 3 Now go and attack Amalek, and set apart for destruction[b] everything he owns. Show him no mercy; spare nothing, but put to death man and woman alike, child and nursing infant, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.’” 4 So Saul summoned the people and mustered them at Telaim:[c] two hundred thousand on foot, and ten thousand from Judah.[d] 5 Saul came as far as the city of Amalek and set an ambush in the ravine. 6 Saul told the Kenites, “Go away! Leave the Amalekites, or I will destroy you along with them, since you were kind to all the Israelites when they came up from Egypt.” So the Kenites moved away from the Amalekites. 7 Saul defeated the Amalekites all the way from Havilah to Shur, east of Egypt. 8 He took Agag[e] king of the Amalekites alive, and devoted all the people to destruction with the edge of the sword. 9 But Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep and of the cattle, the fat animals[f] and the lambs, and all that was good, and were not willing to destroy them. But everything that was despised and worthless, that they destroyed.
10 Then the word of Yahweh came to Samuel: 11 “I regret that I made Saul king, for he has turned back from following me and has not carried out my words.” Samuel was angry,[g] and he cried out to Yahweh all night. 12 Samuel rose early to meet Saul in the morning. Samuel was told, “Saul came to Carmel,[h] and there he set up a monument for himself; then he turned and passed on and went down to Gilgal.”[i] 13 When Samuel came to Saul, Saul said to him, “Blessed are you by Yahweh! I have carried out the word of Yahweh.” 14 Samuel said, “Then what is this bleating of sheep in my ears, and the lowing of cattle that I hear?” 15 Saul said, “They brought them from the Amalekites, for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the cattle to sacrifice to Yahweh your God; the rest we have devoted to destruction.” 16 Then Samuel said to Saul, “Stop! Let me tell you what Yahweh said to me this night.” He said to him, “Speak.” 17 Samuel said, “Though you were small in your own eyes, were you not made head of the tribes of Israel? Yahweh anointed you king over Israel. 18 And Yahweh sent you on a journey and said, ‘Go, devote the sinners, the Amalekites, to destruction, and fight against them until they are wiped out.’ 19 Why then did you not obey the voice of Yahweh? Why did you swoop down on the plunder and do what was evil in Yahweh’s sight?” 20 Saul said to Samuel, “But I did obey the voice of Yahweh. I went on the mission on which Yahweh sent me. I brought back Agag king of Amalek, and I devoted the Amalekites to destruction. 21 But the people took from the plunder sheep and cattle, the best of what was devoted, to sacrifice to Yahweh your God in Gilgal.” 22 Samuel replied, “Is Yahweh as pleased with burnt offerings and sacrifices as he is with obedience to Yahweh’s voice? See, obeying is better than sacrifice, and listening is better than the fat of rams. 23 Rebellion is as bad as the sin of divination, and stubbornness is like wickedness and idolatry.[j] Since you have rejected Yahweh’s word, he has rejected you as king.” 24 Saul said to Samuel, “I have sinned, for I have transgressed the command of Yahweh and your words, because I feared the people and listened to their voice. 25 Now therefore, please forgive my sin and return with me, so that I may bow in worship before Yahweh.” 26 Samuel said to Saul, “I will not return with you, for you have rejected the word of Yahweh, and Yahweh has rejected you from being king over Israel.” 27 As Samuel turned to go away, Saul[k] seized the hem of his robe, and it tore. 28 Samuel said to him, “Yahweh has torn the kingdom of Israel from you this day and has given it to a neighbor of yours, who is better than you. 29 Moreover, the Glory[l] of Israel does not lie or change his mind, since he is not a human being who changes his mind.” 30 Saul said, “I have sinned. But please honor me now in front of the elders of my people and in front of Israel. Come back with me, so that I may worship Yahweh your God." 31 So Samuel turned back after Saul, and Saul bowed in worship before Yahweh.

32 Samuel then said, "Bring me Agag, king of the Amalekites." Agag came to him in chains,[m] saying to himself, "Surely the bitterness of death has passed."[n] 33 Samuel said, "As your sword has made women childless, so your mother will be childless among women." And Samuel hewed Agag in pieces before Yahweh in Gilgal.
34 Then Samuel went to Ramah, and Saul went up to his house at Gibeah of Saul. 35 Samuel did not see Saul again until the day of his death, but Samuel mourned over Saul. And Yahweh regretted that he had made Saul king over Israel.

Notes

- a (15:2) See Exodus 17:8–16 and Deuteronomy 25:17–19.
- b (15:3) Hebrew ḥerem, the giving over of people and goods to God by total destruction. Likewise throughout this chapter.
- c (15:4) Telaim ("lambs") is perhaps the Telem of Joshua 15:24. The Septuagint reads "Gilgal" (Brenton, "Galgala").
- d (15:4) The Septuagint reads "four hundred thousand" and "thirty thousand" (Brenton). On "thousand," see the note at 11:8.
- e (15:8) Agag is perhaps a royal title of the Amalekite kings (compare Numbers 24:7); its meaning is uncertain.
- f (15:9) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain; it may mean "the second-born" or "the fattened."
- g (15:11) Or "was distressed."
- h (15:12) This Carmel is a town in the hill country of Judah, south of Hebron (compare 25:2), not Mount Carmel.
- i (15:12) The Septuagint adds that when Samuel came to Gilgal, Saul was offering a burnt offering to the Lord from the best of the plunder taken from Amalek (Brenton).
- j (15:23) Hebrew teraphim. The Hebrew of this line is difficult. The Septuagint reads differently: "idols bring on pain and grief" (Brenton).
- k (15:27) So the Septuagint (Brenton) and 4QSam-a (reported). The Hebrew lacks "Saul."
- l (15:29) Or "the Eternal One" or "the Splendor." Hebrew netsaḥ.
- m (15:32) Or "cheerfully" or "haltingly." The Hebrew word is uncertain; the Septuagint reads "trembling" (Brenton).
- n (15:32) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads, "Is death thus bitter?" (Brenton); the shorter Greek may reflect a Hebrew text reported to read "Surely death is bitter."

Chapter 16

1 Yahweh said to Samuel, "How long will you grieve over Saul, since I have rejected him as king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and set out. I am sending you to Jesse[a] of Bethlehem, because I have chosen a king for myself from among his sons." 2 "How can I go?" Samuel asked.
"Saul will hear of it and kill me." Yahweh answered, "Take a heifer with you, and say, 'I have come to offer a sacrifice to Yahweh.' 3 Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and then I will show you the course you are to take; you shall anoint for me whomever I name to you." 4 Samuel did as Yahweh said and went to Bethlehem.[b] The town elders met him, trembling, and asked, "Do you come in peace?"[c] 5 "In peace," he said.
"I have come to sacrifice to Yahweh. Consecrate yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice." And he consecrated Jesse and Jesse's sons, and he called them to the sacrifice as well.
6 When they came, he looked at Eliab[d] and thought, "Surely Yahweh's anointed stands before him." 7 But Yahweh told Samuel, "Pay no regard to how he looks or to how tall he stands, because I have rejected him. For it is not as man sees:[e] man looks at the eyes,[f] but Yahweh looks at the heart." 8 Then Jesse called Abinadab[g] and made him pass before Samuel. He said, "Neither has Yahweh chosen this one." 9 Then Jesse made Shammah[h] pass by. And he said, "Neither has Yahweh chosen this one." 10 Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel. And Samuel said to Jesse, "Yahweh has not chosen these." 11
Then Samuel said to Jesse, "Are these all the young men?" He said, "There is still the youngest, but he is keeping the sheep." Samuel said to Jesse, "Send and fetch him, for we will not sit down to eat[i] until he comes here." 12 So he sent and brought him in. He was ruddy, with beautiful eyes and a fine appearance. Yahweh said, "Arise, anoint him, for this is he." 13 Then Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers. And the Spirit of Yahweh rushed upon David[j] from that day forward. Then Samuel rose up and went to Ramah.
14 Now the Spirit of Yahweh departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from Yahweh tormented him.[k] 15 Saul's servants said to him, "Look now, an evil spirit from God is tormenting you. 16 Let our lord command the servants standing before you to find a man who is a skilled lyre player. Whenever the evil spirit from God is on you, he will play, and it will go well with you." 17 So Saul told his servants, "Look out for me a man who can play well, and bring him to me." 18 One of the young men answered, "Look, I have seen a son of Jesse the Bethlehemite who is skilled in playing, a valiant man, a man of war, wise in speech, a man of good presence; and Yahweh is with him." 19 So Saul sent messengers to Jesse and said, "Send me David your son, who is with the sheep." 20 Jesse took a donkey loaded with bread,[l] a skin of wine, and a young goat, and sent them to Saul by his son David. 21 So David came to Saul and stood before him. Saul came to love him very much, and he became his armor-bearer. 22 Saul sent to Jesse, saying, "Let David stand before me, for he has found favor in my eyes." 23 And whenever the spirit from God was on Saul, David took the lyre in hand and played, and Saul was refreshed and felt well, and the evil spirit left him.

Notes

- a (16:1) Jesse perhaps means "Yahweh exists" or "man" (uncertain).
- b (16:4) Bethlehem means "house of bread."
- c (16:4) Or "Do you come in peace?" The Septuagint adds "you seer" (Brenton).
- d (16:6) Eliab means "my God is father."
- e (16:7) The Hebrew is brief, literally "for not what man sees." The Septuagint reads "for God sees not as a man looks" (Brenton).
- f (16:7) That is, at outward appearance.
- g (16:8) Abinadab means "my father is generous."
- h (16:9) Shammah is perhaps a short form of a name meaning "Yahweh has heard" (uncertain). He is called Shimeah in 2 Samuel 13:3 and Shimea in 1 Chronicles 2:13.
- i (16:11) So the Septuagint. The Hebrew reads "will not turn around" or "sit around," probably at the meal.
- j (16:13) David perhaps means "beloved" (uncertain). This is the first time David is named.
- k (16:14) Or "terrified him."
- l (16:20) Hebrew ḥamor, "donkey," which can also be read ḥomer, a dry measure of about 6 bushels (220 liters). The Septuagint reads "a homer of bread" (Brenton), but a donkey loaded with bread is the more likely meaning.

Chapter 17

1 The Philistines gathered their armies for war. They were gathered at Socoh,[a] which belongs to Judah, and they encamped at Ephes-dammim,[b] between Socoh and Azekah. 2 Saul and the Israelites assembled and camped in the Valley of Elah,[c] and lined up in battle formation facing the Philistines. 3 The Philistines stood on the mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on the mountain on the other side, with the valley between them.
4 Then a champion[d] came out from the camp of the Philistines, whose name was Goliath,[e] of Gath. His height was about nine feet nine inches.[f] 5 He had a bronze helmet on his head, and he wore a coat of scale armor; the weight of the coat was about a hundred and twenty-five pounds[g] of bronze. 6 Bronze greaves were on his legs, and a bronze javelin[h] was slung between his shoulders. 7 The shaft of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and the head of his spear weighed about fifteen pounds[i] of iron. And the shield-bearer went before him. 8 He stood up and called out to the lines of Israel, "What is this, coming out to set the battle in order? Am I not the Philistine, and you Saul's servants?
Pick out a man for yourselves, and let him come down to me. 9 If he is able to fight with me and kill me, then we will be your servants. But if I prevail against him and kill him, then you shall be our servants and serve us." 10 And the Philistine said, "I defy the ranks of Israel this day. Give me a man, and let us fight together." 11 When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Philistine, they were shattered and very much afraid.
12 David was the son of an Ephrathite[j] from Bethlehem in Judah named Jesse, who had eight sons. In Saul's time Jesse was already an old man, well along in years.[k] 13 The three oldest sons of Jesse had gone after Saul to the war. The names of his three sons who went to the war were Eliab the firstborn, and next to him Abinadab, and the third Shammah. 14 David was the youngest. The three oldest followed Saul, 15 but David would go back and forth from Saul to tend his father's sheep at Bethlehem. 16 Forty days the Philistine drew near, early and late, and presented himself.

17 Jesse said to David his son, “Take now for your brothers about three-fifths of a bushel[l] of this roasted grain and these ten loaves, and run with them to the camp to your brothers. 18 And bring these ten slices of cheese[m] to the commander of their thousand. See how your brothers are faring, and bring back some token from them.[n] 19 Saul and they and all the men of Israel are in the Valley of Elah, fighting with the Philistines.”
20 David got up early the next morning, left the flock with a shepherd, loaded up, and went as Jesse had told him. He reached the camp[o] as the army was marching out to its battle position and raising the war cry. 21 Israel and the Philistines drew up, line facing line. 22 David left his baggage in the care of the keeper of the baggage and ran to the battle line. He came and asked his brothers how they were. 23 As he was talking with them, there was the champion, the Philistine of Gath named Goliath, coming up out of the ranks of the Philistines.
He spoke the same words as before, and David heard them. 24 All the men of Israel, when they saw the man, fled from him and were greatly afraid. 25 The Israelites said, “Do you see this man coming up? He comes to taunt Israel. The king will give great riches to whoever kills him, and will give him his daughter and exempt his father’s family[p] from taxes in Israel.” 26 David asked the men who stood near him, “What will be done for the man who kills this Philistine and takes away Israel’s shame? Who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he dares to defy the armies of the living God?” 27 The people answered him with the same words:
“So it will be done for the man who kills him.” 28 Eliab his oldest brother heard when he spoke to the men, and Eliab’s anger burned against David. He said, “Why have you come down?
With whom did you leave those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your arrogance and the wickedness of your heart; you came down to watch the battle.” 29 David said, “What have I done now? Was it not only a word?” 30 Then he turned away from him to another man and spoke the same way, and the men answered him just as the others had. 31 The words that David spoke were overheard and told before Saul, and he had him brought.[q]

32 David told Saul, “Let no one lose courage on account of him.[r] Your servant will go and fight this Philistine.” 33 Saul answered David, “You cannot go out against this Philistine and fight him. You are just a boy, and he has been a warrior since he was young.” 34 David told Saul, “Your servant has been a shepherd of his father’s sheep. Whenever a lion or a bear came and took a lamb from the flock, 35 I went out after it and struck it and rescued the lamb from its mouth. If it rose against me, I seized it by its beard,[s] struck it, and killed it. 36 Your servant has struck down both lion and bear, and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be as one of them, since he has taunted the ranks of the living God.”[t] 37 David said, “Yahweh who rescued me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear will rescue me from the hand of this Philistine.” Saul said to David, “Go, and Yahweh be with you.” 38 Then Saul dressed David in his own garments, set a bronze helmet on his head, and dressed him in a coat of mail. 39 David fastened his sword on over his clothes and tried to walk about, since he had never tested such gear. He told Saul, “I cannot walk in these; I have never tested them.” And David took them off. 40 He took his staff in his hand and chose for himself five smooth stones from the stream bed and put them into the shepherd’s bag he had, into the pouch. With his sling in his hand, he drew near to the Philistine.
41 The Philistine, with his shield-bearer walking ahead of him,[u] kept moving closer to David. 42 When the Philistine looked about and saw David, he scorned him, for he was but a lad, ruddy and good to look at.
43 The Philistine said to David, “Am I a dog, that you come to me with sticks?”[v] And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. 44 The Philistine said to David, “Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the sky and to the beasts of the field.” 45 Then David said to the Philistine, “You come to me with a sword, with a spear, and with a javelin, but I come to you in the name of Yahweh of Armies, the God of the ranks of Israel, whom you have defied. 46 This day Yahweh will shut you up into my hand. I will strike you and take your head from you, and I will give the corpses[w] of the camp of the Philistines this day to the birds of the sky and to the wild animals of the earth, so that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel, 47 and so that everyone assembled here will know that Yahweh does not give victory with sword and spear; the battle belongs to Yahweh, and he will hand you over to us."

48 As the Philistine started forward to attack David, David ran quickly to the battle line toward him.[x] 49 David reached into his bag, took out a stone, and slung it. It struck the Philistine on the forehead and sank in,[y] and he fell face down on the ground.
50 So David prevailed over the Philistine with a sling and with a stone, and struck down the Philistine and killed him; there was no sword in David's hand.[z] 51 Then David ran and stood over the Philistine, took his sword, drew it out of its sheath, killed him, and cut off his head with it. When the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled. 52 The men of Israel and of Judah rose up with a shout and pursued the Philistines as far as Gai[aa] and to the gates of Ekron. The wounded of the Philistines fell along the road from Shaaraim[ab] as far as Gath and Ekron. 53 The Israelites came back from their hot pursuit of the Philistines and plundered their camp. 54 David took the head of the Philistine and brought it to Jerusalem,[ac] but he put his weapons in his tent.
55 When Saul saw David going out against the Philistine, he said to Abner, the commander of the army, "Abner, whose son is this youth?" Abner said, "As you live, O king, I do not know."[ad] 56 The king said, "Ask whose son the young man is." 57 When David returned from killing the Philistine, Abner took him and brought him before Saul with the head of the Philistine in his hand. 58 Saul said to him, "Whose son are you, young man?" David answered, "The son of your servant Jesse the Bethlehemite."

Notes

- a (17:1) Socoh means "thorny place." The Septuagint text of chapters 17–18 is much shorter than the traditional Hebrew text. The oldest complete Greek manuscript (Codex Vaticanus) lacks about two-fifths of the Hebrew material, including 17:12–31, 17:41, 17:48b, 17:50, 17:55–18:5, and other parts of chapter 18. Brenton's edition prints 17:12–31 (from other Greek manuscripts) but lacks 17:41, 17:50, 17:55–58, 18:1–5, 18:9–11, 18:17–19, and 18:30. Scholars debate whether the shorter Greek text represents an earlier form of the story or a shortening made to remove tensions with chapter 16 (for example, Saul already knows David in 16:21–23 but asks who he is in 17:55–58). This needs scholarly review.

- b (17:1) Ephes-dammim means "boundary of blood."
- c (17:2) Elah means "terebinth" or "great tree."
- d (17:4) Hebrew "the man of the between," that is, one who fights between two armies in single combat. Likewise in verse 23.
- e (17:4) The meaning of the name Goliath is uncertain.
- f (17:4) Hebrew "six cubits and a span," about 2.9 meters. 4QSam-a (as reported) and the Septuagint (Brenton) read "four cubits and a span," about 6 feet 9 inches (2 meters), which Josephus is also reported to support. A cubit was about 18 inches (45 centimeters), and a span about 9 inches. This needs scholarly review.
- g (17:5) Hebrew "5,000 shekels," about 57 kilograms.
- h (17:6) Or "scimitar."
- i (17:7) Hebrew "600 shekels," about 6.9 kilograms.
- j (17:12) Ephrathite means a man from Ephrathah, the district around Bethlehem (Ruth 1:2; Micah 5:2). Brenton prints verses 12–31, but the oldest Greek manuscript lacks them (see the note at verse 1).
- k (17:12) So the Septuagint (Brenton, "passed for an old man among men") and the Syriac (reported). The Hebrew reads "came among men."
- l (17:17) Hebrew "an ephah," about 22 liters.
- m (17:18) Literally "ten cuts of milk," probably cheeses or curds.
- n (17:18) Or "and take their pledge," perhaps a sign that David had delivered the food.
- o (17:20) Or "the circle of wagons."
- p (17:25) That is, free from taxes or forced labor.
- q (17:31) Verses 12–31 are lacking in the oldest Greek manuscript (see the note at verse 1).
- r (17:32) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "Let not the heart of my lord be cast down within him" (Brenton, modernized).
- s (17:35) Or "its jaw." The Septuagint reads "its throat" (Brenton).
- t (17:36) The Septuagint adds, "Shall I not go and strike him, and take away a reproach this day from Israel? For who is this uncircumcised one?" (Brenton, modernized).
- u (17:41) This verse is lacking in the Septuagint (Brenton) and in the oldest Greek manuscript.
- v (17:43) The Septuagint adds, "and stones? And David said, No, but worse than a dog" (Brenton, modernized).
- w (17:46) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "your limbs and the limbs of the army of the Philistines" (Brenton, modernized).
- x (17:48) The second half of the verse ("David hurried … the Philistine") is lacking in the Septuagint (Brenton).

- y (17:49) The Septuagint adds “through the helmet” (Brenton, “the stone penetrated through the helmet into his forehead”).
- z (17:50) This verse is lacking in the Septuagint (Brenton) and in the oldest Greek manuscript.
- aa (17:52) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads “Gath” (Brenton, “Geth”), which fits the end of the verse.
- ab (17:52) Shaaraim means “two gates.” The Septuagint reads “the gates” (Brenton).
- ac (17:54) Jerusalem was not yet in Israelite hands (see 2 Samuel 5:6–9). The statement may anticipate a later time.
- ad (17:55) Verses 55–58 and 18:1–5 are lacking in the Septuagint (Brenton) and in the oldest Greek manuscript (see the note at verse 1).

Chapter 18

1 When David had finished speaking with Saul, Jonathan’s soul became bound to David’s soul, and Jonathan loved him as he loved himself.[a] 2 Saul took him that day and would not let him go back to his father’s house. 3 And Jonathan and David cut a covenant, since he loved him as his own soul. 4 Jonathan stripped off the robe that was on him and gave it to David, with his garments, even his sword, his bow, and his belt. 5 David went out wherever Saul sent him and had success,[b] and Saul set him over the men of war. It was good in the eyes of all the people and also in the eyes of Saul’s servants.
6 As they came in, when David came back from the slaughter of the Philistine, women came out of all the towns of Israel singing and dancing to meet King Saul, with tambourines, with joy, and with three-stringed instruments.[c] 7 The women sang to one another as they made merry: “Saul has struck down his thousands, and David his ten thousands.” 8 Saul was very angry, and this saying displeased him. He said, “They have credited David with ten thousands, and me they have credited with thousands. What more can he have but the kingdom?”[d] 9 And Saul eyed David from that day on.[e] 10 The next day an evil spirit from God rushed upon Saul, and he raved[f] inside his house, while David was playing the lyre with his hand, as he did day by day. Saul had his spear in his hand. 11 And Saul flung the spear, saying to himself, “I will strike David through, into the wall.”
But twice David turned aside from before him. 12 Saul was afraid of David, because Yahweh was with him but had departed from Saul.[g]

13 So Saul removed him from his presence and made him commander of a thousand. He went out and came in before the people. 14 David had success in all his ways, and Yahweh was with him. 15 When Saul saw that he was having great success, he stood in awe of him. 16 But all Israel and Judah loved David, for he went out and came in before them.
17 Saul said to David, "Here is my older daughter Merab. I will give her to you as your wife; only be a brave man for me and fight Yahweh's battles." Saul thought, "I need not lay a hand on him; the Philistines can deal with him."[h] 18 David said to Saul, "Who am I, and what is my life, or my father's clan in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?" 19 But at the time when Merab, Saul's daughter, should have been given to David, she was given to Adriel[i] the Meholathite as a wife.
20 Now Michal, Saul's daughter, loved David. They told Saul, and the matter was right in his eyes. 21 He was thinking, "I will give her to him so that she will be a trap for him and the Philistines will be against him." So for the second time Saul told David, "You can become my son-in-law today."[j] 22 Saul gave orders to his servants: "Talk with David privately and say, 'See, the king takes pleasure in you, and all his servants love you. So now, be son-in-law to the king.'" 23 Saul's servants repeated these words to David. David replied, "Is it a small thing in your opinion to become the king's son-in-law, when I am poor and of little standing?" 24 Saul's servants reported to him, "These are the words David spoke." 25 Then Saul said, "This is what you are to tell David: 'The king has no wish for a bride-price[k] other than a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to take vengeance on the king's enemies.'" For Saul planned to make David fall by the hand of the Philistines. 26 When his servants told David these words, the matter was right in David's eyes, to become the king's son-in-law. Before the days had expired,[l] 27 David and his men set out and struck down two hundred Philistines.[m] David delivered their foreskins, and all of them were counted out for the king, to make David the king's son-in-law. And Saul married his daughter Michal to him. 28 Saul saw and knew that Yahweh was with David, and that Michal, Saul's daughter, loved him.[n] 29 So Saul was still more afraid of David, and Saul became David's enemy continually.[o] 30 Then the princes of the Philistines went out to war; and whenever they went out, David prospered more than all Saul's servants, so that his name became very dear.[p]

Notes

- a (18:1) Verses 1–5 are lacking in the Septuagint (Brenton) and in the oldest Greek manuscript (see the note at 17:1).

Chapter 19

1 Saul spoke to Jonathan his son and to all his servants about putting David to death. But Jonathan, Saul's son, delighted greatly in David. 2

Jonathan told David, “My father Saul is trying to have you killed. Be careful tomorrow morning: find a hiding place and stay out of sight.
3 I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where you are, and I will speak about you to my father. If I learn anything, I will tell you.”
4 Jonathan spoke well of David to his father Saul, saying, “The king should not wrong his servant David, who has done you no wrong and whose actions have greatly benefited you. 5 He risked his own life when he killed the Philistine, and Yahweh won a great victory for all Israel. You saw it and were glad. Why would you sin against innocent blood by killing David for no reason?” 6 Saul listened to the voice of Jonathan, and Saul swore, “As Yahweh lives, he shall not be put to death.” 7 So Jonathan called David and told him all this. Then he took David to Saul, and David served him as he had before.
8 War broke out again, and David went out to fight with the Philistines. He struck them down with a great slaughter, and they fled from before him. 9 Then an evil spirit from Yahweh came upon Saul as he sat in his house with his spear in his hand, while David was playing the lyre with his hand. 10 Saul sought to strike David into the wall with the spear, but he slipped aside from before Saul, so that the spear struck into the wall. And David fled and escaped that night.
11 Saul sent messengers to David’s house to keep watch on it and to kill him in the morning. But David’s wife Michal warned him, “If you do not escape tonight, you will be killed tomorrow.” 12 So Michal let David down through the window, and he went away, fled, and escaped. 13 Michal took the household idol,[a] put it in the bed, placed a goat’s-hair net[b] at its head, and covered it with a garment. 14 When Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, “He is sick.” 15 Then Saul sent the messengers to see David, saying, “Bring him up to me in the bed, so that I may put him to death.” 16 When the messengers came in, there was the household idol in the bed, with the net of goats’ hair at its head. 17 Saul demanded of Michal, “Why did you trick me like this and let my enemy go and get away?” Michal told Saul, “He said to me, ‘Let me go or I will kill you.’”

18 David fled and escaped. He came to Samuel at Ramah and described to him all that Saul had done to him, and he and Samuel went to stay in Naioth.[c] 19 It was told Saul, "Look, David is at Naioth in Ramah." 20 Saul sent men to seize David. When they saw a band of prophets prophesying and Samuel standing as their leader, God's Spirit came over Saul's men, and they too began to prophesy. 21 When it was told Saul, he sent other messengers, and they also prophesied. Saul sent messengers again the third time, and they also prophesied. 22 Then he himself went to Ramah and came to the great cistern that is at Secu.[d] He asked, "Where are Samuel and David?" And someone said, "Look, they are at Naioth in Ramah." 23 He went there to Naioth in Ramah, and the Spirit of God came upon him also, and he went along prophesying until he came to Naioth in Ramah. 24 He too stripped off his garments and prophesied before Samuel, and lay naked[e] all that day and all that night. Therefore they say, "Is Saul also among the prophets?"

Notes

- a (19:13) Hebrew teraphim, figurines of household gods, here apparently large enough to resemble a man. Likewise in verse 16.
- b (19:13) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "the liver of a goat" (Brenton), from a Hebrew word of similar form.
- c (19:18) Naioth perhaps means "dwellings" or "pasture camps" (uncertain).
- d (19:22) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "the well of the threshing floor that is in Sephi" (Brenton, modernized).
- e (19:24) Or "with only his undergarment." The Hebrew word can mean partly clothed.

Chapter 20

1 David fled from Naioth at Ramah and found Jonathan. "What did I do?" he said. "What is my fault? What offense have I committed against your father, that he is hunting for my life?" 2 "Never!" Jonathan replied. "You will not die. My father does nothing, large or small, without telling me. Why would he hide this from me? It is not so." 3 But David swore again and said, "Your father knows well that I have found favor in your eyes, and he says to himself, 'Jonathan must not know of this, lest he be grieved.' But truly, as Yahweh lives and as your soul lives, there is but a step between me and death." 4 Jonathan told David, "I will do whatever you ask." 5 David told Jonathan, "Tomorrow is the new moon,[a] and I am supposed to dine with the king. Let me go, though, and hide in the countryside until the evening of the third day. 6 If your father notices I am gone, say, 'David urgently asked my permission to hurry to his hometown of Bethlehem, because the whole clan is holding its yearly sacrifice there.' 7 Should he say, 'Good,' there is peace for your servant. But should his anger burn hot, be sure that harm has been settled on by him. 8 So treat your servant kindly, since you have made a covenant before Yahweh with your servant. But if I am guilty, you yourself may kill me; why hand me over to your father?" 9 Jonathan said, "Far be that from you! If I knew that harm had been determined by my father to come upon you, would I not tell you?" 10 Then David said to Jonathan, "Who will tell me if your father answers you harshly?" 11 "Come," said Jonathan to David, "let us go out to the countryside." So the two of them went out there. 12 Jonathan said to David, "By Yahweh, the God of Israel![b] When I have sounded out my father about this time tomorrow, or the third day, and see that it is good toward David, will I not then send to you and uncover it in your ear? 13 But if my father has a mind to do you harm, Yahweh do so to Jonathan and more, unless I uncover it to you and send you off, so that you may go in peace. May Yahweh be with you, as he has been with my father. 14 If I am still alive, will you not show me the steadfast love[c] of Yahweh, so that I may not die? 15 and never withdraw your faithful love from my family, not even when Yahweh wipes out every one of David's enemies from the earth." 16 So Jonathan bound himself to David's house, saying, "May Yahweh hold David's enemies accountable."[d] 17 Jonathan again made David swear, because of his love for him; for he loved him with the love of his own soul.

18 Then Jonathan said to him, "Tomorrow is the new moon, and you will be missed, because your seat will be empty. 19 On the third day go down quickly[e] and come to the place where you hid yourself on the day of the deed,[f] and remain beside the stone Ezel.[g] 20 And I will shoot three arrows to one side of it, as if I were shooting at a target.

21 Then I will send a boy to find the arrows. If I tell him plainly, 'The arrows are on this side of you; get them,' then come, since as Yahweh lives you are safe and there is no danger. 22 But if I say to the lad, 'See, the arrows are farther on from you,' then go, for Yahweh has sent you away. 23 As for the matter of which you and I have spoken, look, Yahweh is between you and me forever." 24 So David hid himself in the field. When the new moon came, the king sat down to eat the meal. 25 The king sat on his seat, as at other times, on the seat by the wall. Jonathan stood up,[h] and Abner sat by Saul's side, but David's place was empty. 26 Yet Saul did not say anything that day, for he thought, "Something has happened to him; he is not clean. Surely he is not clean."[i] 27 On the following day, the second day of the month, David's seat was empty. Saul said to his son Jonathan, "How is it that Jesse's son has not come to the meal, either yesterday or today?" 28 Jonathan answered Saul, "David earnestly asked leave of me to go to Bethlehem. 29 He said, 'Please let me go, since our family is holding a sacrifice in the town and my brother has ordered me to attend. If I have your favor, let me slip away and visit my brothers.' That is why he has not come to the king's table." 30 Then Saul's anger burned against Jonathan, and he said to him, "You son of a perverse, rebellious woman![j] Do I not know that you have chosen the son of Jesse to your own shame, and to the shame of your mother's nakedness? 31 For all the days the son of Jesse lives on the ground, you will not be made firm, you or your kingship. Now send and fetch him to me, for he is a son of death."[k] 32 Jonathan asked his father Saul, "Why should he be put to death? What has he done?" 33 Saul threw his spear at him to hit him, and Jonathan realized that his father was set on killing David. 34 Jonathan got up from the table in burning anger. He ate nothing on that second day of the month, for he was distressed over David, because his father had humiliated him.
35 In the morning Jonathan went out into the field at the time appointed with David, and a little boy with him. 36 He said to his boy, "Run, find the arrows I shoot." As the boy ran, he shot an arrow beyond him. 37 When the lad reached the spot where the arrow lay that Jonathan had shot, Jonathan called out after the lad, "Is the arrow not farther on from you?” 38 Jonathan called after the boy, “Quick! Hurry!

Do not stand still!” So Jonathan’s boy gathered up the arrows and came to his master. 39 The lad knew nothing of it; only Jonathan and David knew the matter. 40 Jonathan gave his weapons to his boy and said to him, “Go, carry them to the town.” 41 When the boy had gone, David got up from the south side,[l] fell with his face to the ground, and bowed three times. They kissed each other and wept together, though David wept more.[m] 42 Then Jonathan told David, “Go with my blessing of peace, for the two of us have sworn together by Yahweh’s name, saying, ‘Yahweh is between you and me, between your descendants and mine, forever.’” David got up and left, and Jonathan returned to the town.[n]

Notes

- a (20:5) The new moon marked the beginning of each month and was a festival day with special meals and sacrifices (Numbers 10:10; 28:11–15).
- b (20:12) Hebrew “Yahweh, the God of Israel—” The oath formula is incomplete; a verb such as “is witness” may have been lost. This needs scholarly review.
- c (20:14) Hebrew ḥesed, loyal love based on a covenant.
- d (20:16) The Hebrew of verses 14–16 is difficult; “enemies of David” may be a scribal softening of “David” himself (compare 25:22).
- e (20:19) Hebrew uncertain, literally “go down greatly.” The Septuagint reads “you shall stay three days” (Brenton, modernized).
- f (20:19) Or “on the day of the business,” probably referring to the events of 19:2–7.
- g (20:19) So the traditional Hebrew text; Ezel perhaps means “departure.” The Septuagint reads “beside that mound” (Brenton has “by that ergab”).
- h (20:25) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads “and he went before Jonathan” (Brenton); some scholars suggest an original “Jonathan sat opposite.”
- i (20:26) The Septuagint reads “because he has not purified himself” (Brenton) in place of the repeated clause.
- j (20:30) Literally “son of a perverse woman of rebellion,” an insult aimed at Jonathan himself. The Septuagint reads “son of traitorous young women” (Brenton, modernized).
- k (20:31) That is, he must die.
- l (20:41) So the Septuagint (Brenton, “from the argab”), which reflects the mound of verse 19. The Hebrew reads “from beside the south.”
- m (20:41) Hebrew uncertain.
- n (20:42) In Hebrew the last sentence of this verse is 21:1, and 21:1–15 in English is 21:2–16 in Hebrew.

Chapter 21

1 David came to Nob,[a] to Ahimelech[b] the priest. Ahimelech came trembling to meet David and said to him, "Why are you alone, and no one with you?" 2 David said to Ahimelech the priest, "The king has commissioned me with a task. He told me, 'Let nobody learn anything of the business I am sending you on, or of the orders I have given you.' I have posted my young men at a certain place.[c] 3 Now, what is there under your hand? Give five loaves of bread into my hand, or whatever is to be found." 4 The priest answered David, "There is no common bread on hand, but there is holy bread, if only the young men have kept themselves from women." 5 David answered the priest, "Indeed women have been kept from us, as before whenever I went out; the vessels[d] of the young men are holy even on a common journey. All the more today their vessels are holy!"[e] 6 So the priest gave him holy bread, for there was no bread there except the bread of the Presence,[f] which is removed from before Yahweh, to put hot bread in its place on the day it is taken away. 7 Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, detained before Yahweh. His name was Doeg[g] the Edomite,[h] the chief of Saul's herdsmen. 8 David said to Ahimelech, "Is there not here under your hand a spear or a sword? I did not even bring my sword or my weapons along, for the king's errand was urgent." 9 The priest said, "The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you killed in the Valley of Elah, is here, wrapped in a cloth behind the ephod. Take it if you wish, for there is nothing else here." David said, "There is none like it. Give it to me." 10 David rose and fled that day from Saul and came to Achish[i] king of Gath. 11 Achish's servants said to him, "Is this not David, the king of the land? Is he not the one they sang about as they danced: 'Saul has killed his thousands, and David his tens of thousands'?" 12 David laid these words up in his heart and was greatly afraid before Achish, the king of Gath. 13 So he changed his behavior before them and acted like a madman in their hands. He made marks[j] on the doors of the gate and let his spittle run down on his beard. 14 Then Achish said to his servants, "Look, you see the man is insane. Why have you brought him to me? 15 Do I lack madmen, that you have brought this fellow to act the madman in my presence? Shall this fellow come into my house?"

Notes

- a (21:1) In Hebrew, 20:42b is numbered 21:1, and 21:1–15 in English is 21:2–16 in Hebrew. Nob was a town of priests near Jerusalem (22:19).
- b (21:1) Ahimelech means "my brother is king." He is probably the same as Ahijah (14:3). Compare Mark 2:26, which names Abiathar.
- c (21:2) The Hebrew phrase is deliberately vague (compare Ruth 4:1). The Septuagint reads "in the place called, The faithfulness of God, Phellani Maemoni" (Brenton, modernized).
- d (21:5) Or "bodies." The Hebrew word can mean equipment or the body.
- e (21:5) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult.
- f (21:6) Literally "bread of the face," the twelve loaves set before Yahweh in the sanctuary each Sabbath (Leviticus 24:5–9).
- g (21:7) Doeg perhaps means "anxious" (uncertain).
- h (21:7) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "the Syrian" (Brenton), a confusion of the similar Hebrew letters for Edom and Aram. The Septuagint also reads "tending the mules of Saul."
- i (21:10) The meaning of the name Achish is uncertain; it may be Philistine.
- j (21:13) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "drummed upon" (Brenton), from a Hebrew word of similar form.

Chapter 22

1 David left there and escaped to the cave of Adullam.[a] When his brothers and the rest of his father's household heard about it, they went down and joined him there. 2 And every man in distress, and every man who had a creditor, and every man bitter of soul, assembled themselves to him, and he became captain over them. There were with him about four hundred men.

3 From there David went to Mizpeh of Moab.[b] He said to the king of Moab, "Please let my father and my mother come out and stay with you, until I know what God will do for me." 4 So he left them in the presence of the king of Moab,[c] and they stayed with him all the time that David was in the stronghold. 5 And Gad[d] the prophet spoke to David: "Abide not in the stronghold. Depart from here and enter into the land of Judah." Then David went off and came into the forest of Hereth.

6 Saul learned that David and his men had been located. Saul was seated in Gibeah beneath the tamarisk tree on the hilltop, spear in hand, with all his servants standing around him. 7 Saul said to the servants standing around him, "Listen, you Benjamites! Is the son of Jesse going to give each of you fields and vineyards? Will he appoint all of you commanders over thousands and over hundreds, 8 for all of you have plotted against me! Nobody told me when my son made a covenant with Jesse's son. None of you cares about me enough to tell me that my son has stirred up my servant to lie in ambush for me, as he does now." 9 Then Doeg the Edomite, who was standing among Saul's servants, spoke up: "I saw Jesse's son come to Nob, to Ahimelech son of Ahitub. 10 He inquired of Yahweh for him and gave him provisions and gave him the sword of Goliath the Philistine." 11 Then the king sent to call Ahimelech the priest, son of Ahitub, and the whole house of his father, the priests that were in Nob; and they all came to the king. 12 Saul said, "Hear now, son of Ahitub." He answered, "Here I am, my lord." 13 Saul said to him, "For what reason have you two plotted against me, you and Jesse's son, in that you gave him bread and a sword and sought God on his behalf, that he should rise up against me to lie in ambush, as at this day?" 14 Ahimelech answered the king and said, "And who among all your servants is faithful like David, the son-in-law of the king, who has charge of your guard,[e] and is honored in your house? 15 Was that the first time I inquired of God for him? Certainly not! The king must not accuse his servant or anyone in my father's house, because your servant knew nothing at all about this matter, great or small." 16 The king said, "You shall surely die, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house." 17 The king commanded the guards[f] standing beside him, "Turn and put Yahweh's priests to death, because they sided with David. They knew he was running away, and they did not tell me." But the king's servants would not stretch out a hand to strike Yahweh's priests. 18
Then the king said to Doeg, "Turn yourself and fall on the priests."
And Doeg the Edomite turned and fell on the priests, and slew on that day eighty-five persons[g] wearing a linen ephod. 19 He also attacked

Nob, the city of the priests, and put to the sword its men and women, children and infants, oxen, donkeys, and sheep.
20 But one of the sons of Ahimelech son of Ahitub, named Abiathar,[h] escaped and fled after David. 21 Abiathar told David that Saul had killed the priests of Yahweh. 22 David told Abiathar, "I knew that day, with Doeg the Edomite there, that he would surely inform Saul. I myself am to blame for the death[i] of every person in your father's family. 23 Stay with me; do not be afraid. For he who seeks my life seeks your life. With me you will be safe."

Notes

- a (22:1) Adullam was a town in the lowland of Judah, about 16 miles (26 kilometers) southwest of Jerusalem. Its name perhaps means "refuge" (uncertain).
- b (22:3) Mizpeh means "watchtower."
- c (22:4) So the Syriac and the Vulgate (reported). The Hebrew reads "he led them" (vocalized differently); the Septuagint reads "he persuaded the king of Moab" (Brenton, modernized). David's great-grandmother Ruth was from Moab (Ruth 4:17).
- d (22:5) Gad means "good fortune."
- e (22:14) The Hebrew is uncertain, literally "and turns aside to your obedience," often understood as "captain over your bodyguard." The Septuagint reads "executor of all your commands" (Brenton, modernized).
- f (22:17) Hebrew ratsim, the king's guard who ran before his chariot.
- g (22:18) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "three hundred and five men" (Brenton).
- h (22:20) Abiathar means "the father is abundant" or "father of abundance" (uncertain).
- i (22:22) So the Septuagint (Brenton, "I am guilty of the death") and the Vulgate (reported). The Hebrew reads "I have turned against," from a verb of similar form.

Chapter 23

1 Now they told David, "Look, the Philistines are fighting against Keilah[a] and are robbing the threshing floors." 2 So David inquired of Yahweh, "Should I go and attack these Philistines?" Yahweh answered David, "Go, attack the Philistines, and rescue Keilah." 3 But David's men said to him, "Look, we are afraid here in Judah. How much more, then, if we go to Keilah against the ranks of the Philistines!" 4 So David inquired of Yahweh yet again. And Yahweh answered him, "Arise, go down to Keilah, for I am giving the Philistines into your hand."

5 David and his men went to Keilah, fought the Philistines, carried off their livestock, and inflicted a heavy defeat on them. In this way David rescued the people of Keilah.
6 When Abiathar son of Ahimelech fled to David at Keilah, he came down with an ephod in his hand.[b] 7 It was told Saul that David had come to Keilah. Saul said, "God has handed him over[c] into my hand, for he is shut in, having entered into a city that has gates and bars." 8 Saul summoned all the people to war, to go down to Keilah to besiege David and his men. 9 David knew that Saul was devising harm against him. He said to Abiathar the priest, "Bring the ephod here." 10 Then David said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, your servant has surely heard that Saul seeks to come to Keilah to destroy the town on my account.
11 Will the citizens[d] of Keilah hand me over to him? Will Saul come down as your servant has heard? Yahweh, God of Israel, I ask you to tell your servant." "He will come down," Yahweh said. 12 Then David said, "Will the citizens of Keilah surrender me and my men into the hand of Saul?" Yahweh said, "They will surrender you." 13 Then David and his men, about six hundred, rose up and went out of Keilah, and wandered wherever they might go. And it was told Saul that David had slipped away from Keilah, and he ceased from going out. 14 David dwelt in the wilderness in the strongholds, and he remained in the hill country in the wilderness of Ziph.[e] Saul sought him every day, but God did not give him into his hand.
15 David saw[f] that Saul had come out to seek his life. David was in the wilderness of Ziph at Horesh.[g] 16 Then Jonathan the son of Saul arose and came to David at Horesh, and he made his hand strong in God. 17 "Do not be afraid," he told him, "for the hand of my father Saul will not reach you. You are going to be king over Israel, with me as your second, and even my father Saul is aware of it." 18 The two of them made a covenant before Yahweh. David remained at Horesh, and Jonathan went home.
19 Then the Ziphites came up to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Does not David hide himself with us, in the strongholds in Horesh, in the hill of Hachilah, which lies on the south of Jeshimon?[h] 20 So now, your majesty, come down whenever you wish, and it will be our duty to hand him over to the king." 21 Saul said, "May you be blessed by Yahweh, for you have had compassion on me. 22 Go, I pray you, and make ready still more. Learn and look at the place where he sets his foot, and who has seen him there, for it has been told me that he deals very craftily. 23 Study all the hiding places where he lurks, and return to me once you are certain.[i] Then I will go with you, and if he is in the land, I will search him out among all the clans of Judah." 24 So they arose and went to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the wilderness of Maon,[j] in the Arabah on the south of Jeshimon. 25 Saul and his men went to seek him. When David was told, he went down to the rock[k] and stayed in the wilderness of Maon. When Saul heard that, he pursued after David in the wilderness of Maon. 26 Saul was going along one side of the mountain, and David and his men along the other. David was in a hurry to get away from Saul, because Saul and his men were closing in on David and his men to seize them.

27 Then a messenger came to Saul, saying, "Hurry and come, for the Philistines have made a raid on the land." 28 So Saul turned back from pursuing David and went against the Philistines. Therefore that place was called the Rock of Divisions.[l] 29 David went up from there and lived in the strongholds of En-gedi.[m]

Chapter 24

1 When Saul returned from pursuing the Philistines, he received word: "David is in the wilderness of En-gedi."[a] 2 Then Saul took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel and went to seek David and his men in front of the Rocks of the Wild Goats.[b] 3 Along the road he came to some sheep pens, and there was a cave there. Saul went into it to relieve himself,[c] while David and his men were sitting at the very back of the cave. 4 David's men said to him, "Here is the day of which Yahweh said to you, 'Look, I am giving your enemy into your hand, and you shall do to him as it seems good to you.'" Then David arose and stealthily cut off the corner of Saul's robe. 5 Afterward David's heart struck him, because he had cut off the corner of Saul's robe.[d] 6 He said to his men, "Yahweh forbid that I should do this thing to my lord, Yahweh's anointed, to put out my hand against him, for he is Yahweh's anointed." 7 So David held back his men with these words and did not let them rise against Saul. And Saul rose up from the cave and went on his way.
8 After that David got up, left the cave, and called out to Saul, "My lord the king!" Saul looked back, and David bowed low with his face to the ground and did him honor. 9 David said to Saul, "Why do you listen to the words of men who say, 'Look, David seeks your harm'?
10 This very day you have seen with your own eyes that Yahweh delivered you into my hand in the cave. Some urged me to kill you, but I[e] spared you. I said, 'I will not raise a hand against my lord, since he is Yahweh's anointed.' 11 See, my father, see the corner of your robe in my hand! I cut off the corner of your robe but did not kill you; so understand and recognize that there is no wrongdoing or rebellion in me. I have not sinned against you, yet you are hunting my life to take it. 12 May Yahweh judge between me and you; may Yahweh avenge me on you; but my hand shall not be against you. 13 As the proverb of the ancients says, 'Out of the wicked comes wickedness.' But my hand shall not be against you. 14 After whom has the king of Israel come out? After whom are you chasing? After a dead dog! After a single flea! 15 May Yahweh therefore be judge and decide between me and you, and see and plead my cause, and vindicate me against your hand."[f]

16 And when David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul, Saul said, "Is that your voice, my son David?" And Saul lifted up his voice and wept. 17 He said to David, "You are more righteous than I, for you have repaid me good, while I have repaid you evil. 18 You have declared this day how you have done good to me, for when Yahweh had shut me up into your hand, you did not kill me. 19 For if a man finds his enemy, will he let him go away safely? So may Yahweh reward you with good for what you have done to me this day. 20 Now see, I am sure you will be king, and that the kingdom of Israel will become firm in your hands. 21 Swear to me therefore by Yahweh that you will not cut off my offspring after me, and that you will not destroy my name out of my father's house." 22 David gave Saul his oath. Then Saul went home, and David and his men went up to the stronghold.[g]

Notes

- a (24:1) In Hebrew, 24:1–22 is numbered 24:2–23 (see the note at 23:29).
- b (24:2) Hebrew "the Rocks of the Ibexes" (wild mountain goats). The Septuagint reads "in front of Saddaeem" (Brenton, modernized), taking it as a place name.
- c (24:3) Literally "to cover his feet," a polite expression.
- d (24:5) The Hebrew reads "Saul's corner," that is, the corner of his robe. Cutting the robe's corner may have symbolized taking away his royal authority (compare 15:27–28).
- e (24:10) So the Septuagint (Brenton, "I would not slay you, but spared you") and other ancient witnesses. The Hebrew reads "but it spared you," perhaps meaning "my eye spared you."
- f (24:15) Or "deliver me from your hand."
- g (24:22) The Septuagint reads "the stronghold of Messera" (Brenton), taking the Hebrew word for "stronghold" as a place name.

Chapter 25

1 Then Samuel died. All Israel assembled and lamented him, and they laid him in the grave at his house in Ramah. And David rose and went down into the wilderness of Paran.[a] 2 Now a man in Maon had his property in Carmel.[b] He was a very rich man, owning three thousand sheep and a thousand goats, and he was at Carmel for the shearing of his sheep. 3 The man's name was Nabal,[c] and his wife's name was Abigail.[d] She was intelligent and beautiful, but he was harsh and mean in his dealings. He was a Calebite.[e] 4 David heard in the wilderness that Nabal was shearing his sheep. 5 So David sent ten young men, and David said to the young men, "Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name. 6 Thus you shall say: 'Long life to you![f] Peace be to you, and peace be to your house, and peace be to all that you have. 7 Now I have heard that you have shearers. Your shepherds have been with us, and we did them no harm, and nothing of theirs went missing all the days they were in Carmel. 8 Ask your young men, and they will tell you. Therefore let my young men find favor in your eyes, for we have come on a good day.[g] Please give whatever your hand finds to your servants and to your son David.'"
9 When David's young men came, they spoke to Nabal all these words in the name of David, and then they waited. 10 Nabal answered David's servants, "Who is David? Who is the son of Jesse? Many are the servants these days who are breaking away, each from his master.
11 Should I take my bread and my water, and the meat I butchered for my shearers, and give them to men who come from I do not know where?" 12 David's young men turned around, went back, and reported all this to him. 13 David told his men, "Each of you put on his sword!" Each put on his sword, and David put on his as well. About four hundred men went up with David, and two hundred stayed with the supplies.
14 But one of the young men told Abigail, Nabal's wife, "Look, David sent messengers out of the wilderness to greet our master, and he railed at them. 15 Yet the men were very good to us, and we were not harmed, and we did not miss anything all the time we went about with them, when we were in the fields. 16 They were a wall to us both by night and by day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep. 17 Now therefore take thought and see what you will do, for evil is resolved against our master and against his whole household.

He is so base a fellow[h] that no one can say a word to him." 18 Abigail hurried to gather two hundred loaves, two skins of wine, five sheep ready for cooking, about a bushel of roasted grain,[i] a hundred raisin clusters, and two hundred fig cakes, and she loaded these on donkeys. 19 She said to her young men, "Go on before me; look, I am coming after you." But she did not tell her husband Nabal.
20 And as she was riding on the donkey, going down in the shelter of the hill, there came David and his men descending to meet her, and she encountered them. 21 Now David had said, "It was all for nothing that I kept watch over everything this man owns in the wilderness, so that not a thing of his was lost; and he has paid me back evil for good.
22 God do so to David,[j] and more also, if I let remain until daybreak a single male[k] out of all that are his."
23 When Abigail saw David, she got down quickly from her donkey, threw herself face down before David, and bowed to the ground. 24 Falling at his feet, she said, "Upon me, my lord, upon me let the iniquity rest. Let your handmaid, I pray, speak in your hearing, and listen to the words of your handmaid. 25 Please, my lord, pay no attention to this worthless man Nabal, for he is just what his name says. Nabal is his name, and folly goes with him. But I, your servant, did not see the young men my lord sent. 26 Now, my lord, as Yahweh lives and as you yourself live, since Yahweh has held you back from bloodguilt and from winning the victory by your own hand, may your enemies and all who seek to harm my lord be like Nabal. 27 And now this gift[l] which your servant has brought to my lord, let it be given to the young men who follow my lord. 28 Please forgive the trespass of your handmaid. For Yahweh will certainly make my lord a sure house, because my lord is fighting the battles of Yahweh, and evil shall not be found in you all your days. 29 Should a man rise up to chase you and to seek your soul, yet the soul of my lord shall be bound up in the bundle of life[m] with Yahweh your God; but the souls of your enemies, them he will hurl away as out of the pocket of a sling. 30 And when Yahweh has done to my lord according to all the good that he has spoken concerning you, and has appointed you prince over Israel, 31 my lord shall have no cause of grief or stumbling of heart, either for having shed blood without cause or for my lord having saved himself.

And when Yahweh has dealt well with my lord, then remember your handmaid." 32 David said to Abigail, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me! 33 May you be blessed for your good judgment, and may you be blessed, because you have kept me today from bloodguilt and from avenging myself with my own hand. 34 As surely as Yahweh, the God of Israel, lives, who has kept me from harming you, if you had not come quickly to meet me, not one male would have been left to Nabal by morning." 35 Then David received from her hand what she had brought him, and he said to her, "Go up in peace to your house. See, I have listened to your voice and have lifted up your face."[n] 36 Abigail went back to Nabal, who was holding a feast in his house, a feast fit for a king. Nabal was in good spirits and very drunk, so she told him nothing at all until dawn. 37 In the morning, when the wine had gone out of Nabal, his wife told him these things, and his heart died within him, and he became as a stone. 38 About ten days later Yahweh struck Nabal, and he died.
39 When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, "Blessed be Yahweh, who has defended me against the insult from Nabal and kept his servant from doing wrong. Yahweh has returned Nabal's wickedness on his own head." Then David sent a message to Abigail asking her to be his wife. 40 When David's servants came to Abigail at Carmel, they spoke to her, saying, "David has sent us to you to take you to him as his wife." 41 She arose and bowed with her face to the earth and said, "Look, your handmaid is a servant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord." 42 Abigail got up quickly and rode off on a donkey, with five of her maids going with her. She followed David's messengers and became his wife.

43 David had also taken Ahinoam from Jezreel,[o] and the two of them were wives to him. 44 Saul had given Michal his daughter, David's wife, to Palti[p] son of Laish, who was of Gallim.

Notes

- a (25:1) So the traditional Hebrew text. The Septuagint reads "Maon" (Brenton), as in verse 2.
- b (25:2) This Carmel (meaning "garden land" or "orchard") was a town in Judah near Maon, about 7 miles (11 kilometers) south of Hebron, not Mount Carmel in the north.
- c (25:3) Nabal means "fool" (see verse 25). The word suggests a person who is morally senseless.
- d (25:3) Abigail means "my father is joy" (uncertain).
- e (25:3) Or "according to his heart"; the Hebrew letters can be read either way. Calebites were descendants of Caleb, who had received the region of Hebron (Joshua 14:13–14). The Septuagint reads "a man of a dog-like nature" (reported), playing on the name Caleb, which is similar to the word for "dog."
- f (25:6) The Hebrew is uncertain, literally "to the living one."
- g (25:8) A feast day, the time of sheep-shearing.
- h (25:17) Hebrew "a son of Belial." Likewise in verse 25.
- i (25:18) Hebrew "five seahs," about 33 quarts (37 liters); a seah was about a third of an ephah. The Septuagint reads "five ephahs of fine flour" and "one homer of dried grapes" (Brenton, modernized) instead of the hundred clusters.
- j (25:22) So the Septuagint (Brenton, "So God do to David"). The Hebrew reads "to the enemies of David," apparently a scribal change to avoid a curse falling on David himself.
- k (25:22) Hebrew "one who urinates against a wall," a coarse expression for a male. Likewise in verse 34.
- l (25:27) Hebrew "blessing."
- m (25:29) An image of a person's life kept safe like a precious thing tied in a bundle.
- n (25:35) That is, "granted your request."
- o (25:43) Ahinoam means "my brother is pleasantness." This Jezreel was a town in Judah (Joshua 15:56), not the northern city.
- p (25:44) Called Paltiel in 2 Samuel 3:15. Palti means "my deliverance"; Paltiel means "God is my deliverance." Gallim was a town near Gibeah (Isaiah 10:30).

Chapter 26

1 Then the Ziphites came to Saul at Gibeah, saying, "Is David not concealing himself on the hill of Hachilah, which faces Jeshimon?" 2 So Saul rose and went down into the wilderness of Ziph, having with him three thousand picked men of Israel, to search for David in the wilderness of Ziph. 3 Saul pitched his camp beside the road on the hill of Hachilah, opposite Jeshimon. David was staying in the wilderness, and he saw that Saul had followed him into it. 4 David therefore sent out spies and learned for certain that Saul had come.[a] 5 Then David rose and came to the place where Saul had camped.

David saw where Saul was lying, and Abner son of Ner,[b] the captain of his host; Saul lay inside the camp ring,[c] and the troops were camped round about him. 6 David asked Ahimelech the Hittite and Abishai[d] son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, "Who will go down into the camp with me to Saul?" "I will go with you," said Abishai. 7 So David and Abishai came to the people by night, and there Saul lay sleeping inside the camp ring, his spear stuck in the earth at his head, and Abner and the people lying around him. 8 Then Abishai said to David, "God has shut up your enemy into your hand this day. Now let me pin him to the earth with the spear in one stroke. I will not need to strike him twice." 9 But David said to Abishai, "Do not destroy him. For who can put forth his hand against Yahweh's anointed and be guiltless?" 10 David said further, "As Yahweh lives, Yahweh himself shall strike him: or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battle and perish.
11 Yahweh forbid that I should put forth my hand against Yahweh's anointed. But now take, I pray, the spear that is at his head and the jug of water, and let us go." 12 David took the spear and water jug from beside Saul's head, and they left. No one saw it or knew about it, and no one woke up; they were all asleep, because Yahweh had put them into a deep sleep.
13 Then David crossed over to the far side and stood on the top of the hill at a distance, with a wide space between them. 14 And David called out to the people and to Abner son of Ner, "Will you not answer, Abner?" Abner answered, "Who are you that call to the king?" 15 Then David said to Abner, "Are you not a valiant man? And who in Israel is your equal? Why then have you not kept watch over your lord the king? For one of the people came in to destroy the king your lord. 16 This thing that you have done is not good. As Yahweh lives, you deserve to die,[e] because you have not watched over your master, Yahweh's anointed. And now look about: where is the king's spear, and the jug of water that was at his head?"

17 Saul recognized David's voice and said, "Is this your voice, my son David?" David said, "It is my voice, my lord the king." 18 He went on, "Why does my lord pursue his servant? What did I do? What is the wrong on my hands? 19 Now therefore, I pray, let my lord the king hear the words of his servant. If it is Yahweh who has stirred you up against me, let him accept an offering;[f] but if it is the sons of men, cursed be they before Yahweh, for they have driven me out this day so that I have no share in the inheritance of Yahweh, saying, 'Go, serve other gods.' 20 Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth away from the presence of Yahweh. For the king of Israel has come out to seek a single flea,[g] as one hunts a partridge in the mountains." 21 Then Saul said, "I have sinned. Come back, my son David, for I will no longer do you harm, because my life was precious in your eyes this day. Look, I have acted the fool and have erred very greatly." 22 "Here is the king's spear," David answered.[h] "Let one of the young men cross over and take it. 23 Yahweh rewards each man for his righteousness and faithfulness. Yahweh delivered you into my hands today, but I refused to raise my hand against Yahweh's anointed. 24 And see, just as your life was valued highly this day in my eyes, so may my life be valued highly in the eyes of Yahweh, and may he deliver me out of every distress." 25 Then Saul said to David, "Blessed are you, my son David! You will both do great things and surely prevail." So David went his way, and Saul returned to his place.

Notes

- a (26:4) Or "had come to Nacon" (uncertain); the Hebrew word can be read as a place name.
- b (26:5) Abner means "my father is a lamp" (uncertain). Ner means "lamp."
- c (26:5) Or "within the circle of wagons." Likewise in verse 7.
- d (26:6) Ahimelech means "my brother is king." Abishai means "my father is a gift" (uncertain). Zeruiah, David's sister (1 Chronicles 2:16), was mother of Abishai, Joab, and Asahel.
- e (26:16) Hebrew "you are sons of death."
- f (26:19) Literally "let him smell an offering," that is, let him be appeased by a sacrifice.

- g (26:20) The Septuagint reads “to seek your life” (reported) instead of “a single flea” (compare 24:14).
- h (26:22) So the traditional Hebrew reading (qere). The written text (ketiv) reads “Here is the king’s spear.”

Chapter 27

1 David said to himself, “One day Saul will surely kill me. The best thing for me is to flee quickly to Philistine territory. Then Saul will stop looking for me within the borders of Israel, and I will be out of his reach.” 2 So David set out with his six hundred men and crossed over to Achish son of Maoch, king of Gath. 3 And David lived with Achish at Gath, he and his men, every man with his household, David with his two wives, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess and Abigail the Carmelitess, Nabal’s widow. 4 When it was told Saul that David had fled to Gath, he sought him no more.
5 Then David said to Achish, “If now I have found favor in your eyes, let them give me a place in one of the country towns, that I may live there. For why should your servant live in the royal city with you?” 6 That day Achish gave him Ziklag.[a] That is why Ziklag belongs to the kings of Judah to this day. 7 The number of the days that David lived in the country of the Philistines was a year and four months.[b] 8 David and his men went up and raided the Geshurites, the Girzites,[c] and the Amalekites, who had lived in the land since ancient times, in the region stretching toward Shur and as far as Egypt. 9 Whenever David attacked a district, he left no man or woman alive; he took the sheep, cattle, donkeys, camels, and clothing, and then returned to Achish. 10 When Achish asked, “Where have you raided today?” David would say, “Upon the south of Judah,” or “Upon the south country of the Jerahmeelites,” or “Upon the south country of the Kenites.”[d] 11 David left no man or woman alive to bring word to Gath, thinking, “They might tell on us and say, ‘This is what David did.’” This was his practice all the time he lived in Philistine territory. 12 And Achish trusted David, thinking, “He has made himself utterly odious to his people Israel; therefore he shall be my servant forever.”

Notes

- a (27:6) Ziklag was a town in the Negeb, in the south of Judah; its exact location is uncertain.
- b (27:7) Hebrew "days and four months"; "days" here means a year. The Septuagint reads "four months" (reported).
- c (27:8) So the traditional written text (ketiv); the margin reads "Gezrites." Some Septuagint manuscripts lack this name (reported).
- d (27:10) Hebrew "the Negeb," meaning "dry land," the southern region of Judah.

Chapter 28

1 About that time the Philistines mustered their armies to make war on Israel. Achish told David, "You must understand that you and your men will march out with me in the army." 2 David answered Achish, "So be it; you shall learn what your servant will do." And Achish replied to David, "So be it; I will make you keeper of my head[a] for all time."
3 Now Samuel had died, and all Israel had lamented him and buried him in Ramah, his own city. And Saul had driven out of the land those who called up the dead and those who consulted spirits.[b] 4 So the Philistines were gathered together, and they came and pitched at Shunem;[c] and Saul assembled all Israel, and they pitched at Gilboa.[d] 5 When Saul saw the army of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart trembled greatly. 6 When Saul inquired of Yahweh, Yahweh did not answer him, neither by dreams, nor by Urim, nor by prophets.
7 Saul said to his servants, "Find me a woman who is a medium,[e] so that I can go and consult her." "There is a medium at En-dor,"[f] they told him.
8 Saul put on other clothes to disguise himself and went with two men. They came to the woman by night, and he said, "Please practice divination for me by a spirit, and call up the person I name to you." 9 The woman answered him, "You surely know what Saul has done: he has removed the mediums and spiritists from the land. Why are you laying a trap for me, to get me killed?" 10 But Saul swore to her by Yahweh, "As Yahweh lives, no punishment shall come upon you for this thing." 11 Then the woman asked, "Whom am I to bring up to you?" He answered, "Samuel; bring him up to me." 12 When the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice. And the woman spoke to Saul, saying, “Why have you deceived me? You are Saul!” 13 The king told her, “Have no fear. What do you see?” The woman answered Saul, “I see a divine being[g] rising out of the earth.” 14 He said to her, “What form has he?” She said, “An aged man is coming up, covered with a mantle.” Then Saul perceived that it was Samuel, and he bowed with his face to the ground and did homage.

15 Samuel said to Saul, “Why have you disturbed me by calling me up?” Saul answered, “I am in deep distress. The Philistines are fighting against me, and God has turned away from me. He no longer answers me, either through prophets or through dreams, so I have called on you to let me know what I should do.” 16 Samuel said, “Why ask me, now that Yahweh has turned away from you and become your enemy?[h] 17 Yahweh has done to you[i] just as he spoke by me. Yahweh has torn the kingdom out of your hand and given it to your neighbor, to David. 18 Because you did not listen to the voice of Yahweh, nor execute the heat of his anger upon Amalek, for that reason Yahweh has done this thing to you this day. 19 Moreover, Yahweh will also give Israel along with you into the hand of the Philistines, and tomorrow you and your sons shall be with me. Yahweh will give the army of Israel also into the hand of the Philistines.” 20 Then Saul fell at once full length on the ground and was greatly afraid because of the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him, for he had eaten no bread all day and all night. 21 The woman approached Saul and saw how terrified he was. She said, “Your servant has obeyed you; I took my life in my hands and did what you told me. 22 Now please listen to your servant. Let me put a bit of food in front of you so that you can eat and regain your strength for the journey.” 23 He refused and said, “I will not eat.” But his servants, together with the woman, pressed him, and he listened to their voice.
So he rose from the ground and sat on the bed. 24 Now the woman had a fattened calf in the house, and she hurried and slaughtered it, and she took flour and kneaded it and baked unleavened bread from it. 25 She served it to Saul and his servants, and they ate. Then they got up and left that same night.

Notes

- a (28:2) That is, “my bodyguard.”
- b (28:3) Hebrew ʾovot and yiddeʿonim, those who claimed to consult the spirits of the dead. Likewise in verse 9.
- c (28:4) Shunem was a town in the territory of Issachar, on the slope of the hill of Moreh.
- d (28:4) Gilboa was a mountain ridge south of the Jezreel Valley.
- e (28:7) Hebrew “a woman who is mistress of a spirit” (baʿalat ʾov).
- f (28:7) En-dor means “spring of the dwelling” (uncertain), a town north of the hill of Moreh.
- g (28:13) Or “a godlike being” or “divine beings” (Hebrew ʾelohim, with a plural verb). The Septuagint reads “gods ascending out of the earth” (Brenton).
- h (28:16) The Hebrew word ʿar is uncertain; perhaps “adversary” (an Aramaic sense). The Septuagint reads “is with your neighbor” (reported).
- i (28:17) So many Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint (reported); the traditional text reads “to him,” that is, to David.

Chapter 29

1 Now the Philistines gathered all their forces to Aphek,[a] while Israel was camped by the spring that is in Jezreel. 2 Now the lords of the Philistines were marching past by hundreds and by thousands, and David and his men were marching past at the rear with Achish. 3 Then the princes of the Philistines said, “What are these Hebrews here for?” And Achish answered the princes of the Philistines, “Is not this David, servant of Saul the king of Israel, who has been with me these days, or these years? I have found no fault in him from the day he went over to me until this day.” 4 But the princes of the Philistines were angry with him and said to him, “Make the man go back, so that he returns to his place that you appointed him. He shall not go down with us to the battle, lest in the battle he become an adversary[b] to us. For with what could this man win back the goodwill of his lord?
Would it not be with the heads of these men here? 5 Is not this the David of whom they answered one another in the dances, saying, ‘Saul has slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands’?” 6 So Achish called David and told him, “As Yahweh lives,[c] you have been honest, and I would be pleased to have you serve alongside me in the army, since I have found no fault in you from the day you came to me until now. Even so, the other rulers do not approve of you. 7 So turn around now and go back in peace, so that you will not offend the Philistine rulers." [8] David said to Achish, "But what have I done? And what have you found in your servant from the day that I came before you until this day, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my lord the king?" [9] Achish answered David, "I know that you are as good in my eyes as a messenger[d] of God. Nevertheless, the commanders of the Philistines have said, 'He shall not go up with us to the battle.' [10] So get up early in the morning, together with your lord's servants who came with you,[e] and leave as soon as it is light." [11] So David set out early, he and his men, to leave in the morning and return to the land of the Philistines. But the Philistines went up to Jezreel.

Notes

- a (29:1) Aphek was a town in the Sharon plain, the gathering place before the battle of 4:1.
- b (29:4) Hebrew satan, "adversary."
- c (29:6) A Philistine king swearing by Yahweh may reflect courtesy toward David.
- d (29:9) Or "angel."

Chapter 30

[1] On the third day David and his men arrived at Ziklag. The Amalekites had raided the Negeb and Ziklag; they had struck Ziklag and burned it down, [2] and had taken captive the women and everyone else in it, young and old. They had killed no one, but had carried them away as they went on their way. [3] When David and his men came to the town, there it was, burned with fire, and their wives and their sons and their daughters taken captive. [4] Then David and the people who were with him lifted up their voices and wept until they had no more strength to weep. [5] David's two wives also had been taken captive, Ahinoam the Jezreelitess and Abigail the widow of Nabal the Carmelite. [6] And David was in great straits, for the people spoke of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was bitter, each man for his sons and for his daughters. But David strengthened himself in Yahweh his God.

7 David said to Abiathar the priest, son of Ahimelech, “Bring the ephod here to me, I pray.” So Abiathar brought the ephod to David. 8 David asked Yahweh, “Should I chase this raiding party? Will I catch them?” “Chase them,” he answered, “for you will certainly catch them and rescue the captives.” 9 So David went, he and the six hundred men who were with him, and they came to the brook Besor,[a] where those who were left behind stayed. 10 But David pursued, he and four hundred men, while two hundred stayed behind who were too faint to cross the brook Besor.
11 They found an Egyptian in the field and brought him to David. They gave him bread, and he ate, and they gave him water to drink. 12 They also gave him a slice of fig cake and two raisin cakes. After he ate, his strength returned, for he had eaten no food and drunk no water for three days and three nights. 13 David said to him, “Whose are you?
And from where do you come?” He said, “I am an Egyptian lad, a slave of an Amalekite man. My master abandoned me three days ago, because I fell ill. 14 We made a raid on the Negeb of the Cherethites,[b] on the territory of Judah, and on the Negeb of Caleb, and we burned Ziklag.” 15 David said to him, “Will you bring me down to this band?” He said, “Swear to me by God that you will not kill me or deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring you down to this band.” 16 When he had brought him down, look, they were scattered over the face of all the land, eating and drinking and feasting, on account of the vast plunder they had seized out of the Philistines’ land and out of Judah’s land. 17 And David smote them from the dusk until the evening of the following day,[c] and not one man of them escaped except four hundred young men who mounted camels and fled. 18 David recovered all that the Amalekites had taken, and David rescued his two wives.
19 There was nothing lacking to them, neither small nor great, neither sons nor daughters, neither plunder nor anything they had seized.
All of it David brought back. 20 David also took all the flocks and the herds, which they drove before those other livestock, and they said, “This is David’s spoil.”[d] 21 Then David came to the two hundred men who had been too faint to follow David, whom they had left at the brook Besor. They went out to meet David and the people who were with him. When David came near to the people, he greeted them. 22 Then answered all the evil men and the base fellows[e] among the men who had gone with David, and said, "Since they went not with us, we will give them nothing of the plunder that we have rescued, but only to every man his wife and his children, that they may lead them away and go." 23 But David said, "You shall not do so, my brothers, with that which Yahweh has given to us, who has kept us safe and has delivered the raiding band that came upon us into our hand. 24 And who will hearken to you in this matter? For as his portion is that goes down to the battle, so shall his portion be that remains with the baggage. They shall share alike." 25 And from that day forward he made it a statute and an ordinance for Israel, to this day.

26 When David reached Ziklag, he sent part of the plunder to his friends, the elders of Judah, with this message: "Here is a gift[f] for you from the plunder taken from Yahweh's enemies." 27 He sent to them in Bethel, and to them in Ramoth of the south, and to them in Jattir, 28 and to them in Aroer, and to them in Siphmoth, and to them in Eshtemoa, 29 and to them in Racal, and to them in the cities of the Jerahmeelites, and to them in the cities of the Kenites, 30 and to them in Hormah, and to them in Bor-ashan,[g] and to them in Athach, 31 and to them in Hebron, and to every place where David himself and his men had been accustomed to go.

Notes

- a (30:9) Besor was a stream (a wadi) south of Ziklag, flowing west to the Mediterranean.
- b (30:14) The Cherethites were a people related to the Philistines, perhaps from Crete. Some of them later served in David's bodyguard (2 Samuel 8:18).
- c (30:17) The Hebrew is uncertain, literally "from the twilight until the evening of their morrow."
- d (30:20) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult.
- e (30:22) Hebrew "men of Belial."
- f (30:26) Hebrew "blessing."
- g (30:30) So many Hebrew manuscripts (reported); others read "Cor-ashan." Bor-ashan means "smoking pit."

Chapter 31

1 Now the Philistines were fighting against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa.
2 The Philistines closed in on Saul and his sons and killed Saul's sons Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchi-shua.[a] 3 The battle pressed hard against Saul, and the archers, the men with bows, found him, and he was badly wounded by the archers.[b] 4 Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and run me through with it, lest these uncircumcised come and run me through and make sport of me." But his armor-bearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. So Saul took the sword and fell upon it. 5 When his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his own sword and died with him. 6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor-bearer, and all his men, on that same day together.
7 When the Israelites on the other side of the valley and across the Jordan saw that Israel's army had fled and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their towns and ran away, and the Philistines moved in and settled there. 8 The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his three sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9 They cut off his head and stripped off his armor and sent them round about the land of the Philistines, to proclaim the tidings in the temples of their idols and among the people. 10 They put his armor in the house of the Ashtaroth,[c] and they fastened his body to the wall of Beth-shan.[d] 11 But when the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 all their brave men set out and traveled all night. They took Saul's body and his sons' bodies down from the wall of Beth-shan, brought them to Jabesh, and burned them there.[e] 13 And they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree in Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.

Notes

- a (31:2) Abinadab means "my father is generous." Malchi-shua means "my king is salvation" (uncertain).
- b (31:3) Or "he was greatly afraid of the archers." The Septuagint reads "he was wounded under the ribs" (Brenton, modernized).

- c (31:10) The plural of Ashtoreth (Astarte), a Canaanite goddess. The Septuagint reads “the temple of Astarte” (Brenton). First Chronicles 10:10 adds that they fastened his head in the temple of Dagon.
- d (31:10) Beth-shan means “house of quiet” (uncertain), a city at the junction of the Jezreel and Jordan valleys.
- e (31:12) Burning the bodies was not the usual Israelite practice. Some have reported that the verb here may mean “anointed with spices” (scholarly review). First Chronicles 10:12 does not mention the burning.

2 Samuel

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 Now it came about after the death of Saul, when David had returned from striking down the Amalekites, that David remained two days in Ziklag. 2 On the third day, look, a man came out of the camp from Saul, with his garments torn and earth upon his head. And as he came to David, he fell to the ground and did obeisance. 3 David said to him, "From where do you come?" He said to him, "Out of the camp of Israel
I have escaped." 4 David said to him, "How did the matter go? Tell me, I pray." He answered, "The people fled from the battle, and many of the people also have fallen and are dead; and Saul and Jonathan his son are dead too." 5 Then David said to the young man who was telling him, "How do you know that Saul and Jonathan his son are dead?" 6
The young man who brought him the report said, "I chanced to come upon Mount Gilboa, and look, Saul was propped upon his spear, and look, the chariots and the masters of horse were following hard upon him. 7 When he looked behind him, he saw me and called to me. And I answered, 'Here am I.' 8 He said to me, 'Who are you?' I answered him, 'I am an Amalekite.' 9 He said to me, 'Stand over me, I pray, and kill me, for dizziness[a] has seized me, though my life is still whole in me.' 10 So I stood over him and killed him, because I was sure that he could not live after he had fallen. And I took the crown that was on his head and the band that was on his arm, and I have brought them here to my lord."
11 Then David seized his clothes and rent them; likewise every man that was with him. 12 They mourned and wept and fasted until evening for Saul and for Jonathan his son and for the people of Yahweh[b] and for the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.
13 David said to the young man who told him, "Where are you from?"
He answered, "I am the son of a sojourner, an Amalekite." 14 David said to him, “How were you not afraid to put forth your hand to destroy Yahweh’s anointed?” 15 Then David called one of the young men and said, “Go near and fall upon him.” And he struck him so that he died. 16 David said to him, “Your blood be upon your own head, for your own mouth has testified against you, saying, ‘I have killed Yahweh’s anointed.’” 17 Then David lamented with this lament over Saul and over Jonathan his son, 18 and he said it should be taught to the sons of Judah: the Bow.[c] Look, it is written in the Book of Jashar.[d] 19 “Your glory,[e] O Israel, is slain upon your high places! How are the mighty fallen! 20 Tell it not in Gath, and do not proclaim it in Ashkelon’s streets, or the daughters of the Philistines will celebrate, and the daughters of the uncircumcised will gloat. 21 You mountains of Gilboa, let there be no dew nor rain upon you, nor fields of offerings![f] For there the shield of the mighty was defiled, the shield of Saul, not anointed with oil.[g] 22 From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the mighty, the bow of Jonathan turned not back, and the sword of Saul returned not empty. 23 Saul and Jonathan, beloved and lovely! In their lives and in their death they were not divided. They were swifter than eagles; they were stronger than lions. 24 You daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you in scarlet with delights, who put ornaments of gold upon your apparel. 25 How the mighty have fallen in the thick of battle! Jonathan lies dead on your heights. 26 I grieve for you, my brother Jonathan; you were dear to me. Your love for me was more wonderful than the love of women. 27 How are the mighty fallen, and the weapons of war perished!”

Notes

- a (1:9) The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain; perhaps “cramp” or “agony.” The Septuagint reads “a dreadful darkness” (Brenton).
- b (1:12) The Septuagint reads “for the people of Judah” (reported).
- c (1:18) The Hebrew is uncertain. “The Bow” may be the title of the lament (see verse 22). The Septuagint lacks the word (Brenton, “he gave orders to teach it the sons of Judah”).
- d (1:18) Jashar means “upright.” The Book of Jashar was an ancient collection of poems, now lost (see also Joshua 10:13). The Septuagint reads “the book of Right” (Brenton).

- e (1:19) Or "The gazelle." The Hebrew word tsevi can mean either "beauty" or "gazelle."
- f (1:21) The Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "nor fields of first-fruits" (Brenton).
- g (1:21) Leather shields were rubbed with oil before battle. The Septuagint likewise reads "the shield of Saul was not anointed with oil" (Brenton). Some read the phrase as referring to Saul himself, "no longer anointed" (scholarly review).

Chapter 2

1 After this David inquired of Yahweh, saying, "Shall I go up into any of the towns of Judah?" Yahweh said to him, "Go up." David said, "To where shall I go up?" And he said, "To Hebron."[a] 2 David went up there with his two wives, Ahinoam of Jezreel and Abigail, the widow of Nabal of Carmel. 3 And David brought up his men who were with him, every man with his household, and they settled in the towns of Hebron. 4 Then the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah. They told David, "It was the men of Jabesh-gilead who buried Saul." 5 So David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh-gilead and said to them, "Blessed be you of Yahweh, because you have shown this kindness to your lord, to Saul, and have buried him. 6 Now may Yahweh show steadfast love and faithfulness to you. And I also will do you good, because you have done this thing.
7 So now strengthen your hands and be sons of valor; for Saul your master is dead, and me the house of Judah has anointed as king over them."
8 Meanwhile Abner son of Ner, the commander of Saul's army, had taken Saul's son Ish-bosheth[b] and moved him across to Mahanaim,[c] 9 and he made him king over Gilead and over the Ashurites[d] and over Jezreel and over Ephraim and over Benjamin and over all Israel. 10 Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years. But the house of Judah followed David. 11 The number of the days that David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah was seven years and six months.
12 Abner son of Ner and the servants of Ish-bosheth son of Saul went out from Mahanaim to Gibeon. 13 And Joab[e] son of Zeruiah and the servants of David went out and met them by the pool of Gibeon. They sat down, the one band on the one side of the pool and the other on the other side of the pool. 14 Abner said to Joab, "Let the young men arise now and contend before us." Joab said, "Let them arise." 15 Then they arose and went over by number, twelve for Benjamin and for Ish-bosheth son of Saul, and twelve of the servants of David. 16 Each man caught his fellow by the head and thrust his sword into his fellow's side, and they fell down together. Therefore that place was called Helkath-hazzurim,[f] which is in Gibeon. 17 And the fighting grew exceedingly hard that day, and Abner was beaten, and the men of Israel with him, before David's servants.

18 The three sons of Zeruiah were there, Joab and Abishai and Asahel.[g] Asahel was as light of foot as one of the gazelles in the field. 19 Asahel pursued after Abner, and in going he turned neither to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner. 20 Then Abner looked behind him and said, "Is that you, Asahel?" He answered, "It is I." 21 Abner said to him, "Turn aside to your right hand or to your left, and lay hold of one of the young men and take his gear for yourself." But Asahel would not turn aside from following him. 22 Abner told Asahel again, "Turn aside from following me! Why should I strike you to the ground? How could I hold up my head before your brother Joab?" 23 Yet he refused to turn aside. So Abner smote him in the belly with the hinder end of the spear, and the spear went out behind him; and he fell there and died in his place. And every one who came to the spot where Asahel fell and died halted.

24 But Joab and Abishai chased after Abner. And the sun went down as they reached the hill of Ammah, that lies before Giah by the road to the wilderness of Gibeon. 25 The Benjamites rallied behind Abner and formed a single group, taking their stand on the top of a hill. 26 Abner called out to Joab, "Must the sword go on devouring forever? Surely you realize this will end in bitterness. How long before you tell your men to stop pursuing their brothers?" 27 "As God lives," Joab answered, "if you had not spoken up, the men would not have given up pursuing their brothers until morning."[h] 28 So Joab blew the trumpet, and all the people stood still and pursued Israel no more, nor did they fight any more. 29 All that night Abner and his men traveled through the Arabah. They crossed over the Jordan, passed through the whole Bithron,[i] and came to Mahanaim.

30 Joab gave up the chase after Abner and assembled all his troops. Nineteen of David's men were missing, besides Asahel. 31 But the servants of David had struck of Benjamin and of Abner's men three hundred and sixty men, and they died. 32 They took up Asahel and buried him in the tomb of his father, which was in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men went all night, and the day broke upon them at Hebron.

Notes

- a (2:1) Hebron was the chief city of Judah, about 19 miles (31 kilometers) south of Jerusalem. Its name perhaps means "association" or "alliance."
- b (2:8) Ish-bosheth means "man of shame." His original name was Ishbaal or Eshbaal, "man of the lord" (1 Chronicles 8:33); scribes replaced "baal" with "bosheth" ("shame") to avoid the name of the god Baal. The Septuagint reads "Jebosthe" (Brenton). Likewise throughout.
- c (2:8) Mahanaim means "two camps" (Genesis 32:2), a town east of the Jordan.
- d (2:9) So the Hebrew. Some ancient versions read "Geshurites" (reported); others suggest "Asherites."
- e (2:13) Joab means "Yahweh is father."
- f (2:16) Helkath-hazzurim means "field of flints" or "field of blades" (uncertain). The Septuagint reads "Portion of the Treacherous ones" (reported).
- g (2:18) Asahel means "God has made."
- h (2:27) Or "If you had not spoken, the people would have given up the pursuit of their brothers only in the morning." The Hebrew can be read either way.
- i (2:29) Or "the whole morning"; the Hebrew word bitron may be a place name or mean "ravine."

Chapter 3

1 Now the war between Saul's house and David's house was long. And David went on growing ever stronger, but the house of Saul went on growing ever weaker.

2 Sons were born to David in Hebron. His firstborn was Amnon,[a] by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; 3 his second, Chileab,[b] whose mother was Abigail, formerly wife of Nabal of Carmel; and the third, Absalom[c] son of Maacah, daughter of Talmai king of Geshur; 4 the fourth was Adonijah[d] son of Haggith, the fifth Shephatiah[e] son of Abital, 5 and the sixth Ithream,[f] born to David's wife Eglah. These sons were born to David at Hebron.

6 During the war between Saul's house and David's house, Abner kept strengthening his own position in Saul's house. 7 Now Saul had had a concubine whose name was Rizpah,[g] the daughter of Aiah. And Ish-bosheth[h] said to Abner, "Why have you gone in to my father's concubine?" 8 Then Abner was very angry over the words of Ish-bosheth and said, "Am I a dog's head that belongs to Judah? To this day I keep showing loyalty to the household of your father Saul, to his kinsmen and to his companions, and I have not handed you over into David's hand; and yet you charge me today with a fault concerning this woman! 9 So may God do to Abner and more also, if I do not accomplish for David what Yahweh has sworn to him, 10 to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and to set up the throne of David over Israel and over Judah, from Dan to Beersheba." 11 And Ish-bosheth could not answer Abner another word, because he feared him.

12 Abner sent messengers to David on his own behalf[i] to ask, "To whom does the land belong? Make a covenant with me, and I will lend you my support in turning all Israel over to you." 13 "Good," David replied. "I will make a covenant with you, but I demand one thing: you will not be admitted to my presence unless you bring Saul's daughter Michal with you when you come to see me." 14 Then David sent messengers to Ish-bosheth, Saul's son, saying, "Give me my wife Michal, whom I betrothed to myself for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines." 15 So Ish-bosheth had her fetched from her husband, Paltiel son of Laish. 16 But her husband went with her, weeping as he went behind her as far as Bahurim. Then Abner said to him, "Go, return." And he returned.

17 Now Abner had held counsel with Israel's elders, saying, "Both yesterday and the day before you were seeking to have David as king over you. 18 Now then do it. For Yahweh has spoken of David, saying, 'By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and from the hand of all their enemies.'" 19 Abner also spoke in the ears of Benjamin. And Abner went to speak in the ears of David at Hebron all that seemed good to Israel and to the whole house of Benjamin. 20 When Abner came to David at Hebron with twenty men, David made a feast for Abner and the men who were with him. 21 Abner told David, "Let me go at once and gather all Israel to my lord the king, so that they may make a covenant with you and you may rule over everything you desire." David let Abner leave, and he went away in peace.

22 Just then David's servants and Joab came back from a raid, bringing a great deal of plunder. Abner was no longer with David at Hebron, because David had dismissed him and he had left in peace. 23 When Joab and all the army that was with him came, they told Joab, "Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he has sent him away, and he has gone in peace." 24 Then Joab came to the king and said, "What have you done? Look, Abner came to you. Why is it that you have sent him away, and he is quite gone? 25 You know Abner the son of Ner, that he came to deceive you, and to know your going out and your coming in, and to know all that you are doing." 26 When Joab had gone out from David, he sent messengers after Abner, and they turned him back from the well of Sirah;[j] and David knew nothing of it. 27 When Abner returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside into the midst of the gate to speak with him quietly, and there he smote him in the stomach, and he died, for the blood of Asahel his brother.

28 Afterward, when David heard of it, he said, "I and my kingdom are guiltless before Yahweh forever of the blood of Abner the son of Ner. 29 May it whirl[k] upon the head of Joab and upon all his father's house. And may there never be lacking from the house of Joab one who has a discharge, or one who is leprous,[l] or one who leans on a staff,[m] or one who falls by the sword, or one who lacks bread!" 30 So Joab and Abishai his brother killed Abner, because he had put their brother Asahel to death at Gibeon in the battle.

31 Then David said to Joab and to all the people who were with him, "Tear your clothes, and gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn before Abner." And King David followed the bier. 32 They buried Abner in Hebron. And the king lifted up his voice and wept at the grave of Abner, and all the people wept. 33 Then the king chanted a lament over Abner, and said, “Was Abner to die the death of a fool? 34 Your hands were not tied, and your feet were not chained. You fell as a man falls before criminals.” And all the people wept over him once more. 35 Then all the people came to cause David to eat bread while it was yet day. But David took an oath: “God do so to me, and more as well, if I taste bread or anything else before sunset!” 36 All the people noticed this and were pleased; indeed, everything the king did pleased them.

37 So all the people and all Israel understood that day that it had not been from the king to put to death Abner the son of Ner. 38 And the king spoke to his servants: “Know you not that a prince and a great man has fallen this day in Israel? 39 I am weak today, though anointed king, and these men, the sons of Zeruiah, are too hard for me. May Yahweh repay the evildoer according to his evil!”[n]

Chapter 4

1 When Saul's son[a] heard that Abner had died in Hebron, his hands grew feeble, and all Israel was troubled. 2 Now Saul's son had two men who were captains of raiding bands. The name of the one was Baanah, and the name of the other Rechab,[b] sons of Rimmon a man of Beeroth, of the sons of Benjamin (for Beeroth also is reckoned to Benjamin; 3 the Beerothites fled to Gittaim and have been sojourners there until this day).
4 Jonathan, Saul's son, had a son who was lame in his feet. He was five years old when the news about Saul and Jonathan came out of Jezreel, and his nurse took him up and fled. And as she made haste to flee, he fell and became lame. His name was Mephibosheth.[c] 5 Then Rechab and Baanah, sons of Rimmon of Beeroth, went off, and in the heat of the day they reached the house of Ish-bosheth, while he was lying down for his midday rest. 6 They came there into the middle of the house as though to fetch wheat, and they struck him in the belly. Then Rechab and Baanah his brother escaped.[d] 7 When they came into the house, as he lay on his bed in his bedchamber, they struck him and killed him and beheaded him. They took his head and went by the way of the Arabah all night. 8 They carried Ish-bosheth's head to David in Hebron and said to the king, "Here is the head of Ish-bosheth son of Saul, your enemy, who sought to kill you. Yahweh has granted my lord the king revenge today on Saul and his line." 9 But David answered Rechab and Baanah his brother, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and said to them, "As Yahweh lives, who has redeemed my soul out of all adversity, 10 when a man told me, 'Saul is dead,' thinking he was bringing good news, I seized him and killed him at Ziklag. That was the reward I gave him for his news! 11 How much more, when wicked men have murdered an innocent man in his own house, on his own bed, will I demand his blood from your hands and remove you from the earth!" 12 David gave an order to his young men, and they killed them, cut off their hands and feet, and hung the bodies beside the pool at Hebron. But they took Ish-bosheth's head and buried it in Abner's tomb at Hebron.

Notes

- a (4:1) The Hebrew lacks the name here; the Septuagint reads "Memphibosthe" (reported), but most interpreters understand Ish-bosheth.
- b (4:2) Baanah means "son of affliction" (uncertain). Rechab means "rider." Rimmon means "pomegranate." Beeroth means "wells."
- c (4:4) Mephibosheth means "from the mouth of shame." He is called Merib-baal ("Baal contends" or "the lord is advocate") in 1 Chronicles 8:34; see the note on Ish-bosheth at 2:8.
- d (4:6) The Septuagint reads differently: "And behold, the porter of the house was winnowing wheat, and she slumbered and slept, and the brothers Rechab and Baanah slipped into the house" (Brenton, modernized).

Chapter 5

1 Then all the tribes of Israel came to David at Hebron and spoke, saying, "See, we are your bone and your flesh. 2 Even in time past, when Saul was king over us, it was you who led Israel out and brought Israel in. And Yahweh said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel, and you shall be prince over Israel.'" 3 When all the elders of Israel had come to the king at Hebron, King David made a covenant with them there in Yahweh's presence, and they anointed David as king over Israel. 4 Thirty years old was David at his becoming king, and forty years he reigned. 5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah.

6 The king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the people living in that land. They told David, "You will never get in here; even the blind and the lame can turn you back," thinking, "David cannot enter." 7 Nevertheless David captured the stronghold of Zion,[a] which is the City of David. 8 That day David said, "Anyone who wants to defeat the Jebusites should get up through the water shaft[b] to attack those 'lame and blind' whom David hates." This is why people say, "The blind and the lame may not enter the house." 9 David dwelt in the stronghold and called it the City of David. And David built round about from the Millo[c] inward. 10 And David went on and grew great, for Yahweh God of Armies was with him.

11 Hiram[d] king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters and masons,[e] and they built David a house. 12 And David perceived that Yahweh had established him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel.

13 David took more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem after he came from Hebron, and more sons and daughters were born to David. 14 These are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon,[f] 15 Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, 16 Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet.[g]
17 When the Philistines heard that they had anointed David king over Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. David heard of it and went down to the stronghold. 18 The Philistines had come and spread out across the Valley of Rephaim.[h] 19 And David inquired of Yahweh, "Shall I go up against the Philistines? Will you give them into my hand?" Yahweh said to David, "Go up, for I will surely give the Philistines into your hand." 20 So David came to Baal-perazim, and David struck them there. And he said, "Yahweh has broken through my enemies before me, like a breaking through of waters." Therefore he called the name of that place Baal-perazim.[i] 21 They abandoned their idols there, and David and his men carried them away.[j] 22 Yet again the Philistines came up and spread themselves out in the Valley of Rephaim. 23 When David inquired of Yahweh, he said, "You shall not go up. Circle around behind them, and come upon them opposite the balsam trees.[k] 24 And when you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then bestir yourself, for then Yahweh has gone out before you to strike the camp of the Philistines." 25 And David did so, as Yahweh had commanded him, and struck the Philistines from Geba[l] all the way to Gezer.

Chapter 6

1 David again gathered all the chosen men of Israel, thirty thousand.
2 And David arose and went with all the people who were with him from Baale-judah,[a] to bring up from there the ark of God, which is called by the name, the name of Yahweh of Armies, who sits enthroned on the cherubim. 3 They placed the ark of God upon a new wagon and brought it out from Abinadab’s house on the hill; and Uzzah and Ahio,[b] Abinadab’s sons, drove the new wagon, 4 with the ark of God;[c] and Ahio went before the ark. 5 David and all the house of Israel were making merry before Yahweh with all kinds of instruments of fir wood,[d] with lyres and harps and tambourines and rattles and cymbals.
6 They came to the threshing floor of Nacon,[e] and because the oxen had stumbled, Uzzah put out his hand and took hold of the ark of God. 7 And the anger of Yahweh was kindled against Uzzah, and God struck him there for his error,[f] and he died there beside the ark of God.
8 David was angry because Yahweh had broken out against Uzzah.
And he called that place Perez-uzzah,[g] as it is named to this day. 9 David was afraid of Yahweh that day, and he said, “How can the ark of Yahweh come to me?” 10 So David would not take the ark of Yahweh to himself into the City of David, but David turned it aside to the house of Obed-edom[h] the Gittite. 11 The ark of Yahweh remained in the house of Obed-edom the Gittite three months, and Yahweh blessed Obed-edom and all his household.

12 News came to King David: "Yahweh has blessed the household of Obed-edom, with all that he has, on account of the ark of God." So David went and had the ark of God brought up from Obed-edom's house into the City of David with joy. 13 When those who carried the ark of Yahweh had gone six paces, he sacrificed an ox and a fattened animal. 14 And David danced before Yahweh with all his might, and David was girded with a linen ephod. 15 So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of Yahweh with shouting and with the sound of the horn.
16 As the ark of Yahweh came into the City of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out through the window and saw King David leaping and whirling before Yahweh, and she despised him in her heart. 17 They brought in the ark of Yahweh and set it in its place, inside the tent that David had pitched for it. And David offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before Yahweh. 18 When David had made an end of offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of Yahweh of Armies. 19 And he apportioned to all the people, to the whole throng of Israel, to man and to woman, one loaf of bread apiece, a cake of dates,[i] and a cake of raisins. Then all the people departed, each to his house.
20 When David went home to bless his household, Saul's daughter Michal came out to meet him. "How splendid the king of Israel looked today," she said, "exposing himself before his servants' slave girls, the way some vulgar person would expose himself!" 21 David said to Michal, "It was before Yahweh, who chose me above your father and above all his house, to appoint me prince over the people of Yahweh, over Israel; and I will make merry before Yahweh. 22 I will make myself yet more lightly esteemed than this, and I will be lowly in my own eyes.[j] But with the maids you speak of, with them I shall have honor." 23 And Michal the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

Notes

- a (6:2) Baale-judah means "lords of Judah," another name for Kiriath-jearim (1 Chronicles 13:6; Joshua 15:9). Some Hebrew manuscripts and other witnesses reportedly read "Baalah of Judah."

- b (6:3) Uzzah means “strength.” Ahio means “his brother” (uncertain); the Septuagint reads “his brothers” (reported).

- d (6:5) So the traditional Hebrew text, literally “with all woods of cypress.” The Septuagint and 1 Chronicles 13:8 read “with all their might and with songs” (Brenton, “on well-tuned instruments mightily, and with songs,” modernized).
- e (6:6) Nacon means “prepared” (uncertain). First Chronicles 13:9 reads “Chidon.” The Septuagint reads “Nachor” (Brenton).

Chapter 7

1 Now it came to pass, when the king lived in his house and Yahweh had given him rest from all his enemies round about, 2 that the king said to Nathan the prophet, “See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of God dwells within curtains.” 3 And Nathan said to the king, “Go, do all that is in your heart, for Yahweh is with you.”
4 But that same night the word of Yahweh came to Nathan, saying, 5 “Go and tell my servant David, ‘Thus says Yahweh: Would you build me a house for me to dwell in? 6 For I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought the sons of Israel up out of Egypt even until this day, but I have gone about in a tent and in a tabernacle. 7 In all places where I have walked with all the sons of Israel, did I speak a word with any of the tribes[a] of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd my people Israel, saying, “Why have you not built me a house of cedar?”’ 8 Now then, speak thus to my servant David: ‘So says Yahweh of Armies: From the sheepfold I took you, from behind the flock, that you should be prince over my people, over Israel. 9 I have been with you wherever you went and have cut off all your enemies from your presence. And I will make you a great name, like the name of the great ones who are on the earth. 10 And I will appoint a place for my people

Israel and will plant them, that they may dwell in their own place and be troubled no more. And the sons of wickedness shall afflict them no more, as at the first, 11 from the day that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel. And I will give you rest from all your enemies. Moreover, Yahweh declares to you that Yahweh will make you a house.[b] 12 When your days are complete and you sleep with your fathers, I will raise up your seed after you, which shall proceed out of your bowels, and I will make his kingdom firm. 13 He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. 14 I will be his father, and he shall be my son. If he does wrong, I will correct him with the rod of men and with the blows of the sons of Adam, 15 but my steadfast love shall not depart from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I put away from before you. 16 Your house and your kingdom will be secure forever before you.[c] Your throne will last for all time.'" 17 According to all these words and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

18 Then King David went in and sat before Yahweh and said, "Who am I, Lord Yahweh, and what is my house, that you have brought me thus far? 19 And yet this was a small thing in your eyes, Lord Yahweh. You have spoken also of your servant's house for a great while to come, and this is the instruction for mankind,[d] Lord Yahweh! 20 And what more can David say to you? For you know your servant, Lord Yahweh! 21 Because of your word, and according to your own heart, you have done all this greatness, to make your servant know it. 22 Therefore you are great, Lord Yahweh. For there is none like you, and there is no God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 23 Is there another nation on earth like your people Israel, whom God went out to redeem for himself as a people, to win a name for himself, and to perform great and awesome acts for them,[e] by driving out nations and their gods ahead of your people, whom you redeemed for yourself from Egypt? 24 And you established for yourself your people Israel to be your people forever, and you, Yahweh, became their God.

25 And now, Yahweh God, the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house, confirm it forever, and do as you have spoken. 26 May your name be great forever, so that people say, 'Yahweh of Armies is God over Israel,' and may your servant David's house be established in your presence. 27 For you, Yahweh of Armies, the God of Israel, have revealed to your servant, saying, 'I will build you a house.' Therefore your servant has found courage[f] to pray this prayer to you. 28 And now, Lord Yahweh, you are God, and your words are truth, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 29 Please be pleased now to bless your servant's house so that it continues in your presence forever. You, Lord Yahweh, have spoken, and by your blessing your servant's house will be blessed forever."

Notes

- a (7:7) So the Hebrew, shivte. First Chronicles 17:6 reads "judges" (shofte), a very similar word.
- b (7:11) That is, a royal dynasty. The Septuagint reads "and the Lord will tell you that you shall build a house to him" (Brenton, modernized).
- c (7:16) So the Hebrew. Some Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint read "before me" (reported).
- d (7:19) The Hebrew is obscure, literally "and this is the law of man." First Chronicles 17:17 reads differently.
- e (7:23) The Hebrew is difficult, literally "for you," "for your land"; compare 1 Chronicles 17:21 and the Septuagint (Brenton, "to do mightily and nobly, so that you should cast out nations and their tabernacles," modernized).
- f (7:27) Literally "found his heart."

Chapter 8

1 Some time later David defeated the Philistines and brought them under control, and he took Metheg-ammah[a] from Philistine hands. 2 He also defeated Moab. He made the people lie on the ground and measured them off with a cord: two cord-lengths of them to be put to death and one full length to be spared. So the Moabites became David's subjects and paid him tribute.

3 David also defeated Hadadezer[b] son of Rehob, king of Zobah, when Hadadezer went to restore his control[c] along the Euphrates River. 4 David captured from him 1,700 horsemen[d] and 20,000 foot soldiers. He crippled all but a hundred of the chariot horses, keeping only enough for a hundred chariots. 5 When the Arameans[e] of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David struck down twenty-two thousand men of the Arameans. 6 Then David put garrisons in Aram of Damascus, and the Arameans became David's servants, bringing tribute. Yahweh gave David victory everywhere he went. 7 David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem.[f] 8 From Betah and Berothai,[g] cities belonging to Hadadezer, King David carried off a huge amount of bronze.[h]

9 When Toi[i] king of Hamath heard that David had struck all the army of Hadadezer, 10 Toi sent Joram[j] his son to King David to ask after his welfare and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer and struck him; for Hadadezer had often been at war with Toi. And in his hand were vessels of silver and vessels of gold and vessels of bronze. 11 These also King David set apart to Yahweh, with the silver and the gold that he had set apart from every nation that he brought under, 12 from Aram,[k] from Moab, from the Ammonites, from the Philistines, from Amalek, and out of the plunder of Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah. 13 And David made a name for himself when he returned from striking down the Arameans[l] in the Valley of Salt, eighteen thousand men. 14 He stationed garrisons throughout Edom, and all the Edomites became David's subjects. Yahweh gave David victory everywhere he went.

15 So David reigned over all Israel, and David executed justice and righteousness for all his people. 16 Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army, and Jehoshaphat[m] the son of Ahilud was recorder, 17 and Zadok the son of Ahitub and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar[n] were priests, and Seraiah[o] was secretary, 18 and Benaiah[p] the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites,[q] and David's sons were priests.[r]

Chapter 9

1 And David said, "Is there yet any who is left of the house of Saul, that I may show him kindness for Jonathan's sake?" 2 There was a servant of Saul's household named Ziba,[a] and he was summoned to David.
"Are you Ziba?" the king asked. "At your service," he answered. 3
The king asked, "Is there no one left of Saul's house to whom I may show God's kindness?" Ziba told the king, "A son of Jonathan is still alive; he is lame in both feet." 4 The king said to him, "Where is he?" Ziba said to the king, "Look, he is in the house of Machir[b] the son of Ammiel, at Lo-debar."[c] 5 Then King David sent and fetched him from the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lo-debar. 6 Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, came to David and fell on his face and did obeisance. David said, “Mephibosheth!” And he answered, “Here is your servant!” 7 David said to him, “Fear not, for I will surely show you kindness for Jonathan your father’s sake, and I will restore to you all the land of Saul your father, and you shall eat bread at my table continually.” 8 Mephibosheth bowed and said, “What is your servant, that you take notice of a dead dog like me?”

9 Then the king called to Ziba, Saul’s servant, and said to him, “All that belonged to Saul and to all his house I have given to your master’s son. 10 You are to farm the land for him, you and your sons and your servants, and bring in the produce, so that your master’s son will have food to eat. But Mephibosheth, your master’s son, will always eat at my table.” Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. 11 Ziba told the king, “Your servant will do all that my lord the king commands.” “And Mephibosheth ate at my[d] table like one of the king’s sons.” 12 Mephibosheth had a young son whose name was Mica.[e] And all who dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants to Mephibosheth. 13 So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem, for he ate continually at the king’s table. And he was lame in both his feet.

Notes

- a (9:2) Ziba perhaps means “plant” or “strength” (uncertain).
- b (9:4) Machir means “sold.” Ammiel means “my kinsman is God.”
- c (9:4) Lo-debar means “no pasture” or “no thing” (uncertain), a town east of the Jordan.

- e (9:12) Mica means “who is like?” (short for “who is like Yahweh?”).

Chapter 10

1 Some time later the king of the Ammonites died, and his son Hanun[a] became king in his place. 2 David said, “I will be kind to Hanun son of Nahash, just as his father was kind to me.” So David sent a delegation of his servants to console him over his father. When David’s servants reached the land of the Ammonites, 3 But the Ammonite commanders told their lord Hanun, “Is David really honoring your father, in your opinion, by sending men to console you? Has David not rather sent his servants to you to explore the city, spy on it, and overthrow it?" 4 So Hanun seized David's servants and shaved away one half of their beards, and he cut away their robes at the middle, up to their hips, and sent them off. 5 When they told it to David, he sent to meet them, for the men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Stay at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

6 When the Ammonites realized that they had become hateful to David, they hired 20,000 Aramean foot soldiers from Beth-rehob and Zobah, 1,000 men from the king of Maacah, and 12,000 men from Tob.[b] 7 When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the host of the mighty men. 8 The Ammonites marched out and took up battle positions at the city gate, while the Arameans of Zobah and Rehob and the men of Tob and Maacah took up positions separately in the open country. 9 When Joab saw that the battle was set against him both in front and behind, he chose some of all the choice men of Israel and arrayed them against the Arameans. 10 He put the rest of the troops under his brother Abishai, who drew them up in formation against the Ammonites. 11 Joab said, "If the Arameans prove too strong for me, you are to come to my aid; and if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, I will come to yours. 12 Be strong, and let us play the man for our people and for the cities of our God. And may Yahweh do what is good in his eyes." 13 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near to battle against the Arameans, and they fled before him. 14 When the Ammonites saw the Arameans flee, they too fled from Abishai and retreated into the city. Joab then left the battle with the Ammonites and returned to Jerusalem.

15 When the Arameans saw that they had been beaten before Israel, they gathered themselves together. 16 Hadadezer sent for the Arameans from across the River,[c] and they came to Helam,[d] led by Shobach, the commander of Hadadezer's army. 17 David was told, so he mustered all Israel, crossed the Jordan, and went to Helam. The Arameans lined up to meet David and fought against him. 18 And the Arameans fled before Israel, and David killed of the Arameans the men of seven hundred chariots and forty thousand horsemen,[e] and he struck Shobach the captain of their army, so that he died there.

19 When all the kings who served Hadadezer saw they had been defeated by Israel, they came to terms with Israel and served them. And the Arameans were afraid to give the Ammonites any more help.

Notes

- a (10:1) Hanun means "favored."
- b (10:6) Or "the men of Ish-tob." Tob means "good." The Septuagint reads "Istob" (Brenton) and "the king of Amalek" for "the king of Maacah." Beth-rehob means "house of the broad place."
- c (10:16) That is, the Euphrates.
- d (10:16) Helam was east of the Jordan; its location is uncertain.
- e (10:18) First Chronicles 19:18 reads "seven thousand charioteers and forty thousand foot soldiers." The Septuagint here agrees with the Hebrew (Brenton).

Chapter 11

1 Now it came to pass at the return of the year, at the time when kings go out to battle,[a] that David sent Joab and his servants with him and all Israel, and they ravaged the sons of Ammon and besieged Rabbah.[b] But David remained in Jerusalem.

2 It happened, at the time of evening, that David arose from his couch and walked about on the roof of the king's house. And from the roof he saw a woman bathing, and the woman was very fair to look upon. 3 David sent and inquired about the woman. And one said, "Is not this Bathsheba,[c] the daughter of Eliam,[d] the wife of Uriah the Hittite?"[e] 4 So David sent messengers and took her, and she came in to him, and he lay with her. (She was cleansing herself from her impurity.) Then she went back to her house. 5 The woman conceived, and she sent and told David, and said, "I am with child."

6 Then David sent to Joab, "Send me Uriah the Hittite." And Joab sent Uriah to David. 7 When Uriah had come to him, David asked how Joab was faring and how the people fared and how the war went. 8 David told Uriah, "Go home and wash your feet." Uriah left the palace, and a gift from the king followed him. 9 But Uriah slept at the door of the king's house with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. 10 So they reported to David, "Uriah went not down to his house." And David asked Uriah, "Is it not from a journey that you come? For what reason did you not go down to your house?" 11 Uriah said to David, "The ark and Israel and Judah are dwelling in booths, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord are camped in the open field. Shall I then go into my house, to eat and to drink and to lie with my wife? By your life, and by the life of your soul, I will not do this thing." 12 Then David said to Uriah, "Stay here today also, and tomorrow I will send you away." So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next. 13 David invited him, and Uriah ate and drank in his presence, and David made him drunk. Yet that evening he went out and slept on his bed with his lord's servants; he never went down to his own house.

14 In the morning David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by the hand of Uriah. 15 In it he wrote, "Put Uriah at the front, where the fighting is fiercest, then pull back from him so that he will be struck down and die." 16 So as Joab was keeping watch on the city, he assigned Uriah to the place where he knew that valiant men were. 17 And the men of the city came out and fought with Joab, and some of the people of David's servants fell. Uriah the Hittite died also.

18 Then Joab sent and told David all the things concerning the war. 19 And he charged the messenger, saying, "When you have finished telling all the matters of the war to the king, 20 then if the king's anger flares up, and he says to you, 'For what reason did you approach so close to the city to fight? Did you not know they would shoot from upon the wall? 21 Who killed Abimelech son of Jerubbesheth?[f] Did not a woman drop an upper millstone on him from the wall, so that he died at Thebez? Why did you venture near the wall?' then you are to say, 'Your servant Uriah the Hittite is also dead.'"

22 So the messenger departed, and he came and reported to David everything for which Joab had sent him.[g] 23 The messenger said to David, "The men prevailed against us and came out against us into the field, but we drove them back to the entrance of the gate. 24 Then the archers shot at your servants from the wall. Some of the king's servants are dead, and your servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also." 25 David told the messenger, "Tell Joab this: 'Do not let this matter upset you, for the sword devours one person and then another. Press your attack on the city and destroy it.' Give him courage."

26 When the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband. 27 And when the mourning was past, David sent and gathered her into his house, and she became his wife and bore him a son. But the thing that David had done was evil in the eyes of Yahweh.

Notes

- a (11:1) Literally "at the return of the year," that is, in the spring. So many Hebrew manuscripts, the Septuagint (Brenton, "when the time of the year for kings going out to battle had come round"), and 1 Chronicles 20:1. The traditional Hebrew text reads "messengers" (mal'akhim) for "kings" (melakhim).
- b (11:1) Rabbah means "great (city)," the Ammonite capital, modern Amman.
- c (11:3) Bathsheba means "daughter of an oath" or "daughter of seven." She is called Bath-shua in 1 Chronicles 3:5.
- d (11:3) Eliam means "God is my kinsman." He is called Ammiel in 1 Chronicles 3:5.
- e (11:3) Uriah means "Yahweh is my light."
- f (11:21) That is, Jerubbaal, Gideon (Judges 6:32; 9:50–54); compare the note on Ish-bosheth at 2:8. The Septuagint reads "Jerobaal son of Ner" (Brenton).
- g (11:22) The Septuagint adds a longer form of David's angry questions, repeating those of verses 20–21 (Brenton).

Chapter 12

1 And Yahweh sent Nathan to David. He came to him and said to him, "There were two men in one city, the one rich and the other poor. 2
The rich man had flocks and herds in great abundance; 3 but the poor man had nothing except one little ewe lamb, which he had bought and kept alive. And it grew up with him and with his children together.
It would eat of his own morsel and drink from his own cup and lie in his bosom, and it was to him as a daughter. 4 Now a traveler arrived at the rich man's house, and the rich man was unwilling to take an animal from his own flock or herd to cook a meal for the visitor who had come to him. He took the poor man's lamb instead and prepared it for his guest." 5 Then David's anger was greatly kindled against the man, and he said to Nathan, "As Yahweh lives, the man who did this is a son of death![a] 6 And he shall restore the lamb fourfold,[b] because he did this thing and because he had no pity." 7 Nathan said to David, "You are the man! This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: 'I anointed you king over Israel, and I rescued you from Saul's hand. 8 I gave you your master's house and your master's wives into your bosom, and gave you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if that had been too little, I would have added to you as much again. 9 Why have you despised Yahweh's word,[c] doing what is evil in his sight? You killed Uriah the Hittite with the sword and took his wife as your own; you murdered him with the sword of the Ammonites. 10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from your house, because you have despised me and have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be your wife.' 11 This is what Yahweh says: 'I will bring trouble on you from your own household. Before your eyes I will take your wives and give them to another man, and he will sleep with them in broad daylight. 12 For you did it secretly, but I will do this thing before all Israel and before the sun.'" 13 David said to Nathan, "I have sinned against Yahweh." And Nathan said to David, "Yahweh also has put away your sin; you shall not die. 14 Nevertheless, because by this deed you have utterly scorned the enemies of Yahweh,[d] the child also who is born to you shall surely die." 15 Then Nathan went to his house. And Yahweh struck the child that Uriah's wife bore to David, and it became very sick. 16 David therefore sought God for the child. And David fasted and went in and lay all night on the ground. 17 The elders of his house stood beside him to raise him up from the ground, but he was not willing, and he ate no bread with them. 18 On the seventh day the child died. David's servants were afraid to tell him that the child was dead, for they said, "While the child was still alive, we spoke to him and he paid no attention to our voice. How can we tell him that the child is dead? He may do himself harm." 19 But when David saw that his servants were whispering together, David perceived that the child was dead. And David said to his servants, "Is the child dead?" They said, "He is dead." 20 David got up from the ground, washed, anointed himself, and changed his clothes. He went into Yahweh's house and worshiped. Then he went home, asked for food, and they set it before him, and he ate. 21 His servants said to him, "What is this you are doing? You fasted and wept for the child while he was still living, yet when the child died you got up and ate food." 22 He said, "While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept, for I said,

‘Who knows whether Yahweh will be gracious to me, that the child may live?’ 23 But now he is dead. Why should I fast? Can I bring him back again? I shall go to him, but he will not return to me.” 24 Then David comforted Bathsheba his wife, and went in to her and lay with her, and she bore a son, and he called his name Solomon.[e]
And Yahweh loved him 25 and sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet, and he called his name Jedidiah,[f] because of Yahweh.
26 Now Joab fought against Rabbah of the sons of Ammon and took the royal city. 27 Joab sent messengers to David with the message, “I have fought against Rabbah and captured the water city.[g] 28 Now therefore gather the rest of the people together and encamp against the city and take it, lest I take the city and my name be called over it.” 29 So David gathered all the people together and went to Rabbah and fought against it and took it. 30 He took the crown of their king[h] from his head. Its weight was about seventy-five pounds[i] of gold, with a precious stone, and it was set on David’s head. And he brought out the spoil of the city, a very great amount. 31 And the people that were in it he brought forth and set them at saws and at sledges of iron and at axes of iron, and made them toil in the brickworks.[j] So he dealt with every city of the sons of Ammon. And David returned with all the people to Jerusalem.

Notes

- a (12:5) That is, deserves to die.
- b (12:6) So the Hebrew (compare Exodus 22:1). The Septuagint reads “seven-fold” (reported).
- c (12:9) Some Septuagint manuscripts read “despised Yahweh” (reported); compare verse 10.
- d (12:14) The Hebrew includes “the enemies of,” probably as a scribal softening to avoid saying David scorned Yahweh himself. The Septuagint reads the same (Brenton, “given great occasion of provocation to the enemies of the Lord”).
- e (12:24) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads “she called.”
- f (12:25) Jedidiah means “beloved of Yahweh.” The Septuagint reads “Jeddedi” (Brenton).
- g (12:27) That is, the part of the city that controlled the water supply.
- h (12:30) Or “of Milcom,” the Ammonite god (1 Kings 11:5); the Hebrew malkam can be read either way. The Septuagint reads “Molchom their king” (Brenton).
- i (12:30) Hebrew “a talent,” about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).

- j (12:31) So the traditional reading (qere), describing forced labor. The written text (ketiv) reads “made them pass through Malkan,” perhaps a reference to Molech worship (uncertain). The Septuagint reads “put them under the saw … and made them pass through the brick kiln” (Brenton, modernized), which some understand as execution (scholarly review).

Chapter 13

1 Now after this it came to pass that Absalom the son of David had a fair sister whose name was Tamar.[a] And Amnon the son of David loved her. 2 Amnon became so tormented over his sister Tamar that he fell ill, for she was a virgin, and it seemed out of reach for Amnon to do anything to her. 3 But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jon-adab,[b] the son of Shimeah, David’s brother. And Jonadab was a very shrewd man. 4 He said to him, “Why are you so lean from morning to morning, son of the king? Will you not tell me?” Amnon said to him, “I love Tamar, the sister of Absalom my brother.” 5 Jonadab said to him, “Lay yourself upon your bed and make yourself sick. When your father comes in to look on you, tell him, ‘Pray, let Tamar my sister come and feed me with bread, and let her make the dish before my eyes, so that I may watch and eat from her hand.’” 6 So Amnon lay down and feigned sickness. And the king came in to look on him, and Amnon said to the king, “Pray, let Tamar my sister come and make a couple of cakes before my eyes, that I may eat from her hand.” 7 Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, “Go now to your brother Amnon’s house and prepare food for him.” 8 So Tamar went to the house of Amnon her brother, and he was lying in bed. And she took dough and kneaded it and made cakes in his sight and baked the cakes. 9 And she took the pan and poured them out before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, “Send everyone out from me.” So everyone went out from him. 10 Then Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food into the chamber, that I may eat from your hand.” And Tamar took the cakes she had made and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother. 11 But when she brought them near to him to eat, he took hold of her and said to her, “Come, lie with me, my sister.” 12 “No, my brother,” she answered, “do not force me, because such a thing is never done in Israel. Do not commit this disgrace.[c] 13 As for me, where would I take my disgrace? And you would be counted as one of the fools in Israel. Please, speak to the king; he will not refuse me to you." 14 But he would not listen to her voice. Being stronger than she, he forced her and lay with her.

15 Then Amnon was seized by a hatred of her so intense that it was stronger than the love he had felt for her. "Get up and leave!" he told her. 16 But she said to him, "No, for this wrong in sending me away is greater than the other that you did to me."[d] But he would not listen to her. 17 Then he summoned the lad who attended him and said, "Send this one away from me, out of doors, and fasten the door behind her." 18 She had on her a long-sleeved tunic,[e] for in such robes the king's daughters who were virgins were dressed. So his attendant put her outside and fastened the door behind her. 19 And Tamar put ashes on her head and rent the long-sleeved tunic that was on her. And she put her hand upon her head and went off, crying out as she walked. 20 Her brother Absalom said to her, "Has your brother Amnon[f] been with you? Keep quiet now, my sister; he is your brother. Do not let this weigh on your heart." And Tamar stayed in her brother Absalom's house, a desolate woman.

21 When King David heard of all these things, he was very angry.[g] 22 But Absalom spoke to Amnon neither good nor bad, for Absalom hated Amnon, because he had humbled his sister Tamar.

23 Two whole years later, Absalom held a sheep-shearing in Baal-hazor near Ephraim, and he called all the sons of the king. 24 Absalom came to the king and said, "See now, your servant has sheepshearers. Let the king, I pray, and his servants go with your servant." 25 The king said to Absalom, "No, my son, let us not all go now, lest we be burdensome to you." He pressed him, but he would not go, though he blessed him. 26 Then Absalom said, "If not, please let my brother Amnon go with us." And the king said to him, "Why should he go with you?" 27 But Absalom kept urging him, until he let Amnon and all the king's sons go with him.[h] 28 Then Absalom commanded his young men, saying, "Mark now, when Amnon's heart is merry with wine, and I say to you, 'Strike Amnon,' then kill him. Do not fear. Have not I commanded you? Be courageous and be valiant." 29 So the young men of Absalom did to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. Then all the king's sons arose, and each man mounted his mule and fled.

30 While they were on the road, the tidings reached David: "Absalom has slain every one of the king's sons, and there is not one of them left." 31 Then the king arose and tore his garments and lay on the earth. And all his servants stood by with their clothes torn. 32 But Jonadab son of Shimeah, David's brother, spoke up: "My lord should not think they have killed all the young princes; only Amnon is dead. This has been Absalom's intention[i] ever since the day Amnon violated his sister Tamar. 33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing to his heart, to think that all the king's sons are dead; for Amnon alone is dead."
34 But Absalom fled. And the young man who kept the watch lifted up his eyes and looked, and look, a great company was approaching on the road behind him[j] along the hillside. 35 Jonadab said to the king, "See, the king's sons are coming. According to your servant's word, so it has come to be." 36 As soon as he had finished speaking, look, the king's sons came and lifted up their voice and wept. And the king also and all his servants wept very bitterly. 37 But Absalom fled and went to Talmai the son of Ammihud,[k] king of Geshur. And David mourned for his son day after day. 38 So Absalom fled and went to Geshur, and was there three years. 39 King David's spirit longed to go out[l] to Absalom, for he had been consoled about Amnon's death.

Notes

- a (13:1) Tamar means "palm tree."
- b (13:3) Jonadab means "Yahweh is generous." Shimeah is called Shammah in 1 Samuel 16:9 and Shimea in 1 Chronicles 2:13.
- c (13:12) Hebrew nevalah, a word for gross folly or sacrilege; compare verse 13, "fools" (nevalim).
- d (13:16) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult.
- e (13:18) Or "a robe reaching to the palms and soles" (uncertain); the same phrase describes Joseph's robe (Genesis 37:3).
- f (13:20) Hebrew "Aminon," perhaps a diminutive or a scornful form.
- g (13:21) The Septuagint adds a sentence saying that David did not grieve his son Amnon's spirit, since he loved him as his firstborn (Brenton, modernized). 4QSam-a reportedly contains the same addition.

- h (13:27) The Septuagint adds “and Absalom made a banquet like the banquet of the king” (Brenton, modernized).
- i (13:32) Literally “mouth.”
- j (13:34) So the Hebrew; the meaning is uncertain. The Septuagint adds “by the way of Horonaim” (Brenton, “by the way of Oronen,” modernized) and a report to the king.
- k (13:37) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads “Ammihur.” The Septuagint adds “to the land of Chamaachad” (Brenton).
- l (13:39) The Hebrew is uncertain, literally “and David the king was spent to go out to Absalom.” 4QSam-a reportedly reads “the spirit of the king.” The Septuagint reads “King David ceased to go out after Absalom” (Brenton).

Chapter 14

1 Now Joab the son of Zeruiah perceived that the king’s heart went out to Absalom.[a] 2 Joab sent someone to Tekoa[b] to bring a wise woman from that town, and he said to her, “Please act like a mourner: dress in mourning clothes, do not anoint yourself with oil, and be like a woman who has been grieving over the dead for a long time. 3 Then go to the king and speak these words to him.” And Joab told her what to say.
4 When the woman of Tekoa spoke[c] to the king, she fell on her face to the ground and did obeisance and said, “Save, O king!” 5 And the king said to her, “What troubles you?” She answered, “Truly I am a widow; my husband is dead. 6 And your handmaid had two sons, and they quarreled together in the field. There was no one to part them, and the one struck the other and killed him. 7 Now the whole clan has risen up against your servant. They say, ‘Surrender the one who struck down his brother, so that we may execute him for the life of the brother he killed.’ That would destroy the heir as well. They would put out the one ember I have left, and leave my husband without name or descendant on the earth.” 8 Then the king said to the woman, “Go to your house, and I will give orders concerning you.” 9 The woman of Tekoa said to the king, “Let the guilt be on me, my lord the king, and on my father’s house; the king and his throne are blameless.” 10 “Bring me anyone who speaks against you,” the king said, “and he will never touch you again.” 11 Then she said, “Please let the king remember Yahweh your God, that

12 Then the woman said, "Let your handmaid, I pray, speak a word to my lord the king." He said, "Speak." 13 And the woman said, "Why then have you devised such a thing against the people of God? For in speaking this word the king is as one who is guilty, in that the king does not bring home again his banished one. 14 For we must surely die, and are as water spilled on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again. But God does not take away a life; he devises means so that the banished one is not cast out from him. 15 The reason I have come to say this to my lord the king is that the people have frightened me. So your servant thought, 'Let me speak to the king; perhaps the king will grant his servant's request. 16 For the king will listen, to rescue his handmaid out of the grasp of the man who seeks to cut off both me and my son together from God's inheritance.' 17 Then your handmaid said, 'Let the word of my lord the king be for rest,' for as a messenger[d] of God, so is my lord the king to discern good and evil. And may Yahweh your God be with you!"
18 The king answered the woman, "Please do not conceal from me anything I ask you." "Let my lord the king speak," the woman said. 19 The king asked, "Is Joab's hand behind all this?" The woman replied, "As you live, my lord the king, no one can turn right or left from anything my lord the king says. It was your servant Joab who instructed me, and he told me everything to say to your servant. 20 To change the face of the matter your servant Joab has done this thing. But my lord is wise, according to the wisdom of a messenger of God, to know all things that are in the earth."
21 The king then said to Joab, "Very well, I will do this. Go and bring the young man Absalom back." 22 Joab fell with his face to the ground, bowed low, and blessed the king. "Today your servant knows that I have found favor with you, my lord the king," said Joab, "because the king has granted his servant's request." 23 So Joab arose and went to Geshur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. 24 The king said, "Let him turn to his own house; but my face he shall not see." So Absalom turned to his own house and did not see the king's face.

25 Now in all Israel there was none to be so much praised as Absalom for his beauty. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. 26 And when he polled his head (it was at every year's end that he polled it, because it weighed heavily on him; therefore he polled it), he weighed the hair of his head, about five pounds[e] by the king's weight. 27 There were born to Absalom three sons and one daughter, whose name was Tamar. She was a woman fair to look upon.[f]
28 Absalom lived in Jerusalem for two full years without once seeing the king's face. 29 Then Absalom sent for Joab, to send him to the king, but he would not come to him. And he sent again a second time, but he would not come. 30 Therefore he said to his servants, "See, Joab's field is next to mine, and he has barley there. Go and set it on fire." So Absalom's servants set the field on fire.[g] 31 Then Joab arose and came to Absalom at his house and said to him, "Why have your servants set my field on fire?" 32 Absalom told Joab, "I sent word to you, 'Come here, so that I can send you to the king to ask, "Why did I come back from Geshur? I would be better off still there."' Now let me see the king's face; and if there is any fault in me, let him have me killed." 33 So Joab went to the king and told him. And he called for Absalom. He came to the king and bowed himself on his face to the ground before the king, and the king kissed Absalom.

Notes

- a (14:1) Or "was against Absalom." The Hebrew can be read either way.
- b (14:2) Tekoa was a town about 6 miles (10 kilometers) south of Bethlehem, later the home of the prophet Amos.
- c (14:4) So many Hebrew manuscripts, the Septuagint, and other versions (reported). The traditional Hebrew text reads "said."
- d (14:17) Or "angel." Likewise in verse 20.
- e (14:26) Hebrew "200 shekels," about 5 pounds (2.3 kilograms). The Septuagint likewise reads "two hundred shekels according to the royal shekel" (Brenton).
- f (14:27) The Septuagint adds, "and she becomes the wife of Rehoboam son of Solomon, and she bears to him Abijah" (Brenton, modernized). Compare 1 Kings 15:2, where Abijah's mother is called Maacah daughter of Abishalom.

- g (14:30) The Septuagint, and 4QSam-a reportedly, add that Joab's servants came to him with torn clothes and told him that Absalom's servants had set the field on fire (Brenton, paraphrased).

Chapter 15

1 After this it came about that Absalom prepared for himself a chariot and horses, and fifty men to run before him. 2 Absalom would get up early and stand beside the road leading to the city gate. Whenever any man with a lawsuit was on his way to the king for a decision, Absalom would call to him and ask, "What town are you from?" and when he answered, "Your servant is from one of the tribes of Israel," 3 then Absalom would tell him, "Look, your matters are sound and just, but there is none from the king to give you a hearing." 4 Absalom would say moreover, "O that I were made judge in the land! Then every man who had a dispute or a cause might come to me, and I would do him justice." 5 And whenever a man came near to do him obeisance, he would stretch out his hand and seize him and kiss him.
6 In this manner Absalom did to all Israel who came to the king for judgment. So Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel.
7 At the end of forty years[a] Absalom said to the king, "Let me go, I pray, and pay my vow, which I have vowed to Yahweh, in Hebron. 8 While I was living at Geshur in Aram, your servant made a vow: 'If Yahweh truly brings me back to Jerusalem, I will worship Yahweh.'"[b] 9 The king said to him, "Go in peace." So he arose and went to Hebron. 10 Absalom sent secret messengers to all the tribes of Israel with this instruction:
"As soon as you hear the sound of the trumpet, say, 'Absalom has become king in Hebron!'" 11 Now with Absalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, men who had been called, and they went in their simplicity and knew nothing at all. 12 And while he was offering the sacrifices, Absalom sent for Ahithophel[c] the Gilonite, David's counselor, from his city, from Giloh. So the plot became mighty, for the people with Absalom grew ever more in number.
13 A messenger came to David, saying, "The hearts of the men of Israel have gone after Absalom." 14 David told all his servants who were with him in Jerusalem, "Come, let us flee, or we will not escape from Absalom. Hurry and leave, in case he catches up with us quickly, brings disaster down on us, and puts the city to the sword." 15 The king's servants said to the king, "Look, your servants are ready to do whatever my lord the king shall choose." 16 So the king went out, and all his household after him. And the king left ten concubines to keep the house. 17 And the king went out, and all the people after him, and they halted at the Far House.[d] 18 All his servants marched past at his side, together with all the Cherethites, all the Pelethites, and all the Gittites, six hundred men who had followed him from Gath, and they marched past the king.[e]

19 Then the king said to Ittai[f] the Gittite, "Why do you also go with us? Go back and stay with the king, for you are a foreigner and also an exile from your own place. 20 Yesterday was your coming, and today shall I make you go up and down with us, when I myself go wherever I can go? Return, and take back your brothers with you. Steadfast love and faithfulness be with you."[g] 21 But Ittai answered the king, "As Yahweh lives, and as my lord the king lives, wherever my lord the king may be, whether in death or in life, your servant will be there too." 22 David said to Ittai, "Go on and cross over." So Ittai of Gath went across, with all his men and all the children who were with him. 23 And the whole country was weeping with a great voice while all the people crossed over. And the king went over the brook Kidron,[h] and all the people passed on toward the way of the wilderness.

24 And look, Zadok also came, and all the Levites with him, carrying the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God, and Abiathar went up,[i] until all the people had finished passing out of the city. 25 Then the king said to Zadok, "Carry back the ark of God into the city. If I find favor in the eyes of Yahweh, he will cause me to return and will show me it and the place where it dwells. 26 But if he says thus, 'I have no delight in you,' here I am; let him do to me as seems good to him." 27 The king said also to Zadok the priest, "Are you a seer?[j] Return in peace to the city, you and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz your son and Jonathan son of Abiathar. 28 See, I will wait at the fords[k] of the wilderness until word comes from you to inform me." 29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar returned the ark of God to Jerusalem, and there they stayed.

30 But David went up by the ascent of the Mount of Olives, weeping as he went up, with his head covered, and he went barefoot. And all the people who were with him covered every man his head, and they went up, weeping as they went. 31 David was told, "Ahithophel is one of the conspirators with Absalom." So David prayed, "Yahweh, please turn Ahithophel's advice into foolishness." 32 When David came to the summit, where God was worshiped, look, Hushai[l] the Archite came to meet him with his coat torn and earth upon his head. 33 David said to him, "If you pass on with me, you will be a burden to me. 34 But if you return to the city and say to Absalom, 'Your servant I will be, O king; I was your father's servant formerly, and now I am yours,' then you shall bring to nothing for me the advice of Ahithophel. 35 And are there not with you Zadok and Abiathar the priests? So it shall be that every word you hear out of the king's house, you shall report it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests. 36 Look, they have there with them their two sons, Ahimaaz of Zadok and Jonathan of Abiathar; and by their hand you shall send me every word you hear." 37 So Hushai, David's friend, came into the city, just as Absalom was coming into Jerusalem.

Notes

- a (15:7) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint (Brenton, "after forty years"). Some Septuagint manuscripts, the Syriac, and Josephus reportedly read "four years," which fits the context better (scholarly review).
- b (15:8) Some Septuagint manuscripts reportedly add "in Hebron."
- c (15:12) Ahithophel means "brother of folly" (uncertain), perhaps a scribal alteration. Giloh was a town in the hill country of Judah. The Septuagint reads "the Theconite … from Gola" (Brenton).
- d (15:17) Hebrew Beth-merhak, perhaps the last house of the city.
- e (15:18) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult. The Septuagint has a longer text (Brenton).
- f (15:19) Ittai means "with me" (uncertain).
- g (15:20) So the Septuagint (reported). The Hebrew reads "take back your brothers with you, steadfast love and faithfulness."
- h (15:23) Kidron means "dark" or "turbid," the valley east of Jerusalem.
- i (15:24) Or "offered sacrifices." The Hebrew is uncertain.
- j (15:27) The Hebrew is uncertain; perhaps "Do you see?" The Septuagint reads "Behold, you shall return" (Brenton, modernized).
- k (15:28) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads "the plains."

• l (15:32) Hushai means “quick” (uncertain).

Chapter 16

1 When David had gone a little past the summit, there was Ziba, Mephibosheth’s servant, waiting to meet him with a pair of saddled donkeys carrying two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred raisin cakes, a hundred bunches of summer fruit,[a] and a skin of wine. 2 The king said to Ziba, “What do you mean by these?” Ziba said, “The donkeys are for the king’s household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for any who grow faint in the wilderness.” 3 The king asked, “Where is your master’s son?” Ziba answered the king, “He is staying in Jerusalem, because he said, ‘Today the house of Israel will give back to me my father’s kingdom.’” 4 Then the king said to Ziba, “Look, everything of Mephibosheth’s is yours.” And Ziba said, “I bow myself; may I find grace in your sight, my lord the king.”
5 As King David approached Bahurim,[b] a man from the family of Saul’s house came out from there, named Shimei[c] son of Gera. He cursed continually as he came out. 6 And he threw stones at David and at all the servants of King David, while all the people and all the mighty men were on his right hand and on his left. 7 And thus said Shimei as he cursed: “Go out, go out, man of bloodshed, base fellow![d] 8 Yahweh has paid you back for all the bloodshed in the house of Saul, whose throne you took, and Yahweh has handed the kingdom over to your son Absalom. Look at you, ruined by your own wrongdoing, because you are a man of blood!” 9 Then Abishai the son of Zeruiah said to the king, “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Let me go over, I pray, and take off his head.” 10 But the king said, “What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah? If he is cursing because[e] Yahweh has said to him, ‘Curse David,’ who then shall say, ‘Why have you done so?’” 11 David said to Abishai and all his servants, “My own son, who came from my body, is trying to kill me; how much more this Benjamite! Leave him alone and let him curse, for Yahweh has told him to. 12 It may be that Yahweh will look on my affliction,[f] and that Yahweh will repay me with good for his cursing this day." 13 So David and his men went along the road, and Shimei walked along the side of the hill alongside him, cursing as he walked, and he hurled stones over against him and threw dust.

14 The king and all the people with him arrived exhausted,[g] and there he rested.
15 Now Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahithophel with him. 16 When Hushai the Archite, David's friend, came to Absalom, Hushai said to Absalom, "Long live the king! Long live the king!" 17 Absalom said to Hushai, "Is this the kindness you show your companion? Why did you not go with your companion?" 18 Hushai said to Absalom, "No, but whom Yahweh and this people and all the men of Israel have chosen, his will I be, and with him I will remain. 19 And again, whom should I serve? Should it not be his son? As I have served in your father's presence, so will I be in your presence." 20 Then Absalom said to Ahithophel, "Give your counsel. What shall we do?" 21 Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Go in to your father's concubines, whom he has left to keep the house. All Israel will then hear that you have become a stench to your father, and the hands of all your supporters will grow strong." 22 They spread for Absalom the tent upon the housetop, and Absalom went in unto his father's concubines before the eyes of all Israel. 23 In those days the advice Ahithophel gave was regarded as if a man had consulted the word of God. That was how highly all of Ahithophel's advice was valued by both David and Absalom.

Notes

- a (16:1) Probably cakes of summer fruit such as figs. The Septuagint reads "a hundred cakes of dates" (Brenton).
- b (16:5) Bahurim means "young men," a village east of Jerusalem near the Mount of Olives.
- c (16:5) Shimei means "heard" (short for "Yahweh has heard"). Gera means "grain" (uncertain).
- d (16:7) Hebrew "man of Belial."
- e (16:10) So the traditional reading (qere). The written text reads "If he curses, and if."

- f (16:12) So the Septuagint (Brenton, "look on my affliction") and other ancient versions. The written Hebrew text reads "on my iniquity"; the traditional reading (qere) reads "on my eye," perhaps "my tears."
- g (16:14) The Hebrew reads "arrived weary" without naming a place; perhaps a place name, ʿAyephim, has dropped out (compare 17:22, "the Jordan").

Chapter 17

1 Moreover, Ahithophel said to Absalom, "Let me now choose twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue after David this night. 2 I will come upon him while he is weary and his hands are slack, and I will make him tremble, and all the people who are with him will flee. And I will strike the king alone. 3 And I will bring back all the people to you. The man whom you seek is as the return of all;[a] so all the people shall be at peace." 4 And the saying pleased Absalom and all the elders of Israel.
5 Then Absalom said, "Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise what is in his mouth." 6 When Hushai came to Absalom, Absalom spoke to him, saying, "Thus has Ahithophel spoken. Shall we do according to his word? If not, you speak." 7 Then Hushai said to Absalom, "The counsel that Ahithophel has given this time is not good." 8 Hushai added, "You know that your father and his men are warriors, and they are in a fierce mood, like a bear in the wild robbed of her cubs. Your father is also an experienced fighter, and he will not spend the night with the troops. 9 Look, he is hidden now in one of the pits or in some other place. And it will come to pass, when some of them fall at the first, that whoever hears it will say, 'There has been a slaughter among the people who follow Absalom.' 10 Then even the valiant man, whose heart is as the heart of a lion, will utterly melt. For all Israel knows that your father is a mighty man, and those who are with him are valiant men. 11 Therefore I counsel that all Israel be gathered to you, from Dan even to Beersheba, as the sand that is by the sea for multitude, and that you go to battle in your own person.[b] 12 So shall we come upon him in some place where he shall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falls on the ground.
And of him and of all the men who are with him there shall not be left even one. 13 And if he gathers himself into a town, then all Israel will carry cords to that town, and we will haul it down into the ravine, until not even a pebble is found there." 14 Absalom and all the men of Israel said, "The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel." For Yahweh had ordained to defeat the good counsel of Ahithophel, to the intent that Yahweh might bring evil upon Absalom.

15 Then Hushai said to Zadok and to Abiathar the priests, "Thus and thus did Ahithophel counsel Absalom and the elders of Israel, and thus and thus have I counseled. 16 Now therefore send quickly and tell David, saying, 'Do not lodge this night at the fords of the wilderness, but by all means pass over, lest the king be swallowed up, and all the people who are with him.'" 17 Jonathan and Ahimaaz were staying beside En-rogel.[c] A servant girl used to go and bring them word, and they would go and tell King David, for they dared not be seen coming into the city. 18 But a lad saw them and told Absalom. So the two of them went away quickly and came to the house of a man in Bahurim, who had a well in his courtyard, and they went down into it. 19 The woman took a covering, spread it over the mouth of the well, and scattered grain over it, so that nothing was noticed. 20 When Absalom's servants reached the woman at the house, they asked, "Where are Ahimaaz and Jonathan?" She said to them, "They went across the brook."[d] They searched and found no one, so they returned to Jerusalem.

21 After they had left, the two climbed out of the well and went to inform King David. "Get up and cross the river quickly," they told him, "for Ahithophel has advised this against you." 22 Then David arose, and all the people who were with him, and they crossed the Jordan. By the morning light not one of them was lacking who had not crossed the Jordan.

23 When Ahithophel saw that his counsel was not followed, he saddled his donkey and arose and went home to his city. He set his house in order and hanged himself, and he died and was buried in the tomb of his father.

24 David arrived at Mahanaim, and Absalom crossed the Jordan with all the men of Israel. 25 Absalom set Amasa[e] over the army in place of Joab. Now Amasa was the son of a man named Ithra the Israelite,[f] who had gone in to Abigal the daughter of Nahash, sister of Zeruiah, Joab's mother. 26 And Israel and Absalom encamped in the land of Gilead.

27 When David came to Mahanaim, Shobi the son of Nahash of Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammiel of Lo-debar, and Barzillai[g] the Gileadite of Rogelim, 28 brought couches, bowls, and pottery vessels, also wheat and barley, meal and roasted grain, beans and lentils and roasted seeds,[h] 29 honey, curds, sheep, and cheese from cows, for David and his people to eat, for they said, "The people are hungry, tired, and thirsty out in the wilderness."

Notes

- a (17:3) The Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "as a bride returns to her husband: only you seek the life of one man" (Brenton, modernized).
- b (17:11) Hebrew "your face going into battle." Some ancient versions reportedly read "in their midst."
- c (17:17) En-rogel means "spring of the fuller" (uncertain), just south of Jerusalem.
- d (17:20) The meaning of the Hebrew word mikhal is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "gone a little way beyond the water" (Brenton).
- e (17:25) Amasa means "burden" (uncertain).
- f (17:25) So the Hebrew. First Chronicles 2:17 reads "Jether the Ishmaelite"; the Septuagint reads "Jether of Jezreel" (Brenton). Abigal is a form of Abigail.
- g (17:27) Shobi perhaps means "captor" (uncertain). Barzillai means "man of iron." Rogelim means "fullers."

Chapter 18

1 Then David mustered the people who were with him and set over them captains of thousands and captains of hundreds. 2 And David sent out the people, a third under the hand of Joab, a third under the hand of Abishai the son of Zeruiah, Joab's brother, and a third under the hand of Ittai the Gittite. And the king said to the people, "I will surely go out with you myself also." 3 But the men said, "You must not go out. If we run away, nobody will worry about us, and if half of us are killed, nobody will worry either. But you are worth ten thousand of us.[a] So it is better that you send help to us from the city." 4 "I will do whatever seems best to you," the king told them. So the king stood beside the gate while all the troops marched out in units of hundreds and thousands. 5 And the king commanded Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, "Deal gently for my sake with the young man, with Absalom." And all the people heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Absalom.

6 So the people went out into the field against Israel, and the battle was in the forest of Ephraim.[b] 7 The people of Israel were beaten there before the servants of David, and there was a great slaughter there that day, twenty thousand men. 8 For the battle there was spread over the face of all the country, and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword devoured.

9 Absalom chanced upon the servants of David. Absalom was riding on his mule, and the mule passed beneath the tangled boughs of a great oak, and his head was caught fast in the oak, and he was hung up[c] between the heavens and the earth, and the mule beneath him passed on. 10 And a certain man saw it and told Joab, "Look, I saw Absalom hanging in an oak." 11 Joab said to the man who told him, "And look, you saw him! Why then did you not strike him down there to the ground? It would have been on me to give you ten pieces of silver[d] and a belt." 12 But the man replied to Joab, "Even if a thousand pieces of silver[e] were weighed into my hands, I would not raise my hand against the king's son. We heard the king command you, Abishai, and Ittai, 'Protect[f] the young man Absalom for me.' 13 Else, had I wrought treachery against his life[g]—and no matter is hid from the king—you yourself would have stood off from me." 14 Then Joab said, "I may not linger thus with you." And he took three darts[h] in his hand and thrust them into the heart of Absalom while he was yet alive in the midst of the oak. 15 And ten young men who carried Joab's armor surrounded Absalom and struck him and killed him.

16 Then Joab blew the horn, and the people returned from pursuing after Israel, for Joab held back the people. 17 They took Absalom and cast him into the great pit in the forest and raised over him a very great heap of stones. And all Israel fled, each man to his tent. 18 Now Absalom in his lifetime had taken and set up for himself the pillar which is in the King's Valley, for he said, "I have no son to keep my name in remembrance."[i] And he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called Absalom's Monument to this day.

19 Then Ahimaaz the son of Zadok said, "Let me now run and carry the king tidings, how Yahweh has delivered him from the hand of his enemies." 20 Joab said to him, "You shall not be the bearer of tidings this day; you shall bear tidings another day. But this day you shall bear no tidings, because the king's son is dead." 21 Then Joab said to the Cushite,[j] "Go, tell the king what you have seen." The Cushite bowed himself to Joab and ran. 22 Ahimaaz son of Zadok again said to Joab, "Whatever happens, please let me run after the Cushite too." Joab asked, "Why run, my son? You will get no reward for this news." 23 "Whatever happens," he said, "I want to run." "Run, then," Joab told him. So Ahimaaz ran by way of the plain[k] and passed the Cushite.
24 Now David was sitting between the two gates. The watchman went up to the roof over the gate by the wall, and he lifted up his eyes and looked, and there was a man running alone. 25 The watchman called out and told the king. The king said, "If he is alone, he has news to report." The runner kept coming closer. 26 Then the watchman spotted another man running. He shouted to the gatekeeper, "Look, a man running alone again!" "That one is bringing news too," said the king. 27 The watchman said, "I think the running of the foremost is like the running of Ahimaaz the son of Zadok." And the king said, "He is a good man and comes with good tidings." 28 Then Ahimaaz called out and said to the king, "All is well!"[l] And he bowed himself before the king with his face to the earth and said, "Blessed be Yahweh your God, who has delivered up the men who lifted up their hand against my lord the king!" 29 The king asked, "Is the young man Absalom safe?" Ahimaaz answered, "When Joab was sending off the king's servant, and your servant as well, I saw a huge uproar, but I did not know what it was about." 30 The king said, "Turn aside and stand here." So he turned aside and stood still. 31 And look, the Cushite came, and the Cushite said, "Let my lord the king receive tidings! For Yahweh has judged for you today against the hand of all those rising against you." 32 The king said to the Cushite, "Is it well with the young man Absalom?" The Cushite answered, "May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise up against you to do you harm, be as that young man is."

33 The king was shaken. He went up to the room over the gateway and wept, and as he went he said, "My son Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! If only I had died instead of you, Absalom, my son, my son!"[m]

Chapter 19

1 It was told Joab, "Look, the king weeps and mourns for Absalom."[a] 2 So the victory that day was turned into mourning for all the people, for the people heard it said that day, "The king grieves for his son." 3 And the people crept into the city on that day, the way a people creeps in that is put to shame by fleeing in the fight. 4 But the king covered his face, and the king cried with a loud voice, "O my son Absalom, O Absalom, my son, my son!"

5 Joab went into the house to the king and said, “Today you have humiliated all your servants, who today saved your life, and the lives of your sons and daughters, your wives, and your concubines, 6 in that you love your haters and hate your lovers. For you have made known today that princes and servants count for nothing with you.
For this day I know that had Absalom lived and we all died this day, that would have been pleasing in your sight. 7 Now then, rise, go forth and speak kindly to your servants. For by Yahweh I swear, unless you go forth, not one man will stay the night with you; and that will be a greater evil to you than every evil that has come upon you from your youth until now.” 8 Then the king arose and sat in the gate. And they told all the people, saying, “Look, the king is sitting in the gate.”
And all the people came before the king. Now Israel had fled, every man to his tent. 9 Throughout all the tribes of Israel the people were quarreling and saying, “The king delivered us from our enemies’ grip and rescued us from Philistine power, yet now he has had to flee the land because of Absalom. 10 But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in the battle. So now, why are you silent about returning the king?”
11 King David sent word to the priests Zadok and Abiathar: “Tell the elders of Judah, ‘Why should you be the last to bring the king back to his palace, when what all Israel is saying has already reached the king at his house?[b] 12 You are my brothers; you are my bone and my flesh. Why then should you be the last to bring back the king?’ 13 And say to Amasa, ‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? God do so to me and more also, if you shall not be commander of the army before me continually in the place of Joab.’” 14 So he swayed the heart of all the men of Judah as one man, and they sent word to the king, “Return, you and all your servants.” 15 So the king returned and came to the Jordan. And Judah came to Gilgal to go to meet the king, to bring the king over the Jordan.
16 Shimei the Benjamite, son of Gera, from Bahurim, hurried and went down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17 And a thousand men of Benjamin were with him, and Ziba the servant of Saul’s house, and his fifteen sons and his twenty servants with him; and they rushed down to the Jordan before the king. 18 They crossed the ford[c] to carry the king's household over and to do whatever he wished. As the king was about to cross the Jordan, Shimei son of Gera threw himself down before him 19 and he said to the king, "Let not my lord reckon iniquity to me, nor remember how your servant did perversely on the day my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, that the king should take it to his heart. 20 For your servant knows that I have sinned. Therefore, look, I have come today, the first of all the house of Joseph, to go down to meet my lord the king." 21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said, "Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he cursed the anointed of Yahweh?" 22 But David said, "What have I to do with you, you sons of Zeruiah, that you should this day become an adversary[d] to me? Shall any man be put to death in Israel today? Am I not sure that today I am king over Israel?" 23 The king told Shimei, "You will not die," and gave him his oath.

24 Then Mephibosheth the son of Saul came down to meet the king. He had not dressed his feet nor trimmed his beard nor washed his clothes, from the day the king departed until the day he came again in peace. 25 And when he came from Jerusalem[e] to meet the king, the king asked him, "For what reason did you not go along with me, Mephibosheth?" 26 He answered, "My lord the king, my servant deceived me. Your servant had planned to say, 'I will have a donkey saddled so that I can ride and go with the king,' because your servant is lame. 27 And he has slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is as an angel of God. Do therefore what is good in your eyes. 28 For all my father's house were nothing but men of death before my lord the king, yet you placed your servant with those eating at your table. What right more have I, that I should still cry to the king?" 29 The king said to him, "Why say more about your affairs? I have decided: you and Ziba will divide the land." 30 And Mephibosheth said to the king, "Indeed, let him take it all, since my lord the king has come safely to his own house."

31 Now Barzillai the Gileadite had come down from Rogelim, and he crossed to the Jordan with the king, to send him on his way across the Jordan. 32 Barzillai was very old, eighty years of age. He had supplied the king with food during his stay at Mahanaim, for he was a man of great wealth. 33 And the king said to Barzillai, "Cross over with me, and I will provide for you with me in Jerusalem." 34 But Barzillai said to the king, "How many are the days of the years of my life, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? 35 Today I am eighty years old. Can I distinguish good from bad? Can your servant savor what he eats or drinks? Can I still listen to the voices of male and female singers? So why should your servant add to my lord the king's load? 36 Your servant would go just a little way over the Jordan with the king. And why should the king repay me with such a reward? 37 Let your servant go back, please, so that I can die in my hometown near the grave of my father and mother. But your servant Chimham[f] is here. Let him cross over with my lord the king, and do for him whatever you think good." 38 And the king answered, "Chimham shall go over with me, and I will do to him whatever is good in your eyes; and all that you choose to ask of me, that will I do for you." 39 Then all the people went over the Jordan, and the king went over. And the king kissed Barzillai and blessed him, and he returned to his own place.

40 When the king crossed over to Gilgal, Chimham crossed along with him. All the troops of Judah and half the troops of Israel brought the king across. 41 And look, all the men of Israel came to the king and said to the king, "Why have our brothers the men of Judah stolen you away and brought the king and his household over the Jordan, and all David's men with him?" 42 The men of Judah answered the men of Israel, "It is because the king is a near relative of ours. Why does this make you angry? Have we eaten at the king's expense? Have we taken any gift for ourselves?" 43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Judah, "Ten parts in the king are ours, and in David too we have a greater claim than you.[g] Why then have you made light of us? Was not our word the first to bring back our king?" But the words of the men of Judah were fiercer than the words of the men of Israel.

Notes

- a (19:1) English 19:1–43 is Hebrew 19:2–44; English 18:33 is Hebrew 19:1. The Septuagint follows the Hebrew numbering.

- b (19:11) The Hebrew places the clause “when the word of all Israel has come to the king” at the end of the verse; the Septuagint has it in the same place (Brenton).
- c (19:18) Hebrew uncertain; perhaps “And the ferry crossed over.”
- d (19:22) Or “a satan,” that is, an accuser or opponent.
- e (19:25) Or “came to Jerusalem.”
- f (19:37) Chimham perhaps means “longing” (uncertain). He is apparently Barzillai’s son (compare 1 Kings 2:7).

Chapter 20

1 A scoundrel[a] named Sheba[b] son of Bichri, a Benjamite, was there by chance. He blew a horn and proclaimed, “We have no part in David, no inheritance in Jesse’s son. Everyone to your tents, Israel!” 2 So all the men of Israel deserted David and followed Sheba son of Bichri, but the men of Judah stayed with their king all the way from the Jordan to Jerusalem.
3 And David came to his house at Jerusalem. And the king took the ten women, his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and placed them in a house of ward and fed them, yet he went not in unto them. So they were shut up until the day of their death, living as in widowhood.
4 Then the king said to Amasa, “Summon me the men of Judah within three days, and you yourself be present here.” 5 Amasa went to summon Judah, but he took longer than the time he had been given. 6 And David said to Abishai, “Now Sheba the son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take your lord’s servants and pursue after him, lest he find for himself fortified cities and escape out of our sight.”[c] 7 Joab’s men, the Cherethites, the Pelethites, and all the warriors marched out after Abishai. They left Jerusalem to pursue Sheba son of Bichri. 8 When they were at the great stone that is in Gibeon, Amasa came to meet them. Now Joab was girded in his soldier’s garment, and over it was a belt with a sword fastened upon his loins in its sheath; and as he went forward, it fell out. 9 And Joab said to Amasa, “Is it well with you, my brother?” And Joab took Amasa by the beard with his right hand to kiss him. 10 Amasa did not notice the sword in Joab’s hand, and Joab stabbed him in the stomach, spilling his intestines on the ground. He did not need to strike him again, and Amasa died. Then Joab and his brother Abishai went on in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri. 11 And one of Joab's young men stood over him and said, "He who delights in Joab, and he who is David's, let him go after Joab." 12 And Amasa lay wallowing in his blood in the middle of the highway. And when the man saw that all the people stood still, he carried Amasa out of the highway into the field and threw a garment over him, since he saw that everyone who came by him stood still. 13 When he was removed from the highway, every man went on after Joab to pursue Sheba the son of Bichri.

14 And Sheba passed through all the tribes of Israel to Abel of Beth-maacah,[d] and all the Bichrites[e] gathered together and followed him in also. 15 They came and besieged him in Abel of Beth-maacah, building a siege ramp against the city that rose against its outer wall. Meanwhile all the troops with Joab were hammering the wall to make it fall. 16 Then a wise woman cried from the city, "Hear, hear! Say, I pray you, to Joab, 'Come near here, that I may speak with you.'" 17 He came near to her, and the woman said, "Are you Joab?" He answered, "I am." Then she said to him, "Hear the words of your maidservant." And he said, "I am listening." 18 Then she spoke, saying, "They used to speak in former times, saying, 'Let them but ask counsel at Abel,' and so they ended the matter.[f] 19 I am of those who are peaceable and faithful in Israel. You seek to destroy a city and a mother in Israel. Why will you swallow up the inheritance of Yahweh?" 20 Joab answered and said, "Far be it, far be it from me, that I should swallow up or destroy! 21 That is not the case. A man from the hill country of Ephraim, named Sheba son of Bichri, has raised his hand against the king, against David. Give him up alone, and I will leave the city." "His head will be tossed to you over the wall," the woman told Joab. 22 Then the woman went to all the people in her wisdom. And they cut off the head of Sheba the son of Bichri and threw it out to Joab. So he blew the horn, and they dispersed from the city, every man to his tents. And Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king.

23 Now Joab was over all the army of Israel, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and over the Pelethites, 24 and

Adoram[g] was in charge of the labor gangs, and Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder, 25 and Sheva was secretary, and Zadok and Abiathar were priests, 26 and also Ira the Jairite[h] was a priest to David.

Notes

- a (20:1) Hebrew "a man of belial."
- b (20:1) Sheba perhaps means "seven" or "oath" (uncertain). Bichri perhaps means "youthful" or "firstborn" (uncertain).
- c (20:6) Hebrew uncertain; literally "and snatch away our eye." The Septuagint reads "so he will blind our eyes" (Brenton, modernized).
- d (20:14) Abel of Beth-maacah means "meadow of the house of Maacah," in the far north.
- e (20:14) So the Hebrew; some ancient versions reportedly read "Berites" or "all the choice men."
- f (20:18) The Septuagint reads a longer saying about asking in Abel and in Dan whether the faithful in Israel had failed (Brenton); some scholars reportedly think "and in Dan" is original.

- h (20:26) The Septuagint reads "Iras the son of Iarin" (Brenton). Jairite refers to the clan of Jair, a Manassite (Numbers 32:41).

Chapter 21

1 Now there was a famine in the days of David for three years, year following year. And David sought the face of Yahweh. And Yahweh said, "It is on account of Saul and his house of blood, because he put the Gibeonites to death." 2 The king summoned the Gibeonites and spoke to them. (The Gibeonites were not Israelites but a remnant of the Amorites; the Israelites had sworn an oath to them,[a] but in his zeal for Israel and Judah Saul had tried to wipe them out.) 3 And David said to the Gibeonites, "What shall I do for you? And with what shall I make atonement, that you may bless the inheritance of Yahweh?" 4
The Gibeonites answered him, "Between us and Saul or his house it is not a question of silver or gold, and we have no right to put anyone in Israel to death." "Then what do you say?" he asked. "I will do it for you." 5 They said to the king, "The man who consumed us and who planned against us, that we should be destroyed from remaining in any of the borders of Israel, 6 let seven men of his sons be given to us, and we will hang them up[b] to Yahweh at Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of Yahweh."[c] And the king said, "I will give them."

7 But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, because of the oath of Yahweh that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. 8 The king took Rizpah daughter of Aiah's two sons by Saul, Armoni and Mephibosheth, along with the five sons that Merab[d] daughter of Saul bore to Adriel son of Barzillai the Meholathite. 9 And he gave them into the hand of the Gibeonites, and they hanged them on the mountain before Yahweh, and the seven of them fell together. They were put to death in the days of harvest, in the first days, at the start of barley harvest.[e]

10 Then Rizpah the daughter of Aiah took sackcloth and spread it for herself upon the rock, from the beginning of harvest until water poured upon them from the heavens. And she let neither the birds of the air settle on them by day nor the beasts of the field by night. 11 When it was told David what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah, the concubine of Saul, had done, 12 David went and collected the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan from the citizens of Jabesh-gilead, who had taken them secretly from the public square of Beth-shan, where the Philistines had hung them the day they defeated Saul on Gilboa. 13 And he brought up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of Jonathan his son, and they gathered the bones of those who were hanged. 14 And they buried the bones of Saul and Jonathan his son in the land of Benjamin in Zela,[f] in the tomb of Kish his father. And they did all that the king commanded. And after that God was moved by entreaty for the land.

15 The Philistines had war again with Israel, and David went down, and his servants with him, and they fought against the Philistines. And David grew weary. 16 And Ishbi-benob,[g] who was one of the descendants of the giants,[h] whose spearhead weighed about 7½ pounds[i] of bronze, and who was girded with something new,[j] thought to kill David. 17 But Abishai son of Zeruiah helped him, and he struck down the Philistine and slew him. Then the men of David took an oath to him, saying, "Never again shall you go forth with us into battle, lest you put out the lamp of Israel."

18 And it came to pass after this that there was once more war with the Philistines at Gob. At that time Sibbecai the Hushathite slew Saph, who was among the offspring of the giants. 19 And there was again a battle with the Philistines at Gob, and Elhanan son of Jaare-oregim, the Bethlehemite, slew Goliath of Gath,[k] and the wood of his spear was like a weaver's beam. 20 And there was again a battle at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot, twenty-four in number; and he also was born to the giant. 21 And when he taunted Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimei,[l] David's brother, struck him down. 22 These four were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

Notes

- a (21:2) See Joshua 9:3–27.
- b (21:6) The exact form of execution is uncertain; perhaps "impale" or "expose." So also verses 9 and 13.
- c (21:6) So the Hebrew. Some scholars, following a reported reading, emend to "on the mountain of Yahweh" (compare verse 9). The Septuagint reads "in Gibeon of Saul, as chosen out for the Lord" (Brenton, modernized).
- d (21:8) So two Hebrew manuscripts and some Septuagint manuscripts (reported); compare 1 Samuel 18:19. Most Hebrew manuscripts and Brenton's Septuagint read "Michal." Armoni perhaps means "of the palace" (uncertain).
- e (21:9) Barley harvest fell in April–May.
- f (21:14) Zela perhaps means "rib" or "side" (uncertain).
- g (21:16) So the traditional reading (qere). Ishbi-benob perhaps means "his dwelling is in Nob" (uncertain).

- j (21:16) Hebrew "girded with a new [thing]"; the noun is missing. The Septuagint reads "girded with a club" (Brenton).
- k (21:19) First Chronicles 20:5 says that Elhanan son of Jair killed Lahmi, brother of Goliath the Gittite. Compare 1 Samuel 17, where David kills Goliath. "Oregim" means "weavers" and may have been copied from the end of the verse. Marked for scholarly review.
- l (21:21) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads "Shimei"; elsewhere he is called Shimeah (13:3) or Shammah (1 Samuel 16:9).

Chapter 22

1 And David spoke to Yahweh the words of this song on the day when Yahweh delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul.[a] 2 He said: "Yahweh is my crag and my stronghold and my deliverer, 3 my God, my rock, in whom I take refuge, my shield and the horn[b] of my salvation, my high retreat and my place of flight, my savior; from violence you save me. 4 I call upon Yahweh, who is to be praised, and from my enemies I am saved.
5 "For the breakers of death encircled me; the torrents of worthless-ness[c] terrified me; 6 the cords of Sheol[d] surrounded me; the snares of death came to meet me. 7 When I was hemmed in, I cried out to Yahweh; unto my God I cried. Out of his temple my voice was heard by him; my cry for help reached his ears.
8 "Then the earth heaved and rocked; the bases of the heavens quiv-ered and tottered, for his anger burned. 9 Smoke rose from his nostrils, and consuming fire from his mouth; burning coals blazed out of him.
10 He bowed the heavens and came down, and thick darkness was under his feet. 11 He rode upon a cherub and flew; he was seen[e] upon the wings of the wind. 12 He made darkness around him his shelters, a gathering of waters, thick clouds of the skies. 13 From the brightness before him coals of fire were kindled. 14 Yahweh thundered from the heavens, and the Most High gave forth his voice. 15 He sent out arrows and scattered them, lightning, and routed them. 16 Then the channels of the sea appeared; the foundations of the world were laid bare at the rebuke of Yahweh, at the blast of the breath of his nostrils.
17 "He sent from on high; he took me; he drew me out of many waters.
18 He delivered me from my strong enemy, from those who hated me, for they were too strong for me. 19 They came upon me in the day of my calamity, but Yahweh was my support. 20 He led me forth into a wide space; he set me free, for he took pleasure in me.
21 "Yahweh dealt with me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands he repaid me. 22 For I have kept the ways of Yahweh, and have not done wickedly against my God. 23 For all his rulings were in front of me, and his decrees I did not put away from me. 24 I was blameless in his sight, and I guarded myself from wrongdoing. 25 And Yahweh has repaid me according to my righteousness, according to my cleanness before his eyes.

26 "To the faithful one you are faithful; to the mighty man of integrity you deal with integrity; 27 to the cleansed one you deal cleanly, but to the twisted one you deal shrewdly. 28 And the afflicted people you save, but your eyes are upon the haughty, to bring them low. 29 For you are my lamp, O Yahweh, and Yahweh lights up my darkness. 30 For with you I rush upon a raiding band; with my God I spring over a rampart. 31 As for God, his way is perfect; Yahweh's word is proven true; he is a shield for all who shelter in him.
32 "For who is God, besides Yahweh? And who is a rock, besides our God? 33 This God is my strong fortress,[f] and he sets the blameless free in his way.[g] 34 He makes my feet like the feet of does, and sets me upon my high places. 35 He teaches my hands to make war, and my arms bend a bronze bow. 36 You have given me the shield of your salvation, and your answering[h] has made me great. 37 You widened my stride beneath me, and my ankles did not slip. 38 I chased my foes and wiped them out; I turned not back till I had made an end of them. 39 I consumed them; I shattered them, so that they did not rise; they fell beneath my feet. 40 You dressed me with strength for the battle; you made my attackers sink beneath me. 41 You gave me the necks of my foes; my haters—I put an end to them. 42 They looked, but there was none to save; they cried to Yahweh, but he did not answer them. 43 I beat them fine as the dust of the earth; I crushed them and stamped them like the mire of the streets.
44 "You delivered me from the strivings of my people;[i] you kept me as the head of the nations; a people whom I had not known served me. 45 Sons of a foreign land came cringing to me; at the hearing of the ear they hearkened to me. 46 Sons of a foreign land faded away and came quaking[j] from their strongholds.
47 "Yahweh lives! Blessed be my rock; exalted be God, the rock who saves me, 48 the God who gives me vengeance and brings down peoples under me, 49 who brings me out from my enemies. You lift me up above those who rise against me; you deliver me from the man of violence. 50 For this I will praise you, O Yahweh, among the nations, and sing praises to your name. 51 He gives great victories[k] to his king and shows faithful love to his anointed, to David and his descendants forever."

Chapter 23

1 These are the last words of David: "David son of Jesse declares, the man raised up on high declares, the anointed of Jacob's God, Israel's sweet singer:[a] 2 "The Spirit of Yahweh speaks by me; his word is upon my tongue. 3 The God of Israel spoke; the Rock of Israel said to me:
'One who rules people with justice, who rules in the fear of God, 4 is like the light of morning when the sun rises, a morning without clouds, when from brightness after rain the tender grass springs out of the earth.'
5 "Is my house not like this with God? He has made an everlasting covenant with me, arranged in every detail and made secure. Will he not make all my salvation and every desire grow?[b] 6 But worthless men[c] are all like thorns thrust away, for they cannot be taken with the hand; 7 and the man who touches them must be armed with iron and a spear's wood, and they are utterly burned with fire in their place."[d] 8 These are the names of the mighty men whom David had: Josheb-basshebeth a Tahchemonite,[e] chief of the three.[f] He was Adino the Eznite; he wielded his spear[g] against eight hundred whom he slew at one time.

9 After him came Eleazar son of Dodo, son of Ahohi, among the three warriors with David when they challenged the Philistines assembled there for battle while the Israelites pulled back. 10 He rose up and struck the Philistines until his hand grew tired and stuck to his sword.
Yahweh brought about a great victory that day, and the troops came back after him only to plunder the dead.
11 And next to him was Shammah son of Agee, a Hararite. When the Philistines had assembled at Lehi,[h] there was a portion of a field full of lentils there, and the people fled before the Philistines. 12 But he took his stand in the midst of the plot and defended it and struck the Philistines. And Yahweh wrought a great salvation.
13 And three of the thirty chief men went down and came at harvest time to David at the cave of Adullam, while a troop of Philistines was encamped in the valley of Rephaim. 14 David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then at Bethlehem.
15 David was longing for water and said, "If only someone would bring me a drink from the well by the gate at Bethlehem!" 16 So the three warriors broke through the Philistine camp, drew water from the well by the gate at Bethlehem, and carried it back to David. But he refused to drink any of it and poured it out to Yahweh 17 and said, "Far be it from me, O Yahweh, that I should do this. Is it not the blood of the men who went with their lives in their hands?" So he was not willing to drink it. These things the three mighty men did.
18 Now Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was chief of the three.[i] And he wielded his spear against three hundred and slew them, and he had a name among the three. 19 Was he not the most honored of the three?[j] And he became their commander, but he did not attain to the three.

20 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was the son of a valiant man[k] of Kabzeel, great in deeds. He struck down the two sons of Ariel[l] of Moab. He also went down and struck a lion in the midst of a pit on a day of snow. 21 He also killed an Egyptian, an impressive man.[m] The Egyptian held a spear, but Benaiah went down against him with a club, wrenched the spear from his hand, and killed him with his own spear. 22 These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and he had a name among the three mighty men. 23 Among the thirty he was honored, yet to the three he did not come. And David appointed him over his bodyguard.[n] 24 Asahel the brother of Joab was one of the thirty; Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, 25 Shammah of Harod, Elika of Harod, 26 Helez the Paltite, Ira the son of Ikkesh of Tekoa, 27 Abiezer of Anathoth, Mebunnai the Hushathite, 28 Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai of Netophah, 29 Heleb son of Baanah from Netophah, and Ittai son of Ribai from Gibeah of the Benjamites, 30 Benaiah of Pirathon, Hiddai of the brooks of Gaash, 31 Abi-albon the Arbathite, Azmaveth of Bahurim, 32 Eliahba of Shaalbon, the sons of Jashen, Jonathan,[o] 33 Shammah the Hararite, Ahiam the son of Sharar the Hararite, 34 Eliphelet son of Ahasbai, the son of the Maacathite; Eliam son of Ahithophel the Gilonite, 35 Hezro of Carmel, Paarai the Arbite, 36 Igal the son of Nathan of Zobah, Bani the Gadite, 37 Zelek the Ammonite, and Naharai the Beerothite, the armor-bearer of Joab son of Zeruiah, 38 Ira the Ithrite, and also Gareb the Ithrite, 39 and Uriah the Hittite—thirty-seven in all.[p]

Notes

- a (23:1) Or “the favorite of the songs of Israel,” or “the delight of the Strong One of Israel” (uncertain). The Septuagint reads “and beautiful are the psalms of Israel” (Brenton, modernized).
- b (23:5) Or as a statement: “For he will cause to sprout all my salvation and all my desire.”
- c (23:6) Hebrew “belial.”
- d (23:7) Hebrew “in the sitting” (uncertain); perhaps “on the spot.”
- e (23:8) Josheb-basshebeth means “one who sits in the seat” (uncertain). First Chronicles 11:11 reads “Jashobeam, a Hachmonite”; the Septuagint reads “Jebosthe the Chananite” (Brenton), which may reflect Ishbosheth or Ishbaal (compare 2:8). Marked for scholarly review.

- f (23:8) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads “the captain” or “of the third ones.” Some Septuagint manuscripts reportedly read “of the three.”
- g (23:8) So 1 Chronicles 11:11 and the Septuagint (Brenton, “he drew his sword against eight hundred”), in part. The Hebrew phrase “He was Adino the Eznite” is uncertain; Chronicles has instead “he wielded his spear,” and reads “three hundred.” Marked for scholarly review.
- h (23:11) Or “at Lehi” (compare Judges 15:9); possibly “in a troop.” Lehi means “jawbone.”
- i (23:18) So the Hebrew; two Hebrew manuscripts and the Syriac reportedly read “of the thirty.”
- j (23:19) Or “He was more honored than the three” (uncertain); compare 1 Chronicles 11:21.
- k (23:20) So the traditional reading (qere); the written text reads “a living man.”

- n (23:23) Hebrew “his bodyguard,” literally “those who listen”; perhaps a privy council.
- o (23:32) Hebrew uncertain; 1 Chronicles 11:34 reads “the sons of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan son of Shagee.”
- p (23:39) The list as it stands names fewer than thirty-seven; the total probably includes the leaders named in verses 8–23 and Joab (uncertain).

Chapter 24

1 Once more the anger of Yahweh was kindled against Israel, and he incited David against them, saying, “Go, number Israel and Judah.”[a] 2 So the king said to Joab, the commander of the army, who was with him, “Go now to and fro through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and muster the people, that I may know the number of the people.” 3 But Joab said to the king, “Now may Yahweh your God increase the people a hundredfold, however many they may be, and may the eyes of my lord the king behold it! But my lord the king, why does he take pleasure in this matter?” 4 Nevertheless the word of the king was stronger than Joab and the army’s commanders. So Joab went out, with the army’s commanders, from before the king to count the people of Israel. 5 They crossed the Jordan and encamped at Aroer, on the right side of the city that is in the middle of the valley of

Gad, and on toward Jazer. 6 Then they came to Gilead and to the land of Tahtim-hodshi,[b] and they came to Dan-jaan and around to Sidon, 7 They came to the fortress of Tyre and all the cities of the Hivites and Canaanites, and they finished at the Negeb of Judah at Beersheba. 8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. 9 And Joab handed over the total of the census of the people to the king: Israel had eight hundred thousand men of valor drawing the sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.[c] 10 But David's heart struck him after he had numbered the people.
And David said to Yahweh, "I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But now, O Yahweh, take away, I pray, the iniquity of your servant, for I have acted very foolishly." 11 And when David arose in the morning, the word of Yahweh came to the prophet Gad, David's seer, saying, 12 "Go and tell David, 'This is what Yahweh says: I am offering you three options. Pick one of them, and that is what I will do to you.'" 13 So Gad came to David and told him and said to him, "Shall seven[d] years of famine come to you in your land? Or will you flee three months before your foes while they pursue you? Or shall there be three days' pestilence in your land? Now consider and see what answer I shall return to him who sent me." 14 David answered Gad, "I am very distressed. Let us fall into Yahweh's hand, for his compassion is great, but do not let me fall into the hand of man." 15 So Yahweh sent a plague upon Israel from morning to the time appointed.[e] And from Dan even to Beersheba seventy thousand men of the people died. 16 And when the angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, Yahweh relented from the evil and said to the destroying angel among the people, "Enough! Now let your hand drop." And the angel of Yahweh was by the threshing floor of Araunah[f] the Jebusite. 17 Then David spoke to Yahweh when he saw the angel who was striking the people, and said, "Look, it is I who have sinned, and I who have done wrong. But these sheep, what have they done? Let your hand turn, I beg you, upon me and upon the house of my father."

18 And Gad came that day to David and said to him, “Go up, raise an altar to Yahweh on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.” 19 So David went up according to the word of Gad, as Yahweh had commanded. 20 Araunah looked and saw the king and his servants approaching. He went out and bowed down before the king with his face to the ground. 21 And Araunah said, “Why has my lord the king come to his servant?” David said, “To buy the threshing floor from you, to build an altar to Yahweh, that the plague may be held back from the people.” 22 Araunah said to David, “May my lord the king take it and offer whatever he sees fit. Here are the oxen for the burnt offering, and the threshing sledges and the oxen’s yokes for fuel. 23
The whole of it, O king, Araunah hands over to the king.”[g] Araunah said also to the king, “May Yahweh your God take pleasure in you.” 24 But the king said to Araunah, “No, but I will surely buy it from you for a price. I will not offer burnt offerings to Yahweh my God that cost me nothing.” So David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for about 20 ounces of silver.[h] 25 David built an altar to Yahweh there and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings.[i] Then Yahweh answered the prayer for the land, and the plague on Israel was halted.

Notes

- a (24:1) Compare 1 Chronicles 21:1, where Satan incites David.
- b (24:6) Hebrew uncertain; Tahtim-hodshi may mean “lowlands of Hodshi.” The Septuagint reads “the land of Thabason, which is Adasai” (Brenton); some scholars emend to “Kadesh in the land of the Hittites” (reported).
- c (24:9) First Chronicles 21:5 gives 1,100,000 for Israel and 470,000 for Judah. The Septuagint here agrees with the Hebrew (Brenton).
- d (24:13) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint (Brenton) and 1 Chronicles 21:12 read “three.”
- e (24:15) Or “until the time of the assembly” (uncertain). The Septuagint reads “from morning till noon” and adds that it was the days of wheat harvest (Brenton).
- f (24:16) So the traditional reading (qere); the written Hebrew text spells the name in several ways in this chapter (reported). First Chronicles 21:15 calls him Ornan; the Septuagint reads “Orna” (Brenton). The name may be Hurrian, perhaps a title meaning “lord” (uncertain).
- g (24:23) Or “All this, O king, does Araunah give to the king.” Some interpreters reportedly read “Araunah the king,” suggesting a former Jebusite ruler.

- h (24:24) Hebrew “fifty shekels,” about 20 ounces (575 grams). First Chronicles 21:25 reads “six hundred shekels of gold” (about 15 pounds, 6.9 kilograms) for the whole site.
- i (24:25) The Septuagint adds “and Solomon made an addition to the altar afterwards, for it was little at first” (Brenton, modernized).

1 Kings

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 Now King David was old and well along in years. They would cover him with clothes, yet he could not keep warm. 2 His servants told him, "Let a young woman, a virgin, be found for my lord the king to wait on him and look after him. She can lie in your arms, and my lord the king will stay warm." 3 So they looked for a lovely girl in every part of the land of Israel, and they found Abishag[a] the Shunammite[b] and brought her to the king. 4 The young woman was very beautiful. She took care of the king and served him, but the king did not know her.
5 Then Adonijah[c] son of Haggith[d] began to exalt himself, saying, "I am the one who will be king." He got chariots and horsemen ready for himself, with fifty men running ahead of him. 6 His father had never once rebuked him by saying, "Why have you done this?" He was also very handsome, and he was born next after Absalom.[e] 7 He conferred with Joab the son of Zeruiah and with Abiathar[f] the priest, and they followed Adonijah and helped him. 8 But Zadok[g] the priest, Benaiah[h] the son of Jehoiada, Nathan[i] the prophet, Shimei, Rei,[j] and David's mighty men were not with Adonijah.
9 Adonijah slaughtered sheep, cattle, and fattened calves at the Stone of Zoheleth,[k] next to En-rogel.[l] He invited all his brothers, the king's sons, and all the men of Judah who served the king, 10 Nathan the prophet, though, and Benaiah and the mighty men and his brother Solomon[m] he left uninvited.
11 Nathan then spoke to Bathsheba[n] the mother of Solomon. "Have you not heard," he said, "that Haggith's son Adonijah reigns now, and David our lord knows nothing of it? 12 So come now, let me counsel you, so that you can rescue your own life and your son Solomon's life. 13 Go in at once to King David and say to him, 'My lord the king, did you not promise your servant, "Your son Solomon is to reign after me and sit on my throne"? Then why is Adonijah king?' 14 While you are still speaking there with the king, I will come in after you and confirm your words." 15 So Bathsheba went in to the king in his room. The king was very old, and Abishag the Shunammite was attending the king. 16 Bathsheba bowed down and paid homage to the king, and the king said, "What do you wish?" 17 She said to him, "My lord, you yourself swore to your servant by Yahweh your God, 'Surely Solomon your son will reign after me, and he will sit on my throne.' 18 But now, look, Adonijah has become king, and you, my lord the king, do not know it. 19 He has offered oxen and fatlings and sheep in great numbers, and has called all the king's sons, with Abiathar the priest and Joab the army's commander, but your servant Solomon he did not call. 20 And as for you, my lord the king, the eyes of all Israel are on you, for you to tell them who will sit on the throne of my lord the king after him. 21 Otherwise, when my lord the king lies down with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be counted as offenders." 22 And look, she was still talking with the king when Nathan the prophet arrived. 23 They told the king, "Here is Nathan the prophet." He came before the king and bowed down to the king with his face to the ground. 24 Nathan said, "My lord the king, did you say, 'Adonijah will reign after me, and he will sit on my throne'? 25 Today he went down and sacrificed a great number of oxen, fattened calves, and sheep. He invited Abiathar the priest, the commanders of the army, and all the king's sons, and even now they sit eating and drinking in his presence, shouting, 'Long live King Adonijah!' 26 But me, your servant, and Zadok the priest, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and Solomon your servant, he has not invited. 27 Has this thing been done by my lord the king without your letting your servants[o] know who should sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?" 28 Then King David answered, "Call Bathsheba to me." She came into the king's presence and stood before the king. 29 The king swore, saying, "As Yahweh lives, who has redeemed my life out of every distress, 30 just as I swore to you by Yahweh the God of Israel, saying, 'Surely Solomon your son will reign after me, and he will sit on my throne in my place,' so I will do this very day." 31 Then Bathsheba bowed low, her face to the earth, and did obeisance to the king. "May my lord King David live forever!" she said.

32 King David said, "Call to me Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada." They came before the king. 33 The king said to them, "Take with you the servants of your lord, have Solomon my son ride on my own mule, and bring him down to Gihon.[p] 34 There let Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet anoint him king over Israel. Then blow the horn and say, 'Long live King Solomon!' 35 Then you shall come up after him, and he shall come and sit on my throne, and he shall reign in my place. I have appointed him to be ruler over Israel and over Judah." 36 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, "Amen! May Yahweh, the God of my lord the king, say so too. 37 As Yahweh has been with my lord the king, so may he be with Solomon, and may he make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David." 38 So Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites[q] went down and had Solomon ride on King David's mule, and they brought him to Gihon.
39 Zadok the priest took the horn of oil from the tent and anointed Solomon. Then they blew the horn, and all the people said, "Long live King Solomon!" 40 Then all the people came up behind him, piping on flutes and rejoicing greatly, until the ground split[r] at the sound of them.
41 Adonijah and all his guests heard it just as they had finished eating.
Joab heard the trumpet sound and said, "What is this noise of the city in uproar?" 42 While he was still speaking, Jonathan the son of Abiathar the priest came. Adonijah said, "Come in, for you are a worthy man and bring good news." 43 Jonathan answered Adonijah, "No! Our lord King David has made Solomon king. 44 The king has sent with him Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and they had him ride on the king's mule. 45 Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet have anointed him king at Gihon. They went up from there rejoicing, and now the whole city is in an uproar; that is the sound you heard. 46 Solomon is even sitting now on the throne of the kingdom.

47 Moreover, the king's servants came to bless our lord King David, saying, 'May your God make the name of Solomon more famous than your name, and make his throne greater than your throne.' And the king bowed himself on the bed. 48 The king also said this: 'Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who has granted today one to sit on my throne,[s] while my own eyes see it.'" 49 Then all the guests of Adonijah trembled. They got up, and each one went his own way. 50 And Adonijah, afraid because of Solomon, arose and went and caught hold of the altar's horns. 51 Word came to Solomon: "Adonijah fears King Solomon. See, he has caught hold of the altar's horns, and he says, 'Let King Solomon swear to me today that he will not kill his servant by the sword.'" 52 Solomon said, "If he will act as a worthy man, not a hair of his shall fall to the earth; but if wickedness is found in him, he shall die." 53 So King Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar. He came and bowed down to King Solomon, and Solomon said to him, "Go to your house."

Notes

- a (1:3) Abishag may mean "my father wanders" or "my father is a wanderer"; the meaning is uncertain.
- b (1:3) That is, from Shunem, a town in the territory of Issachar (Joshua 19:18). The name Shunem perhaps means "resting place"; the meaning is uncertain.
- c (1:5) Adonijah means "Yahweh is my Lord."
- d (1:5) Haggith means "festive" or "born on a feast day."
- e (1:6) Hebrew "and she bore him after Absalom," referring to his mother Haggith. Adonijah was apparently the oldest of David's surviving sons (2 Samuel 3:2–4).
- f (1:7) Abiathar means "the father is abundant" or "father of abundance."
- g (1:8) Zadok means "righteous."
- h (1:8) Benaiah means "Yahweh has built."
- i (1:8) Nathan means "he has given."
- j (1:8) The Hebrew names Shimei and Rei are otherwise unknown here. Some ancient witnesses read "Shimei and his friends" (reading reʿaw instead of reʿi); the identification is uncertain.
- k (1:9) Zoheleth may mean "serpent" or "crawling one," so "the Serpent Stone"; the meaning is uncertain.
- l (1:9) En-rogel means "spring of the fuller" (or "spring of the foot," perhaps from washing clothes by treading them). It lay just south of Jerusalem, where the Kidron and Hinnom valleys meet.

- m (1:10) Solomon is related to the Hebrew shalom, “peace,” and may mean “his peace” or “his replacement.”
- n (1:11) Bathsheba means “daughter of an oath” or “daughter of abundance.”
- o (1:27) This follows the written Hebrew text (Ketiv). The traditional reading (Qere) has “your servant.”
- p (1:33) Gihon means “gushing,” a name for the spring in the Kidron Valley that supplied Jerusalem.
- q (1:38) The Cherethites and the Pelethites were the king’s bodyguard, probably mercenaries of Cretan and Philistine origin.
- r (1:40) Or “burst.” The Septuagint reads “they danced in choirs” for “playing on pipes,” and “the earth quaked.”
- s (1:48) The Septuagint adds “from my offspring.”

Chapter 2

1 As David’s days to die drew near, he charged Solomon his son: 2 “I am going the way of all the earth. Be strong, and show yourself a man.
3 Keep what Yahweh your God has charged you to keep: walk in his ways and keep his statutes and commandments, his judgments and testimonies, as they are written in the Law of Moses, so that you may succeed in all you do and wherever you turn, 4 and so that Yahweh will fulfill the promise he made about me: ‘If your descendants watch how they live and walk faithfully before me with all their heart and all their soul, a man of your line will never be missing from Israel’s throne.’
5 “You know too what Joab son of Zeruiah did to me, and what he did to the two army commanders of Israel, Abner son of Ner and Amasa son of Jether: he murdered them, and in time of peace shed the blood of war, and put the blood of war on the belt at his waist and on the sandals on his feet.[a] 6 So deal with him as your wisdom directs, and do not allow his gray hair to go down to Sheol[b] in peace. 7 But show kindness to the sons of Barzillai[c] the Gileadite, and let them be among those who eat at your table, for they came to meet me in this way when I fled from Absalom your brother. 8 And there is also with you Shimei[d] the son of Gera, the Benjaminite from Bahurim, who cursed me with a bitter curse on the day when I went to Mahanaim.[e] But he came down to meet me at the Jordan, and I swore to him by Yahweh, saying, ‘I will not put you to death with the sword.’ 9 So now you must not leave him unpunished. You are a wise man, and you will know what to do with him; bring his gray head down to Sheol with blood." 10 Then David lay down with his fathers and was buried in the city of David. 11 The days that David reigned over Israel were forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. 12 So Solomon sat on the throne of David his father, and his kingdom was firmly established.

13 Then Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon. She said, "Do you come peaceably?" He said, "Peaceably."
14 He went on, "I have a word for you." "Say it," she replied. 15 He said, "You know that the kingdom was mine, and all Israel looked to me to reign. But the kingdom has turned about and become my brother's, for it was his from Yahweh. 16 Now I have a single request to ask of you. Do not turn me down." "Say it," she replied. 17 "Please ask King Solomon, since he will not refuse you, to give me Abishag the Shunammite as my wife." 18 "Good," Bathsheba answered. "I will speak for you to the king."
19 Bathsheba went in to King Solomon to speak for Adonijah. The king stood up to meet her and bowed to her, then sat down on his throne. A throne was placed for the king's mother, and she took her seat at his right hand. 20 "There is one small thing I ask of you," she said. "Do not refuse me." The king answered her, "Ask, my mother, for I will not refuse you." 21 She said, "Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah your brother as his wife." 22 King Solomon replied to his mother, "Why are you asking for Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Why not ask for the kingdom for him too, since he is my elder brother? Abiathar the priest and Joab son of Zeruiah are on his side!"[f] 23 Then King Solomon swore by Yahweh: "May God deal with me, and worse, if Adonijah has not made this request at the cost of his own life! 24 Now therefore, as Yahweh lives, who has established me and set me on the throne of David my father, and who has made me a house as he promised, Adonijah will be put to death today." 25 So King Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah son of Jehoiada, who fell upon him, and he died.

26 And to Abiathar the priest the king said, “Go off to Anathoth,[g] to your own fields, for you are a man worthy of death. I will not kill you today, though, since you bore the ark of the Lord Yahweh before David my father, and you suffered in all that my father suffered.” 27
So Solomon expelled Abiathar from being priest to Yahweh, to fulfill the word of Yahweh that he had spoken concerning the house of Eli in Shiloh.[h]
28 When the news reached Joab, he fled to Yahweh’s tent and grabbed the horns of the altar, for Joab had supported Adonijah, though he had not supported Absalom.[i] 29 King Solomon was told, “Joab has fled to the tent of Yahweh, and there he is, beside the altar.” Then Solomon sent Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, saying, “Go, strike him down.”[j] 30 Benaiah went to Yahweh’s tent and told Joab, “The king says, ‘Come out.’” “No,” he replied, “I will die here.” Benaiah reported to the king what Joab had answered. 31 The king said to him, “Do as he has said.
Strike him down and bury him, and so take away from me and from my father’s house the blood that Joab shed without cause. 32 Yahweh will bring his bloodshed back on his own head, because he struck down two men more righteous and better than he, and killed them with the sword without my father David knowing it: Abner the son of Ner, commander of the army of Israel, and Amasa the son of Jether, commander of the army of Judah. 33 So their blood will come back on the head of Joab and on the head of his offspring forever. But for David and his offspring, his house and his throne, there will be peace from Yahweh forever.” 34 Benaiah son of Jehoiada went up, struck Joab down, and killed him. He was buried at his own house in the wilderness. 35 In his place the king set Benaiah son of Jehoiada over the army, and Zadok the priest the king set in Abiathar’s place.[k] 36 Then the king sent for Shimei and called him. “Build a house for yourself in Jerusalem,” he told him, “and stay there. Do not leave it to go anywhere at all. 37 For on the day you go out and cross the Kidron Valley,[l] know for certain that you will surely die. Your blood will be on your own head.” 38 “What you have said is good,” Shimei told the king. “Your servant will do exactly as my lord the king has said.” And Shimei remained in Jerusalem for a long time.

39 But at the end of three years two of Shimei's slaves ran away to Achish the son of Maacah, king of Gath. When Shimei was told, "Your slaves are in Gath," 40 Shimei got up, saddled his donkey, and went to Gath to Achish to look for his slaves. Shimei went and brought his slaves back from Gath. 41 Solomon was told that Shimei had gone from Jerusalem to Gath and had returned. 42 The king summoned Shimei and asked him, "Did I not make you swear by Yahweh and warn you that on the day you leave and go anywhere at all, you would certainly die? And you told me, 'What I have heard is good; I will obey.' 43 Why then have you not kept the oath of Yahweh and the command that I gave you?" 44 And the king said to Shimei, "You know all the wrong, which your own heart is aware of, that you did to my father David. Now Yahweh is returning your wrong on your own head. 45 But King Solomon will be blessed, and David's throne will stand secure before Yahweh forever." 46 The king then commanded Benaiah son of Jehoiada, who went out and struck Shimei down, and he died. So the kingdom was firmly in Solomon's hands.[m]

Notes

- a (2:5) The Septuagint reads "and put innocent blood on his belt … and on his sandal." Some ancient witnesses read "my belt" and "my sandals," making the guilt fall on David himself.
- b (2:6) Sheol is the Hebrew name for the realm of the dead.
- c (2:7) Barzillai means "man of iron" (from barzel, "iron").
- d (2:8) Shimei is a shortened form of a name meaning "Yahweh has heard" (or simply "heard").
- e (2:8) Mahanaim means "two camps" (Genesis 32:2).
- f (2:22) Hebrew "and for him and for Abiathar the priest and for Joab the son of Zeruiah." The Septuagint reads "and he has as his companions Abiathar the priest and Joab the son of Zeruiah, the commander-in-chief." The translation follows the general sense.
- g (2:26) Anathoth was a Levitical city in Benjamin, about 3 miles (5 kilometers) northeast of Jerusalem, and later the home of Jeremiah (Jeremiah 1:1). The name may recall the goddess Anath.
- h (2:27) See 1 Samuel 2:27–36. Shiloh may mean "place of rest" or "tranquility"; the meaning is uncertain.
- i (2:28) The Septuagint reads "and he had not followed Solomon" for "although he had not sided with Absalom."

- j (2:29) The Septuagint adds "Solomon sent to Joab, saying, 'What has happened to you, that you have fled to the altar?' Joab said, 'Because I was afraid of you, and I fled to Yahweh.'" before the command to Benaiah.
- k (2:35) After this verse the Septuagint adds a long section, usually numbered 2:35a–o. It gathers material about Solomon that appears elsewhere in the Hebrew: his wisdom (compare 4:29–30), his marriage to Pharaoh's daughter (3:1; 9:24), his laborers (5:15), the temple furnishings (ch. 7), his building works and cities (9:15–24), his three yearly offerings (9:25), his officials over the work (5:16; 9:23), and David's charge concerning Shimei (2:8–9). Scholars call these collections the "miscellanies." The Septuagint also adds at the start of verse 35 "and the kingdom was established in Jerusalem," and makes Zadok "high priest."
- l (2:37) The Kidron Valley runs along the east side of Jerusalem, between the city and the Mount of Olives. Kidron may mean "dark" or "murky." Crossing it on the road east toward Bahurim would take Shimei home.
- m (2:46) After this verse the Septuagint adds a second section, usually numbered 2:46a–l. It describes Solomon's wisdom and prosperity, the people "eating and drinking and rejoicing" (compare 4:20), his rule over all the kingdoms, his daily provisions (compare 4:22–23), his building of Tadmor (compare 9:18), a list of his officials (compare 4:2–6), his horses and chariots (compare 4:26), and his rule from the Euphrates to Egypt (compare 4:21, 24).

Chapter 3

1 Solomon formed an alliance by marriage with Pharaoh king of Egypt. He married Pharaoh's daughter and brought her to the City of David, until he completed his own palace, Yahweh's house, and the wall around Jerusalem. 2 Only, the people still sacrificed at the high places, since up to then no house had been built for Yahweh's name.
3 Solomon loved Yahweh, walking in the statutes of David his father, except that he sacrificed and burned incense at the high places. 4 The king went to Gibeon[a] to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place. A thousand burnt offerings Solomon offered up on that altar.
5 At Gibeon Yahweh appeared to Solomon in a dream by night, and God said, "Ask what I should give you." 6 Solomon said, "You have dealt with great faithful love toward your servant my father David, since he walked before you in truth and righteousness and with an upright heart toward you; and you have kept this great faithful love for him and given him a son who sits on his throne, as it is this day. 7
And now, Yahweh my God, you have made your servant king in place of David my father, though I am only a little child. I do not know how to go out or come in.[b] 8 And your servant stands among your people whom you chose, a people so great that they cannot be numbered or counted for multitude. 9 So grant your servant a heart that listens[c] in order to govern your people and to distinguish right from wrong. For who can govern this great people of yours?" 10 It pleased the Lord[d] that Solomon had asked for this. 11 God said to him, "Because you have asked for this and not for long life for yourself, nor for riches, nor for your enemies' deaths, but for understanding so as to administer justice, 12 look, I have done as you asked.

I have given you a heart so wise and understanding that there has been no one like you before you, nor will anyone like you arise after you. 13 I will also give you what you did not ask for, wealth and honor, so that in your lifetime there will be no king like you. 14 And if you walk in my ways, keeping my statutes and my commandments, as David your father walked, then I will lengthen your days." 15 Solomon woke up and realized it had been a dream. He went to Jerusalem and stood in front of the ark of the Lord's covenant.[e] There he presented burnt offerings and peace offerings, and he gave a banquet for all his servants.
16 Then two women who were prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. 17 One of the women said, "Please, my lord, this woman and I dwell in one house, and I bore a child there while she was in the house. 18 Then three days after my child was born, this woman had a baby too. We were together, and no stranger was with us in the house; there were only we two in the house. 19 This woman's son died in the night, because she lay on him. 20 And she rose at midnight and took my son from my side while your maidservant slept, and she laid him in her bosom, and her dead son she laid in my bosom. 21 In the morning I got up to nurse my son, and found him dead. But when I looked at him carefully in the light of morning, I saw that he was not the son I had given birth to." 22 "No," said the other woman, "my son is the one who is alive; your son is the dead one." "Not so," said the first, "your son is dead, and mine is alive." And so they argued before the king.

23 Then the king said, “This one says, ‘This is my son, the living one, and your son is the dead one,’ and that one says, ‘No, your son is the dead one, and my son is the living one.’” 24 The king said, “Get me a sword.” So they brought a sword before the king. 25 The king said, “Cut the living child in two, and give half to one and half to the other.” 26 Then the woman whose son was alive spoke to the king, because her heart ached for her son: “Please, my lord, give her the living child; do not put him to death in any way!” The other said, “Neither of us will have him. Divide him!” 27 Then the king answered, “Give the first woman the living child. Do not kill him at all. She is the mother.” 28 When all Israel heard the judgment the king had given, they feared the king, for they saw that God’s wisdom was in him for doing justice.

Notes

- a (3:4) Gibeon was a city of Benjamin about 6 miles (10 kilometers) northwest of Jerusalem. Its name means “hill” or “height.”
- b (3:7) That is, how to lead, especially in war (compare Numbers 27:17).
- c (3:9) Or “a hearing heart,” that is, an attentive and obedient mind.
- d (3:10) Hebrew Adonai, “Lord,” here rather than Yahweh.
- e (3:15) Hebrew Adonai, “Lord,” here rather than Yahweh.

Chapter 4

1 King Solomon was king over all Israel, 2 and these were the officials he had: Azariah[a] son of Zadok was the priest; 3 Elihoreph and Ahijah the sons of Shisha were scribes; and Jehoshaphat[b] son of Ahilud was recorder; 4 Benaiah son of Jehoiada was over the army; Zadok and Abiathar were priests; 5 Azariah son of Nathan was over the district officers; Zabud son of Nathan was priest and the king’s friend;[c] 6 Ahishar was over the household; and Adoniram[d] son of Abda was over the forced labor.
7 Solomon had twelve district officers over all Israel, who provided food for the king and his household. Each one had to provide for one month in the year. 8 These were their names: Ben-hur,[e] in the hill country of Ephraim; 9 Ben-deker, in Makaz, Shaalbim,[f] Bethshemesh,[g] and Elon-beth-hanan; 10 Ben-hesed, in Arubboth (Socoh and all the land of Hepher belonged to him); 11 Ben-abinadab, all the heights of Dor[h] (Taphath the daughter of Solomon was his wife);

12 Baana son of Ahilud, Taanach and Megiddo,[i] and all Beth-shean,[j] which is beside Zarethan below Jezreel,[k] from Beth-shean as far as Abel-meholah,[l] as far as beyond Jokmeam; 13 Ben-geber, in Ramoth-gilead[m] (the villages of Jair son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead, were his, and the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, were his: sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars); 14 Ahinadab son of Iddo, in Mahanaim; 15 Ahimaaz, in Naphtali (he too took a daughter of Solomon, Basemath, as wife); 16 Baana son of Hushai, in Asher and Bealoth; 17 Jehoshaphat son of Paruah, in Issachar; 18 Shimei son of Ela, in Benjamin; 19 Geber son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, the country of Sihon king of the Amorites and of Og king of Bashan. And there was one officer who was over the land.[n] 20 Judah and Israel were numerous, like the sand that is by the sea for multitude, eating and drinking and rejoicing. 21 [o]Solomon was ruling over all the kingdoms from the River[p] to the land of the Philistines and to the border of Egypt. They brought tribute and served Solomon all the days of his life.
22 Solomon's provision for one day was about 180 bushels[q] of fine flour and about 360 bushels of meal, 23 ten fattened oxen, twenty pasture-fed oxen, and a hundred sheep, besides deer, gazelles, roebucks, and fattened fowl.[r] 24 He controlled all the land west of the Euphrates, from Tiphsah[s] to Gaza,[t] together with all its kings, and he had peace with every neighbor around him. 25 During Solomon's whole reign, Judah and Israel, from Dan to Beersheba,[u] lived in safety, each man under his own vine and fig tree. 26 Solomon also had forty thousand[v] stalls of horses for his chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen. 27 The district officers supplied food for King Solomon and for everyone who dined at his table, each in his own month, and saw that nothing was lacking.
28 Barley also and straw for the horses and the swift steeds they brought to wherever it was needed, every man as he was assigned.
29 God gave Solomon wisdom and very great understanding, and breadth of mind[w] like the sand on the seashore, 30 Solomon's wisdom was greater than all the wisdom of the people of the east and than all Egypt's wisdom. 31 He was wiser than any other man, wiser than Ethan the Ezrahite and than Heman, Calcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol. His reputation spread through all the surrounding nations. [32] He spoke three thousand proverbs, and his songs numbered a thousand and five.[x] [33] He talked about plants, from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop growing out of walls. He also taught about animals, birds, reptiles, and fish. [34] People came from all the peoples to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

Notes

- a (4:2) Azariah means "Yahweh has helped."
- b (4:3) Jehoshaphat means "Yahweh has judged."
- c (4:5) "The king's friend" was a title for a trusted royal adviser (compare 2 Samuel 15:37).
- d (4:6) Adoniram means "my Lord is exalted." He is called Adoram in 2 Samuel 20:24 and 1 Kings 12:18 (some witnesses there read Adoniram).
- e (4:8) The names in verses 8–13 that begin with Ben- mean "son of" the person named, so Ben-hur is "son of Hur." The officers are identified by their fathers' names.
- f (4:9) Shaalbim means "place of foxes" (or "jackals").
- g (4:9) Beth-shemesh means "house of the sun."
- h (4:11) Hebrew Naphath-dor. Dor was a coastal city south of Mount Carmel.

- l (4:12) Abel-meholah means "meadow of dancing."

- n (4:19) The Hebrew is uncertain. It may mean that Geber was the only officer over that large region, or it may refer to an officer over the land of Judah, which is not named in the list. The Septuagint reads "and one officer in the land of Judah."
- o (4:21) Hebrew Bibles number verses 21–34 as 5:1–14, and 5:1–18 as 5:15–32. In the Septuagint much of the material in verses 20–21 and 25–26 appears instead in the addition after 2:46 (2:46a–l).
- p (4:21) That is, the Euphrates River.
- q (4:22) Hebrew "thirty cors" and "sixty cors." A cor was a dry measure equal to a homer, about 6 bushels or 220 liters, so about 6,600 liters and 13,200 liters. The size of the cor is not certain.
- r (4:23) The kind of fowl is uncertain. It may be "fattened geese" or "cuckoos."

- w (4:29) Hebrew “breadth of heart.”
- x (4:32) The Septuagint reads “five thousand.”

Chapter 5

1 Hiram[a] king of Tyre[b] sent his servants to Solomon, having heard that they had anointed him king in his father’s stead; for Hiram had loved David all his days. 2 Solomon sent word to Hiram, saying, 3 “You know how my father David was not able to build a house for the name of Yahweh his God because of the wars that surrounded him on every side, until Yahweh put his enemies under the soles of his feet.
4 But now Yahweh my God has given me rest on every side. There is neither adversary nor misfortune. 5 So I intend to build a house for the name of Yahweh my God, as Yahweh spoke to David my father, saying, ‘Your son, whom I will set on your throne in your place, will build the house for my name.’ 6 Now command that cedars be cut for me in Lebanon. My servants will be with yours, and I will pay your servants any wage you name. You know that none among us has the skill to cut timber as the Sidonians do.” 7 When Hiram heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly and said, “Blessed be Yahweh today, who has given to David a wise son over this great people.” 8 Hiram sent to Solomon, saying, “I have heard the message you sent me. I will do all you desire concerning timber of cedar and timber of cypress. 9 My servants will haul it down from Lebanon to the sea, and I will have it made into rafts and sent by sea to whatever place you name. There I will have them broken up, and you can take them away. And you will satisfy my wish by supplying food for my household.” 10 So Hiram gave Solomon all the cedar timber and cypress timber that he desired, 11 and Solomon gave Hiram about 120,000 bushels[c] of wheat as food for his household, and about 1,200 gallons[d] of pressed oil. Solomon gave this to Hiram year by year. 12 Yahweh gave Solomon wisdom, as he had promised him.

There was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two of them made a treaty.

13 King Solomon conscripted forced labor from all Israel, a work force of thirty thousand men. 14 He sent them to Lebanon by turns, ten thousand each month: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home. Adoniram was over the levy. 15 Solomon also had seventy thousand burden carriers and eighty thousand stonecutters in the hill country, 16 besides Solomon's chief officers who were over the work, three thousand three hundred,[e] who had charge of the people who did the work. 17 At the king's command they quarried great stones, costly stones, to lay the foundation of the house with dressed stones. 18 So Solomon's builders and Hiram's builders and the Gebalites[f] did the cutting, and they prepared the timber and the stones to build the house.[g]

Notes

- a (5:1) Hiram is a shortened form of Ahiram, "my brother is exalted." Hebrew Bibles number 5:1–18 as 5:15–32.
- b (5:1) Tyre means "rock," describing the island fortress off the coast of Phoenicia.
- c (5:11) Hebrew "twenty thousand cors." A cor was about 6 bushels or 220 liters, so about 4,400,000 liters (4,400 cubic meters). The size of the cor is not certain.
- d (5:11) Hebrew "twenty cors." As a liquid measure a cor equaled ten baths, about 60 gallons or 220 liters, so about 4,400 liters. The Septuagint reads "twenty thousand baths" (compare 2 Chronicles 2:10), about 120,000 gallons or 440,000 liters.
- e (5:16) The Septuagint reads "three thousand six hundred," as does 2 Chronicles 2:18.
- f (5:18) That is, men of Gebal (Byblos), a Phoenician city north of Sidon. Gebal means "border" or "mountain."
- g (5:18) The Septuagint adds "for three years." It places verse 17 at the start of chapter 6, in an addition (6:1a–d) that also says the men of Solomon and of Hiram cut the stones.

Chapter 6

1 In the 480th year[a] after the Israelites came out of Egypt, in the fourth year of Solomon's reign over Israel, in Ziv (April–May),[b] the second month, he began building Yahweh's house. 2 The house that King Solomon built for Yahweh was about 90 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 45 feet high.[c] 3 The porch in front of the main hall[d] of the house extended about 30 feet[e] across the width of the house, and it was about 15 feet[f] deep in front of the house. 4 For the house he made windows with recessed frames.[g] 5 Against the wall of the house he built a structure all around, against the walls of the house all around both the main hall and the inner sanctuary,[h] and he made side rooms all around. 6 The lowest story was about 7½ feet wide, the middle one about 9 feet wide, and the third about 10½ feet wide.[i] For on the outside of the house he made ledges all around the wall, so that the beams would not be fastened into the walls of the house. 7 When the house was being built, it was built of stone made ready at the quarry, so that neither hammer nor axe nor any iron tool was heard in the house while it was being built. 8 The door to the lowest[j] story was on the right-hand, southern side of the house, and by winding stairs[k] people climbed to the middle level, and from there to the third. 9 So he built the house and finished it, and he roofed the house with beams and rows of planks of cedar. 10 And he built the side structure against all the house, each level about 7½ feet[l] high,and fastened it to the house with timbers of cedar.

11 Then the word of Yahweh came to Solomon:[m] 12 "Concerning this house that you are building: if you walk in my statutes and carry out my judgments and keep all my commandments by walking in them, then I will fulfill with you my word that I spoke to David your father. 13 And I will make my dwelling in the midst of the children of Israel, and I will not abandon Israel my people."

14 So Solomon built the house and finished it. 15 He lined the walls of the house on the inside with boards of cedar. From the floor of the house up to the rafters[n] of the ceiling he covered them on the inside with wood, and he covered the floor of the house with boards of cypress.[o] 16 He built about 30 feet[p] at the rear of the house with boards of cedar from the floor to the rafters. He built this inside as an inner sanctuary, as the Most Holy Place. 17 The house, that is, the main hall in front of the inner sanctuary, was about 60 feet[q] long. 18 The cedar paneling inside the house was carved with gourds and open flowers. Everything was cedar; no stone could be seen.[r] 19 He prepared the inner sanctuary in the middle of the house, within, to set there the ark of the covenant of Yahweh. 20 The inner sanctuary was about 30 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 30 feet high,[s] and he overlaid it with pure gold.

He also overlaid the altar with cedar.[t] 21 Solomon covered the house within with pure gold, and he stretched golden chains across before the inner sanctuary, and covered it with gold. 22 The whole house he overlaid with gold, until all the house was finished. Also the whole altar that belonged to the inner sanctuary he overlaid with gold.
23 In the inner sanctuary he made two cherubim[u] of olive wood,[v] each about 15 feet[w] high. 24 One wing of the cherub was about 7½ feet long, and the other wing of the cherub was about 7½ feet long; from the tip of one wing to the tip of the other was about 15 feet.[x] 25 The second cherub also measured about 15 feet. Both cherubim had the same measure and the same shape. 26 The height of one cherub was about 15 feet, and so was that of the other cherub. 27 He placed the cherubim inside the innermost house. Their wings were stretched out, the wing of the one reaching to one wall and the wing of the second cherub reaching to the other wall, while in the middle of the house their wings met, wing to wing. 28 He overlaid the cherubim with gold.
29 On all the walls of the house round about he carved engraved figures of cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, in the inner room and in the outer. 30 The floor of the house he overlaid with gold, in the inner room and in the outer. 31 For the entrance to the inner sanctuary he made doors of olive wood. The lintel and the doorposts formed a pentagon.[y] 32 He carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers on the two doors of olive wood, and overlaid them with gold, hammering the gold onto the cherubim and the palm trees. 33 So also he made for the entrance of the main hall doorposts of olive wood, in the form of a square,[z] 34 He made two doors of cypress wood. Each door had two panels that folded, and each panel turned on a pivot. 35 On them he carved cherubim, palm trees, and open flowers, and he overlaid them with gold evenly applied on the carved work. 36 He built the inner court with three rows of dressed stone and one row of cedar beams.[aa] 37 In the fourth year the foundation of the house of Yahweh was laid, in the month of Ziv (April–May). 38 In the eleventh year, in the month of Bul (October–November),[ab] the eighth month, the house was completed in every detail and exactly as planned. He had spent seven years building it.

Notes

- a (6:1) The Septuagint reads "four hundred and fortieth year."
- b (6:1) Hebrew Ziv ("brightness," perhaps from the spring flowers), an older Canaanite month name. It is the second month of the spring-start religious calendar (later called Iyyar), so it fell in April–May; the exact modern dates varied from year to year with the lunar calendar. The Septuagint, in its addition at 6:1c, calls it Ziu.
- c (6:2) Hebrew "sixty cubits its length, twenty its width, and thirty cubits its height," about 27 by 9 by 13.5 meters. The cubit here is reckoned at about 18 inches (45 centimeters); a longer royal cubit of about 21 inches (52 centimeters) was also used (compare 2 Chronicles 3:3, "cubits of the old standard"), which would make the house about 105 by 35 by 52½ feet. The Septuagint reads "forty cubits in length, ... and its height twenty-five cubits." - d (6:3) Hebrew hekal, "palace" or "temple," the large front room of the house, later called the Holy Place.
- e (6:3) Hebrew "twenty cubits," about 9 meters.
- f (6:3) Hebrew "ten cubits," about 4.5 meters.
- g (6:4) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. It may mean "windows with beveled frames," "latticed windows," or "windows narrowing inward."
- h (6:5) Hebrew debir, the innermost room, the Most Holy Place (verse 16). The word may come from a root meaning "back" (the rear room).
- i (6:6) Hebrew "five cubits ... six cubits ... seven cubits," about 2.3, 2.7, and 3.2 meters. Each story was wider than the one below because the main wall was stepped back at each level.
- j (6:8) Hebrew "middle." The Septuagint reads "the under side," which fits the sense.
- k (6:8) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. It may mean "trapdoors" or "shafts."
- l (6:10) Hebrew "five cubits," about 2.3 meters.
- m (6:11) The Septuagint lacks verses 11–14.
- n (6:15) Hebrew "walls," perhaps a scribal slip for the similar word for "beams" or "rafters" (the Septuagint reads "to the beams").
- o (6:15) Or "juniper" or "pine." The exact tree is uncertain.
- p (6:16) Hebrew "twenty cubits," about 9 meters.
- q (6:17) Hebrew "forty cubits," about 18 meters.
- r (6:18) The Septuagint lacks verse 18.
- s (6:20) Hebrew "twenty cubits in length, twenty cubits in width, and twenty cubits in its height," about 9 meters each way. The inner sanctuary was a cube; since the house was about 45 feet high (verse 2), the room may have stood on a raised floor or had a lower ceiling.

- t (6:20) Hebrew uncertain. This may be the altar of incense in front of the inner sanctuary (compare 7:48). The Septuagint reads "he made an altar," perhaps reading the Hebrew differently.
- u (6:23) Cherubim (singular cherub) were winged guardian figures associated with God's throne and presence (Exodus 25:18–22). The meaning of the word is uncertain.
- v (6:23) Hebrew "trees of oil," perhaps the wild olive or another resinous tree.
- w (6:23) Hebrew "ten cubits," about 4.5 meters.
- x (6:24) Hebrew "five cubits … five cubits … ten cubits," about 2.3 meters and 4.5 meters.
- y (6:31) Hebrew "fifth," probably a five-sided frame (a lintel shaped like a gable). The meaning is uncertain.
- z (6:33) Hebrew "from a fourth," probably meaning a four-sided (rectangular) frame. The meaning is uncertain.
- aa (6:36) After this verse the Septuagint adds "and he made the curtain of the court of the porch of the house that was in front of the temple" (6:36a). The Septuagint also places verses 37–38 earlier, in its addition after 5:18 (Hebrew 5:32), as 6:1c–d.
- ab (6:38) Hebrew Bul, an older Canaanite month name, perhaps meaning "produce" or "rain." It is the eighth month of the spring-start religious calendar (later called Marcheshvan), so it fell in October–November; the exact modern dates varied with the lunar calendar. The Septuagint addition at 6:1d calls it Baal.

Chapter 7

1 His own house Solomon was thirteen years in building, until he had completed all of it. 2 He built the House of the Forest of Lebanon.[a] Its length was about 150 feet, its width about 75 feet, and its height about 45 feet.[b] It stood on four rows of cedar pillars, with cedar beams laid upon the pillars. 3 It was roofed with cedar over the side chambers that rested on the pillars, forty-five in number, fifteen to a row. 4 There were window frames in three rows, and window faced window in three tiers. 5 All the doorways and doorposts had square frames, and window faced window in three tiers.[c] 6 He made the Hall of Pillars about 75 feet long and about 45 feet wide.[d] There was a porch in front of them, with pillars and a canopy in front of them. 7 He built the Hall of the Throne, where he would give judgment; this was the Hall of Judgment. It was covered with cedar from one side of the floor to the other.[e] 8 The house where he himself would dwell, in the other court behind the hall, was of the same workmanship. And for the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Solomon had married, he built a house like this hall.

9 All these were of costly stones, hewn according to measure, sawed with saws inside and outside, from the foundation up to the coping, and on the outside as far as the great court. 10 The foundation was of costly stones, great stones, some about 15 feet and some about 12 feet.[f] 11 Above them were costly stones, hewn according to measure, and cedar. 12 The great court had around it three courses of dressed stone and a course of cedar beams, just as the inner court of the house of Yahweh and the porch of the house had.

13 King Solomon sent and brought Hiram[g] from Tyre. 14 He was the son of a widow from the tribe of Naphtali,[h] and his father was a man of Tyre, a craftsman in bronze. He was full of wisdom, understanding, and knowledge for doing every kind of work in bronze. He came to King Solomon and did all his work.

15 He cast two pillars of bronze. Each pillar was about 27 feet high, and a line of about 18 feet measured its circumference.[i] 16 Two capitals of molten bronze he made as well, for placing on the pillars' tops; the height of each capital was about 7½ feet.[j] 17 For the capitals on top of the pillars he made nets of interwoven lattice and festoons of chainwork, seven[k] on one capital and seven on the other. 18 He made the pomegranates[l] in two rows around the one network to cover the capital on top of the pillar, and did the same for the other capital. 19 The capitals on top of the pillars in the portico were shaped like lilies, about 6 feet high.[m] 20 The capitals on the two pillars also had pomegranates above, next to the rounded part that was beside the lattice work. There were two hundred pomegranates in rows all around on each capital.[n] 21 He erected the pillars at the porch of the main hall. The one on the right he set up and named Jachin,[o] and the one on the left he set up and named Boaz.[p] 22 On the tops of the pillars was lily work. So the work of the pillars was finished.

23 Then he made the Sea[q] of cast metal. It was round, about 15 feet from brim to brim and about 7½ feet high, and a line of about 45 feet would encircle it.[r] 24 Gourds surrounded the Sea below its rim, ten gourds in every 18 inches,[s] encircling it all the way around. The gourds were in two rows and were cast in one piece with the Sea. 25 It rested on twelve oxen: three looked north, three looked west, three looked south, and three looked east. The Sea was upon them, and their hind parts all pointed inward. 26 Its thickness was about 3 inches,[t] and its brim was made like the brim of a cup, like the flower of a lily. It held about 11,500 gallons.[u]

27 He also made the ten stands of bronze. Each stand was about 6 feet long, about 6 feet wide, and about 4½ feet high.[v] 28 This was how the stands were made: they had panels, and the panels were set between the frames. 29 On the panels between the frames were figures of lions, oxen, and cherubim, and so too on the frames; above and beneath the lions and oxen were wreaths of hanging work. 30 Each stand had four bronze wheels with bronze axles, and at its four corners were supports. The supports were cast below the basin, with wreaths on each side. 31 Its opening inside the crown, which projected upward, was about 18 inches[w] deep. Its opening was round, as a pedestal is made, about 27 inches[x] across. At its opening there were also carvings, and its panels were square, not round. 32 The four wheels were underneath the panels, and the axles of the wheels were part of the stand. Each wheel was about 27 inches high. 33 The wheels were built like chariot wheels. Their axles, rims, spokes, and hubs were all cast metal. 34 Each stand had four supports, at its four corners, and the supports were cast as part of the stand itself. 35 At the top of the stand there was a round band about 9 inches[y] high, and on the top of the stand its handles and its panels were of one piece with it. 36 On the surfaces of its handles and on its panels he engraved cherubim, lions, and palm trees, according to the space on each, with wreaths all around. 37 In this way he made the ten stands. All of them had one casting, one measure, and one shape.
38 He made ten basins of bronze. Each basin held about 230 gallons,[z] and each basin measured about 6 feet.[aa] There was a basin on each of the ten stands. 39 Five of the stands he placed on the south side of the house and five on its north side, and the Sea he placed on the south side of the house, toward the southeast.

40 Hiram also made the pots,[ab] the shovels, and the bowls. So Hiram completed all the work he was doing for King Solomon in Yahweh's house: 41 two pillars; two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars; two networks to cover the bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars; 42 four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates on each network, covering the bowl-shaped capitals on the pillars; 43 the ten stands and the ten basins on the stands; 44 the one Sea and the twelve oxen under the Sea; 45 and the pots, the shovels, and the bowls. All these vessels that Hiram made for King Solomon in the house of Yahweh were of burnished bronze. 46 In the plain of the Jordan the king cast them, in the clay ground between Succoth[ac] and Zarethan. 47 Solomon left all the vessels unweighed because there were so very many of them. The weight of the bronze was not determined.
48 Solomon made all the furnishings that were in the house of Yahweh: the altar of gold; the table of gold for the bread of the Presence; 49 the lampstands of pure gold before the inner sanctuary, five at the right and five at the left; the flowers, the lamps, and the tongs of gold; 50 the cups, the snuffers, the bowls, the dishes for incense, and the fire pans, of pure gold; and the sockets for the doors of the inner house, the Most Holy Place, and for the doors of the main hall of the house, of gold. 51 When all the work King Solomon had done for Yahweh's house was complete, he brought in what his father David had dedicated, the silver, the gold, and the articles, and placed them in the storerooms of Yahweh's house.

Notes

- a (7:2) Probably so called because of its many cedar pillars from Lebanon, which made the hall look like a forest. Lebanon means "white," from its snow-covered mountains.
- b (7:2) Hebrew "a hundred cubits ... fifty cubits ... thirty cubits," about 45 by 22.5 by 13.5 meters.
- c (7:5) The meaning of the Hebrew of verses 4–5 is uncertain.
- d (7:6) Hebrew "fifty cubits ... thirty cubits," about 22.5 by 13.5 meters.
- e (7:7) Some ancient witnesses read "to the rafters" (compare 6:16). The Hebrew is uncertain.

- f (7:10) Hebrew "stones of ten cubits and stones of eight cubits," about 4.5 and 3.6 meters.
- g (7:13) Hebrew Hiram; also spelled Huram or Huram-abi in 2 Chronicles 2:13–14; 4:11. He is a craftsman, not the king of Tyre (5:1).
- h (7:14) 2 Chronicles 2:14 says his mother was from the tribe of Dan. She may have been of Danite descent but living in Naphtali, or the traditions differ.
- i (7:15) Hebrew "eighteen cubits was the height of each pillar, and a line of twelve cubits went around it," about 8.1 meters high and 5.4 meters around, giving a diameter of nearly 6 feet (1.7 meters). The Septuagint reads "fourteen cubits" for the circumference and adds that the fluting was four fingers wide (compare Jeremiah 52:21, which says the bronze was four fingers thick, about 3 inches or 7.5 centimeters, and that the pillars were hollow). It also adds "and thus was the other pillar formed."
- j (7:16) Hebrew "five cubits," about 2.3 meters. 2 Kings 25:17 gives three cubits.
- k (7:17) Hebrew; the Septuagint reads "a net" for "seven."
- l (7:18) Hebrew "he made the pillars." The words "pillars" and "pomegranates" appear to have been exchanged in this verse. The translation follows the sense.
- m (7:19) Hebrew "four cubits," about 1.8 meters. The detail may refer to the lily-shaped tops of the capitals.
- n (7:20) Hebrew "on the second capital"; the translation follows the sense of verse 42.
- o (7:21) Jachin means "he will establish" or "he establishes."
- p (7:21) Boaz probably means "in him is strength" or "with strength." The meanings of the two names together may form a sentence, such as "He [God] will establish [the throne] in strength."
- q (7:23) The Sea was a large basin for the priests to wash in (2 Chronicles 4:6).
- r (7:23) Hebrew "ten cubits from its brim to its brim … five cubits its height, and a line of thirty cubits would go around it," about 4.5 meters across, 2.3 meters high, and 13.5 meters around. The figures are round numbers; the circumference may have been measured below a flared rim. The Septuagint reads "thirty-three cubits."
- s (7:24) Hebrew "ten to a cubit," that is, ten for every 18 inches (45 centimeters).
- t (7:26) Hebrew "a handbreadth," about 3 inches or 7.5 centimeters. The Septuagint reads "a span."
- u (7:26) Hebrew "two thousand baths." A bath was a liquid measure of about 6 gallons (22 liters), so about 44,000 liters. The size of the bath is not certain, and estimates of the capacity vary widely. 2 Chronicles 4:5 gives "three thousand baths." The Septuagint here lacks the statement of capacity.
- v (7:27) Hebrew "four cubits … four cubits … three cubits," about 1.8 by 1.8 by 1.4 meters. The Septuagint reads "five cubits … four cubits … six cubits."
- w (7:31) Hebrew "a cubit," about 45 centimeters.
- x (7:31) Hebrew "a cubit and a half," about 68 centimeters; also in verse 32.
- y (7:35) Hebrew "half a cubit," about 23 centimeters.

- z (7:38) Hebrew “forty baths,” about 880 liters.
- aa (7:38) Hebrew “four cubits,” about 1.8 meters, probably the diameter.
- ab (7:40) The Septuagint (“caldrons”) and 2 Chronicles 4:11 read “pots”; the Masoretic text reads “basins” (the same word as in verse 38), apparently by a slip of one letter.
- ac (7:46) Succoth means “booths” or “shelters.” Zarethan has not been identified with certainty.

Chapter 8

1 Then Solomon gathered to himself in Jerusalem the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chiefs of the fathers’ houses of the Israelites, to King Solomon, to bring the ark of Yahweh’s covenant up out of the city of David, which is Zion.[a] 2 All the men of Israel gathered to King Solomon at the feast in the month of Ethanim (September– October),[b] which is the seventh month. 3 When all the elders of Israel had come, the priests lifted up the ark. 4 They brought up the ark of Yahweh, the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the tent; the priests and the Levites brought them up. 5 King Solomon and the whole assembly of Israel, who had gathered around him in front of the ark, sacrificed so many sheep and cattle that they could not be counted or numbered. 6 Then the priests brought the ark of Yahweh’s covenant to its place, into the inner sanctuary of the house, to the Most Holy Place, beneath the wings of the cherubim. 7 The cherubim stretched their two wings above the ark’s place, and the cherubim made a covering above the ark and its poles. 8 The poles were so long that a person in the Holy Place, before the inner sanctuary, could see their ends, though no one outside could see them. And there they remain to this day. 9 Nothing was in the ark but the two stone tablets that Moses placed in it at Horeb,[c] when Yahweh made a covenant with the Israelites as they came out of the land of Egypt. 10 And when the priests came out of the Holy Place, the cloud filled the house of Yahweh, 11 and the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud, for the glory of Yahweh filled Yahweh’s house.
12 Then Solomon said, “Yahweh has said that he would dwell in thick darkness. 13 I have surely built you an exalted house, a place for you to dwell in forever.”[d]

14 Then the king turned his face around and blessed all the assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel stood. 15 He said, "Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, who spoke with his own mouth to David my father, and with his own hand has fulfilled it, saying, 16 'From the day I brought my people Israel out of Egypt, I chose no city among all Israel's tribes for building a house where my name might be. But I chose David to be over my people Israel.'[e] 17 It was in the heart of David my father to build a house for the name of Yahweh, the God of Israel. 18 But Yahweh said to David my father, 'Since it was in your heart to build a house for my name, you did well that it was in your heart. 19 But you will not be the one to build the house. Your own son, born to you, will build the house for my name.' 20 Now Yahweh has fulfilled the word that he spoke. I have risen up in the place of David my father and sit on the throne of Israel, as Yahweh promised, and I have built the house for the name of Yahweh, the God of Israel. 21
And there I have made a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of Yahweh that he made with our fathers when he brought them out of the land of Egypt." 22 Then Solomon stood before the altar of Yahweh in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands toward heaven, 23 and he said, "Yahweh, God of Israel, there is no God like you, in heaven above or on earth beneath, who keeps covenant and faithful love with your servants who walk before you with all their heart, 24 who have kept for your servant David my father what you declared to him. With your mouth you spoke, and with your hand you have fulfilled it, as it is this day. 25 So now, Yahweh, God of Israel, keep the promise you made to my father David your servant when you said, 'You will never lack a man to sit before me on Israel's throne, provided your descendants watch their conduct and walk before me as you have.' 26 And now, God of Israel, let the word you spoke to your servant my father David come true.
27 "But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Look, heaven and the highest heaven[f] cannot contain you; how much less this house that I have built! 28 Yet turn toward the prayer of your servant and his plea, Yahweh my God, to listen to the cry and the prayer that your servant prays before you today, 29 May your eyes be open toward this house night and day, toward the place about which you said, 'My name will be there,' that you may hear the prayer that your servant prays facing this place. 30 Listen to the plea of your servant and of your people Israel when they pray toward this place. Hear in heaven, your dwelling place; and when you hear, forgive.

31 "If a man sins against his neighbor and an oath is laid on him to make him swear, and he comes and swears before your altar in this house, 32 then hear in heaven and act. Judge between your servants: declare the wicked guilty and bring his way upon his own head, and declare the righteous innocent and give to him as his righteousness deserves.
33 "When your people Israel are struck down before an enemy because they have sinned against you, and they turn again to you and confess your name and pray and plead with you in this house, 34 then hear in heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel, and bring them back to the land that you gave to their fathers.
35 "When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they have sinned against you, and they pray toward this place and confess your name and turn from their sin, when you afflict them, 36 then listen in heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel.
Teach them the good way to live, and send rain on your land, which you gave your people as an inheritance.
37 "When there is famine in the land, or plague, blight, mildew, locusts, or grasshoppers,[g] or when their enemy besieges them in the land of their cities,[h] or any kind of plague or sickness, 38 then whatever prayer or plea comes from any person or from your whole people Israel, as each one knows the plague of his own heart and stretches out his hands toward this house, 39 then listen in heaven, your dwelling place, forgive, and take action. Repay each person according to all his conduct, since you know his heart (for you alone know the hearts of all human beings), 40 so that they may fear you all the days that they live in the land that you gave to our fathers.
41 "Also, when a foreigner who does not belong to your people Israel comes from a faraway country because of your name 42 (for they shall hear of your great name, of your strong hand and outstretched arm), and he comes and prays toward this house, 43 then listen from heaven, your dwelling place, and grant everything the foreigner calls out to you for, so that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and revere you, as your own people Israel do, and may know that this house I built bears your name.

44 "If your people go out to war against their enemy, wherever you send them, and they pray to Yahweh in the direction of the city you chose and of the house I built for your name, 45 then hear from heaven what they pray and plead, and maintain their cause.

46 "If they sin against you (for no human being is without sin), and you are angry with them and hand them over to the enemy, so that their captors carry them off to the enemy's land, far away or near, 47 and if in the land of their captivity they come to their senses,[i] repent, and appeal to you in the land of those who hold them, saying, 'We have sinned, we have done wrong, and we have been wicked,' 48 if they return to you wholeheartedly, with all their soul, in the land of the enemies who took them captive, and pray to you facing their land, which you gave their ancestors, the city you chose, and the house I built to honor your name, 49 then from heaven, where you dwell, hear what they pray and plead, and maintain their cause, 50 and pardon your people who sinned against you, and every transgression of theirs against you, and cause their captors to look on them with pity, so that they show them mercy 51 (for they are your people and your inheritance, whom you brought out of Egypt, from the midst of the iron furnace). 52 May your eyes be open to your servant's plea and to your people Israel's plea, so that you listen whenever they cry to you. 53 For you separated them from among all the peoples of the earth to be your inheritance, as you declared through Moses your servant, when you brought our fathers out of Egypt, Lord Yahweh."[j]

54 When Solomon had finished offering all this prayer and plea to Yahweh, he arose from before the altar of Yahweh, where he had knelt with his hands spread out toward heaven. 55 He stood and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying, 56 "Blessed be Yahweh, who has given his people Israel rest, just as he promised.

Of all the good promises he made through his servant Moses, not a single word has failed. 57 May Yahweh our God be with us, as he was with our fathers. May he not leave us or forsake us, 58 that he may incline our hearts to himself, to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments, his statutes, and his judgments, which he commanded our fathers. 59 Let these words of mine, with which I have pleaded before Yahweh, be near to Yahweh our God day and night, that he may uphold the cause of his servant and the cause of his people Israel, as each day requires, 60 so that all the peoples of the earth may know that Yahweh is God; there is no other. 61 So let your hearts be whole with Yahweh our God, to walk in his statutes and keep his commandments, as you do today." 62 Then the king, and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before Yahweh. 63 Solomon offered as peace offerings to Yahweh twenty-two thousand oxen and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the Israelites dedicated the house of Yahweh. 64 On that same day the king consecrated the middle of the courtyard in front of Yahweh's house. There he offered the burnt offering, the grain offering, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar in Yahweh's presence was too small for the burnt offering, the grain offering, and the fat of the peace offerings.
65 So Solomon held the feast at that time, and all Israel with him, a great assembly from Lebo-hamath[k] to the Brook of Egypt,[l] before Yahweh our God, seven days and another seven days, fourteen days.[m] 66 On the eighth day he sent the people away, and they blessed the king and went to their tents joyful and glad of heart for all the goodness that Yahweh had shown to David his servant and to Israel his people.

Notes

- a (8:1) Zion was originally the name of the fortified hill of the Jebusite city that David captured (2 Samuel 5:7). Its meaning is uncertain; it may mean "fortress" or "dry place." The Septuagint reads more briefly, "When Solomon had finished building the house of Yahweh and his own house after twenty years, King Solomon assembled all the elders of Israel in Zion, to bring up the ark …"
- b (8:2) Hebrew Ethanim, an older Canaanite month name meaning "ever-flowing" (perhaps of streams that run all year, or of the rains that begin at this season). It is the seventh month of the spring-start religious calendar (later called Tishri), so it fell in September–October; the exact modern dates varied with the lunar calendar. The feast is the Feast of Booths (Leviticus 23:33–36). The Septuagint calls the month Athanin.

- c (8:9) Horeb is another name for Mount Sinai. It means "dry" or "desolate."
- d (8:13) The Septuagint places verses 12–13, in a different and longer form, after verse 53 (8:53a): "Then Solomon spoke concerning the house, when he had finished building it: 'He set the sun in the heavens; Yahweh said he would dwell in darkness. Build my house, a splendid house for yourself, to dwell in anew.' Is this not written in the Book of the Song?" Many scholars think "Song" (Hebrew shir) arose from a misreading of yashar, so that this is a reference to the Book of Jashar (compare Joshua 10:13; 2 Samuel 1:18).
- e (8:16) The Septuagint adds "and I chose Jerusalem, that my name might be there," as in 2 Chronicles 6:5–6.
- f (8:27) Hebrew "the heaven of heavens."
- g (8:37) Hebrew hasil, an insect, perhaps a kind of locust at a later stage of growth.
- h (8:37) Hebrew "in the land of his gates." The Septuagint reads "in one of their cities."
- i (8:47) Hebrew "return to their heart."
- j (8:53) The Septuagint adds the verses described in the note at verse 13.
- k (8:65) Or "from the entrance of Hamath," a town or pass on Israel's northern frontier. Lebo may mean "entrance."
- l (8:65) The Brook of Egypt is probably the Wadi el-Arish, on the southwestern border of Canaan.
- m (8:65) Hebrew "seven days and seven days, fourteen days," that is, the seven days of the dedication and the seven days of the Feast of Booths (compare 2 Chronicles 7:8–10). The Septuagint reads only "seven days."

Chapter 9

1 When Solomon had finished building the house of Yahweh and the king's house and everything Solomon longed and desired to make, 2 Yahweh appeared to Solomon a second time, as he had appeared to him at Gibeon.[a] 3 Yahweh told him, "I have heard the prayer and plea you made to me. I have set this house you built apart as holy, putting my name there forever. My eyes and my heart will always be there. 4 As for you, if you walk before me as your father David did, with a sincere heart and in uprightness, doing everything I have commanded you and observing my laws and rulings, 5 I will set up your royal throne over Israel forever, as I promised your father David:
'A man from your line will never be missing from the throne of Israel.' 6 But if you or your sons turn back from following me at all, and do not keep my commandments and my statutes that I set before you, but go off and serve other gods and bow down to them, 7 then I will cut Israel off from the face of the ground that I gave them, and the house that I have made holy for my name I will cast away from my presence. Israel will become a proverb and a taunt among all peoples.

8 And though this house is now exalted, it will become a ruin,[b] and all who pass by it will be astonished and hiss, and they will say, 'Why has Yahweh done this to this land and to this house?' 9 Then people will say, 'It is because they abandoned Yahweh their God, who brought their ancestors out of Egypt, and clung to other gods, worshiping and serving them. That is why Yahweh brought all this disaster on them.' "[c]
10 At the end of twenty years, in which Solomon had built the two houses, the house of Yahweh and the king's house, 11 Hiram king of Tyre had furnished Solomon with cedar and cypress wood and with gold, all that he desired; so then King Solomon gave Hiram twenty towns in the land of Galilee.[d] 12 But when Hiram came out from Tyre to see the towns Solomon had given him, they did not please him. 13
"What are these towns you have given me, my brother?" he said. So they are called the land of Cabul[e] to this day. 14 Now Hiram had sent the king about 9,000 pounds of gold.[f] 15 Here is the record of the labor force[g] King Solomon raised for building Yahweh's house and his own house, the Millo,[h] and Jerusalem's wall, and Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer. 16 (Pharaoh king of Egypt had come up and taken Gezer and set it on fire, putting to death the Canaanites living there, and he had given the city as a parting gift to his daughter, Solomon's wife; 17 so Solomon rebuilt Gezer.) He also built Lower Beth-horon,[i] 18 Baalath, and Tamar[j] in the wilderness, in the land, 19 all the storage cities Solomon owned, the cities for his chariots and for his horsemen, and whatever else Solomon wanted to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all the territory he governed. 20 As for all the people who were left of the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, who were not of the Israelites, 21 their descendants who were left after them in the land, whom the Israelites had been unable to devote to destruction,

Solomon made them a force of slave labor, as they are to this day. 22 But of the Israelites Solomon made no one a slave. They were the soldiers, his officials, his commanders, his officers,[k] and the commanders of his chariots and his horsemen. 23 These were the chief officials in charge of Solomon's projects: 550 who supervised the people doing the work.
24 As soon as Pharaoh's daughter moved up from David's city into the house Solomon built for her, he built the Millo.
25 Three times a year Solomon offered burnt offerings and peace offerings on the altar he had built to Yahweh, burning incense with them[l] before Yahweh. So he completed the house.
26 King Solomon also made a fleet of ships in Ezion-geber,[m] beside Eloth[n] on the coast of the Red Sea,[o] in Edomite land. 27 And Hiram sent with the fleet his servants, seamen who knew the sea, together with Solomon's servants. 28 They sailed to Ophir and took from there about 31,500 pounds of gold,[p] and brought it to King Solomon.

Notes

- a (9:2) Gibeon means "hill." See 3:4–5.
- b (9:8) So some ancient witnesses (compare the Syriac and Old Latin), reading le'iyyin. The Hebrew reads "will be high" ('elyon), perhaps meaning "however exalted this house is"; the Septuagint has "this house, which is high."
- c (9:9) The Septuagint adds (9:9a): "Then Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter up out of the city of David into his house, which he had built for himself in those days." Compare verse 24 and 2:35c.
- d (9:11) Galilee means "circle" or "district," short for "the district of the nations" (Isaiah 9:1).
- e (9:13) Cabul sounds like the Hebrew for "as nothing" or "good for nothing." A town named Cabul is mentioned in Joshua 19:27. The Septuagint renders the name "Boundary."
- f (9:14) Hebrew "one hundred and twenty talents," about 4,080 kilograms. A talent was about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).
- g (9:15) The Septuagint lacks verses 15–25 here. Parts of them appear in its additions at 2:35 and at 10:22a–c.
- h (9:15) The Millo ("filling") was probably a terraced or filled structure on the slope of the city of David.
- i (9:17) Beth-horon means "house of the hollow" or perhaps "house of Horon," a Canaanite god.
- j (9:18) So the Hebrew written text (Ketiv). The Hebrew reading tradition (Qere) reads Tadmor, as in 2 Chronicles 8:4, the oasis city later known as Palmyra. Tamar means "palm tree"; it was in the south of Judah (Ezekiel 47:19).

- k (9:22) Or "his captains," perhaps the third man in a chariot.
- l (9:25) Hebrew "burning incense with it, that which was before Yahweh." The meaning is uncertain.
- m (9:26) Ezion-geber may mean "backbone of a man," perhaps a ridge near the town.
- n (9:26) Also called Elath, meaning "terebinths" or "tall trees."
- o (9:26) Hebrew "the Sea of Reeds," here the Gulf of Aqaba.
- p (9:28) Hebrew "four hundred and twenty talents," about 14,280 kilograms. The Septuagint reads "one hundred and twenty talents." Ophir was a land famed for its gold; its location is uncertain.

Chapter 10

1 Now the queen of Sheba[a] heard of Solomon's fame on account of the name of Yahweh,[b] and she came to put him to the test with riddles.
2 She arrived in Jerusalem with a very great retinue, with camels carrying spices and a vast quantity of gold and precious stones. She came in to Solomon and talked with him of all that was in her heart. 3 Solomon answered all her questions; nothing was too difficult for the king to explain to her. 4 When the queen of Sheba saw all Solomon's wisdom, the house he had built, 5 the food of his table, the seating of his officials, the attendance of his servants and their clothing, his cupbearers, and the burnt offerings[c] he offered at the house of Yahweh, it took her breath away.[d] 6 She said to the king, "The report I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom was true.
7 But I did not believe what was said until I came and saw it with my own eyes. And look, not even half was told me. Your wisdom and prosperity go beyond the report that I heard. 8 How happy your men[e] must be! How happy these servants of yours, who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! 9 Blessed be Yahweh your God, who took pleasure in you, to place you on Israel's throne! It is because of Yahweh's everlasting love for Israel that he has made you king, to do justice and righteousness." 10 Then she gave the king about 9,000 pounds of gold,[f] a very great amount of spices, and precious stones.
Never again did spices arrive in such abundance as those the queen of Sheba gave to King Solomon.
11 Moreover, the fleet of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir carried from there almug wood[g] in great abundance, and precious stones. 12

The king used the almug wood for supports[h] in Yahweh's house and in the king's house, and for making lyres and harps for the singers.
Never since has such almug wood arrived, nor has any been seen to this day. 13 King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired, whatever she asked, besides what he gave her out of his royal bounty.[i] Then she turned and went back to her own land, she and her servants.
14 The weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was about 50,000 pounds,[j] 15 besides what came from the traders, the business of the merchants, and all the kings of Arabia[k] and the governors of the land. 16 King Solomon made two hundred great shields of beaten gold; about 15 pounds of gold[l] went into each shield. 17 He also made three hundred small shields of hammered gold; about 3¾ pounds of gold[m] went into each shield. And the king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 18 The king also made a great throne of ivory and overlaid it with the finest gold. 19 The throne had six steps, and its back was rounded at the top.[n] Armrests were on each side of the seat, and a lion stood next to each armrest, 20 On the six steps were twelve lions, a lion at each end of every step. Nothing like it was ever made in any kingdom. 21 All King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were of pure gold. None were of silver; it was thought of as nothing in Solomon's days. 22 The king had a fleet of Tarshish ships[o] on the sea together with Hiram's fleet. Every three years the Tarshish fleet returned with a cargo of gold, silver, ivory, apes, and baboons.[p] 23 So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom. 24 And the whole earth was seeking Solomon's presence, to listen to the wisdom God had placed in his heart. 25 Year after year, each one brought a gift of silver and gold articles, garments, weapons,[q] spices, horses, and mules.
26 Solomon assembled chariots and horses. He had 1,400 chariots and 12,000 horses,[r] which he kept in the chariot cities and near him in Jerusalem. 27 The king made silver as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar as abundant as sycamore-fig trees in the Shephelah.[s] 28 Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt[t] and from Kue;[u] the king's traders received them from Kue at a price. [29] A chariot could be imported from Egypt for about 15 pounds of silver[v] and a horse for about 3¾ pounds.[w] In the same way they exported them through these traders to all the kings of the Hittites and the kings of Aram.

Notes

- a (10:1) Sheba was a kingdom in southwestern Arabia (modern Yemen), whose people traded in spices and incense.
- b (10:1) The phrase is difficult; the Septuagint reads "the name of Solomon and the name of Yahweh."
- c (10:5) Or "the ascent by which he went up." The Hebrew word ʿolato can mean either; 2 Chronicles 9:4 reads "his upper chamber" or "his ascent."
- d (10:5) Hebrew "there was no more spirit in her."
- e (10:8) So the Hebrew. The Septuagint and Syriac read "your wives," a difference of one vowel and one letter in Hebrew.
- f (10:10) Hebrew "one hundred and twenty talents," about 4,080 kilograms. A talent was about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).
- g (10:11) Almug wood (called algum wood in 2 Chronicles 2:8; 9:10–11) is an unknown kind of valuable wood, perhaps red sandalwood or juniper.
- h (10:12) The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain; it may mean "railings," "steps," or "inlay."
- i (10:13) Hebrew "according to the hand of King Solomon."
- j (10:14) Hebrew "six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold," about 22,600 kilograms.
- k (10:15) Hebrew haʿereb, here vocalized as "the mixed peoples" or "the west," but almost certainly meaning "Arabia" (ʿarab), as in 2 Chronicles 9:14; the Septuagint reads "of the country beyond the river."
- l (10:16) Hebrew "six hundred shekels," about 6.9 kilograms. A shekel was about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams). The Septuagint has "three hundred spears of beaten gold; three hundred shekels of gold were on each spear."
- m (10:17) Hebrew "three minas," about 1.7 kilograms. A mina was about 1¼ pounds (575 grams). 2 Chronicles 9:16 reads "three hundred shekels."
- n (10:19) Hebrew "a round head was to the throne at its back." The Septuagint reads "calves in relief," reading ʿegel ("calf") for ʿagol ("round").
- o (10:22) Ships of Tarshish were large seagoing trading ships, named after Tarshish, a distant port probably in the western Mediterranean (perhaps Tartessus in Spain).
- p (10:22) Or "peacocks." The meaning of the Hebrew word tukkiyyim is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "wrought stones and hewn stones" and then adds 10:22a–c, a form of 9:15, 17–22.
- q (10:25) Or "myrrh." The Hebrew word nesheq usually means "weapons." The Septuagint reads "stacte" (a spice).
- r (10:26) Or "charioteers." The Septuagint reads "four thousand mares for his chariots and twelve thousand horsemen," and then adds (10:26a), "And he ruled over all the kings from the River to the land of the Philistines and to the borders of Egypt" (compare 4:21 and 2 Chronicles 9:26).

- s (10:27) The Shephelah ("lowland") is the region of low hills between the hill country of Judah and the coastal plain.
- t (10:28) Some scholars read "from Musri," a region in Asia Minor near Kue, instead of Egypt (Hebrew Mitsrayim).
- u (10:28) Kue was Cilicia, in southeastern Asia Minor. The Septuagint reads "Thecue."
- v (10:29) Hebrew "six hundred shekels of silver," about 6.9 kilograms. The Septuagint reads "a hundred shekels of silver."
- w (10:29) Hebrew "one hundred and fifty shekels," about 1.7 kilograms. The Septuagint reads "fifty shekels of silver."

Chapter 11

1 But King Solomon loved many foreign women, together with Pharaoh's daughter: women of Moab, of Ammon, of Edom, of Sidon, and of the Hittites, 2 from the nations about which Yahweh had told the Israelites, "You shall not go in among them, nor they among you, for they will surely turn your heart aside after their gods." Solomon clung to these in love. 3 He had 700 wives of royal birth and 300 concubines, and his wives drew his heart away.[a] 4 As Solomon grew old, his wives turned his heart toward other gods, and his heart was not fully devoted to Yahweh his God, as his father David's had been. 5 Solomon followed Ashtoreth,[b] the goddess of the Sidonians, and Milcom,[c] the abhorrent god of the Ammonites. 6 So Solomon did evil in Yahweh's eyes; he did not fully follow Yahweh as his father David had. 7 Then Solomon built a high place for Chemosh,[d] Moab's abhorrent idol, on the hill east of Jerusalem,[e] and one for Molech,[f] the abhorrent idol of the Ammonites. 8 He did the same for all his foreign wives, who burned incense and sacrificed to their gods.
9 Yahweh was angry with Solomon because his heart had turned away from Yahweh, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice 10 and had commanded him concerning this very thing, that he should not go after other gods. But he did not keep what Yahweh commanded. 11 So Yahweh told Solomon, "Because you have behaved this way,[g] and have not kept my covenant and my laws, which I commanded you, I will tear the kingdom away from you and give it to one of your servants. 12 Nevertheless, in your lifetime I will not do it, for David your father's sake; out of your son's hand I will tear it. 13 Still, I will not tear away all the kingdom; one tribe I will give to your son, for David my servant's sake and for Jerusalem's sake, which I have chosen."

14 So Yahweh stirred up an adversary[h] for Solomon: Hadad[i] the Edomite, who was of the king's family in Edom. 15 For it happened, while David was in Edom and Joab, the army's commander, had gone up to bury the dead, that he killed every male in Edom 16 (Joab and all Israel remained there six months, until they had wiped out every male in Edom), 17 Hadad fled to Egypt with some Edomites of his father's servants, Hadad being still a small boy. 18 They set out from Midian and came to Paran,[j] and they took men with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, assigned him food, and gave him land. 19 Hadad found great favor in Pharaoh's sight, so that he gave him as wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen. 20 Tahpenes's sister bore him a son, Genubath, whom Tahpenes raised in Pharaoh's palace. Genubath lived in the palace with Pharaoh's own sons. 21 But when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers and that Joab the commander of the army was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, "Let me go, so that I may go to my own country." 22 Pharaoh asked him, "What do you lack here with me that makes you want to return to your own country?" "Nothing," he answered, "but please let me go."
23 God also raised up another opponent against Solomon, Rezon[k] son of Eliada, who had run away from his master, Hadadezer king of Zobah. 24 He gathered men around him and became leader of a raiding band, after David killed them.[l] They went to Damascus and settled there and ruled in Damascus. 25 He opposed Israel all through Solomon's reign, adding to the trouble Hadad caused. He despised Israel and ruled over Aram.[m] 26 Jeroboam[n] son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zeredah, was one of Solomon's officials; his mother was a widow named Zeruah. He too rebelled against the king. 27 This is the story of how he raised his hand against the king. Solomon had built the Millo and had closed up the breach in the city of David his father. 28 Jeroboam was a man of ability,[o] and when Solomon saw how hard the young man worked, he put him in charge of the whole forced-labor crew from the house of Joseph.

29 About that time, as Jeroboam was leaving Jerusalem, the prophet Ahijah[p] of Shiloh met him on the road. Ahijah was wearing a new cloak, and the two were alone out in the country. 30 Then Ahijah seized the new cloak that was on him and ripped it into twelve pieces. 31 And he said to Jeroboam, "Take for yourself ten pieces, because Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: 'See, I am tearing the kingdom from the hand of Solomon, and I will give you ten tribes. 32 But one tribe[q] will remain his, for David my servant's sake and for Jerusalem's sake, the city that I have chosen from among all Israel's tribes. 33 The reason is that they have abandoned me[r] and bowed to Ashtoreth, the Sidonian goddess, Chemosh, the god of Moab, and Milcom, the Ammonite god. They have not lived by my ways, doing what is right in my eyes and keeping my laws and rulings as David his father did. 34 Yet I will not take all the kingdom out of his hand. I will keep him as ruler as long as he lives, for the sake of my servant David, my chosen one, who kept my commandments and statutes. 35 From his son's hand, though, I will take the kingship and give ten tribes of it to you. 36 And one tribe I will give to his son, so that my servant David may have a lamp[s] before me always in Jerusalem, the city I chose for myself to place my name there. 37 You I will take, and you will rule over everything you desire; you will be king over Israel. 38 If you obey everything I command you, follow my ways, and do what is right in my eyes by keeping my laws and commands as my servant David did, then I will be with you. I will build you an enduring dynasty just as I built one for David, and I will give Israel to you. 39 So I will afflict the offspring of David for this, yet not for all time.' "[t] 40 Solomon therefore sought to kill Jeroboam, but Jeroboam arose and fled to Egypt, to Shishak[u] king of Egypt, and he stayed in Egypt until Solomon's death.
41 The rest of the acts of Solomon, all that he did, and his wisdom, are they not written in the Book of the Acts of Solomon? 42 The time that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel was forty years. 43 Solomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam[v] his son reigned in his place.[w]

Notes

- a (11:3) The Septuagint lacks "and his wives turned his heart aside."
- b (11:5) Ashtoreth (Astarte) was a Canaanite goddess of fertility and war. The Hebrew vowels may have been changed to those of bosheth, "shame."
- c (11:5) Milcom, the national god of Ammon, a name related to melek, "king." The Septuagint reads "their king."
- d (11:7) Chemosh was the national god of Moab; the meaning of the name is uncertain.
- e (11:7) That is, the Mount of Olives; it was later called the Mount of Corruption (2 Kings 23:13).
- f (11:7) Molech is probably another form of Milcom (verse 5; compare verse 33). The Hebrew vowels may have been changed to those of bosheth, "shame."

- q (11:32) That is, Judah, with which Benjamin was reckoned (12:21). The Septuagint reads "two tribes" here and in verse 36.
- r (11:33) So the Hebrew; the Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses read "he has forsaken me," and so in the rest of the verse.

Chapter 12

1 Rehoboam went to Shechem,[a] for all Israel had come to Shechem to make him king. 2 When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard of it (he was still in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon), Jeroboam lived on in Egypt.[b] 3 They sent and called him, and Jeroboam and all the assembly of Israel[c] came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke hard. Now lighten the hard service of your father and the heavy yoke he laid on us, and we will serve you." 5 He said to them, "Go away for three days, and then come back to me." So the people went.

6 King Rehoboam took counsel with the old men who had stood before Solomon his father while he was alive. "How do you advise me to answer this people?" he asked. 7 They told him, "If today you will be a servant to this people and serve them, and answer them by speaking kind words to them, they will be your servants forever." 8 But he set aside the advice the old men gave him and took counsel with the young men who had grown up with him and who stood before him. 9 He asked them, "How do you advise us to answer these people, who told me, 'Lighten the yoke that your father placed on us'?" 10 The young men who had grown up with him told him, "Say this to the people who told you, 'Your father made our yoke heavy, but you lighten it for us': say to them, 'My little finger is thicker than my father's waist![d] 11 And now, whereas my father laid a heavy yoke on you, I will make your yoke heavier. My father punished you with whips; I will punish you with scorpions.' "[e]

12 Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, just as the king had said, "Return to me on the third day." 13 The king answered the people harshly. He set aside the counsel the old men had given him 14 and spoke to them as the young men had counseled: "My father made your yoke heavy, and I will add to it. My father flogged you with whips; I will flog you with scorpions." 15 So the king did not listen to the people, for it was a turn of events brought about by Yahweh, so that he might fulfill his word, which Yahweh had spoken through Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam son of Nebat.

16 When all Israel saw that the king refused to listen to them, the people gave the king this reply: "What portion is ours in David? No inheritance is ours in Jesse's son. Back to your tents, Israel! Now see to your own house, David!" So Israel went away to their tents. 17 But as for the Israelites who lived in the towns of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.[f] 18 Then King Rehoboam sent Adoram,[g] the overseer of the forced labor, but all Israel pelted him with stones until he died. King Rehoboam hurried to mount his chariot and fled to Jerusalem. 19 Thus Israel rebelled against David's house, and so it remains to this day.
20 When all Israel heard that Jeroboam had come back, they sent for him, called him to the assembly, and made him king over all Israel.
Only the tribe of Judah remained loyal to David's house.
21 When Rehoboam arrived in Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, one hundred and eighty thousand chosen warriors,[h] to fight against the house of Israel and restore the kingdom to Rehoboam son of Solomon. 22 But the word of God came to Shemaiah[i] the man of God: 23 "Say to Rehoboam son of Solomon, king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin and the rest of the people, 24 'This is what Yahweh says: Do not go up to make war on your kinsmen the Israelites. Return, each man to his house, because this has come about from me.' " So they listened to the word of Yahweh and went home again, as Yahweh had said.[j] 25 Jeroboam then built up Shechem in Ephraim's hill country and made his home there; and going out from there, he built up Penuel.[k] 26 And Jeroboam said in his heart, "Now the kingdom will go back to the house of David. 27 If these people go up to offer sacrifices in Yahweh's house at Jerusalem, their loyalty will return to their lord, Rehoboam king of Judah. Then they will kill me and go back to him." 28 After taking counsel, the king made two golden calves and said to the people,[l] "It is too much for you to go up to Jerusalem.
Look, Israel: your gods, that led you up out of Egypt's land!" 29 He set one in Bethel,[m] and the other he put in Dan.[n] 30 This became a sin, because the people traveled all the way to Dan to worship in front of the one there.[o] 31 He also built shrines on high places and appointed priests from every class of people, though they were not Levites. 32 Jeroboam established a festival on the fifteenth day of the eighth month (October–November),[p] like the festival held in Judah, and he went up to the altar. This was at Bethel, where he sacrificed to the calves he had made, and in Bethel he installed priests for the high places he had made. 33 He went up to the altar he had made in Bethel on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, in the month that he had devised in his own heart. He instituted a feast for the Israelites and went up to the altar to burn incense.

Notes

- a (12:1) Shechem means "shoulder" or "ridge"; it lay between Mount Ebal and Mount Gerizim.
- b (12:2) So the Hebrew (wayyesheb). 2 Chronicles 10:2 and some ancient witnesses read "Jeroboam returned from Egypt" (wayyashob). The Septuagint lacks verses 2–3a here (but see 11:43 and 12:24d–f).
- c (12:3) So the Hebrew reading tradition (Qere); the written text (Ketiv) has "and they came."
- d (12:10) Hebrew "my little one is thicker than my father's loins."
- e (12:11) Probably whips with barbs or metal tips.
- f (12:17) The Septuagint lacks verse 17.
- g (12:18) Adoram is a short form of Adoniram ("my lord is exalted"); see 4:6.
- h (12:21) The Septuagint reads "one hundred and twenty thousand."
- i (12:22) Shemaiah means "Yahweh has heard."
- j (12:24) The Septuagint adds a long alternative account of Rehoboam's accession and Jeroboam's rise and return (12:24a–z). In it Jeroboam's mother is a prostitute named Sarira, Jeroboam marries Ano, the sister of Pharaoh's wife, the story of his sick son (compare 14:1–18) comes before the assembly at Shechem, and the prophet who tears the garment is Shemaiah rather than Ahijah (compare 11:29–31).
- k (12:25) Penuel means "face of God" (Genesis 32:30); it was east of the Jordan on the Jabbok.
- l (12:28) So the Septuagint; the Hebrew reads "to them."
- m (12:29) Bethel means "house of God."
- n (12:29) Dan means "judge" or "he judged"; it lay at the northern edge of Israel.
- o (12:30) Hebrew "went before the one, as far as Dan." Some think words have dropped out, such as "to Bethel and before the other."
- p (12:32) Hebrew "in the eighth month," that is, Bul (6:38), later called Marcheshvan, of the spring-start calendar, one month after the Feast of Booths in Judah (8:2). The exact modern dates varied with the lunar calendar.

Chapter 13

1 And behold, a man of God came out of Judah by the word of Yahweh to Bethel, while Jeroboam was standing by the altar to burn incense. 2 He cried out against the altar by the word of Yahweh: "Altar, altar, this is what Yahweh says: 'A son named Josiah[a] will be born to David's house. On you he will sacrifice the priests of the high places who now burn incense on you, and human bones will be burned on you.' " 3 He gave a sign the same day: "This is the sign that Yahweh has spoken: the altar will split apart, and the ashes on it will spill out." 4 When King Jeroboam heard what the man of God had cried out against the altar in Bethel, he thrust out his hand from beside the altar, saying, "Arrest him!" And the hand he had thrust out toward him withered,[b] so that he was unable to pull it back. 5 The altar also was split apart, and the ashes poured out from the altar, according to the sign the man of God had given by the word of Yahweh. 6 Then the king said to the man of God, "Please seek the favor of Yahweh your God and pray for me, so that my hand is made well again." So the man of God sought Yahweh's favor, and the king's hand was made well again and became as it was before. 7 Then the king said to the man of God, "Come home with me and refresh yourself, and I will give you a reward." 8 But the man of God said to the king, "Though you should give me half of your house, I would not go in with you; I will not eat bread or drink water here. 9 For so I was commanded by the word of Yahweh: 'Eat no bread, drink no water, and do not go back by the way you came.'
" 10 So he left by a different road and did not go back on the road by which he had come to Bethel.

11 Now an old prophet lived in Bethel. His son[c] came and told him all that the man of God had done that day in Bethel; and the words he had spoken to the king, they told to their father as well. 12 Their father asked, "Which road did he take?" His sons had seen[d] which road the man of God from Judah had taken. 13 He said to his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me." So they saddled the donkey for him, and he rode on it. 14 He went after the man of God and found him sitting under an oak. He said to him, "Are you the man of God who came from Judah?" He answered, "I am." 15 Then he said to him, "Come home with me and eat some bread." 16 He answered, "I cannot go back with you or enter with you, and I will not eat bread or drink water with you in this place, 17 for I was told by the word of Yahweh: 'You must not eat bread or drink water there, and you must not go back the way you came.' " 18 The old man said, "I am also a prophet, just as you are, and an angel spoke to me by Yahweh's word, 'Bring him back with you to your house, so that he may eat bread and drink water.' " But the old man was lying to him. 19 So he went back with him and ate bread in his house and drank water.

20 While they sat at the table, Yahweh's word came to the prophet who had brought him back, 21 and he cried out to the man of God who had come from Judah, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Because you have defied the mouth of Yahweh and have not kept the command that Yahweh your God gave you, 22 but you came back and ate bread and drank water in the place where he told you not to eat or drink, your body will not be buried in your ancestors' tomb.' " 23 After he had eaten bread and drunk, the old prophet saddled the donkey for the prophet he had brought back. 24 He went on his way, and a lion met him on the road and killed him. His body was flung down in the road; the donkey stood by it, and the lion too stood by the body. 25 Some men passing by saw the body flung in the road and the lion standing next to it, and they came and told it in the town where the old prophet lived. 26 The prophet who had brought him back from his journey heard about it and said, "That is the man of God who disobeyed Yahweh's command.
So Yahweh handed him over to the lion, which mauled and killed him, as Yahweh's word to him had said."[e] 27 He told his sons, "Saddle the donkey for me," and they saddled it. 28 He went and found the body thrown on the road, with the donkey and the lion standing beside the body. The lion had not eaten the body or mauled the donkey. 29
The prophet picked up the body of the man of God, laid it on the donkey, and brought it back. The old prophet came into his town to mourn and to bury him. 30 He laid the body in his own grave, and they mourned over him, "Alas, my brother!" 31 When he had buried him, he told his sons, "At my death, bury me in the same tomb as the man of God; place my bones next to his.[f] 32 For the word he cried out by the word of Yahweh against the altar in Bethel and against all the shrines of the high places in the towns of Samaria[g] will surely come to pass." 33 Even after this Jeroboam did not turn from his evil way, but again he made priests for the high places from all ranks of the people. Anyone who wished, he ordained[h] to be priests of the high places. 34 This became the sin of Jeroboam's house and led to its destruction, wiping it from the face of the earth.

Notes

- a (13:2) Josiah means "Yahweh supports" or "Yahweh heals." His reign and the fulfillment of this word are told in 2 Kings 22–23 (see 23:15–18).
- b (13:4) Hebrew "dried up."
- c (13:11) So the Hebrew; the Septuagint reads "his sons."
- d (13:12) Hebrew "his sons had seen." The Septuagint reads "his sons showed him."
- e (13:26) The Septuagint lacks most of the second half of verse 26 and all of verse 27.
- f (13:31) The Septuagint adds "so that my bones may be preserved with his bones" (compare 2 Kings 23:18).
- g (13:32) Samaria, named in 16:24, was not founded until the reign of Omri. The phrase may reflect the later name of the northern region.
- h (13:33) Hebrew "he filled his hand."

Chapter 14

1 At that time Abijah[a] son of Jeroboam fell sick.[b] 2 Jeroboam told his wife, "Go and disguise yourself so that no one will recognize you as Jeroboam's wife, and travel to Shiloh. The prophet Ahijah lives there —the man who told me that I would rule this people. 3 Take with you ten loaves, some cakes, and a jar of honey, and go to him. He will tell you what will become of the boy." 4 Jeroboam's wife did so. She set out for Shiloh and arrived at Ahijah's house. Ahijah could not see, because his eyes had grown fixed[c] with age.

5 But Yahweh had said to Ahijah, "Jeroboam's wife is on her way to inquire of you about her son, since he is ill. Speak to her in this way. On coming in, she will be acting as if she were someone else."
6 So when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet as she came in at the door, he said, "Come in, wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be someone else? I have been sent to you with hard news. 7 Go, tell Jeroboam, 'This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: Because I lifted you up out of the people and made you ruler over my people Israel, 8 I tore the kingdom away from the house of David and gave it to you. Yet you have not been like my servant David, who kept my commandments and followed me with all his heart, doing only what was right in my eyes. 9 You have done worse than all your predecessors: you went and made yourself other gods and cast metal images to provoke me, and you turned your back on me. 10 So I will bring disaster on Jeroboam's house. I will cut off from Jeroboam every male,[d] slave or free, in Israel, and I will sweep away Jeroboam's house as dung is swept away, until none of it is left. 11 Whoever of Jeroboam's line dies in the city, dogs shall devour; whoever dies in the field, the birds of the sky shall devour. For Yahweh has spoken.' 12 As for you, get up and go home. When your feet enter the city, the child will die.

13 All Israel will mourn for him and bury him. He alone of Jeroboam's family will come to a grave, because in him something pleasing to Yahweh, the God of Israel, has been found in the house of Jeroboam.
14 And Yahweh will raise up for himself a king over Israel who will cut off the house of Jeroboam on that day. What then? Even now![e] 15 Yahweh will strike Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water, and he will root Israel up out of this good land that he gave their fathers and disperse them beyond the Euphrates,[f] because they have made their Asherah poles,[g] provoking Yahweh to anger. 16 He will give Israel up because of the sins of Jeroboam, which he committed and which he caused Israel to commit." 17 Then Jeroboam's wife got up and left and came to Tirzah.[h] As she crossed the threshold of the house, the child died. 18 They buried him, and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of Yahweh, which he spoke through his servant Ahijah the prophet.
19 As for the rest of Jeroboam's acts, how he fought and how he ruled, they are written in the Book of the Chronicles[i] of the Kings of Israel.
20 Jeroboam reigned twenty-two years. Then he slept with his fathers, and Nadab[j] his son reigned in his place.
21 Meanwhile Rehoboam son of Solomon reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city Yahweh had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. His mother's name was Naamah[k] the Ammonite. 22 Judah did what was evil in Yahweh's sight, and by the sins they committed they provoked him to jealousy beyond all that their fathers had done. 23 For they also built for themselves high places, sacred stone pillars, and Asherah poles on every high hill and under every green tree. 24 There were also male shrine prostitutes[l] in the land. They did according to all the abominations of the nations that Yahweh had driven out before the Israelites.

25 In King Rehoboam's fifth year, Shishak king of Egypt marched against Jerusalem. 26 He carried off the treasures of Yahweh's house and of the royal palace; he took everything, including all the gold shields Solomon had made.[m] 27 King Rehoboam then made bronze shields to replace them and entrusted them to the officers of the guard,[n] who watched the entrance to the royal palace. 28 As often as the king went into the house of Yahweh, the guard carried them and then brought them back to the guardroom.
29 The rest of the acts of Rehoboam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? 30 There was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually. 31 Rehoboam died and was buried with his ancestors in the City of David. His mother was Naamah, an Ammonite. His son Abijam[o] became king after him.

Notes

- a (14:1) Abijah means "Yahweh is my father."
- b (14:1) The Septuagint lacks verses 1–20 here; a different form of the story of the sick child appears in its addition at 12:24g–n.
- c (14:4) Hebrew "had stood," that is, had become rigid or sightless.
- d (14:10) Hebrew "every one who urinates against a wall," a coarse idiom for males.
- e (14:14) Hebrew "And what? Even now." The meaning is uncertain.
- f (14:15) Hebrew "the River."
- g (14:15) Asherah poles were wooden cult objects associated with the Canaanite goddess Asherah.
- h (14:17) Tirzah means "pleasantness" or "delight." It served as the capital of the northern kingdom until Omri built Samaria (16:23–24).
- i (14:19) Hebrew "the Book of the Matters of the Days," the official royal annals, here and throughout Kings.
- j (14:20) Nadab means "generous" or "willing."

- k (14:21) Naamah means “pleasant” or “lovely.” In the Septuagint, chapter 14 begins at this verse.
- l (14:24) Hebrew qadesh, “consecrated one,” probably a male prostitute associated with a shrine. The Septuagint reads “a conspiracy.”
- m (14:26) The Septuagint adds “and the golden spears that David took from the hand of the sons of Hadadezer king of Zobah and brought to Jerusalem” (compare 2 Samuel 8:7).
- n (14:27) Hebrew “the runners.”
- o (14:31) So the Hebrew here; 2 Chronicles 12:16 reads Abijah. Abijam may mean “my father is Yam” (“sea”), or it may be a variant form of Abijah. The Septuagint reads Abiu.

Chapter 15

1 In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam son of Nebat, Abijam became king over Judah. 2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Maacah,[a] daughter of Abishalom.[b] 3 He walked in all the sins that his father had committed before him, and his heart was not wholly true to Yahweh his God, as the heart of David his forefather had been. 4 Even so, for David’s sake Yahweh his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem by raising up a son to follow him and by keeping Jerusalem secure, 5 because David had done what was right in Yahweh’s eyes and had not turned aside from anything he commanded him all the days of his life, except in the matter of Uriah the Hittite.[c] 6 There was war between Rehoboam[d] and Jeroboam all the days of his life. 7 The rest of the acts of Abijam and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? There was war between Abijam and Jeroboam. 8 Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa[e] his son reigned in his place.[f] 9 In the twentieth year of Jeroboam king of Israel,[g] Asa began to reign over Judah, 10 Forty-one years he reigned in Jerusalem. His grandmother[h] was named Maacah, the daughter of Abishalom. 11 Asa did what was right in Yahweh’s eyes, as David his forefather had done. 12 He drove the male shrine prostitutes out of the land and removed all the idols[i] that his fathers had made. 13 He even removed his grandmother Maacah from her position as queen mother, because she had made a repulsive image[j] of Asherah. Asa cut the image down and burned it in the Kidron Valley.[k] 14 But the high places were not taken away. Nevertheless, Asa's heart was wholly true to Yahweh all his days. 15 He brought into the house of Yahweh the holy things his father had dedicated and his own dedicated gifts: silver, gold, and vessels.

16 There was war between Asa and Baasha[l] king of Israel all their days.
17 Baasha king of Israel went up against Judah and fortified Ramah,[m] to keep anyone from going out or coming in to Asa king of Judah.
18 Then Asa took all the silver and gold left in the treasure stores of Yahweh's house and of the king's house and gave it into the hands of his servants. King Asa sent them to Damascus, to the king of Aram, Ben-hadad[n] son of Tabrimmon, son of Hezion, with this message: 19
"Let us make a treaty, you and I, like the one between my father and yours. Here I have sent you a present of silver and gold. Go, break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel, so that he will withdraw from me." 20 Ben-hadad listened to King Asa and sent his army commanders against Israel's towns; he conquered Ijon, Dan, Abel-beth-maacah, and all Chinneroth,[o] along with all of Naphtali's territory. 21 When Baasha heard of it, he stopped building Ramah and stayed in Tirzah.
22 Then King Asa gave an order to everyone in Judah, with no exceptions. They took away the stones and timber from Ramah that Baasha had been using for building, and with them King Asa built up Geba[p] of Benjamin and Mizpah.[q] 23 As for the rest of Asa's deeds, all his power, everything he did, and the towns he built, are they not recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah? In his old age, however, his feet became diseased. 24 Asa slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father. And Jehoshaphat[r] his son reigned in his place.
25 Nadab son of Jeroboam began to reign over Israel in the second year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned over Israel two years. 26 He did what was evil in Yahweh's sight and walked in the way of his father and in his sin, which he caused Israel to commit. 27 Baasha son of Ahijah of the house of Issachar made a conspiracy against him.
Baasha killed him at Gibbethon,[s] a Philistine town, when Nadab and all Israel were laying siege to Gibbethon. 28 So Baasha killed him in the third year of Asa king of Judah and reigned in his place. [29] As soon as he became king, he struck down Jeroboam's whole house. He left no living person in Jeroboam's family but destroyed them all, in keeping with the word of Yahweh spoken through his servant Ahijah the Shilonite, [30] on account of the sins Jeroboam committed and caused Israel to commit, and the way he angered Yahweh, the God of Israel. [31] The rest of the acts of Nadab and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? [32] There was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.[t] [33] Baasha son of Ahijah became king over all Israel at Tirzah in the third year of Asa king of Judah, and he reigned twenty-four years. [34] He did what was evil in Yahweh's sight and walked in the way of Jeroboam and in his sin, which he caused Israel to commit.

Chapter 16

1 The word of Yahweh came to Jehu[a] son of Hanani against Baasha: 2 “Since I lifted you up out of the dust and made you ruler over my people Israel, and you have walked in the way of Jeroboam and have caused my people Israel to sin, provoking me to anger with their sins, 3 I am about to sweep away Baasha and his house, and I will make your house like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat. 4 Dogs will eat any of Baasha’s family who die in the city, and birds of the sky will eat any who die in the country.” 5 The rest of the acts of Baasha, what he did and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 6 Baasha slept with his fathers and was buried in Tirzah. And Elah[b] his son reigned in his place. 7 Moreover, through the prophet Jehu son of Hanani the word of Yahweh came against Baasha and his house, both because of all the evil he did in Yahweh’s sight, provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the house of Jeroboam, and also because he struck it down.[c] 8 In the twenty-sixth year of Asa king of Judah, Elah son of Baasha began to reign over Israel at Tirzah, and he reigned two years.[d] 9 Now Zimri,[e] his servant, who commanded half of his chariot force, formed a plot against him. While Elah was in Tirzah, drinking until drunk at the home of Arza, the palace steward in Tirzah, 10 Zimri came in and struck him down and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his place. 11 As soon as he was king and sitting on the throne, he struck down Baasha’s whole house. He did not leave a single male, whether relative or friend. 12 So Zimri destroyed all the house of Baasha, according to the word of Yahweh that he spoke against Baasha through Jehu the prophet, 13 because of all the sins of Baasha and the sins of Elah his son, which they committed and which they caused Israel to commit, provoking Yahweh, the God of Israel, to anger with their worthless idols.[f] 14 The rest of the acts of Elah and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Asa king of Judah, Zimri reigned seven days at Tirzah. The army was encamped against Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistines, 16 and the troops in the camp got word: "Zimri has plotted against the king and struck him down." So that day in the camp all Israel made Omri,[g] the commander of the army, king over Israel. 17 Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, and they besieged Tirzah. 18 When Zimri saw that the city was taken, he went into the citadel of the king's house and burned the king's house over himself with fire, and so he died, 19 because of the sins he had committed, doing what was evil in Yahweh's sight, walking in the way of Jeroboam and in the sin he committed, causing Israel to sin. 20 The rest of the acts of Zimri, and the conspiracy he carried out, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?
21 Then the people of Israel split into two groups. Half the people followed Tibni son of Ginath and wanted to make him king, and the other half followed Omri. 22 But the people who followed Omri overpowered those who followed Tibni son of Ginath. Tibni died,[h] and Omri became king.
23 In the thirty-first year of Asa king of Judah, Omri began to reign over Israel, and he reigned twelve years; six years he reigned in Tirzah. 24 He purchased the hill of Samaria from Shemer with about 150 pounds of silver,[i] and built a city on the hill. He called the city Samaria,[j] after Shemer, who had owned the hill.
25 Omri did what was evil in Yahweh's sight, and he did more evil than all who were before him. 26 He walked in all the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat and in his sins, which he caused Israel to commit, provoking Yahweh, the God of Israel, to anger with their worthless idols. 27 As for the rest of Omri's deeds and the power he showed, are they not recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel? 28 Omri slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria. And Ahab[k] his son reigned in his place.[l]

29 In the thirty-eighth year of King Asa of Judah, Ahab son of Omri became king over Israel, and he ruled over Israel from Samaria for twenty-two years.[m] 30 And Ahab son of Omri did evil in Yahweh's sight, more than all who were before him. 31 Not content with walking in the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, he took Jezebel[n] as wife, the daughter of Ethbaal,[o] the Sidonian king, and went to serve and worship Baal.[p] 32 He set up an altar for Baal in the house of Baal, which he built in Samaria. 33 Ahab also made an Asherah pole. Ahab did more to provoke Yahweh, the God of Israel, to anger than all the kings of Israel who were before him.
34 In his time Hiel[q] of Bethel rebuilt Jericho. It cost him his firstborn Abiram when he laid its foundation, and his youngest son Segub when he set up its gates, as Yahweh had said through Joshua son of Nun.[r]

Notes

- a (16:1) Jehu means "Yahweh is he." Hanani means "gracious."
- b (16:6) Elah means "terebinth" or "oak."
- c (16:7) That is, because Baasha destroyed the house of Jeroboam (15:29).
- d (16:8) The Septuagint lacks the regnal synchronism in this verse, as in verses 10 and 15.
- e (16:9) Zimri may mean "my protection" or "my praise."
- f (16:13) Hebrew hebel, "breath, vapor," often used of idols as empty and futile.
- g (16:16) Omri's name is of uncertain meaning. Assyrian records later call Israel "the house of Omri."
- h (16:22) The Septuagint adds "and Joram his brother at that time."
- i (16:24) Hebrew "two talents of silver," about 68 kilograms. A talent was about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).
- j (16:24) Hebrew Shomron, related to Shemer and perhaps meaning "watch hill." The Septuagint has Semeron.
- k (16:28) Ahab means "father's brother."
- l (16:28) The Septuagint adds here (16:28a–h) an account of the reign of Jehoshaphat of Judah, parallel to 22:41–50, dating his accession to the eleventh year of Omri.
- m (16:29) The Septuagint reads "In the second year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah." The regnal synchronisms are translated as they stand in the Hebrew.
- n (16:31) Jezebel may mean "Where is the prince?", a cry from the worship of Baal; the Hebrew vowels may have been altered to suggest zebel, "dung."
- o (16:31) Ethbaal means "with Baal" or "Baal exists."
- p (16:31) Baal means "lord" or "master," the title of the Canaanite storm god.

Chapter 17

1 Now Elijah[a] the Tishbite, of the settlers of Gilead,[b] said to Ahab, “As Yahweh, the God of Israel, lives, before whom I stand, there will be neither dew nor rain in these years except by my word.” 2 Then the word of Yahweh came to him: 3 “Leave this place, head east, and hide by the Wadi Cherith,[c] facing the Jordan. 4 You will drink from the brook, and I have commanded the ravens to feed you there.” 5 So he went and did according to the word of Yahweh. He went and stayed by the Wadi Cherith, east of the Jordan. 6 The ravens brought him bread and meat in the morning, and bread and meat in the evening,[d] and he drank from the brook. 7 After a while the brook dried up, because there had been no rain in the land.
8 Then the word of Yahweh came to him: 9 “Get up, go to Zarephath,[e] which belongs to Sidon, and stay there. I have commanded a widow there to provide for you.” 10 So he got up and went to Zarephath. At the town gate he saw a widow gathering sticks. He called to her, “Please bring me a little water in a cup so that I can drink.” 11 As she was going to get it, he called to her and said, “Please bring me a bit of bread in your hand.” 12 But she said, “As Yahweh your God lives, I have no bread, just a fistful of flour in the jar and a little oil in the jug. Look, I am picking up two sticks to go in and make it ready for my son and myself, so we can eat it and then die.” 13 Elijah told her, “Do not be afraid. Go and do as you have said. But first bake a little bread cake for me from it and bring it to me; then prepare some for yourself and your son. 14 For Yahweh, the God of Israel, says this: ‘The flour in the jar shall not run out, nor the oil in the jug fail, until the day Yahweh sends rain on the face of the ground.’ ” 15 She went and did what Elijah told her, and there was food for her, for him, and for her household many days. 16 The flour in the jar did not run out, nor did the oil in the jug fail, according to the word of Yahweh that he spoke through Elijah.

17 After these things the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, became ill. His illness grew so severe that no breath was left in him.
18 She said to Elijah, "What have I to do with you, man of God?[f] Have you come to me to bring my sin to remembrance and to kill my son?" 19 "Give me your son," he said. He took him from her lap, brought him to the upper room where he was staying, and laid him on his own bed. 20 Then he cried out to Yahweh, "Yahweh my God, have you also brought calamity on the widow with whom I am staying, by killing her son?" 21 Then he stretched himself out on the child three times and cried out to Yahweh, "Yahweh my God, please let this child's life[g] come back into him." 22 Yahweh listened to the voice of Elijah, and the child's life came back into him, and he revived. 23 Elijah picked up the child and carried him down from the upper room into the house and gave him to his mother. And Elijah said, "See, your son is alive." 24 The woman said to Elijah, "Now I know that you are a man of God, and that the word of Yahweh in your mouth is truth."

Notes

- a (17:1) Elijah means "my God is Yahweh" (Hebrew Eliyyahu).
- b (17:1) Hebrew mittoshabe gil'ad, "of the settlers of Gilead." The Septuagint reads "of Tishbe in Gilead," reading the same consonants as a place name. Gilead, the hill country east of the Jordan, may mean "rugged" or "heap of witness."
- c (17:3) Cherith perhaps means "cutting" or "ravine." A wadi is a streambed that is dry except in the rainy season.
- d (17:6) The Septuagint reads "bread in the morning and meat in the evening."
- e (17:9) Zarephath means "smelting place." It lay on the coast between Tyre and Sidon.
- f (17:18) Hebrew "What to me and to you?", an idiom of protest or distancing.
- g (17:21) Hebrew nephesh, "soul, life, breath."

Chapter 18

1 After many days the word of Yahweh came to Elijah, in the third year: "Go, show yourself to Ahab, and I will send rain on the face of the ground." 2 So Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. The famine was severe in Samaria. 3 Ahab called Obadiah,[a] who was over the household. (Obadiah feared Yahweh greatly. 4 When Jezebel was killing off the prophets of Yahweh, Obadiah took a hundred prophets and hid them, fifty to a cave, and supplied them with bread and water.) 5 Ahab told Obadiah, “Go through the land to every spring and every valley stream. We may find grass to keep the horses and mules alive, so that we will not have to destroy any of the animals.” 6 So they divided the land between them to pass through it. Ahab went one way by himself, and Obadiah went another way by himself.

7 As Obadiah was on the way, there was Elijah coming to meet him.
Obadiah recognized him, fell on his face, and said, “Is it you, my lord Elijah?” 8 He answered him, “It is I. Go, tell your lord, ‘Elijah is here.’
” 9 Obadiah said, “What sin have I committed, that you would hand your servant over to Ahab to put me to death? 10 As surely as Yahweh your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent people to search for you. Whenever they said, ‘He is not here,’ he made that kingdom or nation take an oath that they had not found you. 11 And now you say, ‘Go, tell your lord, “Elijah is here.” ’ 12 As soon as I leave you, the Spirit of Yahweh will carry you I do not know where. Then when I come and tell Ahab and he cannot find you, he will kill me, though I your servant have feared Yahweh from my youth. 13 Has my lord not been told what I did when Jezebel killed the prophets of Yahweh, how I hid a hundred of Yahweh’s prophets, fifty to a cave, and supplied them with bread and water? 14 And now you tell me, ‘Go and tell your lord, “Elijah is here”’? He will kill me!” 15 Elijah said, “As Yahweh of hosts lives, before whom I stand, I will certainly show myself to him today.” 16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab and told him, and Ahab went to meet Elijah.
17 When Ahab saw Elijah, Ahab said to him, “Is that you, you troubler of Israel?” 18 He answered, “It is not I who have brought trouble on Israel. You and your father’s family have done it, by forsaking what Yahweh commanded and going after the Baals. 19 Now then, summon all Israel to meet me at Mount Carmel,[b] along with Baal’s four hundred fifty prophets and Asherah’s four hundred prophets, the ones Jezebel feeds at her table.” 20 So Ahab sent word among all the Israelites and gathered the prophets together at Mount Carmel. 21 Elijah approached all the people and said, “How long will you go back and forth between two opinions?[c] If Yahweh is God, follow him; if Baal, follow him.” The people said nothing in reply. 22 Then Elijah said to the people, “I, I alone, am left as a prophet of Yahweh, but Baal’s prophets are four hundred and fifty men.[d] 23 Have them give us two bulls. They may pick one bull, cut it up, and set it on the wood without lighting any fire. I will make the second bull ready, set it on the wood, and light no fire either. 24 Then you call on the name of your god, and I will call on the name of Yahweh. The God who answers by fire, he is God.”

And all the people answered, “Well spoken.”[e] 25 Then Elijah said to the prophets of Baal, “Choose one bull for yourselves and prepare it first, for you are many. Call on the name of your god, but put no fire to it.” 26 So they took the bull that was given them and made it ready, and from morning to noon they kept calling on Baal’s name: “Baal, answer us!” But not a sound came, and no one answered. And they limped about the altar they had made. 27 At noon Elijah mocked them, saying, “Call out louder, for he is a god! Perhaps he is deep in thought, or he has gone aside,[f] or he is on a journey. Perhaps he is asleep and must be awakened.” 28 So they cried louder and, as was their custom, cut themselves with swords and lances until the blood poured over them. 29 When midday had passed, they raved on[g] until the time of the offering of the evening grain offering,[h] yet there was no sound, no answer, no one listening.
30 Then Elijah said to all the people, “Come near to me.” All the people came near to him, and he repaired the altar of Yahweh that had been torn down. 31 Elijah took twelve stones, one for each of the tribes of Jacob’s sons, to whom Yahweh’s word had come: “Israel will be your name.” 32 With the stones he built an altar in the name of Yahweh. He made a trench around the altar large enough to hold about 4 gallons of seed.[i] 33 He arranged the wood, cut the bull in pieces, and laid it on the wood. Then he said, “Fill four jars with water and pour it on the burnt offering and on the wood.” 34 He said, “Again,” and they did it again. He said, “A third time,” and they did it a third time. 35 The water ran around the altar, and he filled the trench also with water.
36 At the time of the offering of the evening grain offering, Elijah the prophet came near and said, “Yahweh, God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, let it be known today that you are God in Israel, and that I am your servant, and that I have done all these things at your word.

37 Answer me, Yahweh, answer me, so that this people may know that you, Yahweh, are God, and that you have turned their hearts back again." 38 Then the fire of Yahweh fell and consumed the burnt offering, the wood, the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. 39 When all the people saw it, they fell on their faces and said, "Yahweh, he is God! Yahweh, he is God!" 40 Elijah said to them, "Seize the prophets of Baal. Do not let one of them escape." They seized them, and Elijah brought them down to the Wadi Kishon[j] and slaughtered them there.
41 Then Elijah said to Ahab, "Go up, eat and drink, for there is the sound of a roaring rain." 42 So Ahab went up to eat and drink. Elijah went up to the top of Carmel, bowed himself down on the ground, and put his face between his knees. 43 He said to his servant, "Go up now and look toward the sea." He went up and looked and said, "There is nothing." Seven times Elijah said, "Go again." 44 On the seventh time the servant said, "I see a small cloud, as small as a man's hand, rising out of the sea." Elijah said, "Go up and tell Ahab, 'Get your chariot ready and go down, so that the rain will not hold you back.' " 45 In a little while the sky grew black with clouds and wind, and a downpour came. Ahab got in his chariot and headed for Jezreel.[k] 46 But the hand of Yahweh was on Elijah. He tucked up his robe[l] and ran ahead of Ahab all the way to the entrance of Jezreel.

Notes

- a (18:3) Obadiah means "servant of Yahweh." The Septuagint calls him Abdiu.
- b (18:19) Carmel means "garden land" or "orchard." The mountain ridge runs from the Mediterranean coast near modern Haifa toward the southeast.
- c (18:21) Hebrew "between the two branches" or "crutches." The Septuagint reads "halt on both feet."
- d (18:22) The Septuagint adds "and the prophets of the Asherah, four hundred."
- e (18:24) Hebrew "The word is good."
- f (18:27) Probably a euphemism for relieving himself.
- g (18:29) Hebrew "they prophesied," here of frenzied ecstatic behavior.
- h (18:29) Hebrew "until the going up of the minchah." The evening grain offering was made in the late afternoon, about 3 p.m. Here the Septuagint adds "and Elijah spoke to the prophets of the abominations, saying, 'Stand aside now, and I will offer my burnt offering.' "

- i (18:32) Hebrew "as great as a house of two seahs of seed," either a trench holding two seahs (about 15 liters) of seed, or one enclosing an area that two seahs of seed would sow. A seah was about 7 quarts (about 7.3 liters).
- j (18:40) Kishon may mean "winding." It drains the Jezreel Valley to the sea north of Carmel.
- k (18:45) Jezreel means "God sows."
- l (18:46) Hebrew "he girded his loins."

Chapter 19

1 Ahab told Jezebel all that Elijah had done, including how he had killed all the prophets with the sword. 2 Then Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying,[a] "May the gods deal with me, and worse, if by this hour tomorrow I have not done to your life what was done to each of theirs." 3 He was afraid,[b] and he got up and fled for his life. He came to Beersheba,[c] which belongs to Judah, and left his servant there. 4 But he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness. He came and sat down under a broom bush[d] and asked that he might die. "It is enough," he said. "Now, Yahweh, take my life, for I am no better than my ancestors." 5 He lay down and fell asleep under the broom bush. Suddenly an angel touched him and said to him, "Get up and eat." 6 He looked, and near his head lay a loaf baked on heated stones, and a jar of water. After eating and drinking, he lay down once more. 7 The angel of Yahweh returned a second time, touched him, and said, "Get up and eat, or the journey will be too much for you." 8 He got up, ate and drank, and in the strength of that food he walked forty days and forty nights to Horeb,[e] the mountain of God.

9 There he came to a cave and spent the night. And the word of Yahweh came to him, and he said to him, "What are you doing here, Elijah?" 10 He answered, "I have been very zealous for Yahweh, the God of hosts. The Israelites have forsaken your covenant; they have torn down your altars and put your prophets to death by the sword. I am the only one left, and now they want my life too." 11 He said, "Go out and stand on the mountain before Yahweh." And look, Yahweh was passing by. A great and mighty wind was tearing the mountains apart and shattering the rocks before Yahweh, but Yahweh was not in the wind. After the wind came an earthquake, but Yahweh was not in the earthquake. 12 After the earthquake came a fire, but Yahweh was not in the fire. And after the fire, the sound of a thin silence.[f] 13 When Elijah heard it, he wrapped his face in his cloak, went out, and stood at the cave's entrance. And a voice came to him: "What are you doing here, Elijah?" 14 He answered, "I have been very zealous for Yahweh, the God of hosts. The Israelites have forsaken your covenant; they have torn down your altars and put your prophets to death by the sword. I am the only one left, and now they want my life too." 15 Yahweh said to him, "Go back the way you came, to the wilderness of Damascus. When you get there, anoint Hazael[g] to be king of Aram. 16 Anoint also Jehu[h] the son of Nimshi to be king of Israel, and anoint Elisha[i] the son of Shaphat, from Abel-meholah,[j] to succeed you as prophet. 17 Anyone who gets away from Hazael's sword Jehu will put to death, and anyone who gets away from Jehu's sword Elisha will put to death. 18 Yet I will leave seven thousand in Israel, all the knees that have not bowed to Baal and every mouth that has not kissed him." 19 So he went from there and found Elisha son of Shaphat. He was plowing; twelve pairs of oxen went before him, and he drove the last. Elijah crossed over to him and flung his cloak on him. 20 Elisha abandoned the oxen and hurried after Elijah. "Let me kiss my father and my mother," he said, "and then I will follow you." "Go back," Elijah replied. "What have I done to you?"[k] 21 Elisha turned back from following him, took the yoke of oxen, and slaughtered them.

He boiled their meat using the oxen's gear for fuel and gave it to the people, and they ate. Then he got up, followed Elijah, and served him.

Notes

- a (19:2) The Septuagint begins Jezebel's message, "If you are Elijah and I am Jezebel, …"
- b (19:3) So the Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses. The Masoretic text vocalizes the consonants as "He saw."
- c (19:3) Beersheba means "well of seven" or "well of the oath."
- d (19:4) Or "juniper," as in older translations. The plant is the white broom (retama).
- e (19:8) Horeb means "dryness" or "desolation"; it is another name for Mount Sinai.
- f (19:12) Or "a gentle whisper," "a still small voice." The Septuagint reads "the sound of a gentle breeze."
- g (19:15) Hazael means "God sees."

- h (19:16) Jehu means "Yahweh is he."
- i (19:16) Elisha means "God saves."
- j (19:16) Abel-meholah means "meadow of dancing."

Chapter 20

1 King Ben-hadad[a] of Aram[b] gathered his entire army. Thirty-two kings joined him with their horses and chariots, and he went up, besieged Samaria, and fought against it. 2 He sent messengers into the city to Ahab king of Israel with this word: "Thus says Ben-hadad: 3 'Your silver and gold belong to me, and the best of your wives and sons belong to me as well.' " 4 The king of Israel replied, "It is as you have said, my lord the king. I and everything I own are yours." 5 The messengers came back and said, "This is what Ben-hadad says: 'I sent you word that you must hand over to me your silver and your gold, your wives and your children. 6 But about this time tomorrow I will send my servants to you, and they will search your house and your servants' houses. Whatever pleases your eyes[c] they will lay hands on and carry away.' "
7 Then the king of Israel summoned all the elders of the land and said, "Take note and see how this man is looking for trouble. He demanded my wives and my sons, my silver and my gold, and I held nothing back from him." 8 All the elders and all the people said to him, "Do not listen, and do not consent." 9 So he told Ben-hadad's messengers, "Say to my lord the king, 'Everything you first asked of your servant I will do, but this demand I am unable to meet.' " The messengers left and took the answer back. 10 Ben-hadad sent word to him: "May the gods do so to me and more also, if the dust of Samaria is enough to give a handful to each of the people who follow me." 11 The king of Israel answered, "Tell him, 'The one who straps on his armor should not boast like the one who takes it off.' " 12 Ben-hadad received this message while he and the kings were drinking in the temporary shelters.[d] He told his men, "Get into position!" and they took up positions against the city.

13 Then a prophet approached Ahab king of Israel and said, “This is what Yahweh says: ‘Do you see all this great horde? I am giving it into your hand today, and you will know that I am Yahweh.’ ” 14 Ahab asked, “By whom?” He said, “This is what Yahweh says: ‘By the young men who serve the district governors.’ ” Then he asked, “Who will begin the battle?” He answered, “You.” 15 So Ahab counted the young men of the district governors; there were 232 of them. After them he counted the whole fighting force of Israel, seven thousand. 16 They set out at noon. Ben-hadad, meanwhile, was getting drunk in the booths together with the thirty-two kings who had come to help him. 17 The young men of the district governors led the way out. Ben-hadad had sent men out, and word came back to him: “Some men are coming out of Samaria.” 18 He said, “If they have come out for peace, take them alive. If they have come out for war, take them alive.” 19 But these went out from the city, the young men of the district governors and the army behind them, 20 and each one struck down his man. Aram fled, and Israel pursued them, but Ben-hadad king of Aram escaped on a horse with some horsemen. 21 The king of Israel went out and struck the horses and chariots, and inflicted a great defeat on Aram.
22 Then the prophet came to the king of Israel and said to him, “Go, strengthen yourself, and consider well what you must do, because when the year turns[e] Aram’s king will march on you again.” 23 The officials of the king of Aram told him, “Their gods are gods of the hills, and that is why they overpowered us. But if we fight them on level ground, we will certainly overpower them. 24 And do this: take every one of the kings out of his command, and appoint governors instead. 25 Then muster an army like the army you lost, horse for horse and chariot for chariot. Let us fight them on the plain, and surely we will be stronger than they.” He listened to their advice and did so.
26 In the spring Ben-hadad mustered Aram and went up to Aphek[f] to fight against Israel. 27 The Israelites were mustered and provisioned and went out to meet them. The Israelites camped opposite them like two little flocks of goats, while Aram filled the countryside. 28 The man of God approached the king of Israel and said, “This is what Yahweh says: ‘Because the Arameans have said, “Yahweh is a god of the hills and not of the valleys," I will hand this whole huge army over to you, and you will know that I am Yahweh.' " [29] They camped facing one another for seven days. On the seventh day the battle was joined, and the Israelites struck down one hundred thousand Aramean foot soldiers in one day. [30] The rest fled to Aphek, into the city, and the wall collapsed on twenty-seven thousand of the men who remained. Ben-hadad also fled and came into the city, into an inner room.

[31] His servants said to him, "Look, we have heard that the kings of Israel's house keep faith and show mercy. Let us wrap sackcloth around our waists, put ropes on our heads, and go out to Israel's king. He may let you live." [32] They wrapped sackcloth around their waists, put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel. "Your servant Ben-hadad says, 'Please let me live,' " they said. He replied, "Is he still alive? He is my brother." [33] The men took that as a good sign and quickly seized on his word:[g] "Yes, your brother Ben-hadad!" "Go and get him," he said. When Ben-hadad came out, Ahab had him get up into his chariot. [34] Ben-hadad told him, "I will return the towns my father took from your father, and you may set up bazaars[h] in Damascus for yourself, as my father did in Samaria." Ahab said,[i] "On those terms I will let you go." So he made a treaty with him and sent him away.

[35] By the word of Yahweh a certain man of the sons of the prophets[j] said to his companion, "Strike me." But the man refused to strike him. [36] Then he said to him, "Because you have not obeyed the voice of Yahweh, as soon as you leave me a lion will kill you." And when he left him, a lion found him and killed him. [37] Then he found another man and said, "Strike me." The man struck him and wounded him. [38] The prophet went and stood by the road to wait for the king, disguised with a bandage over his eyes. [39] As the king passed by, he cried out to the king, "Your servant had gone out into the middle of the fighting. A man stepped aside and brought someone to me and said, 'Guard this man. If he goes missing, your life will be forfeit for his life, or else you will pay about 75 pounds of silver.'[k] [40] While your servant was busy with one thing and another, he vanished." "That is your sentence," the king of Israel said to him. "You have decided it yourself." [41] Then he quickly removed the bandage from his eyes, and the king of Israel recognized him as one of the prophets. 42 He said to the king, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Because you let slip from your hand the man I had devoted to destruction, your life shall go for his life, and your people for his people.' " 43 The king of Israel went home to Samaria, sullen and angry.

Notes

- a (20:1) The Septuagint places this chapter after the story of Naboth's vineyard, numbering it chapter 21; its chapter 20 is the Hebrew and English chapter 21. Benhadad means "son of Hadad," the Aramean storm god. The Septuagint renders it "the son of Ader."
- b (20:1) Aram is the land of the Arameans, centered on Damascus; older translations call it Syria, following the Septuagint.
- c (20:6) Hebrew "the desire of your eyes." The Septuagint has "the desirable things of their eyes."
- d (20:12) Hebrew sukkot, temporary shelters of a field camp. The Septuagint reads the place name Succoth at verse 16.
- e (20:22) Hebrew "at the return of the year," the season when kings went to war; likewise in verse 26.
- f (20:26) Aphek means "fortress." Several towns bore the name; this one was probably east of the Sea of Galilee.
- g (20:33) The Hebrew of this clause is uncertain.
- h (20:34) Hebrew "streets," probably market quarters for merchants.
- i (20:34) Hebrew lacks "Ahab said."
- j (20:35) That is, a member of a prophetic guild.
- k (20:39) Hebrew "a talent of silver." A talent weighed about 75 pounds (34 kilograms).

Chapter 21

1 After these things there was the matter of a vineyard belonging to Naboth[a] the Jezreelite. It was in Jezreel, beside the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.[b] 2 Ahab said to Naboth, "Give me your vineyard for a vegetable garden, since it is next to my palace. In place of it I will give you a better vineyard; or, if you would rather, I will pay you its price in silver." 3 But Naboth said to Ahab, "Yahweh forbid that I should give you the inheritance of my ancestors." 4 Ahab went home sullen and angry about the reply Naboth the Jezreelite had given him: "I will not hand over my ancestral inheritance to you." Turning his face away, he lay down on his bed and refused food.

5 His wife Jezebel came to him and asked, "Why are you so dispirited that you will not eat?" 6 He told her, "Because I spoke to Naboth the Jezreelite and said to him, 'Let me buy your vineyard for silver, or I will trade you some other vineyard for it, if you would rather.' But he answered, 'I will not give you my vineyard.' " 7 His wife Jezebel said to him, "Are you not the one who rules Israel now? Get up, eat something, and cheer up. I will get you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite."
8 So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, sealed them with his seal, and sent them to the elders and nobles of Naboth's town, his neighbors there. 9 This is what the letters said: "Call for a fast and give Naboth a seat of honor before the people. 10 Put two worthless men[c] across from him, and let them bear witness against him: 'You have cursed[d] God and the king.' Then lead him out and stone him until he dies." 11
The elders and nobles of Naboth's town, who lived there with him, carried out Jezebel's instructions exactly as her letters had directed.
12 They called for a fast and gave Naboth a seat of honor before the people. 13 Then the two worthless men came and took their seats across from him and bore witness against Naboth before the people:
"Naboth cursed God and the king." So they took him outside the town and stoned him with stones, and he died. 14 Then they sent a message to Jezebel: "Naboth was stoned and has died." 15 As soon as Jezebel heard that Naboth had been stoned and was dead, she said to Ahab, "Get up and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he would not sell you. Naboth is not living anymore; he is dead." 16 When Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, Ahab got up[e] to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite and take possession of it.
17 Then the word of Yahweh came to Elijah the Tishbite: 18 "Get up and go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, who is in Samaria. He is in Naboth's vineyard, where he has gone to take possession of it. 19 Tell him, 'This is what Yahweh says: Have you murdered and also taken possession?' And tell him, 'This is what Yahweh says: On the very spot where dogs lapped Naboth's blood, dogs will lap up your own blood too.' "[f] 20 Ahab said to Elijah, "So you have found me, my enemy?" He answered, "I have found you, because you have sold yourself to do what is evil in the sight of Yahweh. 21 I am about to bring disaster on you. I will sweep you away and cut off from Ahab every male,[g] slave or free,[h] in Israel. 22 I will treat your house as I treated the houses of Jeroboam son of Nebat and Baasha son of Ahijah, because you have made me angry and have led Israel into sin. 23 And concerning Jezebel also Yahweh has spoken: 'The dogs will eat Jezebel by the rampart[i] of Jezreel.' 24 Whoever of Ahab's family dies within the city will be eaten by dogs, and whoever dies in the countryside will be eaten by the birds of the sky."

25 (No one ever sold himself to do evil in Yahweh's eyes as Ahab did, urged on by his wife Jezebel. 26 He acted most abominably in going after idols,[j] just as the Amorites had done, whom Yahweh drove out before the Israelites.) 27 When Ahab heard these words, he tore his clothes, put sackcloth on his body, and fasted. He lay in sackcloth and went about subdued.[k] 28 Then the word of Yahweh came to Elijah the Tishbite: 29 "Do you see how Ahab has bowed low before me? Since he has bowed low before me, I will hold back the disaster during his lifetime. It is in his son's time that I will bring ruin on his house."

Notes

- a (21:1) The Septuagint places this chapter before the account of the Aramean wars (English chapter 20), as its chapter 20. Naboth may mean "sprout" or "fruit."
- b (21:1) The Septuagint reads "near the threshing floor of Ahab king of Samaria" and lacks "in Jezreel."
- c (21:10) Hebrew "sons of Belial," that is, scoundrels; likewise in verse 13.
- d (21:10) Hebrew "blessed," a scribal euphemism for "cursed"; likewise in verse 13.
- e (21:16) The Septuagint adds that Ahab tore his clothes and put on sackcloth, and only afterward got up and went down.
- f (21:19) The Septuagint reads "In every place where the swine and the dogs licked the blood of Naboth, there the dogs will lick your blood," and adds "and the prostitutes will bathe in your blood" (compare 22:38).
- g (21:21) Hebrew "every one who urinates against a wall."
- h (21:21) The meaning of the Hebrew pair ʿatsur weʿazub is uncertain: perhaps "bond or free," or "ruler or helper."

- i (21:23) Hebrew chel, “rampart” or “outer wall.” Compare 2 Kings 9:36, “the plot of ground of Jezreel.”
- j (21:26) Hebrew gillulim, a contemptuous term for idols, perhaps “dung pellets.”
- k (21:27) Hebrew “softly” or “quietly.” The Septuagint reads “weeping.”

Chapter 22

1 Three years went by with no war between Aram and Israel. 2 In the third year, though, Judah’s king Jehoshaphat[a] came down to visit the king of Israel. 3 The king of Israel said to his officials, “You know that Ramoth-gilead[b] is ours, don’t you? Yet we sit still and do not take it back from Aram’s king.” 4 He asked Jehoshaphat, “Will you come with me to fight at Ramoth-gilead?” Jehoshaphat answered the king of Israel, “You and I are one, my people and yours, my horses and yours.”
5 But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, “First, please, inquire for the word of Yahweh.” 6 So the king of Israel assembled the prophets, around four hundred of them, and asked, “Should I march against Ramoth-gilead, or should I refrain?” They said, “Go up, for the Lord[c] will give it into the king’s hand.” 7 But Jehoshaphat said, “Is there no other prophet of Yahweh here, of whom we may inquire?” 8 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “There is still one man through whom we could inquire of Yahweh, Micaiah[d] son of Imlah.
But I hate him, because he never prophesies good about me, only evil.” Jehoshaphat said, “The king should not say so.” 9 So the king of Israel called an officer and said, “Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once.” 10 Now Israel’s king and Judah’s king Jehoshaphat sat on their thrones in royal robes at the threshing floor by the entry to Samaria’s gate, while all the prophets prophesied in front of them. 11 Zedekiah[e] son of Chenaanah made himself horns of iron and said, “This is what Yahweh says: ‘With these you will butt the Arameans till you have finished them off.’ ” 12 All the other prophets were saying the same: “Attack Ramoth-gilead and win! Yahweh will hand it over to the king.”
13 The messenger sent to call Micaiah told him, “See here, the prophets are all of one voice in speaking favorably to the king. Please make your message agree with theirs and say something good.” 14 But Micaiah said, “As Yahweh lives, whatever Yahweh says to me, that is what I will speak.” 15 When he came to the king, the king said to him, “Micaiah, shall we go to battle against Ramoth-gilead, or shall we hold back?” He answered him, “Go up and triumph. Yahweh will give it into the king’s hand.” 16 But the king said to him, “How often must I put you under oath to say only what is true when you speak to me in Yahweh’s name?” 17 Then he said, “I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains, like sheep that have no shepherd. And Yahweh said, ‘These have no master. Let each of them go home in peace.’ ” 18 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Did I not tell you that he would prophesy nothing good about me, only evil?” 19 Micaiah said, “Therefore hear Yahweh’s word: I saw Yahweh sitting on his throne, and all the army of heaven standing by him, on his right and on his left. 20 Yahweh asked, ‘Who will lure Ahab into attacking Ramoth-gilead and dying there?’ One suggested this, another that. 21 Then a spirit came forward and stood before Yahweh and said, ‘I will entice him.’ 22 Yahweh asked him, ‘How?’ He said, ‘I will go out and become a deceiving spirit in the mouths of all his prophets.’ Yahweh said, ‘Entice him you shall, and you will succeed. Go out and do it.’ 23 So now, look, Yahweh has put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours. Yahweh has decreed disaster for you.” 24 Zedekiah son of Chenaanah went up and slapped Micaiah on the cheek. “How did the Spirit of Yahweh leave me to speak to you?” he asked. 25 Micaiah said, “You will see on the day you go into an inner room to hide.” 26 The king of Israel said, “Take Micaiah and return him to Amon the governor of the city and to Joash the king’s son, 27 and say, ‘This is what the king says: Put this fellow in prison and feed him on short rations of bread and water[f] until I come back safely.’

” 28 Micaiah said, “If you ever return safely, Yahweh has not spoken through me.” And he added, “Hear this, all you peoples!”[g] 29 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead. 30 The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will go into the fight in disguise, while you keep your royal robes on.” So Israel’s king disguised himself and entered the battle. 31 The king of Aram had ordered his thirty-two chariot commanders, “Do not fight anyone, small or great, except the king of Israel." 32 When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they said, "Surely that is the king of Israel." So they turned to fight against him, and Jehoshaphat cried out. 33 When the chariot commanders saw that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back from pursuing him. 34 Someone drew his bow at random[h] and struck the king of Israel in a gap between the pieces of his armor. The king told his chariot driver, "Turn around and take me out of the fighting,[i] for I am wounded." 35 The battle grew fierce that day, and the king was propped up in his chariot facing the Arameans. The blood from the wound ran into the floor of the chariot, and at evening he died. 36 As the sun was going down, a shout passed through the ranks: "Each man to his own town, each to his own country!" 37 So the king died and was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria. 38 They washed the chariot by the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood, and the prostitutes bathed there,[j] according to the word that Yahweh had spoken. 39 The rest of the acts of Ahab and all that he did, the ivory house he built and all the towns he built, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? 40 So Ahab slept with his ancestors, and Ahaziah[k] his son reigned in his place.

41 Jehoshaphat son of Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel. 42 Jehoshaphat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Azubah[l] daughter of Shilhi. 43 He followed the whole path of Asa his father without swerving from it, doing what pleased Yahweh. Yet the high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.[m] 44 Jehoshaphat also made peace with the king of Israel. 45 The rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, the might he showed, and how he waged war, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 46 He purged from the land the rest of the male cult prostitutes[n] who remained from the days of his father Asa.[o] 47 There was no king in Edom; a deputy served as king. 48 Jehoshaphat made ships of Tarshish[p] to sail to Ophir for gold, but they never sailed, because they were wrecked at Ezion-geber. 49 Then Ahaziah son of Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants go with your servants in the ships," but Jehoshaphat was not willing. 50 Then Jehoshaphat slept with his ancestors and was buried beside them in the city of David his father, and Jehoram[q] his son reigned in his place.

51 Ahaziah son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, and he reigned two years over Israel. 52 He did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh and walked in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jeroboam son of Nebat, who made Israel sin. 53 He served Baal and worshiped him and provoked Yahweh, the God of Israel, to anger, just as his father had done.

Notes

- a (22:2) Jehoshaphat means "Yahweh has judged."
- b (22:3) Ramoth-gilead means "heights of Gilead."
- c (22:6) Hebrew Adonai.

- i (22:34) Hebrew "the camp"; the Septuagint reads "the battle."

2 Kings

Old Testament

Chapter 1

1 After the death of Ahab, Moab[a] rebelled against Israel.
2 Ahaziah had fallen through the latticework of his roof chamber in Samaria and been hurt. He sent off messengers with orders: "Go, inquire of Baal-zebub,[b] the god of Ekron,[c] whether I will recover from this injury." 3 But the angel of Yahweh said to Elijah the Tishbite, "Get up, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them, 'Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are going to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? 4 Therefore this is what Yahweh says: You will not come down from the bed you have gone up to. You will surely die.' " And Elijah went on his way. 5 The messengers returned to the king, and he asked them, "Why have you come back?" 6 They told him, "A man came up to meet us and said to us, 'Go back to the king who sent you and tell him, "This is what Yahweh says: Is it because there is no God in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore you will not come down from the bed you have gone up to. You will surely die." ' " 7 He asked them, "What sort of man was he who came up to meet you and told you these things?" 8 They answered him, "A hairy man,[d] with a leather belt tied around his waist." He said, "It is Elijah the Tishbite." 9 Then the king sent a captain of fifty with his fifty men to him. He went up to Elijah, who was sitting on top of a hill, and said to him, "Man of God, the king says, 'Come down.' " 10 Elijah answered the captain of fifty, "If I am a man of God, let fire come down from heaven and consume you and your fifty." Then fire came down from heaven and consumed him and his fifty. 11 Again the king sent to him another captain of fifty with his fifty. He spoke up and said to him, "Man of God, the king commands you to come down at once." 12 Elijah replied, "If I am truly a man of God, may fire fall from the sky and burn up you and your fifty men." And God's fire fell from the sky and burned up the captain and his fifty. 13 Once more the king sent out a third captain with fifty men. This third captain climbed the hill, knelt down in front of Elijah, and pleaded with him: "Man of God, please, may my life and the lives of these fifty servants of yours be valuable to you. 14 Fire has come down from heaven and consumed the first two captains of fifty with their fifties. But now let my life be precious in your sight." 15 Then the angel of Yahweh told Elijah, "Go down with him. Have no fear of him." So Elijah rose and accompanied him down to the king. 16 He said to the king, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Because you sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, as though there were no God in Israel whose word you could seek, you will not come down from the bed you have gone up to. You will surely die.' "

17 So he died according to the word of Yahweh that Elijah had spoken. Jehoram[e] reigned in his place, in the second year of Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, because he had no son.[f] 18 The rest of the acts of Ahaziah, what he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel?[g]

Notes

- a (1:1) Moab, the land east of the Dead Sea. The name was popularly explained as "from father" (Genesis 19:37).
- b (1:2) Baal-zebub means "lord of flies," probably a mocking alteration of Baal-zebul, "Baal the prince." The Septuagint has "Baal Fly."
- c (1:2) Ekron, one of the five Philistine cities, means "uprooting" or "barren place."
- d (1:8) Or "a man with a garment of hair." Hebrew "a lord of hair."
- e (1:17) Jehoram (also spelled Joram) means "Yahweh is exalted."
- f (1:17) The Septuagint lacks everything in this verse after "Elijah had spoken." Compare 3:1, which dates Jehoram of Israel's accession to the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat.
- g (1:18) The Septuagint adds a summary of Jehoram's reign (1:18a–d): he reigned twelve years from the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, did evil but not like his mother, removed the pillars of Baal, yet kept to the sins of Jeroboam; "and Yahweh was very angry with the house of Ahab."

Chapter 2

1 When Yahweh was about to carry Elijah up into heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah was setting out from Gilgal[a] with Elisha. 2 Elijah told Elisha, "Please wait here; Yahweh has sent me on to Bethel."[b] Elisha answered, "By the life of Yahweh and by your own life, I am not leaving you." So the two of them went down to Bethel. 3 The sons of the prophets who were at Bethel came out to Elisha and said to him, "Do you know that today Yahweh is going to take your master from over you?"[c] He said, "Yes, I know. Keep quiet." 4 Elijah told him, "Elisha, please wait here; Yahweh has sent me on to Jericho." But he answered, "By the life of Yahweh and by your own life, I am not leaving you." So they arrived at Jericho. 5 The prophets' sons at Jericho drew near to Elisha and asked him, "Are you aware that Yahweh will take your master away from you today?" "Yes, I am aware of it," he said. "Say nothing." 6 Then Elijah said to him, "Stay here, please, for Yahweh has sent me to the Jordan." But he said, "As Yahweh lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So the pair of them walked on. 7 Fifty of the prophets' sons followed and took a position some distance away, facing the two men as they stood beside the Jordan.
8 Then Elijah took his cloak, rolled it up, and struck the water. The water parted to one side and the other, and the two of them crossed over on dry ground.
9 When they had crossed, Elijah said to Elisha, "Before I am taken from you, say what you would have me do for you." Elisha said, "Let a double share[d] of your spirit come to me, I pray." 10 He said, "What you ask is difficult. But if you see me while I am being taken from you, you shall have it; if you do not, you shall not." 11 As they went on, walking and talking, suddenly a chariot of fire and horses of fire came between the two of them, and Elijah went up in the whirlwind into heaven. 12 Elisha was watching, and he kept crying out, "My father, my father! The chariots of Israel and its horsemen!" Then he saw him no more. He took hold of his own clothes and tore them in two.
13 He lifted Elijah's cloak, which had dropped from him, and went back and stood on the Jordan's bank. 14 He took the cloak of Elijah that had fallen from him, struck the water, and said, "Where is Yahweh, the God of Elijah?" When he too had struck the water, it parted to one side and the other, and Elisha crossed over.[e] 15 When the sons of the prophets who were at Jericho saw him from across the river,[f] they said, "The spirit of Elijah rests on Elisha." They came to meet him and bowed to the ground before him. 16 They said to him, "Look, your servants have fifty capable men with them. Please let them go and search for your master. It may be that Yahweh's Spirit has lifted him and dropped him on a mountain somewhere or in a valley." He said, "Do not send them." 17 But they kept pressing him until he was ashamed to refuse, and he said, "Send them." They sent fifty men, and for three days they searched for him without finding him. 18 When they returned to Elisha, who was still staying in Jericho, he said to them, "Didn't I warn you not to go?"

19 The men of the city said to Elisha, "Look, the city is well situated, as my lord can see, but the water is bad and the land causes miscarriages."[g] 20 He said, "Fetch me a new bowl with salt in it." And they fetched it for him. 21 He went out to the spring and threw the salt into it and said, "This is what Yahweh says: 'I have healed this water. From now on it will no longer cause death or miscarriage.' " 22 So the water has stayed wholesome to this day, according to the word that Elisha spoke.

23 From there he went up to Bethel. While he was going up the road, some young boys[h] came out of the town and jeered at him, saying, "Go on up, baldhead! Go on up, baldhead!" 24 He turned around, looked at them, and cursed them in the name of Yahweh. Then two she-bears came out of the woods and mauled forty-two of the boys. 25 From there he went on to Mount Carmel, and from there he returned to Samaria.

Chapter 3

1 In the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Jehoram son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twelve years. 2 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, though not to the extent of his father and mother, for he took away the sacred stone of Baal that his father had set up. 3 Yet he clung to the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he had made Israel sin; he did not turn from them.
4 Mesha[a] king of Moab raised sheep, and as tribute he delivered to Israel's king a hundred thousand lambs and the wool of a hundred thousand rams. 5 But when Ahab died, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel. 6 So King Jehoram marched out of Samaria at that time and mustered all Israel. 7 He also sent this message to Jehoshaphat, Judah's king: "Moab's king has revolted against me. Will you join me in war against Moab?" He replied, "I will go up. You and I are one; my people are yours, and my horses are yours." 8 He asked,
"By which road shall we go up?" Jehoram answered, "By the road through the wilderness of Edom."[b] 9 So the king of Israel marched out together with the kings of Judah and Edom. After a winding route of seven days, the army and the animals that followed them had run out of water. 10 "What a disaster!" exclaimed the king of Israel. "Yahweh has summoned these three kings only to deliver us into Moab's power." 11 Jehoshaphat asked, "Isn't there a prophet of Yahweh here, so that we can seek Yahweh's will through him?" An officer of the king of Israel replied, "Elisha son of Shaphat is here; he used to pour water over Elijah's hands." 12 Jehoshaphat said, "The word of Yahweh is with him." So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat and the king of Edom went down to him.
13 Elisha said to the king of Israel, "What have I to do with you?[c] Take yourself to the prophets of your father and your mother." The king of Israel replied, "Do not say that. Yahweh has called these three kings together to hand them over to Moab." 14 Elisha said, "As Yahweh of hosts lives, before whom I stand, if I did not have regard for Jehoshaphat king of Judah, I would not look at you or even see you. 15 But now bring me a musician." And while the musician played, the hand of Yahweh came on him. 16 He said, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Make this wadi full of pools.'[d] 17 For this is what Yahweh says: 'You will see no wind and you will see no rain, yet this wadi will be filled with water, and you will drink, you, your cattle, and your animals.' 18 This is only a small thing in the sight of Yahweh; he will also give Moab into your hand. 19 You will attack every walled city and every important town. You will cut down every good tree, block every spring, and spoil every good field by covering it with stones." 20 The next morning, when the grain offering[e] was due, water suddenly flowed in from the direction of Edom, and the ground was covered with it.

21 When all the Moabites heard that the kings had come up to fight against them, everyone old enough to put on armor, and older, was called out and stationed at the border. 22 They got up at dawn, and as the sun rose over the water, the Moabites looked across and saw the water red like blood. 23 "Blood!" they said. "The kings must have turned their swords on each other[f] and slaughtered one another. On to the spoil, Moab!" 24 But when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and struck the Moabites, who fled before them. They pressed on into the land, striking Moab as they went.[g] 25 They tore down the towns. On every good field each man threw a stone, until it was covered. They stopped up every spring and felled every good tree, until only the stones of Kir-hareseth[h] were left, and the slingers surrounded it and attacked it. 26 When Moab's king saw that the fighting was too strong for him, he took seven hundred men who could wield the sword and tried to break through toward the king of Edom, but they failed. 27 Then he took his firstborn son, who was to reign after him, and sacrificed him as a burnt offering on the wall. Great wrath[i] fell on Israel, and they pulled back from him and went home to their land.

Notes

- a (3:4) Mesha may mean "salvation." His own inscription, the Moabite Stone (about 840 B.C.), tells of Moab's revolt from the Moabite side.
- b (3:8) Edom, "red," the land south of the Dead Sea.
- c (3:13) Hebrew "What to me and to you?"
- d (3:16) Or "trenches." Hebrew "Make this wadi pits, pits."
- e (3:20) Hebrew "at the going up of the minchah," the morning grain offering.
- f (3:23) Hebrew uncertain; perhaps "have surely put each other to the sword."
- g (3:24) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain; some ancient witnesses read "they went on striking."
- h (3:25) Kir-hareseth means "city of potsherds" or "wall of potsherds." It is probably modern Kerak in Jordan.
- i (3:27) Hebrew qetseph, "wrath, fury." Whose wrath is not stated.

Chapter 4

1 Now the wife of one of the sons of the prophets cried out to Elisha, "Your servant my husband is dead, and you know that your servant feared Yahweh. But now the creditor has come to take my two children as his slaves." 2 Elisha said to her, "What can I do for you? Tell me, what do you have in the house?" She said, "Your servant has nothing in the house except a flask of oil." 3 He said, "Go around to your neighbors and borrow jars from all of them, empty ones, as many as you can. 4 Then go in and shut the door behind you and your sons, and pour oil into all these vessels. As each is filled, set it aside." 5 So she went from him and closed the door on herself and her sons.
While they brought her the jars, she went on pouring. 6 When all the jars were full, she said to her son, "Bring me one more jar." But he replied, "There isn't another one." And then the oil ceased. 7 She came and told the man of God, and he said, "Go, sell the oil and pay your debt, and you and your sons can live on the rest." 8 One day Elisha passed through Shunem,[a] where a wealthy woman lived, and she urged him to eat a meal. After that, every time he came by, he stopped there for a meal. 9 She told her husband, "I can tell that the man who regularly comes by here is a holy man of God. 10 Let us make a small walled room on the roof and put a bed, a table, a chair, and a lamp there for him. Then whenever he comes to us, he can stay there."

11 One day he arrived, went up into the roof room, and lay down to rest. 12 He said to his servant Gehazi,[b] "Call this Shunammite woman." He called her, and she stood before him. 13 He said to Gehazi, "Say to her, 'You have gone to all this trouble for us. What may we do in return? Would you like a word put in for you with the king or the army commander?' " She answered, "I live among my own people." 14 He said, "What then can be done for her?" Gehazi answered, "Well, she has no son, and her husband is old." 15 He said, "Call her." When he had called her, she stood in the doorway. 16 He said, "At this season, when the time comes round, you will be holding a son in your arms."
She said, "No, my lord, man of God, do not deceive your servant." 17 But the woman conceived and bore a son at that season, when the time came round, as Elisha had told her.
18 The child grew, and one day he went out to join his father, who was with the reapers. 19 He said to his father, "My head, my head!" His father said to a servant, "Carry him to his mother." 20 The servant lifted him and carried him to his mother. The boy sat on her lap until noon, and then he died. 21 She went up, laid him on the bed of the man of God, shut the door on him, and went out. 22 Then she called to her husband and said, "Please send me one of the servants and one of the donkeys, so that I may hurry to the man of God and come back." 23 He said, "Why are you going to him today? It is neither new moon nor Sabbath." She said, "It is all right."[c] 24 Then she saddled the donkey and said to her servant, "Drive on, go! Do not slow down for me unless I tell you." 25 So she set out and came to the man of God at Mount Carmel. When the man of God caught sight of her far off, he told Gehazi his servant, "There is the Shunammite woman. 26 Run now to meet her and ask her, 'Are you well? Is your husband well? Is the child well?' " She answered, "All is well." 27 When she reached the man of God at the mountain, she grabbed his feet. Gehazi stepped forward to shove her aside, but the man of God said, "Let her be. She is deeply troubled, and Yahweh has kept the reason from me; he hasn't told me." 28 Then she said, "Was it I who asked my lord for a son? Did I not tell you, 'Do not raise my hopes'?"[d] 29 He said to Gehazi, "Tuck up your robe, take my staff, and be off. Greet no one you meet, and answer no one who greets you. Lay my staff on the boy's face." 30 But the child's mother said, "As Yahweh lives, and as you yourself live, I will not leave you." So Elisha rose and went with her. 31 Gehazi hurried on ahead and set the staff on the boy's face, yet there was no voice and no sign of life. So he turned back to meet Elisha and reported, "The child did not wake up." 32 When Elisha came into the house, there was the boy, dead, lying on his bed. 33 He went in and closed the door behind the two of them, and he prayed to Yahweh. 34 Then he got up on the bed and lay on the child, putting his mouth on his mouth, his eyes on his eyes, and his hands on his hands. As he stretched himself over him, the child's body grew warm. 35 Then he got down and paced to and fro in the house once, then went up and stretched himself over him again. Seven times the boy sneezed, and then his eyes opened. 36 Elisha summoned Gehazi and said, "Call the Shunammite." Gehazi called her, and when she entered the room, Elisha said, "Pick up your son." 37 She entered, dropped at his feet, and bowed low to the ground. Then she took her son and left the room.

38 Elisha returned to Gilgal while there was a famine in the land. As the sons of the prophets were sitting before him, he said to his servant,
"Put the large pot on and boil a stew for the sons of the prophets." 39
One man went out to the countryside to gather herbs. There he found a wild vine and filled the fold of his cloak with its wild gourds.[e] He returned and sliced them into the stew pot, though no one knew what they were. 40 They served it to the men, but when the men began to eat the stew, they shouted, "Man of God, death is in the pot!" They were unable to eat it. 41 Elisha said, "Bring me flour," and he tossed it into the pot. "Pour it out for the people to eat," he said. And there was nothing harmful in the pot.
42 A man from Baal-shalishah[f] arrived with twenty barley loaves made from the first harvest, and some fresh grain in his bag,[g] for the man of God. Elisha said, "Hand it out for the people to eat." 43 His servant objected, "How am I supposed to serve this to a hundred men?" Elisha repeated, "Hand it out for the people to eat. This is what Yahweh says:
'They will eat, and there will be food left over.' " 44 So he set it before them, and they ate and had some left over, according to the word of Yahweh.

Chapter 5

1 Naaman,[a] commander of the army of the king of Aram, was a great man in his master's eyes and highly regarded, because through him Yahweh had given victory to Aram. He was a mighty warrior, but he had a serious skin disease.[b] 2 Now the Arameans had gone out on raids and had taken captive a young girl from the land of Israel, and she served Naaman's wife. 3 She told her mistress, "I wish my master could go to the prophet in Samaria. He would rid him of his skin disease." 4 So Naaman went in and told his lord, "This is what the girl from the land of Israel said." 5 The king of Aram said, "Go now, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel." So he went, taking with him about 750 pounds of silver,[c] about 150 pounds of gold,[d] and ten sets of clothing. 6 The letter he delivered to Israel's king said: "Along with this letter comes my servant Naaman, whom I have sent so that you may rid him of his skin disease." 7 When the king of Israel read the letter, he tore his clothes and said, "Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man sends me word to cure someone of his skin disease?
Just look and see how he is seeking a quarrel with me." 8 When Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had ripped his garments, he sent this message to the king: "Why did you rip your garments? Send the man to me, and he will find out that there is a prophet in Israel." 9 So Naaman arrived with his horses and chariots and stopped at the entrance of Elisha's house. 10 Elisha sent a messenger out to him, saying, "Go, bathe in the Jordan seven times. Then your flesh will become sound again, and you will be clean." 11 But Naaman grew angry and went away, saying, "I thought that surely he would come out to me, stand and call on the name of Yahweh his God, wave his hand over the place, and cure the disease. 12 Are not Abana[e] and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and went off in a rage. 13 But his servants came near and said to him, "My father,[f] had the prophet ordered some hard thing, you would have done it, would you not? All the more, then, since all he says is, 'Bathe and be clean.' " 14 So Naaman went down and dipped himself in the Jordan seven times, just as the man of God had instructed. His skin became like the skin of a child, and he was clean.

15 He went back to the man of God with all his attendants and stood in front of him. "Now I know," he said, "that nowhere on earth is there a God besides the God of Israel. So I ask you to take a present[g] from your servant." 16 But he said, "As Yahweh lives, before whom I stand, I will accept nothing." Naaman urged him to accept, but he refused. 17 Then Naaman said, "If not, then please let your servant have two mule-loads of soil,[h] because from now on your servant will offer burnt offering or sacrifice to no other god but Yahweh. 18 But in this one matter may Yahweh pardon your servant: when my master enters Rimmon's[i] temple to worship there and leans on my arm, and so I bow down in Rimmon's temple too, when I bow there, may Yahweh pardon your servant in this matter." 19 He said to him, "Go in peace." And when Naaman had gone some distance[j] from him, 20 Gehazi, the servant of Elisha the man of God, said to himself, "See how my master has spared Naaman, this Aramean, by not taking what he offered. As Yahweh lives, I will run after him and get something from him." 21 So Gehazi hurried after Naaman. Naaman, seeing a man running to catch up with him, stepped down from his chariot to meet him. "Is all well?" he asked. 22 "All is well," Gehazi said. "My master sent me with this message: 'Two young men from the company of the prophets have just arrived from the hill country of Ephraim. Please provide them with about 75 pounds of silver[k] and two changes of clothes.' "

23 Naaman said, “Please, take about 150 pounds.”[l] He urged him and tied up the silver in two bags with two sets of clothing, and handed them to two of his own servants to carry ahead of Gehazi. 24 When he came to the hill,[m] he took them from their hands and stored them in the house. Then he sent the men away, and they left. 25 Gehazi went in and stood beside his master. Elisha asked him, “Where have you come from, Gehazi?” “Your servant didn’t go anywhere,” he answered. 26 But Elisha said, “Was my spirit not there with you when the man stepped down from his chariot to greet you? Is this the time to take money, or clothes, or olive groves and vineyards, sheep and cattle, male and female servants? 27 So Naaman’s skin disease will stick to you and to your descendants for all time.” Gehazi left Elisha’s presence with a skin disease as white as snow.

Chapter 6

1 The sons of the prophets said to Elisha, “Look, the place where we live under your charge is too cramped for us. 2 Let us go to the Jordan, where each of us can cut a beam, and let us build ourselves a place to live there.” He said, “Go.” 3 Then one of them said, “Please be willing to come with your servants.” He answered, “I will come.” 4 So he went with them. When they reached the Jordan, they began cutting down trees. 5 But as one of them was felling a beam, the iron ax head fell into the water. He cried out, “Oh no, my master! It was borrowed!”[a] 6 The man of God asked, “Where did it fall?” When he showed him the place, Elisha cut off a stick, threw it in there, and made the iron float. 7 “Lift it out,” he said. And the man stretched out his hand and grabbed it.
8 Once, while Aram’s king was fighting against Israel, he conferred with his officers and said, “My camp will be at such and such a place.” 9 But the man of God sent this warning to Israel’s king: “Be careful to avoid that place, because the Arameans are going down there.” 10
The king of Israel sent men to the place the man of God had told him about. Time and again he warned the king, so that he was on guard there, more than once or twice. 11 The mind of the king of Aram was greatly troubled over this. He summoned his officers and demanded, “Which one of us is siding with Israel’s king? Tell me!” 12 One of his servants said, “None of us, my lord the king. Elisha, the prophet in Israel, reports to Israel’s king even what you say in your bedroom.” 13 He said, “Go and find out where he is, so that I may send and seize him.” He was told, “He is in Dothan.”[b] 14 So he sent horses and chariots there and a strong force. They came by night and surrounded the city.
15 Early the next morning, the servant of the man of God got up and went outside. An army with horses and chariots encircled the city.
“Oh, my master, what are we going to do?” the servant asked. 16 He answered, “Do not be afraid, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them.” 17 Then Elisha prayed, “Yahweh, please open his eyes so that he may see.” Yahweh opened the servant’s eyes, and he saw the mountain full of horses and chariots of fire all around Elisha. 18 When the Arameans came down against him, Elisha prayed to Yahweh, “Strike this people with blindness.”[c] And he struck them with blindness, as Elisha had asked. 19 Elisha told them, “You are on the wrong road, and this is the wrong city. Come after me, and I will lead you to the man you seek.” And he took them to Samaria.

20 As soon as they had entered Samaria, Elisha said, “Yahweh, open the eyes of these men so that they may see.” Yahweh opened their eyes, and they saw that they were inside Samaria. 21 When the king of Israel saw them, he said to Elisha, “Shall I strike them down, my father? Shall I strike them down?” 22 “Don’t kill them,” he answered. “Would you kill men you did not capture with your own sword and bow?[d] Set food and water in front of them so that they can eat and drink, and send them back to their master.” 23 So he prepared a great feast for them. When they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. And the Aramean raiding bands stopped coming into the land of Israel.
24 Some time later Ben-hadad king of Aram mustered his whole army, went up, and laid siege to Samaria. 25 There was a great famine in Samaria. The siege went on until a donkey’s head sold for about 2 pounds of silver,[e] and half a pint of dove’s dung[f] for about 2 ounces of silver.[g] 26 As the king of Israel was walking along the city wall, a woman called out to him, “Save me, my lord the king!” 27 He said, “If Yahweh will not save you, where am I to get help for you? From the threshing floor? From the winepress?” 28 The king then said to her, “What is troubling you?” She replied, “This woman told me, ‘Give up your son so that we can eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’ 29 So we cooked my son and ate him. On the following day I told her, ‘Now it is your son’s turn to be eaten,’ but she has hidden him away.” 30 When the king heard the woman’s words, he tore his clothes. As he was walking along the wall, the people looked, and there was sackcloth underneath, on his body. 31 He said, “May God deal with me, and even more severely, if Elisha son of Shaphat’s head remains on his shoulders by the end of today.”
32 Elisha was seated at home with the elders around him. The king had dispatched a man, but before the messenger got there, Elisha said to the elders, “Do you realize that this murderer’s son has sent a man to cut off my head? When the messenger arrives, close the door and press against it to keep him out. The sound of his master's steps is right behind him, isn't it?" 33 While he was still speaking with them, the messenger[h] came down to him and said, "This disaster is from Yahweh. Why should I wait for Yahweh any longer?"

Notes

- a (6:5) The Septuagint reads "and it was hidden."
- b (6:13) Dothan means "two wells."
- c (6:18) Hebrew sanwerim, a rare word for a dazzling or confusing blindness (compare Genesis 19:11).
- d (6:22) Or "Do you strike down those you have taken captive with your sword and bow?" that is, even prisoners of war are not killed.
- e (6:25) Hebrew "eighty of silver," probably shekels. A shekel weighed about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams), so about 920 grams. The Septuagint reads "fifty pieces of silver."
- f (6:25) Hebrew "a quarter of a kab." A kab was about 1 1/4 quarts (1.2 liters), so about a third of a liter. "Dove's dung" may be a popular name for a cheap food such as carob pods or wild bulbs.
- g (6:25) Hebrew "five of silver," probably shekels, about 57 grams.
- h (6:33) So the Hebrew and the Septuagint. Many interpreters read "the king," since the king seems to be speaking (compare 7:2, 17).

Chapter 7

1 Elisha said, "Hear the word of Yahweh. This is what Yahweh says: 'About this time tomorrow, at the gate of Samaria, 7 quarts of fine flour will sell for about 2/5 ounce of silver, and 14 quarts of barley for 2/5 ounce.' "[a] 2 The officer on whose arm the king leaned answered the man of God, "Even if Yahweh were to make windows in the sky, could this happen?" Elisha said, "Your own eyes will see it happen, but not a bite of it will you eat."

3 At the entrance to the city gate sat four men who had a serious skin disease.[b] They said to each other, "Why should we stay here until we die? 4 If we decide to go into the city, we will die there, since famine is inside. If we keep sitting here, we die all the same. So come, let us desert to the Aramean camp. Should they let us live, we live; and if they kill us, we will only die." 5 So at dusk they got up and headed for the Arameans' camp. Yet when they reached its outskirts, not a soul was to be found. 6 For the Lord[c] had caused the Aramean army to hear what sounded like chariots, horses, and a vast army, and they told each other, "Israel's king must have paid the Hittite kings and the Egyptian[d] kings to come against us!" 7 So at dusk they had run off, leaving behind tents, horses, and donkeys, the whole camp as it stood, to save their lives. 8 When these men with the disease reached the far side of the camp, they went into a tent, ate and drank, and took silver, gold, and garments from it, and went off to hide them. Then they returned and entered a second tent, took things from it, and hid those as well.

9 But then they said to each other, "What we are doing is wrong. Today is a day for good news, yet we are saying nothing. If we wait until dawn, we will be punished. Let's go now and report to the royal household." 10 So they went and shouted up to the city's gatekeepers, "We have been to the Arameans' camp, and there was no one there, not a human voice, only the horses tied up, the donkeys tied up, and the tents just as they were." 11 The gatekeepers called out, and the news was told inside the king's household. 12 The king rose in the night and told his officers, "I will explain to you what the Arameans are up to. They are aware that we are starving. So they have slipped out of their camp and are hiding out in the fields, expecting that we will come out of the city, so that they can capture us alive and get inside." 13 One of his servants replied, "Have men take five of the horses that are left in the city. They will be no worse off than the whole crowd of Israelites remaining here, or the whole crowd of Israelites who have already died.[e] Let's send them out and find out." 14 So they took two chariots with horses, and the king sent them after the Aramean army, saying, "Go and see." 15 They followed them as far as the Jordan, and the whole road was littered with clothing and equipment that the Arameans had thrown away in their haste. The messengers returned and told the king. 16 Then the people went out and plundered the Aramean camp. So 7 quarts of fine flour sold for 2/5 ounce of silver, and 14 quarts of barley for 2/5 ounce, according to the word of Yahweh.

17 Now the king had appointed the officer whose arm he leaned on to take charge of the gate. The crowd trampled him there in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said when the king came down to him. 18 For when the man of God had said to the king, “About this time tomorrow, at the gate of Samaria, 14 quarts of barley will sell for 2/5 ounce of silver, and 7 quarts of fine flour for 2/5 ounce,” 19 the officer had answered the man of God, “Even if Yahweh opened windows in heaven, could this come about?” And Elisha had told him, “Your own eyes will see it happen, but not a bite of it will you eat.” 20 That is just what happened to him: the people trampled him in the gateway, and he died.

Notes

- a (7:1) Hebrew “a seah of fine flour for a shekel, and two seahs of barley for a shekel.” A seah was about 7 quarts (about 7.3 liters); a shekel weighed about 0.4 ounce (11.5 grams). These were low prices compared with 6:25. Likewise in verses 16 and 18.
- b (7:3) Hebrew metsoraʿim; see the note at 5:1.
- c (7:6) Hebrew Adonai.
- d (7:6) Some interpreters take Hebrew Mitsrayim, “Egypt,” as Musri, a land in Anatolia, alongside the Hittite kings of northern Syria.
- e (7:13) The Hebrew of this verse is repetitive and somewhat uncertain.

Chapter 8

1 Elisha had told the woman whose son he had brought back to life, “Leave with your family and live as a foreigner wherever you are able, because Yahweh has summoned a famine that will come upon the land for seven years.” 2 The woman did what the man of God said.
She left with her family and lived as a foreigner in Philistine territory for seven years. 3 When the seven years had passed, the woman came back from Philistine territory and went to make a plea to the king to get back her house and land. 4 The king was talking with Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, “Tell me all the great things Elisha has done.” 5 Just as Gehazi was recounting to the king how Elisha had brought a dead boy back to life, in came the woman whose son it was, appealing to the king for her house and her field. Gehazi said, “My lord the king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom Elisha restored to life.” 6 When the king questioned the woman, she told him.
So the king assigned an official to her, saying, “Give back everything that was hers, along with all the produce of the field from the day she left the land until now."

7 Elisha came to Damascus at a time when Ben-hadad, Aram's king, was sick. When the king heard, "The man of God has arrived here," 8 he said to Hazael, "Take a gift with you and go to meet the man of God. Inquire of Yahweh through him, asking, 'Will I recover from this illness?' " 9 Hazael went to meet Elisha with a present: forty camels loaded with every sort of fine product from Damascus. He arrived, stood in front of Elisha, and said, "Your son Ben-hadad king of Aram has sent me to ask, 'Will I recover from this sickness?' " 10 Elisha said to him, "Go and say to him,[a] 'You will certainly recover.' But Yahweh has shown me that he will certainly die." 11 He fixed his gaze on him and stared until he was ashamed.[b] Then the man of God wept. 12 "Why are you crying, my lord?" asked Hazael. Elisha replied, "Because I know what evil you will do to the people of Israel: you will burn down their strongholds, put their young men to the sword, smash their children, and cut open their pregnant women." 13 Hazael said, "What is your servant, a mere dog, that he should do this great thing?" Elisha answered, "Yahweh has shown me that you will be king over Aram." 14 Hazael left Elisha and went back to his master, who asked, "What did Elisha say to you?" "He said that you would surely get well," Hazael replied. 15 But the next day Hazael took the bed cover, dipped it in water, and spread it over the king's face, and he died. And Hazael reigned in his place.
16 In the fifth year of Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, while Jehoshaphat was king of Judah,[c] Jehoram son of Jehoshaphat king of Judah began to reign. 17 He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. 18 He followed the path of Israel's kings, just as Ahab's house did, since he had married a daughter of Ahab. He did evil in Yahweh's sight. 19 Yet Yahweh was unwilling to destroy Judah, for the sake of his servant David, because he had pledged to keep a lamp burning for David and his descendants forever. 20 In his days Edom revolted against Judah's rule and set up a king of their own. 21 Then Joram crossed over to Zair[d] with all his chariots. He rose by night and struck the Edomites who had surrounded him and his chariot commanders, but his army fled to their tents.[e] 22 So Edom has been in revolt against Judah's rule to this day. At that same time Libnah[f] revolted too. 23 The rest of the acts of Joram and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 24 Joram slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in David's city, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his place.

25 In the twelfth year of Joram son of Ahab king of Israel, Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign. 26 Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah,[g] a granddaughter[h] of Omri king of Israel. 27 He walked in the way of Ahab's house and did evil in Yahweh's sight just as Ahab's house had, for he was related by marriage to Ahab's house. 28 He went with Joram son of Ahab to war against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth-gilead, and the Arameans wounded Joram. 29 King Joram went back to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds that the Arameans had given him at Ramah,[i] when he fought against Hazael king of Aram. And Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to see Joram son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was wounded.

Notes

- a (8:10) So the Qere and many ancient witnesses; the Ketiv reads "Go and say, 'You will certainly not recover.' "
- b (8:11) The subject is unclear. Either Elisha stared at Hazael until Hazael was embarrassed, or the reverse.
- c (8:16) The clause "while Jehoshaphat was king of Judah" is in both the Hebrew and the Septuagint, but many interpreters regard it as an accidental repetition from the end of the verse.
- d (8:21) The location of Zair is unknown; 2 Chronicles 21:9 lacks it.
- e (8:21) The Hebrew of this verse is difficult, and the outcome of the battle is unclear.
- f (8:22) Libnah means "whiteness." It was a town in the Shephelah of Judah.
- g (8:26) Athaliah may mean "Yahweh is exalted."
- h (8:26) Hebrew "daughter," here in the sense of female descendant; she was Ahab's daughter (verse 18).
- i (8:29) That is, Ramoth-gilead.

Chapter 9

1 Elisha the prophet summoned one of the sons of the prophets and said to him, "Tuck up your robe, take this flask of oil in your hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead. 2 When you arrive, look for Jehu[a] son of Jehoshaphat son of Nimshi. Go in, get him to rise from among his companions, and take him into an inner room. 3 Then take the flask of oil, pour it on his head, and say, 'This is what Yahweh says: I anoint you king over Israel.' Then open the door and run. Do not linger." 4 So the young man, the young prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead. 5 When he arrived, the army commanders were sitting together. He said, "I have a message for you, commander." Jehu asked, "For which of us?" He replied, "For you, commander." 6 Jehu rose and entered the house. The young prophet poured the oil over his head and declared, "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: I am anointing you king over the people of Yahweh, over Israel. 7 You are to wipe out the dynasty of your master Ahab. Thus I will exact vengeance from Jezebel for the blood of my servants the prophets, and for the blood of every servant of Yahweh. 8 The whole house of Ahab will perish.
I will cut off from Ahab every male in Israel, whether bond or free.[b] 9 I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam son of Nebat and like the house of Baasha son of Ahijah. 10 As for Jezebel, dogs will eat her in the plot of ground at Jezreel, with nobody to give her burial." Then he opened the door and ran.
11 When Jehu came out to his master's officers, one asked him, "Is all well? What did this madman want with you?" He answered, "You know the man and the way he talks." 12 They said, "That is not true!
Tell us." So he said, "He told me such and such, and said, 'This is what Yahweh says: I anoint you king over Israel.' " 13 At once every one of them took off his cloak and laid it beneath Jehu on the bare steps.[c] Then they sounded the ram's horn and shouted, "Jehu has become king!"
14 That is how Jehu son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, plotted against Joram. (Joram and all Israel had been defending Ramoth-gilead against King Hazael of Aram, 15 but King Joram had gone back to Jezreel to be healed of the wounds the Arameans had given him when he fought with Hazael king of Aram. Jehu said, “If this is your wish, let no one slip out of the city to go and report this in Jezreel.” 16 Then Jehu got into his chariot and drove to Jezreel, where Joram was recovering and where Ahaziah king of Judah had gone to visit him. 17 The lookout standing on the tower in Jezreel saw Jehu’s troops coming and said, “I see a body of troops.” Joram ordered, “Send a horseman out to them to ask, ‘Is it peace?’ ”

18 So the horseman rode out to meet him and said, “The king asks, ‘Is it peace?’ ” Jehu said, “What do you care about peace? Fall in behind me.” The lookout reported, “The messenger reached them, but he is not coming back.”
19 Then he sent a second horseman, who came to them and said, “The king asks, ‘Is it peace?’ ” Jehu answered, “What do you care about peace? Fall in behind me.” 20 Again the lookout reported, “He got to them, and he is not returning either. The chariot driver must be Jehu son of Nimshi, for he drives like a madman.”
21 Joram said, “Harness the chariot.” When it was harnessed, Joram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Judah set out, each riding his own chariot, to confront Jehu, and they encountered him by the land that had belonged to Naboth the Jezreelite. 22 When Joram saw Jehu, he asked, “Is it peace, Jehu?” He answered, “How can there be peace, as long as the whoring and the many sorceries of your mother Jezebel go on?” 23 Joram turned his chariot around[d] and fled, shouting to Ahaziah, “Treachery, Ahaziah!” 24 Jehu drew his bow with all his strength and hit Joram between the shoulders. The arrow came out through his heart, and he slumped down in his chariot. 25 Jehu said to Bidkar his officer, “Pick him up and throw him onto the plot of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite. Remember how you and I were riding side by side behind Ahab his father, when Yahweh uttered this oracle[e] against him: 26 ‘I swear that yesterday I saw the blood of Naboth and of his sons, declares Yahweh, and I will pay you back in this same field, declares Yahweh.’ So pick him up now and throw him into that field, in keeping with Yahweh’s word.” 27 When Ahaziah king of Judah saw this, he fled toward Beth-haggan.[f] Jehu chased him and shouted, “Shoot him too!” And they shot him[g] in his chariot on the ascent to Gur, near Ibleam. He fled to Megiddo and died there. [28] His servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem and buried him in his tomb with his ancestors in the city of David.

[29] In the eleventh[h] year of Joram son of Ahab, Ahaziah had become king over Judah.
[30] Jehu then entered Jezreel, and Jezebel heard about it. She put makeup on her eyes,[i] arranged her hair, and gazed down from a window. [31] As Jehu entered the gateway, she called out, "Have you come in peace, Zimri, you murderer of your master?"[j] [32] He looked up at the window and said, "Who is on my side? Who?" Two or three eunuchs looked down at him. [33] He said, "Throw her down!" So they threw her down, and some of her blood spattered on the wall and on the horses, and they trampled her. [34] Then he went in, ate and drank, and said, "See to this cursed woman and bury her, for she was a king's daughter." [35] But when they went to bury her, they found nothing of her except the skull, the feet, and the palms of her hands. [36] They came back and told him, and he said, "This is the word of Yahweh, which he spoke through his servant Elijah the Tishbite: 'In the plot of ground at Jezreel the dogs will eat the flesh of Jezebel. [37] Jezebel's corpse will be like dung on the open field in the plot of ground at Jezreel, so that nobody can say, This is Jezebel.' "

Notes

- a (9:2) Jehu means "Yahweh is he."
- b (9:8) Hebrew ʿatsur weʿazub; see the note at 1 Kings 14:10.
- c (9:13) The meaning of Hebrew gerem ha-maʿaloth, here "bare steps," is uncertain; it may mean "the top of the stairs."
- d (9:23) Hebrew "turned his hands," that is, wheeled the chariot by its reins.
- e (9:25) Hebrew massa', "burden," a word used for a solemn prophetic pronouncement.
- f (9:27) Beth-haggan means "house of the garden"; it is probably modern Jenin.
- g (9:27) So the Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses; the Hebrew lacks "And they shot him."
- h (9:29) 8:25 gives the twelfth year; the two figures reflect different ways of reckoning and are left unchanged.
- i (9:30) Hebrew "set her eyes in antimony," a dark eye paint.
- j (9:31) Zimri killed his master King Elah and reigned only seven days (1 Kings 16:9–18).

Chapter 10

1 Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. So Jehu wrote letters and sent them to Samaria, to the officials of Jezreel,[a] to the elders, and to the guardians of Ahab's sons. He wrote: 2 "You have your master's sons with you, along with chariots, horses, a walled city, and weapons.
So as soon as this letter arrives, 3 pick the best and most capable of your master's sons, set him on his father's throne, and fight for your master's house." 4 But they were terrified and said, "Two kings could not hold out against him. How can we?" 5 So the palace administrator, the governor of the city, the elders, and the guardians sent word to Jehu: "We are at your service and will carry out every order you give.
We are not going to crown anyone. Act as you think best." 6 Then he wrote them a second letter: "If you side with me and will heed my voice, bring the heads of your master's sons with you and report to me in Jezreel about this time tomorrow." The seventy princes were then being raised by the city's prominent men. 7 When the letter reached them, they took the king's sons and slaughtered all seventy.
They put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jezreel. 8 When the messenger came and told him, "They have brought the heads of the king's sons," he said, "Pile them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning." 9 In the morning he went out, took his stand, and declared to all the people, "You are blameless. I am the one who plotted against my master and slew him. Yet who killed every one of these? 10 Know, then, that not one word of Yahweh that Yahweh spoke against the house of Ahab will fall to the ground.
Yahweh has done what he said through his servant Elijah." 11 So Jehu struck down all who were left of the house of Ahab in Jezreel, all his leading men, his close friends, and his priests, until he left him no survivor.
12 Then he set out and went toward Samaria. On the way, at Betheked of the Shepherds,[b] 13 Jehu came upon relatives of Ahaziah king of Judah. He asked, "Who are you?" They answered, "We are Ahaziah's relatives, and we have come down to greet the sons of the king and the sons of the queen mother." 14 He said, "Take them alive." So they took them alive and slaughtered them at the pit of Beth-eked, forty-two men. He did not spare any of them.

15 Leaving there, he met Jehonadab[c] son of Rechab coming toward him. Jehu greeted him and asked, "Are you as faithful to me as I am to you?" "I am," Jehonadab answered. Jehu said,[d] "Then give me your hand." Jehonadab gave him his hand, and Jehu pulled him up beside him in the chariot. 16 He said, "Come with me and see my zeal for Yahweh." So he had him ride in his chariot. 17 On reaching Samaria, he killed everyone left in Samaria from Ahab's family until none remained, just as Yahweh had told Elijah.

18 Then Jehu gathered all the people and said to them, "Ahab served Baal a little. Jehu will serve him a great deal. 19 Now call together for me all of Baal's prophets, all who serve him, and all his priests. Not one may be absent, because I am holding a great sacrifice for Baal. Whoever fails to come will die." But Jehu was acting deceitfully in order to destroy those who served Baal. 20 Jehu ordered, "Proclaim a sacred assembly for Baal." So they proclaimed it. 21 Jehu sent word throughout Israel, and all the worshipers of Baal came. Not one stayed away. They entered the house of Baal, and it was filled from one end to the other. 22 He said to the keeper of the wardrobe, "Bring out robes for all the worshipers of Baal." So he brought out robes for them. 23 Then Jehu and Jehonadab son of Rechab entered Baal's temple. Jehu told those who served Baal, "Look carefully and make sure that no servant of Yahweh is here with you; only those who serve Baal may be here." 24 Then they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. Jehu had posted eighty men outside and said, "If any of the men I am handing over to you escapes, the one who lets him go will pay with his own life."

25 As soon as Jehu had completed the burnt offering, he told the guards and officers, "Go in and strike them down; do not let anyone escape." They killed them with swords and threw out the bodies. Then the guards and officers went into the inner room[e] of Baal's temple. 26 They brought out the sacred pillar[f] of the house of Baal and burned it. 27 They demolished the pillar of Baal, tore down the house of Baal, and made it a latrine,[g] as it is to this day. 28 Thus Jehu wiped out Baal from Israel. 29 Even so, Jehu did not abandon the sins that Jeroboam son of Nebat had led Israel into: the golden calves in Bethel and Dan. 30 Yahweh said to Jehu, "Because you have done well in carrying out what is right in my eyes, and have done to the house of Ahab all that was in my heart, your sons will sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." 31 But Jehu was not careful to walk in the law of Yahweh the God of Israel wholeheartedly. He never departed from Jeroboam's sins, by which he made Israel sin.

32 In those days Yahweh started to trim away pieces of Israel.[h] Hazael struck them down in every border region of Israel, 33 from the Jordan eastward, all the land of Gilead, the Gadites, the Reubenites, and the Manassites, from Aroer by the Wadi Arnon, that is, Gilead and Bashan. 34 The other events of Jehu's reign, everything he did and all his power, are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.
35 Jehu slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in Samaria. And Jehoahaz[i] his son reigned in his place. 36 The time Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Notes

- a (10:1) So the Hebrew; the Septuagint reads "Samaria." Some interpreters suggest "the city."
- b (10:12) Or "the shearing house of the shepherds." Beth-eked means "house of binding," perhaps a place where sheep were tied for shearing.
- c (10:15) Jehonadab means "Yahweh is generous." His descendants, the Rechabites, appear in Jeremiah 35.
- d (10:15) So the Septuagint; the Hebrew lacks "Jehu said."
- e (10:25) Hebrew "to the city of the house of Baal"; the meaning is uncertain, perhaps the inner sanctuary or citadel.
- f (10:26) So the Septuagint and some other ancient witnesses; the Hebrew reads the plural "pillars" with "burned it."
- g (10:27) So the Qere; the Ketiv reads a cruder word for the same thing.
- h (10:32) Or "to reduce Israel."
- i (10:35) Jehoahaz means "Yahweh has grasped."

Chapter 11

1 When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she set out to destroy the entire royal family. 2 But Jehosheba,[a] King Joram's daughter and Ahaziah's sister, took Joash[b] son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the king's sons who were about to be murdered. She hid the boy and his nurse in a sleeping room, out of Athaliah's reach, and he was not killed. 3 He stayed hidden with her in Yahweh's house for six years, while Athaliah ruled over the land.

4 In the seventh year Jehoiada[c] sent for the commanders of hundreds of the Carites[d] and of the guards and brought them to him in Yahweh's house. He made a covenant with them, put them under oath in Yahweh's house, and showed them the king's son. 5 He gave them these orders: "Here is your assignment. The third of you who begin your duty on the Sabbath will keep watch over the king's palace, 6 one third will be at the Sur Gate, and one third at the gate behind the guards. You will keep watch over the palace in turns.[e] 7 Your two divisions that go off duty on the Sabbath will keep watch over Yahweh's house for the king. 8 Surround the king, each of you with weapons in hand. Whoever comes near your lines must die. Keep close to the king as he comes and goes."
9 The commanders of hundreds did just as Jehoiada the priest ordered. Each took his men, both the Sabbath shift coming on and the Sabbath shift going off, and came to Jehoiada the priest. 10 The priest handed out to the commanders the spears and small shields that once belonged to King David and were kept in Yahweh's house. 11 The guards took up their positions, each with weapon in hand, from the south side of the house to the north side, around the altar and the house, all around the king. 12 Jehoiada led out the king's son, set the crown on his head, and gave him the covenant document.[f] They proclaimed him king and anointed him; then they clapped and shouted, "May the king live!"
13 Athaliah heard the noise made by the guards and the crowd and went to the people gathered at Yahweh's house. 14 She looked, and there was the king, stationed beside the pillar according to custom, the officers and trumpeters at his side, while the people of the land were all celebrating and sounding trumpets. Athaliah ripped her garments and shouted, "Conspiracy! Conspiracy!" 15 Jehoiada the priest commanded the officers in charge of the troops: "Bring her out through the ranks, and put to the sword anyone who follows her."

The priest had said, “She must not be killed at Yahweh’s house.” 16 So they seized her, and she went by the way of the horses’ entrance to the king’s palace, and there she was put to death.
17 Jehoiada made a covenant between Yahweh and the king and the people, that they would be Yahweh’s people, and also between the king and the people. 18 Then all the people of the land went to the house of Baal and tore it down. They smashed its altars and its images to pieces, and before the altars they slew Mattan, Baal’s priest. Then the priest stationed watchmen over Yahweh’s house. 19 He then led the commanders of hundreds, the Carites, the guards, and the whole populace, and together they escorted the king down from Yahweh’s house and went through the guards’ gate to the palace. He took his seat on the royal throne. 20 All the people of the land celebrated, and the city was calm, because Athaliah had been put to death by the sword at the royal palace.
21 Jehoash[g] was seven years old when he became king.

Notes

- a (11:2) Jehosheba means “Yahweh is an oath.” 2 Chronicles 22:11 calls her Jehoshabeath and adds that she was the wife of Jehoiada the priest.
- b (11:2) Joash, also spelled Jehoash (verse 21), means “Yahweh has given.”
- c (11:4) Jehoiada means “Yahweh knows.”
- d (11:4) The Carites were probably foreign mercenaries, perhaps from Caria in Asia Minor.
- e (11:6) The meaning of the Hebrew word rendered “in turns” is uncertain.
- f (11:12) Hebrew ‘eduth, probably a written copy of the covenant law (compare Deuteronomy 17:18).
- g (11:21) Hebrew 12:1. The Hebrew numbers in chapter 12 run one higher than the English.

Chapter 12

1 In the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Zibiah[a] of Beersheba. 2 Jehoash did what was right in Yahweh’s eyes all his days, because Jehoiada the priest instructed him.[b] 3 Yet the high places were not removed; the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

4 Jehoash said to the priests, “All the money brought as holy gifts into Yahweh’s house, the money each person is assessed,[c] the money from the valuation of persons, and all the money anyone freely chooses to bring into Yahweh’s house, 5 let the priests receive, each from his own contact,[d] and let them repair the house wherever damage is found.” 6 But by the twenty-third year of King Jehoash the priests still had not repaired the damage to the house. 7 So King Jehoash summoned Jehoiada the priest and the other priests and said to them, “Why are you not repairing the damage to the house? From now on take no more money from your contacts, but hand it over for repairing the house.” 8 The priests agreed not to collect any more money from the people, and also not to be the ones to repair the damage to the temple.
9 Then Jehoiada the priest took a chest, bored a hole in its lid, and set it beside the altar, on the right as one enters Yahweh’s house. The priests who guarded the threshold put into it all the money brought into Yahweh’s house. 10 Each time the chest was seen to be well filled with money, the royal secretary came up with the high priest, and they bagged[e] and counted the money found in Yahweh’s house. 11
They gave the money that had been weighed out to the men doing the work, those appointed over Yahweh’s house. These paid it out to the carpenters and builders who worked on Yahweh’s house, 12 to the masons and stonecutters, and for buying timber and dressed stone to repair the damage to Yahweh’s house, and for everything else spent on repairing the house. 13 But no silver basins, snuffers, sprinkling bowls, trumpets, or any vessels of gold or silver were made for Yahweh’s house from the money brought into Yahweh’s house.
14 It was given to the workmen, and with it they repaired Yahweh’s house. 15 They did not ask for an accounting from the men to whom they handed the money to pay the workers, for they dealt honestly.
16 The money from guilt offerings and sin offerings was not brought into Yahweh’s house; it belonged to the priests.
17 About that time Hazael king of Aram attacked Gath and took it.
Then Hazael turned his attention to marching against Jerusalem. 18
Jehoash king of Judah took all the sacred objects that his ancestors Jehoshaphat, Jehoram, and Ahaziah, kings of Judah, had dedicated, his own sacred gifts, and all the gold found in the treasuries of Yahweh's house and of the king's palace, and sent them to Hazael king of Aram. Then Hazael withdrew from Jerusalem. 19 The rest of the acts of Joash and all that he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 20 His servants rose up, formed a conspiracy, and struck down Joash at Beth-millo,[f] on the road that goes down to Silla.[g] 21 His servants Jozacar[h] son of Shimeath and Jehozabad son of Shomer attacked him, and he died. He was buried with his ancestors in the city of David, and his son Amaziah[i] became king after him.

Notes

- a (12:1) Zibiah means "gazelle." Verse numbers in this chapter follow the English; the Hebrew numbers run one higher.
- b (12:2) Or "did what was right in Yahweh's eyes all the days that Jehoiada the priest instructed him." Compare 2 Chronicles 24:2, 17–22.
- c (12:4) The Hebrew phrase is obscure; it may refer to the census tax (Exodus 30:13) or to money "that passes" as current.
- d (12:5) The meaning of Hebrew makkar, here "contact," is uncertain; it may mean an acquaintance, a donor, or an assessor. The Septuagint reads "from his sale." Likewise in verse 7.
- e (12:10) Or "tied up," that is, in bags; some interpreters read "melted down."
- f (12:20) Beth-millo means "house of the Millo," probably a building on the earth-work terrace in Jerusalem (compare 1 Kings 9:15).
- g (12:20) The location of Silla is unknown. The Septuagint reads "Sela."
- h (12:21) Jozacar means "Yahweh has remembered." The Septuagint reads "Jezir-char." 2 Chronicles 24:26 names the men Zabad and Jehozabad.
- i (12:21) Amaziah means "Yahweh is strong."

Chapter 13

1 In the twenty-third year of Joash son of Ahaziah king of Judah, Jehoahaz son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned seventeen years. 2 He did evil in Yahweh's sight and followed the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin; he never turned from them. 3 So Yahweh's anger burned against Israel, and he kept handing them over to Hazael king of Aram and to Ben-hadad son of Hazael throughout that time. 4 Then Jehoahaz pleaded with Yahweh, and Yahweh listened to him, for he saw how the king of Aram was oppressing Israel. 5 Yahweh gave Israel a deliverer,[a] and they escaped from Aram's grip. So the Israelites lived in their homes[b] as they had before. 6 Yet they did not turn from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, by which he made Israel sin, but kept walking in them.

The Asherah pole[c] also stood in Samaria. 7 Jehoahaz had no army left except fifty horsemen, ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers, because the king of Aram had wiped out the rest and left them like the dust trampled on a threshing floor. 8 The rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, all he did, and his might, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? 9 Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. And Joash his son reigned in his place.
10 In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned sixteen years. 11 He did evil in Yahweh's sight. He did not turn from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin, but walked in them. 12 The rest of the acts of Joash, all he did, and the might with which he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? 13 Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam[d] sat on his throne. Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.
14 When Elisha had fallen ill with the illness from which he would die, Joash king of Israel went down to him and wept over him, crying, "My father, my father! The chariots of Israel and its horsemen!" 15 Elisha said to him, "Take a bow and arrows," and he took a bow and arrows.
16 Then he said to the king of Israel, "Grip the bow." When he had gripped it, Elisha laid his own hands on the king's hands. 17 "Open the east window," Elisha said, and Joash opened it. "Shoot," said Elisha, and he shot. Elisha declared, "Yahweh's arrow of victory, the arrow of victory over Aram! At Aphek you will strike the Arameans down until they are finished." 18 Elisha then said, "Pick up the arrows," and the king picked them up. "Strike the ground," Elisha told the king of Israel. He struck it three times, then stopped. 19 The man of God was angry with him and said, "You should have struck five or six times.
Then you would have struck Aram until you had made an end of it.
Now you will strike Aram only three times."

20 Elisha died and they buried him. Now Moabite raiders used to come into the land each spring.[e] 21 Once, as some men were burying a man, they caught sight of a raiding band, so they threw the man into Elisha's tomb. When the man touched Elisha's bones, he came to life and stood up on his feet.
22 Hazael king of Aram oppressed Israel throughout the days of Jehoahaz. 23 Yet Yahweh showed them favor and pity and turned back to them because of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. He would not destroy them, and even now he has not thrown them out of his sight. 24 When Hazael king of Aram died, Ben-hadad his son reigned in his place. 25 Jehoash son of Jehoahaz then took back from Ben-hadad son of Hazael the towns that Hazael had seized in battle from his father Jehoahaz. Joash defeated Ben-hadad three times and regained the towns of Israel.

Notes

- a (13:5) The deliverer is not named; he may be Jeroboam II (14:27) or an Assyrian king who pressed Aram from the north.
- b (13:5) Hebrew "in their tents."
- c (13:6) Hebrew 'asherah, a wooden pole or image of the goddess Asherah.
- d (13:13) This is Jeroboam II (14:23–29). Jeroboam probably means "may the people increase."
- e (13:20) Hebrew "at the coming of the year," that is, in spring, the season for campaigns (compare 1 Kings 20:22, 26).

Chapter 14

1 In the second year of Joash son of Joahaz king of Israel, Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah began to reign. 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddin[a] of Jerusalem. 3 He did what was right in Yahweh's eyes, though not like his ancestor David. He acted in every way as his father Joash had acted. 4 Yet the high places were not removed; the people kept sacrificing and burning incense on them. 5 When he had a secure hold on the royal power, he put to death the officials who had assassinated his father the king. 6 But he did not kill the murderers' children, in keeping with what is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, where Yahweh commanded, “Parents are not to die for their children, nor children for their parents; each is to die for his own sin.”[b] 7 He killed ten thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt and captured Sela[c] in battle, and he renamed it Joktheel,[d] the name it still has today.

8 Then Amaziah sent envoys to Jehoash son of Jehoahaz son of Jehu, king of Israel, with this challenge: “Come, let us face each other in battle.” 9 Jehoash king of Israel sent back this reply to Amaziah king of Judah: “A thornbush in Lebanon sent word to a cedar in Lebanon, ‘Give your daughter to my son as his wife.’ Then a wild animal of Lebanon passed by and trampled the thornbush. 10 You have indeed beaten Edom, and now your heart has carried you away. Enjoy your glory, and stay home! Why stir up trouble that will bring you down, and Judah along with you?” 11 But Amaziah would not listen. So Jehoash king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced each other at Beth-shemesh,[e] which belongs to Judah. 12 Israel defeated Judah, and every man ran off home.[f] 13 At Beth-shemesh Jehoash king of Israel captured Amaziah king of Judah, son of Jehoash son of Ahaziah. Then he came to Jerusalem and broke down the wall of Jerusalem for about 600 feet,[g] from the Ephraim Gate to the Corner Gate. 14 He carried off all the gold and silver and all the vessels found in Yahweh’s house and in the treasuries of the king’s palace, as well as hostages, and went back to Samaria.

15 The rest of the acts of Jehoash, what he did, his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? 16 Jehoash slept with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. And Jeroboam his son reigned in his place.

17 Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. 18 The rest of the acts of Amaziah, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 19 A conspiracy was formed against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. But they sent men after him to Lachish, and they killed him there. 20 They carried him back on horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers in the city of David. 21 Then all the people of Judah took Azariah,[h] who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah. 22 He rebuilt Elath[i] and restored it to Judah, after the king had slept with his fathers.

23 In the fifteenth year of Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah, Jeroboam son of Joash king of Israel began to reign in Samaria, and he reigned forty-one years. 24 He did evil in Yahweh's sight. He did not turn from any of the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin. 25 It was he who won back Israel's territory, from Lebo-hamath[j] down to the Sea of the Arabah,[k] as Yahweh the God of Israel had promised through his servant Jonah[l] son of Amittai, the prophet from Gath-hepher.[m] 26 For Yahweh had seen how very bitter Israel's suffering was. Neither bond nor free remained,[n] and Israel had nobody to help it. 27 Yahweh had not said that he would blot out Israel's name from under heaven, so he saved them by the hand of Jeroboam son of Joash.
28 The other events of Jeroboam's reign, including all he did, his strength, his battles, and how he won back Damascus and Hamath, which had once belonged to Judah,[o] are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel. 29 Jeroboam slept with his fathers, the kings of Israel, and Zechariah[p] his son reigned in his place.

Notes

Chapter 15

1 In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Azariah son of Amaziah king of Judah began to reign. 2 He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned fifty-two years in Jerusalem.
His mother's name was Jecoliah[a] of Jerusalem. 3 He did what was right in Yahweh's eyes, just as his father Amaziah had done in everything.
4 Yet the high places were not removed; the people kept sacrificing and burning incense on them. 5 Yahweh struck the king with a serious skin disease,[b] and it lasted until the day he died. He lived in a separate house,[c] and Jotham[d] the king's son ran the palace and ruled the people of the land. 6 The rest of the acts of Azariah, all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 7 Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David. And Jotham his son reigned in his place.
8 In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah king of Judah, Zechariah son of Jeroboam reigned over Israel in Samaria for six months. 9 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, as his fathers had done. He did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin. 10 Shallum son of Jabesh conspired against him, struck him down in front of the people,[e] killed him, and reigned in his place. 11 The rest of the acts of Zechariah are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.
12 So the word that Yahweh had spoken to Jehu came true: "Your sons will sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." And so it happened.
13 Shallum son of Jabesh began to reign in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah[f] king of Judah, and he reigned one full month in Samaria. 14 Then Menahem[g] son of Gadi came up from Tirzah to Samaria, struck down Shallum son of Jabesh in Samaria, killed him, and reigned in his place. 15 The rest of the acts of Shallum and the conspiracy he formed are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel. 16 At that time Menahem, setting out from Tirzah, attacked Tiphsah[h] and everyone in it and its territory, because they would not open their gates to him. He sacked it and ripped open all its pregnant women.

17 In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem son of Gadi began to reign over Israel, and he reigned ten years in Samaria.
18 He did evil in Yahweh's sight. Throughout his reign he did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin.
19 Pul[i] king of Assyria came against the land, and Menahem gave Pul about 37 tons of silver,[j] so that Pul would help him tighten his grip on the kingdom. 20 Menahem raised the money from Israel, from all the wealthy men, about 20 ounces of silver[k] from each, to give to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back and did not stay in the land. 21 The rest of the acts of Menahem, all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel? 22 Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah[l] his son reigned in his place.
23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned two years. 24 He did evil in Yahweh's sight. He did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin. 25 His officer Pekah[m] son of Remaliah conspired against him. With fifty men from Gilead, Pekah struck him down at Samaria, in the citadel of the royal palace, together with Argob and Arieh.[n] Pekah killed him and took his place as king. 26 The rest of the acts of Pekahiah, all he did, are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.
27 In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned twenty years. 28 He did evil in Yahweh's sight. He did not turn from the sins of Jeroboam son of Nebat, by which he made Israel sin. 29 In the days of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-pileser[o] king of Assyria came and captured Ijon, Abel-beth-maacah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and Galilee, all the land of Naphtali, and he deported the people to Assyria. 30 Hoshea[p] son of Elah plotted against Pekah son of Remaliah, attacked and killed him, and became king in his place in the twentieth year of Jotham son of Uzziah. 31 The rest of the acts of Pekah, all he did, are written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Israel.

32 In the second year of Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel, Jotham son of Uzziah king of Judah began to reign. 33 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusha daughter of Zadok. 34 He did what was right in Yahweh's eyes, just as his father Uzziah had done in everything. 35 Yet the high places were not removed; the people kept sacrificing and burning incense on them. He built the Upper Gate of Yahweh's house. 36 The rest of the acts of Jotham, all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 37 It was in those days that Yahweh first sent Aram's king Rezin[q] and Remaliah's son Pekah to attack Judah. 38 Jotham slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his ancestor. And Ahaz[r] his son reigned in his place.

Notes

- a (15:2) Jecoliah means "Yahweh is able."
- b (15:5) Hebrew metsora'; see the note at 5:1.
- c (15:5) Hebrew beth ha-hophshith, perhaps "a house of freedom," that is, free from royal duties; the exact sense is uncertain.
- d (15:5) Jotham means "Yahweh is perfect."
- e (15:10) The Hebrew qabol-'am, "before the people," is unusual. The Septuagint reads "in Keblaam," which some take as Ibleam (compare 9:27).
- f (15:13) Uzziah is another name for Azariah; it means "Yahweh is my strength."
- g (15:14) Menahem means "comforter."
- h (15:16) So the Hebrew. Tiphsah was a town on the Euphrates, far from Israel; some ancient witnesses read "Tappuah," and the Septuagint reads "Tirzah."
- i (15:19) Pul was the Babylonian throne name of Tiglath-pileser III (verse 29).
- j (15:19) Hebrew "a thousand talents of silver." A talent weighed about 75 pounds (34 kilograms), so about 34,000 kilograms.

- l (15:22) Pekahiah means "Yahweh has opened (the eyes)."
- m (15:25) Pekah means "he has opened (the eyes)."
- n (15:25) The Hebrew of "along with Argob and Arieh" is obscure; the words may be names of people killed with the king or of places, and may have been misplaced from verse 29.
- o (15:29) Tiglath-pileser III reigned in Assyria about 745–727 BC.
- p (15:30) Hoshea means "salvation."
- q (15:37) Rezin is probably Aramaic for "pleasing" or "prince."
- r (15:38) Ahaz means "he has grasped," a short form of Jehoahaz.

Chapter 16

1 In the seventeenth year of Pekah son of Remaliah, Ahaz son of Jotham king of Judah began to reign. 2 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem.
Unlike his ancestor David, he did not do what was right in the eyes of Yahweh his God. 3 He followed the path of Israel's kings. He even made his own son go through fire,[a] imitating the disgusting customs of the nations that Yahweh had expelled ahead of the Israelites. 4 He sacrificed and burned incense on the high places, on the hills, and under every leafy tree.
5 Then Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel came up to wage war against Jerusalem. They besieged Ahaz but could not conquer him.[b] 6 At that time Rezin king of Aram[c] recovered Elath for Aram and drove the Judeans out of Elath. Then Edomites[d] came to Elath and have lived there to this day. 7 Ahaz sent envoys to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria to say, "I am your servant and your son. Come up and rescue me from the grasp of the king of Aram and the king of Israel, who are attacking me." 8 Ahaz took the silver and gold found in Yahweh's house and in the treasuries of the king's palace and sent it as a present[e] to the king of Assyria. 9 The king of Assyria agreed. He marched up against Damascus and captured it, deported its people to Kir,[f] and put Rezin to death.
10 King Ahaz traveled to Damascus to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria. There he saw the altar and sent Uriah[g] the priest a sketch of the altar and detailed plans for its construction. 11 Uriah the priest built the altar exactly as King Ahaz had instructed from Damascus, finishing it before King Ahaz came back from Damascus. 12 When the king arrived from Damascus and saw the altar, he approached the altar and went up on it. 13 There he offered up his burnt offering and grain offering, made his drink offering, and dashed against the altar the blood from his fellowship sacrifices. 14 The bronze altar that stood before Yahweh he moved from the front of the house, from between the new altar and Yahweh's house, and put it on the north side of his altar. 15 King Ahaz commanded Uriah the priest, "Offer the morning burnt offering and the evening grain offering on the large altar, together with the king's burnt offering and grain offering, and the burnt offering of all the people of the land with their grain offerings and drink offerings. Sprinkle all the blood of the burnt offerings and the sacrifices on it. The bronze altar will be for me to use for seeking guidance."[h] 16 Uriah the priest did all that King Ahaz commanded.

17 King Ahaz cut away the panels of the stands and took the basins off them. He lowered the Sea from the bronze oxen beneath it and placed it on a stone pavement. 18 Because of the king of Assyria, he removed from Yahweh's house the covered Sabbath passage[i] that had been built in the house, and the king's outer entrance. 19 The rest of the acts of Ahaz, all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Annals of the Kings of Judah? 20 Ahaz slept with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the city of David. And Hezekiah[j] his son reigned in his place.

Notes

- a (16:3) That is, he offered his son as a burnt sacrifice; compare 3:27 and Deuteronomy 18:10.
- b (16:5) Compare Isaiah 7:1–9.
- c (16:6) Many interpreters read "Rezin king of Aram" as a later addition and "Aram" as "Edom" in this verse, since the two words look alike in Hebrew.
- d (16:6) So the Qere and the Septuagint; the Ketiv reads "Arameans."
- e (16:8) Or "a bribe."
- f (16:9) Kir was the land the Arameans came from (Amos 9:7); its location is unknown.
- g (16:10) Uriah means "Yahweh is my light."
- h (16:15) Or "for me to consider." The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain.
- i (16:18) So the Qere; the meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. The Septuagint reads "a base for the throne."
- j (16:20) Hezekiah means "Yahweh strengthens."

Chapter 17

1 In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea son of Elah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and he reigned nine years. 2 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, though not to the degree of the kings of Israel who came before him. 3 Shalmaneser[a] king of Assyria marched up against him, and Hoshea became his vassal and paid him tribute. 4 But the king of Assyria discovered that Hoshea was plotting against him. He had sent envoys to So[b] king of Egypt and had withheld the yearly tribute owed to Assyria's king. So Assyria's king seized him and locked him in prison. 5 Then the king of Assyria invaded the whole land. He went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. 6 In Hoshea's ninth year, the king of Assyria conquered Samaria and deported the Israelites to Assyria. He resettled them in Halah, in Gozan by the Habor River, and in the cities of the Medes.[c] 7 This happened because the Israelites had sinned against Yahweh their God, the one who led them out of Egypt, out from under the hand of Egypt's king, Pharaoh. They revered other gods 8 and lived by the customs of the nations whom Yahweh had driven out before the Israelites, and by the customs that the kings of Israel had introduced.[d] 9 The Israelites did in secret[e] things that were not right against Yahweh their God. They built high places for themselves in all their towns, from watchtower to fortified city. 10 They set up for themselves sacred pillars and Asherah poles on every high hill and under every leafy tree. 11 There they burned incense on all the high places, as the nations had done whom Yahweh had carried away before them. They did wicked things that provoked Yahweh to anger. 12 They served idols,[f] although Yahweh had told them, "You must not do this." 13 Yahweh had warned Israel and Judah by means of all his prophets and seers: "Turn from your wicked ways and obey my commands and decrees, following the entire law that I gave your ancestors and delivered to you through my servants the prophets." 14 But they would not listen. They hardened their necks like their ancestors, who had no faith in Yahweh their God. 15 They spurned his statutes, the covenant he cut with their fathers, and the solemn warnings he gave them. They went after empty things and became empty themselves,[g] following the nations around them, though Yahweh had commanded them not to act as those nations did. 16 They abandoned all the commandments of Yahweh their God and made for themselves cast images, two calves. They made an Asherah pole, bowed down to all the host of heaven, and served Baal. 17 They made their sons and daughters pass through the fire. They practiced divination and sought omens, and they sold themselves to do evil in Yahweh's sight, provoking him to anger. 18 So Yahweh was furious with Israel and put them out of his sight. No one remained except the tribe of Judah.

19 Even Judah did not keep the commandments of Yahweh their God but followed the customs Israel had introduced. 20 So Yahweh rejected all the descendants of Israel. He humbled them and handed them over to plunderers, until he had thrown them out of his sight. 21 When he tore Israel from the house of David, they made Jeroboam son of Nebat king. Jeroboam drove Israel away from following Yahweh and made them commit a great sin. 22 The Israelites kept on in every sin Jeroboam had committed and never turned from them, 23 until Yahweh removed Israel from his presence, just as he had said through all his servants the prophets. So Israel was exiled from their own land to Assyria, where they are to this day.
24 From Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Hamath, and Sepharvaim[h] the Assyrian king brought people and settled them in Samaria's towns where the Israelites had lived. These newcomers took over Samaria and made their homes in its towns. 25 When they first settled there, they did not revere Yahweh, so Yahweh sent lions among them, which killed some of them. 26 They told the king of Assyria, "The peoples you deported and resettled in the cities of Samaria do not know the rules[i] of the god of that land. He has sent lions among them, and the lions are killing them because they do not know what that god requires." 27 The king of Assyria then commanded, "Send back one of the priests you carried away from there. Have him return, settle there, and instruct the people in what the god of that land requires." 28 So one of the priests whom they had deported from Samaria came and lived in Bethel, and he taught them how they should revere Yahweh.
29 But each nation still made its own gods and set them up in the shrines of the high places that the people of Samaria had made, each nation in the towns where they lived. 30 Those from Babylon fashioned Succoth-benoth; those from Cuth, Nergal; those from Hamath, Ashima; 31 The Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burned their children in the fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.[j] 32 They also revered Yahweh, and they appointed from their own number all sorts of people as priests of the high places, who offered sacrifices for them in the shrines of the high places. 33 So they revered Yahweh but served their own gods, in the manner of the nations from which they had been deported. 34 To this day they keep their former practices. They do not truly revere Yahweh, nor do they follow the statutes, the rules, the law, or the commandment that Yahweh gave to the descendants of Jacob, whom he named Israel.[k] 35 Yahweh had made a covenant with them and charged them, "Do not revere other gods, bow down to them, serve them, or sacrifice to them. 36 Yahweh, who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and an outstretched arm, is the one you are to revere. Bow down to him and sacrifice to him. 37 The statutes, the rules, the law, and the commandment that he wrote for you, you must always be careful to do. Do not revere other gods. 38 Never forget the covenant I cut with you, and revere no other gods. 39 Instead, revere Yahweh your God, and he will rescue you from the hand of all your enemies." 40 But they would not listen, and they kept on with their former practices. 41 So these nations revered Yahweh and also served their carved images. Their children and grandchildren do as their ancestors did, to this day.

Notes

- a (17:3) Shalmaneser V reigned in Assyria about 727–722 BC.
- b (17:4) So may be the name of a pharaoh, perhaps Osorkon IV, or a place name, Sais, in the Nile delta.
- c (17:6) The Septuagint reads "the mountains of the Medes."
- d (17:8) The Hebrew of this clause is awkward; it may mean "and of the kings of Israel, which they practiced."
- e (17:9) The meaning of the Hebrew verb is uncertain; it may mean "ascribed things falsely to."
- f (17:12) Hebrew gillulim, a contemptuous term, perhaps "dung pellets."
- g (17:15) Hebrew hebel, "vapor" or "breath," a play on the idea of worthlessness.
- h (17:24) These were cities in Mesopotamia and Syria.
- i (17:26) Hebrew mishpat, here "custom" or "required rites." Likewise in verses 27, 33, 34, and 40.
- j (17:31) The names in verses 30–31 refer to deities whose identities are largely uncertain. Nergal was a Mesopotamian god of the underworld.
- k (17:34) Verse 34 appears to contradict verses 32–33; it may mean that these people did not worship Yahweh in the way the law required. Jacob was renamed Israel in Genesis 32:28.

Chapter 18

1 In the third year of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, Hezekiah son of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign. 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi[a] daughter of Zechariah. 3 He did what was right in Yahweh's eyes, just as his ancestor David had done in everything. 4 He removed the high places, smashed the sacred pillars, and cut down the Asherah pole. He broke into pieces the bronze serpent that Moses had made, for up to then the Israelites had kept offering incense to it. People called it Nehushtan.[b] 5 Hezekiah trusted in Yahweh the God of Israel. Among all the kings of Judah, none was like him, whether after him or before him. 6 He held fast to Yahweh and never stopped following him. He kept the commandments Yahweh had given Moses. 7 Yahweh was with him, and he succeeded in whatever he undertook. He rebelled against the king of Assyria and would not serve him. 8 He struck down the Philistines all the way to Gaza and its borders, from lookout tower to walled town.
9 In the fourth year of King Hezekiah, the seventh of Hoshea son of Elah king of Israel, Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria and besieged it. 10 At the end of three years they captured it.
In Hezekiah's sixth year, which was the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria fell. 11 The king of Assyria took the Israelites away to Assyria. He resettled them in Halah, in Gozan by the Habor River, and in the cities of the Medes, 12 because they had not obeyed the voice of Yahweh their God but had broken his covenant, all that Moses the servant of Yahweh had commanded. They would neither listen nor obey.
13 In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib[c] king of Assyria came up against all the fortified towns of Judah and captured them. 14 Hezekiah king of Judah sent word to the king of Assyria at Lachish: "I have sinned. Pull back from me, and I will bear any burden you lay on me." So Assyria's king imposed on Hezekiah king of Judah about 11 tons of silver and about 1 ton of gold.[d] 15 Hezekiah gave him all the silver found in Yahweh's house and in the treasuries of the king's palace. 16 At that time Hezekiah stripped the gold from the doors of Yahweh's temple and from the doorposts that he, Hezekiah king of Judah, had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

17 From Lachish the Assyrian king sent his Tartan, Rab-saris, and Rabshakeh[e] with a large army to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. They went up and came to Jerusalem. When they arrived, they took their stand by the channel of the upper pool, which is on the road to the Washer's Field. 18 When they called for the king, out to meet them came Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebnah the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder. 19 The Rabshakeh told them, "Tell Hezekiah that this is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: What is the basis for your confidence? 20 You say you have strategy and strength for war, but these are empty words. On whom are you now relying, that you have rebelled against me? 21 Look, you are leaning on Egypt, a cracked reed for a walking stick, which will stab into the palm of whoever puts weight on it. Such is Egypt's king Pharaoh to everyone who trusts him. 22 But if you tell me, "We are relying on Yahweh our God," is he not the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah has removed, telling Judah and Jerusalem, "You must worship before this altar in Jerusalem"? 23 Now then, make a wager with my master the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses, if you can put riders on them! 24 How could you possibly repel even one governor, the lowest-ranking of my master's officials, when you are depending on Egypt for chariots and cavalry? 25 Besides, is it without Yahweh that I have come up against this place to destroy it? Yahweh himself told me, Go up against this land and destroy it.' " 26 Then Eliakim son of Hilkiah, Shebnah, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Kindly use Aramaic with your servants, since we know that language. Do not address us in Hebrew[f] while the people on the wall can hear." 27 But the Rabshakeh replied, "Was it to your master and you alone that my master sent me to say these things? Was it not to the men on the wall, who along with you will be eating their own excrement and drinking their own urine?"[g] 28 Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out loudly in Hebrew: "Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria! 29 The king says this: 'Do not let Hezekiah fool you; he cannot save you from his hand. 30 Do not let Hezekiah convince you to trust in Yahweh when he says, 'Yahweh will certainly save us; this city will not be handed over to the king of Assyria.' 31 Pay no attention to Hezekiah. This is what the king of Assyria says: 'Make a peace agreement with me[h] and surrender to me. Then every one of you will eat the fruit of his own vine and fig tree and drink the water of his own well, 32 until I arrive and carry you off to a land just like yours, a land of grain and new wine, of bread and vineyards, of olive oil and honey, so that you will live and not die.' Do not let Hezekiah mislead you by claiming, 'Yahweh will save us.' 33 Has any of the gods of the nations ever rescued his land from the hand of the king of Assyria? 34 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah? Did they rescue Samaria from my hand? 35 Which of the gods of any country has delivered it from my power? So how can Yahweh deliver Jerusalem from my power?" 36 But the people kept silent and did not answer him a word, for the king's command was, "Do not answer him." 37 Then Eliakim son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn and reported to him what the Rabshakeh had said.

Notes

- a (18:2) Abi is a short form of Abijah, "Yahweh is my father" (2 Chronicles 29:1).
- b (18:4) Nehushtan sounds like Hebrew nehosheth, "bronze," and nahash, "serpent." Compare Numbers 21:8–9.
- c (18:13) Sennacherib reigned in Assyria 705–681 BC; his campaign against Judah was in 701 BC.
- d (18:14) Hebrew "three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold." A talent weighed about 75 pounds (34 kilograms), so about 10,200 and 1,020 kilograms.
- e (18:17) These are Assyrian titles: Tartan, "commander in chief"; Rab-saris, "chief officer"; Rabshakeh, "chief cupbearer" or field commander.
- f (18:26) Hebrew "in Judean."
- g (18:27) So the Qere; the Ketiv uses cruder words.
- h (18:31) Hebrew "Make a blessing with me."

Chapter 19

1 When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into Yahweh's house. 2 Eliakim, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and the elders among the priests, dressed in sackcloth, were sent by him to the prophet Isaiah[a] son of Amoz. 3 They told him, "Hezekiah says this: 'This day is one of anguish, reproof, and humiliation. The babies are at the mouth of the womb, and there is no strength to bring them out. 4 Perhaps Yahweh your God has heard all the words of the Rabshakeh, sent by his master the king of Assyria to insult the living God, and will rebuke him for the words Yahweh your God has heard. So pray for the remnant of our people who remain.' "

5 When King Hezekiah's servants came to Isaiah, 6 Isaiah told them, "Say to your master, 'Yahweh says this: Do not be frightened by what you have heard, the words with which the lackeys of the king of Assyria have insulted me. 7 I am about to put a spirit in him, so that he will hear a rumor and go back to his own land, and I will make him fall by the sword in his own land.' "

8 The Rabshakeh went back and found the king of Assyria fighting against Libnah, for he had heard that the king had moved on from Lachish. 9 Then Sennacherib received word about Tirhakah,[b] king of Cush:[c] "He has come out to fight you." Once more he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying: 10 "Say this to Hezekiah king of Judah: 'Your God, in whom you trust, is fooling you when he says Jerusalem will never fall into the Assyrian king's grip. Do not listen. 11 You have surely heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the lands, devoting them to destruction. Will you then be rescued? 12 Did the gods of the nations rescue those whom my predecessors destroyed: Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? 13 Where are the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, and the kings of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah?' "

14 Hezekiah received the letter from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to Yahweh's house and spread it out before Yahweh. 15 And Hezekiah prayed before Yahweh: "Yahweh, God of Israel, you who sit above the cherubim, you and you only are God of every kingdom on earth. Heaven and earth are your making. 16 Turn your ear, Yahweh, and listen. Open your eyes, Yahweh, and look. Listen to the words that Sennacherib sent to mock the living God. 17 It is true, Yahweh, that the kings of Assyria have laid waste the nations and their lands.

18 They have cast their gods into the flames and wiped them out, since those were no gods at all, just wood and stone that people had shaped.
19 Now, Yahweh our God, save us, I pray, from his hand, so that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you, Yahweh, alone are God." 20 Isaiah son of Amoz then sent this message to Hezekiah: "This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: I have heard your prayer concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria. 21 This is the word Yahweh has spoken concerning him: "The virgin daughter Zion holds you in contempt and laughs you to scorn. Daughter Jerusalem tosses her head behind your back. 22 Whom have you taunted and reviled?
Whom have you shouted at, looking down your nose so haughtily?
It was Israel's Holy One! 23 Through your messengers you have mocked the Lord,[d] boasting, 'Riding at the head of my chariot host[e] I have climbed the heights of the mountains, the farthest reaches of Lebanon. I cut down its tallest cedars, its choicest junipers. I entered its most remote lodging place, its densest forest.[f] 24 I dug wells and drank foreign waters. Under my tramping feet every river of Egypt ran dry.'[g] 25 Have you not heard? Long ago I planned it. From days of old I shaped it, and now I have brought it about, that you should turn fortified cities into heaps of ruins, 26 while their inhabitants, drained of strength, were dismayed and put to shame. They became like plants in the field and tender green shoots, like grass on the rooftops, scorched before it grows up.[h] 27 I know where you stay, where you go, where you come from, and how you rage against me. 28 Because you have raged against me and your arrogance has reached my ears, a ring will go through your nostrils, a bridle between your lips, and I will lead you home again the way you arrived." 29 "And here, Hezekiah, is your sign: for this year the food will be whatever sprouts on its own, and next year whatever comes up from that. But in the third year sow and reap, plant vineyards, and eat their fruit. 30 The survivors of the house of Judah who are left will again take root below and bear fruit above. 31 Out of Jerusalem a remnant will emerge, a band of escapees from Zion's mountain. Yahweh's[i] jealous passion will accomplish this. 32 Therefore this is what Yahweh says about the king of Assyria: Into this city he will not come; no arrow of his will fly over it. No shield of his will confront it, or heap up a siege ramp against it. 33 By the road he came, by that same road he will go back, and he will not enter this city, declares Yahweh. 34 I will shield this city to rescue it, for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David."

35 That very night the angel of Yahweh went out and struck down 185,000 in the Assyrian camp. When the survivors[j] got up early in the morning, there were all the dead bodies. 36 So Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp and went home. He stayed in Nineveh. 37 As he bowed down in the house of Nisroch[k] his god, Adrammelech and Sharezer, his own sons, cut him down with swords and fled to Ararat country.[l] And Esarhaddon[m] his son reigned in his place.

Notes

- a (19:2) Isaiah means "Yahweh is salvation."
- b (19:9) Tirhakah (Taharqa) was a Cushite ruler of Egypt's Twenty-fifth Dynasty, here probably still commander of the army.
- c (19:9) That is, the upper Nile region (modern Sudan).
- d (19:23) Hebrew Adonai.
- e (19:23) So the Qere and the Septuagint; the Ketiv reads "With the chariot of my chariots."
- f (19:23) Hebrew "the forest of its Carmel," that is, its garden-land.
- g (19:24) Hebrew Matsor, a poetic name for Egypt; it can also mean "siege."
- h (19:26) So the Hebrew; Isaiah 37:27 and some ancient witnesses read "like a terraced field." The Hebrew phrase is uncertain.
- i (19:31) The Septuagint reads "of Yahweh of hosts," as in Isaiah 37:32.
- j (19:35) Hebrew "they."
- k (19:37) Nisroch is otherwise unknown; it may be a corruption of Nusku or Marduk.
- l (19:37) Ararat is Urartu, in the region of modern Armenia.
- m (19:37) Esarhaddon reigned in Assyria 681–669 BC.

Chapter 20

1 Around that time Hezekiah fell ill and was close to dying. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz came to him and said, "Yahweh says this: 'Put your household in order, because you are going to die; you will not get well.' " 2 Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall and prayed to Yahweh: 3 "Yahweh, please call to mind that I have walked in your presence with loyalty and an undivided heart and have done what is right in your eyes." And Hezekiah broke down in tears.

4 Before Isaiah had got out past the middle courtyard,[a] the word of Yahweh came to him: 5 "Go back and tell Hezekiah, the leader of my people, 'This is what Yahweh, the God of your ancestor David, says: I have listened to your prayer and seen your tears. I am going to heal you. Two days from now you will go up to Yahweh's house. 6 I am adding fifteen years to your life. From the hand of Assyria's king I will deliver both you and this city, and I will defend this city for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David.' " 7 Then Isaiah said, "Bring a lump of pressed figs." They brought it and put it on the boil, and he recovered.
8 Hezekiah had asked Isaiah, "What will be the sign that Yahweh is going to heal me and that I will go up to Yahweh's house the day after tomorrow?" 9 Isaiah answered, "This is your sign from Yahweh that he will do what he has promised: Shall the shadow move forward ten steps[b] or go back ten steps?" 10 Hezekiah said, "It is easy for the shadow to lengthen by ten steps. No, let the shadow turn back ten steps." 11 So the prophet Isaiah called out to Yahweh, and Yahweh brought the shadow back the ten steps it had already gone down on the stairway of Ahaz.
12 At that time the king of Babylon, Berodach-baladan[c] son of Baladan, sent Hezekiah letters and a present, having heard that Hezekiah was sick. 13 Hezekiah welcomed[d] the envoys and showed them his entire storehouse: the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine oil, his armory, and everything in his treasuries. There was nothing in his palace or anywhere in his realm that Hezekiah failed to show them.
14 Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah and asked him, "What did those men say, and where did they come from to see you?" Hezekiah replied, "They came from a distant land, from Babylon." 15 Isaiah asked, "What have they seen in your palace?" Hezekiah answered, "They saw everything in my palace. Nothing among my treasures did I keep from them."
16 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Listen to Yahweh's word: 17 The days are surely coming when all that is in your palace, and all that your ancestors have accumulated until now, will be taken to Babylon. Nothing will remain, says Yahweh. 18 And some of your own descendants, born from you, will be taken away, and they will serve as eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon." 19 Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The word of Yahweh you have spoken is good." For he was thinking, "Surely, then, my own days will be peaceful and secure." 20 The rest of Hezekiah's history, all his mighty deeds, and how he built the pool and the channel[e] and brought water into the city, are they not recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah?

21 Then Hezekiah lay down with his fathers, and Manasseh[f] his son became king after him.

Notes

- a (20:4) So the Qere and the Septuagint; the Ketiv reads "the middle city."
- b (20:9) Or "degrees"; Hebrew ma'aloth, steps of a stairway used to mark time by the shadow.
- c (20:12) Isaiah 39:1 and the Septuagint read "Merodach-baladan." The name is Babylonian Marduk-apla-iddina, "Marduk has given an heir."
- d (20:13) Hebrew "listened to." The Septuagint and Isaiah 39:2 read "rejoiced over."
- e (20:20) That is, the tunnel cut through rock to bring the Gihon spring's water into the city, known today as Hezekiah's Tunnel.
- f (20:21) Manasseh means "causing to forget."

Chapter 21

1 Manasseh was twelve when he took the throne, and he ruled in Jerusalem fifty-five years. His mother was named Hephzibah.[a] 2 He did what Yahweh considered evil, copying the detestable customs of the nations Yahweh had driven out ahead of the Israelites. 3 He rebuilt the shrines on the high places that his father Hezekiah had torn down. He put up altars to Baal and made an Asherah pole,[b] just as Ahab king of Israel had done, and he bowed down to the whole army of the sky and served them. 4 He built altars inside Yahweh's house, the very place of which Yahweh had said, "In Jerusalem I will put my name." 5 In both courtyards of Yahweh's house he built altars for all the starry host. 6 He made his own son pass through the fire.[c] He practiced fortune-telling and omen reading and appointed people who consulted ghosts and familiar spirits. He did a great deal of evil in Yahweh's eyes, provoking him to anger. 7 The carved image of Asherah that he had made he placed in the house about which Yahweh had told David and his son Solomon, "In this house and in Jerusalem, which I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will set my name forever. 8 I will never again make Israel's feet wander from the land I gave their ancestors, provided only that they take care to do all that I have commanded them, the whole law my servant Moses laid on them." 9 But they would not listen. Manasseh misled them into doing more evil than the nations Yahweh had wiped out before the Israelites.

10 So Yahweh spoke through his servants the prophets: 11 "Manasseh king of Judah has committed these detestable acts, worse than anything the Amorites before him did, and with his idols[d] he has led Judah into sin as well. 12 Therefore this is what Yahweh the God of Israel says: I am bringing such disaster on Jerusalem and Judah that both ears of everyone who hears of it will ring. 13 I will measure Jerusalem with the same line I used for Samaria and weigh it with the same plumb line I used for Ahab's house.[e] I will wipe Jerusalem clean the way a dish is wiped, turned upside down after the wiping.
14 What is left of my own heritage I will abandon, giving them into the power of their enemies, to be pillaged and stripped by every foe they have, 15 because they have done what is evil in my eyes and have gone on angering me ever since the day their fathers left Egypt, right up to today."
16 What is more, Manasseh poured out the blood of the innocent in such quantity that Jerusalem was soaked with it end to end, besides the sin he led Judah into by doing evil in Yahweh's eyes. 17 The rest of Manasseh's history, all he did and the sin he committed, is written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah, is it not? 18 Manasseh died and was buried in the garden of his own house, the garden of Uzza, and his son Amon[f] succeeded him as king.
19 Amon was twenty-two when he took the throne, and he ruled in Jerusalem two years. His mother was Meshullemeth,[g] daughter of Haruz, from Jotbah. 20 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, as his father Manasseh had done. 21 He followed his father's path in every way, serving and bowing down to the idols his father had served. 22 He turned his back on Yahweh, his fathers' God, and refused to go in Yahweh's way.

23 Amon's own servants formed a conspiracy and murdered the king inside his house. 24 Then the people of the land put to death everyone who had plotted against King Amon, and they crowned Josiah,[h] Amon's son, to succeed him. 25 The rest of what Amon did is written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah, is it not? 26 He was buried in his tomb in the garden of Uzza, and his son Josiah reigned after him.

Notes

- a (21:1) Hephzibah means "my delight is in her."
- b (21:3) A wooden cult object associated with the goddess Asherah.
- c (21:6) Some ancient witnesses, including the Septuagint, read "his sons." The rite probably refers to child sacrifice.
- d (21:11) The Hebrew word gillulim is a contemptuous term, perhaps "dung pellets."
- e (21:13) Builders' tools, used here as an image of judgment by the same standard applied to Samaria and Ahab's dynasty.
- f (21:18) Amon means "faithful" or "master builder."
- g (21:19) Meshullemeth means "one repaid" or "one at peace."
- h (21:24) Josiah means "Yahweh supports."

Chapter 22

1 Josiah became king at the age of eight and reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother was Jedidah,[a] the daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath. 2 He did what was right in Yahweh's eyes and followed every step of his ancestor David, never veering off to right or left.
3 In the eighteenth year of his reign,[b] King Josiah sent Shaphan[c] the secretary, son of Azaliah and grandson of Meshullam, to Yahweh's house. He told him: 4 "Go up to Hilkiah[d] the high priest and have him count out the silver brought into Yahweh's house, which the doorkeepers have gathered from the people. 5 It is to be handed to the men in charge of the work on Yahweh's house, and they are to pay it to the laborers repairing the damage to the building: 6 the carpenters, the builders, and the stonemasons, and to buy timber and cut stone to restore the house. 7 But no accounting is to be required of them for the silver given to them, for they work honestly." 8 Hilkiah the high priest told Shaphan the secretary, "I have found the scroll of the law in Yahweh's house." Hilkiah gave the scroll to Shaphan, who read it. 9 Then Shaphan the secretary went to the king and gave him a report: "Your servants have emptied out the silver that was found in the house and handed it over to the men in charge of the work on Yahweh's house." 10 Then Shaphan the secretary informed the king, "There is a scroll that Hilkiah the priest handed to me." And Shaphan read it aloud in the king's presence.

11 As soon as the king heard what was written in the scroll of the law, he tore his clothes. 12 He commanded Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam son of Shaphan, Achbor[e] son of Micaiah, Shaphan the secretary, and Asaiah the king's servant: 13 "Go and ask Yahweh on my behalf, and on behalf of the people and all Judah, about what is written in this scroll that has been found. Yahweh's rage is burning hot against us, since our fathers never heeded what this scroll says or did all that it lays down for us."
14 Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to consult the prophetess Huldah,[f] the wife of Shallum son of Tikvah, son of Harhas, who was in charge of the wardrobe. She lived in the Second District[g] of Jerusalem, and they talked with her there. 15 and she said to them, "This is what Yahweh the God of Israel says: Tell the man who sent you to me, 16 'Yahweh says this: I am about to bring disaster on this place and on those who live here, everything written in the scroll the king of Judah has read. 17 Because they have abandoned me and burned offerings to other gods, angering me with all the things their hands have made, my fury will blaze against this place and will not be put out.' 18 But to the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of Yahweh, say this: 'Yahweh the God of Israel says this about the words you have heard: 19 Because your heart was tender and you humbled yourself before Yahweh when you heard what I spoke against this place and its inhabitants, that they would become a horror and a curse, and because you tore your clothes and wept before me, I in turn have heard you, declares Yahweh. 20 For this reason

I will bring you to rest with your ancestors, and you will be buried in peace. You will not witness any of the disaster that I will bring on this place.' " They carried her reply back to the king.

- d (22:4) Hilkiah means "Yahweh is my portion."
- e (22:12) Achbor means "mouse."

Chapter 23

1 The king then summoned all of the elders of Judah and Jerusalem to meet with him. 2 He went up to Yahweh's house with all the men of Judah, the people of Jerusalem, the priests, the prophets, and all the people, from the least to the greatest. He read aloud to them every word of the Book of the Covenant that had been found in Yahweh's house. 3 The king stood by the pillar and made a covenant in Yahweh's presence to follow Yahweh and to keep his commands, laws, and decrees wholeheartedly, with his entire soul, confirming the words of the covenant written in this book. All the people pledged themselves to the covenant.

4 The king ordered Hilkiah the high priest, the priests of the second rank, and the doorkeepers to remove from Yahweh's temple every object made for Baal, for Asherah, and for all the host of the sky. He burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of the Kidron and carried their ashes to Bethel. 5 He eliminated the pagan priests[a] whom the kings of Judah had appointed to make offerings of incense at the high places in the cities of Judah and around Jerusalem. He also removed those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun and moon, to the constellations,[b] and to the whole host of heaven. 6 He took the Asherah from Yahweh's house out of Jerusalem to the Kidron Valley and burned it there. He ground it to dust and scattered the dust over the graves of the common people. 7 He tore down the quarters of the cult prostitutes[c] that were in Yahweh's house, where the women wove coverings[d] for Asherah. 8 Josiah brought all the priests from the cities of Judah and made unclean the high places where they had burned incense, from Geba to Beersheba.[e] He demolished the gate shrines[f] at the entrance of the Gate of Joshua, the city governor, which was on a person's left as he entered the city gate. 9 The priests of the high places did not go up to Yahweh's altar in Jerusalem, but they ate unleavened bread among their fellow priests. 10 Topheth[g] in the Ben-hinnom Valley he made unclean, so that nobody might ever again hand over a son or daughter to Molech by fire. 11 He removed the horses that the kings of Judah had dedicated to the sun at the entrance to Yahweh's house, next to the room of Nathan-melech the official, in the colonnade,[h] and he burned the chariots of the sun. 12 The altars that the kings of Judah had built on the roof by Ahaz's upper room, and the altars Manasseh had built in the two courtyards of Yahweh's house, the king pulled down. He smashed them there[i] and threw their rubble into the Kidron Valley. 13 The king made unclean the high places facing Jerusalem on the east, to the right of the Mount of Ruin,[j] which Solomon king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the detestable goddess of the Sidonians, for Chemosh the detestable god of Moab, and for Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites. 14 He shattered the sacred pillars, cut down the Asherah poles, and filled their sites with human bones.

15 He also demolished the altar at Bethel, the high place that Jeroboam son of Nebat had made, the one who led Israel into sin. He burned down that high place, ground it into powder, and burned the Asherah pole. 16 As Josiah turned around, he saw the tombs there on the hillside. He sent men to take the bones out of the tombs and burned them on the altar, defiling it, in keeping with the word of Yahweh proclaimed by the man of God who had foretold these things.[k] 17 Then he asked, "What is this marker I see?" The men of the city answered, "It is the grave of the man of God who came from Judah and announced these very things you have done to the altar of Bethel." 18 "Let it be," he said. "Don't let anyone move his bones." So they left his bones alone, together with the bones of the prophet from Samaria.

19 Josiah also removed all the shrines of the high places in the towns of Samaria that Israel's kings had built, angering Yahweh.[l] He did to them just what he had done at Bethel. 20 Every priest of those high places he put to death on their own altars, and on them he burned the bones of the dead. After that he went back to Jerusalem.
21 The king commanded all the people, "Celebrate the Passover to Yahweh your God, as it is written in this scroll of the covenant." 22 No Passover like it had been kept since the days of the judges who led Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah.
23 But in King Josiah's eighteenth year this Passover was celebrated to Yahweh in Jerusalem.
24 In addition, Josiah swept away those who called up the dead or consulted spirits, the teraphim,[m] the idols, and every loathsome thing to be seen across Judah and Jerusalem, in order to fulfill the words of the law written in the scroll Hilkiah the priest had found in Yahweh's house. 25 No earlier king could compare with him in turning back to Yahweh with all his heart, soul, and might in line with the whole law of Moses, and no later king ever rose to equal him.
26 Even so, Yahweh did not turn from the burning heat of his great anger, which blazed against Judah because of all that Manasseh had done to provoke him. 27 Yahweh said, "Judah too I will remove from my sight as I removed Israel. I will reject this city I chose, Jerusalem, and the house of which I said, 'My name shall be there.' " 28 The rest of Josiah's history and all he did are recorded in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah, are they not? 29 In his days Pharaoh Neco[n] king of Egypt marched up to the king of Assyria[o] at the Euphrates River. King Josiah went out to confront him, and the moment Neco saw him at Megiddo, he put him to death. 30 His servants carried his body by chariot from Megiddo, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz[p] son of Josiah, anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.
31 Jehoahaz was twenty-three when he took the throne, and he ruled in Jerusalem three months. His mother was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. 32 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, just as his fathers had done. 33 Pharaoh Neco imprisoned him at Riblah in the land of Hamath so that he could not rule in Jerusalem,[q] and he placed on the land a fine of about 3¾ tons of silver and about 75 pounds of gold.[r] 34 Eliakim, Josiah's son, was installed by Pharaoh Neco as king to succeed Josiah his father, and Neco gave him the new name Jehoiakim.[s] Jehoahaz he carried off to Egypt, where he died. 35 Jehoiakim paid the silver and gold to Pharaoh, but to meet Pharaoh's demand he had to tax the land. He exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land, from each according to his assessment, to pay Pharaoh Neco.

36 Jehoiakim was twenty-five when he took the throne, and he ruled in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother was Zebidah, daughter of Pedaiah, from Rumah. 37 He did evil in Yahweh's sight, just as his fathers had done.

Chapter 24

1 During Jehoiakim's reign Nebuchadnezzar[a] king of Babylon came up against him, and Jehoiakim became his vassal for three years. Then he changed course and rebelled against him. 2 Yahweh sent raiding bands of Chaldeans, Arameans, Moabites, and Ammonites against Jehoiakim; he let them loose on Judah to destroy it, in keeping with the word Yahweh had spoken through his servants the prophets. 3 Surely this came on Judah at Yahweh's command, to thrust them out of his sight because of Manasseh's sins, everything he had done, 4 and also because of the innocent blood he had shed. He had flooded Jerusalem with innocent blood, and Yahweh was not willing to forgive.
5 The rest of Jehoiakim's history and all he did are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the Kings of Judah, are they not? 6 Jehoiakim slept with his fathers, and Jehoiachin[b] his son became king after him.
7 The king of Egypt did not march out of his own country again, for the king of Babylon had seized everything that had belonged to him, from the Wadi of Egypt[c] to the Euphrates River.
8 Jehoiachin was eighteen when he came to the throne, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. His mother was Nehushta,[d] daughter of Elnathan, from Jerusalem. 9 He did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh, in every way like his father before him.
10 It was then that the troops of Babylon's king Nebuchadnezzar came up to Jerusalem and laid siege to the city. 11 Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to the city while his servants were laying siege to it.
12 Jehoiachin king of Judah gave himself up to the king of Babylon, along with his mother, his servants, his officials, and his palace officers. In the eighth year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign,[e] the king of Babylon took Jehoiachin captive. 13 Just as Yahweh had warned, Nebuchadnezzar hauled off all the treasures of Yahweh's house and the palace treasures, and he stripped away the gold from all the vessels Solomon king of Israel had made for Yahweh's temple. 14 He exiled all Jerusalem: all the commanders and all the leading warriors, 10,000 captives, along with every craftsman and metalworker.[f] No one was left except the poorest people of the land. 15 He took Jehoiachin into exile to Babylon. The king's mother, the king's wives, his court officers, and the leading men of the land he also led away into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon. 16 The king of Babylon brought to Babylon as exiles all the men of valor, 7,000 of them, and 1,000 craftsmen and metalworkers, all of them strong men fit for war. 17 In Jehoiachin's place the king of Babylon made his uncle[g] Mattaniah king and changed his name to Zedekiah.[h] 18 Zedekiah was twenty-one when he came to the throne, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother was Hamutal,[i] daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. 19 He did what was evil in the sight of Yahweh, in every way like Jehoiakim before him. 20 Indeed, because of Yahweh's anger, it came to this in Jerusalem and Judah, until he flung them away from his presence. And Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

Chapter 25

1 So in the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month (December–January),[a] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against Jerusalem with his whole army. He camped outside it and built siege works all around it. 2 The city stayed under siege until King Zedekiah's eleventh year. 3 By the ninth day of the fourth month (June–July)[b] the famine inside the city had become so severe that the common people had nothing left to eat. 4 Then the city wall was breached, and all the fighting men fled[c] by night through the gate between the two walls near the king's garden, though the Chaldeans were all around the city. The king[d] headed off toward the Arabah.[e] 5 But the Chaldean army chased after the king and caught up with him on the plains of Jericho, and all his troops deserted him and scattered.

6 They seized the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah, where sentence was passed on him. 7 Zedekiah's sons were slaughtered while he watched. Then Zedekiah's eyes were put out, and he was bound in bronze shackles and taken to Babylon.
8 On the seventh day of the fifth month (July–August)[f] (that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon), Nebuzaradan,[g] commander of the guard and a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. 9 He set fire to Yahweh's house, the palace, and every house in Jerusalem; every great house he burned down. 10 The whole Chaldean army that was with the commander of the guard tore down the walls surrounding Jerusalem. 11 Nebuzaradan, commander of the guard, carried into exile the people who remained in the city, those who had defected to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the population.[h] 12 But the commander of the guard left some of the poorest of the land to tend the vineyards and work the fields.
13 The Chaldeans broke up the bronze pillars of Yahweh's house, the movable stands, and the bronze Sea[i] that were in Yahweh's house, and they carried the bronze to Babylon. 14 They also took away the pots, shovels, snuffers, dishes, and all the bronze articles used in the temple service. 15 The commander of the guard took the firepans and the sprinkling bowls, whatever was of gold for its gold and whatever was of silver for its silver. 16 The bronze from the two pillars, the Sea, and the movable stands that Solomon had made for Yahweh's house was too much to weigh. 17 Each pillar was 27 feet[j] high, with a bronze capital on top. The capital stood 4½ feet[k] high, and a latticework with pomegranates encircled the capital, all of bronze. The second pillar, with its latticework, was the same.

18 The commander of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the second priest, and the three doorkeepers. 19 From the city he took one court official who had command of the fighting men, five members of the king's inner circle[l] still found in the city, the secretary of the army commander,[m] who mustered the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land who were found in the city. 20 Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. 21 There at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, the king of Babylon had them struck down and put to death. So Judah went into exile, away from its land.

22 Over the people who remained in the land of Judah, those whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, he appointed Gedaliah[n] son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan, as governor. 23 The army officers and their men all heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governor, so they went to Gedaliah at Mizpah. They were Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan son of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah son of a Maacathite, along with their men. 24 Gedaliah took an oath to reassure them and their men. "Don't be afraid of serving the Chaldean officials," he said. "Stay in the land, serve the king of Babylon, and all will go well for you." 25 In the seventh month (September–October),[o] however, Ishmael son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama, a member of the royal family, arrived with ten men. They attacked and killed Gedaliah, as well as the Jews and Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. 26 At that, the whole population, small and great alike, and the commanders of the troops got up and left for Egypt, fearing what the Chaldeans would do.

27 In the thirty-seventh year after Jehoiachin king of Judah went into exile, in the year Evil-merodach[q] became king of Babylon, he freed[r] Jehoiachin from prison on the twenty-seventh day of the twelfth month (February–March).[p] 28 He spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat of honor above the seats of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. 29 So Jehoiachin changed out of his prison clothes and ate at the king's table every day for the rest of his life. 30 And his upkeep was supplied without fail from the king, a fixed share day by day, for as long as he lived.

bore Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. These are the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered married.[w] 19 The sons of the wife of Hodiah, the sister of Naham: the father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eshtemoa the Maacathite.[x] 20 The sons of Shimon: Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. The sons of Ishi: Zoheth and Ben-zoheth.[y] 21 The sons of Shelah son of Judah were Er, the founder of Lecah; Laadah, the founder of Mareshah; and the families of the linen workers at Beth-ashbea;[z] 22 and Jokim, and the men of Cozeba, and Joash, and Saraph, who ruled in Moab and returned to Lehem.[aa] (The records are ancient.) 23 These were the potters and the inhabitants of Netaim and Gederah;[ab] they lived there with the king in his work.
24 The sons of Simeon: Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul;[ac] 25 Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son.[ad] 26 The sons of Mishma: Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son.[ae] 27 Shimei had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many children, and their whole clan did not multiply like the people of Judah. 28 They settled in Beersheba, Moladah, and Hazar-shual,[af] 29 and in Bilhah, Ezem, and Tolad,[ag] 30 and in Bethuel, Hormah, and Zik-lag,[ah] 31 and in Beth-marcaboth, Hazar-susim, Beth-biri, and Shaaraim.
These were their towns until David became king.[ai] 32 And their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and Ashan, five cities,[aj] 33 and all the villages around those towns as far as Baal. These were the places where they lived, and they kept records of their families.[ak] 34 Meshobab, Jamlech, Joshah the son of Amaziah,[al] 35 Joel; Jehu son of Joshibiah, son of Seraiah, son of Asiel;[am] 36 and Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, and Benaiah;[an] 37 and Ziza son of Shiphi, son of Allon, son of Jedaiah, son of Shimri, son of Shemaiah[ao] — 38 these mentioned by name were chiefs in their clans, and their fathers' houses increased greatly. 39 They went to the entrance of Gedor,[ap] to the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks, 40 There they found fertile, good pasture, and the land was wide, calm, and undisturbed; the people who had lived there earlier were descendants of Ham. 41 These men, listed by name, arrived in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah. They attacked their tents and the Meunites[aq] who were there, destroyed them completely, as is still the case, and settled in their place, since there was pasture there for their flocks. 42 Five hundred of these Simeonites went to Mount Seir with Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi, as their leaders.[ar] 43 They struck the rest of the Amalekites who had escaped, and have lived there until this day.

Chapter 5

1 The sons of Reuben, Israel’s firstborn (he was the firstborn, but because he dishonored his father’s bed, his birthright was given to the sons of Joseph son of Israel, so that he is not recorded in the family records as the firstborn;[a] 2 for Judah prevailed above his brothers, and from him came a prince,[b] yet the right of the firstborn was Joseph’s):

3 the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi.[c] 4 The sons of Joel: Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son,[d] 5 Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son,[e] 6 Beerah his son, whom Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria took away captive; he was prince of the Reubenites.[f] 7 His brothers by their families, when the genealogy of their generations was reckoned: the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah,[g] 8 and Bela son of Azaz, son of Shema, son of Joel. They settled in Aroer and extended to Nebo and Baal-meon.[h] 9 To the east they also settled up to the edge of the desert, which borders the Euphrates River, since their herds had grown large in Gilead. 10 During Saul's reign they fought the Hagrites and defeated them, and then they settled in the tents of the Hagrites across the whole eastern side of Gilead.[i] 11 The sons of Gad lived over against them, in the land of Bashan to Salecah:[j] 12 Joel the chief, Shapham the second, Janai, and Shaphat in Bashan.[k] 13 Their relatives, by family: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jacan, Zia, and Eber, seven in all.[l] 14 These were the sons of Abihail the son of Huri, son of Jaroah, son of Gilead, son of Michael, son of Jeshishai, son of Jahdo, son of Buz.[m] 15 Ahi the son of Abdiel, son of Guni, was chief of their fathers' house.[n] 16 They lived in Gilead, in Bashan and its towns, and in all the pasture lands of Sharon to their limits.[o] 17 All of these were entered in the family records during the reigns of Jotham king of Judah and Jeroboam king of Israel.[p] 18 Among the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh were 44,760 brave soldiers, trained for war, who carried shields and swords, could shoot the bow, and were ready to go to battle. 19 They fought with the Hagrites, with Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab.[q] 20 They were helped in fighting them, and the Hagrites and all their allies were handed over to them, because during the battle they called out to God, and he granted their request since they put their trust in him.
21 They took away their animals: of camels fifty thousand, of sheep two hundred and fifty thousand, of donkeys two thousand, and of people a hundred thousand.[r] 22 For many fell slain, because the war was of God. And they lived in their place until the exile.

23 The half-tribe of Manasseh settled in the land, and they grew very numerous, from Bashan to Baal-hermon, Senir, and Mount Hermon.[s] 24 These were the heads of their family groups: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel. They were brave warriors and well-known men, each the head of his family.[t] 25 But they broke faith with the God of their fathers, and prostituted themselves after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. 26 So the God of Israel roused the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, who is also called Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria, and Tilgath-pil-neser took the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh into exile. He brought them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the River Gozan, and they are there today.[u] when Yahweh carried Judah and Jerusalem away by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.[l]

16 The sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath, and Merari.[m] 17 These are the names of the sons of Gershom: Libni and Shimei.[n] 18 The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 19 The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. These are the clans of the Levites according to their fathers.[o] 20 Of Gershom: Libni his son, Jahath his son, Zimmah his 31 These are those whom David set over the service of song in the house of Yahweh, after the ark had a resting place.[ac] 32 They served with singing in front of the tent of meeting, the tabernacle, until Solomon built Yahweh's house in Jerusalem, and they carried out their duties following their assigned order. 33 These are the men who served, with their sons. Of the sons of the Kohathites: Heman the singer, the son of Joel, son of Samuel,[ad] 34 son of Elkanah, son of Mushi, son of Merari, son of Levi. 48 Their kinsmen the Levites were appointed for all the service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

49 Aaron and his descendants made offerings on the altar for burnt offerings and on the incense altar, handling all the work in the Most Holy Place and making atonement for Israel, exactly as Moses the servant of God had ordered. 50 These are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, 51 Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, 52 Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, 53 Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son.
54 These are their dwelling places according to their encampments within their borders: to the sons of Aaron of the clans of the Kohathites, for theirs was the first lot,[an] 55 to them they gave Hebron in the land of Judah and its pasture lands around it, 56 but the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh.
57 To the sons of Aaron they gave the cities of refuge: Hebron, Libnah with its pasture lands, Jattir, Eshtemoa with its pasture lands,[ao] 58 Hilen with its pasture lands, Debir with its pasture lands,[ap] 59 Ashan with its pasture lands, and Beth-shemesh with its pasture lands;[aq] 60 and from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its pasturelands, Alemeth and its pasturelands, and also Anathoth together with its pasturelands.
Altogether their clans received thirteen towns.[ar] 61 The rest of the Kohathites received ten towns by lot from the clans of the half-tribe of Manasseh.[as] 62 To the sons of Gershom, by their families, thirteen cities were given from the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. 63 To the sons of Merari, by their families, twelve cities were given by lot from the tribe of Reuben, from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulun. 64 So the Israelites gave the Levites the cities with their pasture lands. 65 They assigned these towns, which are listed by name, by lot from the tribes of Judah, Simeon, and Benjamin.
66 Some of the families of the sons of Kohath had cities of their borders from the tribe of Ephraim. 67 They gave to them the cities of refuge, Shechem in the hill country of Ephraim with its pasture lands, and Gezer with its pasture lands,[at] 68 Jokmeam with its pasture lands, Bethhoron with its pasture lands,[au] 69 Aijalon with its pasture lands, and Manasseh: Aner with its pasturelands, and also Bileam with its pasturelands. These went to the remaining families of the Kohathites.[aw]

Chapter 9

1 So all Israel was reckoned by genealogies, and see, they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel. Judah was carried away captive to Babylon for their unfaithfulness.[a] 2 Now the first inhabitants who lived again in their possessions in their cities were Israel, the priests, the Levites, and the temple servants.[b] 3 Some of the people of Judah, of Benjamin, and of Ephraim and Manasseh lived in Jerusalem:[c] 4 Uthai son of Ammihud, son of Omri, son of Imri, son of Bani, a descendant of Perez son of Judah.[d] 5 Of the Shilonites: Asaiah the firstborn, and his sons.[e] 6 From the descendants of Zerah: Jeuel and his relatives, 690 in all.[f] 7 Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, son of Hodaviah, son of Hassenuah,[g] 8 Ibneiah the son of Jeroham, Elah the son of Uzzi, son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, son of Reuel, son of Ibnijah;[h] 9 and their kinsmen according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty-six. All these men were heads of fathers' houses according to their fathers' houses.

10 Of the priests: Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, Jachin,[i] 11 and Azariah son of Hilkiah, son of Meshullam, son of Zadok, son of Meraioth, son of Ahitub, the official in charge of God's house;[j] 12 and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, son of Pashhur, son of Malchijah, and Maasai the son of Adiel, son of Jahzerah, son of Meshullam, son of Meshillemith, son of Immer;[k] 13 and their relatives, family heads, 1,760 in all, who were very capable men for the work of serving in God's house.
14 Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, son of Azrikam, son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari;[l] 15 and Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Mica, son of Zichri, son of Asaph;[m] 16 and Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, son of Galal, son of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the son of Asa, son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.[n] 17 The gatekeepers: Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brothers; Shallum was the chief,[o] 18 who until then had waited in the king's gate eastward. They were gatekeepers for the camp of the sons of Levi. 19 Shallum the son of Kore, son of Ebiasaph, son of Korah, and his brothers of his father's house, the Korahites, were over the work of the service, keepers of the thresholds of the tent; and their fathers had been over the camp of Yahweh, keepers of the entry.[p] 20 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar was chief over them in time past; Yahweh was with him. 21 Zechariah son of Meshelemiah was the gatekeeper at the entrance of the tent of meeting.[q] 22 The total number chosen to be gatekeepers at the thresholds was 212. They were listed by family records in their villages. David and Samuel the seer had appointed them to their trusted positions. 23 So they and their children had the oversight of the gates of the house of Yahweh, the house of the tent, by watches. 24 On the four sides were the gatekeepers, toward the east, west, north, and south. 25 And their kinsmen in their villages were to come in every seven days, from time to time, to be with them; 26 for the four chief gatekeepers, who were Levites, were in an office of trust, and they were in charge of the chambers and the treasuries of the house of God. 27 They stayed the night around God's house, since guarding it was their responsibility, and they had to open it each morning.

28 Some of them had charge of the vessels of service; for by count they were brought in, and by count they were taken out. 29 Others were appointed over the furnishings and over all the holy vessels, and over the fine flour, the wine, the oil, the frankincense, and the spices. 30 And some of the sons of the priests mixed the ointment of the spices. 31 Mattithiah, one of the Levites, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, was in charge by trust of making the flat cakes.[r] 32 And some of their kinsmen of the Kohathites were in charge of the showbread, to prepare it every Sabbath.[s] 33 These were the singers, family heads of the Levites. They stayed in rooms of the temple and had no other duties, because they were on duty both day and night. 34 These were heads of fathers' houses of the Levites, according to their generations, chief men. These lived in Jerusalem.
35 Jeiel[t] the father of Gibeon settled in Gibeon; the name of his wife was Maacah. 36 His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, 37 Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah, and Mikloth. 38 Mikloth became the father of Shimeam. They also lived with their brothers in Jerusalem, over against their brothers. 39 Ner was the father of Kish. Kish was the father of Saul, and Saul had sons named Jonathan, Malchi-shua, Abinadab, and Esh-baal. 40 The son of Jonathan was Merib-baal; and Merib-baal[u] became the father of Micah. 41 The sons of Micah: Pithon, Melech, Tahrea, and Ahaz.[v] 42 Ahaz fathered Jarah, and Jarah fathered Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri, and Zimri fathered Moza.[w] 43 Moza became the father of Binea; Rephaiah was his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son. 44 Azel had six sons named Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. These were Azel's sons.[x]

Chapter 10

1 Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled before the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa.[a] 2 The Philistines closed in on Saul and his sons, and they killed Saul's sons Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchi-shua. 3 The fighting went sore against Saul; the archers overtook him, and he was wounded by them. 4 Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and thrust me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and make sport of me." But his armor-bearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. So Saul took the sword and fell on it. 5 When his armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he likewise fell on the sword and died. 6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and all his house died together.[b] 7 When all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and fled; and the Philistines came and lived in them.

8 The next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his sons fallen on Mount Gilboa. 9 They stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent into the land of the Philistines all around, to carry the tidings to their idols and to the people. 10 They put his armor in the house of their gods, and fastened his skull in the house of Dagon.[c] 11 When all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul,[d] 12 all the valiant men arose and took away the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh. They buried their bones under the oak[e] in Jabesh, and fasted seven days.

13 So Saul died for his unfaithfulness that he committed against Yahweh, because he did not keep the word of Yahweh, and also because he consulted a medium, seeking guidance,[f] 14 and did not seek guidance from Yahweh. Therefore he put him to death and turned the kingdom over to David the son of Jesse.[g]

Notes

- a (10:1) Verses 1–12 parallel 1 Samuel 31:1–13. Philistines, a people of the coast, perhaps "wanderers"; Gilboa, perhaps "bubbling spring."

- b (10:6) First Samuel 31:6 reads "his armor-bearer and all his men died together that day." Chronicles makes the end of Saul's dynasty explicit, though a son, Esh-baal (Ish-bosheth), survived (8:33; 2 Samuel 2:8).
- c (10:10) According to 1 Samuel 31:10, the Philistines placed his armor in the temple of the Ashtaroth and nailed his body to the wall of Beth-shan. Dagon was a Philistine god of grain or of fish.
- d (10:11) Jabesh-gilead, "dry place of Gilead."
- e (10:12) First Samuel 31:13 reads "under the tamarisk tree." Chronicles also omits the burning of the bodies (1 Samuel 31:12).
- f (10:13) See 1 Samuel 13:13–14; 15:22–23; 28:6–19. Verses 13–14 have no parallel in Samuel. Saul is said not to have sought Yahweh, though 1 Samuel 28:6 says Yahweh did not answer him.
- g (10:14) David, see 2:15; Jesse, see 2:12.

Chapter 11

1 Then all Israel gathered to David at Hebron, saying, "Look, we are your bone and your flesh.[a] 2 In times past, even when Saul was king, it was you who led Israel out and brought them in. And Yahweh your God said to you, 'You shall shepherd my people Israel, and you shall be prince over my people Israel.'" 3 So all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them at Hebron before Yahweh. And they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of Yahweh by Samuel.[b] 4 David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, that is, Jebus, where the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, were.[c] 5 The inhabitants of Jebus said to David, "You will not come in here." Nevertheless David took the stronghold of Zion, that is, the city of David.[d] 6 David had said, "Whoever is first to attack the Jebusites will be made chief and commander." Joab son of Zeruiah went up first, and so he became the chief.[e] 7 David dwelt in the stronghold; for this reason they called it the city of David. 8 He built up the city around it, from the Millo to the surrounding wall, and Joab restored the rest of the city.[f] 9 And David became greater and greater, for Yahweh of Armies was with him.[g] 10 These were the leaders among David's warriors, who stood firmly with him in his kingdom, along with all Israel, to make him king, as Yahweh had promised concerning Israel.[h] 11 This is the list of David's mighty men: Jashobeam, a Hachmonite, chief of the thirty;[i] he lifted up his spear against three hundred whom he killed at one time.[j] 12 After him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the Ahohite; he was one of the three mighty men.[k] 13 He was with David at Pas-dammim, and there the Philistines were gathered together to battle, where was a plot of ground full of barley; and the people fled from before the Philistines.[l] 14 But they took their stand in the middle of the plot and defended it, and struck down the Philistines; and Yahweh saved them by a great victory.

15 Three of the thirty chiefs went down to the rock to David, to the cave of Adullam, while the army of the Philistines was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim.[m] 16 David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then at Bethlehem. 17 David was thirsty and said, "If only someone would bring me a drink of water from the well by the gate of Bethlehem!" 18 So the three broke through the Philistine camp and drew water from Bethlehem's well, the one by the gate. They carried it back to David, but he would not drink it. He poured it out before Yahweh as an offering 19 and said, "May my God keep me from doing this! Can I drink the blood of these men who risked their lives? They risked their lives to bring it." So he would not drink it. Such were the deeds of the three warriors.

20 Abishai, Joab's brother, was the leader of the three.[n] He swung his spear against three hundred men and killed them, and he earned a reputation among the three. 21 Of the three he was more honored than the two,[o] and he was made their captain; however, he did not attain to the first three. 22 Benaiah son of Jehoiada from Kabzeel was a brave man who did great deeds. He killed two sons of Ariel[p] of Moab, and he went down into a pit and killed a lion on a snowy day.[q] 23 He also struck down an Egyptian of great height, seven and a half feet tall.[r] The Egyptian held a spear as thick as a weaver's beam, but Benaiah approached him with a club, tore the spear out of the Egyptian's grip, and killed him with it. 24 Such were the deeds of Benaiah son of Jehoiada, who earned a name along with the three warriors. 25 He was honored among the thirty, but he did not attain to the three. And David set him over his bodyguard.

26 The mighty men of the armies were Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem,[s] 27 Shammoth the Harorite, Helez the Pelonite,[t] 28 Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Anathothite,[u] 29 Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite,[v] 30 Maharai from Netophah, and Heled son of Baanah from Netophah,[w] 31 Ithai son of Ribai from Gibeah of the Benjaminites, and Benaiah from Pirathon,[x] 32 Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite,[y] 33 Azmaveth the Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite,[z] 34 the sons of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shagee the Hararite,[aa] 35 Ahiam son of Sachar the Hararite, Eliphal son of Ur,[ab] 36 Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite,[ac] 37 Hezro from Carmel, and Naarai son of Ezbai,[ad] 38 Joel, Nathan's brother, and Mibhar son of Hagri,[ae] 39 Zelek from Ammon, and Naharai from Beeroth, who carried the armor of Joab son of Zeruiah,[af] 40 Ira from the Ithrites, and Gareb from the Ithrites,[ag] 41 Uriah from the Hittites, and Zabad son of Ahlai,[ah] 42 Adina son of Shiza, a Reubenite who led the Reubenites, along with thirty men who were with him,[ai] 43 Hanan the son of Maacah, and Joshaphat the Mithnite,[aj] 44 Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham the Aroerite,[ak] 45 Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite,[al] 46 Eliel the Mahavite, and Jeribai and Joshaviah the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite,[am] 47 Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.[an]

Chapter 12

1 Now these are they who came to David to Ziklag, while he yet kept himself close because of Saul the son of Kish.[a] They were among the mighty men, his helpers in war. 2 They were armed with bows and could use both the right hand and the left in slinging stones and shooting arrows from the bow; they were of Saul's kinsmen, of Benjamin.[b] 3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; and Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Azmaveth; and Beracah, and Jehu the Anathothite;[c] 4 and Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty and over the thirty; and Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and Jozabad the Gederathite;[d] 5 Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite;[e] 6 Elkanah, Is-shiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korahites;[f] 7 and Joelah and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.[g]

8 From the Gadites some separated themselves to David in the stronghold in the wilderness, mighty men of valor, men of war fit for battle, who could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions, and who were as swift as gazelles on the mountains:[h] 9 Ezer the chief, Obadiah second, Eliab third,[i] 10 Mishmannah fourth, Jeremiah fifth,[j] 11 Attai sixth, Eliel seventh,[k] 12 Johanan eighth, Elzabad ninth,[l] 13 Jeremiah tenth, Machbannai eleventh.[m] 14 These of the sons of Gad were captains of the army; the least was equal to a hundred, and the greatest to a thousand.[n] 15 These are they who went over the Jordan in the first month (in March–April), when it had overflowed all its banks;[o] and they chased away all of the valleys, both toward the east and toward the west.
16 Some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah came to the stronghold to David. 17 David went out to meet them and said, "If you have come to me peacefully, to help me, I am ready to unite with you. But if you have come to hand me over to my enemies though I have done no wrong, may the God of our ancestors see this and pass judgment." 18 Then the Spirit took hold of Amasai, the leader of the Thirty,[p] who said, "We are yours, David! We are with you, son of Jesse! Peace, peace to you, and peace to your helpers, because your God helps you." So David received them and put them in charge of his raiding bands.
19 Some men of Manasseh also went over to David when he marched with the Philistines to fight against Saul. But David did not assist the Philistines, because after consulting together their rulers sent him away, saying, "He will change sides to his master Saul, and it will cost us our heads."[q] 20 As he went to Ziklag, there deserted to him from Manasseh Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediael, and Michael, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Zillethai, captains of thousands who belonged to Manasseh.[r] 21 They supported David against the raiding party,[s] for all of them were brave warriors and became commanders in his army.
22 Day after day men came to David to help him, until his camp was large, like a camp of God.[t] 23 These are the numbers of the armed troops who reached David at Hebron to transfer Saul's kingdom to him, as Yahweh had said:[u] 24 The sons of Judah who bore shield and spear were six thousand eight hundred, armed for war. 25 Of the sons of Simeon, mighty men of valor for war, seven thousand one hundred. 26 Of the sons of Levi, four thousand six hundred. 27 Jehoiada was the leader of the house of Aaron, and with him were three thousand seven hundred;[v] 28 and Zadok, a young man, a mighty man of valor, and twenty-two captains of his father's house.[w] 29 Of the sons of Benjamin, the kinsmen of Saul, three thousand, for until then the greater part of them had kept their allegiance to the house of Saul. 30 Of the sons of Ephraim, twenty thousand eight hundred, mighty men of valor, famous men in their fathers' houses. 31 From the half-tribe of Manasseh, 18,000 men, who were named individually to go and make David king. 32 From the descendants of Issachar, 200 leaders, who understood the times and knew what Israel should do, together with all their relatives who were under their command.[x] 33 Of Zebulun, such as were able to go out in the host, who could set the battle in array with all manner of instruments of war, fifty thousand, to help David[y] with an undivided heart.

34 Of Naphtali, a thousand captains, and with them, with shield and spear, thirty-seven thousand. 35 Of the Danites, twenty-eight thousand six hundred ready for battle. 36 Of Asher, forty thousand who could go out in the army, ready for battle. 37 From beyond the Jordan, of the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, one hundred and twenty thousand with all kinds of weapons of war.[z] 38 All these were men of war who could order the battle line; they came with a perfect heart to Hebron to make David king over all Israel; and all the rest of Israel too were of one heart to make David king.
39 They were there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their kinsmen had made provision for them. 40 Moreover those who were near to them, as far as Issachar, Zebulun, and Naphtali, brought food on donkeys, on camels, on mules, and on oxen: provisions of flour, cakes of figs, clusters of raisins, wine, oil, oxen, and sheep in abundance; for there was joy in Israel.

Chapter 13

1 David consulted with the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with every leader. 2 David told the whole assembly of Israel, “If you approve, and if this is from Yahweh our God, let us send messages in every direction to the rest of our relatives throughout the land of Israel, and to the priests and Levites in the towns with pasturelands, inviting them to join us. 3 Let us bring the ark of our God back to us, since we did not consult it during the reign of Saul.”[a] 4 All the assembly said that they would do so, for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people.
5 So David assembled all Israel, from the Shihor of Egypt even to the entrance of Hamath, to bring the ark of God from Kiriath-jearim.[b] 6 And David and all Israel went up to Baalah, that is, to Kiriathjearim, which belongs to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of God, Yahweh, who sits enthroned above the cherubim, where his name is called.[c] 7 They carried the ark of God on a new cart from the house of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drove the cart.[d] 8 David and all Israel played before God with all their might, even with songs, and with lyres, and with harps, and with tambourines, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.
9 When they reached the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzza reached out to steady the ark, because the oxen had stumbled.[e] 10 The anger of Yahweh burned against Uzza, and he struck him because he put his hand to the ark; and there he died before God. 11 David was angry because Yahweh had broken out against Uzza; and that place is called Perez-uzza to this day.[f] 12 David was afraid of God that day, saying, “How can I bring the ark of God home to me?” 13 So David did not take the ark home to himself in the city of David, but turned it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.[g] 14 The ark of God stayed three months in Obed-edom’s house, with his family. Yahweh blessed Obed-edom’s household and everything he owned.

Notes

- a (13:3) Verses 5–14 parallel 2 Samuel 6:1–11. Verses 1–4 are found only in Chronicles.

- c (13:6) Baalah, "mistress." Second Samuel 6:2 reads "Baale-judah." Cherubim, winged guardian figures.
- d (13:7) Abinadab, see 2:13 (a different man); Uzza, "strength"; Ahio, "his brother" (the Septuagint takes it as "his brothers").
- e (13:9) Second Samuel 6:6 reads "Nacon." Chidon may mean "javelin."

Chapter 14

1 Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, with cedar trees, masons, and carpenters, to build him a house.[a] 2 And David knew that Yahweh had established him as king over Israel, for his kingdom was highly exalted for the sake of his people Israel.
3 David took more wives at Jerusalem, and David became the father of more sons and daughters. 4 These are the names of the children born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon;[b] 5 and Ibhar, Elishua, and Elpelet;[c] 6 and Nogah, Nepheg, and Japhia; 7 and Elishama, Beeliada, and Eliphelet.[d] 8 When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. David heard of it and went out against them. 9 Now the Philistines had come and made a raid in the Valley of Rephaim. 10 David asked God, "Should I go to war against the Philistines? Will you deliver them to me?" Yahweh answered him, "Go to war, and I will deliver them to you." 11 So the Philistines went up to Baal-perazim, and David defeated them there.
He said, "By my hand God has burst through my enemies like a flood."
That is why the place was named Baal-perazim.[e] 12 The Philistines abandoned their gods there, and David ordered that they be burned in a fire.[f]
13 Yet again the Philistines made a raid in the valley. 14 And when David inquired again of God, God said to him, "You shall not go up after them. Turn away from them and come against them opposite the balsam trees.[g] 15 When you hear the sound of marching in the tops of the balsam trees, then go out to battle, for God has gone out before you to strike the army of the Philistines." 16 David did as God commanded him, and they struck down the army of the Philistines from Gibeon to Gezer.[h] 17 And the fame of David went out into all lands, and Yahweh brought the fear of him upon all nations.

Notes

- a (14:1) Verses 1–16 parallel 2 Samuel 5:11–25. Hiram, perhaps "my brother is exalted"; Tyre, "rock." The Hebrew margin (Qere) reads Hiram; the written text (Ketiv) reads Huram.
- b (14:4) Compare the list at 3:5–8. Shammua (3:5 Shimea), "heard"; Shobab, see 2:18; Nathan, see 2:36; Solomon, see 3:5.
- c (14:5) Elpelet corresponds to Eliphelet in 3:6. Ibhar, see 3:6; Elishua, "God is salvation."
- d (14:7) Beeliada, "the Lord knows" (3:8 Eliada, "God knows," perhaps a later change avoiding the name Baal). Second Samuel 5:14–16 omits Nogah and Elpelet.
- e (14:11) Baal-perazim means "lord of breakings through."
- f (14:12) Second Samuel 5:21 says that David and his men carried the idols away. Chronicles says they were burned, as Deuteronomy 7:5, 25 commands.
- g (14:14) Or "baca trees"; the exact kind of tree is uncertain.
- h (14:16) Second Samuel 5:25 reads "from Geba." Gezer, "portion."

Chapter 15

1 David made houses for himself in the city of David, and he prepared a place for the ark of God and pitched a tent for it. 2 Then David said, "Only the Levites may carry the ark of God, because Yahweh chose them to carry Yahweh's ark and to serve him always."[a] 3 And David assembled all Israel at Jerusalem to bring up the ark of Yahweh to its place, which he had prepared for it. 4 David gathered together the sons of Aaron and the Levites: 5 of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, and his brothers, a hundred and twenty;[b] 6 of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, and his brothers, two hundred and twenty;[c] 7 of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, and his brothers, a hundred and thirty;[d] 8 of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, and his brothers, two hundred;[e] 9 of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief, and his brothers, eighty;[f] 10 of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, and his brothers, a hundred and twelve.[g]

11 David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab,[h] 12 and said to them, "You are the heads of the fathers' houses of the Levites. Sanctify yourselves, both you and your brothers, that you may bring up the ark of Yahweh, the God of Israel, to the place that I have prepared for it. 13 For because you did not bear it at the first, Yahweh our God made a breach upon us, for we did not seek him after the ordinance." 14 So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of Yahweh, the God of Israel. 15 The sons of the Levites bore the ark of God upon their shoulders with its poles, just as Moses commanded by the word of Yahweh.[i] 16 David also told the chiefs of the Levites to appoint their brothers as the singers, with instruments of music, harps and lyres and cymbals, sounding aloud, to lift up the voice with joy. 17 So the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel; and of his brothers, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of the sons of Merari their brothers, Ethan the son of Kushaiah;[j] 18 and with them their second-rank relatives: Zechariah, Ben,[k] Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, along with the gatekeepers Obed-edom and Jeiel.[l] 19 The singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were to sound aloud with cymbals of bronze; 20 Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with harps set to Alamoth;[m] 21 and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah, with lyres set to the Sheminith, to lead.[n] 22 Chenaniah, chief of the Levites in carrying, was in charge of the carrying; he gave instruction about it, because he was skillful.[o] 23 Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark.[p] 24 Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, were to blow the trumpets before the ark of God. Obed-edom and Jehiah were doorkeepers for the ark.[q] 25 So David and the elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh from the house of Obed-edom with joy.[r] 26 Because God was helping the Levites who carried Yahweh's covenant ark, seven bulls and seven rams were offered.[s] 27 David wore a robe of fine linen, as did all the Levites carrying the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah, who directed the music of the singers;[t] David also wore a linen ephod. 28 So all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of Yahweh with shouting, with the sound of the horn, with trumpets, and with cymbals, sounding aloud with harps and lyres. 29 As Yahweh's covenant ark entered the city of David, Michal daughter of Saul watched from a window. She saw King David leaping and celebrating, and she despised him in her heart.[u]

Chapter 16

1 They brought in the ark of God and set it inside the tent that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.[a] 2 When David had finished offering the burnt offerings and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of Yahweh, 3 and he distributed to everyone of Israel, both man and woman, to each a loaf of bread, a portion of meat,[b] and a cake of raisins.

4 He appointed some of the Levites to minister before the ark of Yahweh, to commemorate, to thank, and to praise Yahweh, the God of Israel: 5 Asaph the chief, and second to him Zechariah, then Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-edom, and Jeiel, with harps and with lyres; and Asaph was to sound the cymbals;[c] 6 and the priests Benaiah and Jahaziel were to sound the trumpets continually before the covenant ark of God.[d]

7 Then on that day David for the first time committed to Asaph and his brothers the giving of thanks to Yahweh: 8 Give thanks to Yahweh; call on his name. Make his deeds known among the peoples.[e] 9 Sing to him; sing praises to him. Tell of all his marvelous works. 10 Glory in his holy name. Let the heart of those who seek Yahweh rejoice. 11 Seek Yahweh and his strength. Seek his face continually. 12 Remember his wonderful works that he has done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth, 13 you offspring of Israel his servant, you children of Jacob, his chosen ones.[f] 14 He is Yahweh our God. His judgments are in all the earth. 15 Remember his covenant forever,[g] the word which he commanded to a thousand generations, 16 the covenant which he made with Abraham, his oath to Isaac. 17 He confirmed it to Jacob for a statute, to Israel for an everlasting covenant, 18 saying, "To you I will give the land of Canaan, the portion of your inheritance," 19 when you were but few in number,[h] very few, and sojourners in it. 20 They went about from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another people. 21

He allowed no man to do them wrong. Yes, he reproved kings for their sakes: 22 "Do not touch my anointed ones! Do my prophets no harm!" 23 Sing to Yahweh, all the earth![i] Proclaim his salvation from day to day. 24 Declare his glory among the nations, his marvelous works among all the peoples. 25 For great is Yahweh, and greatly to be praised. He is to be feared above all gods. 26 For all the gods of the peoples are idols,[j] but Yahweh made the heavens. 27 Honor and majesty are before him. Strength and joy are in his place.[k] 28 Ascribe to Yahweh, you families of the peoples, ascribe to Yahweh glory and strength. 29 Ascribe to Yahweh the glory due to his name. Bring an offering, and come before him. Worship Yahweh in holy array.[l] 30 Tremble before him, all the earth. The world also is established, so that it cannot be moved. 31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice! Let them say among the nations, "Yahweh reigns!" 32 Let the sea roar, and its fullness! Let the field rejoice, and all that is therein! 33 Then the trees of the forest will sing for joy before Yahweh, for he comes to judge the earth. 34 O give thanks to Yahweh, for he is good;[m] for his steadfast love endures forever. 35 Say, "Save us, God of our salvation! Gather us together and deliver us from the nations, that we may give thanks to your holy name, and glory in your praise." 36 Blessed be Yahweh, the God of Israel, from everlasting even to everlasting. And all the people said, "Amen," and praised Yahweh.[n] 37 David left Asaph and his relatives there in front of Yahweh's covenant ark, to serve before the ark continually according to each day's needs, 38 and Obed-edom with his brothers, sixty-eight; and Obed-edom the son of Jeduthun and Hosah to be gatekeepers.[o] 39
And he left Zadok the priest and his brothers the priests before the tabernacle of Yahweh in the high place that was at Gibeon,[p] 40 to offer burnt offerings to Yahweh on the altar of burnt offering continually morning and evening, according to all that is written in the Law of Yahweh, which he commanded Israel. 41 With them were Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest who were chosen, who were mentioned by name, to give thanks to Yahweh, because his steadfast love endures forever.[q] 42 Heman and Jeduthun had trumpets and cymbals for those who should sound aloud, and instruments for the songs of God. The sons of Jeduthun were to be at the gate. 43 Then all the people went home, and David went back to bless his own household.[r]

Chapter 17

1 When David was living in his house, David said to Nathan the prophet, "Look, I live in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of Yahweh is under curtains."[a] 2 Nathan said to David, "Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you."

3 But that same night the word of God came to Nathan, saying, 4 "Go and tell my servant David, 'This is what Yahweh says: You are not the one to build a house for me to live in.[b] 5 For I have not lived in a house since the day that I brought up Israel to this day, but have gone from tent to tent and from tabernacle to tabernacle.[c] 6 In all places where I have walked with all Israel, did I speak a word with any of the judges of Israel, whom I commanded to shepherd my people, saying, "Why have you not built me a house of cedar?"'[d] 7 Now therefore you shall say to my servant David, ‘Thus says Yahweh of Armies: I took you from the pasture, from following the sheep, to be prince over my people Israel. 8 I have been with you wherever you have gone, and have cut off all your enemies from before you. And I will make you a name, like the name of the great ones who are in the earth. 9 I will appoint a place for my people Israel and will plant them, that they may dwell in their own place and be disturbed no more. The children of wickedness shall not waste them any more, as at the first, 10 and from the days that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel. And I will subdue all your enemies. Moreover I tell you that Yahweh will build you a house.[e] 11 When your days are fulfilled for you to go to be with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall be of your sons, and I will establish his kingdom. 12 He shall build me a house, and I will establish his throne forever. 13 I will be his father, and he shall be my son.[f] I will not take my steadfast love away from him, as I took it from him who was before you. 14 But I will settle him in my house and in my kingdom forever, and his throne shall be established forever.’”[g] 15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so Nathan spoke to David.

16 Then King David went in and sat before Yahweh and said, “Who am I, Yahweh God, and what is my house, that you have brought me this far? 17 Yet even this was too little in your sight, God. You have also spoken about the future of your servant’s house, and you have looked on me as a man of high rank,[h] Yahweh God. 18 What more can David say to you about the honor done to your servant? For you know your servant. 19 Yahweh, for your servant’s sake, and according to your own heart, you have worked all this greatness, to make known all these great things.[i] 20 Yahweh, there is no one like you, neither is there any God besides you, according to all that we have heard with our ears. 21 What one nation in the earth is like your people Israel, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make for yourself a name by great and awesome things, in driving out nations from before your people whom you redeemed out of Egypt? [j] 22 For you made your people Israel your own people forever; and you, Yahweh, became their God. 23 Now, Yahweh, let the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house be established forever, and do as you have spoken. 24 Let your name be established and magnified forever, saying, 'Yahweh of Armies, the God of Israel, is Israel's God'; and the house of David your servant shall be established before you. 25 For you, my God, have revealed to your servant that you will build him a house. Therefore your servant has found courage to pray before you. 26 Now, Yahweh, you are God, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 27 Now it has pleased you to bless the house of your servant, that it may continue forever before you. For you, Yahweh, have blessed, and it is blessed forever."[k]

Notes

- a (17:1) Verses 1–27 parallel 2 Samuel 7:1–29. Chronicles omits "Yahweh had given him rest from all his enemies around him" (2 Samuel 7:1). Nathan, "he has given."
- b (17:4) Second Samuel 7:5 has a question: "Shall you build me a house to dwell in?"
- c (17:5) Hebrew "from tent to tent and from tabernacle"; the words "to tabernacle" are supplied from the sense. Compare 2 Samuel 7:6.
- d (17:6) Hebrew shophet, "judge"; 2 Samuel 7:7 reads shibte, "tribes," probably a copying difference.
- e (17:10) Second Samuel 7:11 reads "Yahweh will make you a house"; the house here is a dynasty.
- f (17:13) Chronicles omits 2 Samuel 7:14b, "When he commits iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men."
- g (17:14) Second Samuel 7:16 reads "your house and your kingdom … before you … your throne." Chronicles speaks of God's house and kingdom.
- h (17:17) The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain; compare 2 Samuel 7:19, "and this is the law for man."
- i (17:19) Second Samuel 7:21 reads "For your word's sake."
- j (17:21) Second Samuel 7:23 adds "from Egypt, the nations and their gods."
- k (17:27) Some witnesses read "and may it be blessed forever."

Chapter 18

1 After this David struck the Philistines and subdued them, and he took Gath and its towns out of the hand of the Philistines.[a] 2 He struck Moab, and the Moabites became servants to David and brought tribute.[b]

3 David also struck Hadarezer king of Zobah, toward Hamath, as he went to establish his dominion at the river Euphrates.[c] 4 David seized a thousand of his chariots, seven thousand charioteers, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. David crippled all the chariot horses except enough for a hundred chariots.[d] 5 When the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadarezer king of Zobah, David struck down twenty-two thousand men of the Syrians.[e] 6 Then David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus, and the Syrians became servants to David and brought tribute. Yahweh gave victory to David wherever he went. 7 David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadarezer and brought them to Jerusalem. 8 From Tibhath and from Cun, cities of Hadarezer, David took very much bronze, with which Solomon made the bronze sea, the pillars, and the vessels of bronze.[f]

9 When Tou king of Hamath heard that David had struck all the host of Hadarezer king of Zobah,[g] 10 he sent Hadoram his son to King David to greet him and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadarezer and struck him; for Hadarezer had been at war with Tou. And he sent all kinds of vessels of gold and silver and bronze.[h] 11 These also King David dedicated to Yahweh, with the silver and the gold which he carried away from all the nations, from Edom, and from Moab, and from the sons of Ammon, and from the Philistines, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover Abishai son of Zeruiah slew of the Edomites in the Valley of Salt eighteen thousand.[i] 13 He put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became servants to David. And Yahweh gave victory to David wherever he went.

14 So David reigned over all Israel, and he executed justice and righteousness for all his people. 15 Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder;[j] 16 and Zadok the son of Ahitub and Abimelech the son of Abiathar were priests; and Shavsha was secretary;[k] 17 and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and the sons of David were chief officials in the service of the king.[l]

Notes

- a (18:1) Verses 1–17 parallel 2 Samuel 8:1–18. Second Samuel 8:1 reads "took Metheg-ammah," perhaps "the bridle of the mother city." Gath, "winepress."
- b (18:2) Chronicles omits the execution of two-thirds of the Moabite captives (2 Samuel 8:2).

- c (18:3) Hadarezer, “Hadad is help” (2 Samuel 8:3 Hadadezer); Zobah, an Aramean kingdom; Euphrates, see 5:9.
- d (18:4) Second Samuel 8:4 reads “a thousand seven hundred horsemen” and does not mention the chariots; the Septuagint of Samuel agrees with Chronicles.
- e (18:5) Syrians, Hebrew “Aram”; Damascus, perhaps “well-watered.”
- f (18:8) Second Samuel 8:8 reads “Betah and Berothai” and does not mention Solomon’s use of the bronze. Tibhath, “slaughter”; Cun, perhaps “established.” On the bronze sea, see 2 Chronicles 4:2–5.
- g (18:9) Tou (2 Samuel 8:9 Toi), uncertain.
- h (18:10) Hadoram, “Hadad is exalted” (2 Samuel 8:10 Joram, “Yahweh is exalted”).
- i (18:12) Second Samuel 8:13 credits David himself (“when he returned from striking eighteen thousand Arameans,” perhaps a misreading of Edom); Psalm 60 heading credits Joab with twelve thousand. Edomites, of Edom (“red”).
- j (18:15) Jehoshaphat, “Yahweh has judged”; Ahilud, “a brother is born.”
- k (18:16) Second Samuel 8:17 reads “Ahimelech the son of Abiathar” (as do many Hebrew manuscripts, the Septuagint, and the Vulgate here) and “Seraiah,” who is called Sheva in 2 Samuel 20:25 and Shisha in 1 Kings 4:3. Ahitub, see 6:7; Abimelech, “my father is king”; Shavsha, uncertain.
- l (18:17) Second Samuel 8:18 reads “and David’s sons were priests.” Cherethites and Pelethites, the king’s foreign guard, perhaps Cretans and Philistines.

Chapter 19

1 Some time later, Nahash king of the Ammonites died, and his son became king in his place.[a] 2 David said, “I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me.” So David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father. And David’s servants came into the land of the sons of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.[b] 3 But the Ammonite officials told Hanun, “Do you think David is honoring your father by sending men to console you?
Haven’t his servants come to you to explore the country, overthrow it, and spy on it?” 4 So Hanun seized David’s servants, shaved them, cut their clothes off at the hips, and sent them away. 5 When David was told what had happened to the men, he sent messengers to meet them, since they were deeply humiliated. “Wait at Jericho until your beards grow back,” the king said, “and then come home.”[c] 6 When the sons of Ammon saw that they had made themselves odious to David, Hanun and the sons of Ammon sent about 37 tons of silver[d] to hire chariots and horsemen for themselves from Mesopotamia, from Aram-maacah, and from Zobah.[e] 7 So they hired thirty-two thousand chariots, and the king of Maacah with his people, who came and encamped before Medeba. The sons of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities and came to battle.[f] 8 When David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. 9

The sons of Ammon came out and set the battle in array at the gate of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the field.
10 Now when Joab saw that the battle was set against him before and behind, he chose out of all the choice men of Israel and set them in array against the Syrians. 11 He placed the rest of the army under his brother Abishai, and they lined up to face the Ammonites. 12 Joab said, "If the Arameans prove too strong for me, you are to come to my aid; and if the Ammonites prove too strong for you, I will come to yours.
13 Be of good courage, and let us be strong for our people and for the cities of our God. And may Yahweh do what seems good to him." 14 So Joab and the people who were with him drew near before the Syrians to the battle, and they fled before him. 15 When the sons of Ammon saw that the Syrians had fled, they likewise fled before Abishai his brother and entered the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.
16 When the Syrians saw that they had been put to the worse before Israel, they sent messengers and brought out the Syrians who were beyond the River, with Shophach the captain of the host of Hadarezer at their head.[g] 17 It was told David, and he gathered all Israel together and crossed over the Jordan, and came upon them and set the battle in array against them. So when David had set the battle in array against the Syrians, they fought with him. 18 The Syrians fled before Israel, and David killed of the Syrians the men of seven thousand chariots and forty thousand footmen, and put to death Shophach the captain of the host.[h] 19 When the servants of Hadarezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made peace with David and served him. So the Syrians would not help the sons of Ammon any more.

Notes

- a (19:1) Verses 1–19 parallel 2 Samuel 10:1–19. Nahash, "serpent"; Ammon, "people."

- f (19:7) Second Samuel 10:6 reads "twenty thousand foot soldiers … and twelve thousand men of Tob," giving the same total of thirty-two thousand, but footmen rather than chariots. Medeba, perhaps "waters of quiet."

Chapter 20

1 In the spring, when kings go out to war, Joab led out the army and ravaged the land of the Ammonites. He came to Rabbah and besieged it, but David stayed in Jerusalem. Joab attacked Rabbah and tore it down.[a] 2 David took the crown of their king from off his head,[b] and found it to weigh about 75 pounds of gold,[c] and there were precious stones in it; and it was set on David's head. He brought out the spoil of the city in great abundance. 3 He brought out the city's people and put them to work using saws, iron picks, and axes.[d] David did this to each Ammonite city. Then David and his whole army returned to Jerusalem.

4 It came to pass after this that there arose war with the Philistines at Gezer; at that time Sibbecai the Hushathite slew Sippai, of the sons of the giants;[e] and the Philistines were brought low. 5 There was again war with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of Jair killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam.[f] 6 There was again war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, who had twenty-four fingers and toes, six on each hand and six on each foot; and he also was descended from the giants.[g] 7 When he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea, David's brother, killed him.[h] 8 These were descended from the giants in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

Notes

- a (20:1) Verses 1–3 parallel 2 Samuel 11:1; 12:26, 30–31. Chronicles omits the story of Bathsheba and Uriah (2 Samuel 11:2–12:25) and Joab's summons to David (2 Samuel 12:27–29). Rabbah, "great (city)."
- b (20:2) Or "the crown of Milcom," the god of the Ammonites; the Hebrew consonants malkam can be read either way.
- c (20:2) Hebrew "a talent"; about 34 kilograms.
- d (20:3) So 2 Samuel 12:31; Hebrew "and he sawed them with the saw, with iron picks, and with saws." The verb wayyasar ("and he sawed") may be a copying error for wayyasem ("and he set them").
- e (20:4) Hebrew "of the Rephaim." Second Samuel 21:18 reads "Saph" and "at Gob." Sippai, perhaps "threshold."
- f (20:5) Second Samuel 21:19 reads "Elhanan the son of Jaare-oregim, the Bethlehemite, killed Goliath the Gittite." Chronicles names Lahmi (from the last part of "the Bethlehemite") as Goliath's brother, reconciling the text with 1 Samuel 17. Jair, "he enlightens"; Lahmi, perhaps "my bread"; Goliath, uncertain.
- g (20:6) Verses 6–8 parallel 2 Samuel 21:20–22.
- h (20:7) Jonathan, see 2:32; Shimea, see 2:13.

Chapter 21

1 Satan stood up against Israel and moved David to number Israel.[a] 2 David said to Joab and to the princes of the people, "Go, count Israel from Beersheba even to Dan; and bring me word, that I may know their number."[b] 3 Joab replied, "May Yahweh multiply his people a hundred times over! My lord the king, aren't they all my lord's servants? Why does my lord want this done? Why make Israel guilty?" 4 Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Therefore Joab departed and went throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem. 5 Joab gave the sum of the numbering of the people to David. All those of Israel were one million one hundred thousand men who drew the sword; and in Judah were four hundred and seventy thousand men who drew the sword.[c] 6 But he did not count Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's word was abhorrent to Joab.[d] 7 God was displeased with this thing, so he struck Israel. 8 David said to God, "I have sinned greatly in doing this thing. But now, please take away the iniquity of your servant, for I have acted very foolishly." 9 Yahweh spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying,[e] 10 "Go and speak to David, saying, 'Thus says Yahweh: I offer you three things. Choose one of them, that I may do it to you.'" 11 So Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says Yahweh: 'Take your choice: 12 three years of famine; or three months of fleeing from your enemies while their swords overtake you; or three days of Yahweh's sword, a plague in the land, with Yahweh's angel destroying across the whole territory of Israel.' Now decide what reply I should carry to the one who sent me."[f] 13 David said to Gad, "I am in great distress. Let me fall now into the hand of Yahweh, for very great are his mercies; and let me not fall into the hand of man." 14 So Yahweh sent a pestilence on Israel, and there fell of Israel seventy thousand men. 15 And God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. As he was about to destroy, Yahweh looked, and he relented of the evil, and said to the destroying angel, "It is enough; now stay your hand." The angel of Yahweh was standing by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.[g] 16 David lifted up his eyes and saw the angel of Yahweh standing between earth and heaven, having a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces.[h] 17 David said to God, "Was it not I who ordered the counting of the people? I am the one who has sinned and done terrible wrong. But what have these sheep done? Yahweh my God, let your hand strike me and my family instead, and spare your people from the plague."

18 Then the angel of Yahweh commanded Gad to say to David that David should go up and set up an altar to Yahweh on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 19 David went up at the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in Yahweh's name. 20 Ornan turned back and saw the angel, and his four sons who were with him hid themselves. Now Ornan was threshing wheat.[i] 21 As David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshing floor and bowed himself to David with his face to the ground. 22 Then David said to Ornan, "Give me the site of this threshing floor, that I may build on it an altar to Yahweh. You shall sell it to me for the full price, that the plague may be stopped from the people." 23 Ornan said to David, "Take it for yourself, and let my lord the king do what is good in his eyes. Look, I give the oxen for burnt offerings, and the threshing sledges for wood, and the wheat for the grain offering; I give it all."

24 King David answered Ornan, “No, I will buy it at its full price. I refuse to take what is yours and give it to Yahweh, or to present a burnt offering that cost me nothing.” 25 So David gave to Ornan for the place gold weighing about fifteen pounds.[j] 26 David built an altar to Yahweh there and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings. He called out to Yahweh, who answered him from heaven with fire on the altar for burnt offerings.[k] 27 Then Yahweh commanded the angel, and he put his sword back into its sheath.
28 At that time, when David saw that Yahweh had answered him on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, he sacrificed there. 29 For the tabernacle of Yahweh, which Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering, were at that time in the high place at Gibeon.
30 But David could not go before it to inquire of God, for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of Yahweh.

Notes

- a (21:1) Verses 1–27 parallel 2 Samuel 24:1–25. Second Samuel 24:1 says “The anger of Yahweh was kindled against Israel, and he moved David against them.” Hebrew satan, without the article, may be read as the proper name Satan or as “an adversary.”
- b (21:2) Beersheba, “well of seven” or “well of the oath”; Dan, “judge.” Chronicles omits the route of the census (2 Samuel 24:5–8).
- c (21:5) Second Samuel 24:9 reads “in Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men … and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand.” The figures cannot be fully reconciled; Chronicles may include the standing army (27:1–15) or follow a different source.
- d (21:6) This explanation is found only in Chronicles; compare Numbers 1:47–49.
- e (21:9) Gad, “fortune.”
- f (21:12) Second Samuel 24:13 reads “seven years of famine” (the Septuagint of Samuel reads “three years,” as here).
- g (21:15) Ornan (2 Samuel 24:16 Araunah), perhaps a Hurrian name or title, “lord.”
- h (21:16) This verse is not in the standard text of 2 Samuel, but a Dead Sea Scroll of Samuel (4QSam-a) has a similar verse at 2 Samuel 24:16.
- i (21:20) Second Samuel 24:20 says only that Araunah looked out and saw the king and his servants coming toward him.
- j (21:25) Hebrew “six hundred shekels of gold by weight,” about 6.9 kilograms. Second Samuel 24:24 says David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver, about 1¼ pounds (575 grams). Chronicles speaks of the whole “place,” the future temple site.

- k (21:26) See Leviticus 9:24; 1 Kings 18:38. The fire from heaven is not mentioned in 2 Samuel.

Chapter 22

1 Then David said, "This is the house of Yahweh God, and this is the altar of burnt offering for Israel."[a] 2 David commanded to gather together the foreigners who were in the land of Israel, and he set stonecutters to cut dressed stones to build the house of God. 3 David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates and for the clamps, and bronze in abundance beyond weighing, 4 and cedar trees without number; for the Sidonians and the Tyrians brought cedar trees in abundance to David.[b] 5 David said, "Solomon my son is young and tender, and the house that is to be built for Yahweh must be exceedingly magnificent, of fame and of glory throughout all countries. I will therefore make preparation for it." So David prepared abundantly before his death.
